

D I C T I O N A R Y

OF THE

Portuguese and English Languages,

IN TWO PARTS;

P O R T U G U E S E and E N G L I S H,

A N D

E N G L I S H and P O R T U G U E S E:

WHEREIN

- | | |
|---|--|
| I. The WORDS are explained in their different Meanings, by Examples from the best PORTUGUESE and ENGLISH WRITERS. | II. The ETYMOLOGY of the PORTUGUESE generally indicated from the LATIN, ARABIC, and other LANGUAGES. |
|---|--|

THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE ARE INTERSPERSED

A GREAT NUMBER OF PHRASES AND PROVERBS.

By ANTHONY VIEYRA, TRANSTAGANO,
Teacher of the ^XLATIN, ARABIC, &c.

A NEW EDITION, CAREFULLY REVISED AND IMPROVED.

——— Verum ex me disce laborem,
Fortunam ex aliis.

VIRG.

L O N D O N:

Printed for F. WINGRAVE, Successor to Mr. NOURSE; J. JOHNSON; J. SEWELL; W. RICHARDSON;
R. FAULDER; G. and T. WILKIE; H. MURRAY.

M.DCC.XCIV.

T O T H E R E A D E R.

AS the compiler of this Work has been entirely destitute of all help that might have been expected from other dictionaries of the English and Portuguese languages; it has been attended with much difficulty, and unavoidable delay. There was, indeed, a thing called a Portuguese and English Vocabulary published many years ago, of which I scarcely know how to speak, lest to those, who are unacquainted with it, I might appear unjust in my account. I shall only say, what every one, who will compare it with the following work, must be convinced of, I say with truth, that it has not been to me of the smallest use.

The only dictionary from which I have received great assistance has been that of the learned and laborious Bluteau, who spent above thirty years in collecting words, proverbs, and phrases, from upwards of two thousand volumes, for his Portuguese and Latin Dictionary. But even in this work, besides its deficiency of many words, my hopes were often disappointed. Bluteau himself confesses that he does not understand the true meaning of many words, or that he cannot find the Latin word answering to the Portuguese, and brings oftentimes only a quotation, wherein the Portuguese word is found, in order to explain it, but to no purpose; so that one may say, "Sicut tenebræ ejus, ita et lumen ejus."

Such have been the obstacles which have both rendered my task in a particular manner arduous, and retarded the publication of the present work; in the execution of which I endeavoured,

- I. To make it as copious as possible.
 - II. To exemplify the different significations of the same word in both languages with such accuracy and clearness, as might give a perfect and distinct knowledge to the learners, of their true genius and idioms.
 - III. Generally to authorise, in the Second Part, the words by the names of the principal English writers, in whose works they are found.
 - IV. To point out the ETYMOLOGY of many Portuguese words from other languages, not omitting even the Arabic and Persian.
 - V. To insert a considerable number of technical words.
 - VI. To indicate the Portuguese and English words that are either obsolete, or little used; and those that are only poetical.
- Finally, the reader will find inserted in their proper places, all words that have crept into the Portuguese language from the conquest of that nation, and its commerce upon the coasts of Asia, Africa, and America; especially the terms of coins, measures, offices, titles, &c. which are used in those parts of the world, or are to be met with in the Portuguese books containing travels through Ethiopia, Arabia, Persia, and other remote countries.

Such has been the plan of this work; in the compiling of which the Author has for years laboured with diligence, and he hopes with success.

August, 1773.

BOOKS printed for the PROPRIETORS.

1. A NEW GRAMMAR of the PORTUGUESE Language in Four Parts. I. Rules for the Modification and Use of the different Parts of Speech. II. The Syntax, in which are explained, after a more copious Manner than hitherto attempted, the peculiar Uses of the PORTUGUESE PARTICLES. III. A Vocabulary, more particularly containing the Terms of COMMERCE, WAR, and NAVIGATION, with a variety of Phrases and Familiar Dialogues, taken from common Conversation, and the best Authors. IV. Various Passages extracted from the most approved modern and ancient Writers, with a view to facilitate the reading of the ancient and most valuable Portuguese Books. A New Edition, carefully revised and improved, by ANTHONY VIEYRA, TRANSTAGANO. Octavo.

2. A DICTIONARY SPANISH and ENGLISH, and ENGLISH and SPANISH. Containing the Signification of Words, and their different Uses; together with the Terms of Arts, Sciences, and Trades; and the Spanish Words accented and spelled according to the Regulation of the Royal Spanish Academy of Madrid. A New Edition, greatly improved, by JOSEPH BARETTI, Secretary for Foreign Correspondence to the Royal Academy of Painting, Sculpture and Architecture. In One large Volume Quarto.

3. A NEW SPANISH GRAMMAR; or, the Elements of the Spanish Language: Containing an easy and compendious Method to speak and write it correctly. With several useful Remarks on the most particular Idioms and Fundamental Rules, shewing how to make use of them, as well in Speaking as in Writing. The whole extracted from the best Observations of Spanish Grammarians, and particularly of the Royal Spanish Academy of Madrid. To which is added an English Grammar for the Use of Spaniards, a New Edition, corrected and improved, by RAYMUNDO DEL PUEYO, M. A. Teacher of the Spanish Language, Octavo, Price 6s.

4. The NEW ITALIAN, ENGLISH, and FRENCH POCKET-DICTIONARY. Carefully compiled from the Dictionaries of La Crusca, Dr. S. Johnson, the French Academy, and from other Dictionaries of the best Authorities. In which the Parts of Speech are properly distinguished, and each Word accented according to its true and natural Pronunciation. To which is prefixed a New Compendious Italian Grammar. By F. BOTTARELLI. The Second Edition, corrected and improved, in Three portable Volumes. Price 18s.

5. A DICTIONARY of the ENGLISH and ITALIAN Languages, in Two Parts. I. Italian and English. II. English and Italian. By JOSEPH BARETTI. A New Edition, corrected and improved; by P. R. ROTA, Master of Languages, in One large Volume, Quarto. Price £. 1. 10s.

6. A NEW FRENCH DICTIONARY, in Two Parts. The First, French and English; the Second, English and French. Containing, I. Several Hundred Words not to be found in any of the Dictionaries hitherto published. II. The various Meanings of Words, often explained by French or English Sentences. III. The Genders of Nouns, Adjectives, and Pronouns; and the Conjugations of Verbs. IV. The Irregularities of the Parts of Speech. To which is prefixed, a French Grammar, shewing how to form the regular Parts of Speech. By THOMAS DELETANVILLE. A New Edition, augmented and improved, in One large Volume Octavo.

PORTUGUESE and ENGLISH Dictionary.

P A R T I.

CONTAINING

The PORTUGUESE before the ENGLISH.

A, s. m. the first letter of the Portuguese alphabet, as well as of every other, except that of the Æthiopians, where, according to Ludolphus's Grammar, it is the thirteenth.

A, among the antients was a numeral letter, that stood for 500; as it is mentioned by Baronius and others.

Possidet A numeros quingentos ordine recto. But when they put a little bar over it (Ã) then it marked 5000.

A. B. artium baccalaureus, bacharel em artes; bachelor of arts.

A. D. anno Domini, no anno do Senhor; in the year of our Lord.

A. M. artium magister, mestre em artes, master of arts.

A, the feminine article. ex. A mão, the hand; a mulher, the woman; as mãos, the hands; as mulheres, the women, &c.

A is also an indefinite article, which marks the dative case, either singular or plural; ex. A mim, to me; a vós, to you, &c.

A is sometimes a preposition denoting the place whither one is going; as, eu vou a Londres, I go to London.

Voltar a Portugal, to return or go back to Portugal.

Elle partio a Goa, he departed for Goa.

A and as are also particles used in many different senses, as you may see in the following examples:

A and as denote time; as, chegar a tempo, to arrive in time.

A que horas estareis vós lá? at what hour or time will you be there?

A's horas que for preciso, in due or good time, at the time appointed.

Estar á sua vontade, to be at one's ease.

A direita, on the right hand.

A esquerda, on the left hand.

Viver á sua vontade, to live to one's mind, or as one likes.

Andar a pé, ou a cavallo, to go on foot, or a horseback.

Correr á redea solta, to ride full speed.

Trajar á Franceza, to dress after the French way.

Viver á Inglesza, to live after the English fashion.

Andar a grandes passos, to walk at a great rate.

Andar a passos lentos, to walk very slowly.

A denotes also the price of things; as, a outo xelins, at eight shillings. It denotes also the measure; as, medir a palmos, to span or measure by the hand extended.

A's denotes also the weight; as, as onças, by the ounce.

A' razão de seis por cento, at the rate of six per cent.

When a is preceded by daqui, and followed by a noun of time, it denotes the space of time after which something is to be done; as, el rey partirá daqui a tres dias, the king will set out three days hence.

Trabalhar á candeia, to do any thing by candle-light.

A agulha, with the needle.

Andar á vela, to sail, to be under sail.

Jogar á pela, to play at tennis.

Jogar ás cartas, to play at cards.

A seu gosto, as he or she likes, or as you like.

A seu modo, after his, or her way, or after your way.

A is also put before the infinitives, preceded by another verb; as, ensinar a cantar, to teach to sing; ir a dormir, to go to sleep.

A is also placed between two equal numbers, to denote order; as, dois a dois, two by two; quatro a quatro, four by four.

Se eu fosse a vós, faria aquilo, if I was you, (in your place) I would do that.

When a is placed before casa, and the sense implies going to, it is englished by to, but the word casa is left out in English; as, elle foy a casa do governador, he went to the governor's.

A respeito do, or da, dos, or das, in comparison of, in regard to, in respect of; as, isto não he nada a respeito do que posso dizer, this is nothing to other things that I can say.

A proposito, is used in familiar discourses; as, a proposito, esquecime de dizer-vos o outro dia, &c. now I think on't, I forgot to tell you t'other day, &c.

A's avessas, quite the reverse, or contrary.

A tiro de peça, within cannon-shot.

Cara a cara, corpo a corpo, signify, face to face, body to body.

Tomar huma coisa á boa ou á má parte, to take a thing well or ill.

A pesar, in spite.

A titulo, under colour, under the pretence.

A sometimes is with; as, defenderão-se a unhas e dentes, they defended themselves with their nails and teeth.

A is also englished by against; as, ella tornou-se á criada, she turned herself against the maid.

A sometimes is for; as, guardava o ceo a Manoel tão ardua empresa, heaven reserved so hard an undertaking for Manoel.

A sometimes is in; or according to; as, a juizo do cirurgião, in the, or, according to the surgeon's opinion.

A vinte legoas daqui, twenty leagues off.

A is also by; as, a força de braços, by strength of arms; as dentadas, by mouthfuls, by bites of the teeth.

A is sometimes left out in English; as, dize a Maria, a Pedro, &c. tell Mary, Peter, &c.

Que estais a dizer? What do you say?

A is also a; as, ir á caça, to go a shooting.

A is also upon; as, levai-o á cabeça, carry it upon your head; as costas, upon a man's back, on his shoulders.

A, in reckoning games, is used in this manner: cinco a cinco, five all; seis a seis, six all; tres a quatro, three to four; quatro a nada, four love.

A, and as, are very often used with a noun adverbially; as,

A' preça, hastily.

A' mão, near.

A' falsa fé, treacherously.

A's escuras, in the dark.

A's cegas, blindfold.

And many others, which you will find where we shall show the significations of the words, which are preceded by these particles.

A sometimes is joined to some words, so as to make but a single word with them; as, acinte, alerta, &c. Therefore you must look for these words in their alphabetical disposition.

A is also a pronoun relative, it, or her; as, vendo-a, seeing it, or her; vendo-as, seeing them; elle amava-a muito, he did love her very much; se elle a quizer, if he will have it, or her.

N. B. These are the principal senses in which the particle a is used; but there are many others which can hardly be brought under any particular rules. You will find find

B

B

find them all, however, in the course of this Dictionary.

AAMO'UCO. See AMOUCO.

A'BA, f. f. (the extremity of any thing) edge, side, brim, a border.

Aba, the skirt of a garment, part of a garment below the waist.

Tomar as abas na cinta. See TOMAR.

Abu do telhado, the eves of a house which keep the walls from rain, a penthouse.

Aba, (speaking of hats) the brim of a hat.

Chapeo de Abas pequenas, a narrow-brimmed hat.

Chapeo de Abas grandes, a broad-brimmed hat.

Aba, (speaking of rivers) bank, shore, water-side.

Aba do forro, the ornament, edge, border, or frame of the roof of a chamber.

Aba da fechadura, a thin plate of iron, to strengthen and fortify the locks.

Aba, (metaph.) Protection.

ABACELLAR, v. a. ex. Abacellar plantas, to lay the roots of plants under ground, to keep them for transplantation.

A'BACO, (in architecture) abacus, the uppermost part of a column.

ABA'DA, f. f. the skirt of a garment tucked up, and full of any thing.

Abada, f. f. the female of a rhinoceros. Some think it is another wild beast by Bengal.

ABADA'DO. See ABBADADO, &c.

ABADE'JO, f. m. a kind of salt fish we call poor Jack; also the Spanish fly, or cantharis, used for raising blisters.

ABADE'RNAS, f. f. p. (a sea term) small ropes that serve to make firm the lines of the shrouds.

ABADIR, f. m. a certain God of the Carthaginians. It is also taken for the stone bundled up with a band, which was presented by Rhea to Saturn instead of Jupiter.

ABAFADICO, adj. smoultry. ex. Lugar abafadiço, a place that is not aired, where there is no air-hole, or vent to give light, but only sweltry, and smoldry heat.

ABAFADO, part. smothered. Sometimes is the same as smoldry, sweltry, as:

Ar abafado, a sweltry, thick, and smoldry air. See also ABAFAR.

Abafado, well covered; ex. Estai abafado para que sueis, cover yourself well that you may sweat.

ABAFAMENTO, f. m. choking, suffocation; also oppression, calamity, (metaph.)

ABAFAR, v. a. to choke, to smother; also to cover well, or close; also to overlay, to smother with too much, or too close covering.

Abafar, (a vulg. w.) to steal.

Abafar, (in agriculture) to choke and overshadow, as weeds, &c. do the corn, &c.

Abafar hum negocio, to murder a business.

Abafar a terra, to harrow or break the clods after the first ploughing.

Abafar, v. n. to swelter, to be pained with heat, to be overlaid or smothered with too close covering.

Abafar-se, v. r. to cover one's self well.

Abafar-se, ou cobrir-se de nuvens, to grow cloudy, to grow dark with clouds.

ABAINHADO, p. of the preterperf. t. of ABAINHAR, v. a. to hem.

Abainhar hum lenço. See EMBAINHAR.

ABAIJAR. See ABAXAR.

ABAIJO. See ABAXO.

ABALADA, f. f. ex. seguir o celbo pella

abalada, (among hunters) to follow the rabbit from his nest.

ABALADO, adj. shaken, &c. See ABALAR.

Estar abalado, (metaph.) to be in readiness.

Lat. In procinctu stare. Also to give ground; Lat. Labascere.

ABALANÇAR-SE, v. r. to attack, to rush on suddenly.

Abalançar-se ao perigo, to run into danger.

ABALAR, or ABALLAR, v. a. to shake, jog, or stir; also to move, to touch, to affect.

Abalar alguém do seu propósito, to fright one from his purpose, and make him change his mind.

Abalar, v. n. to shake, or jog, to be loose.

Os dentes lhe abalaõ, his teeth are loose.

Abalar, to decamp, to march off, to go from the camp.

Abalar, (a vulg. w.) to run away, to brush away.

Abalar com os calxibos, to scamper away. (a vulg. phrase.)

Abalar-se, v. r. to stir, to move, to wag.

Não vos abaleis de lá, do not stir from thence.

ABALIZADO, or ABALLIZADO, surveyed, &c. See ABALIZAR.

ABALIZADOR, f. m. a surveyor, or measurer of lands, he who sets bounds to it.

ABALIZAR, v. a. to survey, or measure lands, and set bounds to it.

Homem abalizado, (metaph.) a wise and clever man.

ABALIZADO autor, an excellent author or writer, one of the better sort.

ABALIZAR-SE, v. r. See ASSINALAR-SE.

ABA'LO, f. m. shake, jerk, pull; also concern, the state of being affected in mind.

Fazer, ou causar abalo, (metaph.) to affect, to move the affections.

Abalo, pain, grief, uneasiness, trouble, fatigue, inconveniency, tiresomeness.

Abalo, ou ameaço da doença. See AMEAÇO.

ABALROAR, v. n. to shake or dash, to break in pieces; also to contend, to strive, or quarrel. It is used in Portuguese with the preposition com, with.

Abalroar hum navio com outro por causa da corrente, ou outra desgraça, is for a ship to run or fall foul upon another.

Abalroar, v. a. (speaking of ships) to board a ship.

ABANADO'R, f. m. a fire-fan

ABANAR, v. a. to fan.

Abanar o lume, ou o fogo, to kindle the fire by fanning it.

Abanar o trigo, to winnow, to separate corn from chaff by the wind.

Abanar a cara de alguém, to cool another's face with a fan.

Abanar as moscas, to drive the flies away; to rid of flies.

Penitencia de abana mosca, a light or easy penance.

Cuidados de abana mosca, trifling cares, trifles.

Abanar as arvores, to shake the trees.

Abanar as azas, to clap the wings.

Abanar as orelhas, to give a negative answer; a vulgar phrase.

Abanar-se, v. r. to cool one's self with a fan.

ABANDONAR, v. a. to abandon, to give over, to forsake, to cast off, to quit, to leave, to desert, to shake off.

ABANICO, f. m. a woman's fan.

ABANICOS, witty sayings.

ABA'NO, f. m. a fire-fan.

Abano, a fly-flap.

Manteo de Abanos, a sort of neck of a band formerly used.

ABA'R, v. a. to cock: ex. Abar hum chapéo, to cock; or to cock up a hat.

ABARATAR, v. a. to bate, to abate, to beat down the price of any thing.

Abatar a vitória, (metaph.) to get the victory without dearly paying for it, that is, without a great loss of people on his side.

ABARBA'DO, a, adj. very near; also vexed, provoked, puzzled, &c. See

ABARBAR, v. a. and n. to draw nigh, to come near; also to vex, to attack, to puzzle, to provoke; also to encounter, to face, to go to meet boldly.

ABA'RCA, f. f. a sort of shoes worn by country people that live on mountains, or rocky places, made of raw skins of wild boars, cows, &c. and tied with strings.

ABARCADOR, f. m. foreteller, monopolist, monopolizer, an ingrosser of a commodity.

ABARCAR, v. a. to compass about, to environ, to inclose, to contain, to hold, to include.

Abarcar com a mão, to clasp, to hold with the hands extended.

P. Quem muito abarca, pouco abraça, all cover, all lose; all grasp, all lose. The

Lat. say, plurima qui agreditur, nil aptè perficit unquam.

Abarcar, to foretell, to monopolize, to ingross a commodity.

Eles abarcam todo o negocio, they ingross all the trade to themselves.

Abarcar com o pensamento, to understand, to perceive, (metaph.)

Abarcar alguma coisa antes que chegue ao mercado para vende-la, to foretell the market.

ABARREGADO. See AMANCEBADO.

ABARREGAMENTO. See AMANCEBAMENTO.

ABARREGAR-SE. See AMANCEBAR-SE.

ABARRISCO, f. m. (a vulgar w.) ex. Abarrisco de peixe, plenty of fish.

ABARROADO. See TEIMOSO.

ABARROTA'DO, part. full, filled up.

Navio abarroado, a ship quite loaded, a ship that cannot take any more cargo in.

ABARROTAR, v. a. to fill, to fill up.

ABASSI, f. m. money used in Asia, the value of which is a little more than a mil-ling.

ABA'STA, v. imp. enough, or it is enough.

ABASTADAMENTE, adv. abundantly, largely.

ABASTADO. See ABASTAR.

ABASTANCA, f. f. plenty, plenteousness, abundance.

ABASTAR, v. n. to suffice, to be sufficient, or enough.

Isso não basta para seu sustento, this is not sufficient for his subsistence.

Aquella quantia não pode abastar para todas as necessidades, that sum can't answer all the occasions.

Abastar, v. a. to satiate, to satisfy, to fill, to nourish, or be nourishing.

Esta sorte de fruta abasta, this sort of fruit satiates, or is nourishing.

Homem abastado, (metaph.) a man that has riches enough to live upon.

ABASTECER. See BASTECER.

ABASTECIDO. See BASTECIDO.

ABATE,

ABATE, f. m. abatement. Naõ quero dar nada de abate, I won't bate an inch, or a jot on't.

ABATER, v. a. to debilitate, weaken, or infirm.

Abater, to hate, to abate.

Abater alguma coisa do preço, to abate something of the price.

Naõ quero abater nada, I will not abate an inch or a jot of it.

Abater, to pull, to bring down, to check, to humble.

Abater a soberba de alguém, to pull, or bring down one's pride.

Abater, to strike; ex. Abater a bandeira, to strike the flag, to abase, to lower or take in the flag.

Abater, to look, to cast downwards.

Abater os olhos, to look downwards, to cast one's eyes down, or downwards.

Abater, to discourage, to put out of heart, to dishearten, to dispirit.

Abater, to impair, to lessen, to diminish.

Abater o credito de alguém, to clip the wings of one's fame, or to lessen his reputation.

Abater as cristas de alguém, to bring down one's pride, or haughtiness.

N. B. When in the sentence governed by this verb, no mention is made of any person but of that which is the nominative of the verb abater; then (if the same verb is taken in the two last significations) you must understand, his own, her own, and their own. Ex.

Elle abateo a soberba, he brought down his own haughtiness.

Elles abateram o credito, they impaired their own reputation, or credit.

Abater, v. n. to abate, to fall, to decrease.

O calor vai abatendo, the heat begins to abate.

Abater-se, v. r. to fall, tumble, or shrink down.

O edificio está para abater-se, the building is ready to fall.

Abater-se, to be discouraged or disheartened, to lose courage, to despond, to weaken, to grow weak.

Abater-se, to humble, to abase one's self.

ABATIDO, a, adj. abased, humbled, disheartened, tumbled down, impaired, lessened, brought down, feeble, grown feeble, debilitated, decayed, &c. according to the v. abater.

Abatido, fallen in the price; also ravaged, laid waste.

ABATIMENTO, f. m. decay, withering, failure, ruin.

Abatimento, submissiveness, humbleness.

ABAXAR, or ABAIXAR, v. a. to pull, to bring or let down, to let fall, to lower.

Abaxar a cabeça, to bow one's head.

Abaxar dois pés de huna muralha, to bring a wall lower by two feet.

Abaxar, to humble, to abate, to make stoop, to cast down, to depress, to check, to debase.

Eu lhe abaxarei os funes, I shall make him stoop.

Abaxar, to shorten, to diminish.

Abaxar a raçam, to shorten the allowance.

Abaxar, v. n. to fall in price, or value, to abate. As, Rendas das casas vão abaxando, the rents of the houses begin to fall.

O calor vai abaxando, the heat abates.

Abaxar huna voz, eu tom na musica, to fall a note in musick.

Abaxar, to grow mild, to fall, to come down, in the figurative sense. [to be laid.

Abaxar-se, v. r. to fall, to sink, to decrease,

Os animos vão abaxando-se, e levantando-se á medida que a fortuna he favoravel, ou contraria, mean spirits rise, or sink, as fortune smiles, or frowns.

Abaxar-se, to humble one's self, to stoop, to cringe, to submit.

Abaxar-se a acções más, e indignas, to stoop to sordid ungenerous practices.

ABAXO, or ABAIXO, adv. down.

Eu caio abaxo, I fall down.

Vay abaxo, go down.

Calças abaxo, down with your breeches.

Abaxo com elle, down with him.

Abaxo e acima, up and down.

Elle cahio pelas escadas abaxo, he fell down stairs.

Abaxo com isso, down with it.

Abaxo, hereafter.

Abaxo, prepos. under, or inferior. See also DEPOIS.

Sentouse abaxo deller, he sat inferior, or under them.

Logo abaxo, next inferior to.

Assentou-se logo abaxo de mim, he sat next inferior to me, or he was the next man to me.

De cabeça abaxo, headlong.

ABBACIA'L, adj. belonging to an abbey, or abbot.

ABBADADO, f. m. the church that is governed by an abbot.

ABBADÉ, f. m. an abbot.

Abade commendatario, an abbot in commendam.

Abade regular, a regular abbot.

Abade secular, a secular abbot.

ABBADE. See CONFESSOR. obso.

ABBADESSA, f. f. an abbess.

ABBADESSADO, f. m. abbotship.

ABBADIA, f. f. an abbey.

ABBADINHO, f. m. a little abbot.

ABBATINA, f. f. the abbot's dress.

Andar a abbatina, to dress as the abbots do.

ABBREVIADO'R, f. m. an abbreviator.

ABBREVIADO. See ABBREVIAR.

ABBREVIAR, v. a. to shorten, to abbreviate, to abridge; also to cut short, to abbreviate; also to dispatch, to make a quick riddance of.

ABBREVIATURA, f. f. abbreviation, or short hand; also abbreviature, an abridgment or compendium. Escritura feita por abbreviatura, short-hand writing.

ABC, f. m. the alphabet, or cross-cross-row.

Está apprendendo o A, B, C, he is an A, B, C, scholar, or he is an abecedary.

Este he o ABC da mathematica, (figurat.) these are the first rules, elements, or rudiments, of the mathematics.

Cartilha do A, B, C; a primer.

Dispor pella ordem do A, B, C; to alphabet.

ABCESSO, or ABSCESSO, f. m. an impostume, an abscess.

ABDICAÇAM, f. f. abdication, resigning, forsaking, given over.

ABDICA'DO, a, adj. See

ABDICA'R, v. a. to abdicate, to leave, to abandon, to forsake, to resign, to give over.

ABDOMEN, f. m. abdomen, the lower cavity of an animal's body, situated between the diaphragm, or midriff, and the privities.

ABECEDARIO, f. m. a primer.

Que está disposto pella ordem do abecedario, ou alfabeto, alphabeted.

ABEGAM, f. m. a farmer's servant, whose particular business is to take care of all the tools belonging to husbandry, and to plough his master's lands.

ABEGO'A, f. f. the wife of a farmer's servant, &c. See ABEGAM.

ABEGOARIA, f. f. any thing belonging to a village, a farm, or country-house. All the tools or instruments belonging to husbandry.

ABEJARUCO. See ABELHEIRO.

ABELHA, f. f. a bee, or honey bee.

Enxame de abelhas, a swarm of bees.

Abelha pequena, a little bee.

Abelha creança, a young bee just formed.

Abelhas bravas, wild bees that live in the woods and forests.

Abelhas castoras, tame bees.

Abelha mestra, the king among the bees.

Abelha flor. See ABELHINHA FLOR.

ABELHAM, f. m. a waip.

ABELHEIRO, f. m. midwall, martinet.

ABELHINHA, f. f. a little bee; diminutive of abelha.

Abelhinha flor, the herb dog's-stones. Lat. orchis.

ABELHUDAMENTE, adv. too hastily.

ABELHU'DO, a, adjett. over-hasty.

ABEMOLADO, adj. flat.

Chave abemolada, a flat key.

Abemolado, agreeable, sweet, obliging, kind, complaisant, alluring, (metaph.)

ABENÇOADO, a, adj. See

ABENÇOAR, v. a. to bless, to wish well.

Abençoado sejas de Deos, God bless you.

ABENDICOAR, v. a. to thank, to praise, to give blessings.

ABERTAMENTE, adv. openly, publicly, plainly, evidently, manifestly, freely, point-blank.

Disseme abertamente, que não queria faze-lo, he told me point blank that he would not do it.

Fallar abertamente, to speak openly.

ABERTAS, f. f. p. a trench, ditch, or furrow, to convey water into the fields, or somewhere else.

ABERTO, a, adj. set open, opened, &c. See the v. ABRIR.

A sua porta está aberta para todo o mundo, he keeps open house.

A porta não está totalmente aberta, nem totalmente fechada, the door is ajar, or upon the jar.

A porta está aberta, the door is open.

Aberto de par em par, wide open.

Até que eu tiver os olhos abertos, as long as my eyes are open.

Homem de coração aberto, an open-hearted man.

Homem de mãos abertas, an open-handed man.

Aberto, unvalled, that is without walls.

Aberto, wide, far extended.

Lugar aberto, an open place.

Porta aberta em duas, a double door, gate, leaf, or flap.

Aberto dos peitos, (speaking of a horse) that is afflicted either with a shoulder-pight, or with a shoulder-splaiting, or shoulder torn.

ABERTURA, f. f. an opening, or laying open. See the verb ABRIR.

Abertura da camisa, the bosom of a shirt.

Abertura, a vent, or vent hole.

Aberturas, the doors and windows of a house.

Abertura, a gaping in a wall, or building.

Abertura, the room, or board in the custom-house, appointed for the close viewing and looking narrowly into the goods.

Abertura por onde defaguam tanques, &c. a flood-gate, a water-gate.
Abertura do parlamento, the opening of the parliament.
ABESSENTA'DO, a, adj. (in heraldry) a coat of arms wherein there are round plates of gold without any stamp. See BE-SANTE.
ABESSO, (an ancient word) wrong or injury.
ABESTIM. } See ASBESTO.
ABE'STO. }
ABESTRU'Z, f. m. an ostrich, or ostridge.
ABETA'RDA, f. f. a bustard, a sort of great bird.
ABE'TE, or ABE'TO, f. m. a fir-tree, or deal tree.
Madeira de abete, or abeto, fir, deal.
ABETUMA'DO. See BETUMADO.
ABETUMA'R, f. m. See BETUMAR.
ABEXTNS, ou abexis, f. m. p. Abyssines, a people of Ethiopia, who are Christians of the Greek church, whose emperor is stiled the Grand Negus; falsely taken by some for Prester John.
ABICA'DO, a, part. of ABICAR. Estar abicado a alguma coisa (metaph.) to want but little, or to be like to compass a thing.
ABICA'R, v. n. (a sea term) it is said of a ship when it is in a harbour, and the prow touches, or is adjoining to the shore.
Abicar, v. a. ex. abicar hum navio, to bring a ship to the coast or shore, from beque, the beak of a ship.
ABIETINO, a, adj. belonging to the fir-tree.
A'RIL, &c. See HABIL, &c.
ABILHA'R, (in old records). See ATAVIAR.
ABINTESTA'DO, f. m. intestate.
Herdeiro abintestado, heir of one that dies intestate.
ABISMA'DO, a, adj. cast, thrown, or swallowed up in an abyss, &c. See ABISMAR in all its senses.
ABISMA'R, v. a. to cast, to throw into an abyss.
Abijmar, to astonish, surprize, to amaze.
Abijmar-se, v. r. to run into an abyss; to lose, or sink one's self in a thing.
Abijmar-se, to be astonished, amazed, surprized, to wonder.
ABISMO, ou abyssino, f. m. an abyss, a bottomless gulph, or pit, an unmeasurable gulph.
ABITA, f. f. (in a ship) the bits that serve to belay (that is to fasten) the cable when the ship rides at anchor, &c.
ABIUÇAM. } HABITAÇAM.
ABITADO'R. } HABITADOR.
ABITA'DO. } HABITADO.
ABITAR. } HABITAR.
ABITO. } HABITO.
ABITUA'DO. } HABITUADO.
ABITUAR-SE. } HABITUAR-SE.
ABJURAÇAM, f. f. abjuration, the forsaking of an error in some fundamental point of the Christian faith.
ABJURA'R, v. a. to abjure an error, to forsake an error, to renounce it. (Speaking of heretics.)
ABLATIVO, i. m. the ablative case, a term in grammar.
ABLUÇAM, f. f. ablution, or washing, a term used in the Romish church; also ablution, any religious purification; also ablution in pharmacy.
ABNEGAÇAM, f. f. (an ascetick term) ab-negation, self-denial, the renouncing one's interest, pleasures, passions.

A abnegaçam de si mesmo, the abnegation of one's self, self-denial.
Com huma abnegaçam inteira das nossas vontades, with a full abnegation of our wills.
ABNEGA'R, v. a. to renounce, quit, forsake: this is likewise an ascetick term.
ABO'BADA, f. f. a vault, an arched roof.
ABO'BARA, or ABOBORA, f. f. a gourd.
Abobara d'agoa, pompion, pumpkin.
Abobara menina, a kind of large, and almost spherical gourd.
ABOBORA'DO, p. of ABOBORAR; which see.
ABOBORAL, f. m. a place where gourds grow.
ABOBORAR, v. n. to simmer, to boil gently. A word made probably from the sound.
ABOBORINHA, f. f. a small gourd.
ABOCANHA'DO, a, adj. bitten, &c. See ABOCANHA'R, v. a. to bite, to mouth.
Abocanhár, to carp, to find fault with, to censure. See DETRAHIR.
Homem de má lingua que abocanha a todos, a foul-mouthed man.
Elle anda abocanhado de embaxador, it is commonly reported that he is to be appointed embassador.
ABOCAR em Linguagens albeas, v. n. to affect, or to make a pretended show of knowing foreign languages.
Abocar, (a sea term) ex. aboca o estreito, to begin to sail through the streight.
Abocar a barra, to begin to sail through the mouth or entrance of a bay.
ABOCETADO, a, adj. circular, round, orbicular.
ABOIS, or BUIS, f. f. springe, noose to catch birds with.
ABOLADO, a, adj. bruised, crushed, &c. See
ABOLAR, v. a. to bruise, batter, or beat dents in things, to crush or spoil the form of a thing, or by any blow, or hard compresure.
ABOLEIMADO, a, adj. (a vulgar expression) ex.
Rosto aboleimado, an hollow, or flat unfashioned face, like a tart, or wafer.
Ter o juizo aboleimado, to be stupid, blockish, senseless.
ABOLETAR, v. aet. to quarter soldiers.
ABOLINAR, v. n. to go near the wind, to go with a side wind, to tack upon a wind, to sail upon a bowline.
ABOLORECE'R, v. n. to grow mouldy, hoary.
Fazer abolorer, to make mouldy, or hoary.
ABOMINAÇAM, f. f. abomination, execration, detestation.
Abominaçam, f. f. an abominable, or detestable thing, or person.
ABOMINADO, a, adj. See
ABOMINA'R, v. a. to abominate, abhor, or detest.
ABOMINA'VEL, adj. an abominable, or detestable thing, or person.
ABOMINA'VELMENTE, adv. abominably.
ABONAÇAM, f. f. the act of being bound for a bondsman. See ABONADOR.
Abonaçam, esteem, praise, respect that one has for another man, or his merit.
ABONADO, a, bailed, &c. according to the v. ABONAR.

Homem abonado, a rich man, a man of credit.
Abonado, ou acreditado. See ACREDITADO.
Testemunha abonada, a creditable witness, a witness that is not to be excepted against.
Fiador abonado, a bailed bondsman.
ABONADO'R, f. m. he who is bail for one that is already bail for another, a second bail, or surety; also he who answers or speaks a good word for another.
ABONANÇA'R, v. n. to clear up, to grow fair weather.
ABONA'R, v. a. to stand bound, or to be bail, or surety for a man that is already bail for another.
Abonar, to shew, to prove, to make appear, also to commend, to praise, to procure one favour and get him esteem, to answer or speak a good word for him.
Abonar, ou levar em conta, to discount or abate, to make good.
Dinheiro que se deve abonar, money to be discounted, or abated, off-reckoning.
Abonar-se, v. r. to commend, praise, or extol one's self.
ABONO, f. m. approbation, praise, credit, also advantage; as, fallar em abono de alguém, to speak to one's advantage, or in his behalf.
Fazer em abono, to prove, to shew, to confirm; also to help to reputation or credit, to avail, to be advantageous, or available.
ABORCA'R, ou borcar, v. n. to overflow.
ABORDA'R, v. a. (a sea term) to board a ship, to come up with a ship.
Abordar alguém, to come, or draw near one, to accost him, to approach him, to come up to him.
ABORDO'R, v. n. to go leaning on a staff.
ABORIGENES, f. m. p. Aborigines, the name given to the inhabitants of the ancient Latium.
ABORRECEDO'R, f. m. a hater, a despiser.
Aborrecedor de molheres, a hater of women.
ABORRECER, v. n. to be abominable, to be abhorred, hated, detested.
Quanto mais crece, mais aborrece, the more he grows, the more he is abominable.
Aborrecer, v. aet. to abhor, to detest, to abominate, to hate.
Aborrecer, to weary, to tire, to be wearisome, or tiresome to, to be tedious.
Não o faças aborrecer mais, do not tire, or be tedious to him any more.
Aborrecer-se, v. r. to be angry, to fall into a passion.
Aborreçam-se os tirannos quando não podem executar os seus barbaros designios, the tyrants fall into a passion when they cannot accomplish their barbarous designs.
Aborrecer-se, to be grumbling, peevish, cross, morose. Ex.
He proprio dos homens começarem a aborrecer-se depois dos sessenta annos, it is proper to men to be peevish after they come to sixty years of age.
Aborrecer-se, to find fault, to abhor, not to be able to endure.
Os homens honestos aborreçam-se de lisongas, honest men are not able to endure flattery.
Os vellos aborreçam-se de tudo que he novo, old men find fault with all that is newly invented.
Aborrecer-se, to be hated, to be abhorred.
Aborrece-se

Aborrece-se a verdade, truth is hated.
ABORRECIDAMENTE, adv. odiously spitefully.
ABORRECIDO, a, part. hated, detested, abhorred.
Fazer-se aborrecido de todos, to make one's self hated by every body.
ABORRECIMENTO, f. m. hatred, peevishness, moroseness.
ABORRECIVEL, adj. detestable, horrible, dire, dreadful.
ABORRECIVELMENTE, adv. See ABORRECIDAMENTE.
ABORRIDAMENTE, adv. sadly, peevishly.
ABORRIDO, a, adj. sad, peevish, cross, morose.
Elle está aborrido por causa da doença, he is peevish on account of the sickness.
ABORSO, see ABORTO.
ABORTAR, to miscarry, to be brought to bed before the time, or untimely.
Fazer abortar, to cause a miscarriage.
ABORTIVO, a, adj. untimely, unseasonable, hasty, before the time, unripe, imperfect, unfinished.
Bezerinho abortivo, a flink, a cast-calf.
ABORTO, f. m. abortion, miscarriage, the bringing forth untimely.
Aborto, an abortive, an untimely child, one born out of due time.
ABOTOADOR, f. m. a button-maker.
ABOTOADURA, f. f. a set of buttons.
ABOTOAR, v. a. to sew, to stitch buttons.
Abotoar, to button.
Abotoar, v. n. (speaking of the almond tree, and some others) to bud, to bloom.
Abotoar-se, v. r. to button one's self.
ABOYADO, a, adj. See
ABOYAR, v. a. to cast into the sea a log of wood, barrel, or the like, to shew where the anchor or any other thing lies.
Abayar, v. a. to hull, to float, to ride to and fro upon the water.
ABRA, f. f. a road for ships.
ABRAÇADO, a, adj. See ABRAÇAR.
ABRAÇAR, v. a. to embrace, hug, or take about, to clip and coll.
Abraçar lançando os braços ao pescoço, to clip and coll, to embrace about the neck.
O que abraçar, an embracer.
Abraçar um negocio, to undertake, or take upon one a business.
Abraçar o partido de alguém, to take one's part, to side with him.
Abraçar uma opinião, to embrace, or favour an opinion.
Abraçar, to comprehend, to contain, to comprise.
Abraça a occasião, to seize the opportunity.
P. Quem muito abraça, pouco aperta, all grasp, all lose, or covet all and lose all.
Abraçar-se, v. r. ex. Abraçar-se com alguém, ou com alguma coisa, to embrace, to hug, or take about somebody, or something.
ABRAÇO, f. m. an embracing, an embracer, a clipping and colling, a hug.
Dar abraços, to embrace, to hug.
Abraço reciproco pello pescoço, embracing about one another's neck, accolade.
ABRANDADO, a, adj. See
ABRANDAR, v. a. to mollify, to soften.
abrandar a dor, ou a pena, to soften, to allay, to mitigate, to allay, to ease, to alleviate the pain, or grief.
Abrandar o calor, to lay, or to allay the heat.
Abrandar a ira de alguém, to appease, to sweeten, to allay one's anger, to mitigate, to allay his passion, to pacify him, to cool his anger.

Abrandar hum natural feróz, to soften, to temper, to mollify a savage humour, to render it mild, or gentle.
A chuva abrandou o tempo, the weather is grown mild after the rain.
Abrandar, v. n. to fall, to come down, to be laid, to grow mild.
O tempo abrandando, ou vai abrandando, the weather grows mild.
O vento abrandando, the wind falls, or comes down, the wind is laid.
Abrandar-se, v. r. (speaking of anger) to be allayed, to relent, to cool, to grow cool, to be sweetened, appeased, or mitigated.
ABRANGER, v. a. to comprehend, to contain, to comprize, to include, to take in.
Ab ranger, to be sufficient.
Não passo abranger tão grande negocio, I am not sufficient for so great business.
Ab ranger a mam, to clasp the hand.
Ab ranger, ou abarcar todo o negocio, to ingross all the trade.
ABRANGIDO, a, adj. See ABRANGER.
ABRAZADO, a, adj. on fire, all on fire. See ABRAZAR.
ABRAZADOR, ex. sol, ou fogo abrazador, the burning sun, or burning fire.
ABRAZAMENTO, f. m. great fire, conflagration, violent burning.
Abrazamento de amor, the fire, or flames of love.
ABRAZAR, v. a. to fire, to set on fire, to consume by fire.
Abrazar, (speaking of love) to fire, to inflame, to burn.
Abrazar, (speaking of lands) to ravage, to spoil, to ransack, to lay waste.
Abrazar-se, v. r. to take fire, to burn, to be on fire, to be inflamed (both in the proper and figurat. sense.)
ABREGO, (in ancient records) the wind south-west. Lat. Africus.
ABREVIACAM, ABREVIADO, &c. See ABBREVIACAM, ABBREVIADO, &c.
ABRIDOR, f. m. an engraver.
Abridor que faz uso da agoa forte, he who engraves with aqua fortis, he who etches.
ABRIGADA, f. f. a covert, a shelter, also protection, refuge, sanctuary, (metaph.)
ABRIGADO, a, that is under covert, sheltered.
Não temo a chuva por que estou abrigado, I do not fear the rain, because I am under a covert, or shelter.
Lugar abrigado, a shelter, a safe place against ill weather.
Estar abrigado, to be sheltered, to be secure, or free from a danger.
ABRIGAR, v. a. to shelter, to protect, to defend, in the proper and figurative sense.
Ab rigar alguém, to receive somebody into one's house, or to protect somebody.
Ab rigar-se, v. r. to get shelter, to be under shelter, to shelter one's self from foul weather.
Ab rigar-se entretanto que chove, to get shelter while it rains.
Ab rigar-se em algum lugar, to fly to a place for shelter.
Ab rigar-se do vento, to be under wind.
Ab rigar-se, (metaph.) ex. elle abrigou-se a mim, he has fled to me for shelter, he betook himself to me.
Elle abrigou-se a hum bom modo de vida, ou a hum arte que lhe rende muito, he betook himself to a very profitable profession.

ABRIGO, f. m. a shelter, covert, chiefly from foul weather.
Abrigo para os navios, a shore, a shed, a corner, a creek, where the ships are safe.
Por-se ao abrigo, to shelter one's self.
Estar ao abrigo, ou de baixo de abrigo, to be under shelter.
Scr abrigo, ou servir de abrigo, (metaph.) to protect, or defend.
Eu serei vosso abrigo contra as suas injurias, I will protect, or defend you against his injuries.
ABRIL, f. m. April, the fourth month of the year.
ABRIMENTO, f. m. an opening.
ABRIR, v. a. to open, or let open.
Ab rir a porta, ou janella, to open the door, or window.
Ab rir loja, to set up a shop.
Ab rir agoa (a sea term.) See AGOA.
Elle não tem mais que ab rir a boca, he has all things at command, or he has the world in a string.
Ab rir o concerto, (in musick) to begin to play, to strike up.
Ab rir os portos, to take away the embargo.
Ab rir huma carta, to open a letter.
Aquilo abre a vontade de comer, that whets, or sharpens the stomach.
Ab rir huma trouxa, to open, or undo a bundle.
Ab rir os braços, to stretch the arms.
Ab rir o entendimento, to open the mind, to give light to it.
Se ab rires a boca, if you speak never so little (a sort of threatening)
Ab rir a porta a desordens, to give an occasion, to open gaps to disorder. (metaph.)
Ab rir o seu coração a alguém, to open one's heart, or mind, to one.
Ab rir fazendo uso de agoa forte, to etch.
Ab rir com buril, to engrave, or grave.
Ab rir a mam, to desist, to leave off (metaph.)
Ab rir as cartas, at the opening of the letters.
Ab rir trinxeiras, to open the trenches, to break ground.
Ab rir hum corpo morto, to open a corpse.
Ab rir, to make an incision, to cleave.
Ab rir, to open, or begin.
Ab rir a campanha, to open, or begin the campaign.
Ab rir o caminho, to open, or clear the way; also to lead the way, to go before, to break the ice (metaph.)
Ab rir caminho, (metaph.) to move a thing, to make a motion, to propose a thing.
Ab rir os olhos a alguém, to undeceive, to disabuse one, to put him out of conceit (metaph.)
Ab rir os olhos, (metaph.) to begin to apprehend things.
Ab rir devaça, to begin to hear witnesses about the matter in question.
Ab rir, v. n. to open or uncloseth; ex. Esta porta fechada, mas não abre bem, this door shuts close, but it does not open cleverly.
Ab rir, (speaking of flowers) to open, or blow.
As flores começam a ab rir, the flowers begin to blow.
Ab rir os ouvidos, to listen, to hearken.
Ab rir os ouvidos a alguém. (metaph.) See
Ab rir os olhos a alguém.

Abrir, (speaking of the weather) to clear up. O tempo começa a abrir, the weather begins to clear up.

Abrir contas, to begin to keep an account of debt and credit, or to settle the account with another.

Abrir-se, v. r. to open, to be opened.

Esta porta nunca se abre, this door never opens.

Abrir-se hum caminho, to make one's self a way.

Abrir-se com alguem, to declare, or open one's mind to one, to unbohem one's self to one.

Abrir-se, (speaking of the earth, or edifices) to gape, to chink, to chap.

Esta porta abre-se por fimefma, this door flies open.

Abrir-se a boca de enfado, ou por vontade de dormir, to gape, to yawn.

Come-se lhe esta abrindo a boca! how he yawneth, or gapeth!

Abrir-se o dia, is for the day to begin to peep, or break.

Começa a abrir-se o dia, the day begins to break, or peep.

Abrir ou abrir-se dos peitos, (speaking of horses) to be affected either with a shoulder-pight, or with a shoulder-splaiting.

ABROCHADO, a, adj. See ABROCHAR.

ABROCHADURA, f. f. a clasping.

Abrochadura de hum livro, the clasp of a book.

ABROCHAR, v. a. to clasp, to fasten with a clasp.

ABROGAÇAM, f. f. (forensic term) abrogation, repealing, disannulling, abolishment.

ABROGADO, a, adj. See ABROGAR.

ABROGAR, v. a. to abrogate, to repeal, to abolish, to disannul, to make void a law which was before in force.

ABROLHAR, v. n. (in agriculture) to bud, to burgeon, or bloom.

ABROLHO, f. m. caltrop, a sort of herb.

Abrolho terrestre, land-caltrop.

Abrolho maritimo, great caltrop, water caltrop, or saligot.

Abrolho, a sort of instrument with four or five spikes, so made, that which way soever they fall, one point still lies upwards, and generally used to annoy an enemy's horse; coltrop, or caltrop, crows feet.

ABROTANO, f. m. abrotanum, or southernwood; the vulgar call it, erva lombrigueira.

ABROTEA, f. f. daffodil, a sort of herb.

Flor da abrotea, daffy-down-dilly.

ABRUNHEIRO, f. m. a floe, or bullace tree.

ABRUNHO, f. m. floe, bullace, wild plum.

ABSCISSO, ou ABCESSO. See ABCESSO.

ABSCISSA, f. f. (in geometry) abscissa, or abscisse.

ABSCISSAM, f. m. (in astrology) abscission.

ABSYNTHIO, or ABSYNTHIO. See LOSNA.

ABSOLTO, a, adj. absolved, acquitted, discharged.

ABSOLVER, ou absolver, v. a. to solve, to acquit, to discharge.

Absolver hum malfetor de hum castigo merecido, to acquit a malefactor from his deserved punishment.

Absolver-se, v. r. ex. absolver-se da obrigação de satisfazer a sua promessa, to perform, to fulfil one's promise.

ABSOLUÇAM, or ABSOLUÇAM, f. f. absolving, acquitment, acquittal, discharge, or release.

ABSOLUÇAM, a pardoning, remission, or forgiveness of sins pronounced by the priest.

ABSOLUTAMENTE, adv. wholly, entirely, altogether, totally, absolutely, without any condition or reserve, with an absolute power.

Elle manda absolutamente na cidade, he has an absolute command in the city.

Absolutamente, absolutely, by all means.

Procurai absolutamente de alcança lo, endeavour by all means to get it.

Eu o quero absolutamente, I am absolutely for it.

Absolutamente, in general, without exception, simply, absolutely.

Absolutamente fallando, speaking in general.

Absolutamente, absolutely, imperiously, majestically, furiously, with command, haughtily.

ABSOLUTO, a, adj. total, independent, absolute, arbitrary, unlimited.

Hum poder absoluto, an absolute, or arbitrary power.

Absoluto, haughty, stately, furly.

Absoluta gravidade, (in philos. and mech.) absolute gravity.

Igualdade, ou equaçam absoluta, (in astronomy) the sums of the eccentric, and optick equations, absolute equation.

Numero absoluto, (in algebra) an absolute number.

Absolute, absolute (in grammar.) ablativo absoluto, an ablative absolute.

ABSOLUTORIO, a, adj. (a forensic term) absolatory, pertaining to a discharge, or acquittal, absolatory.

Sentença absolutoria, an absolatory, or absolatory sentence.

ABSONO, a, adj. dissonant, discordant, jarring, untunable, disagreeing, or sounding harsh.

ABSORBENTE, adj. (in medicine) absorbent, alkaline.

Remedio absorbente, an absorbent remedy.

ABSORBER, v. a. to swallow up, to absorb; also to suck in.

ABSORBIDO, ou ABSORTO, a, adj. sucked, sunk, swallowed up, consumed.

ABSORTO em extasy, wrapt up in an extasy or rapture.

ABSTEMIO, a, adj. abstemious, that drinks no wine.

ABSTENÇAM, f. f. (in common law) abstention, ex. abstenção de herança, abtention, or the keeping an heir from taking possession of his inheritance.

ABSTERGENTE, adj. abstergent, or absterive, cleansing, or scouring, (speaking of medicines.)

ABSTERGER, v. a. (in medicine) to wipe off, to cleanse by the means of absterive medicines, to absterge.

ABSTER-SE, v. r. to abstain, to keep from, to forbear.

Abster-se do vinho, to abstain from wine.

ABSTERSIVO. See ABSTERGENTE.

ABSTINENCIA, f. f. temperance, forbearance, refraining one's self, abstinence, abstemiousness.

Abstinencia no comer, &c. an abstaining from food, drink, pleasures, lusts, &c. abstinence.

ABSTINE'NTE, adj. temperate in meat, drink, and other pleasures of life.

ABSTRACÇAM, f. f. abstraction, a power peculiar to the mind of man, by which he can make his conceptions, arising from particular things, become general.

Abstracçam do espirito, distractedness, distraction.

ABSTRACTAMENTE, adv. abstractedly.

ABSTRACTO, a, adj. abstract, or abstracted. Ex. Idea ou conceito abstracto (in logic) a general and abstract conception of a quality, as it is considered apart without any regard to its concrete, or subject.

Abstracto, (in familiar discourse) affected with distractedness, distraction, inapplication, heedlessness, or inadvertency to what another says or does.

Ex. Estavo abstracto entretanto que elle estava fallando, I was affected with distractedness while he was speaking.

Andais abstracto, your wits are wool-gathering, or wandering.

Abstracto, contemplative, only attentive, fixed upon one thing.

Conta-se que os que mataram Archimedes o acharam abstracto nas suas considerações geometricas, it is reported that those who killed Archimedes found him entirely bent upon his geometrical considerations.

Numero abstracto, (in arithmetick) an abstract number.

Abstracto, f. m. an abstract, an abridgment, a compendium.

ABSTRAHIDO, a, adj. See ABSTRAHIR, and ABSTRACTO.

Abstrahido, fictitious, imaginary, ideal, not real.

ABSTRAHIR, v. a. to draw away from, to lay aside, to separate, to take from or out of, to abstract.

Abstrahir, (in logic) to abstract, to consider a thing by itself without any regard to the subject to which it is joined.

Abstrahir-se, v. r. See ABSTER-SE.

ABSURDAMENTE, adv. absurdly.

ABSURDO, f. m. foolishness, impertinence, disagreeableness to reason, or common sense, absurdity.

Aburdo, a, adj. absurd, foolish, nonsensical, impertinent, silly, unreasonable.

ABSYNTHIO. See LOSNA.

ABUS. See ABOIS.

ABUSAM. See AVEJAM.

ABUNDA, f. m. a title given by the Abyssines to their metropolitan. It signifies our father.

ABUNDANCIA, f. f. abundance, great plenty.

Havia abundancia de povo, there was abundance of people.

Nunca abundancia fez mal, p. store is no store.

ABUNDANTE, adj. abounding with, plentiful, abundant, plenteous, copious.

ABUNDANTEMENTE, adv. abundantly, plentifully, in abundance, fully, copiously.

ABUNDAR, v. n. to abound in, or with, to have an abundance, or a great deal of, to be full of, to have a store of.

ABUNDOSO. See ABUNDANTE.

ABUNHADO, f. m. (in the Portuguese India) he who is obliged to till the lands belonging to the lord of the manor, in whose lands he was born.

ABURRAR-SE, v. r. to put on a crabbed look, or sour countenance.

ABUSADO, part. of the preterp. of abusar. See ABUSAR.

ABUSAM, f. f. superstition, idle scrupulousness.

ABUSAR, v. neut. to abuse, to misuse, to use ill, to put in a wrong use, to affront, to to do one an injury, to gull, to cheat, to cozen, to deceive, to impose upon.

Abasar da simplicidade de alguém, dandolhe a entender huma coisa por outra, p. make one believe that the moon is made of green cheese.
Abusar da paciência de hum homem, to abuse, to wear out a man's patience.
Abusar-se, v. r. idem.
ABUSIVAMENTE, adv. abusively, improperly, against right use, outrageously, injuriously; also abusively, speaking of an abusive expression, as when people make use of the figure catachresis.
ABUSIVO, a, adj. abusive, offensive, affronting, contumelious, wrongful, injurious.
ABUSO, f. m. an abuse, or misusing of a thing.
Abuso, grievance.
Reformar os abusos, to redress the grievances.
ABUTRI, f. m. a vultur, a bird of prey.
ABUTUA. See BUTUA.
ABISMO. See ABISSO.
ABISSO, f. m. it is used by the poets instead of hell.
A. C. Anno Christi.
ACABADO, a, adj. finished, &c. See ACABAR.
Bem acabado. See PERFEITO.
Acabado, impaired, feeble, growing feeble, decayed.
Muito acabado, much impaired, debilitated, &c.
ACABAR, v. a. to end, to finish, to terminate.
Acabar, v. n. to be resolved, to be persuaded, to prevail upon. See also ACABAR SE.
Não posso acabar connigo de fazer isso, I cannot be persuaded, or I cannot find in my heart to do it.
Acabei consigo por fim de vos pedir perdão, at last he resolved to ask your pardon.
P. Trabalho de mulher nunca acaba, a woman's work is never at an end.
Acabei com elle que eu escreveria a Paris, I obtained from him, or I prevailed upon him, that I would write to Paris.
Acabei com elle para sempre, I will have nothing to do any more with him; or, as we say, let him sink, or swim.
Isso he nunca acabar, there never will be an end of it.
Acabar-se, v. r. to be finished, to be ended, to be over; also to be extinct, (speaking of a family.)
Acabou-se a familia dos Nerces, the Nerces family is extinct.
ACABELLADO, a, adj. of a saffroned blackish colour.
ACABRAMADO, part. of the preterp. of ACABRAMAR.
ACABRAMAR, v. a. to tie an ox's foot to his horn.
ACABRUNHADO, a, adj. See ABORRIDO.
ACABRUNHAR, v. n. to be peevish, morose, to be sad, cross, &c.
ACACAPADO, a, adj. See ACACAPAR-SE.
ACACAPAR-SE, v. r. to cower, to stoop down, to gather one's self, to squat, or lie squat, to crouch, to bend forward, as a man when he goes to steal a shot at fowls rucking together, or like a hare.
ACA'CIA, f. f. Acacia, a sort of Egyptian tree; also the medicinal juice of that tree.
Acacia commua, acacia, the juice of aloes, frequently used instead of the true acacia.
Acacia, the juice of floes,

ACADEMIA, f. f. an academy, a public school, or university.
ACADEMIAR, v. n. to write in an academical style; also to frequent the academies.
ACADEMICO, a, adj. academical, or academick.
ACAIRELADO, a, adj. laced.
Chapeo acarelado, a laced hat.
ACALCANHAR o sapato, v. a. to wrinkle the hinder part of the shoe joined to the heel of it.
ACALENTADO, a, adj. See ACALENTAR.
ACALENTAR, v. a. to make sleep, to cast into a sleep, to lay or lull asleep, as a nurse does her child.
Acalentar, (metaph.) to decoy, wheedle, amuse, or deceive by fair words.
ACALMADO, a, adj. See ACALMAR.
ACALMAR, v. n. to relent, to abate, to be over, to fall, to cease.
Pode-se chamar felicidade o ver acalmar a tempestade, it is a kind of happiness to see the storm over.
Acalmar a ira, ex. Quando acalmou a sua ira? When was his anger over?
ACAMA'DO, a, adj. See ACAMAR.
ACAMAR, v. a. to lay, (speaking of corn, &c.)
A chuva acamou o trigo, the rain has laid the corn.
Acamar, v. a. (metaph.) to tame, to soften, to temper, to mollify a savage humour.
Acamar, v. n. to grow mild, to fall, to come down, (metaph.)
Acamar-se, v. r. See ACAMAR, v. n.
ACAMBARCADO, a, adj. See ACAMBARCAR.
ACAMBARCAR, v. a. See ABARCAR.
ACAMPAMENTO, f. m. an encamping, or encampment.
ACAMPAR, v. a. to encamp.
Acampar-se, v. r. to encamp, to pitch a camp. (speaking of an army.)
ACANALHADO, a, adj. pierced, pricked or wounded with the points of canes, or reeds.
ACANALHAR, v. a. to drive a stick or cane sharpened at one end, between the nails and the flesh, which was formerly used to make criminals confess. From cana, a cane, or reed.
Acancar, (a vulgar expression.) See INJURIAR.
ACANE'A, f. f. pacing horse, or mare, ambling nag, or pad, a pad.
ACANETADO, a, adj. of a cinnamon colour.
ACANHADAMENTE, adv. fearfully, timorously, cowardly.
ACANHA'EO, a, adj. fearful, afraid, low-spirited, cast down, timorous, bashful; also stingy, sordid, close-fisted.
Acanhado, too strait, too narrow, too close, (speaking of clothes, shoes, &c. that do not fit cleverly, and being rather too strait make the limbs stiff.)
Acanhado, choked, over-shadowed. See the v. ACANHAR.
ACANHAMENTO, f. m. fear, cowardice, according to the verb
ACANHAR, v. a. to hinder from growing, to choke and over-shadow, as weeds, &c. do the corn.
Acantar, to make fearful, afraid, timorous, coward, bashful, to intimidate; also to depress, to bring down, to impair, to lessen.
Ex. Pays rigorosos acanhão os fillos, rigorous parents make the sons fearful.

Acantar-se, v. r. to grow fearful, timorous, &c.
ACANHONEAR. See CANHONEAR.
ACANTOADO, a, adj. put, or forced into a corner.
ACANTOAR, v. a. to put, or force into a corner.
Acantear-se, v. r. to put one's self into a corner.
ACAPELLADO, a, adj. See SOÇOBRA-LO.
Acapellado, (metaph.) oppressed, overwhelmed, as with grief, &c.
ACAPELLAR, v. a. See SOÇOBRAR.
acapellar, (metaph.) to oppress, to bear down, to overwhelm.
ACARAM, (an antiquat. word.) See APAR.
ACAREADO, a, adj. confronted, brought face to face.
ACAREAMENTO, f. m. the bringing witnesses face to face with the prisoner, the confronting of witnesses.
ACAREAR, v. a. to confront witnesses, to bring them face to face with the prisoner, from cara, the face.
ACARICIAR, v. a. to flatter, to speak fair, to compliment, to wheedle, to make much of, to treat tenderly and affectionately, to coddle, to caress, to fond or fondle, from caricias, fondling expressions.
Acariar hum cavallo, to cherish, or stroke a horse.
ACARLINGA, (in a ship.) See CARLINGA.
ACARRADO, a, adj. See ACARRAR.
ACARRAR, v. n. to be overheated, and almost over-laid by the heat of the sun. (speaking of sheep.)
Elle está acarrado, he is fast asleep.
ACARRADO, dead drunk.
ACARRETADO, a, adj. conveyed, &c. See ACCARRETAR.
ACARRETADOR, f. m. a carrier, a waggoner.
Acarratador por agoa, a barge-man.
ACARRETAR, v. a. to convey in a cart.
ACARRETAR ás costas, v. a. to carry, or bring upon one's back.
Acarratar com figo, to bring along with one.
Acarratar, to quote, or bring in, to little or no purpose.
ACARRETO, f. m. See CARRETO.
ACARVADO, a, adj. See ACARVAR.
ACARVAR, v. a. ex. Acarvar na lama, to drown, to bury in the mud.
ACASO, f. m. hazard, chance, fortune.
Acasos, ex. sofrer valerosamente os acasos da fortuna, to bear stoutly the chances of fortune.
Por acaso, ex. Morte por acaso, the casual killing of a man, or accidental death.
Acaso, adv. by chance.
Encontrei-o por acaso, I met him by chance.
ACASTELLADO, a, adj. ex. Lugar acastellado, a place defended, strengthened with a castle.
ACASTELLAR, v. a. to fortify, to strengthen with a castle.
ACATADAMENTE, adv. respectfully.
ACATADO, a, adj. See ACATAR.
ACATAMENTO, f. m. esteem, regard, respect, value, account; also presence.
Fazer acatamento. See ACATAR.
ACATAR, v. a. to esteem, regard, respect, value, to make an account of, to honour, to respect, to reverence, ACATA.

ACATASOLA'DO, a, adj. ex. se da acatafolada, a kind of fine shining silk stuff, he-liotroped stuff. See CATASOL, or GLRASOL.

Acatafolado, (metaph.) glossed, or embellished with a superficial lustre.

ACATHISTO, (a Greek word) a ceremony used formerly in the Greek church of saying prayers standing cautiously the whole night.

ACAUTELADAMENTE, adv. prudently, wisely, discreetly, advisedly.

ACAUTELADO, a, adj. cautious, wise, prudent, discreet, advised, wary.

Os antigos erao muito acautelados no declarar a guerra, the ancients were very cautious about declaring of war.

ACAUTELAR-SE, v. r. to provide, to be cautious, to take a prudent care.

AÇAGAL, (an Arabick word). See AGUA-DEIRO.

AÇACALADAMENTE, adv. neatly, politely, finely.

AÇACALADO, a, adj. polished, clear, bright, scowred.

AÇACALADOR, f. m. a harness scowrer.

AÇACALADURA, f. f. scowring.

AÇACALAR, v. a. ex. Açacalar a espingarda, to scower the gun.

AÇADACHAN, f. m. (in the Hither India) the high comptable of the kingdom.

AÇAFATA, f. f. a lady of the queen's wardrobe.

AÇAFATE, f. m. a hand-basket.

AÇAFATINHO, f. m. a small hand-basket.

AÇAFRAM, f. m. saffron, from the Arabick zabafaran, or from the Hebrew sapbar, beautiful, because it is of a golden colour.

Flor de açafrao, saffron flower.

AÇAFRO'A, f. f. bastard saffron, mock saffron.

AÇAFRO'ADO, a, adj. of a saffron colour.

AÇAFRO'AR, v. a. to dye in saffron colour.

AÇAMADO, a, adj. See AÇAMAR.

AÇAMO, f. m. a muzzle.

AÇAMAR, v. a. to muzzle.

Ao açamar, at the muzzling.

ACCADACHAN. See AÇADACHAN.

ACCAM, f. f. action, deed, operation, working.

ACCAM de graças, thanksgiving.

Acção, gesture, action, way of delivery, (speaking of an orator.)

Acção, action, fight, engagement.

Louvo-vos a acção, (ironically) I love your fancy.

Acção, (a forensick term) ex. Ter acção contra alguem, to have an action against one, to have a right to a demand.

Acção que tem o que perdeu alguma coisa contra o que a achou se não a quizer entregar, a trover.

Acção, (in painting) gesture, posture.

Acção, an action in public stocks, or share, or of a company.

ACCEDECAN. See AÇADACHAN.

ACCEDER, v. n. to accede, to come into, (in politics.)

ACCEDIDO, part. of ACCEDER, see it.

ACCENSAM, f. f. ex. accensam do sangue na paixão da colera, excandescence, a great heat or wrath.

ACCENTO, f. f. an accent, a note that regulates the pronunciation.

Ha tres accentos, a saber, agudo, ('), grave ('), e circumflexo ('), there are three accents, viz. the acute ('), grave ('), and circumflex (').

Accento, accent, tone, pronunciation.

Conhece-se pello accento de que provincia elle he, a man may know by his accent what province he is of.

Accento, tune, note, voice, (in poetry.)

Accentos tristes, doleful notes, or words.

ACCENTUA'DO, a, adj. accented, marked with an accent; also accented, pronounced with regard to the accents.

ACCENTUAR, v. a. to accent, to mark with an accent; also to accent, to pronounce with regard to the accents.

ACCEPÇAM, f. f. sense, signification, acception or acceptance of a word.

Esta palavra tem muitas accepções, this word has many acceptations.

Accepção de pessoas, respect of persons.

ACCEPTADO'R, f. m. ex. Acceptador de pessoas, a respecter of persons.

Deos não he acceptador de pessoas, God is no respecter of persons.

ACCEPTAR, v. aet. See ACEITAR.

ACCESSAM, f. f. augmentation, increase, improvements, enlargement, addition; also the fit or return of a periodical disease.

Accessão da febre, an access, or a fit of an ague.

Accessão, entry, access, accession, coming to.

Depois da vossa feliz accessão á coroa, since your happy accession to the crown.

ACCESSIVEL, adj. accessible, approachable, of an easy access, easy to come at.

ACCE'SSO, f. m. access, admittance, approach, passage, or way to a place.

Ter accesso para com hum grande, to have free access to a great man.

Hum lugar de difficuloso accesso, a place of difficult approach.

Accesso, adj. See ACCESSIVEL.

ACCESSO'R, f. m. an accessor, or a comer to.

ACCESSO'RIO, f. m. an accessory, an addition, an accession, or appendix.

O principal e o accessorio, the principal and accessory.

Accessório, a, adj. accessory, additional.

Nervo accessorio de Willis, accessorius Willisii, a nerve that arises from the Medulla Spinalis, so called from Dr. Willis, the discoverer of it.

Accessorio, f. m. (in law) any thing that of right belongs to, or depends on, another, though separated from it.

ACCIDENTA'L, adj. casual, accidental, fortuitous.

Accidental, accidental, adventitious, not belonging to the substance of a thing.

Ponto accidental, (in perspective) accidental point.

Dignidade accidental, (in astronomy) accidental dignity.

ACCIDENTALMENTE, adv. by chance, accidentally.

ACCIDENTE, f. m. accident, chance, fortune, casualty.

Accidente, (in philosophy) accident, in opposition to substance.

Accidente, (in medicine) a symptom, accident, sign, or effect of a disease, either good or bad.

Accidente apopleptico, apoplexy, a sudden disease.

ACCIOMA. See AXIOMA.

ACCIONARIO, ou accionista, f. m. an actionary, or actionist, the proprietor of an action in public stocks, or share, or of a company.

ACCLAMAÇAM, f. f. acclamation, shouting, sho t, hurza.

El rey D. João IV. entrou em Lisboa. com grandes acclamações, the king D. John IV. entered the city of Lisbon with great shouting; he was hurza'd into the city of Lisbon.

ACCLAMAR, v. aet. to proclaim.

O exercito Portuguez acclamou D. Alphonso Henrique rey de Portugal, the Portuguese army proclaimed D. Alphonso Henry king of Portugal.

ACCOMMODAÇAM, f. f. an explanation, or interpretation.

Accommodação, conveniency, accommodation.

Accommodação, reconciliation.

ACCOMMODADAMENTE, to the purpose, opportunely, seasonably, in time, patly.

ACCOMMODA'DO, a, adj. fit, fitting, convenient, proper. See also the verb ACCOMMODAR.

Elle está bem accommodado, he has got a good place, or he is well settled, or provided for.

Preço accommodado, tolerable price.

ACCOMMODAMENTO, settlement, place, post, establishment, employment; also reconciliation.

ACCOMMODAR, v. aet. to range, to order, to put, set, place; also to provide for another, also to place a servant.

accommodar a sua filha, to marry, or bestow in marriage one's daughter accommodar, to reconcile, to make friends; also t. fit, to make fit.

accommodar-se, v. r. to be quiet, to be easy or satisfied; also to get a place, or employment.

accommodar-se, to comply, to adapt, to conform himself.

accommodar-se com a vontade de Deos, to comply with God's will.

accommodar-se ao tempo, to temporize, to comply with the times, to be a time-server.

ACCOMMODATTICIO sentido, allegorical sense.

ACCOMPANHADO, ACCOMPANHAR. See ACOMPANHADO, ACOMPANHAR.

ACCORRER a alguem, v. a. to fly to one, in order to aid or assist him.

ACCORRIDO, a, adj. helped, assisted.

ACCUMULAÇAM, f. f. heap, pile, a mass, collection, accumulation.

ACCUMULADAMENTE, adv. by heaps or piles, one upon another.

ACCUMULA'DO, a, adj. accumulated, heaped or piled up.

ACCUMULAR, v. a. to accumulate, to heap or pile up.

ACCURADAMENTE, adv. accurately, diligently.

ACCUSAÇAM, f. f. accusation, information, charge, impeachment, indictment.

ACCUSA'DO, a, adj. accused, informed against.

ACCUSADO'R, f. m. an accuser, an informer.

ACCUSADO'RA, f. f. a she-accuser or informer, she that accuses.

ACCUSAR, v. a. to accuse, to inform against, to charge with a crime, to indict, to impeach, to sue upon an action of trespass, to implead.

Accusar os seus pontos, to cast one's game.

Accusar-se, v. r. to accuse one's self.

ACCUSATTIVO,

ACE

ACE

ACH

ACCUSATIVO, f. m. (in grammar) the accusative, or the accusative case.
ACEADO, a, adj. fine, adorned, set off, decked, spruce, neat.
ACEAR, v. a. to adorn, to set off, to deck, set out, to trim up, to grace, beautify, attire, or embellish.
Acéar-se, v. r. to adorn or deck one's self, to be spruce.
ACEFALO. See ACEPHALO.
ACEIFA. See SEGA.
ACEIFEIRO. See SEGADOR.
ACEIRADO, a, adj. hired, &c.
ACEIRAR, v. a. to hire or bargain for.
Acéirar, (in agriculture) to grub an untilled piece of ground, to root up, or pluck up the trees by the roots.
ACEIRO, f. m. a piece of land which has been grubbed up round a grove of pine-trees, in order to keep off the fire from them.
ACEITAÇÃO, f. f. acceptance, receiving, acceptation, &c. according to the verb ACEITAR.
Acéitação, kind acceptance, approbation.
Elle pregou com grande acéitação, he preached with great acceptance or approbation.
ACEITADO, a, accepted, received. See also ACEITO.
ACEITAR, v. a. to receive, to take, to accept, to accept of.
Acéitar huma letra de cambio, to accept a bill of exchange.
Acéitar hum desafio, to take up a challenge.
ACEITAVEL, adj. acceptable.
ACEITO, a, adj. received, accepted, approved, accepted of, esteemed.
ACELERADAMENTE, adj. hastily, in haste, in a hurry, in a huddle.
ACELERADO, a, adj. accelerated, hastened.
ACELERAR, v. a. to accelerate, to hasten, to put on, to quicken, to press, to push on.
Acélar o passo, to mend one's pace, to go fast, to make haste.
Acélar-se, v. r. to accelerate, to haste, to make haste; also to fly into a passion.
Não se acélerar, senhor, Don't fly into a passion, sir.
ACELGAS, f. f. p. beet, or beets.
Acélgas brava, the herb watergreen, or wild beets.
ACEM. See ASSEM.
ACENAR, v. n. to nod, to beckon, to make signs to one.
Acénar com a cabeça a alguém, to nod, to beckon with the head to one.
Acénar com os olhos, to wink at, or upon, to give or tip one the wink.
Acénar com a cabeça a hum, e com os olhos a outro, he noddeth at one, and winketh at another.
Elle acénar-me com os olhos, he tipt me the wink.
Acénar com a mão, to sign, to make signs with the hand.
Acénar de não com a cabeça, to give a nod for a denial.
Acénar de sim, to grant with a nod.
ACENDA' LHA, f. f. a dry stick, or spray, brushwood, or bavin, shreds, parings, chippings of wood to kindle the fire.
ACENDEIR, v. a. to light, to kindle, to set in a flame, or on fire.
Acender a vela, to light the candle.
Acender o lume, to light the fire.
Acender a guerra, (metaph.) to kindle the war, to stir it up.

PART I.

Acender-se, v. r. to light, to kindle, to catch fire, to break out as fire does.
Acende-se a guerra de todas as partes, (metaph.) the war breaks out every where.
Acende-se a ira, (met.) the wrath kindles.
ACENDIDO. See ACESO.
ACENDRADO. See CENDRADO.
ACENDRAR. See CENDRAR.
ACENHA. See AZENHA.
ACENO, f. m. ex. Aceno com a cabeça, a nod.
Aceno com os olhos, a wink.
ACEO. See ACEYO.
ACEPHALOS, f. m. p. Acephali, a sort of sectaries so called.
ACEPILHADO, a, adj. planed, made smooth with a cornice plane, or bed-moulding plane.
ACEPILHADURAS, f. f. p. chips, shavings of wood that come off in planing.
ACEPILHAR, v. a. to smooth, to plane, to polish with a cornice plane, or bed-moulding plane.
ACEQUIA, f. f. a fort of Wall. See ACUDE.
ACERBAMENTE, adj. roughly, sharply, rigorously, cuttingly, fiercely, severely. Lat. acerbe.
ACERBO, a, adj. unripe; also cruel, inhuman, fierce, barbarous, acerb, painful. Lat. acerbus.
ACERCA, prep. touching, concerning, about, as for, as to; from the Lat. circa.
ACERCA-SE, v. r. to draw near, or nigh, to come near.
ACEREIjado, a, adj. cherry-colour. See also MADURO.
ACEREIJA, v. a. to burnish or to polish, to give the cherry-colour to any thing.
ACERO. See ACORO.
ACERRIMO, a, adj. violent, hasty, passionate, eager, boisterous. See also ACRE.
ACERTADAMENTE, adv. right, well. Lat. rectè.
ACERTADO, a, adj. equitable, just, right; also proper, or fit; also wise, prudent; see also ACERTAR, v. n. to nick, to do in time, to nick the time.
Acertar com o tempo, idem.
Acertar, ou ter bom successo num negocio, to nick a business.
Acertar, to speak to the point, to hit the nail on the head.
Dizer huma coisa a acertar, to speak at random.
Fazer huma coisa a acertar, to do a thing at random, or inconsiderately.
Acertar, to happen, to befall, to come to pass, to fall out.
Acertar ou dar no alvo, to hit the mark, or the white.
Acertastes, you hit it right, you hit the nail on the head.
Não pude acertar com a porta, I could not hit the door.
ACERTAR, v. a. ex. Acertar o preço, to set the price.
Acertar huma conta, to cast up right an account.
Acertar, to set, to appoint a time or place.
ACERTO, f. m. reason, wisdom, prudence, discretion.
Fallar com acerto, to speak reason.
Isto foy feyto com acerto, this was done rightly, or with good reason.
Acerto, an happy chance, a good luck.
ACERTOS do juizo, witty sayings, or jests.

ACE' RVO, f. m. a heap. Lat. acervus.
ACE' SO, a, adj. lighted, kindled, &c. also eager, vehement. See ACENDER.
ACESO'ADO, a, adj. ripe, mellow.
ACESO'AR, v. a. See SAZONAR.
ACESSO'RIO. See ACCESSORIO.
ACESTA'R huma peça, v. a. to level a cannon.
ACETABULO, f. m. a large cavity in a bone. Acetabulum, with anatomists.
ACEYO' SO xarope, a kind of syrup made of equal parts of water, sugar, and vinegar.
ACEVADA' DO, a, adj. See
ACEVADA' R, v. a. to fill or satiate with barley.
ACEYO, f. m. neatness, spruceness, tightness, cleanliness in apparel, house, &c.
ACHA, f. f. a billet, or log.
ACHACA' DO, a, adj. sickly, valetudinary, that is troubled with a chronical disease.
ACHACA' R, v. n. to grow sick. See also ASSACAR.
ACHACOSO, a, adj. See ACHACADO.
ACHADA, f. f. the act of taking one in the deed doing, or catching him in a fact, by which he deserves punishment, or to pay a pecuniary mulct.
ACHADE'GO, ou achádo, f. m. a reward for finding out any thing that was lost, or for some other reason.
ACHADI'ÇO, a, adj. obvious, easy to be found. Speaking both of persons and things.
ACHADO, f. m. a finding, a thing found by chance; also an invention or device. See also ACHADEGO.
Achádo, a, adj. found, &c. See ACHAR.
Não dar-se por achado ou entendido. See ENTENDIDO.
ACHADO' R, f. m. a finder, a finder out.
Parte que toca ao achador pelas bens que achou ou que salvou, trovage, salvage.
ACHADO' RA, f. f. a woman that finds out any thing.
ACHAMBO'ADO, a, adj. dull, homely, unpolished.
ACHANADO, ACHANAR. See ALHANADO, ALHANAR.
ACHA'QUE, f. m. indisposition, illness, distemper; but more particularly any chronical disease; also a vice. (metaph.)
ACHA' R, v. a. to find, to meet, to meet with. Lat. reperire.
Achar, ou inventar, to find out, invent, contrive, or devise.
Está bem achado, it is well contrived.
Onde foyse achar aquilo? Where have you fished that out?
Achar, to think, to imagine.
Eu acho aquilo bom, I like that, I think that good, I find it good, that seems good to me, I take it to be good, I approve of it.
Como a achais vos? How do you like her?
Eu acho-a bella, she looks handsome to me.
Eu acho isto mau, ou mal feyto, I do not approve of this, I do not like it.
Achar desculpas para tudo, to have an excuse for every fault, or a cure for every sore, to have always a hole to creep out at.
Achar que dizer, to find fault with, to find amiss.
P. quem bem fizer, bem achará, do well and have well.
Achar-se, v. r. to meet, to be found, to find one's self.
Achar-se mal, to find one's self, (or to be) ill.

C

Achau-se

Achou-se ser aquilo verdade, that was found true, that proved true.

Achar-se presente, to be present, to appear.

Achei-me bem com o conselho que me destes, I found much good by the counsel you gave me.

Achar, f. m. any sort of pickled roots, herbs, or fruits; as pickled cucumbers, onions, &c. (in India.)

ACHARO'DO, a, adj. varnished with Charão. See CHARAM.

ACHAVASCA'DO, a, adj. rough, unpolished, rude, clownish.

ACHE, f. m. a childish word for a little scratch, sore, or wound.

ACHE'GA, f. f. an addition, or increase; also aid, help, succour, protection; also an aider, or helper.

ACHEGA'DO, a, adj. kindred, kinsman; also neighbouring. See VIZINHO.

ACHERO'NTE, f. m. Acheron, one of the rivers in hell, but often put for the grave, perdition, or destruction.

ACHERO'NTICO, a, adj. of, or pertaining to Acheron.

ACHERUSA, f. f. Acherusia, a river taken for the entrance of hell.

ACHRONICAME'NTE, adv. acronichally.

ACHRO'NICO, (in astronomy) acronichal.

ACICALADO, ACICALAR. See AÇACALADO, AÇACALAR.

ACICATE, f. m. spurs which have a long broad point sticking out instead of rowels, used in riding upon a genet, (a kind of Spanish horse) or when they ride at bulls, &c.

ACIDENTAL. See ACCIDENTAL.

ACIDENTE. See ACCIDENTE.

ACIDIA, f. f. laziness, idleness, slothfulness. Lat. acedia.

ACIDO. See AZEDO.

ACIMA, adv. above. See CIMA.

ACINTE, f. m. spite, malice.

Por acinte, purposely, on purpose, on set purpose, for the nonce, in spite of some body.

Fazer acintes, to spite.

Fazer alguma coisa por acinte a alguém, to do a thing in spite to one, in spite of his heart, or in spite of his teeth.

ACINTRO, f. m. See LOSNA.

ACIPPE, f. m. dainty, delicacy, kick-shaw, tit-bit.

ACIPRESTE. See CYPRESTE; see also ARCIPRESTE.

ACIRANDAR. See CIRANDAR.

ACIROLOGIA, f. f. acyrology, an impropriety of speech.

ACLAMAÇAM, f. f. See ACCLAMAÇAM.

ACLAMADO, &c. See ACCLAMADO, &c.

ACLARA'DO, a, adj. cleared, &c. according to the v. Aclarar.

Ter a praça aclarada, (a military phrase) to take pay for service, to receive a soldier's pay.

ACLARA'R, v. n. to clear, to become clear.

Começa a aclarar o tempo, the weather begins to clear up.

Aclarár, v. n. to clear, to disentangle, to unfold, to unravel, to make out, explain.

Aclarar hum navio, to clear a ship at the custom-house.

O aclarar de hum navio, the clearance or clearing of a ship at the custom-house.

Aclarar-se, v. r. to clear, to become clear; also to inquire into a business.

ACMASTICA, febre, acmastica, a species of the synochus, or fever, which has no remission of its fervor.

ACOBARDADO, &c. See ACOVARDADO, &c.

ACOBERTADO, &c. See ACUBERTADO, &c.

ACOÇADO, a, adj. vexed, &c. according to the v. Acoçar.

ACOÇADO'R, f. m. he who teizes, provokes, &c. according to the v.

ACOÇAR, v. a. to vex, to provoke, to persecute, to teize, to trouble or torment.

Acoçar-se com alguém, v. r. to walk as fast as another does.

ACOCHAR-SE. See ACACHAR-SE.

ACOCORAR-SE, v. r. to sit squat.

ACOLMA'R, v. a. to fine, to mulct; it is properly said of the mulct paid for strayed beasts; also to punish.

ACOLA', adv. there, in that place, yonder.

Acolá, thither, to that place.

ACOLCHOA'DO, a, adj. wadded, quilted.

ACOLCHOA'R, v. a. to wad, to quilt.

ACOLE'IYOS, the herb called phaselion.

ACOLHE'ITA, f. f. retirement, a retiring place, a receptacle, nest, or lurking-hole for thieves. It is also taken for the people that run for shelter to the same place.

ACOLHER, v. a. to receive, to entertain, to make welcome, to harbour, to lodge, to shelter. Lat. excipere.

Acolher grosseiramente, to joulder a well-come.

Acolher, to catch, to lay hold.

Acolher-se, v. r. to fly to a place, or to one for shelter.

ACOLHI'DA, f. f. shelter, refuge, sanctuary.

ACOLHI'DO, f. m. a refugee.

Acolhido, a, adj. received, sheltered, &c.

ACOLHIME'NTO, f. m. a reception, an entertainment.

Bom acolhimento, a kind reception.

Acolhimento frio, a cold entertainment or reception.

ACOLYTADO, f. m. one of the lowest orders in the church of Rome. See

ACOLYTO, f. m. an acolothist, or acolyte; also the priest's attendant while he says mass.

ACOMETTEDO'R, f. m. an aggressor, an assailant.

ACOMETTE'R, v. a. to attack, charge, or assault. Lat. invadere.

ACOMETTI'DO, a, adj. attacked, charged, &c.

ACOMETTIME'NTO, f. m. aggression, assault, first onset, attack, encounter, charge, brunt.

ACOMMODAÇAM, ACOMMODADAMENTE, &c. See ACCOMMODAÇAM, ACCOMMODADAMENTE, &c.

ACOMPADRA'DO, a, adj. of one mind, alike. See AMIGO.

ACOMPANHADO, a, adj. accompanied, waited on.

ACOMPANHAMENTO, f. m. accompanying, waiting on, the act of accompanying; also retinue, attendance, followers.

Acompanhamento, (in music) accompaniment, music played to one that sings.

Acompanhamento funeral, funeral, funeral solemnities at a man's burial, the train of a funeral pomp, a burial.

ACOMPANHA'R, v. a. to accompany, to wait on, to come, or to go along with, to attend, to follow one. Lat. comitari.

Acompanhar, ou fazer que huma coisa diga com outra, to sort, to match,

Acompanhar com alguém, to keep company, or to be a companion to somebody.

Acompanhar a voz de quem canta, to accompany a voice; i. e. to play to it with proper instruments.

ACONDICIONA'DO, a, adj. ex. Fazenda bem acondicionada, a good marketable, merchantable, or sound commodity, staunch goods. Bem acondicionado, good-natured. Mal acondicionado, ill-natured.

ACO'NITO, f. m. libbard's bane, wolf-wort, wolf-bane; monks hood, a venomous plant.

ACONSELHADO, a, adj. advised.

ACONSELHADO'R. See CONSELHEIRO.

ACONSELHADORA, f. f. a woman that advises.

ACONSELHA'R, v. a. to advise, to give advice, to counsel.

Aconselhar-se, v. r. to consult, to advise with, or take advice of.

Elle não se aconselha com ninguém, he does every thing out of his own head.

ACONTECE'R, v. n. to happen, to befall, to come to pass, to fall out.

Isto acontece a todo o homem, this happens to every man.

Não vos aconteça mais, ou não façais assim outra vez, do so no more.

Não vos aconteça de fazer isso, be sure not to do that.

Não me acontecerá outra vez, I shall take care, or heed for the future, it shall be so no more, I will not be served so again.

ACONTECEO a causa como eu desejava, the thing fell out according to my wishes.

Se lhe acontecesse qualquer desgraça, if some mischance or other should befall him.

Se acontecer que tenhais necessidade de mim, if you chance to want me.

ACONTEÇA o que acontecer, whatever happens; fall back, fall edge.

Elle disse que havia de fazer e acontecer, (a familiar phrase) he made grievous brag of himself.

ACONTECIME'NTO, f. m. event, issue, success.

ACONTIA'DO, f. m. he that taketh wages.

ACORDA'DO, a, adj. awaked; also wise; also brisk, watchful, lively, undaunted, that preserves always a presence of mind in dangers; also tuned; also harmonious, melodious. See the v.

ACORDAM. See ACORDO in the first signification.

ACORDA'R, v. n. to awake, or wake.

Acordei esta manhã ás sete horas, I awaked this morning at seven o'clock.

Acordar, to award. See REZOLVER, and DETERMINAR.

Acordar, v. a. to awake one out of his sleep, to awake.

Acordar-se, v. r. to remember, to call to mind.

ACORDE, adj. harmonious, musical.

ACORDO, f. m. resolution, resolve, determination, an act, judgment, decree, or sentence of a court of justice.

Acordo, mind, opinion; as Tomar outro acordo, to alter one's mind. Elle esta de outro acordo, he has changed his mind.

Acórdo, sense or wit.

Acórdo, sense or feeling.

Elle tem perdido o acordo, he has lost his sense.

Que tem perdido o acordo, senseless, that has no sense or feeling.

Ficar de acordo, to be unanimous, to agree together.

ACO

ACR

ACT

Dar acôrdo de, to take notice of, to feel.
Elle estava tão doente que não dava acôrdo de nada, he was so sick that he did not feel any thing.
Acôrdo, presence of mind, intrepidity.
ACARO, f. m. acorus, the sweet cane, or, as some, the herb galangal.
ACOROÇOADO. See ANIMADO.
ACOROÇOAR. See ANIMAR.
ACOSIDADE, f. f. aqueous humour.
ACO'SO, a, adj. aqueous, waterish.
ACOSADO, &c. See ACOÇADO, &c.
ACOSTADO, &c. See ENCOSTADO, &c.
ACOSTUMADO, a, adj. accustomed, used, inured.
ACOSTUMAR, v. a. to accustom, to use, to inure.
Acostumar, ou costumar, v. n. to be wont, or accustomed, to use.
Acostumar-se, v. r. to use, to accustom, to inure one's self.
ACOTADO, ACOTAR. See COTADO, COTAR.
ACO'TE, adv. ex. Trazer hum vestido acote, to wear the same suit of cloaths every day.
ACOTICADO, (in heraldry) adorned with cotices.
ACOTOVELADO, a, adj. hunched, &c. See
ACOTOVELAR, v. a. to hunch or thrust with one's elbow, to elbow.
Acotricular-se hum ao outro, v. r. to hunch one another.
ACOVARDADO, a, adj. discouraged, &c. See ACOVARDAR.
ACOVARDAMENTO. See COBARDIA.
ACOVARDAR, v. a. to dishearten, to discourage, to dispirit.
Acovarlar-se, v. r. to despond, to be discouraged, or disheartened.
ACOUTADO, a, adj. sheltered, fled to a place of refuge.
ACOUTADOR, f. m. a shelterer.
ACOUTAR, v. a. to shelter one, to receive him into one's house, or protect him.
Acoular-se, v. r. to fly to a place for shelter.
Acoutou-se em minha casa, he is fled to me for shelter.
AÇO, f. m. steel.
Fivellas de aço, steel buckles.
De aço, steely.
Dar o aço ao ferro, to steel, to put steel to iron.
Ter cara de aço, to put on a brazen face, to be steeled in impudence.
AÇODADO, a, adj. hurried, rapid, overhasty, rash; also persecuted, vexed, that has suffered persecution.
AÇODAMENTO, f. m. precipitation, too great haste, over-hastiness.
AÇOEIRO, f. m. a falconer.
AÇOFEIFA, f. f. the fruit called jujubes, or jubah.
AÇOMADA, AÇOMADO, &c. See ASSOMADA, ASSOMADO, &c.
AÇOR, f. m. a great hawk, a falcon.
Cirreos para prender o açor, bewits.
Açor ou salcão da Tartaria, a Tartary falcon, a tagorot, or tartarot.
Açor pequenino, que ainda não voa, ou que se apañou no ninho, a goshawk.
AÇORADO, a, adj. greedy, vehemently desirous of any thing.
AÇORDA, f. f. a kind of food made of crumbs of bread, oil, and garlick, boiled together.
AÇORENHA, f. f. a bird of prey so called.
AÇORES, f. m. p. the Azores, or the Western Islands belonging to Portugal. Th-anus makes one Betoncourt the first discoverer of these islands; and the French pretend that this Betoncourt gave Columbus the first information about America.

AÇOTE'A. See SOTE'A.
AÇOUQUE, f. m. the shambles.
Açougue, (metaph.) noise, stir, bustle, hue and cry, hurly-burly, tumult, uproar.
P. No açougue quem mal falla, mal ouve, he that speaks lavishly, shall hear knavishly. Terence says, Qui pergit ea, quæ vult, dicere, ea, quæ non vult, audit.
AÇOUTADIÇO, f. m. one worthy to be whipped, or that is often whipped.
AÇOUTADO, f. m. a knavish fellow that is whipped publicly by the hangman or executioner.
Açoutado, a, adj. whipped or whipt, &c. See
AÇOUTAR, v. a. to whip, lash, scourge, or jerk. Lat. aliquem verberibus accipere.
Açoutar, (metaph.) to pelt, to beat, to lash; as, açoutar alguem com a penna ou com a lingua, to lash one with one's pen, or tongue.
Açoutar-se, v. r. to whip one's self.
AÇOUTE, f. m. a whip-cord, a whip-breech, scourge, lash. (Both in the prop. and metaph. sense.)
Atila foy o açoute do mundo, Atila was the scourge of the world.
Essar exposto aos açoutes de huma má lingua, to be under the lash of an evil tongue.
ACQUIRIDO, ou adquirido, a, adj. acquired, got.
ACQUIRIDO'R, ou adquiridor, f. m. an acquirer, a purchaser, a buyer, a gainer.
ACQUIRIR, ou adquirir, v. a. to acquire, to get, to purchase. Lat. acquirere, or comparare.
ACRE, adj. sharp of taste, tart, sour.
Acre, smart, sharp, biting in discourse.
Dar huma resposta acre a alguem, to give one a smart answer.
ACRECENTADO, a, adj. increased, &c. according to the v. Acrecentar.
ACRECENTADOR, f. m. an increaser, an enlarger.
ACRECENTAMENTO, f. m. increase, augmentation, improvement, enlargement, addition, adjoining to.
ACRECENTAR, v. a. to augment, increase, improve, enlarge, or amplify, to add. Lat. augere.
Acrecentar hum ponto quando se conta hum conto, to help the matter in telling a story.
Isto acrecentou muito a minha pena, this has added to my grief.
Aquilo acrecentou a nossa desgraça, that added to our misfortune.
Acrecentai a isto, to which add.
Acrecentar a vida, to prolong or lengthen one's life.
Acrecentar favores, to accumulate, to heap up kindnesses.
Acrecentar alguma cousa, fazenda mais larga ou comprida, to eke out, to make bigger by the addition of another piece.
Acrecentar-se, v. r. to increase, to multiply, to augment, to grow bigger.
Acrecentão-se os negocios, the business increase.
Acrecenta-se a isto, to which is added.
ACRECE'R, v. n. See ACRECENTAR-SE.
ACREDITADO, a, adj. credible, that may be credited, that has got credit, &c. See the v. ACREDITAR.
ACREDITADO'R. See ABONADOR.
ACREDITAR, v. a. to give authority, reputation, to put in esteem; also to believe.

Acreditais vós aquilo? Do you believe that?
Acreditár-se, v. r. to get into credit, to get a name.
Acreditár-se com todos, to get the praise of all the world.
ACREDOR, f. m. a creditor.
Acredor importuno, a dun.
Pagar a seus acredores, to pay one's creditors.
ACREDO'RA, f. f. a she creditor.
ACRESCE'R, v. n. See ACRECENTAR-SE, and SOBEJAR.
ACRIMO'NIA, f. f. acrimony, or sharpness; also earnestness, vehemence, either in word or action. (metaph.)
ACRIMONIO'SO, a, adj. acrimonious, acrid, sharp.
ACRISOLADO, a, adj. refined, &c. See
ACRISOLAR, v. a. to fine or refine metals. See also APURAR.
Acrisolar ouro, to refine gold.
Acrisolar-se, v. r. See APERFEIÇOAR-SE.
ACRO ferro, a bad sort of iron, that breaks easily.
ACRONICO. See ACHRONICO.
ACROSTICO, f. m. acrostick, a sort of poem, whereof the first or the last letters contain a sentence.
ACROTERIAS, f. f. ou ACROTERIOS, f. m. p. acroters, or pinacles, whereon statues stand on the tops of houses for ornament.
ACTAS, f. f. p. journals, or acts of the common council, records, rolls, public registers.
ACTIONISTA'. See ACCIONARIO.
ACTIVIDADE, f. f. activity, strength; also vivacity, liveliness, fire, mettle, sprightliness.
ACTIVO, a, adj. active, quick; speaking of things, as fire, &c.
Activo, active, stirring, lively, quick, nimble, brisk, always a-doing, busy; speaking of persons.
Vida activa, an active or busy life, a life full of action, in opposition to a contemplative one.
Activo, (in grammar) active.
ACTO, f. m. deed, action, operation, act.
Hum acto de virtude, a virtuous deed or act.
Acto do entendimento humano, the operations of the human understanding.
Acto, an act, or part of a play.
Acto, an act, or a solemn disputation in an university.
Actos, ou Auto da fé, an act of faith in the Romish church, or a solemn punishing of those who are accused of heresy.
ACTOS, ou autos, papers or writings belonging to a law-suit, the particulars of a case.
Actos dos Apóstolos, the Acts of the Apostles.
ACTO'R, f. m. actor or player.
ACTUAÇAM, f. f. the act of gathering all the papers, &c. according to the verb Actuar.
ACTUADO, a, adj. actuated, &c. according to the v. Actuar.
ACTUAL, adj. actual, that is actual, or in act, real.
ACTUALMENTE, adv. actually, really, in effect.
Atualmente, now, at this very time.
ACTUAR, v. a. ex. actuar, ou ajuntar os papéis aos actos, to gather, or put together all the papers or writings belonging to a law-suit, so that they may be ready for a hearing or trial.

Ter força para actuar hum medicamento, (among physicians) to have strength enough to help the remedy, that it may produce the effect it is taken for.
Actuar-se, v. r. to be actuated, or brought into action.
Actuar-se melhor na materia controversa, to get one's self better acquainted with the matter in question.
ACTUOSO, a, adj. active, busy.
Vida actiosa, ou activa. See ACTIVO.
Virtude actiosa, a virtuous habit that continually moves and actuates a person to perform virtuous deeds.
ACUADO, a, adj. forced into a corner. See ACUAR.
ACUAR, v. a. to compel, to force into a corner, to hit, to strike home, to reduce to extremities, to bring into straits.
Acuar, v. n. to sit upon the buttocks, as some beasts do to defend themselves.
ACUBERTA'DO, a, adj. caparisoned; also clad.
ACUBERTA'R, v. a. to caparison a horse, to dress a horse in caparisons.
ACUDIR, v. n. and a. to aid, to assist, to help, to succour, to favour, to relieve, to support, to run to help; also to repair to, to come to a call.
Acudir, to hinder, to keep from, to stop, or prevent.
Elle acudio de repente ás obras que o inimigo fazia, he hindered immediately the enemy of going on with their works.
Acudir, to run, to flock to, to hasten, to flock together.
Acudem a elle de todas as partes, all flock to him from all parts.
Acudio promptamente ao exercito, he hastened to the army.
Acudir por si, to defend one's self.
Acudir por alguém, to undertake one's defence, to speak in defence of one.
ACUGULA'DO, a, adj. over-filled.
ACUGULADURA, f. f. over-filling.
ACUGULAR, v. a. to over-fill.
ACUMINA'DO, a, adj. pointed, sharp, sharp-pointed.
ACUMULADO, &c. See ACCUMULADO, &c.
ACUNHADO, ACUNHAR. See CUNHADO, CUNHAR.
ACURADAMENTE. See ACCURADAMENTE.
ACURRALAR. See ENCURRALAR.
ACURTADO, &c. See ENCURTADO, &c.
ACURVAR, v. n. to bow down, to grow crooked. (Both in the prop. and metaph. sense.)
ACUSACAM, ACUSADO, &c. See ACUSACAM, ACCUSADO, &c.
ACUTANGULO triangulo, (in geometry) an acute-angled triangle.
ACUTILAR, v. a. to strike, or give several blows with the edge of a sword, to cut, to slash.
ACUCAR, ou açúcre, f. m. sugar.
Engenho de açucar, sugar-work.
Açucar em ponto. See PONTO.
Açucar candê, ou candi, sugar-candy.
Açucar rosado, sugar of roses.
ACUCARADO, a, adj. sugared.
ACUCARAR, v. a. to sugar, to put sugar in, to sweeten with sugar.
ACUCAREIRO, f. m. a sugar-box, or vessel.
ACUCATE. See ACICATE.
ACUCENA, f. f. a lily. Arabic.
Cuberto de açucenas, lilyed.

ACUCRE. See ACUCAR.
ACUDE, f. m. a wall with a scarp to strengthen the mill-dam that keeps the water for a water-mill, or some other use. From the Hebrew Zub or zube, to water.
ACULADO'R, f. m. a setter on, or an encourager of dogs.
ACULAMENTO, f. m. the act of setting, or hallooing dogs.
ACULAR caens, v. a. to halloo, to set or incite dogs.
ACUMAGRE. See SUMAGRE.
ACUMAR. See ASSUMAR.
ADA'GA, f. f. a short sword, a dagger.
ADAGA'DA, f. f. a stab.
Matar ás adagadas, to stab, to kill with a dagger.
ADAGIO, f. m. a proverb, an old saying, an adage.
Adagio, (in music) adagio, the slowest time, especially if the word be twice repeated.
ADAIL, f. m. a guide, or leader, a conductor. From the Arabic delid, a guide; it is especially used speaking of those that conduct armies.
ADAMA'DO, f. m. an effeminated man, a man that affects womanish niceness, in dressing, talking, &c.
ADAMANES, f. m. p. chiology, a talking by signs made with the hands.
ADAMANES, a Moorish kettle-drum.
ADAMANTINO, a, adj. adamantine.
ADAPTA'DO, a, adj. adapted.
ADAPTA'R, v. a. to adapt, to apply.
ADARGA, f. f. a short square target or buckler used by the Spaniards and Moors, made of the ounce, or buffalo's hide; from the Arabic adarrag.
ADARGA'DO, a, adj. armed with such a target.
ADARGAR-SE, v. r. to arm one's self with the adarga. See ADARGA.
ADARME, f. m. the eighth part of an ounce.
ADDEJA, ou ANDEJA. See ANDEJO.
ADDICAM, f. f. an adding, putting, or joining to; also an addition, accession, supplement, or appendix; also an increase, advantage, or ornament.
Addicão, (in arithmetic) addition, a rule by which several numbers are added together.
ADDICIONADO, a, adj. added, &c. See ADDICIONAR, v. a. to make an addition, to cast up, to gather particular sums into one.
ADDICTO, a, adj. addicted.
ADDITAMENTO. See ACRECENTAMENTO.
ADEGA, f. f. a cellar.
Adega de vinho, wine-cellar.
ADEGUEIRO, f. m. a cellar-man.
ADEJAR. See ALEAR.
ADELA, f. f. a woman that cries things for sale in the streets or markets.
ADELGAÇADO, a, adj. made thin, slender, or small.
ADELGAÇADO'R, f. m. one that makes things small and slender.
ADELGAÇAMENTO, f. m. a lessening, a decreasing, a diminution.
ADELGAÇAR, v. a. to make small or slender.
Adelgaçar-se, v. r. to wax small, slender or thin, to grow slim.
ADEM, f. f. a duck.
O macho da adem, a drake, a mallard.
ADEMAENS, f. m. p. motions or gestures of the hands, head, &c. to express the inward sentiments.

ADENTA'DO, (in heraldry) toothed.
ADENTRO, prep. within doors, at home.
O perigo está das portas adentro, the danger is within doors.
ADEOS, adv. adieu, farewell, God be with you.
Adeos para sempre, farewell for ever.
Dizer adeos, to bid adieu, or farewell, to take one's leave.
Dizer adeos a alguma coisa, to bid a thing adieu or farewell, to renounce it, to give it over.
Adeos is also used when a thing is in danger; as, se o menino bole com a mesa, adeos minha louça da India, if the child meddles with the table, farewell my china.
ADEOSADO. See ENDEOSADO.
ADEIU'CHA, an interj. of wonder, hey-day.
ADEQUADAMENTE, adv. adequately, completely, categorically, positively.
ADEQUADO, a, adj. categorical, positive, adequate to the thing to be expressed.
Resposta adequada, a categorical answer.
Adequado, genuine, proper, true.
Aquele he o sentido adequado das palavras do Apostolo, that's the genuine sense of the Apostle's words.
ADEREÇADO, a, adj. dressed, adorned.
ADEREÇAR, v. a. to adorn, to set off, to set out, to trim up, to grace, beautify, or attire.
ADEREÇO, f. m. ornament, set off, finery, dress, attire.
ADERENCIA, f. f. protection, defence, patronage, shelter.
ADERENTE, f. m. a partisan, a favourer of a party, a stickler.
Cada parte tinha homens de bem por seus aderentes, each party had honest men on their side.
Aderentes da guerra, warlike preparations and provisions.
ADESTRA'DO, a, adj. instructed, directed, trained up.
ADESTRAR, v. a. to instruct, to teach, to train or bring up.
ADESTRO, is said of a horse, sedan, &c. that are reserved, or carried in order to be ready or at hand for use; and sometimes for state, pomp, magnificence, great shew or parade.
Cavalleo adestro, ou a destra, a horse that is led without a rider, for state, pomp, &c.
ADEVINHA, f. f. a divineress, a woman that professes divination; see also ADEVINHACAM, f. f. divination, or foretelling of things to come; also a riddle or hard question; this is also called Adevinha.
ADEVINHADO'R. See ADEVINHO.
ADEVINHADO'RA, f. f. a divineress.
ADEVINHAR, v. a. to divine, to soothsay, to utter prognostication; also to divine, to guess, to conjecture; also to divine rightly.
Isto he muyto adevinhar, that is to know too much.
Adevinhar pelo vô das aves, to foretell by the flight of birds.
ADEVINHO, f. m. a diviner, a soothsayer, a conjurer, one that professes the art of divination.
ADEUS. See ADEOS.
ADHERENCIA, ADHERENTE. See ADERENCIA, ADERENTE.
ADIA'DO, a, adj. appointed, settled, fixed.
O dia adiado, the settled day.
ADIANTA'DO, a, adj. advanced, forwarded, &c.

&c. according to the v. Adiantar.
Adiantado na idade, stricken in years, elderly.
Dinheiro adiantado, advanced money.
Adiantado nos estudos, improved in knowledge.
Elle está muito adiantado em tudo, he is much improved upon all accounts.
A obra está muito adiantada, the work is in great forwardness.
Este homem tem-se adiantado muito, seu amonão estará pelo que elle fez, this man is gone too far, his master will not stand to it.
Adiantado, preferred, advanced, promoted; also rude, saucy, petulant.
Adiantado, f. m. an ancient dignity in Portugal, by which one was appointed to govern either the civil, or military affairs; and his power was so great, particularly in Spain, that in the promulgation of some orders they used to begin in this manner: Manda el-rey y el adelantado. This dignity was abolished by John II. in the year 1481.
ADIANTEAMENTO, f. m. augmentation, improvement, &c. according to the v. Adiantar.
ADIANTEAR, v. a. to hasten, to set forward, to forward.
Adiantar huma obra, to forward, or to set forward a piece of work.
Adiantar o relógio, to set the clock forward.
Adiantar dinheiro, to advance money.
Adiantar o cabedal, to increase or improve one's fortune.
Adiantar a alguém, to advance, to promote, to prefer one.
Adiantar, v. n. See
Adiantar-se, v. r. to advance, to move onward, to go, move, or get forward, to make speed before.
Adiantar-se nos estudos, to improve in knowledge.
Adiantar-se muito, to be petulant, saucy, or too forward, to carry a thing too far.
Adiantar-se, to prevent one, to get the start of him, to be before-hand with one, to anticipate, to prevent him, to be the first in doing any thing.
Adiantar-se, to get a preferment, to advance one's self.
O embaixador adiantou-se muito, seu amo não aprovará o que elle fez, the ambassador is gone too far, his master will disown him, or will not stand to it.
Adiantar-se nos annos, to grow older.
ADIANTE, adv. prep. ex. way adiante, go before.
Mais adiante, farther yet.
Adiante e atrás, before and behind.
Eu vou adiante de todos, I go the first, or I go before all.
Ir adiante, to go forward.
Pelo tempo adiante, in the time to come, for the future.
Levar a sua adiante, to go on, to be stubborn, to insist upon the same resolution.
ADICAM. See ADDICAM.
ADIETAR alguém, v. a. to diet one, to keep a person to a strict diet, by the rules of medicine.
ADINHEIRADO, a, adj. rich, full, of money.
ADITO. See ENTRADA.
ADJACENCIA, f. f. adjacency.
ADJACENTE, adj. adjacent.
ADJECTIVAR. See CONCORDAR.
ADJECTIVO, (in grammar) adjective,

ADJUDICAÇÃO, f. f. adjudication, judgment or degree in a court of justice.
ADJUDICADO, a, adj. adjudicated.
ADJUDICAR, v. a. to adjudicate, to award, by a decisive sentence. See also ATTEMBUIR.
ADJUNTO, f. m. companion, fellow, mate, partner.
ADJUTORIO, f. m. help, succour; also a priest's acolyth (in some chronicles.)
ADMINICULANTE, adj. adjutory, helping.
ADMINICULO, f. m. prop, aid, help, support.
ADMINISTRAÇÃO, f. f. administration, government.
Administração dos sacramentos, the administration of sacraments.
ADMINISTRADOR, f. m. an administrator, a manager.
Administrador de hum hospital, the trustee or governor of an hospital.
ADMINISTRADORA, f. m. an administratrix, she who has the power of an administrator committed to her care.
ADMINISTRADO, a, adj. administrated.
ADMINISTRAR, v. a. to administer, to administer, to manage, to govern.
ADMIRAÇÃO, f. f. admiration, wondering, surprise.
Ponto de admiração, a note of admiration (!)
ADMIRADO, a, adj. admired.
ADMIRAR, v. a. to surprise, to astonish by something wonderful.
Admirar-se, v. a. to wonder, to be surprised, to admire, to behold with wonder. Lat. mirari.
Admiro-me disso, I wonder at it.
Admiro-me que cuideis que, &c. I wonder you should think that, &c.
ADMIRATIVO, a, adj. surprising, amazing, wonder-working.
ADMIRAVEL, adj. admirable, wonderful; also admirable, good, rare, excellent; applied both to persons and things.
ADMIRAVELMENTE, adv. admirably, excellently.
ADMITIDO, ou ADMITIDO, a, adj. admitted, &c. See
ADMITIR, ou ADMITIR, v. a. to admit, to let in, to receive, to suffer to come in, to give admittance, or access, to aggregate. Lat. admittere.
Admitir a desculpa de alguém, to allow of one's excuse, to admit, or approve of it.
Admitir, to admit of, to allow of, to grant, to acknowledge.
Admito isso, I grant that.
Admitir, to admit of, to be liable to.
Aquilo não admite dilacão, that admits of no delay.
Aquelle texto admite diferentes explicações, that text admits of, or is liable to several interpretations.
ADMOESTACÃO, f. f. advice, admonition, or admonishment. See ADMOESTAR.
ADMOESTADO, a, adj. admonished.
ADMOESTADOR, f. m. an admonisher.
ADMOESTAR, v. a. to admonish, to warn.
Admoestar anticipadamente, to forewarn, to give a caution before hand.
ADNOMINACÃO, f. f. See PARONOMASIA.
ADOBA, f. f. ou ADOBE, f. m. a kind of fetters that have the figure of a brick.
ADOBE, f. m. a kind of brick not burnt, but dried up and hardened in the sun. Lat. later crudus.

ADOÇAMENTO, a, adj. sweetened, softened, &c. according to the v.
ADOÇAR, v. a. to sweeten, to make sweet.
Adoçar, (speaking of pain, or grief) to soften, to allay, to mitigate, to alluage, to ease, to alleviate.
Adoçar-se, v. r. to sweeten, to grow sweet, to soften, to grow soft.
ADOCICAR. See ADOCAR.
ADOECEER, v. n. to fall sick, to be taken ill.
Adoeceer, v. a. to cause one to be sick, to make one sick.
ADOECEIDO, a, adj. fallen sick.
ADOLESCENCIA, f. f. adolescence, youth, from fourteen to twenty-five years.
ADOLESCENTE, (of the common gender) a young man or woman till arrived at full growth. But Roman writers use it of persons at forty, as Vossius has observed.
ADONDE, adv. where.
Adonde esteu eu? where am I?
Adonde ides vós? where, or whither do you go?
Adonde, wherein, in which.
A prisão adonde jôymetido, the prison wherein he was put.
ADONICO verso, the Adonic verse.
ADOÇÃO, f. f. adoption.
ADOPTADO, a, adj. adopted.
ADOPTAR, v. a. to adopt one, to make him one's child by adoption.
ADOPTIVO, a, adj. adoptive, pertaining to adoption.
Ramos adoptivos, (metaph.) branches that bear the fruit like that of the tree the graft was taken from.
ADORAÇÃO, f. f. adoration, worship.
Eleger o papa por adoração, to chuse the pope without voting, as Pius IV. was.
ADORAÇÃO, a, adj. adored.
ADORADOR, f. m. an adorer, or worshipper.
ADORAR, to adore, to worship; also to esteem greatly.
Adorar huma senhora, to adore a lady, to have a passionate love for her.
ADORAVEL, adj. adorable, worthy, or fit to be adored.
ADORMECEDOR. See SOPORIFERO.
ADORMECER, v. a. to make sleep, to cast into a sleep, to lay, or lull asleep. See also ADORMENTAR.
Adormecer, to amuse, to drive off, to play the fool with, (metaph.).
Quando o demonio nos adormece no peccado, (metaph.) when the devil lulls us asleep in sin.
Adormecer, v. n. to fall asleep; also to grow numb. See ADORMENTAR-SE.
Adormecer-se, v. r. idem.
ADORMECIDO, a, adj. lulled asleep, asleep, &c. according to the v. Adormecer.
ADORMECIMENTO, f. m. sleepiness, drowsiness, &c. according to the v. Adormecer.
ADORMENTADO, a, adj. See ADORMECIDO.
ADORMENTAR, v. a. to lay or lull asleep.
Adormentar, to charm, to inchant, to delight, (metaph.).
O vinho adormenta os cuidados, wine inchants, or drowns cares.
Adormentar ou adormecer alguém com bellas palavras e promessas, to drive one off with fair words and promises.
Adormentar a mão, to numb the hand.
Adormentar-se, v. r. to fall asleep; also to grow numb, as when one is long in one posture; vulgarly called asleep.
Adormentar-se, ou adormecer sobre hum negocio, (metaph.) to neglect a business.
ADOR-

- ADORNA'DO, a, adj. adorned, set off, &c.
See
ADORNA'R, v. a. to set off, to deck, to set out, to adorn, to trim up, to grace, to attire. (Both in the prop. and fig. sense.)
Adornár, to colour, to varnish over, to palliate, to blanch.
Elles adornarão a sua resposta com bellas palavras, they blanch'd their answer in handsome words.
Adornar-se, v. r. to deck or adorn one's self.
ADO'RNO, f. m. ornament, set off, finery, dress, attire.
ADOUDA'DA, f. f. a rash, heedless, hot-headed, or giddy-headed woman.
ADOUDA'DO, f. m. a mere blunder-buss, or blunder-head, a rash man.
ADRE'DE, adv. purposely, on purpose, on set purpose, for the nonce, with a design.
ADREGA'R, (an antiquat. word.) See ACONTECER.
ADRIATICO mar, the Adriatic sea, the gulph of Venice enlarging itself between Greece, Illyricum, and Italy; it takes its name from the town of Adria.
ADRO, f. m. a church-yard.
Estar como hum adro, to have a solemn, full, or crabbed look.
ADSTRICCAM, f. f. astringent, sharpness of taste like that of alum.
ADSTRICTO, a, adj. (among physicians) stopped, shut up.
Os poros estão adstrictos, the pores are stopped, or shut up.
Adstricto, tied up, confined, limited, stinted, bounded, restrained.
ADSTRINGE'NCIA, f. f. an astringent virtue.
ADSTRINGE'NTE, adj. astringent, astringent, binding, coctive.
Remedios astringentes, ou adstringentes, astringents, astringent, binding, or coctive medicines.
ADSTRINGI'R, v. a. to bind, to shut up.
ADU'A, f. f. so they called in former times a sort of common people, whose duty was to repair the walls and castles of the towns, &c.
ADU'NA, f. f. See ALFANDEGA.
ADU'AR, f. m. so the Arabians and Moors call their cottages, or villages.
ADUBA'DO, a, adj. spiced, seasoned with spices, &c. See
ADUBA'R, v. a. to season meat, to dress it with spices, to spice or season.
Adubar terras. See ESTERCAR.
Adubar o couro, to dress leather so that it may be fit to make use of it.
Adubar a vinha, to husband, to till a vineyard.
Adubar o vinho, to mix, to prepare wine.
Adubar, (metaph.) to season, to temper, to sweeten, to set off one's words or actions with a pleasant way.
ADUBO, f. m. ex. Adubio de vinhas, husbandry, tillage, culture, dressing or trimming of vines.
ADUBO, f. m. spices, aromatical drugs.
Elle não gosta de cousa salgada, nem com adubos, he loves nothing that is either salted or spiced.
ADUCHAS, f. f. p. (a sea term) the rings or turnings of a cable when it is coiled.
ADUCTR, v. a. to make the gold flexible, to soften and render it pliable and easy to be handled without breaking.
ADUE'LA, f. f. a staff.
Aduelas, the plural of Aduela, staves to make calks, pipes, &c.
- Aduelas já cortadas e preparadas para fazer pipas*, &c. clapboards.
Aduela, (in architecture) the inward face of the stones of the arch under its chapter.
ADVENA, f. m. a foreigner, a stranger. Lat.
ADVENIDA. See AVENIDA.
ADVENTICIO, a, adj. (in the civil law) adventitious; as, bens adventicios, adventitious goods.
ADVENTO, f. m. (in ecclesiastical language) advent, a time set apart by the church as a preparation for the approaching festival of Christmas; so called from adventus Redemptoris, the coming of our Redeemer.
ADVERBIAL, adj. adverbial, belonging to an adverb.
ADVERBIALME'NTE, adv. adverbially, as an adverb.
ADVERBIO, f. m. (in grammar) an adverb.
ADVERSA'RIO, f. m. an adversary, an adverse party, in verbal or judicial contests.
ADVERSIDA'DE, f. f. adversity, misfortune, calamity, affliction, cross fortune, trouble.
ADVE'RSO, a, adj. adverse, contrary.
Parte adversa, the adverse party.
Adversa fortuna, adverse, or cross fortune.
Adverso, f. m. See ADVERSIDADE.
ADVERTE'NCIA, f. f. a putting in mind, a warning, an advertisement; also advertency, attention, mindfulness.
ADVERTIDAME'NTE, adv. wisely, considerately.
ADVERTIDO, a, adj. warned, &c. according to the v. Advertir.
ADVERTIMENTO, f. m. See ADVERTENCIA.
ADVERTI'R, v. a. to warn, to advertise; also to advert, to mark, to take heed, to mind.
ADU'FA, f. f. a lattice.
Que tem adufa, latticed.
Janella com adufa, a lattice-window.
Por adufa na janella, to lattice up the window.
Adufa, a flood-gate, a kind of gate or shutter, by which the course of the water is inclosed or opened at pleasure; it is also called Comporta.
ADUFA'DA janella, a lattice-window.
ADU'FE, f. m. a timbrel, a sort of tabor. Arabic. It has the skin but at one end.
ADULACAM, f. f. flattery; adulation.
ADULADO'R, f. m. a flatterer, an adulator, a sycophant.
ADULA'DO, a, adj. flattered.
ADULA'R, v. a. to flatter, to soothe, to play the sycophant; from the Lat. adulari, to flatter.
ADULTERA, f. f. an adulteress.
ADULTERA'DO, a, adj. adulterated, falsified, forged, counterfeited.
ADULTERA'R, v. n. to commit adultery.
Adulterár, v. a. to adulterate, to corrupt, or counterfeit.
ADULTERINO, a, adj. issued from an adulterous amour or commerce; also forged, adulterated, counterfeited.
Filho adulterino, an adulterine, a child issued from an adulterous amour.
ADULTE'RIO, f. m. adultery.
ADULTERO, f. m. an adulterer.
ADU'LTO, a, adj. adult, past a child, grown up; also ripe, or fit for any action or thing.
ADUNA'DO, a, adj. united, &c. See
- ADUNA'R, v. a. to gather, to get together, to unite, to assemble, to bring together into one place.
ADU'NCO, a, adj. hooked, crooked. Lat. aduncus.
ADVOCADO, ou AVOCADO, a, adj. called, called for, or to. See ADVOCAR.
AVOCAR, ou AVOCAR, v. a. to call, to send for; also to take a thing upon one's self, to assume; also to take away a lawsuit from another's jurisdiction.
ADVOCATU'RA, f. f. shelter, protection.
AVOGACIA, ou AVOGACIA, f. f. advocacy.
AVOGA'DA, ou AVOGA'DA, f. f. she who lays to heart, takes care of, and secures the interest of another.
AVOGADO, ou AVOGADO, f. m. (in the civil law) an advocate.
Advogado, ou avogado, one that lays to heart, takes care of, and secures the interest of another; also one who pleads the interests of another upon all occasions, an advocate, (metaph.)
Advogado principiante, a young clerk, a pettifogger.
Advogado sometimes is used instead of Letrado, but improperly. See Letrado.
AVOGA'R, ou AVOGA'R, v. n. to plead, to take up the plea, to follow the law, to do the office of a pleading lawyer.
Eu advoguei na sua causa, I took up the plea in his defence.
Elle vos pede que advogueis na sua causa, he prayeth you to plead his cause for him.
ADU'R, adv. (an antiquated word) scarcely, hardly. It was also used as a substantive. See VELHACARIA.
ADURE'NTE, adj. (among physicians) burning, or scorching.
ADUSTAM, f. f. adustion, burning.
ADUSTIVO. See ADURENTE.
ADUSTO, a, adj. adust or adusted.
Sangue adusto, adust blood.
AE'ITO, adv. ex. Elle leva todos aeito, he drives all before him.
Cortar huma coisa aeito, to mow down, or to cut off any thing entirely.
Fallar, ou dizer muitas cousas aeito, to speak continually without stopping or pausing.
AE'REO, a, adj. aerial, pertaining to the air, airy; also airy, without reality, vain.
Pensamentos aereos, airy notions.
AE'SMO, (an ancient word) by sight, by guess, trusting or depending upon one's eyes. See ESMO.
AFABEL, ou AFAVEL. See AFFAVEL.
AFABILIDA'DE. See AFFABILIDADE.
AFADIGA'DO, a, adj. tired, wearied, fatigued.
Afadigar-se. See CANÇAR-SE.
AFAGA'DO, a, adj. caressed, flattered, &c. See
AFAGA'R, v. a. to caress, to use kindly, to flatter, to soothe.
Afagar hum cavallo, to cherish, or stroke a horse.
AFAGO, f. m. caresses, great demonstrations of kindness, &c. according to the v. Afagar.
AFAMA'DO, a, adj. renowned, famous, noted; also disreputable, ill spoken of.
AFANA'DO, a, adj. weary, tired, anxious. See also AFANAR, v. a.
AFANA'R, v. n. to grow tired, to be weary, to be anxious, to toil and moil.
Afanár, v. a. to earn any thing with great anxiety, and much ado.

A F E

AFAM, f. m. (an ancient word) ado, pains-taking, toil, trouble, fatigue, anxiety.
AFASTA'DO, a, adj. remote, far, distant; also removed, &c. See AFASTA'R, v. a. to remove, or put away, to drive away, to avert.
Afastar-se, v. r. to remove, to go away, to go from, to forsake.
AFAZENDA'DO, a, adj. rich, wealthy, opulent.
AFAZER, AFAZER-SE. See ACOSTUMAR, ACOSTUMAR-SE.
AFE', adv. truly, indeed, faith.
Afé de quem sou, (a sort of oath) faith, upon my faith.
AFEDA'DO, a, adj. disfigured, made ugly, &c. See
AFEAR, v. a. to make ugly, or homely, to disfigure, to mar the fashion of, to deform. Lat. deturpare.
Afear, to cry down, to represent any thing in the worst manner.
Afear, to dishonour, to stain, to spot.
Afear a reputação de alguém, to spot, to blur, or blemish one's reputation.
AFFECTAÇAM.
AFFECTADO.
AFFECTAR.
AFFECTO.
AFFECTUOSAMENTE.
AFFECTUOSO.
AFEIÇAM.
AFEIÇADO.
AFEIÇAR.
AFEIÇAM. See ENFEITE.
AFEITADO. See ENFEITADO.
AFEITAR. See ENFEITAR.
AFEITE. See ENFEITE.
AFEITO. See AFFECTO.
AFEITO, a, adj. See ACOSTUMADO.
AFEMINADAMENTE, adv. effeminately, womanly.
AFEMINADO, a, adj. effeminate, womanlike.
Elle tinha o ar afeminado, he had a wanton or effeminate look.
Falla afeminada, a soft or wanton manner of speaking. Persius calls it delumbe.
Discurso afeminado, a feeble speech, that wants finews. Cicero calls it delumbata, seu enervata oratio.
AFEMINAR, v. a. to effeminate, to enervate, to soften.
AFERIÇAM, f. f. the marking any measure or weight that has been squared by the standard.
AFERIDO, a, adj. stamped with a public mark. See AFERIR.
Aferido, f. m. a mill-eat, or mill-leat.
AFERIDO'R, f. m. an officer whose business is to mark, frame, or adjust the measures and weights according to the king's standard.
AFERIR, v. a. to stamp with the public mark. (Speaking of weights or measures that have been squared by the standard.) French, etalonner.
AFERMOSEADO, a, adj. made finer; also fine, handsome, adorned, decked.
AFERMOSEAR, v. a. to make finer, to adorn, to deck; also to represent any thing in the best manner.
AFERRADO, a, adj. caught with a crook or hook, grappled, &c. according to the v. AFERRAR.
Hezera aferrado á sua opinião, an obstinate or opinionated man, one wedded to his own opinion.

A F F

AFERRA'R, v. a. to grapple, to lay, take, or get hold of a thing with a grappling hook, or otherwise.
Aferrar bun navio, to grapple a ship.
Aferrar a ave, ou da ave, to swoop, to fall at once as a hawk upon his prey, to pounce.
Aferrar, ou lançar ferro, v. n. to anchor, to cast anchor.
Aferrar-se, v. r. to hold, or stick fast.
Aferrar-se a sua opinião, to hold in one's opinion.
AFERRETO'DO, a, adj. stung, or pricked.
AFERRETOAR, v. a. to prick or sting. Lat. pungere.
AFERRO. See AFFERRO.
AFERROLHA'DO, &c. See FERROLHADO, &c.
AFERVORA'DO, a, adj. fervent, vehement, eager, zealous in piety, flaming with devotion.
Afervorado desejo, an earnest desire.
AFERVORAR, v. a. to animate, to excite, to inflame with fervour.
Afervorar-se, v. r. to inflame one's self with fervour.
Afervorar-se na devoção, to stir up one's devotion.
AFFABEL. See AFFAVEL.
AFFABILIDADE, f. f. affability, courtesy, kindness, gentleness, easiness of address.
AFFA'RES. See NEGOCIO. It is not to be used.
AFFAVE'L, adj. affable, civil, kind, easy to be spoken to.
AFFECTAÇAM, f. f. affectation, affectedness, preciseness, niceness, affected study, affected way, formality, formal way; also eagerness, keenness of desire.
AFFECTADO, a, adj. affected, formal, nice, precise; also affected, over-curiously done.
Modo affectado, an affected way.
Estylo affectado, an affected stile.
AFFECTA'R, v. a. to affect, to make a pretended show of something.
Affectar sezeudeza, to affect a grave outside.
Affectar, to affect, to desire, to hanker after, to aspire to; also to please, &c. See AGRADAR.
AFFECTATIVO. See DESEJOSO.
AFFE'CTO, f. m. affection, good-will, kindness, love, inclination towards; also affect, passion of any kind.
Affecto, (with physicians) affection, a morbid or disorderly state of the body.
Affecto, a, adj. See AFFLIÇADO.
AFFECTUOSAMENTE, adv. affectionately, kindly, friendly, heartily.
AFFECTUOSO, a, adj. affectionate, kind, obliging.
AFFEIÇAM, f. f. affection, love.
AFFEIÇADO, a, adj. given to, addicted, inclined, &c. See AFFEIÇAR-SE, and AFFEIÇAR.
Affeçoado a alguém, affectionate, well affected to one, that has an affection for him, that is addicted or inclined to him.
AFFEIÇAR, v. a. to get another's benevolence, to move, to touch, to affect.
Affeicár o amor de huma senhora, to affect a lady's heart.
Affeçoar-se, v. r. to addict, or to apply one's self to a thing, to give one's mind to it, to take a fancy to.
Ha douz mezes que elle se affeçoou á lingua Inglesa, he has taken a fancy to learn English these two months past.
AFFEITADO, &c. See ENFEITADO, &c.

A F I

AFFEITO. See AFFECTO.
AFFERRADO, &c. See AFERRADO, &c.
AFFERRO, f. m. attachment, inclination.
AFFIM, f. m. and f. a kinsman, or kinswoman, properly by marriage.
AFFINIDADE, f. f. affinity, alliance by marriage; also affinity, relation or resemblance between several things.
Que he parente por afinidade, affined, related to one by affinity.
AFFIRMAÇAM, f. f. affirmation.
AFFIRMADO, a, adj. affirmed. See AF-FIRMAR.
AFFIRMANTE, (in the schools) he who maintains the affirmative.
AFFIRMAR, v. a. to affirm, to ascertain, to maintain. Lat. asseverare.
O que afirma, an affirmer, an affirmant.
Affirmar, v. n. (in fencing) to make directly at one's adversary with the point of one's sword; from the word firm, firm, fast.
AFFIRMATIVA, f. f. affirmative.
Defender a affirmativa, to be for the affirmative, to maintain the affirmative.
AFFIRMATIVAMENTE, adv. affirmatively, positively.
AFFIRMATIVO, a, adj. affirmative.
AFFLICÇAM, f. f. affliction, trouble, grief, anguish.
AFFLICTA, f. f. an afflicted or distressed woman.
AFFLICTIVO, a, adj. afflicting, afflictive.
AFFLICTO, f. m. an afflicted or distressed man.
Afficto, a, adj. afflicted, grieved, distressed.
AFFLIGIDO, a, adj. idem.
AFFLIGER, v. a. to afflict, to vex, to cause grief to one.
Affigir o proprio corpo com austeridades, to afflict, to mortify or macerate one's body by austerities.
Affigir-se, v. r. to grieve, to afflict, or disquiet one's self.
AFFLITO. See AFFLICTO.
AFFLUE'NCIA, f. f. affluence, great store, abundance.
AFFORRADO. See AFORRADO.
AFFRONTA, f. f. affront, abuse, contumely.
Soffrer huma affronta, to put up, or to bear an affront; commonly to swallow a gudgeon.
AFFRONTADO, a, adj. affronted, abused, &c. See AFFRONTAR.
AFFRONTAMENTO, f. m. a preternatural heat, an inflammation with too much redness in the face and panting.
AFFRONTA'R, v. a. to affront, to abuse, to rail at, to revile, to call names.
Affrontar, to cause a preternatural heat, &c. See AFFRONTAMENTO.
Affrontar, to out-bid, to enhance the price at an auction, v. n.
Affrontar, (speaking of a ship) to have a light cargo.
Affrontar, v. n. to have a preternatural heat, &c. See AFFRONTAMENTO.
Affrontar-se, v. r. to take pet, to take huff, or exception.
Affrontar-se, to meet with, to light on or upon.
AFFRONTOSAMENTE, adv. spitefully, outrageously, disdainfully.
AFFRONTOSO, a, adv. outrageous, contumelious, abusive.
AFUGENTA'DO, &c. See AFUGENTA-DO, &c.
AFIA'DO, a, adj. sharpened, whetted, set, sharp-edged.

AFIADO'R,

A F I

AFIADO'R, f. m. grinder.
AFLANÇAR, v. n. to bail one, to be bail for one.
Afiar, v. a. to promise, to give hopes.
AFIAR, v. a. to grind, to set, to set an edge on, to sharpen, to whet.
Pedra de afiar, a grind-stone, a whet-stone, a hone.
Pedra de afiar fouces, a rubber.
AFICAME'NTO, f. m. urgency, pressure of difficulty. Obso.
AFICAR, v. a. to urge, to follow a person close in dispute, to urge a reason, or an argument. Obso.
AFIDALGADO, a, adj. choice, excellent, noble, illustrious, of great authority.
Afidalgado, that falsely pretends to gentility.
AFIDALGAR, v. a. to nobilitate, to make noble. It is seldom used.
AFIGURAÇAM, f. f. imagination, fancy, apprehension.
AFIGURADO, a, adj. ex. homem bem afigurado, a man of good aspect, a fine man.
AFIGURAR-SE, v. r. to imagine, to think, to fancy, to believe.
Afigura-se-me que vejo a minha patria, it seems to me, or methinks I see my country.
Afigure-se-vos que seis o mesmo que eu, let you suppose yourself to be what I am.
AFILADO. See AFERIDO.
Ter a lingua bem afilada, to have a nimble tongue.
Nariz afilado, a nose well made, handsome nose. Bluteau says it signifies a nose somewhat long and pointed.
Vida mal afilada, (metaph.) a disorderly life.
AFILADO'R. See AFERIDOR.
AFILAME'NTO. See AFERIÇAM.
AFILAR. - See AFERIR.
AFILHADA, f. f. a god-daughter. It is a correlative to Padrinho, and Madrinha, which see.
Afilada, a woman that is protected or countenanced.
AFILHADO, f. m. a god-son. It is also a correlative to Padrinho, and Madrinha.
Afilado, a man that is protected or countenanced.
P. do pão de meu compadre, grande fatia a meu afilado, we say, to cut large thongs out of another man's leather. The Lat. say, de alieno corio ludere.
AFIM DE, conj. in order to, that, to the end that.
AFINACAM, f. f. the action of giving the full sound to every musical note.
Ter boa afinação, to give the full sound to the musical notes.
AFINADO, a, adj. (speaking of metal) fined, or refined.
Voz afinada, a voice that gives a full, perfect, and distinct sound to the musical notes, which depends particularly upon having a good ear.
AFINAME'NTO, f. m. affinage, fining, or refining of metals.
AFINAR, v. a. to fine or refine metals.
Afinar as pagas, (among book-binders) to square the pasteboards.
Afinar a voz, to give the perfect and full sound to the musical notes, to sing very well.
Afinar um instrumento de musica, to tune a musical instrument.
AFINCADAMENTE, adv. instantly, earnestly.

A F O

AFISTULA'DO, a, adj. (among surgeons) turned to a fistula.
AFISTULAR-SE, v. r. to grow into a fistula, to become a hollow oozing ulcer.
AFLEIMAR-SE. See AFLEGIR-SE.
AFLOXAR. See AFROXAR.
AFLOCINHAR, v. n. to fall forward, or down upon one's face; also to sink or perish.
AFLOFAR, v. n. to swell, to rise up.
AFOGADICO, a, adj. out of breath.
AFOGADILHO. See PRESSA.
AFOGADO, a, adj. stifled, &c. See AFOGAR.
Covas afogadas, poached eggs.
Afogado, stewed.
AFOGADOR, f. m. a necklace.
Afogado de perolas, a necklace of pearls.
AFOGAMENTO, f. m. a stifling or suffocation, a stopping of one's breath.
AFOGAR, v. a. to stifle, smother, choke, or suffocate.
Afogar, ou matar alguém apertando-lhe a garganta, to strangle, throttle, or kill one to death.
Afogar, ou matar mergulhando, to drown, to suffocate in water.
Afogar os cuidados no vinho, (metaph.) to drown one's cares in wine.
Afogar, to stew (speaking of meat, fish, &c.)
Afogar ovos, to poach eggs.
Afogar, to choke, &c. See ABAFAR. (in agriculture.)
Afogado de serras, surrounded with mountains.
Afagar, to forbear, to keep one's self from.
Afagar os gemidos, to forbear groaning.
Afogar-se, v. r. to strangle or stifle one's self.
Afogar-se em água, to drown, or to be suffocated in water.
Afogar-se por comer com muita pressa, to choke one's self for greediness.
Afagou-se hum emperador com huma pevide, an emperor choked himself with a kernel.
Afogar-se em pouca água, to be drowned in little water; that is, to be overcome with little labour or trouble.
P. Quem em mais alto nada, mais presto se afoga; we say, a high-climbing, a steep coming down: that is, the highest charges are the more liable, and nearer to the downfall. The Italians have a very good proverbial rhyme to the same purpose,
*Di voli alti e repenti
 Sogliono i precipizi esser vicini.*
AFOGO, f. m. See AFOGAMENTO.
Afôgo, (metaph.) torment, affliction, grief, trouble, anxiety.
AFOGUEADO, a, adj. burning, hot, glowing, fiery; see the v. AFOGUEAR.
P. Bater o ferro afogueado, to beat the iron whilst it is hot.
Afogueado, too much red; speaking of the face, or some other part of the body.
Pão afogueado, a loaf of bread that is burnt on the out-side, but not well baked in the in-side.
AFOGUEAR, v. a. to make fiery, or glowing hot.
Afoguear huma peça, to load a gun with powder only, and then to shoot it off to try or clean it.
AFOLHA'DO, a, adj. laid up, laid fallow. See AFOLHAR, v. a. (in agriculture) ex. afolbar hum terra, to lay up a piece of ground.

A F U

Terra afolhada, land laid up, or lay-land, a fallow ground, a field that lies fallow.
AFORA. See ALEM.
AFORADO, a, adj. See AFORAR.
AFORADA causa, a thing or matter about which one's opinion or judgment has been given.
AFORADO'R, f. m. the lord of the manor who gives lands, or houses, upon condition that a small yearly rent shall be paid to him.
AFORAME'NTO, f. m. the act of giving or taking lands, &c. upon condition, &c. See AFORAR, v. a. to give, or make over, houses or lands to be possessed for ever, upon condition that a small yearly rent shall be paid to the proprietor; also to rent, or hold houses or lands upon the same conditions.
AFORÇURADO, a, adj. (a vulgar word) See APRESSADO.
AFORISMO. See APHORISMO.
AFORRADO, a, adj. (an ancient word) that carries but a light burden, or small and trifling provisions for a journey; such as can be put into a wallet, or a bag with two pouches to it.
AFORTUNADO, a, adj. lucky.
AFOUTADO, a, adj. bold, daring.
AFOUTAR-SE, v. r. to dare, to be so bold as to, &c.
AFOUTEZA, f. f. boldness, daringness.
AFOUTO. See AFOUTADO.
AFRAGAR, v. n. to fall, to come down; as, o vento afraga, the wind falls, or comes down.
AFRACAR, to lose courage, to despond.
AFRAMENGADO, a, adj. that has a bright yellow hair like gold, and a fair complexion. The Portuguese make use of this word, speaking of these persons amongst them that are like the Flemish or other foreigners in their features and complexions, the word being derived from framengo, a Flemish man.
AFREGUESADO, a, adj. accustomed, or customed, that has customers. From Freguez, a customer.
Loja afreguesada, a shop well accustomed.
AFREGUESAR, v. a. to get custom.
AFREIMAR-SE, v. r. to fret one's self, to fret.
AFRICA, f. f. Africa, one of the four quarters of the world.
AFRICANO, a, adj. African, of, or belonging to Africa.
AFRO, a, adj. idem.
AFRONTA, &c. See AFRONTA, &c.
AFROXADO, a, adj. unbent, &c. See AFROXAR, v. a. to slacken, loosen, or unbend.
Afroxar, v. n. to grow slack, to slacken; also to fail, to grow remiss. (Speaking of courage, observance, keeping, &c.)
Afroxar-se, v. r. idem.
AFUGENTADO, a, adj. driven away, put to flight.
AFUGENTAR, v. a. to chase, or drive away, to put to flight. Lat. fugare.
AFUNDA'DO, a, adj. sunk down.
AFUNDA'R, v. a. to sink.
Afundar hum navio, to sink a ship.
Afundar-se, v. r. to sink, to go to the bottom.
Afundar-se no mar, to sink at sea, to founder, as a ship.
AFUNDIDO, AFUNDIR-SE. See AFUNDADO. AFUNDAR-SE.
AFUSAL,

- AFUSAL, f. m. two pounds of flax made up into a small bundle.
- AFUSILAR, v. a. to strike fire out of a flint.
- AGA, f. m. aga, or a colonel of Janissaries.
- AGACHADO, AGACHAR-SE. See ACACHADO, ACACHAR-SE.
- AGADANHAR, v. a. to fly in one's face with the nails, to scratch, to take the skin off with the nails; also to lay one's hand upon any thing.
- AGALHA. See GALHA.
- AGALHAS, f. f. p. (in anatomy) the tonsils of the neck.
- AGANTPE, f. f. a famous well or spring in Boeotia, sacred to Apollo and the Muses.
- AGAPETAS, f. f. p. (in the ancient church) agapete, certain virgins, who associated themselves with ecclesiastics, out of a motive of piety and charity.
- AGAPIOS, ou agapos banquetes, love feasts among the primitive christians, agapæ.
- AGARENO, a, adj. Moorish, or Arabic; also of, or belonging to the race of Hagar.
- AGARICO, f. m. agaric, a sweet smelling mushroom, which shines in the night, and grows on high trees, especially the larch.
- AGARRADO, a, adj. taken, or laid hold of, caught.
- AGARRADOR, f. m. See BELLEGUIM.
- AGARRAR, v. a. to seize, or seize upon, to lay hold of, to catch; from garra, a claw.
- AGARROCHADO, a, adj. pricked or stuck with those little darts they use in Portugal, called garrochas, to throw at bulls to fret them; also bound hard, &c. See
- AGARROCHAR, v. a. to prick with those small darts they use in Portugal, called garrochas, to fret the bulls, at the bull feasts; also to bind hard, by twisting the cord with a stick called garrocho.
- AGASALHADEIRO. See AGASALHADOR.
- AGASALHADO, a, adj. received, sheltered, &c. See AGASALHAR.
- Agasalhado, f. m. shelter, or a lodging to entertain strangers or guests.
- AGASALHADOR, f. m. an entertainer, one that receives or shelters strangers.
- AGASALHADORA, f. f. a woman that entertains or shelters strangers.
- AGASALHAR, v. a. to make a reception, to receive, to lodge, to harbour, to entertain, to shelter.
- Agasallar-se, v. r. to resort to a place to lodge, or abide in it as a guest.
- Agasallar-se em algum lugar, to fly to a place for shelter.
- Agasallar-se, to cover one's self well in order not to catch cold, or to sweat.
- AGASALHO, f. m. a lodging to entertain strangers, a shelter; also the manner of receiving a guest or stranger.
- Elle deu-me bom agasalho*, he received me hospitably, he made me a kind reception.
- Dar bem agasalho*, to welcome, to bid welcome.
- Elle deu-me máo agasalho*, he received me unkindly.
- AGASTADO, a, adj. angry, hasty, passionate.
- AGASTAMENTO, f. m. passion, raving, anger.
- Ter agastamentos do coração*, to be heart-sick, or sick at heart.
- AGASTAR a alguém, v. a. to provoke, tease, or vex one.
- Agastar-se, v. r. to fly, or fall out into a passion, to be angry, or transported with anger.
- AGASTA-SE por da cá aquella palha, a little matter raises his passion, or makes him angry.
- AGATA, f. f. agate, a precious stone.
- AGATANHAR, ou meter os gadanhos. See GADANHO.
- AGEITAR-SE, v. r. ex. Ageitar-se bem ou mal para fazer alguma coisa, to go the right or wrong way to work.
- AGEITIVAR. See CONCORDAR.
- AGEITIVO. See ADJECTIVO.
- AGENCIA, f. f. agency.
- AGENCIA DO, a, adj. managed, transacted. See
- AGENCIAR, v. a. to negotiate, manage, or transact, to procure any thing diligently, to earn, to get; also to help one to a thing.
- Eu lhe agenciei aquella posto*, I procured him that place.
- Agenciár-se, v. r. ex. Agenciár-se huma grande reputação, to conciliate, to win a great reputation.
- AGENTE, f. m. (in natural philosophy) an agent.
- Agente*, an agent, a man that does a prince's business.
- AGGLUTINADO, a, adj. agglutinated.
- AGGLUTINAR, v. a. to agglutinate, to glue together.
- AGGLUTINATIVO, a, adj. that has the virtue of agglutinating.
- AGGRAVADO, a, adj. injured, wronged; also made heavy.
- AGGRAVANTE, f. m. an appellant. See AGGRAVAR.
- Aggravante, adj. aggravating, that aggravates the heinousness of a crime, or sin.
- AGGRAVAR, v. a. to offend, wrong, injure, or abuse.
- aggravár, to make heavy, or grievous, to enlarge on the heinousness of a crime, or sin, to aggravate a thing.
- Aggravár, v. n. to appeal from one judge to another that has an equal power and authority.
- Aggravár-se, v. r. to be offended, or angry at a thing, to take exception against it, to take pet, or snuff at it.
- Aggravar-se, to increase, to grow worse. (Speaking of grief, sickness, &c.)
- Aggravár-se, to be sore again, to become worse. (Speaking of sores, wounds, &c.)
- Aggravar-se, to become heavy on account of age, distempers, &c.
- AGGRAVO, f. m. offence, wrong, injury, abuse, outrage; also the appealing from one judge to another that has an equal power and jurisdiction.
- AGGREGADO, a, adj. aggregated, received, or admitted into a society.
- Aggregado, f. m. an aggregate.
- AGGREGAR, v. a. to aggregate, to receive, to admit into a society, to associate.
- Agregar-se, v. r. to associate one's self with another.
- AGGREGATIVAS pillulas, (in medicine) aggregating pills.
- AGRESSOR, f. m. an aggressor, one that first sets upon, or assaults, an assailant.
- AGIGANTADO, a, adj. gigantic, giant-like.
- AGIGANTAR, v. a. to bestow, to give a gigantic strength.
- AGIL, adj. agile, quick, nimble, active, swift.
- AGILIDADE, f. f. agility, nimbleness.
- AGILITAR-SE, v. r. to become light, to lose the weight.
- AGIOLOGIO, f. m. a legend, the lives of saints.
- AGITAÇAM, f. f. agitation, toss, violent motion; also agitation, perturbation, trouble.
- AGITADO, a, adj. agitated, &c. See
- AGITAR, v. a. to agitate, to shake, to toss, to tumble; also to trouble, to disquiet, to torture, to hurry, to agitate.
- Agitar huma questão*, to agitate, to bandy, to debate a question.
- AGNAÇAM, f. f. (in the civil law) agnation.
- AGNA DO, a, adj. kindred by the father's side.
- AGNIÇAM, f. f. an acknowledgment, or recognition.
- AGNO casto, ou castil, the chaste tree, or, as some say, the tree called park leaves.
- AGNO ME, f. m. the last surname of a person.
- AGNUS, or Agnus dei, an agnus, a piece of wax blessed by the pope, having the print of a lamb, or some other holy hieroglyphic.
- AGOA, f. f. water. Lat. aqua.
- Abrir*, ou fazer agoa, (a sea phrase) to leak, or spring a leak, so as to take in water.
- Navio que faz agoa*, a leaky ship.
- Dar a agoa pela barba*, (metaph.) to be in great danger.
- Agoa doce*, fresh water.
- Agoa de sabão*, soap-suds.
- Agoa perenal*, a perpetual water-spring, running-water, a continual stream.
- Borda d'agoa*, the water-side, or the sea-side.
- Nadar por baixo da agoa*, to swim under the water.
- Agua vivas*, spring-tides.
- Agua mortas*, neap-tides, or neep-tides; also standing waters.
- Lançar hum navio a agoa*, to launch a ship.
- Fazer agoa*, ou agoada, to take in fresh water, (a sea phrase.)
- Estar banhado em agoa*, ou suor, to be in a great sweat, to be wet all over.
- Agoa encarcada*, dead or standing water.
- Ago vivas*, ou corrente, running water.
- Agoa salobra*, brackish water.
- P. Agoa salobra na terra seca he doce*, we say, a hungry dog will eat dirty pudding.
- Agua da fonte, de rochedo, do mar, de cisterna, de chuva, de neve*, spring, rock, sea, cistern, rain, snow-water.
- Agua minerais*, mineral waters.
- Agua das caldas*, hot mineral waters.
- Agua artificiaes*, ou estilladas, artificial, or distilled waters.
- Agua cordiaes*, cordial waters.
- Agoa rosada*, rose water.
- Agoa da rainha de Hungria*, the queen of Hungary's water.
- Agoa benta*, holy water.
- Caldeirinha da agoa benta*, holy water-pot.
- P. Ver-se entre a cruz e agoa benta*, to be in great danger.
- P. Querer bem a alguém como o diabo a agoa benta*, to love one as the devil loves holy water, or as the cat loves mustard.
- Agoa*, water, urine.
- Agoa*, ou chuva, rain.
- Agua ou lagrimas*, tears.
- Passaros d'agoa*, water-fowls.
- Cão d'agoa*, water-dog.
- Cobra d'agoa*, water-snake.

Perrexil d'agoa, wild parley.
Urso d'agoa que vive do que apanha nella, a water-bear.
Agoas furtadas, the garrets.
Agôa ardente, brandy, or any strong water.
Agoa regia, aqua regalis.
Agôa benedicta, aqua benedicta.
Agoa esillada com papoulas e outras herbas para curar indigestions, surfeit water.
Agoa styptica, styptic water, that stanches blood.
Navegar contra a corrente das agoas, to strive against the stream.
Galbeta d'agoa, que serve quando se diz missa, a water crewet.
Arca d'agoa, a water-house, a conservatory of water.
A flor d'agoa, between wind and water.
Dar agoa, ou de beber a hum cavallo, to water a horse.
Cahir n'agoa repentinamente, to louse, or to fall suddenly into the water.
Por n'agoa, to water, to steep, to soak.
Moinho d'agoa, water mill.
Engenho de agoa, a water-engine.
Prova que se fazia antigamente por meyo de agoa que estava fervendo, water ordeal.
Resaca, da agoa. See RESACA.
Redemoinho d'agoa que se forma detraz da popa de hum navio, e que não passa tão depressa como a agoa dos lados, dead water, the eddy water that follows the stern of a ship.
Parede ou marachão para que agoa do mar não entre pella terra dentro, a water-gage, a sea-wall to keep off the overflowing of the water.
Instrumento para medir a altura e quantidade da agoa, water-gage, an instrument for measuring the quantity and depth of any water.
Nacente da agoa, the source, the spring head of a river, &c.
Temperar o vinho com agoa, to dilute wine, to allay it with water.
Agoas vertentes, a stream coming down a hill, caused by water or snow.
O que bebe agoa, an aquabibe, a water-drinker.
Agoa vai, verbatim, it is water goes: the word used in Portugal to give notice when any thing is thrown out of the window, for people in the street to avoid it.
Agoa pé, a small liquor made of grapes squeezed a second time, with water among them, after the wine has been pressed out; so called, as it were the washings of feet.
Não dar huma sede de agoa, not to give a glass of water; that is, to give nothing, to be niggardly in the highest degree.
Huma sede de agoa. See SEDE.
Lugar no qual há agoa para dar de beber ao gado, &c. a watering place for cattle, &c.
Agoa mel, a composition of honey, water and other ingredients.
Não me he agoa, nem sal, we say, he is neither kit, nor kin to me.
Agoa vidrada, a kind of sickness in hawks.
Agoa seca, the name given by some to salt-petre.
Vedor d'agoa. See VEDOR.
Causa de agoa ou pertencente a agoa, watery.
P. Tanto dá a agoa na pedra até que quebra, we say, a mouse in time may bite a cable in two. The Lat. say, gutta cavat lapidem, a drop can hollow a stone in time.
P. Quando o rio não faz ruído, ou não leva agoa, ou vai crecido, we say; still waters are the deepest.

P. a agoa o dá, a agoa o leva, what is got over the devil's back, will be spent under his belly; also lightly come, lightly go.
P. Na agoa envolta pesca o pescador, we say; to fish in troubled waters, to make a benefit of public troubles.
P. Fazer vir a agoa á boca, to make the teeth water.
P. Estar como o peixe n'agoa, to live in clover.
P. trazer a agoa para o moinho, to bring grist into the mill; that is, to turn all things to one's own advantage.
P. lá vai tudo pela agoa abaixo, all is lost, all is gone to wreck.
P. levar agoa ao mar, we say, to carry coals to Newcastle.
P. gato escaldado da agoa fria há medo, a burnt child dreads the fire.
P. não digas desta agoa não beberei, nem deste pão comerei; that is, let no man say, I will not do this, or the other thing, or come to such want, for no man knows what he may come to.
P. as agoas estão baixas, it is said of one that is at a low ebb.
P. queimada a casa, acede com agoa, it is too late to spare when all is spent.
P. com agoas passada não moe o moinho, the mill cannot grind with the water that is past.
AGOACE'IRO, f. m. a violent shower, or storm of rain.
AGOACE'NTO, a, adj. plashy, marshy, waterish.
AGOA'DA, f. f. watering, a carrying or fetching of water.
Fazer agoada, to take in fresh water. See also FRESCO. (in painting.)
AGOADEIRAS pennas, (in falconry) the flags which are four feathers in each wing of the hawk, the next to the six principal feathers, called in English farcel feathers.
AGOADE'IRO, f. m. a water-carrier, one that sells water.
AGOA'DO, a, adj. watered, &c. See AGOAR.
Cavallo agoado, a benumbed horse.
Gosto agoado, a pleasure mixed, or interrupted by grief and discontent.
AGOADO'R, f. m. a watering-pot.
AGOAGEM, f. f. the rapidity of currents in the sea.
AGOAME'NTO, f. m. the benumbing of a horse, or other beast.
AGOANTAR. See AGUANTAR.
AGOAPE'. See AGOA PE'.
AGOAR, v. a. to water, to sprinkle with water.
Agoar o vinho, to mix, to sophisticate wine.
Agoar, to spoil, to disturb, to interrupt.
Agoar, v. n. to be benumbed (speaking of horses, and other beasts.)
AGORDAR. See ESPERAR.
AGORDENTE. See AGOA ARDENTE.
AGORE'LHA, f. f. a mixture of grinded plaster with a glue made of pieces of old skins.
AGOE'IRO. See AUGUEIRO.
AGOMAR, v. n. to begin to bud.
AGOMPA, ou AGUMPA, a kind of poinard, like a scythe, used by the Moors.
AGONA'ES jogos, agonalia, sports, or games, celebrated formerly in Rome, in honour of Janus.
AGONIA, f. f. agony, pangs of death, last gasp.

Agonia, agony, extreme anguish, grief, trouble.
AGONIA'DO, a, adj. afflicted, vexed, &c. See
AGONIA'R, v. a. to teaze, to vex, to trouble, to fret.
Agoniár-se, v. r. to fret one's self, to fret.
AGONISTICO, a, adj. agonistical, or agonistic, pertaining to combating, or prize-fighting.
AGONIZANTE, p. a. dying, that is in a dying condition, at the point of death.
AGONIZANTES, agonizants, certain friars who assist those who are in agonies.
AGONIZAR, v. n. to agonize, to be in an agony, to be at the point of death.
Agonizar por alguma coisa, to long, to wish earnestly for a thing.
AGONOTHE'TA, f. m. agonotheta, an overseer of activity.
AGO'RA, adv. now, at present, at this time.
Elle ainda agora se foi, he went away just now.
Ate agora, till now.
Desde agora, henceforth.
Agora he o tempo, now is the time, now or never.
AGORENTAR. See AGUARENTAR.
AGOSTINHO, f. m. Austin, the proper name of a man.
AGO'STO, f. m. the month of August.
AGOURA'DO, a, adj. presaged, &c. See
AGOURA'R, v. a. to presage, to conjecture, to surmise what will happen, to forebode.
Agourar-se, v. r. to forebode, or to give omen of evil to one's self.
AGOURE'IRO, f. m. a soothsayer, a diviner. See AGOURO.
AGOURE'NTO, a, adj. addicted to omination, particularly to omens of bad luck.
AGO'URO, f. m. divination, or soothsaying, by the flight, or singing of birds, &c.
Agouro, a foreboding, a sign, token, or foretoken.
 When the Portuguese make use of this word, without adding bom or mão, good or ill, it is always taken for ill-boding; just as ominosus, in Lat.
AGRAÇO, f. m. unripe grapes; also verjuice.
Ser vindimado em agraso, (metaph.) to die under age.
AGRADA'DO, a, adj. pleased.
AGRADA'R, v. a. to please, to be acceptable. Lat. placere.
Agradar-se, v. r. to be pleased with a thing, to like, or love it.
AGRADAVEL, adj. pleasant, pleasing, agreeable.
Fazer-se agradavel, to create a liking.
AGRADAVELME'NTE, adv. pleasantly, alluringly.
AGRADECE'R, v. a. to thank, to return or give thanks, to acknowledge a kindness.
Agradecer o trabalho de alguém, to pay one for his work.
AGRADECIDAMENTE, adv. gratefully, thankfully.
AGRADECIDO, a, adj. grateful, thankful.
Fico-lhe muito agradecido, I am very much obliged to you.
P. ao agradecido mais do pedido, give to a grateful man more than he asks for.
AGRADECIME'NTO, f. m. thanks, acknowledgment, thankfulness.
Causa digna de agradecimento, thank-worthy.
AGRA'DO, f. m. liking; also an attractive, or charm.

Procurai-me hum criado de meu agrado, get me a servant to my liking.
agradu, an act of friendly kindness, heartiness, or readiness to oblige, or serve another.
Homem de bello agrado, an obliging man, an officious man.
Agrado, good liking, approbation, or consent.
Elle não está certo do agrado do publico, he is not enough confirmed in the good liking of the public.
AGRAMENTE, adv. roughly, severely.
AGRARIO, a, adj. ex. Ley agraria, the agrarian law.
AGRESTE, adj. rural, rustical; also untilled, wild, uninhabited; also fierce, cruel, rough.
AGRILAM, f. m. the herb called water-cresses; also a swelling in a horse's legs.
AGRIASTICO, (a jocular word.) See AGRESTE.
AGRICOLA, f. m. a husbandman, one that tills the ground. Lat.
AGRICULTAR. See CULTIVAR.
AGRICULTURA, f. f. agriculture, husbandry, tillage.
AGRIDULCE, half sweet half sour, between sweet and sour.
AGRIMONIA, f. f. agrimony, or liver-wort, a sort of plant.
AGRILHOADO, a, adj. fettered.
AGRILHOAR, v. a. to fether, to put in fetters.
AGRISOLAR. See ACRISOLAR.
AGRO. See AZEDO, and AGRURA.
Agro, f. m. tilled ground.
Agro, a, adj. rough; as caminho agro, a rough way.
Agro-doce. See AGRIDULCE.
AGRURA, f. f. roughness, unevenness; also sharpness, founess.
AGUA. See AGOA.
AGUACEIRO, &c. See AGOACEIRO, &c.
AGUADEIRAS, &c. See AGOADEIRAS, &c.
AGUANTAR o panno, ou aguantar, (a sea term) it is said of a ship that can carry all her sails well.
Elle não aguanta muito panno, (metaph.) a little matter is sufficient to make him take a pet, or to vex him.
AGUARDA. See ESPERAR.
Jogar o aguardar, a sort of play used by boys with their tops.
AGUARENADO, a, adj. cut, or pared about.
AGUARENTAR, v. a. to cut, or pare about. Lat. circumcidere.
Aguarentar a familia, to retrench one's expences, to abridge one's self, to live within compass.
Não ha nada que aguarentar, there is nothing superfluous, there is nothing to be retrenched.
AGUÇA, (in old records.) See PRESSA.
AGUÇADO, a, adj. pointed, &c. See AGUÇAR, v. a. to point, to make sharp at the end, to sharp, to whet, to spike.
Aguçar de ló, v. n. (a sea phrase) to loof, or luff.
AGUÇO'SO, (in old records.) See APRESADO, DILIGENTE.
AGUDAMENTE, adv. sharply, ingeniously, wittily; also shrilly, (speaking of sounds.)
AGUDEAS, ou AGUDES, winged ants.
AGUDEZA, f. f. sharpness, keenness.

agudeza de engenho, sharpness of wit.
Agudeza, cunning, craftiness.
Agudeza da vista, sharpness of sight.
Agudeza, ability, parts, or capacity.
Agudezas, smart repartees, quirks, shrewd words.
Agudeza sem juizo, a little quirk, a witty taunt, a mean conceit, a poor jest.
Agudeza, the sting, or point, in the last verse; as Agudeza do epigramma, the sting of an epigram.
Agudeza de hum discurso, the smartness, sharpness, or subtilty of a discourse.
AGUDINHO, a, adj. somewhat sharp.
AGUDO, a, adj. pointed, sharp, sharp-pointed, keen, acute, prickly.
Agudo, sharp, quick-sighted, or quick-witted.
Agudo de vista, quick-sighted.
Agudo, (speaking of sounds) shrill, sharp.
Febre aguda, a sharp, acute, or violent fever.
Accento agudo, the acute accent.
Angulo agudo, (in geometry) an acute angle.
AGUER, f. m. Aguer, a city of Africa, at the foot of mount Atlas, on a promontory which was anciently called Visugrum. It was taken by the Portuguese in the year 1536. Not long after Cheriff Mahomet sent his son with 50,000 men to besiege it, and he himself soon followed with a numerous reinforcement, and took it, though with the loss of 18,000 men; and to be revenged he put all he found in the city to the sword: and governor Monroi, and those who retired to the tower, were made prisoners. The said governor's daughter, Donna Mencia, with whom Mahomet fell passionately in love, after much solicitation, consented to marry him; but she proving with child, his other wives poisoned her; yet, out of regard for her memory, Mahomet gave her father his liberty.
AGUIA, f. f. an eagle. Lat. aquila.
Agua imperial, the imperial eagle.
Agua insignia militar dos antigos Romanos, the Roman eagles.
Olhos de aguiá, piercing eyes, good eyes.
Entendimento de aguiá, a piercing wit, a transcendent genius.
Agua nova ou pequena, an eaglet, a young eagle.
Pedra d'aguiá, eagle stone, found in the eagle's nest, of the bigness of an egg, with another stone loose in it, good for women in hard labour. Plin.
Agua, the constellation called aquila or eagle.
Agua negra, a saker.
Agua aquatica, the fowl-killing eagle, a kind of eagle living chiefly about fens and lakes; gull, or osprey.
Pão de aguiá, ou de aguiá. See PA'O.
Agua branca, sublimate.
Agua volante, sal ammoniac.
Cavalleiros da aguiá branca, an order of knights in Poland, called the White Eagle, instituted by Uladislaus V. in the year 1325.
Cavalleiros da aguiá preta, the knights of the Black Eagle in Prussia.
Agua, a large piece of cannon in the ancient artillery.
AGUIEIRO, f. m. a cross piece of timber, to hold fast large beams and keep them together, a brace.
AGUILA, ou pão de aguiá. See PA'O.
AGUILHADDA, f. f. a pointed stick to prick oxen forward, a goad.

AGUILHAM, f. m. a little iron sting fixed at the end of a goad.
Aguilhão de mosca, &c. the sting of a fly, &c.
Aguilhão, (metaph.) a spur, or motive, an incentive.
AGUILHOADO, a, adj. pricked forward, &c. See
AGUILHOAR, v. a. to goad, to prick forward, to sting.
Aguilhoar (metaph.) to incite, to spur on, to stir up, to egg on.
AGUISADO, ex. De aguizado, (in ancient records) on purpose, in spite. See also INCONVENIENTE.
AGULHA, f. f. a needle.
Trabalho de agulha, needle work, or knit work.
Agulha de ensardar, a pack, or packing-needle.
Agulha de fazer meias, a knitting needle, a wire which women use in knitting.
Meias de agulha, knit-stockings.
Fazer pregas com agulha, to gather a wrist-bend.
Agulha com que as mulheres apartão os cabellos, a bodkin, wherewith women shed or part their hair.
Peixe agulha, the needle-fish.
Abaixar huma cataracta com a agulha, to couch a cataract with the needle.
Agulha de marear, the needle of a sea-compass; also the mariners compass.
Rosa da agulha de marear, the fly of the mariners compass.
Agulha do lagar, a large piece of timber fixed in the middle of two circular stones in the oil-press.
Agulha, ou obelisco. See OBELISCO.
Cabo das agulhas, one of the promontories in the Cape of Good Hope.
Agulha de pastor, the herb called shepherd's needle, or Venus's comb.
Agulha, (among cannoneers) a primer, or priming iron, a pointed iron to pierce the cartridge through the touch-hole of a piece of ordnance.
AGULHADA, f. f. a needle-full.
AGULHEIRA, f. f. the herb called shepherds needle.
AGULHEIRO, f. m. a needle-case; also a needle-maker; also a scaffolding-hole.
Barrete ou pão que se mete no agulheiro. See ANDAIME.
Agulheiro, a breathing-hole, a vent, an air-hole.
AGULHETA, f. f. the tag or point of metal put to the end of a string. Arab.
Por huma agulbeta, to tag, to fit any thing with an end or point.
AGULHETEIRO, f. m. one who makes tags, or points.
AGULHINHA, f. f. a little needle.
AGUMIA. See AGOMIA.
AH, interj. of interrogation, admiration, &c. as, Ab fim? Is it so? Ab! que de deos! O strange! O wonderful! Ab! que del-rey. See AQUI DEL-REY.
AHI, adv. there, in that place.
Abi mesmo, (in that very place.
Abi aonde, where.
Por abi, that way.
Não vai por abi o gato ás filbozes, (a vulgar saying) you go the wrong way to work, you take the wrong course, or method.
AI, ou AY, interj. of grief, or pain, wo! alas! O! oh!
Ai de mim, wo is me.

Ai de ti, wo to you.

It is also used as a substantive; as, grandes ais, wailing, lamenting, howling.

P. quando o enfermo diz ai, o medico diz dai, when the sick man cries wo, the doctor says, bestow.

Dar ais, to groan, to lament.

Dar grandes ais, to cry, to wail, to howl.

Ai sometimes denotes joy, as, ai que prazer! oh joy!

Sometimes denotes admiration, or surprise, lack-a-day; sometimes wish, as, ai, se nos tiveramos tal fortuna! O, that we were so happy.

Ai, que desgraça! O sad!

Ai, que fortuna! O brave.

Ala. See AYA.

Alaia. See AYAYA.

AID de campo, (from the French aide de camp), aid de camp to a field officer.

AINDA, adv. yet, still.

Elle ainda não veio, he is not come yet.

Elle ainda está na cama, he is a-bed still.

Não, nem ainda por cem libras, no, not for a hundred pounds.

Ainda quando, ou ainda que, though, although.

Elle ainda agora chegou, he came but just now.

Ainda não, not yet.

Ainda o fallar nisto seria vergonha, it were a shame even to speak of it.

Ainda bem! well done. Lat. o factum bene.

Ainda bem que assim seja, I wish it may be, or happen so.

Ainda bem que vós, &c. it happened well for you that, &c.

Ainda mal que assim será, it will unluckily happen, or be so.

Ainda mais essa! how now! still more! further yet!

Ainda que lhe pese, will he nill he.

Ainda assim, ou com tudo, nevertheless, or for all that.

Ainda assim sempre elle foi louvavel, he was praise-worthy for all that.

AIO. See AYO.

AIPO, f. m. selery, or celery, a sort of plant; also smallage, a sort of parsley.

Aipo bravo, the herb called lovage.

AIPYI, an herb in the Brasils, whose roots serve to make bread and wine. There are several kinds of it; but the better is one called by them machaxera.

AIRADO. See EIRADO.

Mozo da vida airada, a light inconstant young fellow.

AIRAM. See AYRAM.

AIROSAMENTE, adv. with grace, handsomely, becomingly.

AIRO'SO, a, adj. comely, graceful, genteel.

AIVACA, f. f. (in agriculture,) earth-board, the plough-board that turns over the earth.

AIVAM, f. m. a kind of bird called martinet.

AIVECA. See AIVACA.

AJOELHADO, a, adj. kneeling upon one's knees.

AJOELHAR, v. n. ou Ajoelhar-se, v. r. to kneel, or kneel down.

AJORCADO, (a jocose word,) ex. Mal ajorcado. See DESAIROSO.

AJOUZADO, a, adj. coupled, &c. See AJOUZAR, v. a. to couple dogs together with a couple.

AJOUZO, f. m. a couple; to couple dogs withal.

AJUDA, f. f. help, assistance, aid, succour, relief, support.

Com ajuda de Deos, by God's help.

Ajuda, a glyster.

Ajuda de camera, a valet de chambre.

Ajuda de custo, a gift over and above wages, a voluntary supply to bear one's charges.

AJUDA'DO, a, adj. helped, &c. See AJUDAR.

AJUDANTE, f. m. (a military word,) an adjutant.

AJUDAR, v. a. to aid, assist, help, succour.

Ajudar á missa, to attend a priest while he says mass.

Ajudar-se, v. r. to help one's self; also to use a thing, to make use of it.

AJUDICAR. See ADJUDICAR.

AJUELHADO, &c. See AJOELHADO, &c.

AJUIZADO, p. of

AJUIZAR, v. n. ex. Ajuizar de huma cousa, to judge of a thing, to pass one's judgment upon it.

Ajuizar-se, v. imp. ex. Que se ajuizou delle? What was thought of him?

AJUNTA'DO, a, adj. joined, &c. See AJUNTAR.

AJUNTAMENTO, f. m. conjunction, a joining, or meeting together. See also ACRECENTAMENTO, and CO'RTES.

Ajuntamento, carnal, carnal copulation, or company with a woman.

Ajuntamento, an assembly or multitude, band, riot, company.

Só havia hum ajuntamento de vadios e marotos, there were none but tag-rag and bob-tail; or a company of scoundrels.

AJUNTA'R, v. a. to assemble, to match, to couple, to join together. See also ACRECENTAR.

Ajuntar, to hoard, to treasure, to lay up. (Speaking of money.)

Ajuntar dinheiro por qualquer meyo que seja, to rake and scrape for money.

Ajuntar as boys no arado, to tie the oxen to the plough.

Ajuntar as mesas, to board together.

Ajuntar as camas, to be bed-fellows.

Ajuntar em breves palavras hum discurso, to cut short a discourse.

Ajuntar, to collect.

Ajuntar, to join, to unite together, to add one to another in continuity, as to fit and join together several pieces of wood.

Ajuntar-se, v. r. to gather together, to be assembled.

Ajuntar-se em matrimonio, to join, to be united in marriage.

AJURAMENTADO, a, adj. that has been put to his oath.

AJURAMENTAR alguem, v. a. to make another take an oath to stand to what is agreed on both sides, to tender him the oath.

AJUSTADO, a, adjusted, &c. according to the v. AJUSTAR.

Ajustado, proper, moderate, wise; also proper, fit, convenient.

Fallar ajustado, to speak properly, or moderately.

Homem ajustado, a moderate, or sober man.

AJUSTAMENTO, f. m. order, disposition; also reconciliation, reconciliation, a making friends.

Ajustamento, an agreement, a contract, articles agreed upon.

AJUSTAR, v. a. to adjust, to fit a thing to another; also to make fit, or apt, to prepare.

Ajustar as contas, to settle accounts, to make accounts even.

Ajustar, to covenant, bargain, or agree, to come to terms.

Ajustar, to treat of, or about, to be upon a treaty.

Ajustar a paz, to treat about the peace.

Ajustar hum casamento, to treat about a match.

Ajustar, to reconcile, to make friends.

Ajustar-se, v. r. to agree in any bargain, to contract; also to reconcile one's self, to make one's peace, to be friends again; also to be contracted to any one. (Speaking of a marriage.)

Ajustar-se, to conform one's self, to comply with.

Ajustar-se aos tempos, to conform to the times.

AJU'STE, f. m. agreement, contract.

Ajuste de contas, the act of settling an account.

AL, (in old Portuguese) otherwise, and sometimes another thing.

P. o que não pode al ser, deves soffrer, what can't be cured must be endured.

Al não disse, he said nothing else, he said no more.

Al is also an article of the Arabic language, which they use like the in English, before the words of both genders and numbers; the greatest part of the Arabian words that are in the Portuguese language, are compounded with the article al, as in the words almofada, a cushion, &c. It is also a particle prefixed to some words, to give them a more emphatical signification; as we shall see by and by.

ALA, f. f. the wing of an army.

Ala de namorados, the wing of an army composed of volunteers.

Ala, the herb enula campina.

Ordem da ala, ou da aza de S. Miguel, a military order in Portugal, instituted by king Alphonso Henriques, A. C. 1167; but it was extinguished at his death. See Barnard de Britto.

ALABANCA. See ALAVANCA.

ALABADO, ALABAR. See LOUVADO, LOUVAR.

ALABARCA, f. f. See ABARCA.

ALABARDA, f. f. an halberd, or halbard.

ALABARDEIRO, f. f. an halberdier, an halberd-bearer.

ALABASTRINO, a, adj. white as alabaster.

ALABASTRO, f. m. alabaster. Lat. alabastrum.

ALACOR, f. m. See CARTAMO.

ALACRAL, f. m. See LACRAL.

ALACRIDADE, f. f. alacrity.

ALA'DO, a, adj. winged.

ALAGADIÇO, a, adj. marshy, fenny, moory, miry.

ALAGADO, a, ad. covered with water, overflowed.

ALAGADO'R, f. m. a great eater, a spendthrift.

ALAGAMENTO, f. m. an overflow, an inundation.

ALAGAR, v. a. to overflow.

Os rios alagam os campos, the rivers overflow the fields.

Alagar-se, v. r. to be overflowed.

ALAGO'A. See LAGO'A.

ALAGRANDE, ex. Viver alagrande, to live sumptuously.

ALAM, f. m. a mastiff-dog, particularly a bull-dog.

ALAMAR, f. m. a filken, gold, or silver loop loop to lace cloaths with. From the Hebrew root Alam, to tie.

ALAMBAZADO, a, adj. (a jocose word) shapeless, ill-shaped.
ALAMBE'L. See LAMBEL.
ALAMBIQUE. See LAMBIQUE.
ALAMERDA, f. f. the black poplar, or alder.
ALAMBERE, f. m. amber, a yellow, transparent substance of a gummy quality and attractive nature, drawing to it straws, &c.
ALAMEDA, f. f. See ALEMEDA.
ALAMO. See ALEMO.
ALAMPADA. See LAMPADA.
ALANCEADO, a, adj. wounded with a lance or spear.
ALANCEAR, v. a. to wound with a lance or spear; from lança, a lance.
ALANDRO. See ELOENDRO.
ALANHAADO, a, adj. paunched, &c. See ALANHAAR, v. a. to paunch, to pierce, or rip the belly, to take out the paunch. Lat. extenterare.
ALANOS, f. m. p. Alains, a barbarous people, who overspread Europe and Africa in the IVth century.
ALANTOIDES, (with anatomists) allantois, or allantoides, one of the coats belonging to a child in the womb.
ALAPARDADO. See AGACHADO, and DISSIMULADO.
ALAPARDAR-SE. See AGACHAR-SE, and DISSIMULAR.
ALAUQUECA. See LAQUECA.
ALAR, v. a. to hawl, to push, to pull.
Alar buma corda. See ICAR.
ALARDE. See ALARDO.
ALARDEADO, a, adj. mentioned, &c. See ALARDEAR, v. a. to represent, to lay before, to mention; also to boast, to make a shew. See also LARDEAR.
ALARDO, ou alarde, f. m. a muster, a review of forces. Arabic.
Fazer alardo, to muster, to review forces.
Alardo, shew, parade.
Fazer alardo de suas riquezas, to make a shew of one's riches.
ALARGADO, a, adj. dilated, extended, &c. according to the v. alargar.
ALARGAMENTO. See DILATAÇAM.
ALARGAR, v. a. to spread, to open, to widen, to stretch, to extend or enlarge, to make bigger; also to prolong, to make a thing last longer.
Alargar o tempo, to drive off, or protract time.
Alargar o passo, to mend one's pace, to go faster.
Alargar-se, v. r. to widen, to grow wide, to extend itself.
Alargar-se, to continue or dwell upon a subject.
Alargar-se, to dare, to be bold, confident or impudent, to go so far as to, &c.
Alargar-se com algum, to impart a secret, to put one in trust with it.
ALARIDO, f. m. a cry, clamour, or outcry, a shout. From Alla, i. e. God, the cry de guerre among the Turks, Moors, and Arabs.
Alarido de marinheiros. See CELEUMA.
ALAR-SE, v. r. to ascend, to climb, to get, or come up.
Alar-se, (metaph.) to rise higher, to advance one's self to, to mount.
ALARVARIA, f. f. blockishness, silliness.
ALARVE, f. m. a Moor, an Arab; also an ignorant, cross, or ruffical man.
Alarve no comer. See COMILAM.

P. come como hum alarve, we say, he eats like a thresher.
ALARVES, country-people.
ALASTRADO, ALASTRAR. See LAS-STRADO, LASTRAR.
ALATINADO, a, adj. latinized.
ALATINAR, ou LATINIZAR, v. a. to latinize.
ALAVANCA, f. f. a hand-spike, a lever for moving heavy bodies.
Alavanca de ferro, rams head, an iron lever to heave up great stones with.
ALAVAM, f. m. (in the province of Alentejo) a flock of female sheep that give suck.
Alavao de patos, a flock of geese.
ALAUDE, f. m. a lute.
ALAZAM cavallo, a sorrel horse.
Cavallo alazaõ tostado, a dark sorrel horse.
Alazaõ claro, a bright sorrel horse.
Alazaõ acefo, a red bay horse.
P. alazaõ tostado antes morto que cançado, a dark sorrel horse will die before he will jade; so good an opinion the Portuguese have of that colour.
ALBACOR, ALBACORA, or ALBECORA, f. f. a fish like the tunny, which follows the ships.
ALBAFAR, ou ALBAFORA, f. f. a large fish on the coast of Portugal.
ALBAFO, f. m. the root of the herb called galangal, or water-flag.
ALBANEZ, f. m. (in the province of Alentejo.) See PEDREIRO.
ALBARDA, f. f. a pannel, or a pack-saddle. Arabic.
P. meter a palha na albarda, to cheat or impose upon one.
ALBARDAM, f. m. a large saddle.
ALBARDAR, v. a. to put a pack-saddle upon a beast.
ALBARDEIRA, ex. rosa albardeira. See ROSA.
ALBARDEIRO, f. m. one who makes pack-saddles; also a botcher, a clumsy workman.
ALBARDILHA, f. f. a kind of snare to catch hawks with; also a little pack-saddle.
Enganar por albardilhas, to decoy, to trepan.
ALBARRA cebola, a wild onion.
ALBARRADA, f. f. a flower-pot with two handles; also a sort of water-pot.
Albarrada, a dry wall of stones without mortar; also a kind of earthen walls used by the Moors in approaching the walls of the towns they besiege, to shelter themselves from the enemy's firing.
ALBERCA, ou evielá, f. f. a sort of trench or drain to draw away rain-water.
ALBERGADO, a, adj. lodged, &c. See ALBERGAR, v. a. to receive into one's house, to lodge, to entertain one as a guest.
Albergar, v. n. See Albergar-se.
ALBERGARIA, f. f. lodging, an inn, a dwelling place; from the German herbergen, or from the Arabic berege.
ALBERGAR-SE, v. a. to resort to a place, to lodge, to inn.
ALBERGUE, f. m. See ALBERGARIA.
ALBERNOZ, f. m. a sort of upper garment close before, with only a place for the head to come out, and a hood to it, made of a sort of stuff that turns off water, so that none goes through. It was formerly worn instead of a cloak, and chiefly by the Moors, being invented by a wild sort of people among them, called Zenetas, who live always in the fields.

ALBOGINEO. See ALBUGINEO.
ALBOHERA. See ALBUFEIRA.
ALBOQUORQUE, ALBOQUORQUEIRO, f. m. See ALBRICOQUE, ALBRICOQUEIRO.
ALBORCER. See EMBORCAR.
ALBORES, f. m. p. beginning; as os al-borces do mundo, the beginning of the world.
ALBOROTAR, &c. See ALFOROTAR, &c.
ALBRICOQUE, f. m. apricot, a sort of fruit. Some call it fruta nova.
ALBRICOQUEIRO, f. m. apricot-tree.
ALBUFEIRA, f. f. a frith, an arm of the sea, a place overflowed with sea-water; meer, or marsh, full of salt-water; from al and buor, i. e. small sea. Arabic.
ALBUGINEO, a, adj. albugineous, belonging to the white of the eye. (In anatomy.)
ALBUQUE'RQUE, f. m. (corrupted from the Lat. alba quercus) a walled town of the Spanish Estremadura, not far from the frontiers of Portugal. The town was built about the middle of the XIIIth century. In the year 1705, it was taken by the Portuguese, who kept possession of it till the peace of Utrecht in 1713. It is also the name of an ancient family in Portugal.
ALCAÇAR, ALCACER, ou ALCAZAR, f. m. the name given by the Moors to their royal palaces. It is used in Portuguese for any fortrefs, castle, or palace.
Alcaçar ou Alcacer quivir, (i. e. a great castle, in the Moorish language) the capital city of the province of Algar, upon the coast of Barbary, famous for the battle of Alcaçar, where Don Sebastian, king of Portugal lost the field, and his life. Alphonso V. king of Portugal, won it in the year 1448, and eleven years after the Moors besieged it, but were forced to quit their design with loss and shame. Marimol.
Alcaçar ceguer, (i. e. a little castle, in the Moorish language) a city of the province of Habet, in the kingdom of Fez. Alphonso V. took it in 1458; but king John III. quitted it in 1540, as being of no advantage to him.
Alcaçar, Alcacer, ou Alcacer do sal, a village of Portugal, where the famous mathematician, Peter Nunnes, took his birth. He lived in the XVIIth century.
ALCAÇARIAS, f. f. p. a place in Lisbon where the tanners live. It was formerly the Moorish palace.
ALCAÇER. See ALCAÇAR.
Alcacer, f. m. green barley, or grass cut for horses, &c. Arabic. See also FERRAA.
ALCAÇEVA. See ALCAÇOVA.
ALCACHOFRA, f. f. an artichoke, a sort of plant. Arabic.
ALCACHOFRA'DO, a, adj. raised and enriched with flowers, foliages, &c. (speaking of any stuff or cloth of gold, silver, or silk) this sort of work is called Alcachofres.
ALCACHOFRAL, f. m. the place where artichokes grow.
ALCACHOFRE. See ALCACHOFRA, and ALCACHOFRADO.
ALCAÇOVA, f. f. an old fortrefs, or castle. Arab.
Alcaçova, (in the province of Minho) a den, a cave.
ALCAÇUZ, f. m. liquorish, a plant. Arabic.

ALCADETE, f. m. a sort of earthen pot used by vintners.

ALCAEST, ou ALKAEST, f. m. (among chemists) alkahelt, an universal menstruum, which is capable to resolve or reduce all manner of bodies into a liquor of its own substance.

ALCA'ICHAS, f. f. p. (in a ship) the space between the wales.

ALCAIDARIA, f. f. the office and power of an alcaide; which see.

ALCA'IDE, f. m. a magistrate, of which there are these principal sorts.

Alcaide mór, the governor or constable of a fort, town, or castle.

Alcaide que prende, a bailiff.

Alcaide de aldeia, a mayor, bailiff, or headborough of a country town.

Alcaide mór de justiça, a lord chief-justice.

Alcaide, (metaph.) any thing that is charming, or bewitching.

Du Cange says, that alcaide is a sort of judge or minister, much the same as a provost, first instituted by the Saracens.

Alcaide is derived from the Arabic words al, i. e. the, and cayid, chief, leader, or præfect.

ALCALI, or ALKALI, f. m. alkali, or alkaline salt.

ALCAMO'NIA, f. f. (in the province of Minho) a mixture of honey and flour.

ALCAMPHO'R, f. m. camphire, the gum of a tree in the East-Indies; from the Arabic casur.

ALCAMPHORA'DO, a, adj. camphorated.

ALCAMPHORA'R, v. a. to mix or impregnate with camphire.

ALCANÇA'DO, a, adj. obtained, &c. See v. ALCANÇAR.

Estar alcançado, to be poor, to be behind hand in the world.

Estar alcançado nas contas, to be in debt, to be behind.

Alcançado, puzzled.

ALCANÇADURA, f. f. interfering, a wound which horses receive by rubbing their feet one against another in running.

ALCANÇAR, v. a. to reach, to come to, to obtain, to get, to compass.

Alcançar, to understand, to conceive, to reach or apprehend the meaning of a thing.

Não alcançei a saber disso, I could not know it.

Alcançar, to overtake; as,

Anda tão depressa que he impossível de alcançá-lo, he walks so fast, that it is impossible to overtake him.

Alcançar, to come to, to arrive at a thing one aims at.

Alcançar a alguém nas contas, to prove an account is short.

Alcançar o que huma pessoa deseja, to obtain or compass one's wish, to compass one's ends.

Alcançar por experiencia, to know by experience.

P. huma desgraça alcança outra, one mischief draws on another, or comes upon the neck of another.

Tanto fiz que por fim alcançei delle tudo o que eu queria saber, I have so pumped him, that he told me all at last.

Alcançar-se, v. r. to interfere, to knock and rub one heel against another, as some horses do.

O mal de si se alcança, misfortunes come without being looked for. [sily known.]

Facilmente se alcança a saber isto, this is ea-

ALCANÇE, f. m. the action of overtaking, or coming up with a person. See also ALCANÇADURA.

Dar alcance a alguém, to overtake one.

Hir em alcance de alguém, to go after one, in order to overtake him.

Dar alcance ao que se deseja, to obtain or compass one's wish.

Despachar hum alcance, to send an express in order to reach the post.

ALGANÇOS, f. m. p. (in falconry) those claws of a hawk that are greater than the others.

ALCA'NDORA, f. f. (in falconry) a perch for a hawk. Arab.

Pôr o falcão na alcandora, to cast a hawk to the perch.

ALCANFOR, &c. See ALCAMPHOR, &c.

ALCA'NTARA, f. f. an ancient and strong city of Spain. It is noted for an order of knights, who take the denomination of Alcantara, formerly knights of the Pear-tree. Alcantara is an Arabic word, signifying bridge, and this city was so called on account of the bridge six hundred and seventy feet long, and twenty-eight wide, standing on six pillars, built by Trajan. It is also the name of a place and river near Lisbon.

ALCANTILA'DO, a, adj. steep, of difficult ascent.

ALCANZIA, f. f. a thin pot full of ashes or flowers. See

Jogo de cavallo em que se faz tiro com alcanzias, a sport used in Portugal, where they have thin pots made, and riding, throw them at one another, where they break on the armour.

Alcanzia de fogo, a pot full of wild fire to throw among enemies, in the nature of our hand-granadoes.

ALCAPARRA, f. f. a shrub bearing fruit called capers; also the fruit capers. Lat. capparis.

ALCAPARRA'L, f. m. a place where capers grow.

ALCAR, f. m. a sort of cistus called cistus humilis.

ALCARAVAM, f. m. the fowl called a bittern. Arabic.

Pernas de alcaravam, long spindle shanks.

ALCARAVIA, f. f. caraway seed. Arab.

ALCARAVIZ, f. m. (among smiths) the hollow iron, through which the wind goes into the forge.

ALCARRADA, f. f. a certain motion of the birds of prey before clawing their prey; see also ARRECADAS.

ALCATEA, f. f. (speaking of wolves or foxes) a herd or sculk; as, alcatea de lobos, a herd of wolves; alcatea de raposas, a sculk of foxes.

ALCATIFA, f. f. a carpet. Arabic.

Alcatifa de ambas as faces, a carpet wrought on both sides.

Alcatifa que se põem á roda de huma cama, throno, &c. a foot-piece.

ALCATIFA'DO, a, adj. spread with carpets.

ALCATIFA'R, v. a. to adorn or spread with carpets.

ALCATIRA. See ALQUITIRA.

ALCA'TRA, f. f. rump of beef.

ALCATRAM, f. m. naphtha, a liquid substance flowing out of the earth in some places like melted pitch, and therefore sometimes improperly taken for pitch, and burns so fierce that it is unquenchable. In some places they use it about ships instead of pitch and tar.

Alcatrao, tar.

Agua de alcatrao, tar-water.

ALCATRA'TE, f. m. part of the keel or bottom of a ship.

ALCATRA'Z f. m. a sea-fowl, like a sea-gull; also a bone-setter. Arabic.

ALCATROA'DO, a, adj. daubed with naphtha; also tarred, or done over with tar.

Alcatroado de ouro, (metaph.) gilded, or gilt.

ALCATROA'R, v. a. to daub with naphtha; also to tar.

ALCATRU'Z, f. m. a bucket fixed to the wheel of a water-mill, &c. to draw up water in.

ALCATRUZA'DO, a, adj. crooked; also crook-backed.

ALCATRUZA'R, v. a. to crook, to make crooked.

ALCAVA'IA. See SISA.

ALCA'XAS, f. m. p. (in a ship) the spaces between the wales.

A'LCE, f. m. an elk, a strong swift beast of the stag kind, as tall as a horse, and in shape like an hart, the male bearing two very large horns, bending towards the back, and, as the elephant, having the articulations of its legs so close, and the ligaments so hard, as to have the joints less pliable than those of other animals.

ALCE'DONES. See ALCYON.

ALCHECHE'NGES, f. m. alkakengy, or winter cherries.

ALCHERIVIA. See CHERIVIA.

ALCHIMIA. See ALQUIMIA.

ALCHIMILLA. See STELLARIA.

ALCHIMISTA, &c. See ALQUIMISTA, &c.

ALCO'BA. See ALCOVA.

ALCOBA'ÇA, f. f. a small town in Portugal, situated in the Portuguese Estremadura, between the two rivers Coa and Baça, from which it took the name. It is famous for the royal monastery of the order of St. Bernard, which is there, and is the burial place of several kings of Portugal.

ALCO'FA, f. f. a flag basket, a basket made of flag mat-weed, &c. but not of wicker, or twigs of ozier; because those are called cestos. Also a pimp.

ALCOFINHA, f. f. a little basket, &c. See ALCOFA.

ALCOHO'L, f. m. alcohol, chiefly used to signify the purest spirit of wine, entirely free from phlegm (in chemistry) from the Arabic alcbl.

ALCOHOLIZA'DO, a, adj. alcoholized.

ALCOHOLIZA'R, v. a. (in chemistry) to alcoholize, to subtilize or reduce to an alcohol, or to make a highly dephlegmated spirit, or impalpable powder.

A operação de alcoholizar, alcoholization.

ALCOMONIA, f. f. a sort of dainty bits.

ALCONA'DO, a, adj. (in venery or hunting) fallow colour. Lat. fulvus.

ALCORAM, f. m. Alcoran, the book of the law of Mahomet. From al, the, and coran, of carà, to read. Arabic.

Alcorao, alcoran, a slender and high turret, which the Turks generally build for preaching and ornament near their mosques.

ALCO'RÇA, f. f. a paste or dough made of fine sugar. From the Arabic article al, the, and carere, to knead.

ALCORCOVA, ALCORCOVA'DO. See CORCOVA, CORCOVADO.

ALCORCOVA'R-SE, v. r. to bow down, to grow crooked.

ALCOROITA,

- ALCOROVA, f. f. caraway-seed. Arabic. Spanish, alcara-vea.
- ALCOVA, f. f. an alcove, a separate part of the room where the bed stands. Arab.
- ALCOUCE, f. m. ex. Casa de alcouce, a bawdy-house, stew, a brothel.
- Dar casa de alcouce*, to keep a bawdy-house.
- ALCOVITEIRO, v. n. to procure, to pimp or bawd. Lat. lascinari.
- ALCOVITEIRA, f. f. a bawd. Arabic. Lat. lena.
- ALCOVITEIRO, f. m. a pimp, or pander. Lat. leno.
- ALCOVITEIRINHO, f. m. a little pimp.
- ALCOVITERIA, f. f. the office of procuring or pimping, a bawd's trade.
- ALCUNHA, f. f. a surname. Arabic. Also a nick-name.
- ALCYON, HALCYON, ou MAÇARIÇO, f. m. alcyon, or halcyon, the bird called the king's fisher.
- ALCYONEO, a, adj. of, or pertaining to the halcyon, or king's fisher.
- Ave alcionea*, the alcyon, or king's fisher.
- Dias alcioneos*, the time the king's fisher hatches, in which the sea is calm and still; also quiet, peaceable times. (metaph.) Lat. alcedonia.
- ALÇA, f. f. a piece of leather placed between the last and upper leather, to make the shoes a little wider.
- ALÇACUE'LHO, f. m. a veil formerly used to cover the neck.
- ALÇADA, f. f. the chief civil magistrate in every city and town of note.
- Alçada*, the jurisdiction and power which some judges of appeal in Portugal have upon such places, and within such limits and bounds.
- ALÇADO, a, adj. raised higher, &c. See ALÇAR.
- ALÇALA, f. f. an earthen cup to give drink in, to the poor people.
- ALÇAPAM, f. m. a trap-door.
- ALÇAPE, f. m. a gin or snare used by sportsmen.
- ALÇAPERNA, f. f. See CAMBAPE.
- ALÇAPREMA. See BOTICAM.
- ALÇAR, v. a. to raise higher, (speaking of walls, or other buildings.)
- Alçar os olhos*, to lift up the eyes.
- Alçar algúem a honras*, to advance one, to raise him to some honours.
- Alçar a selva*, (in printing) the taking down the printed sheets from the poles on which they are dried, and folding them in order to their being formed into books.
- Alçar-se*, v. a. to raise one's house or building higher.
- Alçar-se com seu edificio*, idem.
- Alçar-se com dividas*, to turn bankrupt.
- O que se alça com dividas*, a bankrupt.
- Alçar-se*, to revolt, to rebel, to rise against.
- ALDAVA. See ALDRAVA.
- ALDEA, f. f. a village. Arabic.
- Aldea*, (among the wild people of the Brazils) a thatched house.
- P. estar na aldea, e não ver as casas*, to be like the butcher that looked for his knife when he had it in his mouth.
- ALDEAM, f. m. a country-man.
- ALDEAMSPINHO, idem.
- ALDRABA. See ALDRAVA.
- ALDRABAM, f. m. (in a coach) that piece to which the main braces are fastened.
- ALDRAVA, f. f. the knocker of a door. Arabic. Also the latch of a door.
- Levantar a aldrava de huma porta*, to unlatch a door.
- ALDROPE. See GUALDROPE.
- ALEAR, v. n. to clap or flap the wings, to flutter, to flap, to ply the wings with noise.
- ALEGRIAM, f. m. garden rosemary.
- ALECTO, f. f. one of the furies of hell.
- ALECTORIA, f. f. alectoria, the cock-stone, or capon-stone.
- ALEFRIZ, f. m. a concavity made, in building ships, to place the side planks.
- ALEGAÇAM, &c. See ALLEGACAM, &c.
- ALEGORIA, &c. See ALLEGORIA, &c.
- ALEGRAM, f. m. a great joy, a sudden joy.
- ALEGRA, v. a. to rejoice, to fill with joy, to gladden. Lat. hilarare. See also LEGRAR.
- Alegar-se*, v. r. to rejoice, to be glad or merry, to receive pleasure. Lat. letari.
- ALEGRE, adj. merry, cheerful; also jocund, entertaining, agreeable, delightful. See also ESPERTO.
- ALEGREMENTE, adv. joyfully, gladly, cheerfully, merrily.
- ALEGRETE, adj. somewhat merry, or cheerful.
- Alegrete, f. m. a case of wood or stone filled with earth, wherein herbs, flowers, &c. are planted. They are used in gardens, windows, &c.
- ALEGRIA, f. f. joy, gladness.
- Naõ caber em si de alegria*, to rejoice exceedingly, to be over-joyed.
- ALEIJADO, a, adj. lamed, maimed.
- ALEIJAM, f. m. lameness, hurt in the legs, arms, &c.
- ALEIJAR, v. a. to lame, maim, or cripple.
- ALEIVE, f. m. See ALEIVOSIA.
- ALEIVOSAMENTE, adv. treacherously, calumniously, falsely, slanderously.
- ALEIVOSIA, f. f. treachery, calumny, slander, groundless accusation.
- ALEIVOSO, a, adj. calumnious, falsely, reproachful, slanderous, treacherous.
- ALELI. See GOIVO.
- ALELUIA. See ALLELUIA.
- ALEM, prep. beyond, on the further side. Lat. ultra.
- D'aquem e d'alem*, on this side, and the other.
- Passar alem*, to go beyond, or over.
- Nadar alem de*, &c. to swim over, or beyond, &c.
- Alem disso, ou alem de que*, besides, besides that, moreover, more than that.
- ALEMANÇA, f. f. Almanza, a little town in the province of New Castile, in Spain. Here the confederate army, commanded by the earl of Galway, was defeated by the combined armies of France and Spain.
- ALEMANHA, f. f. Germany. Charlemagne, the son of Pepin, and king of France, was the founder of the German Empire, in the year 800 of the Christian æra.
- ALEMAM, f. m. a German.
- ALEMBRAR. See LEMBRAR.
- ALEME'DA, f. f. a poplar grove; also a walk planted with poplars, or any other trees.
- ALEMO, f. m. the poplar-tree.
- Alemo branco*, the white poplar.
- Alemo negro*, the black poplar, or alder.
- Alemo alvâr*, so they call in some places the beech-tree.
- ALEMOA, f. f. a German woman.
- ALEMTEJO, f. m. one of the largest provinces of Portugal. Several places of it yield fine marble, as the white marble of Estremos and Viana; the green stone of Borba, and Villa Viçosa, &c. The exuberant plenty of this province, especially with regard to the necessaries for the support of an army, is the reason that it is the usual theatre of war. It takes the name of Alemtejo from its situation, lying with regard to Estremadura, and the other more northern provinces, which at first were conquered, on the farther side of the river Tagus: it is watered both by that and the Guadiana.
- ALENS, f. m. p. ex. myrtos alens, many occasions, or ways to a thing.
- ALENTADO, a, adj. valiant, stout, brave, courageous; also animated, &c. according to the v.
- ALENTAR, v. a. to animate, to hearten, to incite, to encourage, or stir up; also to give strength to a weak body.
- ALENTEJO. See ALEMTEJO.
- ALENTO, f. m. breath.
- Tomar alento*, to recover one's wind, or breath.
- Alento*, vigor, strength, both of mind and body.
- Com alento*, valiantly, stoutly, resolutely.
- Alento vital*, (in poetry) breath, life.
- ALENTOS, (in the head dress of some nuns) an ornament in both sides of the veil that covers their head.
- Alentos*, (among farriers) the little holes within the nostrils of a horse.
- ALEO, f. m. a staff, stick, or club.
- ALEONADO, ou ALIONADO. See LEONADO.
- ALERTA, ex. Estar alerta, to stand upon one's guard, to take care. From the Italian stare all'erta, which signifies the same.
- ALETO, f. m. a kind of hawk; some think it is a sea eagle, or osprey.
- ALETRIA, f. f. vermicelli, a dish made of paste like little worms.
- ALEVANTADOR, f. m. See LEVANTADOR.
- ALEVADOURO, f. m. a stick to set higher or lower the stone in an ass or horse-mill.
- ALEVANTADO, ALEVANTAR. See LEVANTADO, LEVANTAR.
- ALEXIPHARMACO, f. m. an alexipharmic medicine. (With physicians.)
- ALEXITERIO, f. m. (with physicians) alexiterium, a preservative against poison or infection.
- ALFA. See ALPHA.
- ALFABACA de cobra, f. f. the herb called pellitory of the wall. Lat. parietaria.
- Alfabaca do rio*, the herb tithymal, spurge, or milk-weed.
- ALFABETADO, a, adj. alphabeted, arranged in the order of the alphabet.
- ALFABETAR, v. a. to alphabet, to arrange in the order of the alphabet.
- ALFABETO f. m. the alphabet.
- ALFACE, f. f. lettuce.
- Alface brava*, a sort of wild lettuce. Lat. meconis.
- Alface crespa*, curled lettuce.
- Alface cerrada*, headed lettuce.
- ALFACINHA, f. f. a small lattice.
- ALFAÇOS, f. m. p. a sort of mushroom.
- ALFAGEME, f. m. (obsolete) he who sets off swords.
- ALFAIA, ou ALFAYA, f. f. household-stuff, furniture, all things moveable within the house.
- P. quem trabalha tem alfaias*, he that works has furniture; we must take pains, if we expect to get any thing.
- ALFAIADO, a, adj. furnished.
- ALFAIAR-SE, ou ALFAYAR-SE, v. r. to furnish one's house.
- ALFAIATE,

ALFAIATE, ou ALFAYATE, f. m. a taylor. From the Arabic bayete, to sew.
Molher que faz o officio de alfayate, ou alfaiata, a woman taylor.
ALFAYATE remenda, a patcher, one that patches or mends cloaths.
ALFAMA, f. f. the most ancient ward of the city of Lisbon.
ALFANDEGA, f. f. the custom-house.
Official da alfandega, a custom-house officer.
Direitos da alfandega, customs, or duties for goods imported or exported.
ALFANEQUE, f. m. the hawk called a lanner; from the Hebrew banac, to teach; because this sort of hawk learns better than any other species.
ALFANGE, f. m. a cymetar.
ALFAQUE, f. m. a shelf, or heap of sand in the sea that is carried away from one place to another by the stream; also a rock in the sea, a part of which is lower than the other.
ALFAQUEQUE, f. m. a messenger. Arabic.
Alfaqueque, one that is employed in the redemption of captives.
ALFAZ, f. m. a light horse.
ALFARFO, f. m. a horse that lifts up the fore-feet too much in pacing.
ALFARRABIO, f. m. any old book.
ALFARRECA, f. f. (in cant) a wig, or periwig.
ALFARRECAS. See ALFORRECAS.
ALFARROBA, f. f. carob bean, a sort of fruit.
ALFARROBEIRA, f. f. the plant called carob, or St. John's bread.
ALFAVACA. See ALFABACA.
ALFAYA, ALFAYER-SE. See ALFAIA, ALFAIAR-SE.
ALFAYATE. See ALFAIATE.
ALFAZEMMA, f. f. lavender. Arabic.
ALFEÇA. See SAFRADEIRA.
ALFEIRE de ovelhas que não dão leite, a flock of female sheep without milk.
ALFEIZAR, f. m. the stick laid cross in a saw, to hold it fast.
ALFELOA, f. f. ex. Alfêloa de açúcar, a sweetmeat made of sugar.
Alfêloa de mel, the same made of honey.
ALFENA, f. f. cu ALFENEIRO, f. m. privet, or prime-print, a sort of shrub. From the Spanish albena, and both from the Arabic albanna.
ALFENETE. See ALFINETE.
ALFENTM, f. m. a paste made of sugar, to open obstructions in the breast, commonly made up in long slender rolls. From the Arabic fenim, i. e. long and slender.
Homem feito de alfenim, a man that is very slender, or that is very dainty and nice.
ALFERES, f. m. an ensign. From the Arabic ferefe, to be a gentleman, or from the Lat. aquilifer.
Alferes mór, the first ensign, an employment in former times.
ALFERJE, f. m. See ALFUGERA.
ALFIM, adv. at the end, at last, in fine.
ALFINETE, f. m. a pin, such as are used about cloaths. From the Arabic felete, to thrust through.
Arrecadas de alfinetes, ear-rings that hang by a crooked pin.
Jogo dos alfinetes, push-pin.
Pregar com alfinetes, to pin.
O que faz alfinetes, a pin-maker.
A mesadinha em que se pregão os alfinetes, pin-cushion.
Dinheiro para alfinetes, pin-money, a certain sum of money allowed to the ladies by their husbands for their pleasure.

Ella anda de 24 alfinetes, she goes teazing, wonderful fine or spruce.
ALFITE, f. m. a sort of ragoo, a dainty dish made of meat, flour, wine, sugar, &c. also a composition of seasoning things. Arabic. See also ACIPIPE.
ALFITRA, f. f. a duty paid by the Moors to the kings of Portugal in former times. From the Arabic farda, land-tax.
ALFOBRE, f. m. a furrow for the conveyance of the water that supplies the herbs and plants with moisture in a garden.
ALFOMBRA, f. f. a carpet. Arabic.
ALFONSYN, f. m. a sort of silver coin formerly used in Portugal; also a fish so called.
ALFORFIAM, f. m. euphorbium, the Libyan ferula tree, or shrub, first found by king Juba, and so called after Euphorbus his physician.
ALFORGE, f. m. a wallet or bag with two pouches to it. It is used by travellers. Arabic.
Alforges, the plural of Alforge, idem.
Hir de alforge, to carry but a small provision in a journey, to travel without great attendance.
ALFORJADA, f. f. the provision carried in the wallet, as much as can be put into a wallet.
ALFORJAR, v. a. to fill or supply a wallet with provisions.
ALFORJAS, f. f. p. an herb so called.
ALFORRA, f. f. mildew, blasting of corn. Lat. rubigo.
Que tem alforra, blasted, mildewed.
ALFORRECAS, f. f. p. a spongy substance of a round figure that comes out from the sea, something like to the cuttle-fish. Lat. palla marina.
ALFORRIA, f. f. enfranchisement, the act of making free.
Dar carta de alforria, to enfranchise, to make or set free, to give liberty to one that has been a slave.
ALFORVAS, or ALFORFAS, f. f. p. the herb fennugreek. Arabic.
ALFOSTIGO, f. m. the pistach nut.
ALFRIDARIA, f. f. alfridary, a temporary power they imagine the planets have over the life of any person, (with astrologers.)
ALFUGERA, ou ALFURJA, f. f. a narrow lane that serves as a common sink.
ALGA, f. f. feed-weed. Lat. They commonly call it Seba.
ALGALLIA, f. f. civet, the excrements of the civet cat; also a probe, a surgeon's instrument.
ALGAR, f. m. a cave, den, hole, or pit, but particularly the hole or pit made by the fall of waters from a mountain or rock into a lower place. Arabic.
ALGARAVIA, f. f. the Arabic tongue; also any unintelligible words, or writings; also a woman born in the province of Algarve. See ALGARVE.
ALGARAVO, a, adj. of, or belonging to the kingdom of Algarve.
Algaravio, f. m. a man who is born in that kingdom.
ALGARISMO, f. m. See ARITHMETICA.
ALGARVE, f. m. Algarva, a province of Portugal, called also the kingdom of Algarva. It is not determined yet whether the Arabic word algarve signifies a level and fruitful country, or a country lying towards the west. Among the other titles of the king of Portugal, he styles himself king of Algarves. See also ALGUERGUE.

ALGAZARA, f. f. properly the cry or shout of the Moors, when in battle; thence used for any confused noise, cries, or babbling. Arabic.
Fazer algazara, to cry out, to make a great noise.
ALGEBRA, f. f. the art of bone-setting. From the Arabic al and geber, a reduction of fractures to a state of soundness.
Algebra, the science called algebra. In 1494 Lucas Pacciolus, or Lucas de Burgos, a Cordelier, wrote a treatise of algebra in Italian at Venice. It has been greatly improved by Vieta, Oughtred, Newton, &c.
ALGEBRISTA, f. m. algebrist, a person skilled in the science of algebra; also a bone-setter.
ALGEMADO, a, adj. manacled.
ALGEMAS, f. f. p. manacles, hand-fetters, cuffs.
Prender com algemas, to manacle, to shackle.
ALGER. See ARGEL.
ALGERVE, f. m. a sort of fishing-net very long. Arabic.
ALGEROZ, ou ALGIROZ, f. m. a gutter-tile, or roof-tile. Lat. imbrex.
ALGEZIRA, f. f. this word in the Arabic language signifies an island, and thence ALGEZIRAS, an old town of the kingdom of Seville. Here the Moors made their first landing in Spain, and maintained this place near seven hundred years. Its harbour being formed by two islands, the town has been called Algeziras in the plural number. At present it consists of scattered houses.
ALGIBARROTA, ou ALJUBAROTA, f. f. a small town in the district of Leiria in Portugal. Not far from this place king John I. defeated the Spaniards in the year 1385.
ALGIBEBE, f. m. a person who sells cloaths ready made.
ALGIBEIRA, f. f. a pocket. Dinheiro para a algibeira, pocket-money.
ALGIBETA, f. f. a kind of callock worn by students.
ALGIBETARIA, f. f. the street or place where live those that sell cloaths ready made.
ALGIRAM, f. m. the mouth, or that part of a net through which the tunny falls into it.
ALGIROZ. See ALGEROZ.
ALGODAM, f. m. cotton. Arabic.
ALGODOEIRO, f. m. the cotton tree.
ALGOZ, f. m. hang-man, the public executioner.
ALGRAVIA, f. f. any unintelligible words or writings.
ALGUEM, pron. relat. somebody, a person indiscriminate; also somebody, a person of consideration.
ALGUERGUE, or ALGARVE, f. m. a sort of play like draughts; also a large stone in a press for oil, upon which they put the baskets of olives, when they intend to squeeze them.
ALGUIDAR, f. m. an earthen vessel of different sizes, and for different uses; as, for kneading, washing, &c.
ALGUM, alguma, adj. some. Lat. aliquis.
Alguna

Alguna coisa, something.

Algun dinheiro, some money.

Algun tempo, some time.

Algumas vezes, sometimes, now and then.

Alguns tanto, ou alguma coisa, somewhat, a little, something.

Alguns tanto triste, somewhat sad.

Alguns tanto escuro, darkish.

Alguns tanto mais cedo, a little sooner.

Nos eramos alguns duzentos, we were a matter of two hundred people.

Eu andei algumas dez milhas, I walked a matter of ten miles.

Se em algum tempo, if at any time.

De alguma sorte, somehow, one way or other.

ALGURES, adv. of place; somewhere, in some place; also anywhither, to some place.

D'algures, from some place or other.

ALHA'DA, f. f. a kind of dish seasoned with garlic; also any intricate affair, or confusion.

ALHA'FA, f. f. the name given by the Moors to a precipice in the eastern part of Santarem, a town in Portugal, from which they used (as the Romans from the mount Tarpeius) to throw their criminals headlong.

ALHANA'DO, a, adj. levelled, &c. See

ALHANAR, v. a. to level, to smooth, to make even, to make smooth, to lay flat.

Albanar difficulades, (metaph.) to smooth, to clear, to remove difficulties.

Albanar-se, v. r. to humble, to abase one's self.

ALHEAÇAM, f. f. alienation; a making over the right and property of a thing to another.

Alheação dos sentidos, alienation, disorder of the understanding and other faculties of the mind.

ALHEADO alhear. See ALIENADO.

ALIENAR.

ALHELI. See GOIVO.

ALHEO, a, adj. another man's. Lat. alienus.

Alheo, disliking, abhorring.

Alheo, misbecoming, improper, not suiting.

Ser alheo, to dislike, to abhor, to have an aversion to; also to misbecome, not to become.

Alheo, remote, distant, far.

Alheo, unskilful, ignorant, rude, inexperienced.

Alheo, alien, adverse to, not relating to.

Alheo de si, out of one's wits.

Alhêc, f. m. that which is another's, or another man's.

He preciso que não cobicemos o alheo, we must not covet the goods of others.

ALHETA, f. f. a sort of broad hem, or double border.

Hir-se embora batendo a alheta, (a vulgar phrase) to retire, or withdraw shamefully.

ALHIDA'DA, f. f. (with astronomers) alhidada. Arabic.

ALHO, f. m. garlic. Lat. allium.

Cabeça de alho, a head of garlic.

Dentes de alho, the cloves of garlic.

Cascas de alho, the husks of garlic.

Alho mourisco, great or wild garlic, African garlic.

Alho porro, leek, a pot-herb.

P. fallo-lhe em alhos, responde-me em bugallos, we say, I talk of chalk and you of cheese.

P. em tempo nevado o alho vale hum cavallo, garlic in the foggy weather is as good as a horse; it means that garlic is a good defence for travellers against dampness and cold weather.

PART. I.

P. tejo como hum alho, as stiff as garlick; that is, a healthy, strong, robust person, because garlick is the food of strong sturdy people.

ALHU'R, adv. (an antiquated word) elsewhere, somewhere else, in another place. From the French ailleurs.

ALI, adv. there, in that place.

Por ali, that way.

ALIA', f. f. (in the Persian language) the she-elephant.

ALLI'DA, f. f. a kinswoman, &c. See

ALLA'DO, f. m. an ally, one united to another by marriage, friendship, confederacy, or any other means of connection.

ALLI'NÇA, f. f. alliance, an union or joining of families together by marriage; of kingdoms, &c. by leagues.

ALLI'NÇADOS, f. m. p. confederates, allies.

ALLI'S, adv. otherwise, in other things, in other respects. French d'ailleurs.

Aliás, else, otherwise.

Entrai, aliás fechei a porta, come in, otherwise, or else, I'll shut the door.

Aliás, besides, on the other hand.

ALICANTINA, f. f. (among the students of Coimbra) a subtle trick.

ALICANTINADO'R, f. m. he who plays such tricks.

ALICATE, f. m. pliers, a tool like pincers, used by several trades for small work.

From the Arabic lecate, to hold fast.

ALICE'RSE, ALLICE'SSE, ou ALICECE, f. m. foundation, the lowest part of a building, the basis which supports a building. Arabic.

Lançar os alicerces, to lay the foundation.

Alicérse, (metaph.) foundation, ground, reason.

ALICO'RNIO. See UNICORNIO.

ALICOTA, ou parte alicota, an aliquot part.

ALIDA'DA. See ALHIDADA.

ALIENAÇAM, f. f. See ALHEAÇAM.

ALIENADO, a, adj. alienated.

Alienado dos sentidos, ou do juizo, out of his senses or wits.

ALIENAR, v. a. to alien, to alienate, to transfer or convey the property of any thing to another.

Alienar-se, v. r. to be disordered in the understanding, and other faculties of the mind.

Alienar-se com o vinho, to lose one's senses by hard drinking.

ALIFA'FE, f. m. a distemper that breaks out in blisters on the joints of horses, &c. Arabic.

ALIGEIRA'DO, a, adj. lightened, &c. See

ALIGEIRA'R, v. a. to lighten, to make less ponderous, or heavy.

Aligeirar hum navio, to lighten a ship.

ALIGERO, a, adj. aligerous, winged, having wings. (In poetry.)

ALIJADO, a, adj. cast overboard.

ALIJAR, v. a. to cast overboard. (A sea-term.)

ALIMA'RIA, f. f. big cattle.

ALIMENTA'DO, a, adj. nourished, &c. See

ALIMENTA'R, v. a. to nourish, to feed, or maintain. Lat. alere.

ALIMENTA'RIO, a, adj. (with physicians) alimentary, or alimental.

ALIMENTO, f. m. food, maintenance, nourishment, aliment.

ALIMENTO, (metaph.) increase, nourishment.

ALIMENTOS, a portion settled upon children.

ALIMENTO'SO, a, adj. nourishing, alimental, having a nourishing power, or quality.

ALIMPADEIRAS, f. f. the bees which go before in order to clean the place when they are removing.

ALIMPADO, a, adj. made clean, &c. according to the v. Alimpar.

ALIMPADURA, f. f. chaff, the husks of corn that are scattered by threshing and winnowing. Lat. acus.

ALIMPADURA de milho, &c. the bran or winnowings of millet, or any corn.

ALIMPAR, v. a. to clean, or cleanse. Lat. fordes abstergere.

Alimpar o trigo, to winnow, to separate corn from chaff by the wind. Lat. frumentum ventilare.

Alimpar o chão tirando-lhe as pedras, to gather stones forth of the ground.

Alimpar os dentes, to cleanse the teeth.

Alimpar as lagrimas, to dry up one's tears, to give over crying.

Alimpar os sapatos, to clean the shoes.

O que alimpa os sapatos, a shoe-cleaner.

Alimpar as arvores, to prune trees, to lop them.

Alimpar as estradas de ladroens, to clear the highways of robbers.

Alimpar o cu, to wipe one's backside.

Papel ou trapo para alimpar o cu, bum-fodder.

Alimpar as secretas, to empty the houses of office, or privies.

O que alimpa as secretas, a tom-turdman.

Alimpar as trincheiras, to clear the trenches.

Alimpar, to rid, or clear places littered or encumbered, to make a clear riddance where there is a confusion, or crowd.

Alimpar alguma coisa esfregando-a, ou lavando-a, to rinse, to cleanse by rinsing or washing, to wash.

Alimpár, v. n. (speaking of trees) to shed its blossoms, to shed or cast its flowers. Lat. desflescere.

O alimpar das vinhas, the dropping or falling off of grapes. French coulure.

ALINHADO, a, adj. trimmed, trim, neat in cloaths, spruce, snug.

ALINHAR-SE. See ACEAR-SE.

ALINHAVA'DO, a, adj. halted, &c. See ALINHAVAR.

ALINHAVAM, f. m. a long stitch.

ALINHAVA'R, v. a. to halte, to sew slightly with stitches. French batir.

alinhar, (metaph.) to set or place in order, to dispose, to order, to dispose fitly. From the Lat. linca, as it were done by a line.

ALINHO, f. m. trim, dress, ornament, neatness, spruceness.

ALIONADO. See LEONADO.

ALIPEDE, adj. (in poetry) alipede, swift of foot. It is applied to Mercury.

ALIPVRE, f. m. the herb gith, coriander of Rome, pepper-wort. Lat. melanthion; but according to Grilley it is the seed of the herb called nigella.

ALIUQUANTA, (in mathematics) ex. Parte aliquanta, aliquant part.

ALIUOTA. See ALICOTA.

ALISTA'DO, a, adj. listed, enrolled.

ALISTA'R, v. a. to enrol, to list, to enter soldiers. From lista, a roll or list.

Alistar-se, v. r. to list, to enter his name as a soldier.

ALIVIADO, a, adj. eased.
Dó aliviado, a second mourning.
ALIVIADOR, f. m. one who eases another, an assuager.
ALIVIA'R, v. a. to ease, to relieve, to assuage.
Aliviar a quem de seu peso, to ease one of his burden.
Aliviar huma parede do peso, to ease a wall.
Aliviar os cuidados de a quem, to ease one of his cares.
Aliviar saudades, to ease the grief occasioned by another's absence. See SAUDADE.
Aliviar o castigo, to soften, to moderate the punishment.
Aliviar o leme, (a sea phrase) to ease the helm.
Aliviar a quem nas suas adversidades, to comfort one in his troubles.
Aliviar-se, v. r. to comfort.
ALIVIO-me muito com isto, this is a great comfort to me, I get a great comfort by it.
Alivio, f. m. ease, comfort, relief.
ALIZA'DO, a, adj. smoothed.
ALIZA'R, v. a. to smooth, to make plain or smooth.
ALIZARES, f. m. p. the inward posts of a window, &c.
ALJARO'Z. See ALGEROZ.
ALJAWA, f. f. a quiver, a case for arrows. Arabic.
Que tem aljava, quivered.
ALJAZAR, f. m. a piece of drained ground surrounded by sea-water.
ALJO'FAR, f. m. seed-pearl. Arabic.
ALJOFRADO, a, adj. adorned with seed-pearl.
ALJOFRAR, v. a. to adorn with seed-pearls.
ALJUBA, f. f. a Moorish garment like a short vest, after the Eastern fashion. Arab.
ALJUBARRO'TA, f. f. See ALGIBARROTA.
ALJUBE, f. m. a prison for the ecclesiasticks, or other people whose cause belongs to the ecclesiastical jurisdiction; from the Arabic al-jina, a cave or den.
ALJUBE'IRO, f. m. the gaoler of the same prison.
ALJUS, f. m. a sort of resin that oozes out of the white camelon thistle.
ALLAH, f. m. the name by which all the professors of Mahometism call God. It is the same with the Hebrew elohim, God.
ALLANTO'IDES, (with anatomists) allantoids, or allantoides, one of the coats belonging to a child in the womb, the same that in many brutes is called farcinialis tunica, because of its being in the shape of a gut-pudding, but it is round in the human species and some brutes.
ALLEGACAM, f. f. an allegation or quotation.
ALLEGADO, a, adj. alledged, &c. See ALLEGAR, v. a. to alledge, to produce a thing for proof, to quote, to plead as an excuse.
Allegar razoes, to allege reasons.
Allegar com hum author, to quote an author.
ALLEGORIA, f. f. allegory.
ALLEGORICAMENTE, adv. allegorically.
ALLEGORICO, a, adj. allegorical.
ALLEGORIZAR, v. a. to allegorize, to make use of allegories in speech; also to allegorize, or to explain passages, according to the allegorical sense, and not the literal.

ALLEGRO, (in music books) allegro. Ital.
ALLELI. See GOIVO.
ALLELUIA, (i. e. praise the Lord) allelujah, Hebrew.
ALLIANÇA, &c. See ALIANÇA, &c.
ALLUCINACAM, f. f. a blunder, oversight, or hallucination.
ALLUCINAR-SE, v. r. to blunder, to mistake.
ALLUDIR, v. n. to allude, to point at a thing, that has some resemblance or respect to some other matter, without the direct mention of it; to hint at.
ALLUSAM, f. f. allusion; also a pun, a quibble, or playing with words.
ALLUSIVO, a, adj. allusive.
ALLUVIAM, f. m. a swelling of waters, alluvion, inundation.
ALMA, f. f. the soul. Lat. anima; also soul, person.
Minha alma, my dear soul.
Pela alma que deos me deu, upon my soul. (An asseveration.)
Alma de cantaro, (a vulgar expression) a silly fellow.
Alma do canhão, the bore of a piece of ordnance, the hollow on the inside of it.
Alma de carta. See CHANCELLA.
Mil almas, a thousand souls, or men.
Não ha huma alma, ou não há huma viva alma, there is not one soul, there is no body.
Não ter alma, to have no soul; that is, no conscience.
Com alma, briskly, vigorously.
Alma do botão, a button-mould or mold.
Dar a alma a Deos, to give one's soul to God, that is, to die, to give up the ghost.
Alma da divisa, (in heraldry) the motto, short sentence, or the word put to a device.
Almas, ou almas santas, the souls of the dead that are kept in purgatory.
Almas dos condenados, the souls of the damned.
Almas dos defuntos, the souls of the dead.
Almas dos bemaventurados, the souls of the blessed.
As potencias da alma, the faculties of the soul, that is, understanding, will, and memory or remembrance.
Alma, soul, mind, spirit.
Alma grande, ou generosa, a great, a generous soul, mind, or spirit.
Alma baixa ou vil, a base or ungenerous soul or spirit.
Alma, (metaph.) soul, life.
A verdade he a alma da historia, truth is the life of history.
P. sua alma, sua palma, as you brew, even so bake.
Dar a alma ao diabo, to give one's soul to the devil, or to curse one's self.
Eles são duas almas num corpo, they are like hand and glove.
ALMADI'A, f. f. almade, an Indian boat made of one intire piece of timber.
ALMADRA'QUE, f. m. a coarse quilt, flock, or straw bed for servants, to lay down in their cloaths, when they must be ready at call. See also TRAVESSEIRO. Arabic.
ALMADRÁVA, f. f. so they call any place on the south part of Spain and Portugal, into which the fishermen drive their tunny fish; also a great quantity of the same fish; also nets, ropes, &c. necessary for the same fishing.
ALMA'FEGA, f. f. a coarse woollen cloth for sacks, &c.

ALMAGEGA, f. f. a receptacle, or small basin for the water that falls down from the water-wheel.
ALMAGE'STO, f. m. almagest, an excellent treatise of Ptolemy. Arabic.
ALMA'GRA, f. f. red oaker, or red lead. Arabic.
ALMAGRA'DO, a, adj. marked or coloured with red oaker.
ALMAGRA'R, v. a. to mark or colour with red oaker.
Almagrar, (metaph.) to hold, or look upon; as,
Almagrar a quem por ladrao, to look upon as a thief.
ALMA'GRE, f. m. See ALMAGRA.
ALMA'LHO, f. m. (among herdsmen) a young frisking ox, cow, sheep, &c. From the French aumailles, cattle.
ALMANACH, ou ALMANA'QUE, f. m. an almanack, a kalendar; from the Arabic article al, the, and manachus, the course of the months.
ALMANÇA. See ALEMANÇA.
ALMANJA'RCA, f. f. a piece of wood to which a horse, &c. is tied in order to turn round the mill-stone.
ALMANJARRA, (a jocose word) a very corpulent man.
Almanjarra, ou almargem. See ALMARGEM, f. m. a piece of untilled ground, without owner, by the banks of a river, low land.
Deitar huma besta almargem, á margem, ou almanjarra, to forsake utterly, or to leave in neglect a battered horse, mule, &c. to turn an useless beast into the fields, and sometimes into the lay-stall.
ALMARINHO, f. m. a little cupboard.
ALMARIO, f. m. a cupboard, a receptacle with shelves for victuals, earthen ware, &c.
ALMARTA'GA, f. f. See LITHARGYRIO.
ALMASYNHA, f. f. a poor little soul. Lat. animula.
ALMATR'CHA, f. f. a kind of blanket, a cloth to cover horses.
ALMAZE'M, ou ARMAZE'M, f. m. a store-house, a magazine, a warehouse.
ALMAZO'NA. See AMAZONA.
ALME'A, f. f. red storax.
ALME'GEGA, f. f. gum-mastic. Arabic.
ALMEGEGA'R, v. a. to put gum-mastic into any thing.
Almejar por alguma coisa, (a vulgar phrase) to covet a thing passionately, as if one's soul yearned after it.
ALMEIDA, f. f. a frontier town of Beira, in Portugal. Near it was a sharp engagement between the Spaniards and Portuguese in 1663. The Moors had formerly built it on the banks of the river Coa, calling it Talmayda, which signifies a table, from the level ground on which it stood.
Almeida do leme, ou da não, the hole in the ship the helm goes out at. Span. lemera.
ALMEIRANTE. See ALMIRANTE.
ALMEIRAM, f. m. wild endive. Arabic. Lat. cichoreum.
ALMEXTA, a mark worn by the Moors in their garments. They were ordered to wear it by Alphonso IV. king of Portugal, in order to distinguish them from the other people.

ALMICANTARATH, ou ALMUCANTARATH, (in astronomy) almucantars, or almucantars, circles of altitude parallel to the horizon. Arabic.
ALMICA, f. f. whey. They call it also TEBEFE, which see.
ALMICE, f. m. idem.
ALMILHA, f. f. a waistcoat.
ALMILHA. See ALMASINHA.
ALMIRANTA'DO, f. m. admiralty, the office of an admiral; also the court of admiralty; also one that is under the command of an admiral.
ALMIRANTE, f. m. an admiral; properly, in Portuguese, it is now the vice-admiral, for they call the admiral, general. But in former times it was the general, or high admiral.
Almirante do mar Lusitano, the admiral of the Portuguese sea. This honour is hereditary in the noble family of Castro.
Almirante do mar Índico, the admiral of the Indian sea. This honour is hereditary in the family of the famous Vasco da Gama.
ALMISCAR, f. m. musk. Arabic.
ALMISCARADO, a, adj. perfumed with musk.
ALMISCAREIRA, f. f. the herb storckbill. Lat. geranium.
ALM, a, adj. christening, nourishing. (In poetry.) From the Lat. almus.
ALMOCADEM, f. m. a captain of foot; from the Arabic cadén, to go before, and the common article al.
ALMOÇAR, v. a. to breakfast.
ALMOÇO, ou ALMORÇO, f. m. breakfast.
ALMOÇOVAR, f. m. the place in Lisbon, wherein the Moors were buried.
ALMOCREFE, f. m. a mule-driver, a carrier. Arabic.
ALMOEDA, f. f. a public sale, an out-cry. Arabic.
P. na almoeida tem a barba queda, at a sale keep your beard on your chin still; that is, let not your beard wag too fast in bidding, lest you overbid and repent.
ALMOFACA, f. f. a curry-comb, to curry a horse. Arabic.
ALMOFACADO, a, adj. curried.
ALMOFACAR, v. a. to curry, to comb horses with a curry-comb. Arabic.
ALMOFADA, f. f. a pillow, a cushion. Arabic.
Almofada, a pannel, a square of wainscot, &c. (among carpenters.)
ALMOFADINHA, f. f. a little pillow or cushion.
Almofadinha para alfinetes, a pin-cushion.
Almofadinas de fazer as espaldas iguais, e encobrir a corcova, ou outro semolbante defeito, pads, the stuffings of a garment to make a crooked body straight. Lat. analeides.
Almofadinha, ou chumacete. See CHUMACETE.
ALMOFARTZ, f. m. a mortar of metal to pound things in with a pestle. Arabic.
Mão do almofariz, the pestle for beating in a mortar.
ALMOFTA, f. f. a large earthen vessel in the shape of a porringer. Arabic.
ALMOFREXE, f. m. a bag made like a pillow; properly a case to carry a travelling bed in. Arabic.
ALMOGAMA, f. f. the narrow parts of a ship towards head and stern, distant about half way from the widest in the hold, and sharpening away, that the water may run the faster to the rudder.

ALMOGAVARES, f. m. p. old experienced soldiers that were formerly kept in garrison. From the Arabic article al, and maghabba, i. e. covered with dust.
Almogaváres, a sort of highwaymen which used to assault strayed soldiers. See the history of Catalonia, by Bernard Desclous.
ALMO'NDEGA, f. f. a ball of forced meat. Arabic.
ALMONJ'VA, f. f. a sort of dish made of minced mutton, bacon, &c.
ALMORÇAR. See ALMOÇAR.
ALMORREIMAS, f. m. p. the piles, or hæmorrhoids.
Almorreimas com sangue, the bloody piles.
Almorreimas que não deitam sangue, dry piles.
Almorreimas procedidas do peccado nefando, pecky piles, got by sodomy. Lat. marisca.
Erva das almorreimas. See ERVA.
ALMOTACADAME'NTE, adv. at the market-price.
ALMOTACADO, a, adj. examined, &c. according to the v.
ALMOTACAR, v. a. to take care of the provisions, to set the market-price, &c. See ALMOTACE'L, f. m. a clerk of the market, an officer whose business is to take care of the provisions, set the market price, to examine the weights and measures, and keep them in every place answerably to the king's standard. From the Arabic article al, and musahacin, that is, one who sets the price on provisions.
Almotacel da limpeza, an officer to see the streets are kept clean.
Almotacel mór, an officer, whose business is to supply the court with provisions, to give orders for the paving of the streets, or highways, &c.
Officio de almotacel, the clerkship of a clerk of the market.
ALMOTOLPA, f. f. an oil-pot made of earth or tin, to pour oil into a lamp, &c.
ALMOXARIFA'DO, f. m. the office of a receiver of customs, &c. also the jurisdiction of a receiver of customs. See ALMOXARIFE, f. m. a receiver of customs for commodities imported or exported. An Arabic word, signifying the receiver of the king's duties.
ALMOXA'TRE, f. m. sal ammoniac.
ALMU'DE, f. m. an almond, a measure by which the Portuguese sell their wine, &c. twenty-six almudes make a pipe.
ALOE, f. m. the plant called aloe. They commonly call it erva babosa, or azevure.
Aloe, the gum or juice called aloes.
Aloe hepatico, the hepatic aloes.
Aloe caballino, the caballine aloes.
Aloe socotorino, the succotrine aloes.
ALOENDRO. See ELQENDRO.
ALOJADO, a, adj. lodged.
ALOJAMENTO, f. m. the quarters of an army after marching.
ALOJAR, v. a. to lodge soldiers. See also ENCELEIRAR.
Alojar-se, v. a. to pitch a camp, to encamp, to pitch tents.
ALOMBAR. See DERREAR.
ALONGADO, a, adj. very distant or remote, &c. See the v. ALONGAR.
ALONGAME'NTO, f. m. lengthening, prolonging, elongation, &c. according to the v.

ALONGAR, v. a. to prolong, to strengthen, to stretch out, to elongate.
Alongar mais as passadas, to go farther; also to mend the pace, to go faster.
Alongar-se, v. r. to elongate, to go off to a distance from a place, or any thing else.
Alongar-se da virtude, to forsake virtue.
ALOPEZIA, f. f. (with physicians) alopecia, a disease called the scurf, when the hairs fall from the head by the roots.
ALOUCADO. See ADOUDADO.
ALPARAVAZ, f. m. (among mat-makers) the brim or extremity of a mat that hangs down when it is laid upon an estrado. See ESTRADO.
ALPARAVAZES, the lower valences of a bed, or any such thing hanging down round another.
ALPARCA, f. f. a sandal, a sort of slipper or shoe for the foot, consisting of a sole, with a hollow at one end to embrace the ankle; it is used by some friars, and also by shepherds.
ALPARGATA, f. f. idem.
ALPARQUEIRO, f. m. one that makes sandals.
ALPENDRADA, f. f. a large porch, a covered walking place with pillars.
ALPENDRE, f. m. a lesser porch. Lat. porticus.
Alpendre das ciras, a shed built close to the threshing-floor. Lat. nabilarium.
ALPERCHE, f. m. a sort of small juicy peaches; also candied apricots.
ALPES, f. m. p. the Alps, a chain of exceeding high mountains separating Italy from France and Germany.
Causa dos Alpes, ou concernente aos Alpes, Alpine, pertaining to the mountains called the Alps.
ALPESTRE, adj. wild, mountainous, rocky, steepy. Italian.
ALPHA, ou alfa, f. m. Alpha, the first letter in the Greek alphabet, and therefore used to signify the first; as, Eu sou alpha e omega, I am alpha and omega, the beginning and the ending.
ALPHABETADO, ALPHABETAR, &c. See ALFABETADO, ALFABETAR, &c.
ALPHENIM. See ALFENIM.
ALPISTE, f. m. the herb called foxtail; also canary seed, such as birds eat. Menagius says it is an Indian word. Others say it is Arabic.
ALPISTEIRO, f. m. a little vessel like the boat we make use of to feed children. See ALPISTO, f. m. the juice of hard-pressed meat, for support of sick persons that cannot chew.
ALPO'NDRAS. See PASSADEIRAS.
ALPORCAS, f. f. p. the disease called king's-evil.
ALPORCADO, a, adj. covered with earth, but particularly by imprecation. Lat. imporcatus.
ALPORCAR, v. a. (in agriculture) to earth, or cover with earth, but particularly by imprecation. Lat. imporcare.
O alporcar, imprecation, the act of making a balk or ridge in ploughing of land.
ALPORQUENTO, a, adj. strumatic, affected with the king's-evil.
ALQUEBRAR, v. n. (a sea term) a ship is said to alquebrar, when the sides begin to open and bend, by the weight of the guns, the violence of the current, &c.

ALQUEIRE, f. m. an alquier, a sort of measure in Portugal, not only for dry things, but for liquids also. I believe it holds one peck, three quarts, and one pint.

ALQUEIVADO, a, adj. fallowed, laid up. See

ALQUEIVAR, v. a. (in agriculture) to fallow, to prepare land by ploughing, long before it is ploughed for sowing.

ALQUEIVE, ou ALQUEVE, f. m. fallow, ground ploughed in order to be ploughed again; land that hath been fallow, and is turned in the spring to be sown next year. Lat. vervatum.

ALQUEQUENGE, ou ALQUEQUENQUE, f. m. alkakengi, the fruit of one of the night-shades; the winter-cherry, the berries whereof are of use against obstructions of the liver, the stone, &c.

ALQUETIRA. See ALQUITIRA.

ALQUEVADO, ALQUEVAR, &c. See ALQUEVADO, ALQUEVAR, &c.

ALQUICE, ou ALQUICE'R, f. m. a kind of white Moorish mantle or covering. Arabic.

ALQUILADO, a, adj. hired, or let to hire. See ALQUILAR.

ALQUILADOR, f. m. hirer, one that hires, or lets out to hire. See ALQUILAR, v. a. to hire, or let out to hire. It is only used speaking of hackney horses or mules. From the Arabic, quirye, to hire.

ALQUILE, f. m. the act of hiring, or letting out to hire; also hire, the price paid for the use of hackney horses or mules. Cavalle de alquilé, hackney horse.

ALQUIME, f. m. ochimy, ochamy, or alchymy; a mixed base metal; see also ALQUIMIA, f. f. alchymy, or alchemy, the art of chemistry.

P. alquimia he provada, ter renda, e não gastar nada, there is no alchymy like saving. The Lat. say, magnum veligal parfmonia.

ALQUIMILLA, ou ALCHIMILLA, the herb ladies-mantle, or archimella.

ALQUIMISTA, f. m. an alchemist.

ALQUIRYIA, f. f. See CHERIVIA.

ALQUITRA, f. f. gum tragacanth.

ALQUITRAVE, f. f. (with architects and architectre.

ALROTADO, a, adj. mocked.

ALROTAR, v. a. to mock, to deride, to ridicule.

ALRUPE, f. m. See ABELHEIRO.

ALTA, f. f. (in military affairs) ex. Dar alta, to promote, to advance, to prefer.

ALTABAILO, f. m. a downright stroke.

ALTAFORMA, f. f. a bird of prey so called.

ALTAMENTE, adv. highly, in a high degree.

ALTAMPA, f. f. (obfol.) a sort of earthen pot.

ALTANEIRO, a, adj. altivolant, flying high. (In the sport of hawking.)

Falcão altaneiro, a hawk that soars high.

ALTANERPA, f. f. the sport of hawking; also the strength of a hawk, eagle, &c. to soar high.

ALTAR, f. m. an altar.

Altar mór, the high altar.

Em forma de altar, ou semelhante a hum altar, altar-wise.

Pé de altar, altarage, the free offerings made at the altar by the people; also the profits arising to the priest from the altar, as small tithes.

ALTAREIRO, f. m. the person who takes care to adorn the altar.

ALTEADO, a, adj. made deeper or higher.

ALTEAR, v. a. to make deeper, or higher.

ALTENADO, (in cant.) See AMO.

ALTERAÇÃO, f. f. alteration, change; also perturbation, commotion of passions, disorder of mind.

ALTERADO, a, adj. altered, changed, &c. according to the v. Alterar.

ALTERANTES remedios, alteratives, or altering medicines.

ALTERAR, v. a. to alter, to change.

Alterar, to corrupt.

Alterar o sangue, to cause a great agitation or commotion in the blood, to confound by something unexpected, to surprise.

Alterar, to perturb, or disturb, to put out of countenance.

Alterar, to make use of altering medicines.

Se altera, imp. they make use of altering medicines.

Alterar-se, v. r. to grow angry, to be out of countenance; also to grow worse. (Speaking of wounds.)

ALTERCAÇÃO, f. f. altercation, contention, wrangle, dispute, a debate.

ALTERCADO, a, adj. debated, ventilated.

ALTERCAR, v. a. to ventilate, to discuss, to debate.

Altercar, v. n. to wrangle, to dispute, to contend, to debate.

ALTERCA-SE, v. imp. they dispute, or debate on or upon; it is debated; the matter in question is.

ALTERNACÃO, f. f. See ALTERNATIVA.

ALTERNADAMENTE, adv. alternately, by turns, one after the other, alternately, in an alternate manner. See ALTERNATIVAMENTE.

ALTERNADO, a, adj. alternated, alternative, alternate, that is done, succeeds, or is disposed by turns, or one after another, every second, or every other.

ALTERNAR, v. a. to do any thing by course, or turns, to alternate. Lat. alternare.

Alternar as plantas, to set one row of plants of one sort, and another of another.

Alternar-se, v. a. to alter, to change, to vary, to turn, to become otherwise than it was. Principiou a alternar-se a fortuna, fortune began to change.

ALTERNATIVA, f. f. alternateness, or alternativeness, a succession by course, or by turns.

ALTERNATIVAMENTE, adv. alternately, by turns.

Frutificar alternativamente, to bear every other year. (Speaking of some trees.)

ALTERNATIVO. See ALTERNADO.

ALTOSO, a, adj. high, lofty, elevated in place.

ALTEZA, f. f. loftiness, height, local elevation; also sublimity, nobleness, perfection, height.

Altéza, highness; the title given to princes.

Altéza real, royal highness.

ALTIBAILOS, f. m. p. uneven places, up and down hill.

Altibaios da fortuna, the vicissitudes of fortune.

ALTIFLOCO, a, adj. lofty, sublime, that is upon the high strain. (In poetry.)

ALTIRNA, f. f. a sort of garment worn by the Indian priests.

ALTIFONO, a, adj. that soundeth from above, noisy, thunder-thumping. Lat. altifonus. (In poetry.)

ALTÍSSIMO, a, adj. very high, highest. O Altíssimo, the most high God.

ALTIVEZ, ou ALTIVEZA, f. f. haughtiness, pride; also valiantness of heart, courage, magnanimity.

ALTIVO, a, adj. proud, scornful; also valiant, brave, stout.

ALTO, a, adj. high, lofty, tall.

Alto, profound, deep.

Poco muito alto, a very deep well.

Alto, high, sublime, lofty.

Estilo alto, high strain, the sublime style.

Preço alto, a great price, or rate.

Alto, noble, illustrious, great.

De alto nascimento, high-born.

Alto e poderoso senhor, a high and mighty lord.

Ter pensamentos altos, to aim at high things, or great matters.

O que tem pensamentos altos, a high spirit.

Intento alto, a noble or high design or undertaking.

Navio de alto bordo, a ship of the largest size, or first rate.

Parlamento alto, the upper house, the house of lords.

Alto, (speaking of countries) higher, upper.

Alto dia, broad day-light.

Alta noite, the still and dead time of night.

Vóz alta, a loud voice.

Alto mar, the main sea, sea-room, far out at sea, the high sea.

Maré alta, high water.

As marés altas, the spring-tides.

Alto, dangerous, hazardous.

Alta loucura, uncommon madness, or folly.

Alto, mysterious, obscure, hidden, secret.

Mais alto, higher, deeper; also louder.

Alto, adv. loud, loudly.

Fallar alto, to speak loud.

Fallar mais alto, to speak louder.

Alto, f. m. the top of a mountain, house, &c.

Huma estatua que tem 20 pés de alto, a statue twenty feet high.

Alto, a hillock, a heap of earth, any raised place.

Altos e baixos. See ALTIBAILOS.

Terra que tem altos e baixos, an uneven ground.

Nossa vida ha altos e baixos, there are ups and downs in our life. (metaph.)

Altos de huma casa, the loft or the uppermost floor of a house; also loft, or rooms on high.

Alto, halt, stop in a march.

Fazer alto, to halt in a march. (A military phrase.)

Alto lá, hold there, or stop there.

Passar por alto, (speaking of goods) to smuggle.

Passar por alto, to slip from one's memory; also to omit, to take no notice of.

Passou-me isso por alto, it has slipped from my memory, I have forgot it.

Alto. See ALTO MAR.

De alto até baixo, from top to toe.

De alto, from above, from on high.

P. pagar os altos de vossa, to have but little or no sense at all.

ALTOSUS, adv. (a vulgar word) come on, well. Lat. agedum.

ALTIFZ,

ALTRIZ, adj. (among physicians) nutritive, nourishing.

ALTURA, f. f. height of a place, space, as measured upward; altitude; also altitude (in astronomy, geography, and geometry.)

Vinte pés de altura, twenty feet high.

Altura do pólo, (in geography and astronomy) the altitude of the pole.

Altura do sol, lua, &c. the altitude or height of the sun, moon, &c.

Tomar a altura do sol, to take the sun's altitude.

Estar na altura de huma ilha, &c. to be off an island, &c.

Altura, greatness, grandeur, dignity.

Altura, forwardness, advancement.

A obra está em boas alturas, the work is in good forwardness.

ALUADO. See LUNATICO.

ALUGADO, a. adj. hired, or let to hire.

ALUGADOR, f. m. hirer, one that hires, or one that lets out to hire.

ALUGAR, v. a. to hire or let out to hire; also to hire, or take to hire.

ALUGUEL, f. m. hire, price paid for the use of horses, &c.

Aluguel, the act of hiring, or letting to hire.

Aluguel da casa, house rent.

Morar em casas de aluguel, to live in an hired house, to be in lodgings.

Cavalo de aluguel, hackney horse.

ALUMIADO, a. adj. lightened, &c. See ALUMIAR.

ALUMIADOR, f. m. a groom, he that putteth the stallion to the mare.

ALUMIAR, v. a. to enlighten, to give light to, to illuminate, both in the proper and figurative sense.

Alumiar a alguém, to light one, to carry a light before him.

Alumiar deus a huma mulher, is for a woman to be brought to bed.

Alumiar-a deus com huma criança, she was brought to bed of a child.

Deus te alumie, God give you a happy hour. God send you a safe delivery. (Speaking of a woman with child.)

ALUMINOSO, a. adj. aluminous, pertaining to alum, consisting of alum.

ALUMINO, f. m. a foster-son, one that is bred up under those that are not his parents.

Alumno de Lisboa, Alumno de Londres, one born in Lisbon, or in London.

ALUTADO. See ENLUTADO.

ALVA, f. f. the dawn or break of day, day-peep, the morning twilight. Lat. aurea.

Quarto d'alva. See QUARTO.

Ejrella d'alva, the morning star. Lat. Venus, or Lucifer.

Missa d'alva, the mass said at break of day.

Alva, the albe or aube used by priests when they say mass.

Alva, an albe or white vestment worn by malefactors when they go to be executed.

Alva do olho, the white of the eye.

Alva de cão, dog's turd.

ALVADA, f. f. (in cant.) See CARAPUÇA.

ALVANE, f. m. a bricklayer; also a mason whose trade is to build with rugged or unbewn stones, a rough mason. Arabic.

ALVAR, adj. white.

Figos alvares, a kind of white figs.

Alvar, (speaking of birds) whitish, somewhat white.

Almo alvar. See ALEMO.

Esfinheiro alvar, white thorn. See ESPINHEIRO.

Pinheiro alva. See PINHEIRO.

ALVARA, f. m. a charter, or a prince's letters patent. Arabic.

ALVARAZES, or ALVARAZOS, f. m. p. a kind of morpew, or white specks in the skin; also a sort of disorder in horses.

ALVARES, f. m. p. a sort of the lesser pulse, like vetches or tares.

ALVARFNHO, f. m. whitish, somewhat white.

ALVARRAL peneira, a sort of bolter for sifting pollard.

ALVAST, ou ALVASPL, f. m. (obol.) See VEREADOR.

ALVAYADE, f. m. white ceruse, much used by women. From the Arabic bayad.

Untado com alvayade, daubed with ceruse.

ALVEARIO, f. m. See COLMEA.

ALVEDRFO, f. m. will, a faculty of the soul, whereby it may chuse one thing before another; also arbitration, &c. according to the v. alvidrar.

ALVEJAR, v. n. to look white; also to become white. From the Lat. albicare.

Alvejar, to incline somewhat to a white colour. Lat. interalbicare.

ALVEITAR, f. m. a veterinarian, one skilled in the diseases of cattle. Lat. veterinarius.

Alveitar que se cura cavallos, a farrier, or horse leech.

Exercitar a arte de alveitar, to farrier.

ALVEITARPA, f. f. physic for cattle, the art of curing beasts.

ALVELOA, f. f. the bird called the wag-tail.

Pernas de alveloa, small spindle-shanks.

ALVENARPA, f. f. rugged or unbewn stones.

Feito de alvenaria, made of rugged or unbewn stones.

ALVEO, f. m. the channel of a river. Lat. alveus.

ALVERCA, f. f. a marsh or fen.

ALVERGADO, &c. See ALBERGADO, &c.

ALVIAM, f. m. a mattock, a tool to grub up roots of vines, &c. also a mattock or pick-ax. From the v. ALVIR, which see.

ALVTCARAS, f. f. p. a reward given for good news. Arabic.

ALVUDO, a. adj. shakable, &c. See ALVIR.

ALVIDRAR, v. a. to arbitrate; settle, or regulate wages, rewards, or the like.

ALVIDRFO. See ALVEDRIO.

ALVIDUCOS medicamentos, (with physicians) alviduca, or loosening medicines.

ALVINEO. See ALVANEL.

ALVINHOS, f. m. p. a sort of white people in the lower Ethiopia.

ALVIR, v. a. to shake, to agitate, to put in a vibratory motion, to move a thing from its fixedness.

Alvir v. n. to shake, to be agitated with a vibratory motion, to be ready to fall.

ALVITANA, f. f. a sort of fishing net.

ALVITANADO, so the net makers call that part of a net that is knit with smaller meshes.

ALVITRE, f. m. an expedient way, device of means, a contrivance, a project.

ALVITREIRO, f. m. a contriver, a deviser of means, he who advises another, a projector.

ALVO, a. adj. white. Lat. albus.

Alvo, f. m. a white or mark to shoot at. Errar o alvo, to shoot wide from the mark; dar no alvo, to hit the mark; both in the proper and figurative sense.

Alvo, ou alva do olho, the white of the eye.

Pôr os olhos em alvo, to distort one's eyes, so that the lower white may be seen.

Alvo, (metaph.) the aim or end which an action is directed to; also laughing stock, sport, May-game; as, Eu sou o alvo da fortuna, I am the sport of fortune.

ALVORADA, f. f. aubade, or morning music; such as is played at the dawn of day before one's door, or under one's window; a serenade.

Alvorada, ou general, (in military affairs) general; a particular beat of drum early in the morning.

Alvorada, (in poetry). See ALVA.

Alvorada, the singing of birds at the dawn of day.

ALVORAR a membra. See AMANHECER.

ALVOROÇADO, a. adj. transported, or ravished with pleasure for the expectation or prospect of anything good to come.

ALVOROÇAR, v. a. to over-joy, to transport, or ravish with the expectation or prospect of anything good to come.

ALVOROÇO, f. m. an overjoy, or transport caused by the expectation or prospect of anything good to come.

ALVOROTADO, a. adj. perturbed, or perturbed.

ALVOROTADO, f. m. a perturbator, a raiser of commotions.

ALVOROTAR, v. a. to perturb, or perturbate, to disturb, to disquiet.

ALVOROTO, f. m. perturbation, disturbance, tumult, sedition.

ALVURA, f. f. whiteness.

Alvura que resplandece, brightness.

Alvura da madeira, the white sap, or sappy part of trees on the outside next the bark. Lat. alburnum.

Tirar a alvura da madeira, to take out the fat, or sappy white that is in the wood. Lat. exalburnare.

AMA, f. f. a mistress, not of scholars, but of servants; for she that teaches children is called meistra. Also a nurse, a foster-dame. Gothic.

Ama, ou mulher que serve e governa as outras criadas, a house-keeper, a woman servant that has the care of a family, and superintends the other maid-servants.

AMABILIDADE, f. f. amability.

AMACADO, &c. See AMASSADO, &c.

AMADIGO, f. m. a sort of privilege formerly granted in Portugal to a farmer, whose wife had nursed a nobleman's child.

AMADO, a. adj. loved.

AMADOR, f. m. a lover, he that loves; also the proper name of a man.

AMADORA, f. f. a sweet-heart, she that loves, a lover.

AMADORRADO, a. adj. lethargic, afflicted with a lethargy. From AMADOREA, which see.

AMADURADO, a. adj. ripened.

AMADURAR,

- AMADURAR, v. a. to ripen, to bring to ripeness.
- AMADURECE'R. See MADURECER.
- A'MAGO, f. m. (speaking of herbs or trees) the pith or heart.
- Amago*, the substance or main point.
- Amago*, reality, the essence of a thing.
- Amago*, f. m. the action by which one offers or threatens to strike.
- AMAINAR as velas, v. a. (a sea phrase) to strike fail.
- Amainar*, (metaph.) to appease, to assuage, to stint.
- Amainar a soberba de alguém*, (metaph.) to bring down one's pride, to humble one.
- Amainar*, v. n. to relent, to yield. See CEDER.
- Amainar*, to cool, to relent, to abate, to grow less.
- Amainou o vento*, the wind came down.
- AMALDIÇO'ADO, a, adj. cursed, accursed.
- AMALDIÇO'AR, v. a. to curse, or accurse, to blaspheme.
- AMALGAMA, f. f. amalgama, a mass of mercury united and incorporated with some metal.
- AMALGAMA'DO, a, adj. amalgamated, &c. See
- AMALGAMAR, v. a. to amalgamate, to mix mercury with gold, silver, &c. to reduce it into a kind of paste, to be used in gilding, &c.
- Acção de amalgamar*, amalgamation.
- AMALHA'DO, a, adj. lodged, couched. (Speaking of a hare, boar, or other wild beast.) See
- AMALHAR, v. a. to track wild beasts to their coverts or couches.
- Amalhar huma lebre*, to prick a hare.
- Lugar em que está amalhado hum veado de dia*, a lair, the place where a deer harbours by day.
- Lugar em que está amalhado hum javali, ou outra fera*, the lair or couch of a boar, or other wild beast.
- Oveado está amalhado aqui*, the deer harbours here.
- Amalhado* is also said of a company of birds when they are in their resting place.
- Amalhar alguém*, (metaph.) to trace, or find out the place where one is lodged or sheltered.
- AMALTHE'A, f. f. Amalthea, the daughter of Melissus king of Crete, who fed Jupiter when a child with goats milk and honey. Some say that the name of the goat was Amalthea. Ovid says, that Amalthea was the nymph who nursed him.
- Corno de amalthea*. See CORNUCOPIA.
- AMAMENTAR, v. a. (obsol.) to suckle, to give suck.
- AMANCEBA'DO, a, adj. one that lives in a state of fornication.
- Homem que anda amancebado*, a man that keeps a concubine, or mistress.
- Mulher que anda amancebada*, a concubine, a woman that lives with a man, as if she was his lawful wife, a mistress, a kept mistress.
- Amancebado com alguma cousa*, (metaph.) wedded, addicted, given up wholly to a thing.
- AMANCEBAME'NTO, f. m. concubinage, a state of fornication.
- Amancebamento de mulher com homem casado*, the adultery of a woman who lieth with another woman's husband.
- AMANCEBA'R-SE, v. r. to live in a state of fornication.
- AMANHAR, v. a. to dig, to till; (see also COMPOR and CONCERTAR).
- Amanhar hum animal*, (in the province of Beira) to kill a beast.
- Amanhar*, (among scholars) to tuck, or gather up.
- AMANHECE'R, v. n. to grow day. From the Lat. mane, the morning.
- As amanhecer*, at the dawning of the day.
- Com bem amanheça a noite*, good night to you, sir.
- AMANHECI em tal parte*, I was in such a place at day-break.
- AMANSA'DO, a, adj. tamed, &c. See
- AMANSAR, v. a. to tame, to make that which was wild and unruly, governable and obedient. Lat. domare.
- Que pode ser amansado*, tamicable, that may be tamed.
- Amansar*, to calm, to appease, to still, to make motionless, to hush. Amansar os ventos, to hush the winds.
- Amansar*, to mitigate, to soften.
- Amansar ou abrandar o natural aspero*, to soften, to temper, to mollify a savage humour.
- Amansar*, v. n. to grow mild or gentle, to be tamed, to become better natured.
- AMANTE, p. a. who loves, loving.
- Amante*, f. m. a lover, a sweet-heart.
- AMANTELA'DO, a, adj. walled, walled about.
- AMANTYLHOS, f. m. p. (in a ship) lifts, ropes pertaining to the arms of all yards; the use is to make the yards hang higher or lower.
- AMANUE'NSE, f. m. an amanuensis, a writer for another.
- AMAR, v. a. to love. Lat. amare.
- Amar-se*, v. r. to love one another, to have a mutual love one for another.
- P. quem ama a beltrão, ama o seu cão*, love me, love my dog.
- P. cada qual ama seu semelhante*, like will to like, or like loves like.
- AMARACO, f. m. the herb sweet marjoram.
- AMARA'NTO, f. m. a plant bearing a flower, which, when gathered, continues long before it withers, hence it has its name, signifying in the Greek, that does not perish or fade. It is known in English by the name of amaranth, and also flower-gentle, whereof there are several sorts, as the purple, the crested velvet, the carnation, the white, the florumour, or spotted-flower-gentle, the perennial spiked flower-gentle of Sicily.
- AMARAR. See EMMARAR.
- AMARELLEJA'R, v. n. to grow yellow, to look yellow.
- AMARELLIDAM, f. f. yellowness, paleness, wanness.
- AMARE'LLO, a, adj. yellow, pale, wan.
- Que tem a cara amarella*, pale-faced.
- Amarello tostado*, yellow bay.
- Amarêllo como o de folhas murchas*, filemot, a brown, or yellow brown colour.
- Amarêllo gualde*, a whitish yellow.
- Algum tanta amarello*, yellowish.
- Tingir de amarello*, to dye yellow.
- Fazer-se amarello*, to grow yellow or pale.
- Amarêllo*, f. m. the yellow colour.
- Amarêllo do ovo*, the yolk of an egg.
- AMARGADAMENTE. See AMARGOSA-MENTE.
- AMARGAR, v. n. to taste bitter, to be unpleasant to the taste. From the Lat. amarus, bitter.
- Amargár, (metaph.) to be grievous, to cause grief or sorrow.
- Verdade que amarga*, a grievous truth.
- Amargár, v. a. to pay dear for, to suffer for; as,
- Elle o amargará*, he will suffer for it.
- AMARGO, a, adj. grievous, afflictive, hard to bear.
- AMARGO'R, f. m. bitterness, a bitter taste.
- AMARGO'SAMENTE, adv. bitterly, with a bitter taste; also bitterly, grievously, in a bitter manner.
- AMARGO'SO, a, adj. bitter, having a hot, acrid, or biting quality. Lat. amarus.
- Hum pouco amargo*, bitterish, a little bitter.
- Fazer amargo*, to make bitter.
- AMARGURA, f. f. grief sorrow of heart.
- AMARINHADO, AMARINHAR. See MAREADO, MAREAR.
- AMARISSIMO, a, adj. superl. very bitter.
- AMARLOTA'R, v. a. to wrinkle, to corrugate.
- AMARO, a, adj. See AMARGO, and AMARGOSO.
- AMARRA, f. f. a cable.
- Picar ou cortar as amarras*, to cut the cables.
- AMARRA'DO, a, adj. belayed, moored.
- Amarrado á sua opinião*, (metaph.) wedded to his own opinion.
- AMARRAR, v. a. to belay, to belace, to moor. (A sea term.)
- Amarrar, ou marrar*. See MARRAR.
- Amarrar-se*, v. r. ex. Amarrar-se á sua opinião, to be wedded to one's opinion.
- AMARRE'TA, f. f. a small cable.
- AMARTELLA'DO, a, adj. dogmatical, positive, wedded to.
- Amartellado da sua opinião*, positive, stubborn in opinion, wedded to his own opinion.
- AMARUJA'R. See AMARGAR.
- AMASSADE'IRA, f. f. a woman that kneads, a baker woman.
- AMASSA'DO, a, adj. kneaded, wrought with hands. Lat. subactus. See also ABOLEIMADO, and the v. AMASSAR.
- AMASSADO'R, f. m. one that kneads bread, or any such thing.
- AMASSADURA, f. f. kneading of bread, also the place where they knead bread; also any quantity of dough.
- AMASSAR, v. a. to knead, to tread or mingle any substance together.
- Amassar o pão*, to knead, to make bread.
- Amassar cal com areia*, (among masons and bricklayers) to make or work up mortar.
- Amassar as cartas*, to shuffle the cards; also to pack cards, to order them so that one may know how they lie.
- Amassar-se com alguém*, v. r. to agree together.
- AMATORIO, a, adj. amatory.
- AMAVEL, adj. lovely, amiable.
- AMAVELME'NTE, adv. lovingly, amiably.
- AMAZONAS, f. f. p. Amazons, certain warlike women, said to have resided in Asia, near the river Thermodoon.
- Rio das Amazonas*, Amazon, a great river of South America. This river, like others between the tropics, overflows its banks annually; at which time it is one hundred and fifty miles broad at its mouth: it appears to be the largest river in

- in the world, either with regard to the length of its course, or the depth of its waters. The natives of the country through which it passes call it Paraguassu, that is, a great sea.
- AMAZO'NIO, a, adj. of, or belonging to the Amazons.
- AMBA'GES, f. f. p. ambages; a long detail of words remote from the true scope of the matter; a compass or fetch-about of words. Lat.
- AMBAR, f. m. amber, a sort of hard gum.
- Ambargris*, amber-grease, or ambergris, a fragrant drug.
- AMBERVA'L, adj. of, or belonging to the Ambarvalia. See
- AMBARVA'LES, f. m. p. Ambarvalia, holy-days among the Romans, wherein they used to make a solemn procession, and deprecations, that no ill might come to their corn-fields. From the Lat. ambire, to surround, and arva, the grounds.
- AMBI'CAM, f. f. ambition.
- AMBI'CIONAR. See COBI'CAR.
- AMBI'CIOSAMENTE, adv. ambitiously.
- AMBI'CIO'SO, a, adj. ambitious.
- AMBI'DEXTRO, a, adj. ambidexterous, that uses both hands alike.
- Honem ambidextro*, an ambidexter, or an ambidextrous man, a man that uses both hands alike.
- AMBI'ENTE AR, ambient air (with naturalists.)
- AMBI'GUAMENTE, adv. ambiguously.
- AMBI'GUIDA'DE, f. f. ambiguity ambiguity.
- AMBI'GUO, a, adj. of doubtful meaning, ambiguous. Lat. ambiguus.
- Ambiguo*, doubtful, uncertain.
- AMBI'RA, f. f. a musical instrument, used by the negroes.
- AMBITO, f. m. ambit, the compass or circumference of any thing. Lat. ambitus.
- AMBLYO'PIA, f. f. amblyopia, dullness, or dimness of sight. Greek.
- AMBO'INO, f. m. Amboyna, the principal of the Molucca islands in the East Indies. It was discovered by the Portuguese in the year 1515. The castle, or fort of Victory, was the scene of the massacre of the English, by the Dutch, in 1625, and reign of James I. This island has been taken and re-taken several times, by the Portuguese, Spaniards, and Dutch, and the latter are now the masters of it.
- AMBOS, as, adj. both the one and the other. Lat. ambo.
- Ambos de deus*, both.
- AMBRE. See AMBAR.
- AMRE'TA, f. f. a sort of flower that smells like amber.
- AMERO'SIA, f. f. ambrosia, the delicious and imaginary food of the gods, according to the poets.
- Ambrosia*, ambrosia, the herb called oak of Jerusalem.
- AMEROSIA'NO officio, ambrosian office, a formula of worship, used in the church of Milan.
- AMERO'SIO, f. m. Ambrose, a proper name of a man.
- AMBULA, f. f. a small vial of glass, or crystal.
- AMBULA'NTE, adj. walking, moving. Lat. ambulans.
- Cena ambulante*, a supper, in which there is but one dish to go round the table. Lat. cena ambulans.
- Ambulante*, going on wheels.
- Torres ambulantes*, engines, or batteries upon wheels, for the taking of towns.
- AMBULASINHA, f. f. a very small vial of glass, or crystal.
- AMBULAT'IVO, a, adj. (with surgeons) ambulatory, not fixed to any place.
- AMBULATO'RIO, a, adj. (in law) changeable, that may be changed or altered.
- Vontade ambulatoria*, a man's will, or testament, till he dies; because alterable till then. Lat. voluntas ambulatoria.
- Interdicto ambulatorio, ou deambulatorio*, a general interdict through a kingdom, or province.
- AME'A, AME'IA, ou AME'YA, f. f. a niched battlement in a wall, or fortification. Lat. pinna.
- AMEA'ÇA, f. f. ou AMEA'ÇO, f. m. a threat, menace.
- AMEAÇA'DO, a, adj. threatened. P. tam-bem os ameaçados, comem pão, threatened folks eat bread: We say, threatened folks live long.
- AMEAÇADO'R, f. m. a threatener.
- AMEAÇANTE, (in heraldry) it is said of a lion, &c. in a menacing or threatening posture.
- AMEAÇAR, v. a. to threat, or threaten, to menace. Lat. minari.
- AMEA'ÇO, f. m. a threat or menace.
- Ameaço da dença*, the fit of a disease.
- AMEALHA'DO, &c. See REGATEA'DO, &c.
- AMEBE'OS versos, (with grammarians) Amoebean verses, verses which answer one another by turns, as in some of the Eclogues of Virgil.
- AMEC. See DIACOLOCYNTHIDOS.
- AMEDRONTA'DO, a, adj. terrified.
- AMEDRONTAR, v. a. to terrify, to affright, to shock with fear. From the Lat. metus, fear.
- AMEIGA'DO, a, adj. fondled, &c. See
- AMEIGA'R, v. a. to tiddle, to tidder, to use tenderly, to fondle, to dandle, to faddle, to cocker.
- AMEI'JOA, ou AMEI'JOA, f. f. a bivalve shell-fish, called a cockle. Lat. coch-lea. From the Arabic article al, the, and mencha, a wave of the sea. French petoncle.
- AMEIJOA'DA, f. f. pasturage, or pasture ground.
- Levar o gado á ameijçada*, to lead the cattle to pasture in the night.
- Ameijçada*, a sort of shelter, wherein mule-drivers, &c. pass the night in their journey.
- AMEIXA, AMEIXIAL, AMEIXIEIRA. See AMEXA, AMEIXIAL, AMEIXIEIRA.
- AMEN, verily, so be it. Amen. It is usually added at the end of prayers, and graces. Hebrew.
- AMENDO'A, f. f. an almond. From the Lat. amygdalum.
- Ameiçdas torradas cubertas de açúcar*, crisp almonds.
- AMENDO'A'DA, f. f. milk of sweet almonds, with the substance of melon, and pom-pion seeds, pressed into it, and then boiled with a little starch, till it grows to a consistence.
- AMENDOE'IRA, f. f. an almond-tree.
- AMENIDA'DE, f. f. amenity, pleasantness, delightfulness.
- Ameiçdade*, (metaph.) See ELEGAN'CIA.
- AMENISSIMO, a, superl. of Ameno.
- AME'NO, a, adj. pleasant, that is in a pleasant situation, delightful to the eye. Lat. amoenus.
- Ameno*, affable, kind, courteous, civil.
- AMENOS. See MENOS.
- AMENTA. See AMENTAR.
- AMENTA'DO, a, adj. enchanted, &c. See
- AMENTAR lobos, v. a. (among herdsmen) to enchant wolves, that they may gather together, and kill another's cattle.
- Amentar*, to mention, to speak of, to name. From the Italian mentovare. It is only used among fish-women, herb-women, &c.
- Amentar*, is also for a parson to exhort his congregation to pray for the souls of some deceased persons in particular; and this exhortation is called amenta, we called it anciently bidding of the beads.
- AMEOS, f. m. p. the herb amcos, or bishop's-weed.
- AMERCEAR-SE, (obsolet.) See COMPADecer-SE.
- AME'RICA, f. f. America, (so called from Americus Vespusius, who made a farther discovery than Columbus, anno 1497.) The fourth part of the world, discovered in the year 1492, by the ever memorable and renowned Christopher Columbus, or more properly, according to some, Colon, a native of Genoa.
- AMESTRADO, AMESTRAR. See ENSINADO, ENSINAR.
- AMETA'DE, f. f. half, moiety.
- AMETALLADO, a, adj. mixed with metal.
- AMETISTA, f. f. ou AMETISTO, f. m. amethyst, a sort of precious stone.
- AMEUDA'R, &c. See AMIUDAR, &c.
- AME'XA, f. f. a plum. Lat. prunum.
- Amexa, brava*. See ABRUNHO.
- AMEXIAL, f. m. the place where the prune-trees grow; also a place in Alemtejo, wherein the Portuguese and Spanish armies, joined battle the 8th of June, 1663. The Portuguese, under the command of the count of Villafior, carried the day.
- AMEXIE'IRA, f. f. a plum-tree.
- Amexieira brava*. See ABRUNHEIRO.
- AMEZENDA'DO, a, adj. that is unwilling to rise, or get up from bed, or from a seat, &c. See also
- AMEZENDA'R-SE, v. r. (a vulg. w.) to sit down upon the ground unmannerly.
- AMFIBOLOGIA, AMFIBOLOGICO. See AMPHIBOLOGIA, AMPHIBOLOGICO.
- AMIA'L, f. m. the place where the plants small withy, or osiers grow.
- AMIA'NTO, f. m. amianthus, a sort of stone, called also earth-flax, or salamander's hair.
- AMICISSIMO, a, superl. most intimate; also that is very fond of.
- AMICTO, f. m. an amice; that is, a square linen cloth the priest ties about his neck, hanging down behind, under the albe, when he vests to say mass.
- AMIDO, f. m. starch.
- AMIE'IRO, f. m. small withy, or osier.
- AMIGA, f. f. a female friend; also a concubine, a mistress. See AMIGO.
- AMIGA'DO, a, adj. See AMANCEBADO.
- AMIGA'R-SE, v. r. See AMANCEBAR-SE.
- ... AMIGUEMO.

AMIGUEMO-NOS, (a familiar expression) let us be friends.
AMIGAVELMENTE, adv. in a friendly manner, amicably.
AMIGDALAS. See AMYGDALAS.
AMIGO, f. m. a friend. Lat. amicus; also one that keeps a concubine, or mistress.
Amigo íntimo, e de muito tempo, a crony, an old crony.
Amigo íntimo ou entranhavel, a bosom friend.
Ser amigo de alguma causa, to love, to like, to have an inclination, or to be fond of a thing.
Ele he amigo do jogo, he loves gaming.
Ella he amiga da caça, she takes pleasure in hunting.
P. amigo de chapel, to have so much acquaintance with a man, as to take off one's hat to him, but not to converse with him.
P. contas de perto, e amigos de longe, even reckonings make long friends.
P. nos trabalhos se vem os amigos, a friend in need, is a friend indeed.
P. nem preso, nem cativo tem amigo; that is, the unhappy have neither friends nor relations.
P. diz ao amigo segredo, e por-te-ha o pé no pescoço, tell thy friend the secret, and he'll lay his foot on thy throat.
P. este he meu amigo, que vive no meu moinho, he is my friend who grindeth at my mill; or that shows me real kindness.
P. mais valeu amigo na praça, que dinheiro na arca, we say; a friend in the way, is better than a penny in the purse.
AMIGUINHA, f. f. a little fine friend (a word of endearment).
AMIGUINHO, f. m. (a word of endearment among children) a dear friend, a loving friend.
AMIMADO, a, adj. fondled, &c. See AMIMAR, v. a. to fondle, to make much of, to tiddle, to tigger, to dandle, &c. See AMEIGAR.
Amimar, to draw in, to allure, to wheedle by caresses, soft words, or kind usage.
AMITO. See AMICHO.
AMUDDADO, a, adj. done often, &c. See AMUDAR, v. a. to do often the same thing.
Amudar as vigias, to visit often.
AMUDAM ou AMUDAM-SE as combates, they fight often.
AMUDE, ou AMUDO, adv. often, oftentimes, frequently, not seldom.
Mais amude, oftener.
O mais amude que possa ser, ofteneft.
AMIZADE, f. f. friendship, amity. Lat. amicitia.
P. não se ha de quebrar a amizade por da cá aquella palha, fall not out with a friend for a trifle, or an inch breaks no squares.
Travar amizade com algum, to make friendship, to get into friendship with one.
Quebrar a amizade, to break off friendship.
Inferiar-se na amizade, de algum com desfeiza, to screw one's self into one's friendship.
Cultivar a amizade, to cultivate or improve friendship.
AMMARAR. See EMMARAR.
AMMONTACO, f. m. gum ammoniac.
Sol ammoniac, sal ammoniac.
AMNIO, f. m. amnios, or amnion, the coat, or soft skin which immediately covers the child in the womb. (In anatomy.)

AMNISTIA, f. f. amnesty, an act of oblivion, or a general pardon granted by a prince to subjects, for former offences.
AMO, f. m. a master, one who has servants. Opposed to servant, or man.
Amo was formerly used for a governor, tutor, or one who has care of a young man.
P. honra he das amos a que se faz aos criados, the honour done to servants, redounds to their masters.
P. tão bom he pedro como seu amo, like master, like man.
P. não he ter amo, mas peor he ter amo, it is a bad thing to keep a servant, but it is worse to have a master and serve him.
AMOCECEDO, a, adj. notched, &c. See AMOCEGAR, v. a. to jag, to notch, to make a notch, to beat dents in swords, &c.
AMOEDADO, a, adj. minted, coined, stamped, made into money.
Prata amedada, coined silver.
Que ainda não está amedada, uncoined.
AMOEDAR, v. a. to mint, to coin, to stamp money.
AMOESTACAM, &c. See ADMOESTACAM.
AMOESTAMENTO, f. m. See ADMOESTACAM.
AMOFINADO, a, adj. vexed, &c. See AMOFINAR, v. a. to vex, to harass, to weary out, to fatigue with uneasiness, to fret, to make angry, to chafe, to grieve, to afflict, to tease.
Amofinar-se, v. r. to fret and chafe, to grow angry, to grieve, to be fretted, or grieved.
AMOLDAM. See AMIDO.
AMOJADO, a, adj. milked.
AMOJAR, v. a. to milk.
AMOJO, f. m. ex. Tela com amijo, an under filled with milk. Lat. disertum ubi.
AMOLADOR, f. m. a whetter, one that whets, sharpens, or grinds.
AMOLADO, a, adj. grinded, &c. See AMOLAR.
AMOLADURA, f. f. grinding, sharpening by grinding on a grind-stone.
AMOLAR, v. a. to grind, to sharpen, to whet.
Amolar huma faca, to grind a knife.
Pedra de amolar, a grind-stone, a whet-stone.
AMOLDADO, a, adj. cast in a mould.
AMOLDAR, v. a. to cast in a mould. From moldo, a mould.
AMOLGADO, a, adj. squashed, &c. See AMOLGAR.
AMOLGADURA, f. f. squashing; also the hollow that remains after any blow, or hard compression.
AMOLGAR ou ABOLAR, v. a. to squash, to crush, to beat, to bruise flat. Ital. ammaccare.
Amolgar, (metaph.) to stagger, to shake, to make to stagger, to make less steady, or confident.
Amolgar, (metaph.) to humble to subdue, to crush.
AMOLLECE, v. a. to soften; to grow less hard; also to soften, to grow less cruel, to be touched, softened, or moved. (metaph.)

AMOLLECEDO, a, adj. softened, &c. according to the verb amollecere.
AMOLLENTADO, a, adj. softened, male f. f.
AMOLLENTAR, v. a. to soften, to make soft.
AMONTACO. See AMMONIACO.
AMONIR. See ADMOESTAR.
AMONTADO, a, adj. heaped up.
AMONTAR, v. a. to heap up, to pile up, to amass, to hoard up.
AMOR, f. m. love, affection, friendship. Lat. amor.
Amor, an affection or passion for any thing in general.
Amor divino, heavenly love.
O amor de deus, the love of God.
Amor de pay, paternal love.
Amor Platonico, Platonic love, a pure spiritual affection. (So called of Plato the divine philosopher.)
Amor proprio, self-love, selfishness.
Amor mundano, earthly love, human affection.
Amor das riquezas, the love of riches.
Amor, love, the passion which a person of one sex has for another of a different sex.
O deus do amor ou Cupido, love, or Cupid, the god of love.
Amor, love, the object loved.
Eu tenho visto o vosso amor, I have seen your love.
Que tem perdois e seu amor, ou amante, love-lorn.
Ter amores com algum, to be in love with one.
Tomar amores, to fall in love.
Carta de amores, a love-letter.
Bebida que causa amor, a love-potion, an amatory potion.
De amor, pertencente ao amor, ou que causa amor, amatory.
Cantiga de amores, ou amorosa, love-song.
Contos de amores, ou amorosos, love-tale.
Que tem mal de amores, love-sick.
Que não tem amor, ou sem amor, loveless.
Por amor de deus, for God's sake, for the love of God.
Por amor de mim, for my sake, out of love to me.
P. furta o carneiro, e dar os pés pelo amor de deus, we say: to steal a goat, and give the gibles in alms.
P. amor, e reino não quer parentesco, love and lordship, never like fellowship. The Lat. say, rex regna terre jactat, nec tale sociat.
P. amor, e senhoria, não quer companhia, idem.
P. amor não tem ley, love will creep, where it cannot go.
Amor de urtiga, the herb called burdock.
Amor perfeito, the herb trinity, or heart's ease.
AMO'RA, f. f. a mulberry; from the Lat. morum.
AMORADO. See AUZENTE.
AMORAVELMENTE, adv. lovingly, kindly.
AMOREIRA, f. f. the mulberry-tree. Lat. morus.
AMOREIRA'L, f. m. the place wherein the mulberry trees grow.
AMORES, the plur. of amor, commonly taken in the worst sense, for a low amorous passion. See AMOR.

A M P

A M P

A N A

Os primeiros amores, the first inclinations.
AMORICOS, f. m. p. love-tricks.
AMORIM, a sort of pear, so called.
AMORNADO, a, adj. lukewarm, made lukewarm.
AMORNAR, v. a. to make lukewarm.
AMOROSAMENTE, adv. amorously, lovingly.
AMOROSO, a, adj. loving, kind, mild, gentle. See also MACRO.
Amoroso, amorous, amatory, pertaining to love.
Cantiga amorosa, a love-song.
Olhar com olhos amorosos, ou risinhos, to smicker, to look amorously, to smirk.
AMOROSINHO f. m. (a word of endearment) a little or poor heart. Lat. corculum; it is also taken for Cupid.
AMORTALHADO, a, adj. shrouded, put into a shroud; it is also said of a widow in her mourning veil, or of a friar in his religious habit. (metaph.)
AMORTALHAR, v. a. to put into a shroud for burial, to shroud, to dress for the grave; from mortalha, a shroud.
AMORTECER, v. n. to swoon, or faint away; to be as it were dead.
Amortecer-se, v. r. idem.
AMORTECIDO, a, adj. swooned or fainted away.
Carne amortecida, dead flesh, that is not sensible of pain.
Luz amortecida, glimmer, faint splendor, weak light.
AMORTISACAM, f. f. amortisation, amortisement, the act of turning lands into mortmain. (In law.)
AMOSTRÁ, f. f. a pattern, a sample, also a picture drawn upon oiled paper with one colour only. (Among painters.)
AMOSTRADO, &c. See MOSTRADO, &c.
AMOTA, f. f. a sort of sluice for keeping the water of the Tagus from overflowing the neighbouring grounds.
AMOTAR arvores, v. a. (in husbandry) to lay earth to the roots of trees.
AMOTINADO, a, adj. revolted, risen against, &c. See AMOTINAR.
AMOTINADOR, f. m. a mutineer, a mover of sedition.
AMOTINAR, v. n. to mutiny, to raise a mutiny, to move sedition.
AMOVUCOS, f. m. p. a sort of rash people in India.
AMPARADO, a, adj. protected, &c. according to the verb amparar.
Lugar amparado, ou abrigado, a shelter, a safe place as with bad weather.
AMPARAR, v. a. to protect, to shelter, to defend, to abet, or support. See also ABRIGAR.
Amparar velhacos, to countenance rogues.
O que ampara, a protector, a countenancer.
AMPARO, f. m. protection, defence, support, countenance. See ABRIGO.
Sem amparo, ou que não tem amparo, forlorn, forsaken, left comfortless.
AMPELUSA, f. f. (a Greek word signifying plenty of grapes) Cape Spartel, a promontory on the Barbary coast in Africa, at the entrance of the strait of Gibraltar, between Azila and Tangier. It is also taken for the whole Mauritania, or coast of Barbary, in Africa. It is only used by poets, because they call it commonly Ponta de Alcacere, or Cabo de Espartel.
AMPHIBIO, a, adj. amphibious, that lives both upon the land and water. It is also used as a substantive for any amphibious creature, as frogs, &c.

AMPHIBOLOGIA, f. f. amphibology.
AMPHIBOLOGICO, a, adj. amphibological, doubtful.
AMPHISBENA ou AMPHISIBENA, f. f. amphibæna, a smaller kind of serpent, which moveth forward and backward, and is supposed to have two heads, one at either extreme.
AMPHISCIOS, f. m. p. Amphiscii, the inhabitants of the torrid zone; so called because their shadows at different times of the year fall both ways, viz. both toward the north and south poles.
AMPHITEATRO, f. m. amphitheatre, an edifice of the Romans, in form either oval or round.
AMPHITRITE, f. f. the daughter of Nereus, or Oceanus, by the nymph Doris; she is by the poets sometimes taken for the sea.
AMPLAMENTE, adv. amply, fully, copiously.
AMPLASTICO. See EMPLASTICO.
AMPLEXO. See ABRACO.
AMPLIADO, a, adj. amplified.
AMPLIADOR, f. m. an improver, one that makes any thing better.
AMPLIAR, v. a. to amplify, to enlarge, to make wider, to improve, to better.
Ampliar o poder, to amplify the power.
Ampliar os seus dominios, to enlarge one's dominions.
Ampliar a lingua com muitas palavras, to enrich a language, to make it more copious.
Ampliar as fortunas, ou ampliar os bens, e fazenda, to better one's fortune, to improve one's estate.
AMPLIFICACAM, f. f. (with rhetoricians) amplification, an amplifying or enlarging upon an argument.
AMPLIFICADO, a, adj. amplified, &c. See AMPLIFICAR.
AMPLIFICADOR, f. m. amplifier, one that enlarges, or amplifies with a large display of the best circumstances; also an improver, one that improves, or makes any thing better.
AMPLIFICAR, v. a. to amplify with a large display of the best circumstances; also to improve, to make any thing better.
Amplificar, to enlarge, to extend.
Amplificar a sua conquista, to extend one's conquest.
Amplificar o evangelho, to propagate the gospel.
AMPLITUDE ou AMPLITUDE, f. f. amplitude, extent, largeness.
AMPLITUDE do sol, ou das estrelas, (in astronomy) the amplitude of the sun, or stars.
Amplitude ortiva, eastern amplitude.
Amplitude occidua, western amplitude.
AMPLO, a, adj. ample, large, wide.
Ampla discurso, a copious speech, or discourse.
Materia ampla, a wide or ample field of matter wherein to expatiate, or to discourse upon.
Ampla, ample, without restriction.
AMPOLA. See EMPOLA. See also AMBULA, and GALHETA.
Ampola, (among the Abyssines.) See TENDA, and PAVELHAM.
AMPOLHETA, f. f. a glass used in measuring time by the running of sand in it.
Ampolheta de huma hora, an hour-glass.

AMSTERDAM, Amsterdam, or Amstel-dam, the capital of the United Provinces.
AMUADO, a, adj. furly, silently, angry, &c. See
AMUAR, v. n. to take a pet, to be in a pet, to be silently angry. It is properly said of children.
Amuar, ou obstar-se, to be stubborn.
Amuar-se, to take a pet, &c. See AMUAR.
AMULADO, a, adj. like a mulatto; that is, tawny, like one that is born of a black and a white.
AMULETICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to an amulet. See
AMULETO, f. m. amulet, a sort of physical composition, or charm, to wear about a person's neck, as a preservative against plague, poison, enchantment, or to remove diseases, &c.
AMURA, f. f. (a sea term) the main tack, which is a great rope in a ship seized into the clew of the sail to carry forward the clew of the sail, and to make it stand close by a wind.
AMURADAS, f. f. p. the high sides within the ship.
AMYDO. See AMIDO.
AMYGDALAS, f. f. p. (in anatomy) amygdalæ, the almonds of the ears.
ANNA, ou Anna, f. f. an ell, a sort of measure used in the northern countries. From the French aune, an ell.
Ana de Londres, an English ell; that is, one Portuguese covado and two-thirds. See COVADO.
Aná, (in physicians bills) ana; it is used to signify that an equal quantity of each ingredient is to be taken in compounding the medicine.
ANAA couça, dwarf-fish.
Gallinha anaa, a dwarf-hen. Arvores anaa, dwarf-trees.
ANABAPTISTAS, f. m. p. anabaptists, a sect of christians.
ANACADO, a, adj. agitated, beaten, &c. See
ANACAR, v. a. to beat or mix things by long agitation.
Anacar a clara de hum ovo, to beat the white of an egg.
Anacar, to tempest, to disturb as by a tempest.
Ventos que anacão as agoas do oceano, tempestuous winds that swell the waters of the ocean.
ANACARDINA, f. f. the confectio made with the fruit called anacardium.
ANACARDO, f. m. anacardium, a bean in Malacca, growing in the form of a sheep's heart.
ANACEPHALOSE. See RECAPITULAÇAM.
Fazer anacephalose, to anacephalize, to repeat the heads of a matter.
ANACHORETA, ou ANACORETA, f. m. an anchorite, an hermit, a solitary man.
ANACHORITICO, a, adj. hermitical.
ANACHRONISMO, f. m. anachronism.
ANADEL, ANADEM, ou ANHADEL, f. m. a captain, a commander. (Obsol.)
ANAFADO, a, adj. that has a smooth coat. (Speaking of horses, mules, &c.)
ANAFATA, f. f. the first silk yarn spun by the silk-worm, after the manner of a labyrinth upon a branch.

ANAFEGA, f. f. See MAÇAÃ and MA-CEIRA.

ANAFIL, f. m. a Moorish trumpet.

Trigo anafil, a sort of wheat that comes from Barbary; it is also taken for any sort of good wheat.

ANAGOA, f. f. a smicket, a woman's undergarment of linen.

ANAGOGICO, a, adj. anagogical.

ANAGOGICOS, f. m. p. speeches or prayers that exalt the mind to divine contemplations.

ANAGRAMMA, f. m. anagram.

O que faz anagrammas, an anagrammatist.

Fazer anagrammas, to anagrammatize, to make anagrams.

ANALECTOS, f. m. p. analesta, scraps collected out of authors.

ANALEMMA, (in astronomy) analemma.

ANALOGIA, f. f. analogy.

ANALOGICAMENTE, adv. analogically.

ANALOGISMO, f. m. (with physicians) analogism, a comparison of causes relating to a disease.

ANÁLOGO, a, adj. analogous.

Análogo, f. m. analogy.

ANÁLISIS, f. f. analysis, the severing a matter into its parts.

ANALÍTICO, a, adj. analytical, or analytic.

Arte analytica, analytics, or analytical art, a name given to algebra.

ANANÁS, f. m. ananas, or pine-apple, so called from its resembling cones of the pine-tree. No fruit equals the ananas in delicious flavour.

ANAM, f. m. a dwarf. See ANÃÃ.

ANAPÉSTO, f. m. anapestus, a foot that has the two first syllables short, and last long, as pietas.

Verso composto de anapestos, an anapestic verse.

ANAPHORA, f. f. anaphora, a repetition or figure, when several clauses of a sentence begin with the same word.

ANARCHIA, cu ANARQUIA, f. f. anarchy, want of all government in a state or nation.

ANASARCA, f. f. (with physicians) anasarca, a sort of dropsy.

ANASTOMOSIS, (with physicians) anastomosis, a loosening or opening, such an aperture in the vessels as lets out the contents.

ANASTROPHE, f. f. anastrophe, a figure, when that word which should follow is set foremost; Italiani contra.

ANATHEMA, f. m. anathema, a sort of ecclesiastical excommunication.

Anathema sit, let him be anathematized.

anathema, a sacrifice, a victim.

ANATHEMATIZADO, a, adj. anathematized.

ANATHEMATIZAR, v. a. to anathematize, to excommunicate; also to curse.

ANATOMIA, f. f. anatomy, a neat dissection, or cutting up the body of man or beast, whereby the parts are severally discovered and explained, for the use of physic and natural philosophy; also anatomy, the art of anatomizing.

Fazer anatomia. See ANATOMIZAR.

Anatomia de ossos, anatomy, a thin meagre person.

ANATOMICO, a, adj. anatomical.

ANATOMIZA'DO, a, adj. anatomized.

ANATOMIZA'R, v. a. to anatomize, to dissect an animal; also to anatomize, to pry into, to search, to lay any thing open distinctly. (metaph.)

ANATOMISTA, f. m. an anatomist.

ANAZARCA. See ANASARCA.

ANCA, f. f. the hip, the upper part of the thigh.

Anca, ou garupa do cavallo, the hip or buttock of a horse.

Andar nas ancas, to ride on the rump, or to ride behind another.

Cavalleque sobre ancas, a horse that carries double.

ANCHOVA, f. f. an anchovy.

ANCIA. See ANSIA.

ANCIANIDADE, f. f. ancientry, ancientness, seniority, eldership, dignity of birth.

ANCIAM, f. m. a venerable old man.

ANCINHO, f. m. (in husbandry) a rake.

ANCO, f. m. elbow, any flexure or angle in general. Greek.

Ancos de pedra, elbows of stone.

Fazer anco ou cotovelo, to elbow, to jut out in angles.

ANCORA, f. f. an anchor. Lat.

Ancora mayor, ou da esperança, the sheet-anchor.

Ancora de reboque, a kedger, a kedger-anchor.

Argola da ancora, the ring of an anchor.

Unha da ancora, the flook of an anchor.

Lançar ancora, to cast, to drop anchor, to touch.

Levar, ou levantar a ancora, to hoist, or to weigh anchor.

Estar sobre ancora, to be, to lie, or to ride at anchor.

Garrar a ancora, to drive; that is, when an anchor does not hold fast, and the ship drags it away.

Meter a ancora na lanca, to boat the anchor.

Todas as ancoras pertencentes a hum navio, anchorage, the set of anchors belonging to a ship.

Estar a ancora a pique, is for the anchor to be a-peek.

Pão atravessado junto da argola da ancora, the wooden stock of an anchor.

ANCORA'DO, a, adj. anchored, that rides at anchor, that is holden fast with the anchor.

ANCORADOURO, f. m. anchorage, or anchoring, ground apt or fit to hold the anchor of a ship; so that she cannot drive.

ANCORA'JEM, f. f. the action of anchoring; see also ANCORADOURO.

Ancorajem, anchorage, a duty paid to the king for the privilege of casting anchor in a pool or haven.

ANCORAR, v. n. to anchor, to cast anchor, to ride at anchor.

Ancorar, v. a. to hold a ship by casting anchor.

ANCOROTE, f. m. a kedger, a small anchor; also an anker, a small cask or vessel.

ANÇARINHA, f. f. the herb called hemlock.

ANDABA'TAS, f. m. p. andabatae, a sort of gladiators who fought hood-winked.

ANDACO, f. m. a catching or contagious disease, an epidemical disease, as small-pox, &c. From andar, to go; because it is communicable from one to another.

Há hum andaço de bexigas muyto grande, the small-pox is very rife.

ANDA'DO, a, adj. walked over.

ANDADO'R, f. m. a great walker.

Andador, he that carries the funeral bills about to such as are invited to the funeral.

Andador, a go-cart for children.

ANDADO'RA. See ANDE'RA.

ANDADU'RA, f. f. going, walking, gait, or way of going.

Cavallo de andadura, a pacing horse.

ANDA'IME, f. m. a scaffold for masons, &c.

Pão do andaime, que se mete no agulheiro da parede, a putlock, or putlog, that piece of timber to be put in a hole in building of scaffolds.

Pão do andaime perpendicular ao horizonte, e paralelo ao edificio, a ledger, that piece that lies parallel to the side of the building.

Andaime, a set of sails for a ship. They call it also andaina, but then it is feminine.

ANDANTE. See VLINDANTE.

Cavalleiro andante, a knight-errant.

Andante, (in heraldry) it is said of beasts represented as if they were a-going.

AND'AR, v. n. to go, to walk, to march. Lat. ambulare.

Andar, to be at, or about something.

Elle anda trabalhando em hum grande obra, he is about a great piece of work.

Andar, to be, or do, in point of health.

Andar bom, to be well, to be in health.

Andar a pé, to walk, to go on foot.

Andar de pé, to be sickly, or indisposed, but not bed-ridden.

Andar a cavallo, to ride on horse-back.

Andar pela posta, to ride, or go post.

Andar em coche, to ride in a coach.

Andar a vela, to sail.

Andar pela bolina, to sail with a side-wind.

Andar para diante, to go forward, to go on.

Andar para traz, to go backward.

Andar atraz de alguém, to follow, to press, to solicit a person.

Andar ás apalpadellas, to grope along, to grope or feel one's way.

Andar com o tempo, to go according to the times.

Andar pejada, to be with child, or big with child.

Andar sabida, (speaking of a bitch) to be proud.

Andar perdido, to go astray.

Andar com honra, to behave or act like an honest man.

Andar de esquelha, to go sideling.

Andar de mal para peor, out of the frying-pan into the fire.

Andar de reixa com alguém, to bear one a grudge, to have a spleen against him, to owe him a spite.

Andar de galope, to gallop.

Ai dar em corpo, to be in cuerpo, or to be without the upper coat or cloak, so as to discover the true shape of the cuerpo, or body.

Anda o mundo ás avessas, the world is come about.

Andar a grandes passos, to walk at a great rate.

Andar a passos lentos, to walk very slowly.

Andar espalhados, to lie about or scatteringly.

ly, to scatter, to be dispersed, or disseminated.
Andar de gatinhas, to go crawling, to crawl, to go upon all four.
Andar de cicaras, to go on one's breech, to go resting on the hips.
Andar dizendo, to publish, to report, to disseminate, to scatter or spread abroad.
Andar arrastado, to be in a mean condition, or full of troubles, to be behind-hand in the world.
Andar de manso, sem fazer estrondo, to go softly, or on tip-toe.
Andar fiado em, to trust, to depend, or rely upon.
Não he que elle anda fiado, he goes upon that.
Anda, go, go away.
Andar de baixo para cima, ou de huma banda para outra, to go up and down; to ramble about, to go from place to place, to gad.
Andar quatro milhas em huma hora, v. a. to go four miles in an hour.
Como andais? How goes your health?
Andar á roda do mundo, to go about the world.
Andar em cobinelas, to wear slippers, to go in slippers.
Elle sempre anda bem vestido, he always goes in very good clothes.
Andar fazendo, to be about something.
Que andais fazendo? What are you about?
Assim anda o mundo, so the world goes.
Andar atraz de alguma cousa com grande desejo de alcança-la, to hanker after a thing.
Parece que anda triste, he looks sad.
Parecevoos que eu não hei de amar Pamela quando ella andar triste, como quando anda alegre? Do you think I shall not love a sad Pamela so well as a joyful one.
Andar de noite, to walk in the night.
Andar aos paos, ou andar á tuna, to gad, to straggle about without any settled purpose, loosely and idly.
Andar buscando, to look, or to be looking for.
Andar ao páiro. See PAIRAR, and PAIRO.
Hir andando, to proceed, to step, or go forward, to go on, to advance; also to make shift.
Vamos andando, let us step forward; also, so so, indifferently, we make just shift to live.
Andar, an interjection. ex. Andar, seja o que, for, well, let it be as it will.
Andar-se, v. imp. ex. Anda-se em procura delle, they are looking for him.
Elle andava-se preparando, he was getting himself ready.
P. andar, andar, &c. See BEIRA.
Andar, f. m. the gait, walk, or way of walking. See also SOBRADO.
Conheço-o pelo andar, I know him by his gait.
Pôr-se ao andar da rua, to go out of doors.
Com o andar do tempo, at long run.
ANDARES, f. m. p. ex. Três com elle muitos andares e tomares, I had many disputes with him.
ANDARILHO, ou ANDARIM, f. m. a running footman.
ANDAS, f. f. p. a bier to carry the dead, or rather the two poles belonging to it. See also LITEIRA.

ANDEJO, a, adj. fisking.
ANDEIRA, ou ANLEJA mulher, a gossip, a tattling woman, a frisking woman.
ANDILHAS, f. f. p. a saddle with a frame standing up about it, for women to ride on, and be kept from falling, or to ease themselves against.
ANDO'R, f. m. a bier to carry images in procession.
Andor, (in India) a sort of sedan or chair to be carried in.
ANDORINHA, f. f. a swallow. Lat. hirundo.
P. nem hum dedo faz mão, nem huma andorinha verão, we say, one swallow does not make a summer. Horace says, una hirundo non facit ver.
Gazear a andorinha, to chirp as a swallow.
Erva andorinha, celandine, the herb otherwise called swallow-wort, on account of a tradition, that swallows make use of it as a medicine for the eye-sight.
ANDRAJO, f. m. a rag, a clout. Greek.
ANDRAJO'SO, a, adj. ragged, tattered.
ANDRE', f. m. Andrew, a proper name of a man.
Cavalleiros de Santo Andre, the knights of St. Andrew, in Scotland, established by king Achaicus, A. C. 809; called also knights of the Thistle. It is also an order instituted by Peter the Great of Muscovy, A. C. 1689.
ANDRINO cavallo, a damson coloured horse. From the Spanish andrina, a damson.
ANDROGINO, f. m. an hermaphrodite. Greek.
ANDURRIAS, f. m. p. (obsol.) frequented ways or passages.
ANECDO'TO, f. m. anecdote, something yet unpublished, a secret history, such as relates to the secret affairs of kings and princes.
ANEGAÇA. See NEGAÇA.
ANE'L, f. m. a ring. Lat. annulus.
Anel do cabelo, a curl, a twirl, or ringlet of hair.
Anel de saturno, (in astronomy) the ring of saturn, a solid circular arch and plane, like the horizon of an artificial globe, which entirely encompasses that planet, but does not touch it.
Dar o anel, to betroth.
Obra feita por mãos de aneis, a woman's work.
ANELA'R, v. n. to fetch one's breath quick and short, to breath short, and with difficulty. Lat. anclare.
Anelar, (metaph.) to hanker after a thing. See ASPIRAR.
ANELINHO, ou ANELZINHO, f. m. a little ring.
ANELITO, f. m. a shortness of breath.
ANELO, a, adj. greedy, covetous.
ANEMONE, f. m. the anemony or wind-flower; the principal colours of it are white, red, blue, and sometimes purple, curiously intermixed.
ANE'TE, f. m. the ring of an anchor.
ANEURISMA, m. and f. aneurism, or aneyrism, a morbid dilatation of an artery, attended with a continued pulsation and tumour, which yields if pressed by the finger, but instantly recoils. (With physicians.)
ANEXADO, anexar, &c. See ANNEXADO, ANNEXAR, &c.

ANEXIM, f. m. quibble, drollery, railery, a low conceit.
AMFIBOLOGIA, &c. See AMPHIBOLOGIA, &c.
AMPHITHEATRO. See AMPHITHEATRO.
ANFIAM, f. m. so they call the laudanum in India.
ANGE'LICA, f. f. angelica, the name of a well known plant, of which the species are, 1. Common or manured angelica. 2. Greater wild angelica. 3. Shining Canada angelica. 4. Mountain perennial angelica with columbine leaves: also the proper name of a woman.
Angelica, ou tuberosa, tuberosa, a kind of white sweet-smelling flower.
Angelica, f. f. a sort of ratafia. French angelique.
ANGELICEL, adj. angelical, angel.
ANGELICAMENTE, adv. angel-like.
ANGELICO, a, adj. See ANGELICAL.
ANGELIM, f. m. a tree in Brazil, bearing a nut of the shape and bigness of an egg; the powder of it taken in a small quantity, expels worms in the belly. Ray's Hist. of Plants, v. Andira.
ANGINA, f. f. a disease of the throat, called the squinancy, squincy, or quincy; an inflammation of the jaws stopping the breath.
ANGO'LA, f. f. a kingdom of Congo or Lower Guinea, in Africa. Here almost all European nations resort, in order to purchase slaves for their American plantations. In the lakes of Angola are, Hippopotami, or river horses. This country, the Portuguese (to whom it belongs) have rendered very fruitful. The natives give it the name of Dongo; and anciently it had the appellation of Ambonde, which is not yet quite out of use.
ANGRA, f. f. a creek, bay, or station for ships.
Angra, f. f. the metropolis of the islands of the Azores, or Western islands. Its harbour is at the bottom of a small bay, between two points of land, one of which is situated to the W. and the other to the E. upon the former of these points of land stands the castle of St. Sebastian; and on the latter, namely, upon a high hill called Monte do Brazil, that of St. John Baptista; and this is the castle where king Aiphonso, was confined by his brother Peter, in the year 1668. Angra was erected into a city in the year 1533.
ANGUFA, f. f. See ENGUFA.
ANGULAR, adj. angular.
ANGULO, f. m. an angle, a corner.
Angulo, (in geometry) an angle, a space comprehended between the meeting of two lines; so that if prolonged, they would cut one another, and so form another angle upon the back of the first.
Angulo recto, a right angle.
Angulo obtuso, an obtuse angle.
Angulo agudo, an acute angle.
Angulo obliquo, an oblique angle, such which is either acute or obtuse, in opposition to right angles.
Angulo sacado, (in fortification) angle salient, or that advances with its point towards the country, as the angle of the counterscarp before the point of a bastion; also called Sortant and Nis.
Angulo que recolhe para dentro, (in fortification) angle re-entering, angle rentrant, or

- or that angle that points towards the body of the place.
- Angulo ou ponta de hum baluarte, entre duas faces*, an angle or point of a bastion, between two faces.
- Angulo*, (with printers) caret, a character in this form (A) which denotes there is something to be inserted or included, which ought to have come in where the character is placed.
- ANGULO'SO*, a, adj. See ANGULAR.
- ANGU'RRIA*, f. f. the strangury, difficulty in making water.
- ANGU'STIA*, f. f. anguish, pain, trouble.
- Lat.
- ANGUSTIA'DO*, a, adj. in anguish, in pain. See the verb
- ANGUSTIA'R*, v. a. to trouble, vex, or afflict.
- ANGUSTIA'R-SE*, v. r. to be vexed, or grieved.
- ANHADE'L*, } See { ANADEL.
ANHELAR, } ANELAR.
ANHELITO, } ANELITO.
- ANHO*, f. m. a lamb. From the Lat. agnus.
- ANHO'TO*, a, adj. ex. Não agnota, a ship that is continually upon a voyage to and fro, a packet-boat. Some say it means a hulling ship.
- ANJO'NHO*, f. m. a little angel.
- ANIL*, f. m. indigo, or indico, a plant that grows in the East and West Indies, whose leaves prepared, are used in dying, for a blue colour.
- ANILADO*, a, adj. dyed with anil. See also ESMALTADO.
- ANIMAÇAM*, f. f. the infusion of the soul into the body.
- ANIMADO*, a, adj. that has received life, or soul; animated, encouraged; kindled, (speaking of fire.)
- ANIMAL*, f. m. an animal, any living creature; commonly taken for a beast, or for a brutish man.
- Animal*, adj. belonging to sensation.
- Animas domesticos*, tame, mild beasts, that will come to hand.
- Animas bravos*, game, beasts for hunting.
- Animas ferozes*, wild and fierce beasts.
- Animas que andam de rasto*, creeping beasts.
- ANIMALE'JO*, f. m. a little animal, or creature.
- ANIMAR*, v. a. to give life.
- Animar*, to hearten, to encourage, to embolden, to animate.
- Animar*, to cause the plants to bud, or sprout out.
- ANIME*, ou seja especie de gomma cheirosa, the sweet gum called gum anime; it is rather a resin of a large tree, white, and drawing towards the colour of frankincense, and brought over in small pieces like it, but somewhat larger, of a very fragrant scent, and laid on the coals soon burns; it is brought both from the East and West Indies. Monardes: It is good against head-achs, proceeding from any cold cause, burning it, and airing head-cloths with it.
- ANIMO*, f. m. soul, spirit.
- Animo*, courage, heart, valour, resolution, boldness; also intention, meaning, purpose, design.
- Cobrar animo*, to recover one's spirits.
- Perder animo*, to prove faint-hearted, to be discouraged.
- Fazer-se animo*, to cheer up, to pluck up a good heart.
- Dar animo*, to encourage.
- Animo nobre*, a great soul.
- Grandeza de animo*, magnanimity, greatness of soul, spirit.
- Vileza de animo*, faint-heartedness, sneakiness.
- Animo*, cheer up, on, (for to exhort.)
- ANIMOSAMENTE*, adv. courageously, stoutly, valiantly, briskly, boldly, resolutely.
- ANIMOSIDA'DE*, f. f. insolence, sauciness; but it is not much used in this sense.
- Animosidade*, valour, courage, heart, boldness; also animosity, grudge, spite, ill-will.
- ANIMO'SO*, a, adj. brave, stout, valiant, courageous.
- ANINAR*, v. a. to lull, to entice to sleep by singing, as a nurse does her child. From nina, nina, which answers to our by-by-lullaby.
- ANINHAR-SE*, v. refl. to nestle.
- ANJO*, f. m. angel, a messenger from heaven.
- Anjo da guarda*, tutelary angel, guardian angel.
- Cara de anjo*, a charming face.
- Voz de anjo*, angelical voice.
- Ser, ou ficar anjo*, (a familiar phrase) it is said of people that know nothing of the matter in question.
- Anjo*, scate, a sea-fish.
- ANQUILADO*. See ANNIQUILADO.
- ANQUILAR*. See ANNIQUILAR.
- ANNA*, f. f. Anne, the proper name of a woman. See also GUADIANA.
- Dia de santa Anna*, St. Anne's day.
- Anna*, ou Anna perenna, (among the ancient Romans) Anna Perenna, the daughter of Belus, and sister of Dido, the nymph of the river Numicius.
- Anna*, Anna, a city of Asia, in Arabia Petrea, on the west bank of the river Euphrates.
- ANNADE'M*. See ANADEL.
- ANNAE'S*, f. m. p. annals, or yearly chronicles.
- ANNA'L*, f. m. ex. Hum annal de missas, an annate, or annat, masses said in the Romish church for the space of a year, either for the soul of a person deceased, or for the benefit of a person living.
- ANNALISTA*, f. m. annalist, one who composes annals.
- ANNA'TA*, f. f. annat, or annate, the first fruits of ecclesiastical benefices, being the value of one year's profit, paid to the pope, but now to the king in England.
- ANNATISTA*, f. m. an officer employed about the annates.
- ANNEL*. See ANEL.
- ANNE'XA*, f. f. the annexation, or uniting of a land or rent, to another land or rent.
- ANNEXA'CAM*, f. f. annexation.
- ANNEXA'DO*, a, adj. annexed.
- ANNEXAR*, v. a. to annex, or join one thing to another.
- ANNE'XO*, a, adj. annexed.
- ANNIQUILACAM*, f. f. annihilation.
- ANNIQUILADO*, a, adj. annihilated.
- ANNIQUILAR*, v. a. to annihilate, to bring or turn to nothing, to destroy utterly.
- ANNIQUILAR-SE*, v. r. to be turned into nothing, also to humble one's self entirely.
- ANNIVERSARIO*, a, adj. anniversary, done annually, or every year at a certain time.
- Aniversário*, f. m. (with Romanists) an anniversary, a yearly obit or service said by a popish priest, once every year, for a person deceased.
- ANNO*, f. m. year, twelve-month.
- Dia de anno bom*, new-year's-day.
- Cada anno*, every year, yearly.
- De anno em anno*, from year to year.
- No fim do anno*, at the year's end.
- Hir entrando em annos*, to grow old, to grow in years.
- Huma vez cada anno*, once a year.
- De dois em dois annos*, every other year.
- De tres em tres annos*, every third year.
- Anno solar*, a solar year.
- Anno lunar*, a lunar year.
- Anno astronomico*, astronomical year.
- Anno tropico*, tropical year.
- Anno civil*, civil year.
- Annos climatericos*, climacterical years, or certain observable years, which are supposed to be attended with some great mutation of life or fortune; as the seventh year, the twenty-first (made up of three times seven); the twenty-seventh (made up of three times nine); and the eighty-first (made up of nine times nine); thus every seventh or ninth year is said to be climacterical.
- Os grandes annos climatericos*, the grand climacterics, the sixty-third and eighty-first years, wherein, if any sickness happens, it is accounted very dangerous.
- Anno emmergente*. See EFOCA.
- Anno Platonico*, Platonic year, that is every 36,000th year, at which time some philosophers imagined that all persons and things should return to the same state, as they now are.
- Anno de jubileo*, or anno santo, a solemnity first instituted by pope Boniface VIII. in the year 1300, who ordained it to be kept every hundredth year; afterwards Clement IV. ordered one to be kept every fifty years; and Sextus IV. one to be kept every twenty-fifth year.
- Anno bissexto*, bissextile, or leap-year, which happens every fourth year.
- Anno bom*, (i. e. the good or happy new year)
- Annobon*, so called by the Portuguese, on account of their discovering it upon new-year's-day; it is one of the African islands, and situated to the E. of St. Matthew. It lies almost 210 miles from the coast of Loango, in the kingdom of Congo, in Africa. The voyages of the Dutch East India company make it only two leagues in circuit.
- ANNO'SO*, a, adj. See VELHO.
- ANNOTACAM*, f. f. annotation, a noting or marking; also a remark, note, or observation.
- ANNOTACAM de bens*, an edict by which the guilty is obliged to appear before the judge, and if not, it is declared by such an edict, that all his effects will be confiscated, and united to the crown.
- ANNOTADO*, a, adj. See VELHO.
- ANNOTAR*, v. a. to remark, to observe.
- Annotar os bens*, to make annotacam de bens.
- See ANNOTACAM de bens.
- ANNUAL*, adj. yearly.
- ANNUALMENTE*,

ANNUALMENTE, adv. annually, yearly, every year.
ANNUENTE, p. a. that assents. See ANNUIR.
ANNUIDO, a, adj. See ANNUIR.
ANNUIR, v. a. to nod, to hint, or intimate a thing by a nod, to assent. From the Lat. annuo.
ANNULACAM, f. f. abolition.
ANNULADO, a, adj. annulled, made void.
ANNULAR, v. a. to annul, to make void, to abolish, to abrogate, to repeal.
Annular, adj. annular, with rings, in the form of a ring.
Dab annular, the ring-finger.
ANNULATOARIO, a, adj. (term of law) ex. Impedimento annullatorio, the action of a man that endeavours to make void an agreement.
ANNUNCIACIM, f. f. this word is applied peculiarly to Lady-day, March the 25th, which is so called from the angel's message to the Virgin Mary, concerning our Saviour's birth; from ANNUNCIAR, which see; also an order of knighthood, in Savoy, instituted by Amadeus, A.C. 1350.
ANNUNCIADO, a, adj. See
ANNUNCIAR, v. a. to declare, to notify, to make known.
ANNUNCIO, f. m. a message, a declaration.
ANODINO, a, adj. ex. remedios anodinos, anodynes, or such remedies as alleviate or quite take away pain.
ANOGUEIRADO, a, adj. the colour of the walnut-tree.
ANOJADO, a, adj. that is in mourning; see also the v.
ANOJAR, v. a. to weary, to tire, to be wearisome, to be tiresome, to be tedious. From the Ital. annoiare, which signifies the same.
ANOJAR-SE, v. r. to be weary, or tired; also to mourn, to be sorrowful, to wear the habit of sorrow.
ANOJO, f. m. a yearling calf.
ANOITECE, v. n. to grow night; also to be at night in a place.
As anoitecer, at the dusk of the evening, or the night-fall.
ANOITECIDO, a, adj. grown night.
ANOMALIA, f. f. irregularity, deviation from rule; anomaly, anomalism. Also an extraordinary variety of events, and adventures.
Anomalia, (in astrology) an inequality or unlikeness in the motion of the planets.
ANO'MALO, a, adj. anomalous, irregular. Greek.
ANONIMO, a, adj. anonymous, without a name. Greek.
ANONIS. } See ANONIS.
ANOTACAM. } See ANOTACAM.
ANOTOMIA. } See ANATOMIA.
ANOVEADO, a, adj. See ANOVEAR.
ANOVEAR, v. a. to pay; or to set the price nine times higher than the thing is worth.
ANOVELLADO, a, adj. See ANOVELLAR.
ANOVELLAR, v. a. to agglomerate, to wind up yarn in a bottom, (metaph.) to throng, or crowd together as soldiers do, to troop.
ANRIQUE, f. m. buoy-rope, a rope tied to the buoy at one end, and to the anchor's flook at the other.

ANSARINHA. See ANÇARINHA.
ANSEATICO. See HANSEATICO.
ANSIA, f. f. anguish, pain, grief, torment, agonies; also an ardent desire.
As ansias da morte, the pangs of death.
ANSIADO, a, adj. See ANSIAR.
ANSIAR, v. n. to pant, to fetch breath short and fast.
ANSINHO. See ENSINHO.
ANSIOSO, a, adj. that is seized with pangs, or that has an ardent desire.
Estou ansioso de vello, I long to see him.
ANTA, f. f. a beast in the West Indies, like a little cow, but without horns. The hide is much valued to make buff coats. The same beast is called Tapijerete by the natives of Brazil.
Cor de anta, buff-colour.
ANTACIDO, ex. Remedio antacido, that remedy that destroys acidity.
ANTAGONISTA, f. m. See ANTEGONISTA.
ANTARCTICO, a, adj. antarctic, or south, as the antarctic pole. Greek.
ANTE, preposit. before.
De ante mão, before hand, previously.
Ante tempo, over-hastily, too soon, early, untimely, before the usual time.
Ante, before, in presence of.
ANTECAMARA, f. f. an anti-chamber.
ANTECEDENCIAS, f. f. p. the things said, or done before.
ANTECEDENTE, adj. antecedent, going before.
Antecedente, f. m. the antecedent preposition. (In logic.)
ANTECEDENTEMENTE, adv. before, antecedent to.
ANTECEDE, v. a. to precede, to go before. Lat.
ANTECEDIDO, a, adj. See ANTECEDER.
ANTECESSOR, f. m. an antecessor. Lat.
ANTECIPACAM. See ANTICIPACAM.
ANTECOR, or ANTECORACAM, f. m. a disease in horses. From the Italian, anticore.
ANTECOS, f. m. p. antoecy, or antioeci, the inhabitants of the earth who live under the same meridian, but opposite parallels.
ANTEGONISTA, or ANTAGONISTA, f. m. an antagonist, an adversary.
Musculo antegonista, (in anatomy) a muscle of an opposite situation, or contrary quality.
ANTELAÇAM, f. f. See PREFERENCIA.
ANTELOQUIO, or ANTILOQUIO, a prologue, a preface, an introduction.
ANTEMANHA, or ANTEMENHA, before day-light.
ANTEMERIDIANO, a, adj. before noon, antimeridian.
ANTEMURAL, f. m. a countermure, or wall set before; a barbican before a castle, the out-works.
ANTE'NA, f. f. the yard of a ship, to which the sails are made fast.
As pontas das antenas, the yard arms in a ship.
ANTENILHA, also called pro ferro, a kind of herb, to which the Romans used to hang ANTENOME, f. m. the first name of three which the Romans usually had,

ANTEPARALYTICO. See ANTIPARALYTICO.
ANTEPARAR, v. a. to shelter, to secure from. See OBVIAR.
ANTEPARAR-SE, v. r. to shelter, or screen one's self, to be sheltered, to be secure or free from danger, injury, harm, &c.
ANTEPARO, f. m. a portal before a door.
ANTEPASSADOS, f. m. p. the ancestors, or predecessors.
ANTEPASTO, f. m. such dishes as are first served at table. From the Italian, antipasto.
ANTEPENULTIMO, a, adj. the last but two.
ANTEPILANOS, f. m. p. the middle rank of the Roman army that marched next after the hastati, and the next before the triarii.
ANTEPOPA, f. f. the fore-part of the stern.
ANTEPOR, v. a. to prefer, or set before. Lat.
ANTERIO, adj. former, or that which lies before. Lat.
ANTERIORIDADE, f. f. precedence, preference.
ANTERIORMENTE, adv. before, preceding to.
ANTES, adv. before.
Antes que or do que, rather sooner, before.
Antes de jantar, before dinner-time.
Antes que venha, before he comes.
Querer antes, to love, to choose.
Quizera antes estar aqui do quebir, I had rather stay here than go.
Mas antes, on the contrary, nay.
P. antes que cazes mira lo que baxes, look before you leap; that is, consider and examine well the consequences of things, before you engage.
ANTESIGNANO, f. m. an ensign.
ANTEVER, v. a. to foresee. Lat.
ANTEVIDENCIA, f. f. providence, foresight.
ANTHORA. See ZEDOARIA.
ANTHROPOFAGO, f. m. a man-hater, a cannibal. Greek.
ANTHROPOLOGIA, f. f. a discourse or description of a man, or man's body. Greek.
ANTICHRISTO, f. m. antichrist. Greek.
ANTICIPACAM, or ANTECIPACAM, f. f. anticipation, prevention.
ANTICIPADAMENTE, adv. before hand, previously.
ANTICIPADO, a. See ANTICIPAR.
ANTICIPAR, v. a. to anticipate, to prevent, to forestal, to take up before-hand, or before the time.
ANTICIPAR-SE, v. r. to answer an objection before hand, also to outgo, or outstrip; also to prevent, or be before-hand with.
ANTIDATA, f. f. antedate, an older date than ought to be.
ANTIDICOMARIANISTAS, f. m. p. antedicomarians, heretics that denied the perpetual virginity of the virgin Mary, anno 396.
ANTIDORON, f. m. a present, a gift. Greek.
ANTIDOTARIO, f. m. any book written about antidotes.
ANTIDOTO, f. m. an antidote, a preservative against poison. Greek.
ANTIDROPICO, a, adj. that is against dropsy. Greek.

ANTIFEBRIL, adj. that is against fever.
ANTIGAME'NTE, adv. anciently.
ANTI'GO, a, adj. ancient.
ANTI'GRAPHO, f. m. (in glossography) a mark to distinguish the words we make notes upon, from the explanation of them.
ANTIGUA'LHA, f. f. antiquity, a piece of antiquity.
ANTIGUIDA'DE, f. f. antiquity. Lat. antiquitas.
ANTIHECTICOS, f. m. p. remedies against the hectic fever, or consumption. Greek.
ANTILHAS, f. f. p. islands, lying in form of a bow or semicircle, extending almost from the coast of Florida, N. to that of Brazil, S. in America. By some, these islands are called Caribbies, from the first inhabitants, falsely reckoned to be man-eaters; but this appellation most geographers confine to the Leeward Islands: the only islands denominated Antilles by Acosta, are the four islands of Cuba, Jamaica, Hispaniola or St. Domingo, and Porto Rico, together with some smaller islands dependent on these respectively.
ANTILO'QUIO. See ANTELOQUIO.
ANTIMO'NIO, f. m. antimony.
ANTINOMIA, f. f. antimony, a contrariety between two laws. Greek.
ANTINO'O, f. m. Antinous, a part of the constellation called aquila, or the eagle.
ANTIPA'PA, f. m. antipope.
ANTIPARALYTICOS, f. m. p. that are against palsy.
ANTIPASMO'DICOS, f. m. p. that are against cramp.
ANTIPA'STO. See ANTEPASTO.
ANTIPATHIA, f. f. antipathy, or a contrariety of natural qualities, betwixt some creatures and things, a natural aversion.
ANTIPATHICO, a, adj. antipathetical, having a natural contrariety to any thing.
ANTIPERISTASIS, f. f. antiperistasis, the action of some contrary quality, by which the quality opposed becomes more intense.
ANTIPHEN, a mark that serves to shew that some letters or words that are joined together ought to be separated.
ANTIPHONA, f. f. antiphony, or words given out at the beginning of the psalm, to which both the choirs are to accommodate their singing.
Levantar a antiphona, to begin the antiphony.
Levantar a antiphona, is also a common phrase for to invent, find out, or contrive.
ANTIPHONA'RIO, f. m. the book of antiphones.
ANTIPHRA'SIS, or ANTIPHRA'SI, f. f. antiphrasis, the use of words in a sense opposite to their proper meaning. Greek.
ANTIPL'EURITICO, f. m. antipleuriticum, or against the pleurisy.
ANTIPODA, f. m. antipodes, such inhabitants of the earth as live feet to feet, or diametrically opposite one to the other.
ANTIPODA GRICO, a, adj. against the gout. Greek.
ANTIPODO, a, adj. belonging to the antipodes.
ANTIQUA'DO, a, adj. antiquated.
ANTIQUA'R, v. a. to raise, to destroy, to abolish.

ANTIQUARIO, f. m. antiquary, a man skilled in antiquities.
ANTIRRHINA, f. f. ou ANTIRRHINO, f. m. the plant called snap-dragon.
ANTISCORBU'TICOS, antiscorbutics.
ANTISIGMA, a sigma reversed, an anti-sigma.
ANTISTROPHE, f. f. antistrophe, a figure in rhetoric. Greek.
ANTISTRUMATICO, a, adj. that is against the king's evil.
ANTI'THESIS, f. f. a figure in rhetoric, when contraries are opposed to contraries.
ANTI'TYPO, f. m. antitype.
ANTIVENE'REO, a, adv. antivenereal.
ANTOJA'DO, a. See ANTOJAR-SE.
ANTOJA'R-SE, v. r. to long, to desire earnestly.
ANTO'JO, f. m. a longing, as a woman with child does, a fancy.
Palor de antoja, to speak according to the appearances, and not to the reality of things.
ANTOLHA'DO, a, adj. See ANTOLHAR.
ANTOLHAR, v. a. to dissemble, to cloak, to conceal, to disguise.
ANTOLHAR-SE alguma coisa a alguem, to fancy, to imagine. See also ANTOJAR-SE.
ANTO'LHOS, f. m. p. (with horsemen) lunettes to clap upon the eyes of a vicious horse.
ANTONOMA'SIA, f. f. a trope in rhetoric, when the proper name of one thing is applied to several others. Greek.
ANTONOMASTICAME'NTE, adv. antonomastically, by the figure antonomasia.
ANTO'NTEM, adv. the day before yesterday.
ANTRA'Z, f. m. a carbuncle, a plague, a sore. Greek.
AN'TRO, f. m. an antre, cave or den.
ANTROPO'FAGO. See ANTROPOPHAGO.
ANTROPOLOGIA. See ANTHROPOLOGIA.
ANUDUVA, f. f. (obsc. w.) ex. Servir na anuduva, to work in the walls or ditch of some castle.
ANVERS, Antwerp, the capital of the marquisate of the same name, or improperly the marquisate of the holy empire, in the Austrian Netherlands.
ANULACAM. } See ANNULACAM.
ANULADO. } ANNULADO.
ANGLAR. } ANNULAR.
ANUNCIACAM. See ANNUNCIACAM.
ANUNCIADO. See ANNUNCIADO.
ANUNCIAR. See ANNUNCIAR.
ANUNCIO. See ANNUNCIO.
ANXI'DADE, f. f. See ANSIA.
ANZINHEIRA. See ENZINHEIRA.
ANZO'L, f. m. a hook.
O pescador que pesca com anzol, a fisher with a hook, an angler.
Roer o anzol, to gnaw off the hook, that is, to escape the bait.
Armado com anzol, crooked, hooked.
ANZOLEIRO, f. m. a hook-maker.
ANZO'LOS, f. m. p. a kind of ornament used in the kingdom of Angola.
AO'NDE. See ONDE.
AORISTO, or AURISTO, f. m. aorist, two tenses in the Greek, which denote time indefinitely, done lately, or long ago, or likely to be done.

AO'RTA, f. f. (in anatomy) aorta, the great artery, the noblest of all the rest, having its rise in the midst of the heart, and hath one branch ascending, and another descending, whereby it maintains all the rest of the arteries with vital spirits.
APACENTA'DO, a, adj. See APACENTAR.
APACENTA'R, v. a. ex. apacentar as ovelhas, to lead the sheep to the pasture.
Apacentar, to divert, or delight. (Metaph.)
APACENTAR-SE o gado, to feed, to pasture, to graze, to browse.
Apacentar-se, to feed upon.
Apacentar-se de vãos esperanças, to feed with vain hopes.
Apacentar-se, to recreate, to unbend one's spirit. (Metaph.)
APADRINHADO. See APADRINHAR.
APADRINHAR, v. a. to second, to protect, to back, to support, from padrinho, a godfather, or a second.
APAGA'DO, a, adj. of a low extraction; see also APAGAR.
APAGA'DO'R, f. m. an extinguisher; also a suppressor.
APAGAR, v. a. to put out, to extinguish, to quench, to appease, also to blot out, to cross out, to deface, to scratch out, to abolish.
APAGAR-SE, v. r. to go out, to be extinguished.
APAGAFANO'ES, f. m. p. (in a ship) leech-lines.
APAGAME'NTO, f. m. a putting out, a quenching, a blotting out, or defacing.
APAGE, away, away with, fie.
APAINELA'DO, a, adj. adorned with pictures, or portraits.
APAI'XONADAME'NTE, adv. passionately, lovely, with great love.
APAI'XONADO, a, adj. passionate, in pain or trouble; also partial, most intimate.
APAI'XONA'R-SE, v. r. to be put into a passion, to be vexed; also to be passionately in love; also to be partial, to speak with emphasis, and earnestness.
APALANCA'DO, a, adj. See TRANCADO.
APALANCA'R. See TRANCAR.
APALAVRA'DO, a, adj. betrothed, promised in marriage, affianced.
APALAVRA'R, v. a. to betroth, to promise in marriage.
APALEA'DO, a, adj. See APALEAR.
APALEAR, v. a. to cudgel.
APALPADELLAS, ex. Andar as apalpa-dellas, to grope along, to grope, or feel one's way.
APALPA'DO, a, adj. See APALPAR.
APALPAR, v. a. to feel, to handle or touch; also to sound, to sift, to pump; also to try thoroughly, to make a full proof.
Apalpar a terra a alguem, to grow sick on account of the difference of the climate.
APANHA'LO, a, adj. See APANHAR, and also CONCLISQ, and ESTREITO.
APANHADOR, f. m. one that gathers.
P. apañador de cinza, derramador de farinha, that is, one that saves at the spigot, and lets it run out at the bung.
APANHAR, v. a. to take, or grasp, to lay hold on, seize, to take by force.
apanhar, to tuck, or to gather up.
apanhar a alguem no facto, to take somebody in the fact, or in the deed doing.
apanhar,

Apanhar, to take or pick up, to gather small things, as grapes, olives, &c.
Apanhar, to convince, also to convict.
Apanhar improvisamente, to supervene, to come unlooked for, to come upon on a sudden.
Quando estávamos no meio do campo nos apanhou uma grande chuva, as we were in the middle of a plain, there came upon us on a sudden a great rain.
Elles o apanharão, they overtook him.
A noite nos apanhou em um bosque, we were benighted in a wood.
Apanhar frio, to catch cold.
Apanhar, eu furtar meninos, to spirit away children, to kidnap.
APANIGADO, f. m. one that depends upon another's patronage, a dependent, a client.
APAR, adv. near, nigh, just by; also compared, set against.
APARA. See APARAS.
APARADO, a, adj. See APARAR.
APARADO, f. m. a side-board table.
APARAMENTO. See PARAMENTAR.
APARAR, v. a. ex. Aparar a fruta, como uma maçã, &c. to pare an apple, or some other fruit.
Aparar apenna, to mend, or to make a pen.
Aparar o golpe, to parry a blow.
Aparar as unhas, to pare the nails.
Aparar o chapéo, to offer, or tender a hat, to take in something.
Aparar o papel, to cut, to pare the paper.
Aparar a barba, to clip the beard.
Aparar, to point, to make sharp at the end. (In agriculture.)
Ter fenna bem aparada, (metaph.) to write elegantly.
APARAS, f. f. p. shreds, parings, clippings.
APARATO. See APPARATO.
APARATO'SO. See APPARATOSO.
APARCELLADO, a, adj. full of hidden rocks, shelfy.
APARECE'R. See APPARECER.
APARECIMENTO. See APPARECIMENTO.
APARELHA'DO, a, adj. See APARELHAR.
APARELHA'DOR, f. m. one that marks stones that are to be cut. From the French appareilleur.
APARELHAR, v. a. to prepare, to get or make ready, to fit, or fit up; also to saddle, to pannel.
Aparelhar, to rough-hew, to cut out grossly. (Among carpenters.)
Aparelhar, (among painters) to give the first colours to a cloth, in order to stiffen, or thicken it.
Aparelhar um navio, to fit out a ship.
APARELHAR-SE, v. r. to prepare, or prepare one's self, to make one's self ready.
APARELHO, f. m. the rope of a crane, or the tackle of a ship to hoist up casks and goods, a garnet; also the sails, the rigging, &c. all that is necessary to set sail, except men and victuals.
Levantar em aparelho, to hoist up, making use of the same rope.
Aparelho real, the rope of the crane, that is placed at the place called Ribeira das náos in Lisbon.
APARENCIA. See APPARENCIA.
APARENTADO, a, adj. See
APARENTAR, v. n. to contract kindred.

APARENTAR-SE, v. r. to match, to ally to some family.
Aparentar-se, to become like.
APARENTE. See APPARENTE.
APARENTEMENTE. See APPARENTEMENTE.
APARENCIA. See APPARENCIA.
APARRO de penna, the cut of a pen; or the nib of a pen that hath the slit in it.
APARROS, f. m. p. See APARAS.
APARTADAMENTE, adv. See SEPARADAMENTE.
APARTADO, a, adj. See APARTAR, and APARTAR-SE.
APARTAMENTO, f. m. a separation, division; also a divorce.
Apartamento do meridiano, (in navigation) departure; that is, the easting, or westing of a ship, with respect to the meridian it departed or sailed from.
APARTAR, v. a. to separate, to part; also to break off, to make an end of.
Apartar a gente, to make room in a crowd; also to lay apart, to reserve, to set aside; also to send away to another place; also to turn away.
Apartar a bulha, to take up a quarrel, to adjust it, to part combatants.
APARTAR-SE, v. r. to part with one, to leave him, to go from him, to separate, also to break up.
Apartar-se, (metaph.) to digress from the purpose.
Apartar-se da ley, to transgress the law.
Apartar-se da razão, to swerve from reason.
APARTE, adv. apart, aside.
Chamar aparte, to take any body aside; that is, when you impart some secret.
APASCENTADO, &c. See APACENTADO, &c.
APASSAMANO'DO, a, adj. See
APASSAMANO'R, v. a. to lace.
APATHIA, f. f. apathy, a freedom from all passion, an insensibility of pain, indolence. Greek.
APATICO, a, adj. indolent.
APAVEZADO, a, adj. (a sea term) ex. Navio apavezado, a ship with wadded cloths, or lights, to hinder men from being seen in sight. See PAVEZ.
APAU'LA'DO, a, adj. marshy, fenney, moorish.
APAVONADO, a, adj. of a sanguine colour.
APAVORAR. See ATEMORIZAR.
APAXONADO. See APAIXONADO.
APAXONAR-SE. See APAIXONAR-SE.
APAZIGUAR, v. a. to stint or quiet, to calm or still.
APAZIGUAR-SE, v. r. to be calmed, &c.
APEA'DO, a, adj. See APEAR and APEAR-SE.
APEAR, v. a. to wrest, or wring a horse out of one's hand.
Apear o coche, to set up a coach, to take the horses out of a coach.
Apear, to turn out, to cast out, to degrade.
Apear, v. n. See
APEAR-SE, v. r. to alight, to get off the back of an horse.
APECONHA'DO, a, adj. See VENENOSO.
APECONHENTAR. See AVENENAR.
APEDRA'DO, a, adj. adorned with precious stones.
APEDREJA'DO, a, adj. stoned, pelted with stones.

APEDREJAR, v. a. to stone, or sling stones, to throw stones at.
ANEGAME'NTO. See APEGO.
APEGA'DO, a, adj. stuck or fastened to, &c. See the v. APEGAR, &c.
APEGAR. See PEGAR.
APEGAR-SE, v. r. to adhere, to stick fast to, to take hold; also to plead, to offer as an excuse.
Aregar-se, to be given to, to be addicted to a thing, to be intent upon a thing.
APEGAR-SE-lhe as mãos, he or she is a thief, or given to thievery.
APEGO, f. m. attachment, tie, affection, love, passion. See also TEMAM.
Homem com apego as coisas da terra, an earthly man, an earthly-minded man.
APEIRADO carro, a cart that has all the harness, and is fit to be drawn.
APEIRAGEM, f. f. all the harness belonging to beasts that work in the country.
APEIRO, f. m. all the furniture or harness belonging to beasts that work in the country; also the tools belonging to any trade. From the Lat. paro, to prepare. See also TAMOIRO.
P. em casa de ferreiro peyor apeiro, a bad knife in a cutler's house; or nobody goes worse shod than the shoemaker's wife.
APELLAÇAM, APELLANTE, &c. See APPELLAÇAM, APPELLANTE, &c.
APPELLATIVO. See APPELLATIVO.
APELLIDAR. See APPELLIDAR.
APELLIDO. See APPELLIDO.
APENAR, v. a. to impose a penalty.
APE'NAS, adv. scarcely, hardly, with much ado, with difficulty.
APENDIX. See APPENDIX.
APENHADO, a, adj. See
APENHAR. See EMPENHAR.
APENNINOS, f. m. p. the Apennine mountains; these, with the Alps, are the most considerable in all Italy.
APENSA'R. } See { APPENSAR.
APE'NSO. } See { APPENSO.
APERÇAM, f. f. an opening.
APERÇEBE'R. See PREPARAR.
APERÇEBER-SE, v. r. See APARELHAR-SE.
APERÇEBIDO, a, adj. prepared, &c. according to the v.
APERÇEBIMENTO, f. m. preparation, a preparing or making ready before-hand.
APERFEIÇOADO. See PERFEIÇADO.
APERFEIÇOAR. See PERFEIÇAR.
APERIE'NTE, ou APERITIVO, a, adj. aperient medicines, (in physic) such as are of an opening quality.
APERREAR a alguém, v. a. to vex one, to use him like a dog. See AMOFINAR.
APERTA'DA, f. f. See APERTO.
APERTADAMENTE, adv. ex. Pedir apertadamente, to crave, to desire most instantly.
APERTA'DO, a, adj. narrow, close, straight, tight, fast; also close-fisted, stingy, niggardly, penurious.
Apertado rogo, an importunate begging, an earnest request.
Apertada necessidade, extreme want or necessity.
Apertada doença, a dangerous sickness.
Apertado, driven, forced, compelled, constrained; also crowded, pressed.
Apertado, wanting, needy, indigent, poor, in want.
APERTADO'R,

APERTADO'R, f. m. a band, a swath-hand.

APERTA'M. See APERTO.

APERTAR, v. a. to bind, or tie hard or fast.

Apertar, to press, to squeeze.

Apertar, to urge or press, to insist upon, to be earnest or pressing with.

Apertar, to lessen, to diminish.

Apertar, to environ, to encompass, to clasp.

Apertar as regat, to write close.

Apertar a mão, to clinch the fist.

Apertar a mão de alguém, to squeeze one's hand.

Apertar a red a, to pull in the bridle.

Os sapatos me apertam, my shoes wring me, or pinch me.

Apertar a filha ao cavallo, to girth a horse pretty hard.

Apertar alguém, to press one hard, to squeeze, to be instant upon him, to lie hard upon him; also to be at one's heels, to follow, or pursue him close.

Apertar com alguém, to speak hard to one, to be hard upon him, to keep under, to keep in awe.

A febre o aperta, the fever is hard upon him.

Apertar, to repress, to restrain, to curb.

A dor aperta o coração, grief oppresses the heart.

Aquillo me aperta o coração, that grieves my heart, that is ready to break my heart.

Apertar os joelhos, (andando a cavallo) to clap one's knees close to the sides of a horse.

Apertar o cerco, to lay a close siege.

Apertar, to make straight, to straighten, to make narrow, or narrower.

Apertar o pé, to mend one's pace to go faster.

O tempo aperta, the time shortens.

Apertar abraçando, to embrace one close.

Apertar ou ter apertado, to hold fast.

APERTAR-SE, v. r. to shorten, to grow shorter, also to stand or lie closely.

APERTO, f. m. a crowd, a throng.

Aperto, urgency, pressure of difficulty. See also RIGOR and PERIGO.

Aperto do coração, anxiety, vexation, oppression of the heart, great grief, heart-breaking.

Aperto, scarcity, scarceness, penury, want.

Grande apertos, very pressing or urgent necessities.

APERTURA, f. f. ex. Apertura de termos, a close or compacted and pressing argument.

APESARADO. See PESAROSO.

APESADO, a, adj. ex. homem apesado, an eminent tall man.

APESTADO. } See EMPESTADO.

APESTAR. } See EMPESTAR.

APESTIMO. See PRESTIMONIO.

APETEÇER. } See APPETECER.

APETITE. } See APPETITE.

APETITOSO. See APPETITOSO.

APHELIO, f. m. aphelion, or aphelium, that point of the earth or any planet, in which it is farthest distant from the sun that it can ever be. (In astronomy.) Greek.

APHERESIS, f. f. a figure in grammar, which takes away a letter or syllable from the beginning of a word, as ruin for eruit.

APHORISMO, f. m. an aphorism, a short select sentence, briefly expressing the pro-prieties of a thing, and experienced for a certain truth; a general maxim or rule in any art or science.

APHRONTRO, f. m. salt-petre.

APIEADO, a, adj. See APIEDAR.

APIEDAR, v. a. to move one's pity.

Apiedar-se de alguém, to take pity on one.

APICES, f. m. p. See DIERESIS.

Apices da ley, the quirks and subtle points of law.

APICOTADA perpetua. See SERAFINA.

APINGENTADO. See PEROLA.

APINHADO, or APINHOADO, a, adj. clung, or sticking close together as a pine-apple, from pinna, a pine-apple.

APISTEIRO. See ALPISTEIRO.

APISTO. See ALPISTO.

APISUADO, or APISOADO. See API-SOAR.

APISOAR PANNOS, to full, or mill cloth.

APITADO. See

APITAR, to whistle as men and birds do.

APITO, f. m. a boatswain's call; also a whistle, or a pipe to whistle with.

APLACADO, a, adj. See

APLACAR, v. a. to appease, to mitigate; to pacify, to soften, to quiet, to assuage, to suppress.

APLAINADO, a, adj. See

APLAINAR, v. a. to plane, or make smooth with a plane. See also ABAIXAR.

APLAUDIDO. See APPLAUDIDO.

APLAUDIR. } See APPLAUDIR.

APLAUSO. } See APPLAUSO.

APLICACAM. See APPLICACAM.

APLICADO. See APPLICADO.

APLICAR, &c. See APPLICAR, &c.

APOCALYPSE, f. m. Apocalypse, or St. John's Revelation.

O animal do apocalipse, the apocalyptic beast.

APOCOPE, the grammatical figure, called apocope.

APOCRIPHAMENTE, adv. apocryphally, uncertainly.

APO'CRYPHO, adj. apocryphal.

APO'DA.

APODADO. } See APODO.

APODADURA. }

APODA'R, v. a. to affront by making jocular or injurious comparisons.

APODERADO, a, adj. See

APODERAR-SE, v. r. to seize, to invade, to take, to make one's self master of, to possess.

APODIXE, f. f. a plain proof, or evident demonstration. Greek.

APO'DO, or APO'DA, a jocular or injurious comparison, or saying; a witty jest upon another.

APODRECE'R, v. a. to make rotten, to cause to putrify.

Apodrecer, v. n. or Apodrecer-se, v. r. to grow, or wax rotten, also to lie mellow, as land ploughed up, and not sown.

APODRECIDO, a, adj. See APODRE-CER.

APOGE'O, f. m. apogee, that point of the orbit, either of the sun, or any of the planets, which is farthest from the earth. (Astron.)

APOIADO. }

APOIA. }

APIO. }

APOJADURA, f. f. an extraordinary abundance of milk in a nurse's breast.

APOLEGA'DO. See

APOLEGA'R, v. a. to make marks with the thumb of the hand. From polegar, the thumb.

APOLOGE'TICO, a, adj. apologetic.

APOLOGIA, f. f. apology, a defence or answer to a charge; excuse. Greek.

APOLOGO, f. m. apologue, moral fable.

APONTADO, f. m. a bundle of shirts, stockings, &c. stitched one to another, &c. See APONTAR.

Apontado, a, adj. that is marked with a point, or otherwise.

Apontado, sharpened, pointed.

Apontado, noted, marked, observed.

Apontado, careful, exact, diligent.

Apontado, clean, neat.

Apontado, convenient, proper, to the purpose.

Apontado, (among huntsmen) ex. affor bira apontado, a hawk fit for hunting, neither hungry nor over-charged with eating. See the v. Apontar.

APONTADO'R, f. m. an observer, or one that takes notice of faults.

Apontador, he who points, or makes sharp at the end.

Apontador, a prompter to players.

Apontador do relógio. See MAM.

Apontador de cavallos, he who puts the stallion to the mare.

APONTAMENTO, f. m. a thing picked or culled out; also the first draught or rough beginning of any work.

livro de apontamento, a note-book, a memorandum-book.

APONTAR, v. a. to point at one, or at a thing; see also PARAR, in its last signification.

apontar, v. n. to peep, or dawn.

ao apontar do dia, at break of day.

O dia começa a apontar, the day begins to peep, or dawn.

A barba lhe começa a apontar, he begins to have a beard.

apontar, to note, to sign, to mark.

apontar, to prompt a player.

apontar, to point, to make sharp at the end.

apontar, to aim, or take one's aim.

apontar gente de guerra. See ALISTAR.

apontar, to observe or take notice of faults.

apontar, to allege, to quote, to produce, to instance in.

Apontar a roupa, to stitch shirts, stockings, &c. one to another, to send them to the washer-woman. See also NOTIA, and ADVERTIR.

Apontar huma letra de cambio, to note a foreign bill.

APONTOADO, a, adj. See APONTOAR.

APONTOAR, v. a. to prop, to shore up. From pontale, a prop.

APOPHLEMATISMOS, or APOELEMATISMOS, medicines, which by the mouth or nose purge the head of cold phlegmatic humours; apophlegmatisms. Greek.

APOPHTEGMA, APOTHEMA, or APOTEGMA, f. m. a short, pretty, and instructive sentence, chiefly of a grave and eminent person; an apophthegm. Greek.

APOPHYSIS, f. f. apophysis (in anat.) the prominent parts of some bones, the same as process. Greek.

APOPLE'TICO, a, adj. belonging to, or subject to an apoplexy.

APOPLEXIA, f. f. apoplexy, a disease that suddenly surprizes the brain, and takes away all manner of sense and motion.

APORFLIR.

APORFIAR. See PORFIAR.
APORISMADO, a, adj. full of matter and corruption.
APORREADO, a, adj. See
APORREAR, v. a. to beat. From cachaferro, a club.
APORREAR, a alguem a paciencia, v. a. to tire out one's patience.
APORTADO, a, adj. See
APORTAR, v. n. to arrive, to come into a port.
APORTINHADO, a, adj. See
APORTINHAR, to open loop-holes in a wall. From pertinhala, a loop-hole.
APORTUGUEZADO, adj. that has the Portuguese manners; also translated into the Portuguese language.
Apertuguezar huma palavra estrangeira, to make a Portuguese word from a foreign language.
APOS, prepo. after that, after, or behind, moreover.
APOSEMA. See APOZEMA.
APOSENTADO, a, adj. See APOSENTAR.
APOSENTADOR, f. m. he who provides for lodgings.
APOSENTADOR mór, harbinger, an officer of the court who goes a day before and provides lodgings for a king in his progress.
APOSENTADOR mayer do exercito. See QUARTEL MESTRE, &c.
APOSENTADORIA, f. f. the jurisdiction and authority of an harbinger. See
APOSENTAR, v. a. to provide lodgings.
Aposentar criados por casas, sem as pagar, to provide lodging for servants without paying the house-rent. This is what they call tomar casas por aposentadoria.
Aposentar, or dar aposento, to entertain, to receive one as a guest.
Aposentar pensamentos profanos, to harbour profane thoughts. (metaph.)
Aposentar alguém do officio, to dismiss one from his employ.
Aposentár-se, v. r. to take lodgings for himself; also, to resort to a place, to lodge at one's house.
APOSENTO, f. m. an inner parlour, or chamber, a private room.
APOSIOPESIS, f. f. a figure in rhetoric, whereby a person in a passion breaks off a discourse, yet so that it may be understood what he means. Greek.
APOSSARSE See APODERAR-SE.
APOSTA, f. f. a wager, a bet.
Fazer huma aposta, to lay a wager, to bet or lay.
APOSTADO, a, adj. obstinate, stubborn, resolved. See also APOSTAR, v. a. to bet, to lay a wager; also to vie with one.
APOSTASIA, f. f. apostasy, the act of revolting, or falling away from one's religion, or from a religious order.
APOSTATA, f. m. f. apostate, revolter, renegade.
APOSTATADO, a, adj. See APOSTATAR.
APOSTATAR, v. a. to revolt, to forsake his religion, to apostatize, to turn renegade. Greek.
APOSTEMA, f. f. an apostume, impostume; an unnatural swelling of any corrupt matter in the body. Greek.

APOSTEMA'DO, a, adj. See
APOSTEMAR, v. n. or, APOSTEMAR-SE, v. r. to be apostumated.
APOSTEMAR-SE. See AGASTAR-SE.
APOSTEMEIRO, f. m. a lancet to open the apollumes.
APOSTILHADO, or APOSTILLADO, a, adj. See
APOSTILHAR, v. a. or APOSTILLAR, to explain, to expound, to interpret.
APOSTOLADO, f. m. apostleship.
APOSTOLAR, v. a. to preach like the Apostles.
APOSTOLICAMENTE, adv. apostolically.
APOSTOLICO, a, adj. apostolical, or apostolic.
APOSTOLO, f. m. an apostle, a messenger, a person sent upon some especial errand, particularly applied to them whom our Saviour deputed to preach the gospel.
APOSTROPHE, f. f. apostrophe; a figure in oratory or poetry, in which things animate or inanimate, persons present or absent, are addressed or appealed to, as if they were sensible and present.
APOSTROFO, f. m. a dash with the pen, being a note of cutting off a letter, as when we write believ'd for believed; an apostrophe.
APOTEGMA. See APOPHTEGMA.
APOTHEOSIS, f. m. a consecration, or solemn enrolling of great men deceased in the number of the gods; anciently practised by the Romans, first begun by Augustus for Julius Cæsar.
APOUCHADO, a, adj. pusillanimous, faint-hearted.
APOUCHAR-SE, v. r. to disgrace one's dignity or character, to undervalue one's self.
APOUSENTADO, &c. See APOSENTADO, &c.
APOUTAR, so the water-men say when they cast stones instead of an anchor to hinder their small boats from being carried away.
APOYADO, a, adj. See
APOYAR, from the Italian apoggiare, or the French appuyer, to support, to countenance, to back, to favour, to protect, to defend, to prop.
APOYO, f. m. a prop, a stay, a support, both in the proper and figurative sense.
Cavalle de bom apoio na boca, a horse of an easy rest upon the hand.
APOZEMA, or APOSEMA, f. f. a medicinal decoction of herbs, flowers, roots, barks, &c. an apozem. Greek.
APPARATO, f. m. preparation, pomp, state, or grandeur, pageantry.
Apparato, a book so contrived and digested, that a man may readily find what he seeks for in it.
APPARATO'SO, a, adj. sumptuous, costly, expensive, splendid. From the Lat. apparatus.
Razoens apparatusas, apparent, and not solid reasons.
APPARECER, v. n. to appear or be seen.
P. quem não apparece esquece, seldom seen, soon forgotten; or, out of sight, out of mind.
Apparecer de repente, to pop, or appear on a sudden.

APPARECIDO, a, adj. See APPARECER.
APPARECIMEN'TO, f. m. the action of coming in sight.
APPAREN'CIA, f. f. appearance, likelihood; also a show, or outside.
Apparencia de hum navio, the looming of a ship.
APPARENCIAS, f. f. p. the decorations, or scenes of a stage. See also PHENOMENO.
APPARENTE, adj. certain, evident, manifest, that plainly appears.
Lugar aparente de hum objecto, (in optics) the apparent place of an object, or that in which it appears through one or more glasses.
Lugar aparente de hum planeta ou de huma estrella, (in astron.) the apparent place of a planet or star; that is the point determined by a line drawn from the eye through the center of the star, &c.
APPARIÇAM, f. f. apparition, the appearing of a spirit; a ghost or vision.
APPELLAÇAM, f. f. an appeal; also the name of any thing.
APPELLADO, f. m. he that is appealed against.
APPELLANTE, he that appeals.
APPELLAR, v. n. to appeal. Lat. appello.
APPELLOU, ou vay appellando enfermo; it is said of a sick man who being given over by physicians, recovers.
APPELLAR; to call for assistance, to cry for such a party or faction.
APPELLATIVO, an appellative, or common name; as opposed to a proper.
APPELLIDADO, a, adj. See
APPELLIDAR, v. a. to give a surname; also to cry out.
Appellidar por alguém, to call for assistance.
Appellidar arma, arma, to cry, as the troops do, to arms!
APPELLIDO, f. m. a surname.
APPE'NDICE, or APPENDIX, f. m. an addition, any thing that is accessory; also an appendix, or supplement to a book.
APPENSA'DO, a, adj. See
APPENSAR, v. a. (a term used in the forum) ex. Appensar hum feyto a outro, to hang by, or join a process to another.
APPE'NSO, f. m. a paper that is joined to another.
Appenso, a, adj. joined.
APPETECE'R, v. a. to have an appetite, or desire for a thing, to covet, or long for. From the Lat. appeto.
APPETECT'DO, a, adj. See APPETECER.
APPETITAR. See INCITAR.
APPETITE, f. m. appetite, desire, covetousness.
Appetite racional, sensitivo concupiscivel, irascivel, the rational, sensitive, concupiscible, and irascible appetite.
Appetite, appetite, stomach; desire of eating, less violent than hunger.
Ter perdido o appetite, to have lost the stomach.
Ter bom appetite, to have a good stomach, to be sharp set. See also FANTAZIA.
Appetites, any passion in general, as sensuality, libertinism, and the gratifying of the senses.
APPETITIVEL, adj. that which excites the appetite, which is to be coveted or desired.

APETITO'SO, a, adj. it is said of one that has a fancy for every thing he sees; also of any thing that excites the appetite.

APPLAUDI'DO, a, adj. See

APPLAUDI'R, v. a. to applaud, to clap, to approve, to praise, to commend.

APPLA'USO, f. m. applause, clap, or clapping of hands.

APPLICAÇAM, f. f. application, care, attention, diligence, study.

Aplicação, a destination, appointment.

Aplicação, an action of applying one thing to another.

Aplicação, an accommodation, a fitting, or suiting.

APPLICA'DO, a, adj. See

APPLICA'R, v. a. to put to, to apply; also to design, to destinate, to appoint.

Aplicar o ouvido, to yield attention, to listen.

Aplicar alguém a alguma coisa, to set one upon a thing.

Aplicar, to suit, to accommodate.

Aplicar os olhos, to cast one's eyes upon a thing.

Aplicar-se, v. r. to apply, to addict one's self to a thing.

Aplicar-se com gosto a alguma coisa, to take to a thing.

APPOSIÇAM, f. f. apposition, when two substances are put together in the same case.

Apposição, (in mathematics) addition, adding to.

APPREHENDE'R, v. a. to understand, to apprehend, to conceive.

APPREHENDI'DO, a, adj. See APPREHENDER.

APPREHENSAM, f. f. apprehension, understanding; also, panic fear. See also IMAGINATIVA.

Fazer apprehensão em alguma coisa, to seize a thing, or upon a thing.

APPREHENSIVO, a, adj. understanding, perceiving, intelligent; also apprehensive, fearful.

APPROVAÇAM, f. f. approbation, liking, consent.

APPROVA'DO, a, adj. See

APPROVA'R, v. a. to approve, to approve of, to like; to ratify, to confirm.

Approvar. (An antiquated word.) See AGRADAR, and CONTENTAR.

APRAINAR. See APLAINAR.

APRAZA'DO, a, adj. appointed, settled.

APRAZA'R, v. a. to determine, to appoint before what is to be done.

APRAZE'R. See AGRADAR.

APRAZIME'NTO. See VONTADE and GOSTO.

APRAZI'VEL, adj. pleasant, delightful to the eye, delightful; speaking both of persons and things.

APRE, a word of exclamation, when one lays his hand on a thing he thinks is cool, and burns himself. Sometimes it is a word of admiration, heyday!

APREÇA'DO, a, adj. See

APREÇA'R, v. a. to cheapen, to haggle, to beat the price.

APREÇO, f. n. See ESTIMACAM, and CONTA.

APREGOA'DO. See

APREGOA'R, v. a. to cry, to proclaim by a crier; also to ask people in the church.

APREHENDER, &c. See APPREHENDER, &c.

APREHENSO, a, adj. taken, or laid hold of.

APREMI'DO. } See PREMIADO.

APREMI'R. } See PREMIAR.

APRENDE'R, v. a. to learn, to gain the knowledge or skill of; also to learn, to take pattern; as, aprendei de mim, learn of me.

APRENDI'DO, a, adj. See Aprender.

APRENDI'Z, f. m. an apprentice.

APRENSAM. See APPREHENSAM.

APRENSA'DO. See IMPRENSADO.

APRENSA'R. See IMPRENSAR.

APRESENTAÇAM, f. f. a presentation, the act of presenting.

Apresentação, (in law) presentation, the offering a clerk to the bishop by the patron, to be instituted in a benefice of his gift.

Festa da apresentação de nossa senhora, the feast of the Presentation of our Lady in the Temple.

APRESENTA'DO, f. m. (in canon law) the Presentee, or the clerk who is presented by the patron. See APRESENTAÇAM. Also a friar that has taken the degrees in the university.

Apresentado, a, adj. See

APRESENTA'R, v. a. to present, to tender, to produce in court.

Apresentar, to present, to introduce.

Apresentar, to consign, to deliver, or put into one's hands.

Apresentar, to name, to nominate, to present.

Apresentar batalha, to offer battle. They say also Apresentar-se em batalha.

Apresentar, to produce, or bring out.

Apresentar huma petição a el rey, to put up a petition to the king.

Apresentar-se, v. r. to come or appear, to offer himself.

APRESSADAME'NTE, adv. hastily.

APRESSA'DO, a, adj. See APRESSAR, and VELOZ.

APRESSA'R, v. a. to press or hasten, to incite, spur on, to egg.

Apressar o passo, to mend one's pace, to go faster.

Apressar-se, v. r. to be expeditious, quick, or speedy.

APRESTA'DO, a, adj. See

APRESTA'R, v. a. See PREPARAR.

Aprestar-se, v. r. See PREPARAR-SE.

APRESTIMO, f. m. church living, or the funds given for the subsistence of a beneficiary, &c.

APRESTO, f. m. See APARELHO, and APPARATO.

APRESURA'DO, a, adj. See APRESSADO.

APRESURA'R. See APRESSAR.

APRI'SCO, f. m. a sheep-fold. (Metaph.) a grot, grotto, cave.

APRISIONA'DO, a, adj. See

APRISIONA'R, v. a. to make prisoners of war.

APROA'DO, a, adj. See

APROA'R, v. a. to steer a ship.

APROPRIAÇAM, f. f. the action of appropriating a thing to one's self, or of making an application of one thing to another.

APROPRIA'DO, a, adj. See

APROPRIA'R, v. a. See ACCOMMODAR.

Apropriar-se, v. r. to appropriate to one's self, to usurp property.

APROVEITA'DO, a, adj. saving, sparing; also improved. See the v. APROVEITAR.

APROVEITADO'R, f. m. one that spares.

APROVEITAMENTO, f. m. progress, proficiency, improvement. (Speaking only of learning or morals)

APROVEITA'R, v. a. to help, to favour, to do one good, to avail.

Que me aproveita? What avails to me? or what signifies to me?

Aproveitar, to save, to improve, to profit, to put to good use.

Aproveitar-se, v. r. to improve, to make a progress, to get by, to be the better for; also to make use of, to make an advantage, to improve; also to catch at, or lay hold of.

Aproveitar se da occasião, to improve the opportunity.

APRO'XE, f. m. the approach in a siege. (In fortification.)

APROXIMAÇAM, f. f. approaching, or drawing near, approximation.

APSIDES, f. m. p. (in astronomy) apsides, those two points in the orbit of a planet, one of which is the farthest from, and the other the nearest to the sun.

APTIDAM, f. f. aptness, readiness, capacity.

APTO, a, adj. ready, apt, capable, fit.

APUPA'DA. See APUPO.

APUPA'DO, adj. See

APUPA'R, v. a. to hiss at one in contempt, to rail; also to hiss off the stage.

APUPO, f. m. a hiss, a railing, or outcry, against any one. From the Lat. ji-pulum.

APURA'DO, adj. See

APURA'R, v. a. to cleanse, or make clean; to purify.

Apurar hum homem, to press a man hard.

Apurar, to drive to extremity, to examine diligently, to provoke, to perfect, to bring to perfection.

Apurar a paciência, to try a man's patience. See also REFINAR.

Apurar-se, v. r. to be thoroughly perfected; also, to study, to labour, to endeavour, to strive, to do one's best.

AQUANTIA'DO, a, adj. See ACONTIA'DO, and CONTIA.

AQUARIO, f. m. aquarius, one of the twelve signs of the zodiac.

AQUARTELA'DO, a, adj. billeted. See also

AQUARTELA'R, v. a. (a military word) to billet or quarter soldiers

Aquartelar-se, v. r. to take quarters.

AQUATICO, a, adj. watery, that belongs to the water, or that lives in the water.

AQUATIL. See AQUATICO.

AQUE del rey. See AQUI.

AQUECER, ou ACONTECER, (obso.) See ACONTECER.

Aquecer, v. n. to wax hot, or grow warm.

AQUECI'DO, a, adj. grown warm.

AQUEDUCTO, f. m. an aqueduct.

AQUELLA, pron. f. that woman, or that thing.

Aquella, pron. m. that man, or that thing.

AQUELLO'UTRO, a, adj. that other. See PRONOME.

AQUEM, or DAQUEM, adv. on this side.

AQUENTADO, a, adj. See AQUENTAR.

AQUENTAMENTO,

- AQUENTAMENTO, f. m. a heating, or making hot.
AQUENTAR, v. a. to warm, or make hot.
Aquentar-se, v. r. to be made hot, to be warmed, or heated.
AQUEO, a, adj. aqueous, like water, watery.
AQUERIM. See A'CHERONTE.
AQUERIDO. } See ACQUIRIDO.
AQUERIR. } See ACQUIRIR.
AQUESTE AQUESTA, are Spanish words, though used by some Portuguese authors. See ESTE, ESTA.
AQUI, adv. here; also herein, in this.
De aqui, from hence, hence, from this place; they say also daqui.
Daqui a tres dias, three days hence.
Daqui em diante, henceforward, henceforth.
Ate aqui, as far as here, hitherto, till this day, till now, also hitherto, to this place.
Aqui del rey! a cry, demanding assistance in the king's name; as is amongst us the word murder!
AQUIETADO, a, adj. See
AQUIETAR, v. a. to quiet, to pacify, to appease, to calm.
Aquietar, v. n. to rest, to take some rest or repose.
Aquietar em alguma cousa, to be satisfied, or pleased with a thing.
Aquietai o pensamento, ou o coração neste particular, rest yourself satisfied about that.
Aquietar-se, v. r. to be quiet or appeased.
AQUILA, ou pao de aguilã. See PA'O.
AQUILÃO, f. m. the north wind. (In poetry) is taken for any cold and boisterous wind.
AQUILINO, a, adj. hawked.
Nariz aquilino, a hawked nose, a Roman nose.
AQUILLO, pron. that thing.
AQUINHOADO, a, adj. that has got his share. See also AQUINHOAR, v. a. to share, to share out or divide into shares; also to share a thing with one.
AQUIRIR. See ACQUIRIR.
AQUISTO, a Spanish word. See ISTO.
AQUOSIDADE. See ACOSIDADE.
AQUOSO. See ACOSO.
AR, f. m. air; one of the four elements wherein we breathe; also carriage, countenance, looks, gait, or posture of the body in walking, grace, agreeableness.
Ar, the palsy.
Cantar com ar, to sing well.
Crer pelas ares, to believe easily every thing.
Dar ares de alguém, to look like one, to favour one.
Estar com o pé no ar, to be unsettled, or irresolute.
Respirar as ares nativas, to breathe one's own country air.
Fazer as cousas no ar, to do things at random, or inconsiderately.
Fazer castellos no ar, to hope or expect things, that in all probability are not likely to happen.
Foi se tudo per essas ares, all is gone.
Fazeis hum tiro no ar, you trouble yourself in vain.
Pellos ares, quickly, suddenly.
Pescar as cousas pellos ares, to be a sagacious man.
- Aponhar as cousas no ar*, to understand things wrong.
Atirar com fogo pellos ares, to be transported with anger, or as we say, to mount upon his great horse.
ARA, f. f. an altar-stone laid on the altar where mass is said; also a southern constellation.
ARABESCO, f. m. arabesque, a sort of painting, which consisted wholly of imaginary foliage, plants, stalks, &c. without any human or animal figures.
arabesco, a, adj. of Arabia. Figura arabesca. See BRUTESCO.
ARABI, a title given to the rabbin that governed the Jews, when they were tolerated in Portugal.
ARABIA, f. f. Arabia, by the Orientals called Arabistana, a country of vast extent in Asia.
ARABICO, or ARABIGO, a, adj. that belongs to Arabia.
ARABOTANTE. See ARCOBOTANTE.
ARADO, f. m. a plough.
Ferro do arado, the plough-share.
Rabo do arado, the plough tail, or plough handle.
Official que faz arados, or abegão, a ploughwright.
Arado, a, adj. tilled with the plough.
ARADURA, f. f. ploughing.
ARALHA, f. f. the stem, or stalk of the garlick.
P. levar palhas e aralhas, to sweep stakes, or to sweep away.
ARAMA, an interj. of admiration, hey-day!
ARAME, f. m. copper.
Fio de arame, copper-wire.
Arame, (in cant) a sword.
ARANDELA, or ARANDELLA, f. f. a thing in the shape of a funnel, fastened to the thick end of a lance to defend the man's hand.
ARANEIA, f. f. the tunicle of the eye, that contains the crystalline humour.
ARANHA, f. f. a spider.
Teia de aranha, a cobweb.
Erva contra a aranha peçonhenta, the spiderwort, an herb.
Aranha d'agua, a water-spider, with six feet, that runneth on the top of the water without sinking.
Aranha meirinho, or meirinho das moscas, a small spider that catches flies.
Aranha, a fish called quaviver, or seadragon; also a sort of crab-fish.
ARANHIÇO, f. m. a small spider.
ARANHO, f. m. a spider's hole; also a fowling net.
ARANZEL, f. m. a roll, a register; also a method, a rule.
ARAR, to plough. (Metaph.) Arar os mares, to plough the seas, to sail; also to scratch.
ARARA, f. f. a bird called macaw.
ARATICU, a plant in the Brasils.
ARAVEÇA, f. f. a kind of plough that makes deeper and wider furrows.
ARAUUTO, f. m. herald, the second officer after the king at arms, or the king of heralds, who denounces war or peace.
AREIM, f. m. a sort of coarse cloth formerly used.
ARBITRA, f. f. an arbitrix.
ARBITRADO. See ARBITRAR and ARBITRAR-SE.
ARBITRADOR. See AVALLADOR.
- ARBITRAMENTO. See ARBITRIO and LOUVAMENTO.
ARBITRAR, v. a. to arbitrate, to decide.
ARBITRAR-SE, v. r. to be discussed, to be examined.
ARBITRARIAMENTE, adv. decisively, peremptorily.
ARBITRARIO, adj. arbitrary, or free.
ARBITRIO, f. m. arbitrage. See also ALVEDRIO and ALVITRE.
ARBITRISTA, f. m. See ARBITRADOR and ALVITREIRO.
ARBITRO, f. m. an arbitrator, an umpire.
ARBUSTO, f. m. a shrub, a bush.
ARCA, f. f. a chest, a bin to keep bread or corn.
Arca d'agua, the conduit-head, which serves the aqueduct with water.
O que tem cuidado desta arca, a water bailiff.
Arca de Noé, Noah's ark, (metaph.) any place, or chest that contains all sorts of things.
Arca, (speaking of the human body) the breast; also the bowed arm in wrestling.
P. na arca aberta o justo pecca; that is, it is opportunity makes the thief.
P. na arca do avaro, o diabo jaz dentro, the devil lies in a covetous man's chest, the devil of avarice, which draws his heart from doing good with his wealth.
Vea d'arca. See BASILICA.
ARCABOUÇO, f. m. the order and disposition of the bones; also a man's chest, or breast, all that part of him which is shut in by the ribs.
ARCABUZ, f. m. an arquebus, a sort of hand-gun.
ARCABUZAÇO, f. m. a musket-shot.
ARCABUZAÇA, f. f. idem.
ARCABUZEADO, a, adj. See
ARCABUZEAR, v. a. to shoot.
ARCABUZEIRO, f. m. an arquebusier, one that shoots with an arquebus, also a gunsmith.
ARCABUZERIA, f. f. musqueteers, a body of them.
ARCA DO, a, adj. fashioned like a bow, or arch, arched. See ARCAR.
ARCANJO, or ARCHANJO, f. m. an archangel.
ARCANO, f. m. a secret, a mystery belonging to God, or to princes.
Arcano duplicado, (among chymists) a sort of salt made by washing the gross matter, which remains after the distillation of double aqua fortis, with warm water.
Arcano, a, adj. secret or concealed, hidden, undiscovered.
ARÇAM, f. m. the pommel of a saddle, a saddle-bow; from the French arçon.
ARCAR, v. a. to hug, to clasp, to twine about as wrestlers do.
Arçar com alguém, to press one, to solicit him.
Arçar com huma dificuldade, to endeavour to clear and lay open a difficulty.
Arçar os braços, pondo as mãos nas ilhargas, to set one's arms a-kimbo.
Arçar pipas, to hoop pipes.
ARCARPA, f. f. a work fashioned like a bow or arch.
ARCAZ, f. m. a great chest.
ARCEBISPADO, archbishoprick, the extent of the jurisdiction, or the benefice and dignity of an archbishop.

A R C

ARCEBISPAL, adj. archiepiscopal, or belonging to the archbishop.
ARCEBISPPO, f. m. an archbishop.
ARCEDIAGA'DO, f. m. an archdeaconship.
ARCEDIA'GO, f. m. archdeacon.
ARCHAISMO, f. m. archaism, the retaining old obsolete words.
ARCHEIRO, f. m. one of the king of Portugal's guard.
ARCHEO, or ARQUEO, f. m. archæus, the principle of life and vigour in any living creature. Greek.
Archeo, (with chemists) central fire.
ARCHE'TYPO, or ARQUETIPO, f. m. an original, a model, a pattern. Greek.
Mundo archetipo, God.
ARCHIBANCO, f. m. a table, or a seat with a drawer under it.
ARCHIDUCA'DO, f. m. an archdukedom.
ARCHIDUQUE, f. m. an archduke.
ARCHIDUQUEZA, f. f. an archduchess.
ARCHIEPISCOPAL. See ARCEBISPAL.
ARCHIMANDRITA, f. m. a superior of religious men. Greek.
ARCHIPELAGO, or ARCIPELAGO, f. m. the Archipelago, or that part of the Mediterranean sea near Greece, which is full of islands. Greek.
ARCHITECLINO. See ARCHITRICLINO.
ARCHITE'CTO, f. m. an architect, a master builder. Greek.
ARCHITECTURA, f. f. architecture. Vitruvius defines it a science qualified with sundry other arts, and adorned with variety of learning, to whose judgment and approbation all other works of art submit themselves. The word is Greek, and is sometimes taken for the art itself, and sometimes for the work.
Architectura civil, the art of building houses, churches, &c. civil architecture.
Architectura militar, the art of building fortifications; military architecture.
ARCHITRAVE, f. m. the architrave, that is, the master or principal beam in any structure. Greek and Lat. arche-trabs, the principal beam; in stone work, it is that part which lies immediately upon the columns, and supports the structure.
ARCHITRICLINO, f. m. he that orders and takes care of a feast. Lat. architriclinus.
ARCHIVISTA, f. m. a keeper of the records.
ARCHIVO, f. m. an archive, a place where records are kept.
ARCHOTE, f. m. a flambeau, taper, or link made of cord with wax or rosin about it.
ARCIPELAGO. See ARCHIPELAGO.
ARCIPRESTE, f. m. an arch priest, or chief priest. Greek.
ARCO, f. m. a bow; also an arch.
Corda do arco, the bow-string.
Apertar a corda do arco, to bend a bow.
Desarmar o arco, to unbend a bow. See also SETTA.
Atirar com arco, to shoot with a bow.
Arco celeste, or, as the vulgar call it, arco da velha, the rainbow.
Arco com que se tange rabeca, a bow to play on a violin, a fiddlestick.
Arco de pipas, a hoop, or circle, to bind a pipe, &c.
Arco triumphal, a triumphal arch.
Arcos de ferro que cobrem os cubos das rodas. See CUBO.

A R E

Arco de ponte, the arch of a bridge.
Arco (in geometry) an arch, or any part of a circumference of a circle lying from one point to another.
ARCOBOTA'NTE, f. m. (in architecture) an arch, a supporter, a buttress. From the French arc-boutant.
ARCTA'DO, a, adj. See
ARCTAR, v. a. to strain, to tie close.
ARCTICO, a, adj. northern, northward, arctic.
Circulo arctico, (in astronomy) the arctic circle; a lesser circle of the earth or heaven, twenty-three degrees thirty minutes distant from the arctic pole.
Polo arctico, the arctic, or northern pole.
ARCTURO, f. m. arcturus, a fixed star of the first magnitude, in the skirt of arctophylax, or boötes. Lat. arcturus.
ARDEGO. See FOGOSO.
ARDE'NTE, adj. burning hot; also passionate, fiery, hasty, unruly. (Metaph.)
Dezejo ardente, a violent desire.
Agua ardente, brandy.
ARDENTEME'NTE, adv. hotly, fiercely; also passionately, with a strong love.
ARDENTIA, f. f. the light caused by the waves, particularly in a tempest; a sea storm.
ARDER, v. n. to burn, to flame, to blaze.
Arder, to shine, glister, or glitter.
Arder, to burn up, to waste, to spoil. (Speaking of war or plague.)
Arder, to long, to wish earnestly.
Arder, to command, to sway, to bear sway. (Speaking of envy, covetousness, &c.)
Arder, to blast. (Speaking of corn, barley, &c.)
Farinha ardida, musty, or mouldy flour.
ARDID. See ARDIL.
ARDIDDO, a, adj. See ARDER. See also ESPERTO, ALENTADO, and ARDENTE.
ARDIDEZA, f. f. bravery. See also ESPERTEZA.
ARDIL, f. m. a stratagem and cunning contrivance.
ARDILHA. See HARDA.
ARDILOSAME'NTE, adv. craftily, cunningly, knavishly.
ARDILO'SO, a, adj. subtle, crafty, witty; also wary, circumspect, cautious. See also ARTIFICIOSO.
ARDIME'NTO, f. m. boldness, courage.
ARDOR, f. m. heat, burning; also eagerness, boldness; also an itch, or burning in the skin.
Ardor, a pricking heat of lust. See also AMOR.
ARDUAME'NTE, adv. difficulty.
ARDUO, a, adj. difficult, arduous.
arduo, dangerous, great, or of great concern, hard, troublesome.
AREAL, f. f. area, the void place in mathematical figures, or the superficial content of any figure, measured in inches, feet, yards, &c. (In geometry.)
Area, a circle about the sun, moon, or stars. (In meteorology.)
Area ou campo do escudo. See ARMAS.
AREIA, f. f. sand. Lat. arena.
Area fina, fine sand.
Area grossa, gravel.
Banco d'area, (in the sea) sands, a shelf of sand.
Area cega, a kind of loosened sand that causes the people to stick in it.

A R G

Padecer de areias, to be troubled with the gravel.
AREA'DO, a, adj. stupified, dull, senseless, amazed, astonished, confounded, surprised. See also AREAR.
AREAL, f. m. a sandy place; also sand-pit.
AREAR, v. a. to scower with sand, ashes, &c. also to cover with sand.
AREAR, v. n. to be at a loss, to be beside one's self.
ARECA, f. f. an Indian fruit. The tree grows tall, straight, round, slender, and divided by knots from the foot to the top; its leaves longer and broader than those of the cocoa-tree: the fruit is as big as a walnut, but longish, and is cold and dry, comforts the stomach, prevents vomiting, strengthens the gums and teeth, and if eaten does so stupify, that people in great pain take it to forget their sufferings. It is commonly chewed with the herb betel. See more of it in Christ. Acost. Nat. Hist. E. Ind.
AREEIRO, f. m. he who digs the sand from the sand-pit, or he who carries away the sand from the sand-pit; also a powder or sand-box.
AREENTO, a, adj. sandy, gravelly, full of sand, or gravel.
AREJADO, a, adj. blasted, (speaking of trees.) See also the verb
AREJAR, v. a. to air, to expose to the air, to weather.
Arejar huma casa, to air a house.
ARELHANA, f. f. (in India) a girdle.
ARENA, f. f. a place in the amphitheatre, where masteries were tried, and prizes fought.
ARENGA, f. f. a long speech, or a tale; also a foolish speech.
ARENGA'DO, adj. See
ARENGAR, v. n. to make an oration, to harangue.
ARENO'SO, a, adj. See AREENTO.
ARENQUE, f. m. a herring.
Homens, que de algum lugar alto avizam os pescadores aonde está o cardume de arenques, baskers.
Arenque defumado, a red herring.
Arenque com eguas, a hard-roed herring.
AREOLA, f. f. a little bed, or quarter in a garden. Lat.
AREOPAGITA, f. m. an areopagite, one of the judges among the Athenians.
AREOMETRO, f. m. an areometer, or instrument to measure the gravity, or density of any liquor or fluid. Greek.
AREOPAGO, f. m. Areopagus, Mars' hill, in Athens, a place where judges tried capital causes. They sat by night, as not observing the person, but the cause, and writ down, without declaring their suffrages; whence this court was remarkable for impartiality and secrecy.
AREO'SO. See AREENTO.
ARESTA, f. m. awn of corn; also the coarsest sort of flax.
ARISTINS, f. m. p. a disease in a horse's patterns, called the scratches.
ARESTO, f. m. (in law) a sentence given upon a cause, formed upon precedent.
ARFA'R, v. n. (a sea term) ex. Arfa a nã, the ship plunges sometimes a-head, and sometimes a-stern. See also EMPIÑAR-SE.
ARGACO, f. m. See ALGA.
ARGAMAÇA, f. f. a kind of plastering made made with shreds and tiles beaten to powder, and tempered together with mortar; plaster of Paris or terrace.

ARGAMAÇAR, v. a. to cover with the said plaiting.

ARGANIZ, f. m. a dormouse; it is also said of any large mouse. P. dorme como hum arganiz, he sleeps like a dormouse.

ARGANELO, f. m. a sort of rings which serve to push a cannon backwards and forwards. (A sea term.)

ARGAÇO, f. m. a piece of reed they make use of to draw wine.

ARGE'L, f. m. Algiers, a kingdom of Africa. Also a province, and the capital of the kingdom. Towards the close of the VIIIth century, the Mahometan Arabians called this city Algezir, (i. e. in Arabic, belonging to an island) because there was an island before the city, to which it is now joined by a mole. The Bereberes, who are descended from an Arabian prince called Motzgana, had separately subdued this place, for which reason it is still called among the Arabians, Geraira Al-Beni-Motzgana.

Argel, according to Barbosa, signifies also unlucky.

Cavalo argel, or manalvo, a horse with his off foot white, and no other white about him.

ARGENTADO, a, adj. silvered over.

Pez argentada, a clear sound, like that of silver.

ARGENTAR, v. a. to silver over.

Argentar, to make fair and white like silver.

ARGENTARIA, f. f. any vessel of plate. See PRATA.

ARGENTEADO. See ARGENTADO.

ARGENTEAR. See ARGENTAR.

ARGENTEIO, a, adj. of, or made of silver; also clear or bright as silver.

ARGENTIFERO, a, adj. that beareth or bringeth silver.

ARGENTINA, f. f. the herb wild tansy, or silver-weed.

ARGENTO. See PRATA.

Salto argento, (in poetry) the sea.

Argento vivo, or azougue, quick-silver, mercury.

ARGOLLA, f. f. an iron ring to hold by, or to put on the slaves legs.

ARGOLAM, f. m. a very great massive ring.

ARGOLINHA, f. f. diminutive from argolla, a small ring.

Correr a argolinha, a game at which they drive a ball through a ring.

ARGONAUTA, f. m. the Argonauts; also a pilot.

ARGOS, f. m. one of the sixteen constellations; also a sharp-witted man.

ARGUCIA, f. f. subtilty, briskness, smartness. See also AGUDEZA.

ARGUEIRO, f. m. a straw, a mote.

P. de hum argueiro fazer hum cavalleiro, we say, to make mountains of mole-hills.

ARGUENTE, f. m. See ARGUMENTANTE.

ARGUICAM, f. f. sophistry.

ARGUIDO. See ARGUIR.

ARGUIDOR, f. m. a blamer, a discom-mender, or reprover.

ARGUIR, to accuse, to reprove, to reprehend; also to argue, infer, gather, or conclude; also to shew, to let see, or discover.

ARGUMENTAÇÃO, f. f. argumentation, disputation.

ARGUMENTADO, adj. See ARGUMENTAR.

ARGUMENTANTE, f. m. the opponent, in a disputation.

ARGUMENTAR, v. n. to argue, dispute, or reason.

ARGUMENTO, f. m. an argument, a reason; also the brief contents of a book.

ARGUTAMENTE, adv. smartly, briskly, pertly, shrewdly.

ARGUTO, a, adj. sharp, ready, quick-witted; also shrill, loud.

ARIA, f. f. an aria, air, song, or tune.

ARIDO, a, adj. dry, or withered.

ARIES, f. m. one of the twelve signs of the zodiac, the ram.

ARIE'TA, f. f. an arietta, a little short air, or song.

ARIE'TE, f. m. a battering ram, an engine with horns of iron like a ram's head, to batter walls.

ARIETINO, a, adj. of, or belonging to a ram.

ARIMONO, f. m. (an antiquated word) a sort of chair, or sedan.

ARINQUE, f. m. the anchor-cable, (in a ship.)

ARPOLO, f. m. See ADEVINHO.

ARISCO, a, adj. austere, rigid, intractable, ill-natured.

ARISTA'RCO, f. m. a critic, one skilled in criticism.

ARISTOCRACIA, f. f. an aristocracy, a commonwealth governed by the nobility, or better sort, as Venice. Greek.

ARISTOCRATICO, a, adj. belonging to aristocracy.

ARISTOLO'CHIA, or ARISTOLOQUA, f. f. the herb called hartwort. Greek.

ARITHMETICA, f. f. arithmetic, the art of numbering. Greek.

ARITHMETICAMENTE, arithmetically.

ARITHMETICO, f. m. an arithmetician.

Arithmetico, a, adj. belonging to arithmetic.

ARMA, f. f. a weapon, an arm.

Arma de fogo, a fire-arm.

ARMAÇAM, f. f. a furniture.

Armaçam do corpo, the size and fashion of the body.

Armaçam de ossos. See ARCABOUÇO.

Armaçam de veados, boy, &c. See PONTA.

Ruim armaçam, a wicked man.

Armaçam, the nets, harpoons, &c. to catch the tunny-fish with.

ARMADA, f. f. a fleet of men of war, a navy.

Armada naval, a naval army.

ARMADILHA, f. f. a snare, a gin to catch birds.

ARMADILHO, f. m. a creature in the West-Indies, whom nature has furnished with a skin like armour.

ARMADO, a, adj. armed, harnessed, fenced; also adorned, set off; also ready, prepared, fortified.

Armado de ponto em branco, armed on all parts, from top to toe, cap-a-pee.

Armado, (in heraldry) the blazoning the feet and beaks of hawks, and all birds of prey, which are always painted of a different colour from the birds themselves.

Armado de armas-leves, ou soldado á ligeira, light-harnessed soldiers.

Armado com armas defensivas, ou offensivas, armed with defensive, or offensive arms.

Peyxe armado, a kind of fish in the West-Indies.

Armado, (in horsemanship) the spur-leather.

Caô armado, a dog with a collar made of leather stuck full of nails. See the v. ARMAR.

ARMADO'R-mor. See ARMEYRO-mor.

Armador de navios, one that fits out armed ships against enemies.

Armador de igrejas, he who hangs the churches for some solemnity.

ARMADURA, f. f. arms, weapons, armour of whatsoever kind, either offensive, or defensive.

Armadura leve. See ARMADO de armas-leves.

ARMAME'NTOS, f. m. p. the sails, the rigging and tackling of a ship.

ARMAR, v. a. to arm, to furnish with, or put in arms.

Armar aos passaros, to set snares for birds.

Armar hum navio, to equip, or fit out a ship.

Armar a besta, to bend a cross-bow.

Armar huma casa, to set up the wooden frame of a house; also to furnish or to fit it up.

Armar no jogo, to sharp, to cheat at play.

Armar hum laço, to lay a snare.

Armar as lebres, ou coelhos, to set gins to catch hares, or conies.

Armar briga, ou pendencia, to begin a quarrel.

Armar huma cama, to set up a bedstead.

Armar ciladas, to lay an ambush.

Armar demanda, to take the law of one, to go to law with him.

Armar disputas, ou disputar sobre a ley, to moot.

Armar cavalleiro, to dub a knight, to confer the honour of knighthood upon one.

Armar huma igreja, rua, &c. to hang a church, street, &c. for some solemnity.

Armar, to hunt after, to strive to obtain.

Armar huma trayaço, to plot, to brew, to frame a traiterous design.

Armar çancadilha, to trip up one's heels.

Armar, to experience, to experiment, to try.

Armar, to seek, or get by cunning; to watch, to lie at catch for.

Armar, to become, to be proper, to fit.

Isto não me arma, this does not fit my turn.

Armar sobre alguem, to take up arms against one.

Armar hum jogo com alguem, to play with one.

Armar, (among gold-smiths) to settle the filigree work.

Armar as redes, to set nets.

Armar á alguem, to set one, or to lay a trap for him, in order to bubble him.

Armar ou emparelhar, (among gamesters) to go half with one.

Armar esporas á castelhana, ou á mourisca, to make the spur-leather after the Spanish or Moorish fashion. (In horsemanship.)

Armar, to arm, to make preparations for a war, to raise forces.

Armar-se, v. r. to arm one's self, to put on one's arms; also, to fortify, to arm, to fence, to strengthen, to secure one's self against a thing.

Armar-se de constancia, to put on a stout resolution.

Armar-se de paciência, to be patient.

Armar-se, to present itself.

Se se armar, a occasião de, &c. if there is an opportunity for, &c.

ARMARIA, or ARMERIA, f. f. arms, or coats of arms. See also ARMEIA.

ARMAS, (the plural of Arma) arms, weapons; armour, &c.

Armas usadas nos torneos, arms of courtesy, or arms of parade.

A's armas! to arms! a military cry.

Pegar nas armas, to take up arms.

Armas offensivas, e defensivas, offensive and defensive arms.

Armas de fogo, fire-arms.

Fazer passar pelas armas a hum soldado, to shoot a soldier to death.

Passar pelas armas, to be shot to death.

Armas brancas. See ARMADO de ponto em branco.

Suspensão de armas, a truce.

Seguir as armas, to bear arms, to be a soldier.

Mestre d'armas, a fencing-master.

Escola de armas, a fencing-school.

Armas, (in heraldry) arms, coats of arms, achievement.

Feito d'armas, a military exploit.

Armas, (metaph.) power, strength, arguments, defence, aid.

Homem d'armas. See ARMADO de ponto em branco.

Rey d'armas, a king at arms.

O campo, ou área de escudo, em que se pinta, ou se esculpem as armas, field, (in heraldry) the whole surface of an escutcheon, or shield.

ARMATO'STE, f. m. a rack, to bend a cross-bow.

ARMEIRO, f. m. a maker of armour.

Armeiro-mor, the chief armourer.

ARME'LA, f. f. an iron or wooden staple for a lock or bolt, or any such use. (This word is used in the provinces of Minho and Beyra.)

ARME'NIA PEDRA, or TERRA, Armenian stone; a mineral stone or earth of a blue colour, spotted with green, black, and yellow. See also BOLO.

ARMENTIO. See

ARMENTO, f. m. an herd of large cattle.

ARME'O de lã ou linho, a rack full of yarn of flax, as a handful, or bundle.

ARMERIA, or ARMARIA, f. f. armory (in heraldry) or the art of displaying or marshalling all sorts of coats of arms, and appointing to them their proper bearings. See also BLAZAM and ARMAS.

ARMEZIM, f. m. a sort of taffety that comes from Bengal.

ARMIGERO, a, adj. (in poetry) armiferous, bearing arms, or weapons; it is taken for Mars, the heathen god of war.

ARMINA'DO, ex. cavallo arminado, (among farriers) a horse that has got white spots by the hoof, being of a black colour; or black spots in the same place, all the rest being white.

ARMINHADO, (in heraldry) the field of an escutcheon when it is argent, and the powdering fables, or white interspersed with black spots.

ARMINHO, f. m. a weasel, or field mouse. (Probably from Armenia, the country from whence these skins were brought.)

Pellé de arminho, ermine, a very rich fur of a weasel or field-mouse. (Worn by princes or persons of quality.)

ARMINO, f. m. (among farriers) the white or black spots by the horse's hoof. See ARMINADO.

ARMIO. See ARMEO.

ARMIPOTENTE, adj. valiant, mighty, or powerful in arms, or war, armipotent.

ARMISONO, a, adj. (in poetry) rustling with armour, armifonous.

ARMISTICIO, f. m. an armistice, a truce, a suspension of arms.

ARMODATILA. See HERMODATILO.

ARMO'LAS, f. m. p. a herb called orage, or orach; golden herb.

ARMONIA. See HARMONIA.

ARMONFACO, ex. sal armoniaco. See AMMONIACO.

ARNEIRO, f. m. a barren sandy ground. From the Lat. arena, sand.

ARNE'LLA, f. f. the root of a rotten or broken tooth, that remains in the gums.

ARNE'Z, f. m. harness, armour; it is taken sometimes for the breast-plate only.

ARNOGLO'ZA, or ARNOGLOSSA. See TANCHAGEM.

ARO, f. m. an iron or wooden hoop.

Jogo do aro. See JOGO.

ARO'DO, adv. abundantly.

ARO'EIRA. See LENTISCO.

AROMANCIA, f. f. aromancy, a divining, or foretelling of things by certain signs in the air. Greek.

ARO'MA, f. m. a sweet or aromatic drug, as cassia, clove, mace, ginger, &c. also a smell, scent, or odour. (Figur.)

AROMA'TICO, a, adj. aromatic, aromatic, spicy, odoriferous, sweet, sweet-smelling.

AROMATIZA'DO. See

AROMATIZA'R, v. a. to sprinkle powdered spices; also to perfume or scent with sweet spices.

AROT e Marot, Arot and Marot, two angels, mentioned in the Coran, book II.

ARPA, f. f. a harp, a lyre, an instrument stringed with wire, and struck with the finger.

ARPA'DO. See ARPAS.

ARPA'M, or ARPE'O, f. m. a drag, or hook.

Arpam de afferrar navios, a grapnel, or grappling iron of a ship.

ARPA'R, v. a. to grapple, to grasp, and lay hold of.

Arpar hum navio, to grapple a ship.

ARPE'O. See ARPA'M.

ARPIA, f. f. a harpy; a monstrous bird, feigned by the poets.

ARPISTA, f. m. f. the person who plays on the harp.

ARPOA'DO. See

ARPOA'R, or HARPOAR. See ARPAS.

ARPOEIRA. See ARPA'M.

ARQUEA'DO, a, adj. fashioned like a bow, or arch; arched, bent.

ARQUEA'RSE, v. r. to be arched, bent, or bowed.

ARQUEA'R as sobancelbas, to draw up the eye-brows, as when we gaze at any thing with admiration.

ARQUEJA'DO, adj. See

ARQUEJA'R, v. n. to breathe short, and with difficulty.

ARQUEIRO, f. m. he that keeps the key of a public chest; also a chest-maker.

ARQUE'TA, or ARQUINHA, (diminutive from arca) a small chest.

ARQUE'TYPO. See ARCHETYPUS.

ARQUINHA, f. f. the coach-box.

ARQUITECTO. See ARCHITECTO.

ARQUITECTURA. See ARCHITECTURA.

ARQUITRAVE. See ARCHITRAVE.

ARQUE'TRICLINO. See ARCHITRICLINUS.

ARQUIVISTA. See ARCHIVISTA.

ARQUIVO. See ARCHIVO.

ARRABA'LDE, f. m. a suburb. Arabic.

ARRA'BIDA, f. f. a promontory in Portugal. Lat. Barbaricum promontorium.

ARRAB'L, RABIL, or RABEL, f. m. a musical instrument like a small fiddle, used by shepherds.

ARRA'IA, or ARRA'YA, f. f. a fish called a ray, or skate. In the reign of king John I. the assemblies of the common people were called arrayamiada. See also RAYA.

Arraia negra, e no cabo armada de dois ferreiros, a thornback.

ARRAIA'DO, or ARRAYADO. See RAIA, ADO, and ARRAIAR.

ARRAIA'L, or ARRAYA'L, f. m. the field or camp where two armies engage.

Arraial. See REAL.

ARRAIA'NO, or ARRAYANO, f. m. a neighbour, or borderer.

ARRAIA'R, or ARRAYAR, v. n. to shine, and cast forth beams and rays.

O sol arraia, the sun rises.

ARRAIGA'DO, ARRAYGADO, or ARREIGADO, a, adj. rooted, that hath taken root.

Arraigado, radicated, inveterate, old. (Metaph.)

Mal arraigado, an old disease.

Arraigado, fixed, not easily removed. (Metaph.)

ARRAYGAR, ARRAIGAR, or ARREIGAR, v. n. to produce roots, as a tree when planted to take root, in a proper and figurative sense; also to grow incurable, or inveterate. (Speaking of diseases.)

ARRAIGA'R, v. a. to fix.

Arraigar-se, v. r. to stick fast in.

ARRA'IS, or ARRAYS, f. m. a master of a boat.

ARRA'M, f. f. an herb so called.

ARRAMALHA'DO, a, adj. See ARRAMALHAR.

ARRAMALHA'R. See BULIR.

ARRAMA'R-SE, v. r. to bring forth leaves; also to branch, to spread in branches.

ARRANCA'DO, a, adj. pulled away, or slipped off; also, rooted up.

Arrancado, wrested, or forced from.

Andar a voga arrancada, to row with all might and main. See also ARRANCAR.

ARRANCAME'NTO, f. m. a plucking away, a pulling up of herbs, &c. also the crime of drawing the sword, or any other arms in the capital.

ARRANCA'R, v. a. to pull or tear away violently, to root up, to snatch away, both in the proper and figurative sense; also, to force, or wrest from; also to depart from, to leave a place; also to draw.

Arrancar a alma, to die.

Arrancar suspiros, to sigh.

Arrancar a espada, to draw the sword.

Arrancar o cavallo, is for a horse to start for a race, to fly out on a sudden.

Arrancar os olhos a alguem, to scratch, or pull out one's eyes.

Arrancarse a alguem o coração, to be highly vexed, or grieved, to break one's heart.

ARRANCHADO.

ARRANCHADO. See ARRANCHAR, to set in order.
Arranchar-se, v. r. to set one's house, or lodgings in order; also to mess with one.
ARRANCO da morte, the trance, agony, or pains of death.
Dar os ultimos arrancos, to die.
ARRANHADO, a, adj. See ARRANHAR.
ARRANHADURA, f. f. a scratch.
Huma leve arranhadura, a slight scratch.
ARRANHAR, v. a. to scratch.
Arranhar-se, v. r. to scratch one's self.
ARRARAR, v. a. See RAREFAZER.
ARRAS, f. m. p. the money, or fortune assigned by the husband for his wife, after his death; also, the advantage given to the inferior player at the tennis-play.
Pannos de arras, or de rás, Arras-hangings; tapestry made at Arras, in Flanders.
ARRASADO, or ARRAZADO. See ARRAZAR.
ARRASADO'R, or ARRAZADOR, a strickle, a thing to strike the over-measure of corn, &c.
ARRASA'R, or ARRAZA'R, v. a. to lay even with the ground, to level.
Arrasar, to throw, or cover all over.
Arrasar huma medida. See RASAR.
ARRASAREM-SE os olhos de lagrimas, is when the tears stand in the eyes ready to gush out, but do not run down.
ARRASADO em popa, (speaking of a ship) is when a ship goes right before the wind.
ARRASTADO, or ARRASTRADO, a, adj. dragged, trailed along the ground; also, that is in a very mean condition, or full of troubles.
Arrestado, far-fetched, affected, unnatural; also tired, fatigued, harassed.
ARRASTA'R, or ARRASTRAR, v. a. to draw, drag, trail along the ground.
Arrastar, (metaph.) to entice, or allure; to decoy, to attract.
Mulher que arrasta os vestidos, a draggle-tail.
Arrastar á alguém, (metaph.) to tire one, to molest him.
Arrastar, ou torcer o sentido, &c. See TORCER.
Arrastar a aza, (metaph.) to make love, to court.
Arrastar, v. r. to trail, to hang on the ground.
Arrastar-se, v. r. to creep, to move slowly and weakly.
Se eu não puder caminhar, arrastar-me-hei, if I can't go, I will creep.
ARRATEL, f. m. a pound weight.
ARRATELA'R, v. a. to weigh a thing pound by pound.
ARRAVESADO. See ARRAVESAR.
ARRAYA. See ARRAIA.
ARRAZADO. } See { ARRASADO.
ARRAZA'R. } { ARRASAR.
ARRAZADO. See ARREZOADO.
ARRAZOAR. } See { ARREZOAR.
ARRAYAL. } { ARRAIAL.
ARRE, the word carriers and such people use to their horses, mules, or asses, to make them go: as ours say, hey-gee-hoe, &c.
Arre! interj. hey-day! also away, away with.
ARREADO. See ARREAR, v. a. to dress, to adorn.
Arrear-se, v. r. to adorn one's self.
ARREATA. See ARRIATA.

ARREATADO. See ARRIATA'DO.
ARREATA'R. See ARRIATAR.
ARREAZ, f. m. a sort of buckle or ring, on which the stirrup-leather hangs.
ARREBANHADO. See ARREBANHA'R, v. a. to gather the sheep, to assemble or bring together. Arabic.
ARREBATA punhadas, (a jocose expression) a person worthy to be beaten. Lat. verbero.
ARREBATADAMENTE, adv. precipitately, hastily, inconsiderately, madly.
ARREBATA'DO, a, adj. snatched, carried off suddenly, carried away by force.
Arrebatado, swift, rapid, violent.
Arrebatado, soon angry, passionate, hasty, pettish, naturally inclined to anger.
Arrebatado com extasi, ou arrebatado dos sentidos, rapt in spirit, in an ecstasy.
Arrebatado, affected, or touched with delight or admiration; also hastened, done with speed.
ARREBATAMENTO, f. m. snatching, or catching; also hastiness, passion; according to the v.
ARREBATA'R, v. a. to snatch, to pull away violently, to catch suddenly, to carry off as death.
Deixar-se, arrebatado, das paixões, to abandon, or give over one's self to passions, to yield or give way to them.
Arrebatado, to charm, please, or delight.
Arrebatado-se, v. r. ex. Arrebatado-se de si, to be rapt in spirit; it is also said of passionate lovers, and of madmen.
ARREBEÇADO. See ARREBEÇAR, ARREBESAR, or REBEÇAR. See VOMITAR.
ARREBENTADO. See ARREBENTAR, v. a. to burst, to break suddenly.
Arreentar o diabo, (a vulgar phrase) to drink a glass of wine after saying grace after meal.
Arreentar, v. n. to burst, to break or fly open.
Arreentão-lhe as ilhargas com riso, he can't hold his sides with laughing, he splits his sides with laughing.
Arreentar, to open and spread as a flower doth; also to spring, to break out, to rise, to issue, to burst out as waters do.
Arreentar de gente, to be crowded with people.
Arreentar, to desire passionately; also to be ready to burst; to break as the waves do; to break as an imposthume.
As suas expressões me arreentão o coração, his expressions break my heart.
Ter o corpo arreentado, to have eruptions appear on the body, as pustules, sores, &c.
ARREBIQUE. See REBIQUE.
ARREBITADO. See LEVANTADO.
ARREBITA'R. See LEVANTAR, and REBITAR.
ARREBO'L, f. m. the redness of clouds.
ARREBURNHO, a sort of play among boys.
ARRECADACAM, f. f. exaction, a levying or gathering of money, or any other thing; also, a right distribution, or management.
ARRECADADO, a, adj. received, taken, accepted. See also POUPADO.
ARRECADAR, v. a. to receive, to take, to accept.
Arrecadar bem a sua fazenda, to spare or husband, to be a saving or good husband; also to exact, to demand, to dun.

ARRECADAS, f. m. p. an ear-ring, a pendant. Hebrew.
ARRECTE, or RECIFE, f. m. a ridge of rocks along the sea-coast; also a harbour belonging to the captainship of Pernambuco, in the Brasils, South America. James Lancaster got into it in the year 1595, with seven or eight English ships, and made himself master of the castle and port.
ARREDA'DO, a, adj. See ARREDA'R, v. a. to remove; also to withdraw.
Arredar para traz, to draw or pull back.
Arredar-se, v. r. to withdraw, to retire or go away.
ARREDIO, a, adj. strayed; (speaking of beasts); also withdrawn from company, lonesome, retired. (Speaking of persons.)
ARREDO, ex. Arredo va de nós, far be it from us.
ARREDO'MA. See REDO'MA.
ARREDORES, f. m. p. precinct, circuit.
Arredores da cidade, the adjacent parts of the town.
ARREDOUCA. See REDOUCA.
ARREFANHADO. See ARREFANHA'R, v. a. (In the province of Beira.) See ARRANCAR.
ARREFECER, v. a. and n. See ESFRIAR, and ESFRIAR-SE.
ARREFECIDO. See ESFRIADO.
ARREGAÇADO, a, adj. girded, tucked up.
ARREGAÇAR, v. a. to tuck, to turn, to gather up.
Arregar os braços, to strip the arms naked.
ARREGALA'R os olhos, to lift the eyebrows too much, to open one's eyes wide, to stare.
ARREGANHA'DO, a, adj. See ARREGANHA'R, v. a. to grin, to snarl, or shew the teeth as a dog doth; also to chink, to open. (Speaking of fruit.) Lat. hiacere.
ARREIA'DO, or ARREYADO. See ARREADO.
ARREIA'R, or ARREYAR. See ARREAR.
ARREIGADO. See ARRAIGADO.
ARREIGAR. See ARRAIGAR.
ARREIO, or ARREYO, f. m. a horse-harness; also array, dress.
Arreio, or Arreo, adv. continually, without intermission.
ARREITE'TA. (In the province of Beira.) See ALMOTOLIA.
ARRELA', an interj. of aversion, away, away with.
ARRELA'PAS, idem.
ARRELEQUIM, f. m. a buffoon, or harlequin, a merry-andrew, a jack-pudding.
ARRELHADA, f. f. an aker-staff, the plough-staff, or the iron in a plough-staff, with which the coulter is scraped.
ARREMANGA'R. (A vulgar word.) See AMEAÇAR.
ARREMATACAM, f. f. the action of delivering the goods to him that bids most, in a port-sale, or auction.
ARREMATADO, a, adj. that is bought in a port-sale, or auction.
Doude arrematado, a downright fool. See also.

A R R

also APERFEIÇADO, and the v. ARREMATAR.
ARREMATADO'R, f. m. he that bids most.
ARREMATAR, v. a. to sell by auction, to knock at a sale; also, to bid most, to buy in a port-sale; also, to tie fast.
Arrematar terras, to break or till up the ground again, also to weed.
Arrematar as contas, to reckon, to count, to cast an account. See also REMATAR.
Arrematar-se, v. r. to be sold by auction.
ARREMEÇADO, a, adj. thrown or cast forth, or away. See ARREMEÇAR.
Homem arremeçado, a temerarious or rash man.
ARREMEÇAM, f. m. a sort of lance that may be cast, or hurled.
ARREMEÇAR, v. a. to throw, or sling forth, or away.
Arremeçar o cavallo, to gallop; also to turn back the horse.
Arremeçar-se, v. r. to cast, or throw one's self in, to rush in, to run headlong into.
ARREMEÇO, f. m. a throw, hurl, or cast.
Armas de arremeço, arms that may be cast, or hurled.
Fazer arremeço. See ARREMEÇAR.
ARREMEDI'DO. See
ARREMEDIAR, v. a. to imitate a person, or a thing, to come near to it, to mimic, to ape, also to counterfeit.
O que arremeda, a mime or mimic, an imitator.
Aquella que arremeda, the woman that imitates, or apes, an imitatrix.
Arremedar o assinal de alguém, to counterfeit one's hand.
ARREMEDO, f. m. an imitation, the act of mimicking; also a counterfeiting, a dissembling, a colour, pretence, or disguise.
O humor ou genio de arremedar, apishness.
Arremedo de fidalguia, a shew of nobility.
ARREMEDIOS da guerra, mock fights.
ARREMESQUINHOS, so they call the paint, patches, &c. which women wear on their faces. (A jocular word.)
ARREMETENTE, (in heraldry) it is said of beasts represented as invading, assailing, or setting upon.
ARREMETER, v. a. to invade, assail, or set upon, to rush violently upon, to run hastily or furiously upon. Lat. irruere.
ARREMETIDA, f. f. See ACOMETIMENTO.
ARREMETIDO, a, adj. See ARREMETER.
ARREMINADO. (A vulgar word.) See ATREVIDO.
ARREMINAR-SE, v. r. to assault, to set upon, to run against.
ARRENDADO, a, adj. See ARRENDAR.
ARRENDADOR, f. m. he who takes or hires; a tenant who rents a house, or land.
Arrendador, a lessor, he that letteth a house, &c. he that setteth to hire.
ARRENDAMENTO, f. m. a hiring, renting, or taking by lease.
Arrendamento, the letting of a house, a setting to hire.
Arrendamento feito só por palavra, a lease parole. See PALAVRA.
ARRENDAR, v. a. to let, to let out.
Arrendar, to hire, or take to hire.

A R R

Arrendar milho zaburro, to lay earth to the millet roots after being weeded.
ARRENEGADA, f. f. a sort of game at cards, called ombre.
ARRENEGADO, f. m. a renegado.
ARRENEGADOR, f. m. a swearer, a blasphemer.
ARRENEGAR, v. a. to deny, to forswear, to abjure, to turn a renegado.
Arrenegar, to detest, to loath, to abominate, or abhor.
Arrenegar, v. n. to be transported with anger.
ARRENEGO, f. m. a detestation, an imprecation, or cursing.
ARRE'O. See ARREIO.
Arreio, adv. See ARREIO.
ARREPELADO, a, adj. See ARREPELAR.
ARREPELAM, or REPELAM, f. m. a tug by the hair.
Dar hum arrepelam, to give a tug.
ARREPELAR, v. a. to pull off, or by the hair.
Arrepelar-se, v. r. to tug one's own hair.
ARREPENDER-SE, v. r. to repent, to change one's mind.
ARREPENDIDO, a, adj. See ARREPENDER-SE.
ARREPENDIMENTO, f. m. repentance, the changing of mind.
ARREPIAMENTO. See ARRIPIAMENTO.
ARREPIAR. See ARRIPIAR.
ARREPTICIO. See OBSESSO.
ARREVESAR, or ARRAVESAR. (Obsol.) See VOMITAR.
ARREZOADAMENTE. See RACIONALMENTE, and BASTANTEMENTE.
ARREZOADO, a, adj. reasonable, just, right, conscionable; also, reasonable, competent, moderate.
ARREZOADO, f. m. a reply in law, a plea, a reason, a defence.
ARREZOAR, v. n. to reason, to consider.
Arrezoar o feito, to take up the plea.
ARRHAS. See ARRAS.
ARRIADO, a, adj. See
ARRIAR, or ARREAR, v. a. (a sea term) to veer; that is, to put more rope by hand, or to let more run out.
Arriar as velas, to strike sail.
Arriar bandeira, to strike the flag.
ARRIATA, f. f. ex. Levar as bestas á arriata, so they say when a horse, mule, &c. is tied to the pack-saddle of that which goes before.
ARRIATAR. See REATAR.
ARRIAZ, f. m. a piece belonging to horse-harness.
ARRIBA, preposit. above, up, upward.
ARRIBAÇAM, f. f. ex. Aves de arribaçam, strange birds, or birds of a strange place; birds that fly away, as swallows in winter.
ARRIBA'DA, f. f. the return by water to the place from whence one went.
ARRIBA'R, v. n. (sea term) to put into an harbour, to stand in for an harbour, or road, to be driven into an harbour, or road, by stress of weather.
Arribar, (in steering the ships) to bear up, to bring the ship more before the wind.
Dêz dos seus navios arribarão a este porto, ten of their ships have put into this harbour.

A R R

A tempestade nos obrigou a arribar áquelle porto, a storm drove us into that harbour.
Arribar, to be forced back into the harbour the ship set out from.
Arribar, to strike or run a-ground.
Arribar, (metaph.) to recover, to get again.
Arribar, to resume, to begin again, to take in hand again.
Arribar a ave, to fly as strange birds do. See ARRIBAÇAM.
Arribar, to reach, to come at.
Arribar, to hoist, or hoist up.
ARRIBITAR. See RIBITAR.
ARRIÇADO, a, adj. See ERRIÇADO.
ARRIÇAR. See ERRIÇAR.
ARRIEIRO, f. m. a muleteer.
ARRIE'L, f. m. a gold ring used in ancient times by the common sort of women.
ARRILHA'DA, f. f. See ARRELHADA.
ARRIMADO, a, adj. under-set, propped, leaning, or resting on.
Arrimado, (metaph.) favoured, protected, &c. See ARRIMAR, and ARRIMAR-SE.
ARRIMADO á sua opinião, positive, headstrong, stubborn.
ARRIMAR, v. a. to lay any thing against another, that may support it, or may be supported by it.
Arrimar, (metaph.) to protect, to shelter.
Arrimar-se, v. r. to lean, to rest; both in the proper and figurat. sense.
Arrimar-se sobre hum bordão, to lean upon a stick.
Arrimar-se, to draw near, or nigh.
Arrimar-se, to trust to, to rely, or depend upon.
ARRIMINADO. (A vulgar word.) See ATREVIDO.
ARRIMO, f. m. support, strength, prop, defence; both in the proper and figurative sense.
ARRINCONADO, a, adj. thrust into a corner, forsaken, solitary. From the Spanish rincon, a corner.
ARRIO'Z, f. m. a marble for children to play with.
ARRIPIACABE'LLO, adv. against the hair.
ARRIPIADO, a, adj. See the verbs ARRIPIAR, and ARRIPIAR-SE.
Cavalleo que tem o pelo arripado, a rough-coated horse.
ARRIPIAMENTO, f. m. a shivering, or cold fit.
Arripamento que se sente nos dentes, a setting on edge.
Arripamento, (speaking of the hair) the staring up, or standing up an end.
ARRIPIAR-SE, v. r. to stand on end, to stare.
Os cabellos se lhe arripão, his hair starts up.
ARRIPIAR, v. a. ex. Arripiar a carrua, to travel back, or over again.
Fazer arripiar os cabellos, to cause the hair to stare up. Figurat. to fill with horror.
ARRISCA'DO, a, adj. endangered, hazarded; also bold, and venturesome, rash, fool-hardy, indiscreet.
Homem arriscado, a rash man.
ARRISCAR, v. a. to endanger, to venture, to hazard.
Arriscaria a minha vida para servir-vos, I would venture my life to serve you.
Arriscar-se, v. r. to dare, to adventure, to be bold, to presume. From risco, danger.
ARROBA

ARRO'BA, f. f. a weight of thirty-two pounds in Portugal. Arabic.

ARROBADO. See

ARROBA'R, v. a. to weigh, or to measure by the arroba.

Arrobar, to cure and preserve small wines by putting into them sodden wine. From ARROBE, see it. See also ARREBATAR.

ARRO'BE, f. m. sodden wine, or new wine boiled away to a third part, or to one half; as Pliny says. From the Arabic errubun, the third part.

ARROCHA'DO, a, adj. See

ARROCHA'R, v. a. to bind or tie hard with an arrocha. See

ARRO'CHO, f. m. a short stick with which carriers wind the cord that binds their pack.

ARRODEA'DO. } See { RODEADO.

ARRODEA'R. } See { RODEAR.

ARRODELLA'DO, a, adj. armed with a buckler, or shield. From rodella, a buckler.

ARRUGA'DO, a. See ARROGAR.

ARROGA'NCIA, f. f. arrogancy, pride, haughtiness.

ARROGANTE, adj. arrogant, proud, haughty.

ARROGANTEME'NTE, adv. proudly, haughtily, arrogantly.

ARROGA'R-SE, v. r. to arrogate; to claim, to attribute to one's self.

ARROJA'DO, a, adj. bold, rash. See the verbs ARROJAR and ARROJAR-SE.

ARROJAME'NTO, f. m. boldness, audacity, impudence.

ARROJA'R, v. a. to cast, to throw, to fling away. See also ARRASTAR.

Arrojar-se, v. r. to cast one's self violently, as from a high place. (Metaph.) to do or say any thing rashly.

ARRO'IDO, f. m. See BRIGA.

ARRO'YO, or ARROYO, f. m. a little stream of water, a rivulet. Spanish. Also an herb so called.

ARROMBA, (a vulgar word) great; ex. Jantar de arromba, a great dinner.

ARROMBA'DA, f. f. a coiled cable.

ARROMBADO, a, adj. See ARROMBAR.

ARROMBADO'R, f. m. a burglar, or house-breaker.

ARROMBAME'NTO, f. m. the breaking open.

ARROMBA'R, v. a. to force, to pull, or drive down, or in.

Arrombar huma porta, to break open a door.

ARROSTADO, a, adj. See

ARROSTAR, v. a. to come in sight, to defy, to provoke, to face. Elle arrosta a morte na meio das perigos, he defies death in the middle of dangers.

ARROTA'DO, a, adj. See

ARROTAR, v. n. to break wind upwards, to belch.

ARROTE'A, f. f. a piece of ground that has been grubbed up, and ploughed for the first time.

ARROTEA'R, v. a. to grub up an untilled piece of ground.

ARRO'TO, f. m. a belch, belching, or breaking wind upwards.

ARROTOS azedos que sabem a ovos goros, four belches.

ARROUBAME'NTO, f. m. See EXTASIS.

ARROUPA'DO. See ENROUPADO.

PART I.

ARROUPA'R. See VESTIR.

ARROUPA'R-SE. See ENROUPAR-SE.

ARROZ, f. m. rice, a sort of grain or pulse. Arabic.

ARRUA'DO, a, adj. disposed, shared, or divided into streets. See also ARRUA'R, v. a. to post people of different employments, so that each of them may work in his post, or station. From rua, street.

ARRU'DA, f. f. the herb rue.

Arruda brava, or silvestre, great St. John's wort.

ARRUE'LA, f. f. (in heraldry) tortaux; a bearing of round coloured figures like cakes; also a small iron ring in ships.

ARRUFA'DO, a, adj. See

ARRUFA'R-SE, v. r. to be angry, to be in a passion.

ARRU'FO, f. m. a peek, or pique like that among lovers, of which Terence says; amantium ira, amoris redintegratio est.

ARRUGA'DO, a, adj. See

ARRUGA'R, v. a. to wrinkle, to make wrinkles, to shrivel.

Arrugar a cara, or arrugar-se, to bend or knit the brow, to frown, lower, or pout.

From the Lat. ruga, a wrinkle.

ARRU'IDO, f. m. See ARROIDO.

ARRUINA'DO, a, adj. ruined, destroyed, undone.

ARRUINA'R, v. a. to ruin, destroy, to undo, to lay waste.

ARRUIVASCA'DO, a, adj. somewhat red, reddish.

ARRU'LHO, f. m. a cooing; the noise that pigeons make when they bill or kiss one another. (Metaph.) Children's playthings, as bells, rattles, &c.

ARRUMAÇAM, f. f. a setting in order. See the v. ARRUMAR.

ARRUMAÇO. (A jocular word.) See ARRUFO.

ARRUMA'DO, a, adj. See

ARRUMA'R, v. a. to set in order, to dispose, to set up any thing in its place. From the French rum, any room made or contrived in the hold of a ship to put in the lading.

Arrumar livros, to keep a merchant's, or banker's books.

Arrumar huma carta geographica, ou hydrographica, to appoint, in a geographical or hydrographical chart, the courses to be steered; to shew the bearing of a town, or of a sea-coast, with respect to another place; to mark the trade-winds, &c.

Arrumar a carregaçam, (a sea term) to stow goods in a ship.

ARRUNHA'DO, a, adj. See

ARRUNHA'R, v. a. (among shoe-makers) to cut or pare about. See also ARRUPNAR.

ARSAM, f. m. a saddle-bow.

ARSENAL, f. m. an arsenal, a store-house, or repository of provisions and ammunition.

ARSE'NICO, f. m. arsenic, orpiment, or orpine; a sort of mineral and poison. Greek.

ARTE, f. f. an art.

Artes liberaes, the liberal arts.

Artes mecanicas, the mechanic arts.

Mestre em artes, master of arts; a term used in the university, for human learning and philosophy.

Arte, art, skill, address, craft, mystery, cunning, ability.

P. com arte e com engano se vive meu anno; com engano e com arte se vive a outra parte, that is, all a man's life is a cheat.

Arte, trade, profession, business.

Arte, grammar; a book that contains the rules of any language.

ARTEFACTO, f. m. workmanship.

ARTEIRO. See MANHOSO.

ARTELHA'DO. See ARTILHADO.

ARTELHARIA. See ARTILHARIA.

ARTELHO, f. m. the ankle-bone.

ARTEMIZAH, or ARTEMISA, f. f. the herb mug-wort, or mother-wort.

ARTE'RIA, f. f. an artery.

Arteria magna, or aorta, (in anatomy) the artery called aorta, or great artery.

Arteria aspera, (in anatomy) the wind-pipe.

ARTERIA'L, adj. arterious, arterial, or belonging to the arteries.

ARTETICO. See GOTA Artetica.

ARTEZA, or ARTESA, f. f. a trough, a kneading-trough. Greek.

ARTEZAM, f. m. a vaulted roof, or the picture of it. From the Spanish artesa, a tray.

ARTHANYTA, f. f. or MAÇÃA de porca, the herb called sow-bread.

ARTHRITICO, a, adj. arthritical, arthritic, gouty, troubled with the gout.

ARTICO. See ARCTICO.

ARTICULAÇAM, f. f. (in anatomy) articulation, or the joining together of the bones of an animal body, for the due performance of motion.

Articulaçam, (in grammar) articulation, the part which treats first of sounds and letters, and then of the manner of joining them together, for the composing syllables and words.

ARTICULADAME'NTE, adv. articulately, distinctly, clearly.

ARTICULA'DO, a, adj. articulate, distinct, that is, when sounds are so clearly pronounced, that one may hear every syllable. See also ARTICULAR, or DEARTICULAR, v. a. to pronounce the sounds articulately and clearly.

Articular, (in anatomy) to join together the bones of an animal body, and to distinguish the joints.

Articular, to articulate, to set down in articles; also to question a matter of fact, to prove it. (In law.)

ARTICULO. See ARTIGO.

ARTIFE, (in cant) bread.

ARTIFICE, f. m. an artificer, a handicraft man.

ARTIFICIA'L, adj. artificial, artful, done according to the rules of art.

ARTIFICIO, f. m. artifice, art; also a cunning trick, sleight, or knack; a crafty device, or cunning fetch.

ARTIFICIOSAME'NTE, adv. artificially, cunningly, craftily.

ARTIFICIO'SO, a, adj. artful, according to art; also full of deceit, or artifice.

ARTIGO, f. m. (in grammar) an article, a small word distinguishing the genders; also an article, point, or head.

Artigos de nosso Santa fê, the articles of the Christian faith.

Artigo da morte, the article of death.

ARTILHA'DO, a, adj. planted, or furnished with artillery.

ARTILHARIA, ARTELHARIA, or ARTILHERIA,

TILHERIA, f. f. artillery, ordnance; all sorts of great fire-arms, with their appurtenances; also gunnery.
General da artilheria, general of the artillery.
Peça de artilheria. See CANHAM.
ARTILHEIRO, f. m. a matross; also a gunner.
ARTIMANHAS, f. m. p. (in the provinces of Minho and Galicia) a pair of scales.
ARTISTA, f. f. a master of any art, an ingenious workman. See also ARTIFICIOSO.
Obra artista, an artificial work, and done by rule.
ARTISTICO. See ARTHRITICO.
ARTURO. See ARCTURO.
ARTUS, f. m. p. (in anatomy) the joints; also the limbs.
ARVELOA. See ALVELOA.
ARVOA'DO, a, adj. giddy, or dizzy.
ARVOAME'NTO, f. m. giddiness, dizziness.
ARVORA'DO, a, adj. See
ARVORA'R, v. a. to set upright, to raise, to lift up.
Arvorar bandeira, to set up, or to hoist, or to hold up the colours, to display them; also to lay any thing against another. See also ESPETAR.
ARVORE, f. f. a tree. See my grammar, and in the verses from Lobo you will find it masculine.
Arvore da castidade. See AGNO CASTO.
Arvore triste, a tree growing in several parts of India, but chiefly on the Malabar coast. See Christ. Acost. Nat. Hist. E. India.
Arvores que se deixão no corte de humamata para crecerem, e dallas se fazer madeira, standers, standils, standards, or heys.
Arvore da cruz, the cross whereon our Saviour was crucified.
Arvore, the spindle of a printing-press.
Arvore da descendencia, a tree of consanguinity.
Correr arvore seca. (Among sailors.) See CORRER.
P. quem a boa arvore se chega, boa sombra o cobre, that is, he that relies on good worthy people, reaps a benefit.
ARVORE'DO, f. m. a grove of trees.
ARVOREZINHA, f. m. diminut. from arvore, a small tree; also a tree of young growth.
ARUSPICE, or HARUSPICE, f. m. f. a soothsayer, a diviner by looking into the entrails of the sacrifice.
ARUSPICINA, or HARUSPICINA, f. f. the art of divination, by looking into the entrails of the sacrifice.
ARUSPICIO. See ARUSPICINA.
ARZOLLA, f. f. a green almond. Arabic.
AS, the article of the plural for the nouns of feminine gender, the. See A.
ASA. } See { AZA.
ASADO. } { AZADO.
ASABOREA'DO. See TEMPERADO.
ASABOREAR. See TEMPERAR.
ASALARIA'DO. See ASSALARIADO.
ASAMBLE'A, or ASSEMBLEA. See CONGRESSO.
ASAR. See AZAR.
ASARA bacara. See ASSARA baccara.
ASARO, f. m. the herb called foal-foot, wild spikenard, or asarabacca, Greek.

ASASOA'DO. See SAZONADO.
ASBESTO, f. m. asbestos, a sort of native fossil stone, fit to be spun as wool or flax.
ASCA. See AVERSAM, and TEDIO.
ASCA'RIDES, a kind of worms that breed in the straight gut; asce-worms; also the bots in horses. Greek.
ASCENDE'NCIA, f. f. a genealogy, ancestry.
ASCENDE'NTE, f. m. (in astrology) ascendent, or the point in the heavens, or degree of the equator, ascending upon the horizon, particularly with reference to a man's nativity. Also the pretended influence of stars upon one at his birth, a strong natural inclination. (Metaph.) Ascendent, hank, power, influence, which a prevailing genius has upon another.
Vea cava ascendente, (in anatomy) the cava, or the largest vein in the body.
ASCENDE'NTES, (in genealogy) the ancestors, forefathers.
ASCENSA'M, f. f. the ascension-day, the going up of our Saviour into heaven, Holy-Thursdai; also ascension, in astronomy.
Ascensam recta, (in astronomy) right ascension.
Ascensam obliqua, (in astronomy) oblique ascension.
Ascensam, Ascension, an island in the Atlantic Ocean, lying almost half way between Zoango in Congo, Africa, and Pernambuco in Brasil, South America. It was discovered in 1508, by Tristan da Cunha, a Portuguese, on Ascension-day. It is also the name of another island, according to Hackluyt, in the bay of St. Lawrence, North America.
ASCE'TICO, a, adj. ascetic, belonging to religious exercises. Greek.
ASCIOS, f. f. p. Asci, the inhabitants of the torrid zone.
ASCLEPIAS. See HIRUNDINARIA.
ASCO, f. m. loathing.
Fazer asco de alguém, to loath, to nauseate somebody.
ASCO'SO, a, adj. loathsome, nasty, filthy, dirty.
ASCRITICIO, a, adj. it is said of those that are obliged to people, or to stock a country with people, and to be inhabitants of it.
ASCRIPTO, a, adj. inrolled, registered.
ASCUA, f. f. (a Spanish word) a burning coal of fire.
ASE'LHA. See AZELHA.
ASELLA'DO, a. See
ASELLA'R, though the great Camoens often makes use of this v. it is however better to make use of the v. SELLAR, which see.
ASE'LLOS, f. m. p. two stars in cancer. (In astronomy.)
ASE'NHA. } See { AZENHA.
ASERÇAM. } { ASSERÇAM.
ASERVES. } { AZERVES.
ASESTAR. } { ASSESTAR.
ASEVTA, or AZEVTA, f. f. a sort of fish.
ASIA, f. f. Asia, one of the four parts of the world.
ASIA'TICO, Asiatic, or belonging to Asia.
ASYLO. See ASYLO.
ASINHA, or AZINHA, adv. quickly.
Asinha, f. f. an acorn, the fruit of the scarlet oak.
ASMA, ASTHMA, or ASTMA, f. f. asthma,

a difficulty in breathing, proceeding from an ill affection of the lungs, Greek.
ASMATICO, ou ASMENTO, a, adj. asthmatic, belonging to, or troubled with, an asthma.
ASMO, ex. Paõ asmo, unleavened bread.
ASMODE'O, f. m. the name of a devil, the fiend of lechery.
ASNA. See BURRA.
Asnas, (in heraldry) bends, bars.
Asna, (in carpentry) a cross piece of timber to hold fast larger beams, and keep them together, or the main beam of a house.
ASNA'DA, f. f. a drove of asses.
ASNE'IRA, incivility, rudeness, a foolish thing; also ignorance, stubbornness.
ASNEIRA'M, f. m. booby, fool, sot, great ass.
ASNE'IRO, a, adj. of, or belonging to an ass.
ASNIDA'DE. See ASNEIRA.
ASNINHA, f. f. (diminut. from asna) a little she ass.
ASNINHO, f. m. (diminut. from asno) a little ass, an ass-colt, or young ass.
Asinho montez, a foal of a wild ass.
ASNO, f. m. an ass.
Asno, uncivil, clownish, rude, ill-bred, unmannerly fellow.
Asno montez, a wild ass.
P. asno, que tem fome, cardos come, that is, as we say, hungry dogs will eat dirty pudding.
P. asno morto, cevada ao rabo, we, say a day after the fair, or, after meat mustard; also, after death the physician. The Lat. say, post bellum auxilium.
P. mais quero asno que me leve que cavall' que me derrube, better be an old man's darling, than a young man's warling; or better ride on an ass that carries me, than a horse that throws me.
P. esfobar a cabeça do asno, to bray a fool in a mortar, or to wash a black-moor white.
Festa dos asnos, the festival of asses, a ceremony formerly used in the cathedral church of Rome, upon Christmas-day. See Du Cange.
ASNOGA. See SYNAGOGA.
ASOBERBA'DO. See
ASOBERBA'R, v. a. (an old word) to oppress with pride.
ASOLDADA'DO. See ASSOLDADADO.
ASOLDADA'R-SE. See ASSOLDADAR-SE.
ASPA, f. f. St. Andrew's cross. Arabic.
ASPA'DO. See ASPAR.
ASPALATO, f. m. the rose of Jerusalem, or our Lady's rose; also rose-wood.
ASPAM, HISPAHAM, or ISPAHAN, f. m. Ispahan, or Hispahan, the capital city of the Firac-Agem, or Persian-irak, and of all Persia, in Asia.
ASPA'R, v. a. to tie, to nail one to St. Andrew's cross; also to plague, to molest, to vex.
Agoa de Aspar, a kind of mineral water.
ASPA'RAGO. See ESPARGO.
ASPECTA'VEL, adj. visible, that may be seen, and beheld. From the Lat. aspectabilis.
ASPECTO, f. m. aspect, look, air, appearance; also the aspect of planets.
Aspecto trino, (among astrologers) trine aspect.
Aspecto quadrado, (among the same) a square,

- ASSENTIDO. See
ASSENTIR, v. n. to assent, or be of the same opinion.
ASSENTISTA, f. m. one that keeps a register; also an undertaker, a receiver of the king's revenue.
ASSENTO, f. m. a chair, bench, seat, &c. also, residence, dwelling-place.
Assento do reyno, the court, the capital town of a kingdom.
Fazer assento. (Speaking of liquors.) See ASSENTAR-SE; also, to book down, to register, to write in.
Fazer assento, (speaking of buildings) to fall, to sink down.
Assento do animo, tranquillity, calmness, fullness, quietness of mind.
Homem que tem assento, a sober, quiet and temperate man.
Com assento, or de assento. See ASSENTO do animo.
Assento, determination, resolution, statute, decree; also, the privilege granted to some towns to send representatives to the court, or to the state-house.
Assento, remembrance, memory, record.
Livro dos assentos, a register, a register-book, or record.
Assento, the state, posture, or condition of things.
Assento natural, (among farriers) the toothless part by the tusks of a horse.
Assento da carruagem da parte de tras, the back seat of a coach.
Carruagem com dous assentos, a double-seated coach.
ASSE'O. See ACEO.
ASSERÇAM, f. f. an assertion, or affirmation.
ASSERTIVAMENTE, adv. boldly, with becoming confidence.
ASSE'RTO, a, adj. avouched, maintained. From the Lat. assertus.
ASSERTOR, f. m. an assertor.
ASSERTO'RIO, a, adj. (in law) asserted, affirmed.
ASSESSO'R, f. m. an assessor, a lawyer commissioned to sit on the bench with a judge.
ASSESTAR. (In gunnery.) See ACES-TAR.
ASSETEAR, v. a. to strike through, or pierce with arrows.
ASSEVERAÇAM, f. f. an asseveration, an affirmation.
ASSI. See ASSIM.
ASSIDE'OS, f. m. p. Assideans, a strict sect of Jews.
ASSIDUAMENTE, adv. daily, continually, constantly, very often.
ASSIDUO, a, adj. diligent, assiduous.
ASSIM, adv. so, thus, after this manner.
Assim he? is it so?
Para assim dizer, as it were.
Assim sou eu tolo, que, &c. I am not so foolish, as to, &c.
Tanto assim, so that.
Assim he que vos, &c. Is this your way, &c.
Assim como assim, after all, for all that.
Assim como, as, as well as.
Assim como, as soon as.
Basta assim por agora, thus much for this time.
Assim na paz, como na guerra, both in time of peace and war.
Assim assim, so so, indifferent.
Assim queira elle como pode, he can if he will.
Assim deus me salve, as I hope to be saved.
- ASSIMULAÇAM, f. f. See APPAREN-CIA.
ASSINAÇAM, f. f. a fixed and limited time. See also ASSINADO, a, adj. signed, subscribed. See ASSINAR.
Affinado por mim, under my hand.
Affinado, f. m. a subscribed or signed paper.
ASSINADO'R, f. m. a subscriber.
ASSINALA'DO, a, adj. agreed upon, appointed, limited; also noted, marked; also, illustrious, famous, noble, renowned, excellent.
ASSINALA'R, v. a. to mark, or to set a mark upon; also, to determine or appoint before what is to be done, to prescribe, to limit.
Affinalar seu nome, or Affinalar-se, v. r. to signalize one's self, to become famous.
Affinalar termo. See ASSINAR TERMO.
ASSINAR, v. a. to make a settlement upon one; also, to appoint, to order, to give; also, to mark out, or note; also, to assign, to shew, to alledge; also, to sign, to put one's hand to a writing.
Affinar termo, to fix or limit time.
Affinar-se, v. r. to subscribe, or set one's hand.
ASSINATURA, f. f. signature, one's hand to a writing; also, the action of signing, or subscribing.
ASSIRIA. See ASSYRIA.
ASSISTENCIA, f. f. aid, help, succour, relief; also, assiduity, constant care, attendance, frequency; also, company, presence. See the v. ASSISTIR.
ASSISTENTE, f. m. (in law) he who joins or takes part with another in a suit of law. See the v. ASSISTIR.
Affistente de Sevilha, a governor for the king in Seville, who is in the nature of a president, and supreme in the civil government.
ASSISTIDO, a, adj. See
ASSISTIR, v. a. to assist, to aid, to help; also, to be present; also, to stand by, to attend or wait upon; also, to habit, to continue, abide, or dwell in a place.
A razam lhe assiste, the reason is on his side.
ASSOA'DO, a, adj. See ASSOAR.
ASSOALHA'DO, a, adj. See ASSOALHAR.
Affoalhado, f. m. See PAVIMENTO.
ASSOALHA'R, v. a. to dry in the sun, to lay out in the sun; also, to expose, to shew; also, to plank, to floor with boards.
Madeira com que se affoalhão os baxos da casa, groundsel.
ASSOANTE, or SOANTE, adj. agreeing in sound.
ASSOAR, v. a. to wipe, to blow the nose, to snite.
Affoar-se, v. r. to blow one's nose.
ASSOBIADO. See ASSOVIADO.
ASSOBIAR. } See { ASSOVIAR.
ASSOBIO. } See { ASSOVIO.
ASSOCIADO, a, adj. See
ASSOCIAR-SE, v. r. to go in company, to take a partner in trade, to adopt as a friend.
ASSODA'DO. See AÇODADO.
ASSODA'R-SE. See AÇODA'R-SE.
ASSOLAÇAM, f. f. wasting, ruining, or destroying.
ASSOLA'DO, a, adj. See ASSOLAR.
ASSOLADO'R, f. m. one that wastes, destroys, and levels with the ground.
ASSOLA'R, v. a. to waste, destroy, to lay level with the ground.
- ASSOLDADA'DO, a, adj. See
ASSOLDADA'R-SE, v. r. to serve for wages. From soldada, wages.
ASSOLVE'R. See ABSOLVER.
ASSOLUÇAM. See ABSOLUÇAM.
ASSOLUTO, &c. See ABSOLUTO, &c.
ASSOMA'DA, f. f. an high hill, or watch-tower, wherein things are espied afar off, and every way.
ASSOMA'DO, a, adj. rash, head-strong, fool-hardy, over-hasty. See also ASSOMAR, v. n. or ASSOMAR-SE, v. r. to look out, to appear, as at a window or such like place; to peep out. See also SUMMARIAR and LANÇAR-SE.
ASSOMBRADO, a, adj. astonished, frightened.
As couzas estão mal assombradas, things go very bad.
Bem assombrado, (speaking of a person) well-favoured, handsome, fashionable, becoming.
Mal assombrado, (speaking of the same) ugly, deformed, ill-favoured.
Assombrado, is taken by some for an obsessed, or a person haunted with an evil spirit. See also the v. ASSOMBRAR.
ASSOMBRAMENTO, f. m. fear, terror, dread.
ASSOMBRAR, v. a. to fright or scare; also to astonish, to move admiration; also to shadow a picture; (in painting) also to blast; (speaking of lightening) also to hurt, to damnify. See also ACALENTAR.
Affombrar-se, v. r. to be affrighted; also, (metaph.) to be hidden, or kept secret, to be preserved, to be under shelter.
ASSOMBRO, f. m. See PASMO, and ADMIRAÇAM.
ASSOMO. See APPARENCIA.
ASSOPRA'DO, a, adj. See ASSOPRAR.
ASSOPRADO'R, f. m. bellows.
ASSOPRADURA, f. f. See ASSOPRO.
ASSOPRAR, v. a. to blow.
Affoprar, or dizer alguma coisa a algum nos ouvidos, to whisper, or buzz a thing in one's ear.
Affoprar, to puff up, to make proud. (Metaph.)
Affoprar, to fume, to rage, to huff and puff with pride, to be very angry.
Affoprar a tabula, to blow, to huff a man. (At draughts.)
P. b. fageitos que a mesma fortuna lhe vai affoprando as palminhas, that is, there are men that meet with no obstacle in their undertakings.
ASSOPRO, f. m. breath, puff, blowing.
Musica de affopro, wind-instruments.
Affopro do Messias, it is an expression some Eastern people make use of, to praise an excellent physician, by calling him our Saviour's breath.
ASSOR. See AÇOR.
ASSORE'NHA, f. f. a kind of bird of prey.
ASSOVELA'DO, a, adj. See
ASSOVELA'R, v. a. to prick, or sting with a cobbler's awl. From sevela, a cobbler's awl.
ASSOVIADO, a, adj. See
ASSOVIAR, v. n. to whistle; also to hiss, to make a hissing noise. (Speaking of dragons, snakes, &c.)
Affoviar ás botas, (in cant) to betake one's self to one's heels, to take to one's heels, to run away.
ASSOVINHAR, v. n. (a vulgar word) to sting or prick often.

ASSOFTO, f. m. a whistle.

Magãos or Maganaços de affonso, a sort of varlets, or rogues that used to meet together by whistling.

ASSUADA, f. f. a mischievous and hurtful gang.

Hir de assuada, to go by bands, or great parties.

Entrar com assuada, to break in violently by troops, to rush in by force, or main strength; as a mischievous gang does.

ASSUCAR. See AÇUCAR.

ASSUDE. See AÇUDE.

ASSUETO. See SUETO.

ASSUMPCAM da Virgem senhora nossa, the Assumption, or taking up of the blessed Virgin into heaven with body and soul.

ASSUMPTO, f. m. the subject of a discourse.

Assumpto, a, adj. promoted, advanced.

ASSUSTADO, a, adj. See

ASSUSTAR, v. a. to terrify, to fright, or make afraid; also to overthrow, to beat down.

Assustar-se, v. r. to grow timorous, or fearful.

ASSYRIA, f. f. Assyria Propria was anciently the present country called Kurdistan, in Asiatic Turkey. But Assyria, in its largest extent, anciently comprehended those provinces in Asia and Persia, which now bear the names of Kurdistan, Diarbec, and Iracarabick.

ASSYRIO, a, adj. Assyrian, of, or belonging to Assyria.

ASTATO, or SOLDADO de lança, a spearman.

ASTEIA, or HA' STEIA, f. f. the staff or shaft of a halbert, or javelin, &c.

Asteia de lança, a spear-staff.

Astea, a stalk, blade, stem, or shank of a plant; the stalk whereupon the flower grows.

Astea, a cross-piece of timber.

ASTEADO, a, adj. that has a staff.

ASTERISCO, f. m. asterisk.

ASTERISMO, f. m. asterism, or constellation; a knot of stars.

ASTERITE, f. f. asterites, a precious stone, a kind of opal, which sparkles with beams like a star.

ASTHMA. See ASMA.

ASTYLHA, f. f. a long splinter or chip of wood.

Em astilhas, piece-meal, in chips.

ASTRACAM, Astrachan, the metropolis of the kingdom of Astracan, in the island of Dongoli, or Dolgoi, near Tartary. The czar of Muscovy rescued it from the Tartars in 1668.

ASTRA'NÇA, f. f. the herb mother-wort.

ASTREA, f. f. Astræa, the goddess of justice. The daughter of Astræus king of Arcadia, and Aurora; or, as Hesiod and others, of Jupiter and Themis, the daughter of Cælus and Terra.

ASTREO, a, adj. astriferous, star-bearing.

ASTRICTO. See ADSTRACTO.

ASTRINGENCIA. See ADSTRINGENCIA.

ASTRINGENTE, &c. See ADSTRINGENTE, &c.

ASTRO, f. m. a constellation, or celestial sign, consisting of many stars; also a single star.

ASTROITE. See ASTERITE.

ASTROLABIO, f. f. astrolabe, a mathematical instrument, to take the altitude of the sun or stars. Greek.

ASTROLOGIA, f. f. astrology, an art that pretends to judge of the influence of the stars, and foretel things to come from the motion of them, and their aspects one to another. Greek.

ASTROLOGICO, a, adj. astrological, or belonging to astrology.

ASTROLOGO, f. m. an astrologer, a weather-wise.

ASTRONOMIA, f. f. astronomy, star-read; a science which teaches the knowledge of the heavenly bodies, shewing their magnitudes, distances, order, and motion. Greek.

ASTRONOMICO, a, adj. astronomical, belonging to that science.

ASTROSO, a, adj. unlucky, or born under an ill planet.

ASTUCIA, f. f. subtlety, craft, cunning. See also DESTREZA, and SUTILEZA.

ASTURA, f. f. an inconsiderable place of the Campania di Roma. It is memorable for being the place where the celebrated Cicero lost his life by the hands of that miscreant soldier Popilius, (whom the orator had before, by his pleadings, saved from the gallows) through the instigation of the more infamous Marc Antony.

ASTUTAMENTE, adv. crafty, subtilly, cunningly; also diligently, expertly, sagaciously, sagely, discreetly.

ASTUTO, a, adj. subtle, cunning, crafty; also sagacious, skilful, prudent, wise, expert.

ASYLO, or AZYLO, f. m. a sanctuary or place of refuge, whence malefactors cannot be taken out to be punished; also (metaph.) any place where a man is safe, an asylum.

ASYMPTOTO, a, adj. (in geometry) asymptotic.

ATABAFA'DO, a, adj. See

ATABAFAR, v. a. See ABAFAR; also to put a stop to a report, rumour, or talk; so that no more words may be made about it.

ATABALE, f. m. a kettle-drum, or an atabal, a kind of tabor used by the Moors.

ATABALEIRO, f. m. a kettle-drummer.

ATABALHOADO, a, adj. (in cant) temerarious, rash.

ATABAM. See TAVAM.

ATABAQUE. See ATABALE.

ATABEFE. See TABEFE.

ATABUCA'DO, a, adj. (obsol.) entertained, amused.

ATACA, f. f. a point, a tagged point.

ATACADO, a, adj. laced, as women's stays, or boddices, tied, fastened; also attacked, surrounded, invested. See ATACAR.

ATACADO'R, f. m. a lace, such as women use to fasten their stays, a stay-lace.

Atacador da espingarda. See VARETA.

ATAGAR, v. a. ex. Atacar o inimigo, to attack the enemy; also to teize, to ask with importunity.

Atacar a espartilho, to lace, or to fasten the stays.

Atacar os calções, to lace, or to tie up one's breeches.

Atacar huma espingarda, to ram down the charge in a musquet.

ATADO, a, adj. tied; also a man that is good for nothing, as if his hands were tied.

Atado a hum leito, confined to bed. See the v. ATAR.

ATADURA, f. f. a tie, a band, a bandage, a ligature.

ATAFAL, f. m. a crupper.

ATAFERA, f. f. a lilt or selvage made of matweed.

ATAFO'NA, f. f. an ass or a horse-mill.

Pedra da atafona. See CONCHA, GRAM.

ATAFONEIRO, f. m. a miller of a horse or ass-mill.

ATAGUENTA'DO. ? (In the province of ATAGUENTA. } Minho.) See ATE-MORIZADO, ATEMORIZAR.

ATALAIA, f. f. a watch-tower, or a centinel, a person that stands to discover or watch; also a sort of boat, among the Indians.

ATALAYADO, a, adj. See

ATALAYAR, v. a. to stand centinel, or be upon the watch upon a high place; also to observe studiously the actions of another.

Atalayar-se, v. r. to be cautious, to be careful, to set centinels about one's self.

ATALHA'DO, a, adj. dumb, speechless, that does not know what to say. See also the v.

ATALHAR, v. a. to stop the passage, to shut up, or hinder, to put a stop to, to remove, to drive away, to prevent, to cut off; also to shorten or abridge; also to speak between, to interpose.

Atalhar o alqueve, (in agriculture) to plough cross-wise the land that had been fallow.

Nos lbes atalbamos o caminho, we got between them and home.

Atalhar caminho, to take the shortest way.

Atalhar razoes, to make few words.

Atalhar-se, v. r. to run down, to have nothing to say for himself.

ATA'LHO, f. m. a by-path, the near way.

ATAMARA'DO, a, adj. of a reddish colour. From tâmara, a date, the fruit of the palm-tree.

ATANA'DO, f. m. tanned leather.

ATANA'SIA, or ATHANASIA, f. f. the herb called tanfy.

ATANAZADO, a, adj. See

ATANAZAR, v. a. to pinch, to twitch or tear off the flesh with red hot pincers. See also ATORMENTAR.

ATAQUE, f. m. attack, assault, onset, attempt, charge, brunt. French.

ATAQUEIRO, f. m. he who makes or sells laces, such as women use to their stays.

ATAR, v. a. to tie, to bind.

Atar de pés e mãos a alguem, to faggot one.

Atar a lingua a alguem, to strike one dumb.

P. chegar ao atar das feridas, that is, to come late.

P. nem ata, nem desfata, that is, he says nothing to the purpose.

Atar-se ao parecer de alguem, to stick, or to adhere to another's opinion.

ATARANTA'DO, a, adj. perplexed, confused.

ATARANTA'R, v. a. to perplex, to puzzle.

ATARRACA'DO, a. See

ATARRACAR, v. a. to bind, or tie hard or fast; also to fasten with wedges.

Atarracar a ferradura, is to finish a horse-shoe, and get it ready to shoe a horse.

ATASCA'DO,

A T E

ATASCA'DO, a, adj. See
ATASCA'R-SE, v. r. to stick in the mire, to be fast that one cannot get out.
ATASSALHA'DO, a, adj. See
ATASSALHAR, v. a. to tear or rend in pieces, to mangle.
ATAU'DE, f. m. a coffin. Arabic.
ATAVERNA'DO, See
ATAVERNA'R, v. a. ex. Atavernar o vinho, to sell wine in a tavern, or by retail.
ATAVIA'DO. See
ATAVIA'R, v. a. to smug, to trim.
ATAVVO, f. m. sinugness, spruceness.
ATAVON'A'DO, a, adj. ex. Mosca atavonada. See TAVAM.
ATAUXIA, f. f. damaskening on metals, the inlaying one metal with another.
ATAXIA'DO, a, adj. See
ATAXIA'R, v. a. to damask, to adorn steel, iron, &c. works, by making incisions in them, and filling them up with wire of gold or silver, as in locks of pistols, &c.
ATE, preposition; till, even, up to.
Atè onde? how far?
Atè quando? till when?
Atè Roma, as far as Rome.
Atè que eu viva, as long as I live.
He bñm homem de tanta bondade que atè os seus inimigos são obrigados a estimá-lo, he is so good a man, that even his enemies have a value for him.
Atè que, until, till.
Atè quanto? how much?
Atè tanto, so much.
Atè agora, or atè aqui, till now, or hitherto.
Atè então, till then, till that time.
ATEA'DO, a, adj. See
ATEAR, v. n. or Atear-se, v. r. to take fire.
Atear huma pendencia, v. a. to begin a quarrel.
Atear-se alguma couza com calor, is to increase more and more.
Atear-se o mal a alguém, to get, or catch a distemper.
ATEIMADO. } See TEIMADO.
ATEIMAR. } See TEIMAR.
ATEMORIZA'DO, a, adj. See
ATEMORIZA'R, v. a. to affright or make afraid; to put one in fear.
ATEMPAÇAM, f. f. the time given that the appeal may be laid before the superior judge. (In law.)
ATEMPA'DO, a, adj. See
ATEMPA'R, v. a. (in law) to give time that the appeal may be laid before the superior judge.
ATEMPERADO.
ATEMPERANTE.
ATEMPERAR.
ATENÇAM.
ATENÇAS.
ATENCIOSO.
ATENDER.
ATENDIDO.
ATENTADO.
ATENTAMENTE.
ATENTAR.
ATENTO.
ATENUACAM.
ATENUADO.
ATENUAR.
ATEQUIPERAS, f. m. p. an excellent sort of pears so called.
ATERA'DO. See ATEMORIZADO.
ATERA'R. See ATEMORIZAR.
ATER-SE, v. r. to keep, to stand, to stick to a thing.

A T L

Ater-se ao que será julgado, to stand to what shall be decided.
ATESADO, a, adj. bent.
ATESAR hum arco, v. a. to bend a bow.
ATESOURA'DO. See ENTESOURA'DO.
ATESOURAR. See ENTESOURAR.
ATESOURA'M, f. f. attesting or witnessing. See also CERTIDAM.
ATESTA'DO, a, adj. See
ATESTA'R, v. a. to fill up to the top; also to testify or bear witness.
ATHANASIA. See ATANASIA.
ATHEISMO, f. m. atheism.
ATHEISTA, or ATHEO, f. m. an atheist. Greek.
ATHE'NAS, f. f. Athens, a city of Greece between Macedonia and Achaia, situated on the sea coast. It is now called Setines.
ATHEO, f. m. See ATHEISTA.
Atheo, a, adj. atheistical, of, or belonging to an atheist.
ATHEROMA, f. m. (in medicine) an atheroma, a swelling, consisting of a thick and tough humour, like pap of sodden barley.
ATHE'LA, f. m. an athlete, wrestler, champion. Greek.
Cousa concernente aos atletas, athletic.
ATICA'DO, a, adj. See ATICAR.
ATICADO'R, f. m. one that provokes or sets people to quarrel. See also INSTIGADOR.
ATICAR o lume, v. a. to poke, rake, or stir up the fire.
Aticar a vela, to snuff the candle.
Aticar discordias, to throw oil into the fire, to add fuel to the fire, to inflame persons that are at odds, to help a quarrel forward.
Aticar, (metaph.) to provoke, to move, to stir up to anger, to add fuel, to foment.
ATIDO, a, adj. See ATER-SE.
ATIGURGO. See ATTICURGO.
ATILA'DO, a, adj. See ACEADO, POLIDO, CULTO.
ATILHO, f. m. a band, or tie.
ATIMA'DO, a. See
ATIMAR, v. a. (an antiquated word) to undertake.
ATINA'DO, a, adj. See
ATINA'R, v. a. to guess right, to find, to hit upon things by guess; also to remember. See also ENTENDER, and ACERTAR.
ATINCAL. See TINCAL.
ATINO, f. m. See ACERTO.
ATIRA'DO, a, adj. See ATIRAR.
ATIRADO'R, f. m. he who shoots, casts, or throws.
ATIRA'R, v. a. to shoot, cast, or throw. See TIRAR.
Atirar com pedras, to throw stones.
Atirar, to assault, or set upon.
Atirar, to aim at.
Conheço pello vosso discurso a que sentido atirais, I know by your discourse what you aim at.
Atirar consigo pello as, or por hi alem. See ARES.
Atirar-se, v. r. to flap, to play the wings with noise and great agitation, as birds do when they are affrighted.
ATLANTE, f. m. a king of Mauritania; also (metaph.) a defender, protector, affector.

A T R

ATLANTICO, a, adj. ex. Mar Atlantic, the Atlantic Ocean.
ATLANTIDES, f. f. p. the stars called plaiades, or seven stars.
ATLAS, f. m. a very high hill in Mauritania; also a book of universal geography, containing maps of the whole world; also (in anatomy) the atlas, or the first vertebra of the neck under the head, so called, because it seems to uphold the head.
ATMOSPHERA, f. f. the atmosphere.
ATMOSPHERICO, a, adj. belonging to the atmosphere.
ATOADO, a, adj. See
ATOAR, v. a. (sea-term) ex. Atoar um navio, to tow a ship.
ATOARDA, f. f. common talk, report, rumour. See also AVISO.
ATOCHADO, a, adj. See
ATOCHAR, v. a. to fasten, or make fast any thing by forcing in a wedge, done, &c.
ATOCHO, f. m. a wedge, or other like thing to be forced in, in order to fasten another.
ATOLADO, a, adj. See
ATOLAR-SE, v. r. to stick in the mire.
ATOLEIRO, f. m. a marshy place, where carriages or cattle stick in the mire; also, (metaph.) an obstruction in doing any thing.
ATOMADO. } See TOMADO.
ATOMEAR. } See TOMBAR.
ATOMO, f. m. an atom.
ATORÇALA'DO, a, adj. twisted like TORÇAL; which see.
ATORÇALAR, v. a. to twist silk. See TORÇAL.
ATORÇADO, a, adj. that is not well ground.
ATORÇOA'R, v. a. it is said of things that are not well ground, as corn, and other things sometimes are.
ATORDOA'DO, a, adj. See
ATORDOA'R, v. a. to stun.
Aquella pancada atordou-o, that blow stunned him.
ATORMENTA'DO. See
ATORMENTA'R, v. a. to torment, to rack, to put to great pain; also to vex, or fret.
O que atormenta, a harasser, a plagues.
Atormentar-se, v. r. See AFFLIGIR-SE.
Pessoa que se atormenta a si mesma, seeks sorrow.
ATOSSIGAR. See AVENENAR.
ATRABILIA'RIO, a, adj. of, or belonging to black choler; melancholic.
ATRABILIOSO, a, adj. See ATRABILARIO.
ATRACA'DO, a, adj. See
ATRACA'R, v. a. to accost, to come up to one. See also AFERRAR.
ATRACÇAM. } See ATTRACÇAM, and
ATTRACTIVO. } the others with double T.
ATRACTO. }
ATRAHIDO. }
ATRAHIR. }
ATRAICOADAMENTE. See ATREICOADAMENTE.
ATRAICOADO. See ATREICOADO.
ATRAICOAR. See ATREICOAR.
ATRAMADO, a, adj. (speaking of linen, silk, &c.) that is ill woven.
ATRANCA'DO, a, adj. See
ATRANCAR, v. a. to bar, or make fast with a bar.

Atrancar a casa, to encumber a house with furniture.

Qualquer coisa, que se serve para atrancar a casa, a filler.

ATRAPALHADO, a, adj. bungled. See also DESALINHADO.

ATRAPALHAR, v. a. to bungle; also to disorder, to confound.

ATRAVESSADINHO, a, adj. irksome, that interrupts.

ATRAVESSADO, a, adj. laid a-cross; also stuck or thrust through.

Atravessado, (in heraldry) divided transversely.

Homem de estatura atravessada, a man that has a well-proportioned body, and of a just temperature and make of a middle size, neither too slender, nor too gross and fat, but broad shouldered.

Olhar com olhos atravessados, to look askew upon, or cast a sheep's eye at.

Trazer huma coisa atravessada na garganta, (figurative) it is said of a thought that lies very cross in our minds.

Andar atravessado com alguém, to be at variance, to disagree with one.

Nauio que está atravessado no porto, e impede a saída dos outros, a ship that lies a-thwart.

Cão atravessado, a dog engendered between two kinds or species, a mongrel-dog.

Ter a alma atravessada, to be loth to die, or to be long in dying.

Pão atravessado por cima de huma porta ou janella, a lintel, the head-piece over a door or window. See the verb

ATRAVESSADOR. See ABARCADOR.

ATRAVESSAR, v. a. to cross, or lay a-cross; also to run through, to cross or to go cross, to traverse; also atruvessar mar- calarias. See ABARCAR.

Atravessar a rua, to cross the street, or to cross over the way.

Atravessar huma carta no jogo. See CARREGAR.

Atravessar, or passar hum rio a nado, to swim over.

Atravessar os designios de alguém, to traverse, to cross, or thwart one's design.

Atravessar-se, v. a. (speaking both of persons and things) to delay, to oppose, to withstand, to cross, to thwart, to be contrary.

Comer que se atravessa no estomago, meat that clogs one's stomach, or sticks to it.

ATRAZ, (preposition) behind, after.

Ficar atrás, to be inferior. (Figurative.)

Fazer passo atrás, to give ground, to draw back.

Passo atrás, a spring or run before a leap.

Dar hum passo atrás para saltar, to take a run.

Deixar atrás, to over-run; also to be superior.

Os dias atrás, some days ago.

Elle torna atrás, (figurative) he does not urge, or he does not insist upon, he is not instant in.

Tornar atrás com a palavra, not to keep one's word, or not to keep touch.

Elle não fica atrás de ninguém na sabedoria, he comes not behind any in point of learning.

Cmo dissemos atrás, as we said before.

ATRAZADO, a, adj. that is behind-hand with the world, or indebted; also that is behind-hand with another in civility, learning, &c. backward, negligent; also that is far from being promoted, or employed: that goes too slow, (speaking of a watch, &c.)

ATRAZADOS, f. m. p. arrears, or arrearages, the remains of reckoning, or debt; also principles or rules, and particularly those of the Latin grammar, are so called.

ATRAZAR, v. a. to retard, to hinder, stop, to delay.

Atrazar-se, v. r. to go slow, as a watch sometimes goes; also to grow backward, or negligent; also to grow worse and worse.

Atrazar-se nos pagamentos, to be in arrears, to be behind-hand.

ATREIÇOADAMENTE, adv. treacherously, perfidiously.

ATREIÇADO, or ATRAIÇADO, a, adj. full of falsehood, treachery, or unfaithfulness.

ATREIÇAR, or ATRAIÇAR, v. a. ex. Atreiçar a alguém, to break the faith, to lay snares, to be perfidious, false, or treacherous towards another.

ATREMA'DO, } These words are only
ATREMA'R, } used in the province of Beyra. See ATINADO, ATINAR.

ATREPA'DO. } See } TREPADO.
ATREPAR. } } TREPAR.

ATREVER-SE, v. r. to dare, to adventure, to be bold; also to be saucy.

Atraver-se com, to be able to oppose, withstand or do any thing.

ATREVIDAMENTE, adv. boldly, daringly; also saucily.

ATREVIDO, a, adj. bold, daring; also inconsiderate and saucy. Greek.

ATREVIMENTO, f. m. boldness, impudence.

ATREVINCADO. See ATRANCADO.

ATREVINCAR. See ATRANCAR.

ATRIULA'DO, a, adj. See

ATRIULAR, v. a. to trouble, to grieve.

ATRIUTAR, v. a. to vex. See also AVASSALAR.

ATRIGADO, a, adj. See

Atrigar-se, v. r. (in the province of Beyra) to be struck, surprised.

ATRIO, f. m. a court-yard.

ATRO, a, adj. black. Lat. (It is only used in physic, or poetry.)

ATROADO, a, adj. stunned with thunder, or any other noise. See the v. ATROAR.

ATROADO, f. m. the person who thunders or makes a noise; also a fool or silly fellow.

ATROAMENTO, f. m. a kind of disease in a horse's hoof. See

ATROAR, v. a. to thunder, to make a great noise, to stun: hence Trovaô, thunder.

Atrcar os cascos de hum cavallo, to shake or hurt a horse's hoof in shoeing.

Atrcar-se o casco, is for a horse's hoof to be hurt, &c.

ATROCIDADE, f. f. cruelty, inhumanity, fierceness.

ATROPELLADAMENTE, adv. confusedly, disorderly.

ATROPELLADO, a, adj. confused, without order. See also the v.

ATROPELLAR, v. a. to tread under foot, to run over, both in the proper and figurative sense; also to weary or tire, to oppress. From Tropel, a crowd, a throng.

Atropellar-se, v. r. to tread one another under foot.

ATROPHIA, f. f. atrophy, a consumption of the body, caused by meat not turning into nourishment, when either the whole body, or any particular limb, decays and wastes away. Greek.

ATROPHICO, a, f. m. f. one that is troubled with atrophy.

ATROPOS, one of the three Destinies, that cuts the thread of man's life, according to the poets. Greek.

ATROZ, adj. heinous, cruel, or fierce. Lat. It is said more commonly of things.

ATROZMENTE, adv. heinously, cruelly, fiercely.

ATTEMPERADO, a, adj. See ATTEMPERAR.

ATTEMPERANTES, (in physic) ex. Mezinhas atemperantes, allwaging, or mitigating medicines.

ATTEMPERAR, v. a. (in physic) to mitigate, to allwage.

ATTENÇAM, f. f. attention, application; also respect, politeness, kindness, regard.

ATTENÇAS. See TENÇA.

ATTENCIO'SO, a, adj. that is performed attentively; also polite, kind, respectful.

ATTENDE'R, v. a. to consider, or mind, to attend, to regard, to give ear; also to use politely, to regard, to have a regard.

ATTENDIDO, a, adj. See ATTENDER.

ATTENTADAMENTE, adv. carefully, cautiously, attentively.

ATTENTADO, a, adj. cautious, wise.

Attentado, f. m. any innovation in a law suit; also an attempt.

ATTENTAMENTE, adv. carefully, attentively; also politely.

ATTENTAR, v. a. to mind, to observe; also to provide, consider, or regard; also to innovate any thing in a law suit.

ATTENTO, a, adj. careful, heedful, attentive. See also ATTENTADAMENTE.

ATTENUACAM, f. f. a wasting, or consuming away; also growing thin; also attenuation. (In physic.)

ATTENUADO, a, adj. attenuated, spent, wasted, grown thin. See also the v. ATTENUAR.

ATTENUANTE, ex. Medicamentos attenuantes, attenuating medicines.

ATTENUAR, v. a. to make thin, to weaken, to lessen.

ATTESTAÇAM, &c. See ATESTAÇAM, &c.

ATTICURGO, a, adj. as, atticurga, ordem, the Attic order.

ATTO'NITO, a, adj. astonished, amazed.

ATTRACÇAM, f. f. attraction.

ATTRACTIVO, a, adj. attractive, drawing to, or apt to work upon a person in order to bring him over to some compliance or other.

ATTRACTIVO, f. m. attractive, charm, allurements.

ATTRACTO. See ENCOLHIDO.

ATTRAHIDO, a, adj. attracted, allured, drawn.

ATTRAHER, v. a. to attract, to allure, to draw.

ATTRIBU'DO, a, adj. See

ATTRIBU'IR, v. a. to attribute, to lay to one, to ascribe or impute a thing to one; also to give.

Attribuir-se, v. r. to assume, or take upon one's self, to arrogate to one's self.

ATTRIBU'TO, f. m. an attribute. See also PRENDA, VIRTUDE.

Attributos Divinos, (among divines) attributes, or certain properties, attributed to God, as that he is almighty, eternal, &c.

ATTRIC'AM, f. f. attrition, (in divinity) or an imperfect sorrow for sin, proceeding from a fear of future punishment for the same; also (in philosophy) an attrition, a rubbing or striking against.

ATTRITO, a, adj. (in divinity) that has got an attrition.

ATUA'DO, a, adj. See

ATUA'R, v. a. to thou, as quakers do.

ATULHA'DO. See ENTULHADO.

ATULHA'R. See ENTULLHAR.

ATUM, f. m. the tummy, a fish so called.

Atum pequeno, the fry of the tunny fish.

Atum que não passa de hum anno, a summer whiting.

ATURADAME'NTE, adv. patiently, constantly; also without interruption, continually, perseveringly.

ATURADO'R, f. m. the person that suffers labour, or is steadfast in a thing.

ATURA'DO, a, adj. See

ATURAR, v. a. to bear, to suffer, to abide, to endure, or tolerate; also to persevere, to continue, or be steadfast in a thing.

ATURDIDO, a, adj. See

ATURDI'R, v. a. to stun, to amaze, to surprise.

AVALIAÇ'AM, f. f. an appraising, a prizing, rating, valuation, estimation.

AVALIADO, a, adj. appraised, rated, &c. See the v.

Estar bem, ou mal avaliado, (metaph.) to have a good or bad reputation.

AVALIADO'R, f. m. an appraiser, vulgarly a praiser of goods.

AVALIAR, v. a. to appraise, to value, to rate, to prize a thing.

AVANÇADA, f. f. See ATAQUE.

AVANÇADO, a, adj. See AVANÇAR, and GUARDA.

AVANÇAMENTO, f. m. (in architecture) the jutting or leaning out in a building.

AVANÇAR, v. a. See ACOMETTER, and ATACAR; also to get or gain; also to serve, to help; to jut or stand out (speaking of a building); also to go as far as.

AVANÇO, f. m. profit, advantage, gain.

AVAN'ÇA, f. f. (A Turkish word.) See VEXAÇAM. It is also an Italian word, signifying wrong, injury.

AVANO, f. m. See ABANICO.

AVANTAL, or AVENTAL, f. m. an apron.

AVANTE. See ADIANTE.

Passar avante, to go farther, both in the proper and figurative sense.

Levar a sua avante, or levar o seu intento avante, to insist, to stand much upon, to urge, to be instant.

Avante, or Adiante, on, or go on, go forwards.

AVANTEJADO. See AVENTAJADO.

AVARENTO, a, adj. covetous, niggardly, stingy, griping, avaritious.

P. o avarento onde tem o thesouro, tem o entendimento, wherever a covetous man's treasure is, there is his heart also.

AVARE'ZA, f. f. avarice, covetousness, greediness, niggardliness.

AVARIA, f. f. (in traffick) average, a certain allowance out of the freight to the master of a ship, when he suffers damage; a contribution by insurers, to make satisfaction for insured goods cast overboard.

AVARICIA. See AVARE'ZA.

AVARRO, a, adj. desirous, covetous, greedy. See AVARENTO.

Vos escreveis ao vosso amigo com palavras avaras, you write to your friend with too much reserve, you do not write to him with freedom enough.

Terra avara, sterile, barren ground.

AVASSALADO, a, adj. See

AVASSALAR, v. a. to subdue, to conquer, to bring under, to subject, or to make subject. Hence vassalo, a vassal.

AUCAM. See ACÇAM.

AUCCIONARIO. See ACCIONISTA.

AUCTO. See ACTO.

AUDACIA, f. f. audacity, audaciousness, confidence, rashness, sauciness.

AUDAZ, adj. audacious, confident, overbold, daring.

AUDAZME'NTE, adv. boldly, confidently, rashly.

AUDIE'NCIA, f. f. audience, hearing; also the hearing of a cause.

Dar, or fazer audiencia, to give audience, to hearken to; also to hear a cause.

El-rey tem dado audiencia ao embaxador de França, the king has given audience to the French ambassador.

Ter audiencia, to have audience.

Pedir audiencia, to demand audience.

Casa, or sala da audiencia, the court, or the hall where ambassadors are received, or where causes are heard.

AUDITOR, f. m. auditor, (in law.)

AUDITORIO, f. m. an auditory, an assembly, a congregation of those that hear. See also CASA or SALA da audiencia.

Auditório, a, adj. ex. Nervos auditórios, the auditory nerves, or the seventh pair of nerves, that comes from the medulla oblongata. (In anatomy.)

AUDIVEL, adj. that strikes the sense of hearing, audible.

AVE, f. f. a bird, a fowl. Lat.

Ave de rapina, a bird of prey.

Ave de arribação. See ARRIBAÇAM.

Ave de casa, a dung-hill fowl.

Ave Maria, Ave Mary. (that is, Hail Mary) a prayer to the Virgin Mary; also that part of a sermon, where the preacher makes his prayer to the Virgin Mary.

AVEMARIAS, the tolling of a bell at break of day, at noon, and at the dusk of the evening; also the small beads of a chaplet.

AVE'A, f. f. oats.

Farinha de aveia, oatmeal.

De aveia, of oats.

AVEADO, a, adj. (among the vulgar) mad, or hair-brained, a lunatic.

AVECA. } See { AIVACA.

AVEÇO. } See { AVESSO.

AVEJAM, f. m. (among the vulgar) a man of a monstrous size, a ghost, a spectre.

AVE'LA, f. f. (in India) toasted rice.

AVELAM, f. f. filberd-nut, hazel-nut.

Avelam da India, a fruit as big as a walnut, but longish. It is cold and dry, comforts the stomach, prevents vomiting, and strengthens the gums and teeth.

AVELANS purgativas, Barbadoes nuts. Ray calls them Avellanas purgatrices novæ orbis.

AVELA'DO, a, adj. withered, dry, without juice; also (metaph.) full of wrinkles, wrinkled.

AVELAR, v. r. to wither, to grow dry, and without juice. It is also said (metaph.) of very old women.

AVELE'IRA, f. f. a hazel or filberd-tree.

AVELEIRA'L, f. m. a grove or copse of hazel-trees.

AVELHENTADO, a, adj. See

AVELHENTAR. See ENVELHECER.

AVELO'RIOS, f. m. p. small beads of glass to make necklaces, or strings for the arms.

P. sabe vender bem os seus avelorios, he has a good way of delivery.

AVELUTADO, a, adj. like velvet.

AVE'NA, f. f. reed, pipe.

AVE'NCA, f. f. the herb maiden-hair.

Avença, f. f. an agreement. From avên-se, to agree. See also UNIAM, CONCORDIA.

P. mais val mã avença, que boa sentença, that is, it is better to agree at any rate, than to go to law; agree, for law is costly.

Homem de boa avença, a man easy to be pleased and satisfied.

AVENÇADO. See AVENÇAR.

AVENÇADURA. See ENXARCIA REAL.

AVENÇAM, f. m. a kind of herb very like to maidenhair. Lat. Trichomanes.

AVENÇAR, v. a. to agree upon the yearly rent that is to be paid in corn, wine, oil, &c. See also AVANÇAR.

AVENENADO, a, adj. See

AVENENAR, v. a. to poison.

AVENTDA, f. f. avenue, passage, entrance, way to a place.

Tomar as avenidas, to stop, to shut up the avenues.

Tomar as avenidas, (metaph.) to hinder, to obviate, to prevent the difficulties and objections that may be laid against any undertaking.

AVENTADO, a, adj. See AVENTAR.

AVENTAJADO, a, adj. superior, better; also fit, convenient, advantageous. See also the v.

AVENTAJAR, or AVANTAJAR, v. a. to advantage, to profit, to be useful.

Avantajar-se, v. r. to excel, surpass, surmount, to be superior.

AVENTAL. See AVANTAL.

AVENTAR o trigo. See ALIMPAR o trigo.

Aventar algum negocio, to smoke, or smell out a business.

AVENTURA, f. f. an extraordinary event; also an adventure or hazardous enterprise. (In romance.) See also ACASO.

AVENTURADO, a, adj. See

AVENTURAR, v. a. to venture, to run the hazard, to lay at stake.

Aventurar tudo, let the worst come to the worst; leave all things to chance, or to six and sevens. See also ARRISCAR.

Aventurar-se, v. r. See ARRISCARSE.

P. quem não se aventura não anda a cavalli, nem em mula, that is, nothing venture, nothing have.

AVENTUREIRO, f. m. an adventurer, one that that ventures, or hazards. See also CA-VALEIRO Andante.

Soldados aventureiros, the forlorn hope of an army, the soldiers that make the first attack; also soldiers of fortune.
AVENTUREIRO, a volunteer.
Aventurero, a, adj. rash, that seeks for dangers; also remarkable.
AVE'R. } See HAVER.
AVES. } See HAVERES.
AVERB'ADO, a, adj. See
AVERB'AR por escrito, to write in express words.
Averbar algum de suspeito, to accuse one of partiality.
Averbar hum nome, to derive a verb from a noun.
AVERDUG'ADO, that wears a petticoat called verdugada. See VERDUGADA.
AVERG'ADO, a, adj. See
AVERG'AR, v. n. ex. avergar com o peso, to bend, or bow with the weight.
AVERIGUAÇ'AM, f. f. making out of the truth.
AVERIGUADAME'NTE, adv. for a certainty.
AVERIGUA'DO, a, adj. See
AVERIGUAR, v. a. to view or search diligently, to examine, to weigh, consider, discuss or sift; also to decide, to determine or resolve.
Averiguar o negocio, to conclude, to finish, or dispatch an affair.
Averiguar a verdade, to clear the truth.
Averiguar huma contenda, to decide or make an end of a difference.
AVERNO, f. m. a lake in Campania, dedicated to Pluto, feigned by the poets to be the entrance into hell; also hell itself.
Avérno, a, adj. See INFERNAL.
AVERS'AM, f. f. an aversion, repugnancy, opposition; also hatred.
AVERSO, a, adj. averse, opposite.
AVESINHA, f. f. (diminutive from ave) a little bird.
AVESS'ADA, f. f. (in falconry) the thong of leather to tie the hawk to the perch.
AVESSAS, adv. it is always used with the particle às before; as in the following examples:
As avessas, the wrong way, preposterously, cross, quite contrary.
Tomar tudo às avessas, to misconstrue any thing.
Virar às avessas, to invert, to turn upside down.
Fazer huma cousa às avessas, to do a thing quite contrary.
AVE'SSO, f. m. the wrong side.
Do avesso. See A'S Avessas.
Avesso da medalha, the reverse of a medal.
Avesso de hum panno, &c. the wrong side of a stuff, &c.
Homem que não tem avesso nem direito, an inconstant and untractable man.
Avesso, a, adj. cross, cross-grained, wild; untoward.
Homem avesso, a man that swerves from reason.
Dar com hum homem de avesso, to ruin a man.
AVESTRUZ. See ABESTRUZ.
AVEXAÇ'AM. } See VEXAÇAM.
AVEX'ADO. } See VEXADO.
AVEX'AR. } See VEXAR.
AVEZ'ADO. See ACOSTUMADO.
AVEZ'AR. See ACOSTUMAR.

Avexar. (In cant) See ESTAR.
Avexar-se, (in cant) to be present.
AVEZINHA. See AVESINHA.
AVEZINHA'DO. See AVEZINHAR, and Avexinbar-se.
AVEZINHAR, v. n. to border upon.
Avexinbar-se, v. r. to come nigh, to draw near, to approach.
AUGE, f. m. (In astronomy.) See APO-GE'O. Arabic. (Metaph.) Top, summit, height.
AUGMENTAÇ'AM, f. f. augmentation, increase, improvement, enlargement, addition.
AUGMENTA'DO, a, adj. See the verb
AUGMENTAR, v. a. to augment, increase, improve, to amplify, to add to, to aggravate.
Augmentar-se, v. r. to increase, to grow, either in quality or quantity.
AUGMENTO, f. m. See AUGMENTAÇ'AM.
AUGO'ADO. } See AGOADO.
AUGO'AR. } See AGOAR.
AUGO'AGEM. } See AGOAGEM.
AUGUEIRO, f. m. a furrow, or rather a sluice to keep the water that is turned away from a public road, in order to keep it dry.
AUGUR. See ACOUREIRO.
AUGURA'DO. See AGOURADO.
AUGURA'L, adj. belonging to soothsayers, or to divination.
AUGURA'R. } See AGOURAR.
AUGUR'IO. } See AGOURO.
AUGUSTINIA'NA, so they call in the university an act performed by the scholars.
AUGU'STO, a, adj. august, sacred, venerable, majestic, royal, imperial.
AVIA'DO, a, adj. See AVIAR.
AVIAMENTO, f. m. preparation, making, or getting ready.
Dar aviamento. See
AVIA'R, v. a. to make ready, to dispatch, to set forward.
Aviar-se, v. r. to prepare, or prepare one's self, to get or make one's self ready.
AVI'ATE, make haste.
AVIDAME'NTE, adv. covetously or greedily.
AVIDO, a, adj. covetous, greedy. Lat.
AVILANA'DO, a, adj. somewhat rustical, clownish.
AVILTA'DO, a, adj. See
AVILTAR, v. a. See ABATER Desprezar.
AVINAGRA'DO, a, adj. somewhat sour or sharp, as vinegar; also mixed with vinegar. Hence Vinagre, vinegar. (Metaph.) Ill-natured.
AVINAGRA'R, v. a. to steep in vinegar, or to mix with vinegar.
Avinagrar-se, v. r. to grow sharp as vinegar; also (metaph.) to be angry.
AVINCULA'DO. See VINCULADO.
AVINCULAR. See VINCULAR.
AVINDO, a, adj. See AVIR-SE.
Bem avindos, unanimous, of one mind, or will.
Mal avindos, discordant, jarring, differing, of a different sentiment, that do not agree well together.
Lugar avindo, a place surrendered into another's power.
AVINHA'DO, a, adj. that has the smack and flavour of wine; also mixed with wine; also somewhat inclined to a wine colour.
AVTR. (An antiquat. word.) See ACON-

TECER.

Avir-se, v. r. to be unanimous, or of one mind and will, to agree well together.
La se avembaõ, I'll have nothing to do with them, let them see into the matter.
AVIS, a walled, but now inconsiderable town of Portugal, in the province of Alentejo.
A ordem de Avis, a military order in Portugal, instituted by Alphonfus I. after he had won the city of Evora from the Moors, called the Fraternity of St. Mary of Evora. It was confirmed by Innocent IV. in 1234. They wore a black Cistercian habit, and bare for their arms a cross fleur-de-lis, in a field or, having for their crest two birds sable. Vasconcellos, Origin Ord. Equest.
AVISA'DAMENTE, adv. sagely, wisely, prudently, discreetly.
AVISA'DO, a, adj. sage, wise, discreet, prudent, considerate. See also AVISA'R, v. a. to warn, to give warning, to let know, to advise, to give notice or warning.
AVISO, f. m. advice, warning.
Dar, or fazer aviso. See AVISAR.
Ficar de aviso, to take warning.
Nazio de aviso, a king's packet-boat.
Andar sobre aviso, to be upon one's guard.
AVISTA'DO, a, adj. See
AVISTA'R, v. a. to see at a distance before.
Avistar-se, to speak mouth to mouth.
AVIVA'DO, a, adj. See
AVIVAR, v. a. to excite, to quicken, or encourage, to enlighten or invigorate, to enliven, to make brisk; also to promote, to increase, to refresh, to renew.
AVIVENTA'DO, a, adj. See
AVIVENTAR, v. a. See AVIVAR.
A'ULA, f. f. a school or hall where the professors teach; also the prince's court, a king's palace, or retinue.
A'ULICO, or PALACIANO, f. m. a courtier, a follower of the court.
AUNA'DO, a, adj. made one by unity, not by union. From unidade, unity. (In alchemics.)
A'VO, f. m. a sort of fraction; (in arithmetic) also a river in Portugal.
Avô, f. m. a grandfather, or grandfire.
Avô da parte do pay, a grandfather on the father's side.
Avô da parte da mãy, a grandfather on the mother's side.
Avó, f. f. grandmother.
AVO'S, the plural both of Avô and Avó; it is taken sometimes both for the grandfather and grandmother, and sometimes for ancestors.
AVOACADO, a, adj. See
AVOACAR, v. n. to flap, or to play the wings.
AVO'ADO. } See VO'ADO.
AVOAR. } See VOAR.
AVOCAÇ'AM de causa, (in law) the taking away of a law-suit from another's jurisdiction; also evocation, (in grammar.)
AVOCA'DO. } See ADVOCADO.
AVOCAR. } See ADVOCAR.
AVOCATURA. See ADVOCATURA.
AVOEJ'ADO, a. See
AVOEJAR, v. n. (in justing) to turn swift about.
AVOENGA, f. f. the estate of the grandfather.
AVOENGO, f. m. See AVO and Avô.
AVOGAÇ'AM.

AVOGACIA. } See ADVOGACIA.
AVOGADA. }
AVOGADO. } ADVOGADO.
AVOGAR. } ADVOGAR.
AVOLUMA'DO, a, adj. See
AVOLUMA'R, v. a. to over-load.
AVONDA'NÇA. See ABUNDANCIA.
AVONDO'SO. (An antiquated word.) See
ABUNDANTE.
AVOOU, he, or she ran away.
A'URA, f. f. gale, breeze; also the air,
 Lat. (Metaph.) Applause, favour, influence.
Aura popular, p. p. popular applause.
A'URÉO, a, adj. golden, or shining like gold. (Metaph.) Excellent, precious.
Regra aurea, or regra de três, (in arithmetic) the rule of three, so called by way of excellence; teaching how to find a fourth proportional to three numbers given.
Aureo numero the golden number (in astronomy) a number beginning with, and increasing annually 1, until it comes to 19, and then begins again; the use of which is to find the change, and full, quarters of the moon.
AURE'OLA, f. f. the degree of glory of the saints in heaven.
AURIC'YDIA, f. f. covetousness, desire of gold.
AURICULA'R, adj. auricular.
Confissão auricular, the auricular confession, shrift.
Dedo auricular, the little finger.
AURIFERO, a, adj. that beareth or bringeth gold, auriferous.
AURIFLAMA, f. f. oriflamb, auriflamb, or auriflambe, St. Denis's purple standard, borne against infidels, lost in Flanders.
AURIFR'ISIO, f. m. a kind of hawk, a sea-
 eagle, an osprey.
AUR'IGA, f. m. a carter, a waggoner; also a certain sign in the firmament upon the horns of Taurus.
AURIPHRI'GIATO, a, adj. embroidered with gold.
AURISTOS, f. m. aorist, two tenses in the Greek, which denote time indefinitely, done lately, or long ago, or likely to be done. Greek.
AUROPHRI'GIATO. See AURIPHRIGE-
 ATO.
AURO'RA, f. f. the morning twilight, the dawn or break of day.
Aurora boreal, aurora borealis, is a white pyramidal glade of light, appearing like the tail of a comet in the northern hemisphere of the fixed stars.
AUSE'NÇA, or AUZENÇA, f. f. absence,
 the state of being away.
AUSENTA'DO, a, adj. See
AUSENTA'R-SE, v. r. to absent one's self,
 to go away, to fly from.
AUSE'NTE, adj. absent, out of the way.
A'USO, f. m. See OUSADIA.
AUSPICA'DO, a, adj. See
AUSPICA'R, v. a. to promise, to give hopes; also to make one hopeful, or give hopefulness.
AUSPICIO, f. m. auspice, presage, omen, sign, token of the success or event of things, shewn by the flying of birds.
Com favoráveis auspícios, auspiciously, with good success or fortune.
Debaxo dos auspícios de alguém, under one's auspices, conduct, guidance, command, protection.

AUSTERAME'NTE, adv. austere, rigrously, severely, strictly.
AUSTÉRIDADE, f. f. austerity, austereness, mortification; also severity, strictness, rigour.
AUSTE'RO, a, adj. austere, severe, rigorous,
 rigid.
AUSTRA'L, adj. southern, austral.
A'USTRIA, f. f. Austria, the first in rank, and much the largest of all the circles belonging to Germany, especially since the kingdom of Bohemia, the duchy of Silesia, and the marquisate of Moravia, are included in it.
A'USTRO, f. m. the south-wind.
AUTENTICA'DO. See AUTENTICAR.
AUTENTICAME'NTE, adv. authentically,
 in an authentic manner.
AUTENTICA'R, v. a. to make authentic.
AUTE'NCO, or AUTHE'NTICO, a, adj.
 authentic, authentical, of good authority.
Author autentico, an approved author.
Escriptura autêntica, authentic contract, or writing.
AUTHO'GRAPHO, f. m. autography, the own hand-writing, or style of any person;
 also the original of a treatise.
AUTHOR, AUCTOR, or AUTOR, f. m. an author, writer, composer, inventor.
Vês fois o autor da minha ruína, you are the cause of my ruin.
Author en juízo, the plaintiff; one that im-
 pleadeth another at law.
AUTHO'RA, f. f. a finder, or deviser;
 also the woman that impleadeth another at law.
AUTHORIDADE, f. f. authority, power, imperiousness; also a passage or testimony quoted to make good what one says.
AUTHORIZADAME'NTE, adv. gravely, wisely.
AUTHORIZADO, a, adj. authorized.
AUTHORIZA'R, v. a. to authorize, to impower, to give authority or power; also to make illustrious, valuable, worthy, or deserving esteem.
AUTO. See ACTO.
AUTO'MATO, f. m. a self-moving instrument, as a clock, watch, &c.
AUTOR. } See { AUTHOR.
AUTORIA. } { AUTHORIA.
AUTORIDADE. See AUTHORIDADE.
AUTORIZAR. See AUTHORIZAR.
AUTUA'DO. } See { ACTUA'DO.
AUTUA'R. } { ACTUAR.
AVU'LSO, a, adj. different, unlike, unconnected.
AVULTA'DO. See
AVULTAR, v. n. to look big, to look numerous; also to grow, to increase.
AUXILIA'DO, a, adj. See
AUXILIA'R, v. a. to aid, to assist.
Auxiliares, f. m. p. (in Portugal) troops that have half-pay, and only serve in war-time, during which they have the whole.
Auxiliar, adj. auxiliary, helpful.
Verbo auxiliar, auxiliary verb.
Tropas auxiliares, auxiliaries, or auxiliary troops.
Armas auxiliares, auxiliary forces.
AUXÍLIO, f. m. aid, help, succour, supply.
A'XE, f. m. a word that children use when something ails them. Greek.
AXILLA'R, adj. (in anatomy) belonging to the arm-pit.
Veas axillares, axillary veins, two branches of the trunk of the vena cava, which go up the arm-pits.

AXIO'MA, f. m. axiom, or a common self-evident principle.
AXIPARA'M, f. m. a great jubilee among the Eastern people.
AY. See AI.
A'YA, f. m. a governess or governante;
 also a chamber-maid.
AYATAS, f. f. ornaments for children. See also DIXES.
A'YO, f. m. a governor or tutor.
AYRAM, plural, ayrones, a plume or bunch of feathers of a hero, or something like it.
AZ, f. m. ace, at dice or cards.
Az, f. f. (Obsolet. word.) See ALA.
A'ZA, f. f. a wing.
Azas, que os poetas dão a Mercurio nos pés, winged shoes, feigned by the poets to be worn by Mercury.
Dar azas, (metaph.) to spur or egg on.
Estender as azas fullando de esgar, to manue,
 or stretch the wings.
Cousa que tem azas, winged, having wings.
Bater as azas, to clap the wings; also to bate (in falconry.)
Cortar as azas a alguém, (metaph.) to clap one's wings.
Azas de balea. See BARBATANA.
AZABO'MBA, an interjection of admiration, hey-day!
AZA'DO, a, adj. fit, proper, able; also having a handle, or ears.
Azádo, f. m. a kind of vessel or pot, with two handles.
AZAFAMA, or ASAFAMA, f. f. haste, noise, hurry-burley, uproar.
AZAFAMA'DO, f. m. a meddler, a busy-body. Lat. ardelio.
AZAGA'YA, f. f. a kind of a small Moorish spear.
AZAGU'NCHO. See ZAGUNCHO.
AZAMBO'A. See ZAMBO'A.
AZAMBUGE'IRO, or ZAMBUGEIRO, a wild olive-tree.
AZAMBU'JO, idem.
AZAMO'R, once one of the most considerable cities of Ducala, a province of Africa, situated on the gulph of the same name, formed by the mouth of the river Omirabi. It was very populous, and had an excellent fishery, when the Portuguese seized upon the place, which, after five years possession, they demolished and abandoned in 1513.
AZAGUI', a kind of tithe, and fortieth, paid by the Moors to the kings of Portugal in former times. Arabic.
AZA'R, f. m. a cast at dice losing all; the ace-point; also ill-luck, a misfortune, an obstacle, a bad omen, (metaph.)
Cousa que traz azar, betokening some misfortune, ill-boding, or portending ill-luck.
Ter azar com alguma cousa, to look upon a thing as a bad omen.
Azar, f. m. an Indian coin, worth near a shilling.
AZA'RSE, v. r. See PREPARARSE.
ASARCAM, f. m. ashes of a blue colour, coming from burnt lead.
AZE'BRE. See AZEVRE.
AZE'CHE, f. m. a sort of black earth or mineral.
AZEDA'DO. See AZEDAR.
AZEDAMENTE, adv. sharply, severely, bitterly.

A Z E

AZEDAR, v. a. to sour, to make sharp; also to put an ill construction upon any thing, to misrepresent it, so as to make it odious.
AZEDAR-SE, v. r. to grow tart, sour.
AZEDAS, f. f. p. the herb sorrel.
AZEDINHO, a, adj. somewhat sour or sharp.
AZEDO, a, adj. sour, sharp, eager.
Fazer-se azedo. See AZEDAR-SE.
AZEDO, (metaph.) harsh, rough, severe, bad.
AZEITADO, a, adj. oily, full of oily substance, or like oil.
AZEITE, f. m. oil. Arabic.
Azeite de balea, train-oil.
Azeite de azeitona ainda não madura, the oil made of unripe olives.
Trasfegar o azeite, to lade oil out of one vessel into another.
Aquella que trasfega o azeite, he who taketh oil out of vessels with a ladle, and lades it into another.
Danna-se o azeite, the oil grows rotten, or mouldy.
O que piza a azeitona para espremer o azeite, a presser of oil.
Colheita de azeite, a crop, or harvest of oil.
Azeite virgem, the oil that comes out of the first pressing; pure olive-oil.
Adaga do azeite, the cellar where oil is kept.
Agua rúca ou a primeira borra de azeite, the mother, or lees of oil.
P. não deites azeite no fogo, do not throw oil into the fire.
P. quem azeite mede as mãos unta, we say, he is an ill cook who cannot lick his fingers.
AZEITEIRO, f. m. a maker or seller of oil, an oil-man.
AZEITONADA, f. f. an olive, the fruit of the olive-tree.
Colheita, ou o tempo de colher a azeitona, a crop or harvest of olives; the time of gathering olives.
Azeitona colhida à mão, the olives that are gathered, or cropped with the hand.
Azeitona sapateyra, softened olives, that look rotten.
Azeitonas em conserva, pickled olives.
Azeitonas de Sevilha, Seville-olives.
Cor de azeitona. See
AZEITONADO, a, adj. or cor de azeitona, olive-colour.
AZELHA, f. f. an iron, golden, &c. circle or ring.

A Z I

AZE'LLLOS. See ASELLOS.
AZEMALA, or AZEMELA, f. f. a baggage, or sumpter mule. (Metaph.) A fool, a stupid fellow.
AZEME'L, f. m. a driver or keeper of mules; a muleteer. Arabic.
AZE'NHA, ASE'NHA, or ACENHA, f. f. a water-mill. Arabic.
Azenha de moer azeitona, an oil press for the breaking of the olives.
Azenha de trigo, a water-mill for wheat.
AZERA'DO. See
AZERAR, v. a. (among book-binders) to give steel colour.
AZERE'IRO, f. m. a tree like the laurel or bay-tree, which is ever-green, and has the flower always white.
AZERO'LA, f. f. a sort of fruit that has three stones in it, and is of a pleasant tartness, not unlike a little apple; some of them are red, and some of them yellow. There are those that will have them to be a sort of medlars; also the tree that bears the azerola.
AZERVES. See MOURAM (among farmers.)
AZEVIA. See ASEVIA.
AZEVICHADO, a, adj. that has the same colour as the stone called jet, or agate-stone.
AZEVI'CHE, f. m. the stone called jet, or agate-stone.
AZEVIE'IRO, f. m. a whore-monger, a wench.
AZEVINHO, f. m. the holy-tree, the white-thorn, Christ's thorn.
AZEVRE, AZEVAR, or AZEBRE, f. m. aloes. It is made of the juice of an herb called by the Portuguese erva babosa, whereof there is great store in Cambaya, Bengala, and other parts, but that of the island of Socotora is most valued, and therefore called aloes succotrina.
AZIA, f. m. the longing of women with child, the greenickness, when young women eat chalk, ashes, &c. also a crudity or sharpness in the stomach called heart-burning.
AZIA'GO, a, adj. unlucky.
AZIA'R, f. m. a barnacle, an instrument to set upon the nose of an unruly horse; also a motive or incentive. (Metaph.)
AZI'CHE, f. m. a sort of black earth.
AZILO. ? See { ASYLO.
A'ZIMO. } See { ASYMO.
AZIMUTH, or AZIMUD, f. m. azimuth

A Z Y

or an arch of the horizon, comprehended between the meridian of the place, and any other azimuth circle.
AZINHA. See ASINHA.
AZINHA'GA, f. f. a narrow path or passage.
AZINHA'GO. See AZIAGO.
AZINHA'L, f. m. a grove of trees like oaks, called by some holm, the scarlet-oak.
AZINHAFRE, f. m. verdigrise, or verdigrise, the green rust of brass or copper.
AZINHEIRA, ANZINHEIRA. See ENZINHEIRA.
AZIVIE'IRO. See AZEVIEIRO.
AZIVINHO. See AZEVINHO.
AZIUMA'R-SE, v. r. See AZEDAR-SE. It is not used.
AZO, f. m. occasion, motive, room or reason.
AZORRA'GUE, f. m. a scourge, or whip made of leather thongs.
AZOTH, (in chemistry) azoth, the mercury of any metallic body; an universal medicine.
AZOUGADO, adj. it is only used (metaph.) for a restless person, that cannot be still in a place.
AZO'UGUE, f. m. quicksilver, mercury.
AZUL, adj. blue.
Azul celeste, sky colour.
Azul ferrete, dark blue.
Azul ultramarino, a kind of sand among the ore of gold and silver, used by painters; ultramarine.
Azul claro, light blue.
Azul turqui. See Azul celeste.
Campo azul nos escudos das armas, (in heraldry) azure, the blue colour in coats of arms.
Cousta que tira á cor azul, of a blueish colour.
AZULADO, a, adj. See
AZULAR, v. a. to colour blue.
AZULEJADOR, f. m. he who makes or adorns with azulejo. See AZULEJO.
AZULEJADO, a, adj. See
AZULEJAR, v. a. to adorn with azulejo. See
AZULEJO, f. m. a Dutch tile glazed, such as we use to adorn the sides of chimneys, or such places.
AZYMITAS, f. m. p. Azymites, persons who communicate of the eucharist with unleavened bread.

B.

B, f. m. B is pronounced as in English; though the ignorant people of Beyra pronounce it like the V.
B, among the ancients, was a numeral letter, worth 300, according to this verse:
Et B trecentum per se retinere videtur.
 But when it had the tittle on the top, then it stood for 3000.
B mi, the third note in the gamut, or scale of music.

B mol, f. m. See BEMO'L.
B quadro, f. m. a B sharp (in music.)
BABDA, f. f. foa n, slaver, or flabbering, drivel; also flux or alivation.
Baba do caracol, &c. the spit of a snail, of a serpent, &c.
BABA'DO, a, adj. See BABAR, and Babar-se.

BABADO'URO, f. m. a bib, a flabbering bib.
BABA'O, a sort of interj. to rail at one that has been disappointed.
BABAR, v. n. or Babar-se, v. r. to foam, slaver, flabber, or drivel; also to be fluxed for the pox.
Fullam não se b.ba, so they say, speaking of a man that talks well and explains himself cleverly.

BABARE', or BABARE'O, (in Goa) to cry for the king's assistance. See also VAYA.

BABE'IRA, f. f. that part of the helmet that covers the chin.

BABE'IRO, f. m. See BABADOURO.

BABE'L. See BABYLONIA.

BABO'SA, f. f. a woman that slabbers: a slabber-chops; also the herb of which aloes is made. See ALOE.

BABO'SO, f. m. he who slabbers.

Fullano bẽ bum babõsõ, so they say of a man that is of no signification.

BABU'GEM, f. m. See BABA.

BABYLO'NIA, f. f. the city of Babylon, whence the name is applied to signify any place where there is a great concourse of people, a confusion, a multiplicity of tongues, or a vicious place.

BACALHA'O, f. m. the fish we call poor-jack, ling, cod-fish, salt-fish. See also BALONA.

Cabeça de bacalhao seco, a poll of ling.

BACAMARTE, f. m. a blunderbuss.

BACATE'LLA, f. f. bagatelle, toy, trifle.

BACCANA'ES, f. m. p. bacchanals, feasts in honour of Bacchus.

BACCANTES, f. m. or BACCAS, f. f. p. bacchantes, the priests or priestesses of Bacchus.

BACCO, f. m. Bacchus, a pagan deity. It is sometimes taken for the wine.

BACE'IRA, f. f. a kind of disease in oxen, &c. when the spleen is rotten.

BACELLA'DA, f. f. a late grown vine, a new planted vineyard.

Fazer bacellada, to plant young vines, to make a vineyard.

BACUL'LO, f. m. a layer, a shoot, twig, or sprig of a vine.

Bacello de vides machas, the twig of lusty strong vines.

BACHANA'ES. See BACCANAES.

BACHARE'L, f. m. a bachelor of arts, in divinity, canon and civil law, or physic; also a talkative, prattling fellow.

BACHARELA'DO, f. m. the degree of bachelor, bachelorship.

BACHARELY'CE, f. f. prattling, habbling, talkativeness.

BACHU', ex. Mar de Bacia, or Mar Caspio, or De Sala, the Caspian sea; it goes by several names, viz. Mar de Sala, Mar de Baci, Mar de Taberastan.

BACI'A, f. f. a bason, generally a barber's bason; also the pulpit's pavement. Arabic.

Abertura da mesma bacia, the neck of a barber's bason.

BACINE'TE, f. m. a kind of head-piece or helmet, which the cuirassiers formerly used.

BACINY'CA, f. f. a little bason or close-stool-pan.

BACFO, f. m. a close-stool-pan.

BAC'CO, f. m. the spleen.

Doente do baco, sick of the spleen.

Baco, a, adj. somewhat black or blackish; also dull, dim, speaking of a glass.

Fazer baco hum espelho, to dull a looking-glass.

BACORINHA'DO, a, adj. See

BACORINHAR, a jocose word. See PAL-FITAR.

BACORINHO, f. m. a farrow, a little pig.

BACORO, f. m. a little pig.

Bacoro que deixa de mamar, a shoot, a weaned pig, a pig taken from the teat.

BACOROS que nascem da mesma barrigada, a litter of pigs.

BACULO, f. m. a staff; also support, comfort. (Metaph.)

Baculo pastoral, a bishop's crozier; the pastoral staff.

BADA. See ABADA.

BADAJO'Z, a city and the capital of Spanish Estremadura, and a frontier-town against Portugal. Its fortifications are antique, but it has some modern out-works. Here is an old Roman stone-bridge over the river Guadiana, that is seven hundred paces long, fourteen broad, and is quite strait. In the years 1658 and 1705, it was unsuccessfully besieged by the Portuguese. From the Arabic beled aix, i. e. land of life.

BADA'L, f. m. (in surgery) a sort of forked instrument to hold up the patient's head.

BADALA'DA, f. f. the stroke of a clapper of a bell; also a foolish expression. (Metaph.)

BADALEJA'R com frio, to tremble with cold.

BADA'LO, f. m. the clapper of a bell.

BADA'ME. See BEDAME.

BADAME'CO, f. m. (Obsolete word.) See PASTA.

BADA'NA. } See { CARNEIRA.

BADE'JO. } See { BACALHAO.

BADULA'QUE, f. m. meat hashed with thick sauces, thence applied to signify any gallinawfrey.

BAE', so the Indians call the wives of the Christians.

BAETA, f. f. bayze, or baiz, a kind of woollen stuff.

BAFA'GEM de vento, a gale of wind.

BAFARI', f. m. a kind of a bird of prey.

BAFEJA'DO, a, adj. See

BAFEJA'R, v. a. to breathe in, or open.

BAFO, f. m. the stink proceeding from mouldiness or mustiness; an ill and strong smell, or hogo.

Esta carne tem basfo, this meat has a deadly hogo.

BA'FO, f. m. breath.

Basfo de vento, a gentle gale, a breeze.

Mao basfo, a strong breath.

Bom basfo, a sweet breath; (metaph.) protection, presence. See ABRIGO, and PROTECCAM.

BAFORA'DA, f. f. a strong smell of the breath.

Dar à alguẽ hum baforada de vinho, to breathe upon one a strong smell of wine.

BAFORE'IRA, ex. Figueira baforeira, a wild fig-tree.

BAGA, f. f. a berry.

Baga de era, ivy-berry.

Baga de laureiro, bay-berry.

BAGA'ÇO, f. m. murk, or murc, husks of grapes or other fruits, after the juice has been pressed out.

BAGA'GEM, f. f. carriage, baggage, goods.

BAGA'NHA, f. f. the hull, peel, or skin, inclosing the linseed.

BAGATE'LLA. See BACATELLA.

BAGO, f. m. the grain of any corn.

Bago de uvas, a grape.

O cabir dos bagos juntamente com a flor das vides, the dropping or falling off of grapes.

Bago de bispo. See BACULO pastoral.

BAGOAS, so the ancient Persians call the eunuchs.

BAGRE, a kind of long fish with a forked tail.

BAGULHO, the kernel of grapes; a grape-stone.

BAHA'R, f. m. (in the East-Indies) bahr, a weight of three hundred and eighty-six pounds, avoirdupois, at Mocha; the lesser, six hundred and twenty-five pounds, at Molucca; and the greater, six thousand two hundred and fifty pounds.

BAH'A, f. f. a bay, or road at sea.

Bahia de todos os Santos, the Bay of All Saints, in the Brasils.

BAHU', f. m. a trunk.

Official que faz babus, a trunk-maker.

BA'IA, or BAYA, f. f. a partition-bar to separate two horses in a stable.

BA'ILA. See BALHA.

BALADE'IRA. See DANÇADEIRA.

BAILADO'R. See DANÇADOR.

BAILA'DO. } See { DANÇADO.

BAILA'R. } See { DANÇAR.

BA'ILE. See DANÇA. It is also the title given in Constantinople to the Venetian ambassadors.

BAILE'O, a scaffold.

Baileo, an open gallery.

Baileo, a kind of a small scaffold in a crane, or engine, to draw up burdens.

BAILHE'IRO. } See { LIGEIRO.

BAILIA'DO. } See { BALIADO.

BAILIO'. } See { BALIO.

BA'INHA, f. f. ex. Bainha da espada, a scabbard or sheath of a sword. Lat. vagina.

Gaucha da bainha, por onde se prende a espada, the chape or hook of a scabbard.

Bainha de legume, the husk, cod, or shell of a bean, pea, or any such thing.

Bainha da costura, hem, selvage, border.

BAINHE'IRO, f. m. a sheath, scabbard, or case-maker.

BAINY'CA, or VAINILHA, f. f. vanilla, or vanillio, a long slender cod, growing in the West-Indies on a plant that runs up trees. The Spaniards gave it this name because it is like a slender sheath.

BA'IO, a, a, j. ex. Cavalle Bẽio, bayard, or a bay-horse.

Baio claro, a bright dapple bay.

Baio escuro, brown bay.

Baio castanho, of a chestnut colour.

Baiz dourado, yellow dun.

BAIRAM. See BAYRAM.

BA'RRRO, f. m. a ward, a district, or portion of a city.

BA'IXA. } See { BAXA.

BAIXA'DO. } See { BAXADO.

BAIXA'R. } See { BAXAR.

BA'IXO. } See { BAXO.

BA'JE, f. f. the husk inclosing the seed of the herb called caracoes. See CARACOL.

BA'JES, kidney-beans.

BAJO'UJO. See TOLEIRAM.

BAJU', f. m. a kind of shift used by the Indian ladies.

BA'LA, f. f. a bullet, or shot. Greek.

Balas de cadeia, or encadeadas, chain-shot.

Bala enramada, a cross-bar shot, cross-bar.

Bala de canhão, a cannon-bullet.

Buraco que faz hum bala, a bullet-hole.

Canhão que leva bala de 20 arrates, a gun of twenty-pound shot, a twenty-pounder.

Bala de impressor, a printer's ball.

Bala de papel, a bale or pack of paper.

Bala, com que se da o voto em hum conselho, &c. a ballot, a balloting, or voting-ball.

BALA'ÇO,

BAL

BAL

BAN

BALÇO, f. m. the hole, stroke, or wound made by a bullet.
BAL'DO. See BALAR.
BAL'IO, or BAL'YO, f. m. a hamper, or pannier.
BALAIS. See BALAX.
BALANCA, a balance, a pair of scales.
Balança Romana, a steel-yard, the Roman balance, or beam.
Travessão da balança, a beam whereon balances and scales hang.
O buraco em que entra o travessão da balança, the hole or hollow wherein the balance scales turn.
O fel da balança, ou a lingua da balança, the tongue or needle of a balance.
O gancho, com que se suspende a balança para nella se pesar alguma coisa, the checks of the balance.
O contrapeso da balança, a counterpoise, that which is put in the scales to make even weight.
O prato, ou cipo da balança, a scale, or basin of a balance.
Balança para pesar ouro, gold weights.
Balança para pesar dinheiro, weights.
Por em balança, (metaph.) to weigh, to examine, to judge, or consider.
Fazer tender a balança mais de huma parte, que da outra, to turn the scale.
Por em balança a todas as palavras, to weigh every word.
BALANÇADO, a, adj. See the two next articles.
BALANÇAR, v. a. to swing, to toss, or shake to and fro.
Balançar-se, v. r. to swing, to see-saw, or to weigh salt; also to hover on high as the eagle and some other birds do.
BELANCIA. See MELANCIA.
BALANÇO, f. m. darnel, cockle, a weed, amongst corn.
Balanço, f. m. swinging, tossing; also the balance of an account.
Dar balanço, to balance an account; also to ponder or consider, to examine strictly, or diligently. (Metaph.)
Estar em balanço, to be in suspense.
BALANDRÃO, f. m. a great cloak for foul weather. From the Italian pelandrona, a great coat; also a sort of garment worn by the brothers belonging to the brotherhood, called Da Misericordia.
BALANO, f. m. the nut of a man's yard.
BALAM, f. m. a kind of an Indian long light ship, with oars.
BALANTES, a negroe nation of Melli, a province of Negroe Land, in Africa. The Portuguese attempted the conquest of it in July 1695; but it being then the rainy season, they were entirely routed, and obliged to retire.
BALAR, v. n. to bleat like sheep.
BALASIO. See BALAX.
BALAUSTE, f. m. a rail, a balluster, a little pillar.
BALAUSTES, or BALAUSTRES, the feet of a bed.
BALAUSTIAS, f. m. p. the dried blossoms of pomegranates.
BALAX, or BALAIS, f. m. a precious stone like a ruby, though not so rich.
BALAYO, f. m. a sort of small basket.
BALBO, a, adj. stammering.
Ser Balbo, to stammer, to stutter, to lisp.
BALBUENTE, stuttering, or stammering.
BALÇA. See BALSA.

BALCAM, f. m. a balcony, or building jutting out.
BALDADO, a, adj. void, frustrated, of no effect. See also BALDAR.
BALDAM, f. m. a reproachful word, abusive language, affront.
BALDAR, v. a. to frustrate, or disappoint; also to trump a card in a game called cf-padilha.
BALDE, a bucket.
Balde, a kind of shovel used by husbandmen.
De balde, adv. in vain, without effect.
BALDEACEM, f. f. the act of pouring, &c. See BALDEAR.
BALDEADO, a, adj. See
BALDEAR, v. a. to pour, put, or discharge out of one ship or vessel into another, to transvase, to decant.
BALDIO, a, adj. common, open, fallow, uncultivated. See also BALDADO.
BALDREU, f. m. small pieces of old gloves made of skin, which painters, &c. boil to a jelly, to make glue.
BALDROGA. See TROCA.
BALEA, f. f. a whale, the greatest of sea fishes.
Costas da balea, a whale-bone.
Barba de balea, the beard or whiskers of a whale. See also AZEITE.
BALEARES, f. f. p. two islands in the Mediterranean sea, over-against Catalonia in Spain, now called Majorca and Minorca. The ancient inhabitants were excellent slingers.
BALEATO, a young whale.
BALEGOENS, f. m. p. a sort of shoes or boots, formerly used.
BALESTILHA, f. f. the cross-staff, used for taking the sun's altitude, &c. Jacob's-staff.
BALHA, or BAILA, ex. Trazer à balha, to tell, publish, or make known; also to alledge, cite, or quote. (A vulgar phrase.)
Vir à balha, to be published or made known; also to be alledged, quoted, or mentioned.
BALHADEIRA. See DANÇADEIRA.
BALHADO? See { DANÇADO.
BALHAR. } See { DANÇAR.
BALHATA, a ballad. From the Italian ballata.
BALIA. See
BALIA'DO, or BAILIA'DO, a benefice among the knights of Malta.
BALIO, or BAILIO, the name given to the knights of Malta that obtain that benefice; also bailiff, a magistrate.
BALIZA, f. f. a land-mark, or light-house on the shore for ships to steer by; also a sea-mark, set up in a dangerous place, for the direction of the sailors, as a buoy floating, or a mast raised in a bank. See also LIMITE.
BALIZADO, a, adj. See
BALIZAR, v. a. to set up a land-mark, &c. See BALIZA, and DEMARCAR.
BALNEO Maria, (among chemists), balneum Maria; it is when a cucurbit is close stopped, and placed in a vessel of hot water, so that the water being gently and gradually heated, may always keep the cucurbit in an even temperature of heat.
BALORO, a, adj. puffed up, swollen, not solid, flabby.
Carne balosa, flabby flesh.

BALO'NA, f. f. a sort of band for men, which is now scarce in use.
BALC'NAS, f. f. p. a kind of breeches formerly used.
BALUCADO, cavalo, a trotting horse.
BALRAFLINTO. See BARLAVENTO.
BALSA, or BALÇA, f. f. a place where thorns and briars grow, a bush of thorns. It is also taken for a plant, or branch of it. Barr. Dec. 2. page 187.
Balsa, pressed grapes, or lees of wine.
Tirar o vinho da balsa, to rack wine, to draw it off from the lees.
Balsa, the standard or ensign used by the Templars.
Balsa, a case made of straw, &c. for urinals.
Balsa, a float, pieces of timber made fast together with rafters for conveying burdens down a river with the stream.
BALSAMINHO, f. m. a balsam-apple, whose oil consolidates wounds like balm.
BALSAMO, f. m. balsam, a tree, or a juice, or a composition so called.
BALSA'NA, f. f. a sort of lace to strengthen the extremity of a garment.
BALSEIRO, a, adj. wild, bushy, covered with thorns and briars; also belonging to BALSA. See it.
Caô balseiro, a dog that goes into the thorns and briars.
Balseiro, f. m. a vat, to put the must or new wine together with the BALSA, which see.
Uva balseira, the fruit of the wild-vine, or bryony.
BALSEMAM, f. m. a river in Portugal, that flows through the city of Lamego, not far from the place where it falls into the Douro. It gives denomination to the noble family of the Balsemões in the same city.
BALTEO, f. m. from the Lat. baltens, a girdle, a sword-belt; but it is only used for a particular mark, sign, or token, whereby any person is known.
BALTICO, ex. o mar Baltico, or o Báltico, the Baltic, or the sea belonging to Baltia, an island in the German Ocean.
BALUARTE, f. m. a bulwark, a great bastion. (Metaph.) Defence, guard, prop, support.
BAMBALHAM, very slack.
A bambalhão, in a hurry.
BAMBELEADO, a, adj. See
BAMBELEAR, v. n. to widdle-waddle, not to be steady, to shake.
BAMBO, a, adj. slack, loose, unbent.
BAMBOLAM, BAMBOLIM, two different sorts of plaits, or folds, used by women in their petticoats.
BAMBU, f. m. bamboo, a sort of Indian cane, so first called by the Portuguese.
BAMBUAL, f. m. the place where such canes grow.
BANANA, f. f. a fruit growing in India, in the Brasils, and on the coasts of Africa. The Arabs and Persians call it mous; also a coward, a good for nothing fellow.
BANANEIRA, f. f. the tree that bears such fruit. It is about fourteen or fifteen feet high, consisting of many rinds or leaves, growing one upon another, the trunk about the thickness of a man's leg.
BANANAL, f. m. the place where the bananeiras grow.
BANAZA, a wild beast as big as a horse, with three horns in the forehead. See Fernão Mendes Pinto, chap. 166.
BANCA,

BANCA, f. f. a desk.
Jogo da banca, basket, a game at cards.
BANCA'DA, a certain number of seats for the musicians in a church.
BANCA'L, f. m. a carpet or cloth to cover a bench.
BANCO, f. m. a bench, form, or seat; also a bank or stock of money.
Banco de Inglaterra, the bank of England.
Banco da igreja, a pew, a seat in a church.
Banco de galé, a seat or bench where the rowers sit in the galleys.
Banco de judicatura, a bench whereon judges sit in courts.
Fazer banco roto, to break, or turn bankrupt.
Banco de areia, a bank of sand in the sea, a shelf, or the sands.
Dar em seio em hum banco de areia, to run a-ground, to strike the sands.
Banco de pinchar, (in heraldry) a small bench in the infant's escutcheon in Portugal.
Banco de ensablagement, a joiner's bench.
BANDa, f. f. a tide; also a scarf.
Desla banda, on this side.
Da outra banda, on the other side.
De huma e outra banda, on both sides.
Lançado de huma banda para a outra, tossed from post to pillar.
Vindo a banda, it is said of one that yields or gives way to passion.
Tem a cabeça á banda, his head leans on one side.
Para essas bandas, that way, towards.
Passer de banda a banda, to run through.
Pôr de banda, to lay aside, to save.
Banda, fillet, band.
Banda, a welt, border, or guard about the coat or gown.
Cavalleiros da Banda, knights of the Band, or Red-staff, in Spain, instituted A. C. 1330, by Alphonso XI. king of Castile and Leon.
Banda, the principal and the largest of the Indian islands bearing that name in Asia, famous for whole forests of nutmegs and cloves, particularly the former, and that without any cultivation. In the year 1500 the Portuguese having discovered the way to Asia round the cape of Good-hope, trafficked with the natives of India; and so brought the spices into Europe.
Banda, (in heraldry) a piece representing a shoulder-belt in the escutcheon; also a bend made by two lines drawn cross-ways from the dexter chief to the sinister base point.
BANDA'DO, a, adj. (in heraldry) ornamented with a Banda. See BANDA. See also BANDAR.
BANDA'LHO. See FARRAPO.
BANDA'R, v. a. ex. Bandar vestidos, to face the garments.
BANDA'RA, f. m. a governor or ruler. It is only used in Malacca, the most southerly part of the further Peninsula of India, in Asia.
BANDA'RA, f. m. (a vulgar word) a fop, a coxcomb.
BANDARRIA'DO. See
BANDARRIA'R, v. n. to behave like a fop or coxcomb.
BANDARRICE, f. f. foppery, foppishness.
BANDE'JA, f. f. a sort of voider, or vessel, sometimes made of fine wood, sometimes of silver or gold, to carry sweetmeats or presents in.

BANDEJA'DO, a, adj. See
BANDEJA'R, v. a. ex. Bandejar o trigo, to pick, sift, or clean wheat.
BANDEIRA, f. f. an ensign, flag, or banner; the colours.
Bandeira ou manga de soldados, a band of soldiers under one commander.
BANDEIRINHA, f. f. a little banner, ensign, or flag.
BANDEIROLA, f. f. a little flag or streamer. Ital.
Bandeirola de trombeta, the fringed bandrol, or silk that hangs on a trumpet.
BANDE'L, f. m. (in India) a ward wherein foreigners live.
BANDIDO. See BANIDO.
Bandido, f. m. an out-law turned robber, a robber on the highway, a banditto, a highwayman.
BANDI'NS, ou BANDI'S, the portions or parts into which a vargem is divided. (In India.) See VARGEM.
BANDI'R, v. a. See DESTERRAR.
BANDIS. See BANDINS.
BANDO, f. m. a ban, a proclamation by voice, or with sound of trumpet; also the hedge or inclosure of a vargem. (In India.) See VARGEM.
Bando ou multidão de mulheres, a bevy of women.
Bando de passaros, a flight of birds.
Bando de perdizes, a covey of partridges.
Bando, a faction, a seditious party, a gang.
BANDO'LAS, f. f. p. a shoulder-belt or collar, with bandoleers, or small wooden cases covered with leather, each of them containing powder that is a sufficient charge for a musquet.
Bandela, a jury-mast. Navio em bandelas, (a sea phrase) a ship with the jury-mast, or a yard, set up instead of a mast, which has been broken down by a storm or shot.
BANDOLEIRA, f. f. the belt over the left-shoulder of the carabineers to hang their carabines in.
BANDOLEIRO, f. m. a vagabond, a highwayman.
BANDORRI'LHA, f. f. a musical instrument called bandora. Lat. pandura.
BANDU'LHO, f. m. (A jocose word.) See BARRIGA.
BANDURIAS, f. f. p. See PELIONA.
BANDURRA. See BANDORILHA.
BANE'NES, or BANIANES, f. m. p. bani-ans, a numerous sect of idolaters in the East-Indies, in Asia, who never eat any thing that has had animal life. They believe a God, and yet worship the devil. They principally follow trade, and are perhaps the greatest merchants in the world.
BANHA, f. f. the hog's fat round the kidney.
Banha de flor, a sweet ointment made of hog's lard, blossom of orange trees, &c.
BANHA'DO, a, adj. bathed, &c. See
BANHA'R, v. a. to bathe, or dip, to water, to besprinkle; also to touch a picture, to lay new and fresh colours upon it.
Banhar-se, v. r. to wash, or bathe one's self, to bathe, to be in water, or in any thing like a bath.
Banhar-se em prazer, ou alegria, to joy, to delight, to be delighted.
Banhar-se em agoa de rozas, to bathe in rose-water; that is, (metaph.) to be well pleased.

O lugar em que alguém se banha, falando em rios, &c. a bathing-place in a river, &c.
BANHO, f. m. a washing-place, a bath, or bagnio.
Tomar banhos. See BANHAR-SE.
Gamela, ou couza semelhante para tomar o banho, a bathing tub.
O que tem a casa de banho, the master of a bagnio, a bath-keeper.
Banhos de agoas quentes e mineraes. See CALDAS.
O homem que dá banhos, a servant attending about the bath.
Banho de Maria. See BALNEO Maria.
Banho de areia, ou de separação, sand-bath, (with chemists.)
Banhos, banns, or publication of matrimony.
Publicar ou correr os banhos, to bid the banns of matrimony, to ask people in the church.
Cavalleiros do Banho, knights of the Bath, an order of knights who were first created in England by Henry IV. A. D. 1399. They are so called, because of their bathing before they were advanced to that dignity.
Banhos de argel, the prison where the Christian slaves are kept, in Algiers.
BANIDO, f. m. an outlawed and banished malefactor.
BANQUEIRO, f. m. a banker.
BANQUETA, f. f. (in fortification) a heap of ground raised round the foot and in the inside of the parapet.
BANQUETE, f. m. a banquet, or banquet, a feast.
O que dá o banquete, an entertainer, a feaster.
BANQUETEADO, a, adj. See
BANQUETEAR, v. n. to banquet, to feast, to revel.
Banquetear, v. a. to feast, or treat one.
Costume, ou cerimonia usada no banquetear alguém, a feast rite.
BANQUINHO, f. m. a joint-stool, foot-stool.
BANTIM, f. m. a kind of Indian vessel or ship.
BANZA'DO, a, adj. See
BANZA'R, v. n. to feel a violent pain; also to be in a violent passion.
BANZEIRO, adj. ex. Mar banzeiro, so they call the sea when it is neither calm nor stormy.
Jogo banzeiro, is said of a game, wherein none of the gamesters lose.
BAONE'ZA, f. f. a kind of a sharpish apple so called.
BAPTISMA'L, adj. baptismal, belonging to baptism.
BAPTISMO, or BAUTISMO, f. m. baptism, christening.
Pia do baptismo, the font in a church.
Receber o baptismo, to be christened, or baptized.
Nome do baptismo, the christian name.
BAPTISTA, f. m. St. John the Baptist.
Baptista, a sort of fine linen cloth.
BAPTISTE'RIO, f. m. the place destined for the font in a church.
BAPTIZADO, f. m. christening.
Baptizado, a, adj. See
BAPTIZAR, v. a. to christen, to baptize.

Aquello que baptiza, he that christsens.
BAQUIL, f. m. a fall, the stroke a man gives on the ground when he falls.
Dar humbaque. See BAQUEAR.
BAQUEADO, a, adj. See BAQUEAR and Baquear-se.
BAQUEAR, v. n. to fall, to tumble, to get a fall or tumble.
Baquear, (metaph.) to convince, or convict.
Baquear-se, v. r. to stretch, or lay along on the ground.
BAQUILTA, f. f. a drum-stick.
BAKA de ouro, the value of four thousand five hundred pounds, (in India.)
BARAÇA, f. f. the string to tie the flax or hemp to the distaff.
BARACHA, a great kettle to boil meat or any other thing else aboard ships.
BARACTINHO, a small rope or cord.
P. se te derem o porquinho, a cole the com o baracinho, that is, lose not the opportunity.
BARAÇO, f. m. a rope or cord; it is said commonly of an halter to hang with; also a bond, a tie.
Per o baraço na garganta á alguém, (metaph.) to press one, to solicit him, to be earnest with him.
Est. como baraço na garganta, to be pressed, or solicited. (Metaph.)
P. em casa do ladrão, não lembrar baraço, this is a wife warning not to mention things that are displeasing to the hearer.
BARATUNDA, f. f. tumult, confusion, disorder; also a sort of needle-work, that from far looks like lace.
BARATUSTADO, adj. See
BARATUSTAR, v. n. to struggle, to toss up and down, to strive.
BARALHA, f. f. the cards that remain after taking what are necessary to play, the stock at cards.
Metete na baralha, (metaph.) to desist, to cease, to leave off, to give over.
Jogar com toda a baralha, (metaph.) to be a flatterer; also to treat, or handle different subjects without disposing or setting them in order.
BARALHADO, a, adj. See
BARALHAR, v. a. ex. Baralhar as cartas, to shuffle cards; also to confound, to intermingle, to disorder, to disturb, to put into confusion.
BARALHO, f. m. ex. Baralho de cartas, a pack of cards.
BARÃO, f. m. a baron. See also VARÃO.
BARATA, f. f. a kind of moth that eats books or clothes, a book-worm.
BARATEADO, adj. See
BARATEAR, or ABAXAR no preço. See ABAXAR, v. n.
Baratear na compra, to cheapen, to haggle, to beat the price.
BARATEIRO, f. m. he that sells cheap.
BARATEZ, cheapness.
BARATO, a, adj. that is cheap.
Barato, adv. cheap, of little price.
Barato, f. m. the money given to standers by at play by the winner; also amends, compensation.
Hever por barato alguma coisa, to think a thing to be better, or more convenient, to be very glad of it.
Meter a barato, to undervalue, to contemn, or despise, not to regard or care for, to make no account of.

Dar barato. } See { CONTRABARATA
Tomar barato. } TEAR.
P. o caro he barato, e o barato he caro, the best is cheapest.
BARATRO, f. m. a gulph, a deep pit, any deep place.
BARBA, f. f. the beard, or the chin; also the small fibres of a root.
Barba de bode. See ULMARIA.
Fazer a barba á alguém, to trim, to shave, or beard one.
Homem de barbas, a man of reputation.
Dizer alguma coisa nas barbas de alguém, to say a thing to a man's face.
Pegar pelas barbas a alguém, to pluck or twitch one by the beard.
Barba a barba, face to face.
Viver á custa da barba longa, to be a sponger, to live upon the catch.
Ter a barba tesa, to resist, to withstand, to face.
Barba de cabra, a goat's beard; also the herb so called.
Barba de hum cometa, the beams of a blazing star, or the flappet of a comet.
BARBAS, (figurat.) age, years.
Barbas de balea. See BALEA.
Barbas de isopo, a little bunch of hair tied to an end of an holy water-sprinkle, or stick.
P. quando vires arder as barbas de teu vizinho, deita as tuas em remolho, when thy neighbour's beard is on fire, be careful of thine own. Horace says, tua res agitur, paries cum proximus ardet.
Dar a agoa pella barba. See AGOA.
BARBAÇA, f. f. p. a long beard.
BARBACANA, f. f. a countermure, or wall set before, a barbican before a castle, the out-works.
BARBADAS, or BARBADA, Barbadoes, one of the principal islands of the windward division of the Caribbees, and, next to Jamaica, the most considerable of all the isles belonging to the British dominions in America.
BARBADINHO, f. m. diminut. from barbado, he who has a little beard. See also CAPUCHINHOS.
BARBADO, a, adj. bearded.
BARBANTE. See BIRBANTE.
BARBAR, v. n. to begin to have a beard. Lat. pubescere.
BARBARA, (in logic) a technical word, each of whose syllables prefixed before the propositions of a syllogism in the first mood and first figure, denote the universal affirmation of the said propositions. It is also the proper name of a woman.
Santa barbara, (in a ship) the powder-room.
BARBARAMENTE, adv. barbarously, cruelly; also unintelligibly.
BARBARIA, f. f. any barbarous country.
Barbaria, or BERBERIA, f. f. Barbary, a vast tract of ground in Africa. It commonly includes the countries of Algiers, Tunis, Tripoly, Barca, Fez, and Morocco. The name Barbary is generally thought to have been given to this country by the Romans, on account of the ferocity and barbarity of the manners of its inhabitants.
Barbaria, cruelty, barbarity, rudeness in manners; also great ignorance.
BARBARICO, a, adj. pertaining to, or coming from barbarous people, after the Barbarian mode. See BARBARO.

Promontorio Barbarico, a promontory, or cape, now called Cape Despichel, in Portugal.
BARBARISCO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Barbary.
BARBARISMO, f. m. a barbarism, in speaking or writing.
BARBARIZADO, a, adj. See
BARBARIZAR, v. a. ex. Barbarizar a linguagem, to induce, or to introduce a barbarous, improper, or broken speech.
Barbarizar os costumes, to corrupt, deprave, or adulterate the morals, by bringing in barbarous manners.
BARBARO, a, adj. barbarous, cruel, inhuman.
Nação barbara, a barbarous nation.
BARBARRAM, f. m. a long beard; also a man that has a long beard.
BARBASCO, f. m. the petty mullien, wool-blade, torch-weed, or high taper, ungwort.
BARBATA, f. f. a bravado, or heftoring.
Lançar barbatas. See BARBATEAR.
Barbata, or Barbatas. See BARBADAS.
BARBATANA, f. f. the fin of a fish.
BARBATEADO, a, adj. See
BARBATEAR, v. n. to hector.
BARBATO, f. m. (in some religious orders) a lay-brother.
Cometa barbato, a comet with a flappet.
BARBEADO, f. m. he who has been shaved.
BARBEADURA, f. f. a shaving.
BARBEAR, v. a. to shave, trim, or barb.
BARBEARIA, f. f. a barber's shop.
BARBECHAR, v. a. to plough a piece of ground that has been untillied for some years.
BARBEIRO, f. m. a barber.
Navalha de barbeiro, a razor.
Loja de barbeiro, a barber's shop.
Barbeiro que sangra, he that letteth blood, a surgeon, a chirurgion.
BARBELLA, f. f. a curb of a bridle.
Barbilla do boy, the dewlap of an ox.
BARBICHO, f. m. an halter.
BARBILHO, f. m. a muzzle. See also EMPECILHO. (Metaph.)
Barbilho, the locks of silk out of which a kind of coarse silk is made.
BARBINHA, f. f. (diminut. from Barba) a little beard.
BARBIRUVA, f. f. a bird called a red-tail.
BARBIRUVO, a, adj. red-bearded.
BARBO, f. m. the fish called a barbel.
BARBOTE, f. m. the parrot the helmet that covers the chin.
BARBUDA, f. f. a sort of ancient coin.
Barbuda, f. f. BARBOUTHOS, Barbuda, or Barnuda, one of the leeward islands, among those called the Caribbees, in the Atlantic Ocean, North America. It belongs to Great Britain.
BARBUDO, a, adj. one that has a great beard.
BARBUZANO, f. m. a kind of tree, and also the wood of the same, which is very lasting and cannot be damaged either by the sun or by the rain. The Portuguese call it also Pao ferro. See FERRO.
BARCA, f. f. a bark, a great boat.
Per huma barca em equilibrio, de sorte, que não peze mais de huma banda que da outra, to trim a boat.

Barca de pescador, a fisher's boat.
Barca em que cavallos, boys, &c. passão o rio, a ferry-boat.
Barqueiro que governa esta barca, a ferry-man.
Barca para passar hum exercito, a pontoon, a sort of vessel used in passing an army over a river. Lat. ponto.
Barca para levar fazendas pelo rio, a barge, a lighter, or a large vessel for carrying of goods on a river.
Barqueiro que governa esta barca, a barge-man, a lighter-man.
Barca carreleira, a kind of lighter, or barge, to carry sugar-cases.
Tomar barca, ou barco para passar o rio, to take water.
Barca do norte. See URSA.
Barca de S. Pedro, (metaph.) the Catholic church.
Barca, Barca, a country of Africa, whose inhabitants the Barcae are mentioned by the ancients for their brutal ferocity, and by Virgil, lateque furentes.
BARCAÇA, f. f. augm. of BARCA, which see.
BARCADA, f. f. a boat full.
BARCAGEM, f. f. the fare paid to the water-man; also the freight of a boat.
BARCELONA, f. f. Barcelona, anciently Barcino, from its founder the famous Barcinus, Hannibal's father. The Romans call it Faventia. It is the capital of Catalonia in Spain, and the seat of a governor.
BARCO, f. m. a boat; in India they call barco, any vessel or ship.
BARDA'NA, f. f. the burdock, the herb colts, that beareth the bur.
Bardana grande, a great colt-bur.
Bardana pequena, the lesser colt-bur, ditch-bur, nose-bur.
BARDADO, a, adj. See
BARDAR, v. e. to make a sheep-fold; also to leap over a Bardo. See
BARDO, f. m. a fence, an hedge, or inclosure. See also REDIL.
BARE'JA, f. f. See VAREJA.
BARGA'DAS, f. f. p. the upper and inner part of the thigh.
BARGA'L. See BRAGAL.
BARGANTE, f. m. a vagabond, a vagrant fellow, an idle person, a rambler.
BARGANTIM, or BERGANTIM, f. m. a brigantine.
BARGU'LHA. See BRAGUILHA.
BARIOM, a voice between a tenor and a base.
BARJULETA, f. f. a purse.
BARLAVENTIADO, a, adj. See
BARLAVENTIA'R, v. n. to ply to the windward; also to ply up and down, or to cruise about.
BARLAVE'NTO, f. m. the windward.
BARMUDAS. See BERMUDAS.
BARNABITAS, f. m. p. Barnabites, a sect of regular priests.
BAROCO, a technical word, expressing a syllogistic mood in logic.
BAROIL. See VARONIL.
BAROMETRO, f. m. the instrument called a barometer.
BARONTA, f. f. a barony.
BARQUEJA'DO, a, adj. See
BARQUEJA'R, v. n. to govern a boat, to go on the water in a boat.
BARQUEIRO, f. m. a water-man. See also BARCA.

BARQUETA, f. f. or BARQUINHO, f. m. a small bark, a small boat.
Barqueta, que tem so hum remador, a sculler, a cock-boat.
BARRA, f. f. a bar at the entrance of a harbour or river.
Barra (in heraldry) bend sinister.
Meia barra, a clofet, half a bar (in heraldry).
Barra, de prata, ouro, &c. a bar of silver, gold, &c.
Tirar a barra, to pitch the bar, a kind of exercise.
Barra da saya, a sort of tape for a woman's gown.
Barras do cabrestante, the capstern-bars, being small pieces of timber to put into the barrel of the capstern through square holes, by which men turn the capstern to heave the anchor.
Lançar a barra mais longe do que o outro, to pitch the bar beyond another, to outdo him; both in the proper and figurative sense.
De barra á barra, from end to end.
Barras que sustentão o leito, a bedstead.
Barras que sustentão tres ou quatro taboas, sobre que se poem a cama, two small benches upon which some people put three or four boards instead of packing stuff, and bedstead.
BARRACA, f. f. a barrack, or hut, such as soldiers make to lie in, or fishermen on the sea-side.
BARRACHE'L, f. m. an officer to carry the guilty soldiers and deserters before the provost-marshal in the army. Arabic.
BARRADO, a, adj. (in heraldry) barry. See also BARRAR.
BARRAGANA. See BARREGANA.
BARRANCO, f. m. a slough in a road, a deep place, where the ground is broken up; a place where cattle are stuck; also a rub, obstacle, hinderance. (Metaph.)
BARRAM porco. See PORCO.
BARRAR, v. a. to lute, or cover with clay.
Barrar com barras a saya, to put a tape or hem in a woman's gown.
BARREDOURA, ex. Rede barredoura, a drag-net.
Vela barredoura, a low steering sail.
BARREGA'A f. f. a great, lusty, and strong woman. See also CONCUBINA.
BARREGA'M, f. m. a great lusty fellow.
BARREGA'NA, f. f. a hair-cloth.
BARREGA'R, v. n. (a jocose word) to hawl, to cry forwardly, as a child.
BARREGU'CE, f. f. See CONCUBINA-DO.
BARREIRA, f. f. a barrier. See also CHARRIRA.
Saltar as barreiras, (metaph.) to go too far, to go beyond the limits.
BARREIRO, f. m. or BARREIRA, f. f. a clay pit. From barro, clay.
BARRE'LA, f. f. ley, made of ashes.
Cinza de barrela, ley-ashes.
Panno grosseiro, no qual se poem a cinza, quando se faz barrela, bucking-cloth, mash-cloth.
BARRE'LA, (metaph.) a deceit.
BARRELEIRO, f. m. ley-ashes, when they are taken out and dried up.
BARRENTO, a, adj. full of clay.
BARRE'R. See VARRE'R.
BARRETA'DA, cap, capping, cringing.
BARRETE, f. m. a cap, bonnet.
Barrete de noite, a night-cap, a skull-cap.

BARRETEIRO, f. m. a capper, or cap-maker.
BARRETINHO, f. m. a little cap.
BARRICA, f. f. a large cask.
BARRIGA, f. f. the belly, the paunch.
Metete tudo na barriga, all goes down gutter-lane.
Fazer barriga (speaking of a wall) to belly out, to swell out.
Barriga da perna, the calf of the leg.
Barriga de hum vazo, the belly of a pot.
Barriga grande, a great or big paunch.
Barriga, a litter. See also BARRIGU-DO.
Doe-me a barriga, my belly aches.
Dor de barriga, belly-ache.
Barriga, he who has a great or big paunch.
Estar com a barriga para o ar, to look on the sky, to be idle.
Encher a barriga, to cram, or fill one's guts, to glut one's self.
P. palavras não enchem barriga, a hungry belly has no ears.
P. barriga farta, pé dormente, when the belly is full the bones would be at rest.
BARRIGA'DA, f. f. a belly-full.
BARRIGU'DO, a, adj. big-bellied, gore-bellied, barrel-bellied.
BARRIGU'NHA, f. f. a little-belly, diminut. from barriga; also a kind of fish.
BARRIL, f. m. any sort of cask or barrel; as also an earthen vessel with a great belly and narrow neck, in which harvest-men carry drink into the fields.
O que faz barris, a cooper.
BARRILETE, or BARRILLINHO, a little cask or barrel.
Barrilete, (among joiners) a joiner's holdfast.
BARRILHA. See ALCALI.
BARRO, f. m. clay, potter's earth.
BARRO'CA, f. f. a gutter made by a water-flood.
BARRO'CO, f. m. a rough or Scotch pearl.
Barroco igualmente comprido, a long and round pearl, in the manner of a cylinder.
Barroco chato de huma banda, e redondo da outra, a pearl in form of a triangle.
BARROTA'DO. See
BARROTA'R, or Assentar os barrotes, (in carpentry) to settle the beams.
BARRO'TE, f. m. a rafter, a beam.
Barrote pequeno, a little rafter, a beam.
O vao que ha entre dois barrotes, the space between the two rafters or beams in building.
BARRUNTA'DO, a, adj. See
BARRUNTA'R, v. a. to guess at a thing by some sign, token, or symptom; to imagine, to presume upon some ground; from the Spanish barrera, a boggy place, where the huntsman seeing the print of a boar's body, judges by it how big he is, and by the track, which way he is gone.
BARRUNTO, f. m. (A jocose word.) See PRESUMPCAM.
BARTIDOURO, f. m. a boat's skit.
BASAS. } See { VASAS.
BASAR. } { BAZA'R.
BASARUCO. } { BAZARUCO.
BASBA'QUE, f. m. (in the Brazils) a sort of balters, or men who stand on a high pole fixed in the sea, and give a sign to other men.

- even which way the passage or shoal of fishes is; also a stupid fellow. See TULO.
- BASCOLEJADO. See VASCOLEJADO.
- BASCOLEJAR. See VASCOLEJAR.
- BASCONÇO, or BASCONÇO. See BASCONÇO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Biscay.
- BASTA, f. f. the base or pedestal, on which a pillar, or statue, or any other thing stands; also the foundation or basis of anything, the principal ingredient.
- BASTA, f. f. the base of any figure. (In mathematics.)
- BASTIDA, f. f. a baillie, a magnificent chamber.
- BASTILHA, (in anatomy) the inner vein of the arm, or liver-vein, in the basilic vein, or basinet.
- BASTILHAS legs, Basilic constitution in abatement and reform of the emperor Julianus's.
- BASTILSCO, f. m. a basilisk, a cockatrice, a fabulous half-beast, said by Pliny, &c. to kill by looking; also a basilisk (in gunnery.)
- BASOIA. See BAZOFIA.
- BASSOURA. See VASSOURA.
- BASTADO, adj. See BASTAR.
- BASTAÇA. See ABUNDANCIA.
- BASTANTE, adj. sufficient.
- BASTANTEMENTE, adv. sufficiently.
- BASTA'M, f. m. a cane.
- Bastão de general, a general's staff.
- Bastam, an acorn, the fruit of the oak.
- arrimar o bastam, to leave off or over a dignity, or employment.
- BASTAR, v. r. to suffice, to be sufficient, to be enough; also to last.
- Bastard quero vello mais, in short I'll see him no more.
- Basta pra trazer a vossa conta e fereis satisfacção, do but bring your bill and you'll be paid.
- BASTARDA, f. f. cu Bastards, f. m. a bastard, one begotten out of wedlock.
- BASTARDIA, f. f. bastardy.
- BASTARDIA'DO. See DEGENERADO.
- BASTARDIA'R. See DEGENERAR.
- BASTARDO, f. m. a bastard, got in an unlawful bed, illegitimate, natural; also any thing that is degenerating; also a kind of corn.
- Bastards, a, adj. bastard.
- Basta bastarda, a demi-cannon, or demi-culverin.
- Gale b bastarda, a kind of small galley.
- arcos bastardos, the hoops of a large vessel that hold three pipes of wine.
- Trombata bastarda, or bastarda, a sort of trumpet.
- Sella bastarda, a saddle with a pommel behind and another before.
- Letra bastarda, a sort of hand-writing, which is neither running nor round-hand.
- Uva bastarda, a black grape so called.
- BASTECER, v. a. to provide, or supply with any thing.
- BASTECIDO, a, adj. provided, &c. See BASTECIR.
- BASTIA, f. f. the capital of the island of Corsica.
- BASTIÃO, f. m. bastion (in fortification.) It is generally at the angle of a place, and consists of two faces, two flanks, and a gorge; also a heap of earth in the field, to screen the besiegers.
- BASTIDA, f. f. a quantity of wood or timber tied together; also a wooden tower raised against a town besieged, made use of by the ancients.
- BASTIDOR, f. m. a framing frame for a picture or the like, or such a frame as embroiderers or starchers use.
- Bastidor de teatro, the wing of a flat scene.
- BASTILHA, f. f. a noted castle in Paris, especially for state prisoners and other delinquents; the Bastille.
- BASTIÕES, or BASTIAENS, a sort of ancient caver's work.
- Basta de b. fitens, a kind of lace with figures.
- BASTIAMENTO, f. m. all sorts of warlike provisions.
- BASTIMENTOS, f. m. p. some small islands at the mouth of the bay Nombre de Dios, and above half a mile from the coast of Darien, in South America.
- BASTO, a, adj. thick, close, set close.
- Fazer basto, to thicken, to make thick, to set, or close together.
- Entendimento basto, (metaph.) a vast knowledge.
- Básto, (in some games at cards) baste, the ace of clubs.
- BASTOS, (in cant) the fingers.
- BASTULAQUE. See BASTULAQUE.
- BATA'LLA, f. f. a battle, or battal, a fight.
- Campos de batalha, the field of battle.
- Projetar batalha, to offer battle.
- Lar batalha, to engage, to join battle.
- Atacar a batalha, to begin to fight.
- Ordem de batalha, battle-array, the order of battle, the form of drawing up an army for fight.
- Batalha naval, a sea-fight.
- Singular batalha. See DUELLO, DESAFIO.
- Batalha campal, a set, or pitched battle.
- Corpo da batalha, main battle, the main body of an army.
- Batalha, it was formerly the whole, consisting of the van, rear, and main battle.
- Batalha, any strife, debate, quarrel, or dispute. (Metaph.)
- BATALHADO. See BATALHAR.
- BATALHADOR, f. m. a great combatant, he who has fought many battles.
- BATALHANTE, (in heraldry) is said of beasts represented in a fighting posture.
- BATALHÃO, f. m. a battalion, a body of foot-soldiers, consisting of five, six, seven, or eight hundred men.
- BATALHAR, v. n. to fight, to contend, to dispute.
- BATARDA. See ABETARDA.
- BATERIA, or BATERIA, f. f. (in fortification) a battery, the place where cannons are planted; also the cannons themselves planted.
- Plantar huma bateria, to raise or set up a battery.
- BATERIA, (metaph.) an argument, a particular way of disputing; also a snare, a trap, or crafty wile.
- BATA'TA, f. f. potatoes, a sort of eatable root.
- BATA'VIA, f. f. Batavia, the capital of all the Dutch settlements in the East-Indies, and center of their commerce in Asia; also the name of a river in the Terra Australis, first discovered by the Dutch.
- BATAVO, f. m. an Hollander, or Dutchman.
- BATECALOU, a small East-Indian island, on the N. E. side of that of Ceylon. It was the first place taken from the Portuguese by the Dutch.
- BATECU, f. m. the stroke a man gives on the ground when he falls on the breech.
- BATEDOR, f. m. one that beats or hammers, &c. according to the v. Bater.
- Batedor de moeda, a coiner.
- Batedor, a boat's skin; also a knocker or hammer affixed to the door in order to strike for admission.
- Batedor de campo, a scout, one that is sent to bring tidings of the enemy's army.
- Batedor de espigas no campo, a thrasher.
- BATELO, f. m. or BATELADEIRO, f. m. a gold-beater.
- Fazer minto de que se ferze o batido para fazer juba de ouro, gold-beating skin.
- BATELA, f. f. (among the country people) ex. Batega d'agua, a sudden shower.
- BATEIRA, f. f. a ship's boat.
- BATEL, f. m. a little boat, a wherry, any sort of small boat to go over a river.
- BATELADA, f. f. the load of a little boat.
- Batelada de gente, fare, boat full of people.
- BATELLEIRO, f. m. a waterman.
- BATEINTE, f. m. the jambs, the side-post of a door against which it beats.
- BATER, v. a. to beat, to hammer; also to throw or sling.
- Bater a porta, to knock at the door.
- Bater com o pé, to stamp with one's foot.
- Bater moeda, to coin or to mint money.
- Bater o campo, to scout, or to scout about.
- P. bater o ferro quando está quente, to strike the iron whilst it is hot.
- Bater com os mãos, dando applausos, to clap, to applaud.
- O rio bate as muralhas da cidade, the river beats against (it runs close by) the walls of the town.
- Bater ovos, to beat eggs.
- Bater muralhas, to batter walls.
- Bater o mato, (a term in hunting) to beat bushes, &c. in order to spring or start the game.
- Bater espigas de trigo, to thrash, or thresh corn.
- Bater papel, ouro, ou livros, to beat paper; gold, books.
- Bater-lhe os dentes com frio, his teeth chatter with cold.
- Bater as azas. See AZA.
- Bater, or fazer manteiga, to churn milk.
- Bater, v. n. to beat.
- Bate-lhe o pulso, his pulse beats.
- O coração me bate, my heart beats; pants, or goes pit-a-pat.
- Bater-se, v. r. to fight.
- BATERIA. See BATERIA.
- BATH, or BATHIE, Bath, a city of Somersetshire, by the river Avon. This place was famous in the time of the Romans for its medicinal waters: it is called by Antoninus Aquæ Solis; by the Britons Caer Baden, i. e. the city of Baths; and by the Saxons Akmanchester, or the city of Valeudunarians.
- BATIBARBA, f. f. a gentle blow under the chin.
- Dar huma batibarba, to chuck, to give a gentle blow under the chin.
- BATUCA, f. f. (In India.) See BACIA.
- BATICALA, f. f. the most southern kingdom of Canara, belonging to India, on this

B A X

this side the Ganges. The Portuguese, by blocking up its harbours, and making incursions into the country, reduced it thrice, compelling it to pay them tribute.

Bati-alà, the capital of the last-mentioned kingdom, of the same name, is situated on a small river, about four miles from the sea, and thirty leagues S. of Goa. About the year 1670, an English bulldog happening to kill a cow devoted to a pagod, at a hunting match; the priests of the country raised a mob, by which the whole factory, consisting of eighteen persons, was murdered.

BATIDO, a, adj. beaten. See BATE'R.

BATIDU'RA, f. f. a beating, or hammering.

BATIFO'LHA. See BATEFOLHA.

BATOCA DO, a, adj. See

BATOCA'R, v. a. ex. Batocar pipas, to stop or bung pipes.

BATO'QUE, f. m. the hole in a pipe, &c. wherein the stopple or bung is put; also the stopple, or bung itself.

BATRACOMYOMACHIA, f. f. batrachomyomachy, the battle between the frogs and mice.

BATTOLOGIA, f. f. a vain, foolish repetition of the same words over and over again in the same discourse; a battalogy, or vain babbling.

BATUCA'R, v. n. (a vulgar word) to beat often.

BAVARE'Z, f. m. bavarois, a kind of modern furout.

BAV'ARO, a, adj. Bavarian.

BAVIE'RA, f. f. a country of Upper Germany, Bavaria.

BAU'L. See BAHU'.

BAUTISMO. See BAPTISMO.

BAUTISTERIO. See BAPTISTERIO.

BAUTIZADO. See BAPTIZADO.

BAUTIZA'R. See BAPTIZAR.

BA'XA, f. f. decrease, or diminution, abatement, lessening, fall; also lowering in price and value.

Ha baxa no preço do trigo, the corn falls in its price, or the corn falls.

Baxa, (a sea term) quick-sands, shelves, or fords under water.

Dar baxa, to resign, surrender, abdicate, or give up one's place.

Dar baxa. (In military affairs.) See RE-FORMAR.

Dar baxa à hum soldado, to cashier a soldier.

Baxà, f. m. bassa, or bashaw, a Turkish officer.

BAXADO, a, adj. See BAXAR.

BAXAME'RA, f. f. low-water.

BAXAME'NTE. See ILMENTE.

BAXAM, f. m. a bassoon, a musical instrument.

BAXA'R, v. n. to come down; also to issue out.

Fazer baxar, to bring down.

Baxar a mórè, to ebb.

BAXE'LA, f. f. all the plate or furniture for the table.

BAXE'ZA, or BAIXEZA, f. f. lowness, meanness, vileness, baseness; a mean base action.

BAXTO, f. m. a shoal, or sand in the sea.

BAXISSIMO, a, adj. superl. lowest. See BA'XO, or BAIXO, a, adj. low.

Casa baxa, low-house.

Maré baxa, low-water.

Água baxa, shallow water.

B E A

Animo baxo, a base soul, a mean soul.

Paizes baxos, the Low-countries.

Gente baxa, the common-people, the vulgar, the mob.

O sol ja esta baxo, the sun is going to set.

Nascimento baxo, a mean extraction.

Per baxo à algúem, to abuse, to affront one, to tell him his own.

Palavras, ou discursos baxos, a flat mean discourse.

Estilo baxo, a low, or mean style.

Baxo, (speaking of wells, cisterns, &c.) deep.

Lugares baxos e apaulados, marshy, fenny, moorish places.

Baxo, cheap. See also ABATIDO.

O trigo he muito baxo, the corn is very cheap.

Andar baxo, to be near to the earth. (Speaking of the sun, moon, &c.)

Os baxos de huma casa, the lower rooms in a house, the ground-floor.

O mais baxo, the undermost.

Baxo, adv. ex. Ficar por baxo, to be worsted, to be a loser, to be overcome.

Falar baxo, to speak softly.

Elle esta em baxo, he is below.

Olhar para baxo, to look downwards.

Água que corre por baxo, the water that flows underneath.

Untar por baxo, to anoint underneath.

Dar com alguma coisa em baxo. See DER-RUBAR.

Passaro que voa muito baxo, a bird that flies very low.

Remedio que obra por baxo, a medicine that operates or works downwards.

Baxo, f. m. a ford, shelf, a shallow place, a flat.

Costa cheia de baxos, e nomeada por causa dos naufragios, a shelly coast, long famous for ships and sailors lost.

BEATA. See BAHIA.

BEATONETA, f. f. a bayonet. So called, because the first bayonets were made in the city of Bayonne.

BE'IRAM, or BEIRAM, a solemn feast among the Turks.

BE'UTCA, f. f. a tavern, or ale-house, a tippling-house.

BE'UTQUEIRO. See TAVERNEIRO.

BEAZAR, f. m. exchange, a place where merchants meet in India, and particularly in Persia; also the market, or market-place, in India.

Pedra bazar, bezoar, a stone found in the dung of an animal called parau, a kind of goat. From the Persian word pa, against, and zahar, poison.

BEZIRUCCO, f. m. a kind of money of small value in India, near a farthing.

BAZILAR, (in anatomy) basilar os, the same with sphenoides, so called, because it forms in some measure the base of the skull.

BAZULA'QUE, f. m. a kind of dish, made of mutton's pluck, with onions, bread, &c.

BDE'LLIO, f. m. bdellium, or a black-tree in Arabia, of the bigness of an olive-tree; also the gum of the same tree, transparent like wax.

BE'ATA, f. f. a sort of religious woman that lives not in a monastery, or in community, but by herself; also a bigot or hypocrite (ironically.)

BEATARIA, f. f. bigotry, hypocrisy, bigotry.

BEATICE. See BEATARIA.

B E B

BEATIFICAÇAM, f. f. beatification, the act by which the pope declares a person to be blessed after his death.

BEATIFICADO, a, adj. See

BEATIFICAR, v. a. to beatify, to make blessed, to enrol among the blessed; also to make happy.

BEATIFICO, a, adj. beatifical, or beatific.

BE'ATO, a, adj. blessed.

Beato, f. m. a religious man, that lives as the beata. See BEATA.

Beato falso, a bigot, or hypocrite.

BEATILHA, f. f. a sort of linen wove in Spain, very thin, to make white veils for women, and something like a fine canvas.

BEBEDICE, f. f. drunkenness, a drunken condition.

BE'BEDO, f. m. a drunken man, a drunken sot, a drunkard, a fuddle-cap, a guzzle, a swill-bowl.

Bebedo que não pode ter a cabeça direita, top-heavy.

Bébedo, or acostumado a se embetadar, given to drink.

BEBEDO'R, f. m. a drinker, toper, fuddler, tippler, swill-bowl, or guzzler.

P. debaxo de ruim capa jaz hum bom bebedor, under a bad cloak may be a great drinker; that is, under a mean habit may be a rich man; teaching us to despise no man upon the account of dress, since there is no faith to be given to the outside.

BEBEDO'URO, f. m. a cup, &c. for birds to drink in.

BEBE'R, v. a. to drink; also to receive by education, to drink up, to imbibe.

Béber até mais não poder, to drink as long as man can hold.

Companheiro no beber, a copesmate.

Beber até cabir, to drink till one can't stand.

Béber o fixo, to turn one's brain.

Beber de bruços, to drink lying all along on the ground.

Beber água, to drink water.

Beber hum ovo, to sip up an egg.

Beber à costa, to confine upon, or to touch the sea-coast.

Dar a beber, or a crer o que não he, to make one believe a thing that is not true.

Beber, or crer huma coisa, to swallow a thing, to take a thing for granted.

Beber ou verter, to be obliged to do a thing.

Dezejar beber o sangue à algúem, to desire to drink another man's blood; the utmost malice.

Beber à saúde de algúem, to drink one's health.

Beber o vento, it is said of a horse when he draws a deal of breath at once.

Beber huma opiniao, (metaph.) to swallow an opinion.

Beber alguma coisa, (metaph.) to make no scruple or conscience of a thing.

P. se não bebo na taverna, folgome nella, we say, he does not smoke, but smocks.

BE'BERA, f. f. a black long fig so called.

BEBERA'GEM. See BEBIDA.

BEBERE'IRA, f. f. the fig-tree that bears béberas. See BE'BERA.

BEBERE'TE, f. m. a small draught, or drink.

BEBERRAM. } See BORRACHAM.

BEBERRAZ. }

BEBERRICA, f. f. a little drunkard.

BEBERRICADO. See

BEBERRICA'R, v. n. (a vulgar word) to

- be always drinking, or sipping, to bib, to tipple.
- BEBERRO'NIA, f. f. a drinking greedily, a riotous way of living; also a multitude of bibbers, or drinkers.
- BEB'IDA, f. f. a drink; also a potion; also a drench prepared for a sick horse.
- BEB'IDO, f. m. the liquor that has been drank or sipped. See also the v. BEBER.
- BE'CA, f. f. a welt of cloth hanging about the neck and almost down to the feet, after the manner of the doctors of divinity's scarfs in England, now worn by all students in colleges, who are distinguished and known by the several shapes and colours of them.
- Bêca, the dignity of entering on a fellowship, or any college preferment; it signifies also the students, or other people that wear such a welt.
- Bêca de desembargador. See GARNACHA.
- BE'CCHICOS, (in physic) ex. Medicamentos bechicos, medicines good for alluvaging and curing a cough.
- BE'CO, f. m. an alley, a lane; also one who frequents the places where whores live.
- Beco com sabida*, a thorough-fare.
- Beco sem sabida*, a lane that has no way out.
- BE'DA, f. m. (in Goa) one who never went to war.
- BE'DA'ME, f. m. a kind of chissel among carpenters.
- BEDE'L, f. m. an officer belonging to an university; a beadle, from the English to bid.
- BEDE'LIHO, f. m. (in cant) a small trump at cards; also a meddler, or busy-body.
- BED'UM, f. m. (a Moorish word) a Moorish cloak for the rainy weather, and also to wear upon armour.
- BEETRIA, or BEHETRIA, f. f. an inheritance belonging to itself, free from him that lives in it, and can receive for its lord whom it pleases. These are the words of the law, literally translated: "there were two sorts of them, the one called Bebetrias de mar à mar, or from sea to sea; to express that they might chuse for their lord whom they pleased, from the Ocean to the Mediterranean." The other sort was called Bebetrias de entre parentes; that is, "among kindred, which were obliged to chuse their lords of certain families, whose right it was." But because these free places were generally full of noise and confusion for want of a sovereign power, therefore bebetria is used in Spanish to signify any tumultuous assembly, or confused disorderly noise; or as we say, Dover-court, all talkers and no hearers.
- BEHETRIA. See BEETRIA.
- BEICYNHO, f. m. a little lip, diminut. from beijo, a lip.
- BEIÇO, f. m. a lip.
- Deixar cabir o beijo em final de desprezo*, to make a lip.
- Beijo grosso*, a great lip, a blubber-lip.
- Penada ou compêçam para os beijos*, lip-salve.
- Beijos de huma ferida*, the lips of a wound.
- Beijo rechado*, a hare-lip.
- Por á alguém o mel pelos beijos*, (metaph.) to keep at a bay, to amuse one with fair promises.
- BEIÇUDO, a, adj. blubber-lipped, a pouch-mouth.
- BEIJA'DO, a, adj. See
- BEIJA'R, v. a. to kiss, to buss.
- Muitos beijam a mão que dezejaõ ver cortada*, many do kiss the hand they wish to see cut off.
- Beijar as mãos á alguém*, to kiss a man's hand, to remember one's respect to him.
- Beijar a miúdo*, to be always a-kissing.
- Beijo-lhe as mãos*, (ironically) Oh! your servant; faith, I sha'n't; excuse me for that.
- Beijar-se*, v. r. to kiss each other, to mingle, or exchange kisses.
- BEIJTNHO, f. m. a hearty kiss, a wanton kiss.
- BEIJO, f. m. a kiss, a buss.
- Beijo que se dá com estremo grande dos beijos*, a smack, a loud kiss.
- Beijo de Judas*, a treacherous kiss, a Judas kiss.
- O que gosta de beijos*, a kissing man.
- A que gsta de beijos*, a kissing woman, one that loves to kiss and be kissed.
- BEIJOM. See BEIJUM.
- BEIJU', f. m. a kind of paste, made of the flower of the root of mandioca. See MANDIOCA.
- BEIJUM, or BEIJOM, f. m. benjamin, or benzoin; a drug much used in perfumes and sweet bags.
- Beijuim de boninas*, a sort of odoriferous benzoin.
- BEILHO, a dough made of eggs, butter, &c.
- BE'IRA, f. f. the brink or bank of any water.
- Beiras do telhado*, eaves, house-eaves.
- P. andar, andar, vir morrer a beira*, to eat an whole ox and faint at the tail. This proverb is spoke when any body falls short of a thing, after having used all endeavours.
- Beira, a province in Portugal, and the largest in that kingdom. It is almost square, extending about ninety miles every way, except in some points that run into the Portuguese Estremadura, and Alentejo. It is bounded on the N. by Entre Douro e Minho, and Traz dos Montes; from the former of which provinces the Douro divides it; on the E. by Spain; on the S. by Estremadura and Alentejo; and by the Mediterranean on the W. As for the character of its inhabitants, see Emanuel de Faria.
- BEIRA'M. See BA'YRAM.
- BEIRAMA'R, f. f. the sea-coast.
- Morar á beiramar*, to live on the sea-coast.
- BEIRA'ME, f. m. cotton-cloth.
- BEJU'. See BEIJU'.
- BELDA'DE. See BELLEZA.
- BELDROE'GA, f. f. the herb pousflane.
- BELETA. See GRIMPA.
- BE'LFAS, f. f. p. (a jocular word) the beard.
- BE'LFO, a, adj. one who has a hanging under-lip, as the house of Austria has been remarkable for.
- BELGRADO, f. m. Belgrade, the capital of Belgrade, one of the four sangicats of Servia, belonging to the Turkish Illyrium, in Europe. The imperialists recovered it from the Turks, 1717, under prince Eugene, and kept possession of it till 1739.
- BE'LHO, f. m. the shooter of a lock.
- BELIAL, wicked. Hebrew. Hence velhaco, a knave.
- BELICHE, f. m. any small cabin in a ship, besides the great cabin belonging to the captain. It is also the name that the natives of the island of St. Laurence give to the devil.
- BEL'IDA, f. f. a white spot in the eye, a pearl, or web that grows over the sight.
- BELIS, f. m. it is only used in this expression: Hé hum belis, he is a circum-spect man, quick-sighted, quick of judgment and understanding; also a rascal, a rogue.
- BELISCA'DO. See BELISCAR.
- BELISCA'M, or BELISCO, f. m. a pinch, or nip with the fingers; also a small bit of bread, &c.
- BELISCA'R, v. a. to pinch, or to nip with the fingers. See also TOCAR.
- A acção de beliscar*, pinching.
- A pessoa que belisca*, a pincher.
- BELISCO. See BELISCAM.
- BELIACSSIMO, a, adj. very warlike.
- BELLADO'NA, f. f. belladonna, or deadly night-shade.
- BELLAMENTE, adj. fairly, beautifully, finely, very well; also very easily.
- BELLATRICE, adj. warlike.
- BELLEGUIM, f. m. a bailiff's follower.
- BELLEZA, f. f. beauty; also a beautiful person, or thing.
- BELLICHE. See BELICHE.
- BELLICO, a, adj. of war, or belonging to war.
- BELLICO'SO, a, adj. valiant at arms, warlike, martial.
- BELL'IDA, f. f. See BELIDA.
- BELL'IGERO, a, adj. warlike, martial, belonging to war.
- BELLIGUM. See BELLEGUIM.
- BELLU'NO, a, adj. of, or belonging to a beast, beastly, monstrous.
- BELLO, a, adj. fair, beautiful.
- Bello engenho*, a fine genius.
- BELLO'NA, f. f. Bellona, the goddess of war.
- BELLO'TA. See BOLO'TA.
- BELVEDERE, f. m. belvedere, the herb broom-toad-flax. Lat. ofiris.
- BELVERDE, f. m. See BELVEDERE.
- BELZEBU'B, f. m. Beelzebub, the prince of devils.
- BEM, adv. well, right, just, exactly; also much, very.
- Muito bem*, very well.
- Bem que*, although.
- Por bem*, willingly; also for the best; also fairly, by fair means.
- Dizeis bem*, you speak right.
- Assim está bem*, now it is well.
- Temos sempre bem que jantar*, we have always a good dinner.
- Estaria bem aviado se não tivesse outra coisa de que viver*, it would go very ill with me if I had nothing else to live upon.
- Eu bem mo imaginei*, I thought so indeed.
- Tonar em bem*, to take in good part, to take well.
- Estar bem de casas*, to be well lodged.
- Elle foy bem examinado*, he was strictly examined.
- Bem, an expletive that gives more emphasis to expression.
- Fallei a bem de pessoas*, I spoke to a great many people.
- A bem de dizer*, as it were.
- A bem delle*, in his behalf.
- Era bem meya noite*, it was full midnight.
- Bem longe*, a great way off; also far from.

Bem perto, well-nigh, well-near.

Bem cedo, very soon, shortly, ere it be long.

Pois bem, que tendes que responder? well, what have you to answer to this?

Ainda bem, que, &c. it is well, that, &c.

Ainda bem, or bem te está, you deserve it.

Ainda bem que assim seja, I wish it may be so.

Estar bem com alguém, to be friend to one, to be upon good terms with him.

Por-se bem com alguém, to reconcile one's self, to make one's peace, to be friends again.

Quando bem, although, supposing, or in the case.

Por bem á huma pessoa com outra, to reconcile, to make friends.

Fallar bem, to speak a good language; also to speak civilly.

Bem se me dá, I don't care.

Bem se lhe dá, he does not care.

Ter por bem, to be pleased to take a thing well of one.

Terei isso por bem, it will be acceptable to me.

Se alguma coisa não andasse bem, if any thing should happen but well.

Bem vindo, welcome.

Bem visto, well-beloved.

Pois está bem, well and good.

Bem nascido, well-born, well-descended.

Bem bonito, or bem feito, well-favoured, well-featured.

Bem intencionado, well-affected, well-minded.

Bem criado, well brought up, well-mannered.

E bem podia isso succeder, and well it might.

Tudo vai bem, all is well.

As cousas correrão tão bem que não podia ser milhor, it happened as well as could be.

Tratar bem a alguém, to treat or use one well.

Tratar-se bem, to eat well, to fare well; also to dress one's self genteelly, or nobly.

Bem, f. m. good, benefit, advantage, interest; also happiness, satisfaction, felicity, blessing; also virtue, goodness.

Bem, estate, means, riches, substance.

Dizer bem de alguém, to speak well of one.

Não fazer bem nem mal, we say, to be like a chip in porridge.

Homem de grandes bens, a man of great estate.

Bens adquiridos fardamente, muck and pelf.

Homem de bem, a well-meaning, or honest man.

Bem publico. See PUBLICO.

P. o que se não leva por bem não se leva por mal, soft fire makes sweet meat.

Querer bem, to love, to have kindness for.

Os bens, or frutos da terra, the products of the earth.

Desejar bem á alguém, to wish one well.

O que deseja bem á alguém, a well-wisher.

Meu bem, (a compliment to a sweet-heart) my sweet-heart, my minion.

Para bem vos seja, I wish you joy.

P. chega-se o bem para o bem, e o mal para quem o tem, we say, every one hates the fat hog, while the lean one buneth. The

Lat. say, pauper eris semper, si pauper es; Quintiliane, dantur spes nullis, nunc; nisi divitiis.

BEMFORTUNADO, a, adj. lucky, fortunate.

BEMAVENTURADO, a, adj. blessed, happy, fortunate, lucky.

BEMAVENTURANÇA, good-luck, good-fortune, happiness, bliss, blessedness, beatitude.

BEMFEITOR, f. m. a benefactor, a well-doer.

BEMFEITORA, f. f. a benefactress, a benefactrix.

BEMFEITORIA, f. f. an improvement, or bettering. (Speaking of lands, buildings, &c.)

BEMGOARDIA, f. f. it is an ancient word for vinguarda. See VANGUARDIA.

BEMALQUERES, f. m. marigold, a flower.

BEMOL, f. m. a B flat. (in music.)

BEMOLADO, a, adj. (in music) that has the B flat.

BEMQUE, conj. though, or tho', although.

BEMQUERENÇA, f. f. See BENEVOLENCIA.

BEMQUERPA, f. f. See AMORES.

BEMQUISTO, a, adj. well-beloved. See also

BEMQUISTAR, v. a. to conciliate, reconcile, or accord, to make, to agree. (Metaph.) to make palatable, or pleasant to the taste.

Bemquistar-se, v. r. to conciliate, win, procure, or gain favour, to get one's goodwill.

BEMTERE, a kind of bird in the Brasil, which the wild native people call pitangua gua.ú, or cuiriri.

BENÇAM, f. f. a blessing, benediction.

BENDADO. See VENDADO.

BENDITO, a, adj. blessed, praised.

BENECE. See BENESSE.

BENEFICADO. See

BENEFICAR, v. a. to do good to another.

BENEFICENCIA, f. f. beneficence, the act or disposition of doing good.

BENEFICIA DO, f. m. he who has a benefice.

Beneficiado, a, adj. See

BENEFICIA R, v. a. to do good to another; also to cultivate, to till, to improve, to better.

BENEFICIO, f. m. benefit, good-turn, good-office, kindness, courtesy, advantage, favour, help.

Beneficio eclesiastico, a benefice, living, a church dignity with a revenue.

Beneficio simples, a sinecure, a benefice that has no charge or cure of souls.

Beneficio do corpo, a loosefens, a moderate loosefens.

BENEFICO, a, adj. beneficial, liberal, kind, well-doing, apt to do good.

BENEMERENCIA, f. f. (a new word) desert, merit.

BENEMERITO, a, adj. well-deserving.

BENEPLACITO, f. m. leave, permission, consent.

BENESSE, or BENECE, f. m. altarage, or the profits that arise to the priest by serving at the altar. From the Lat. beneficium.

BENEFOLENCIA, f. f. benevolence, goodwill.

BENIVOLO, a, adj. benevolent, wishing-well, favourable, affectionate. See also BENIGNO.

BENGALA, f. f. Bengal, one of the five kingdoms belonging to the southern division of Indostan, or Mogul, in Asia, and the most easterly. It is also a cane or stick.

BENGUELA, f. f. Benguela, a province of Africa; it is also the capital of the same province. Here the Portuguese built a fort with pallisades, and a ditch round it.

BENIGNAMENTE, adv. kindly, lovingly.

BENIGNIDADE, f. f. goodness, kindness, bounty, benignity.

BENIGNO, a, adj. courteous, loving, kind, bountiful; also sweet, mild.

BENS, (the plural of bem) estate, riches, chattels; also praises, commendations.

Bens de raiz, real, or immoveable possessions, as lands or houses. See Raiz.

Bens moveis, moveables, personal goods, furniture.

BENTÁ-erva. See ERVA.

BENTINHO, f. m. a sort of scapulars, hanging down before and behind the neck, which are no bigger than a hand, or less. At Oxford they have this sort of scapulars, and call them a habit.

BENTO, a, adj. consecrated, holy. See also ABENÇOADO.

Agua benta, holy-water.

Bento, f. m. Benedict, a man's name.

A ordem de S. Bento, Benedictines, an order of monks founded by St. Benedict.

BENZEDIRO, or BENZEDOR, f. m. a kind of impostors, or superstitious people, that pretend to bless the cattle, children, &c.

BENZER, v. a. to consecrate, to appoint to an holy use. See also ABENÇOAR.

Benzér-se, v. r. to make the sign of the cross; also to be amazed or surprized.

Benzér-se de alguém, to beware of one.

BENZIDO, a, adj. See BENZER.

BEOCO. See BIOCO.

BUQUE, f. m. the beak, or beak-head of a ship.

BERBEQUIM, f. m. a thill, or drill, a boring tool.

BERBERIA. See BARBARIA.

BERBERIS, f. m. the white-thorn tree.

BERBERISCO. See BARBARISCO.

BERÇO, f. m. a cradle, Hebrew; also a sort of vault.

Desde o berço, from one's infancy, or tender age, from a child.

Berço, an ancient short piece of cannon.

Berço, (metaph.) the place where the sun and stars rise; also the spring of a river, fountain, &c.

BERBERE, f. m. (an Indian term) a sort of palsy.

BERGAMOTA, f. f. a bergamot-perr.

BERGANTIM. See BLAGANTIM.

BERILLO, f. m. beryl, a sort of precious stone.

BERINGELAS, mad apples. Lat. malis insana.

BERLENGAS, f. f. p. the Berlins, two small islands on the coast of Portugal by Periche.

BERLIN, the capital of the margravate of Brandenburg, in Germany, and the usual residence of the elector, now king of Prussia.

BERLINA, f. f. berlin, a sort of travelling chariot, such as is used at Berlin, in Prussia.

BERRA, f. f. (in fortification) a horn or a space of ground left at the foot of a rampart, on the side next the country, designed to receive the ruins of the rampart, to prevent its filling up the foss.

BERMULAS, f. f. p. a cluster of very small islands in the Atlantic ocean, and a pretty way from the continent of America. They

B E S

They are called Bermudas, or Sommer's Islands; the former is so called from a Spaniard of that name, who discovered them in 1532; and the latter from Sir George Sommers; who, in 1659, found them deserted, and ever since they have been possessed by the English.

BERNA, f. f. Bern, the capital of Bern, or Berne, the most fruitful, richest, and by much the largest of all the Swiss cantons.

BERNACA, BERNACHA, or BERNICHIA, f. f. a barnacle, a foland goose, a fowl in the Bais, an island on the coasts of Scotland, supposed by some to grow of trees, or by others to breed out of rotten planks of ships.

BERNARDINOS, f. m. p. Bernardines, a certain religious order of monks, founded by Robert, abbot of Moleme.

BERNE pauro, any fine red cloth.

BERRA, f. f. (among hunters) the rut, the lust or copulation of deer; some call it brama.

BERRADO. See

BERRAR, v. n. to bellow as kine do, to bellow as a cow.

Berr a ozella, to bleat.

Berrar o cealo, to rut, or to cry like a deer, for the desire of copulation.

Berrar a orça quando anda com o cis, to crouch.

BERRO, f. m. ex. Berro de boy, vacca, &c. the bawling, or bellowing of kine.

Berro de ovelha cabrito, &c. a bleat, a bawling of sheep, kid, lamb, &c.

BERTANGIL, LERTANGI, or BRE-TANGI, f. m. a sort of cotton-cloth, woven by the Caffres, a people who live in Africa, towards the Cape of Good Hope.

BERTOËJA, or BORTOËJA, f. f. a kind of breaking out like the itch.

BERZABU. See BELZEBUB.

BESANIE, f. m. (in herakry) besant, a term for round plates or gold without any stamp.

BESSELHO, f. m. (in cant) the arse.

BESPELHOTEIRA, f. f. a vile, base, or abject kind of woman.

BESPELHOTEIRO, f. m. a vile, base, or abject kind of man.

BESOARTICO, f. m. (among physicians) a cordial medicine, good against poison, and infectious diseases.

BESOURO, BISOURO, or BIZOURO, f. m. the great horn-beetle, or butter-fly, a fluttering insect.

BESUA, f. f. a wasp.

BESPEM, f. m. a bigger wasp.

BESTA, f. f. a beast, a brute, (metaph.) a brutish man, a dunce, an ill-bred fellow, a blockhead, a sot.

Besta, besta, a game at cards like loo.

Fazer a besta, to be loo'd.

Besta brava, a wild beast.

Besta domstica, a tame beast.

Besta jera, a wild, huge, exceeding great beast.

Besta de carga, a beast of burden.

Besta de sela, a beast for the saddle.

A grax besta, an elk, a strong swift beast, as swift like an hart, and as tall as a horse.

Ma besta, (metaph.) a cunning fellow.

Homem besta, an ignorant, a sot, a block-head, a beast.

P. homem grande besta de pao: this proverb intimates, that things are not to be valued by their bulk, but according to their

B E Z

-intrinsic worth and value; and so we say, a lark is better than a kite.

Besta, f. f. a cross-bow.

Besta de badoque, a stone-bow.

BESTEIRA, or erva de BESTEIRO, see BESTEIRO, f. m. a cross-bow-man; also the man that makes the cross-bows.

Erya de besteiros, an herb called wild black hellebore.

Besteiro, a sort of fluttering insect.

BESTERPA, f. f. soldiers armed with cross-bows.

BESTIAENS. See BASTIOENS.

BESTIAL, adj. beastly or belonging to beasts.

BESTIALIDADE, f. f. the sin committed with a beast.

BESTIALMENTE, adv. brutishly.

BESTIDADE, beatitiness, sanctitiness.

BESTILHA, f. f. a steam, a farrier's instrument to let a horse bleed.

BESTINHA, f. f. a little beast, diminut. from besta, a beast.

BESTUNTO, f. m. (a vulgar term.) See ENTENDIMENTO.

BESUNTADO, a, adj. See

BESUNTAR, v. a. (a vulgar term) to anoint all over.

BETA, f. f. See VETA.

BETAS do panno, the stripes of sundry colours in a cloth; also the little stripes of sundry colours in birds.

BETADO, a, adj. See

BETAR, v. a. to stripe with colours.

Betar, v. n. to be striped with colours. (Metaph.) To suit, to become, to agree.

BETARDA, f. f. a bustard. See ABETARDA.

BETEL, BETHEL, BETELHE, or BETERE, is a tender plant, that runs up a stick, and the leaf is the delight of the Asiatics; for men and women, from the prince to the peasant, have no greater pleasure than to chew it all day in company; and no visit begins or ends without this herb.

The betele makes the lips so fine, red, and beautiful, that if the European ladies could, they would purchase it for the weight in gold. Gemelli, vol. iii. lib. 1. cap. 8.

BETHLEMITAS, f. m. p. Bethlehemites, certain friars who wore the figure of a star on their breasts, in memory of the star that appeared to the wise men, and conducted them to Bethlehem.

BETHLEMITO, a, adj. of, or belonging to the Bethlehemites.

BETHPHANJA. See MANIFESTAÇAM.

BETILHO. See BARBILHO.

BETO'NICA, f. f. the herb betony.

BETUMADO, a, adj. See

BETUMAR, v. a. to besinear, or bewray with betume. See

BETUME, f. m. bitumen, a kind of fat clay, or slime, like pitch.

BETUMINO'SO, a, adj. full of bitumen, or unctuous clay, bituminous.

BEXIGA, f. f. a bladder. Lat. vesica.

Bexiga do fil, a gall-bladder.

Bexiga de ca, the herb dog's-stones.

BEXIGAS, f. f. p. the small-pox.

invas das bexigas, pock-holes.

EXIGO'SO, a, adj. that has pits or marks made by the small-pox.

BEY, f. m. bey, a governor of a maritime town or country in the Turkish empire.

BEZANTE. See BESANTE.

B I C

BEZE'RRÁ, f. f. an heifer, or a young cow.

BEZERRENHA, f. f. a very young cow.

BEZERRO, f. m. a bullock, or steer.

Exerro, ou vitulo marinho. See VITULO.

Pé de bezerro, or jaro, the herb cuckow-pintle, ramp, or wake-robin.

BIZOAR. See PEDRA BAZAR, under the word BAZAR.

BIZARTICO. See BESOARTICO.

BIAIEY, f. m. to the wild people of the Baills call roast-meat.

BIBREQUI. See BEREQUIM.

BIBLIA, f. f. the Bible, the Holy Scripture.

BIBLIOTHECA, f. f. a bibliotheca, a library, or place where books are kept; also the books kept in it.

BIBLIOTHECA'RIO, f. m. a library-keeper, a bibliothecary.

BICA, f. f. the end of a spout, whereat the water runs out.

Correr, em bica, to flow or stream out abundantly.

Bicas das culhas, (metaph.) the passage through which the tears drop.

BICA, a kind of coin in India.

BICA'L Roma, a kind of four pomegranate.

BICHA, f. f. a serpent, a snake. See also SANGUEXUGA.

Bicha de agoa, a water-serpent, or water-snake.

Bicha, a large flat boat. See PANTAM.

Erya bicha. See ARISTOLOCHIA.

Bicha, a sort of ear-ring, anciently used in Portugal.

BICHANO, f. m. (a jocular word) a cat; also a mean fellow.

BICHARPA, all sorts of worms and hurtful animals, as snakes, toads, &c.

BICHARO'CO, f. m. (a term seldom used) any loathsome, nasty animal.

BICHEIRO, f. m. a long pole to shove forth a vessel into the deep; also one that notes the least thing.

BICHINHO, f. m. a little worm, a grub; diminut. from BICHO, which see.

BICHO, f. m. a worm, a grub, a vermin. See also MOLA.

Bicho que se cria nas fezias, a small worm bred among beans, and eating them up.

Bicho que se cria na lingua do cao, a dog-worm.

Tirar o bicho da lingua do cao, to worm a dog.

Bicho que se cria na fruta, carne, e queijo, a maggot or mite.

Bicho, a small insect in Brasil, as big as a flea, bred in the dust, which creeps in between the nails and the flesh of the feet, &c. and if not taken out immediately, grows as big as a pea, and is then very troublesome to get out.

Bicho, or Traga que vive es vestidos, a moth or moth-worm.

Bicho que se enrolva nas folhas da vide, a vermin that cateth vines, a vine-fretter, the devil's gold-ring.

Bicho que se cria na borriça, a belly-worm.

Bicho de conta. See PORQUINHA de S. Antao.

Bicho da terra, an earth-worm.

Bicho luzente. See CAGA Luz.

Bicho da madeira, a wood-worm.

Bicho da seda, a silk-worm.

Sorte de bicho pequeno quasi imperceptivel. See OUÇAM.

Bicho,

Bicho, que roe na conciencia, (metaph.) the remorse, stings, or checks of conscience.
Buraco feito pello bicho, a worm-hole.
Fullano hé grande bicho, such a one is a great worm; that is, he is a cunning and sly fellow.
Cheo de bichos, wormy.
Comido dos bichos, worm-eaten.
Planta que mata os bichos, worm-grass.
Pozes contra os bichos, worm-feed.
Tirar o bi.bo, to worm.
Bicho da cozinha. See COZINHA.
BICHO'CA, f. f. a boil, a blotch.
BICHO'SO, a, adj. wormy.
BIC'PITE, adj. two headed, having two heads.
BI'CO, f. m. ex. Bico de passaro, the beak, bill, or nib of a bird.
Bico de peixe, the snout of a fish.
Bico dos peitos, the nipple, or teat, of the breast.
Bico da penma, the nip, nib, or neb of a pen.
Bico do pé, tip-toe.
Estar sobre o bico do pé, to stand a-tip-toe.
Desle o bico do pé atbe a cabeça, from top to toe.
Bico de huma galbeta, &c. the lip of a cruet, &c.
Bico do candieiro, the top of a spring, coming out of the main stock, in a lamp.
Candieiro de muitos bicos, a branched lamp, with many springs coming out of the main stock, supplying oil to all of them.
Bico de grou, the herb called fork-bill.
Parte inferior do bico do açor, a clap. (Speaking of a hawk.)
BICOR'NIA. (An ancient word.) See BIGORNA.
BICU'DA, f. f. a sort of fish so called.
BICU'DO, a, adj. beaked, that hath a bill, beak, or snout.
BI'DUO, f. m. the space of two days.
BIENNA'L, adj. of, or belonging to two years.
BIE'NNIO, f. m. the space of two years.
BIFRO'NTE, adj. having two fore-heads, or faces.
BIGAM'IA, f. f. bigamy, the being married to two at once.
BIGAMO, f. m. who is married to two at one time.
BIGODE'IRA, f. f. a tie, to keep mustaches in.
BIGG'DES, f. m. p. mustaches or whiskers. From the oath by God; because the Germans and Goths, when they swore, took hold of their whiskers.
Bigodes á Chamberga, a sort of whiskers introduced in Portugal by general Schonberg.
Ter bons bigodes, to be very pretty. (Speaking of women.)
BIGO'RNA, f. f. a smith's anvil.
O tronco da bigorna, the stock of the anvil.
BIGORRI LHA, f. m. a good-for-nothing fellow.
BIGOTAS, (in a ship) dead-eyes.
BILA, f. f. the choler.
BILBA'O, f. m. Bilbao, vulgarly Bilboa, a corruption of bello vado, i. e. a fine ford lying near it.
 It is the capital of Biscay proper, a subdivision of the province of that name in Spain.
BI'LHA, f. f. an earthen pot, for wine, milk, water, &c.
BILHA'FRE, f. m. a sort of bird of prey.

(Metaph.) a tenacious, close-fisted, or covetous man.
BILHA'M, f. m. ex. Moeda de bilbaõ, small change, brass-money.
BILHA'R, f. m. a sort of game like that of billiards, but there are no hazards on the edge of the table.
BILHA'RDA, f. f. (in a game called cat) a little stick to play with.
BILHE'TE, a note, billet, or small letter.
Bilhete das sortes, a lottery ticket.
BILIA'RIO, adj. biliary, belonging to the bile or gall.
BILIO'SO, a, adj. bilious.
BI'LRO, f. m. a bobbin.
BILROS feitos de ossos, bones, a sort of bobbins made of trotter-bones.
BIMBALHA'DA, f. f. a great noise caused by an extraordinary and continual ringing of bells.
BINO'CULO, f. m. ou BINOCLA, f. f. binacle, a double telescope.
BINO'NIO, a, adj. that hath two names.
BIO'CO, f. m. ex. Andar de bioco: it is said of women that walk with a cloak that covers the greater part of their faces, and one eye, so that they can see the other people without being seen. See also DISFARCE.
BIO'MBO, f. m. a screen, a device to keep off the wind; also hangings, tapestry fattened against the walls.
Bimbo, (metaph.) any obstacle or hindrance.
BIPARTIDO, a, adj. bipartite, divided into two parts.
BI'PEDE, adv. two-footed.
BIQUINHO, f. m. a little beak or snout; diminut. from Bico, a beak.
BIRBANTE, or BARBANTE. See BIRBANTE.
BIRIMBA'O, f. m. a Jew's-harp. (Metaph.) a mean despicable fellow.
BIRLI'NA, f. f. valerian, or great set-wall.
BIRLI'QUE, ex. Fazer huma coisa por arte de birlique birlique, to do a thing by virtue of hocus-pocus.
BI'RIA, f. f. a sort of disease in horses. See also RAYVA.
BIRRE'NTO, a, adj. (An antiquated word.) See RAYOSO.
BIRRO, f. m. a covering for the head. Greek.
BISA'GRA, or FISAGRA, f. f. an hinge.
BISA'LHO, f. m. a bundle of rough diamonds.
BISA'RAMA, f. f. a kind of weapon, with pikes.
BISERRAME'NTE. See BIZARRAMENTE.
BISARRE'ADO. See BIZARREADO.
BISAR'PA. } See { BIZARRIA.
BISA'RO. } See { BIZARRO.
BISA'VO, f. m. a great-grand-father.
Bisavô do bisavô, a great-grand-father's great-grand-father.
Bisavô, f. f. a great-grand-mother.
Bisavô da bisavô, a great-grand-mother's great-grand-mother.
BISELHOTE'IRA, f. f. a pitiful, or base woman.
BISBO'RRIA, f. m. (a vulgar word) a ridiculous man.
BISCA'TO, f. m. the food that birds put, or thrust in the mouth of their young ones.
BISCA'YA, f. f. Biscay, Biscaya, or Viscaya, in Lat. Cantabria; one of the provinces belonging to Spain.

BISCAYNHO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Biscay.
BISCO'ITO. } See { BISCOUTO.
BISCO'NDE. } See { VISCONDE.
BISCOUTE'IRO, f. m. a biscuit-maker, or seller.
BISCOUTI'NHO, diminut. from Biscuito. See
BISCO'UTO, f. m. a biscuit.
Biscuito do mar, sea-biscuit.
Biscuits, or Gelodice, biscuits, junkets, dough, baked with sugar and eggs.
BISDO'NO, f. m. See BISA'VO.
BISLI'NGUA, f. f. the herb laurel of Alexandria, or tongue-laurel.
BISNA'GA, f. f. the herb tooth-pick, a sort of wild-fennel; it groweth commonly in Spain.
BISNE'TA, f. f. a great-grand-daughter.
BISNE'TO, f. m. a great-grand-child.
BISONHAR'IA, f. f. ignorance, want of knowledge, or experience.
BISONHO, a, adj. ex. Soldado bisenho, a new-raised soldier; a name accidentally given on account of some Spanish troops that went into Italy, and not knowing the language, learned some odd words, and among the rest, bisegno; that is, avant, and therefore whatever they stood in need of, they went about saying, bisegno carne, pane, &c. I want meat, bread, &c. and thence the people came to call them bisenhos.
Bisenho, any one beginning to learn any art or science.
BISO'URO. See BESOURO.
BISPA'DO, f. m. a bishopric, or the episcopal dignity; also certain towns belonging to the bishop. See also BISPAR.
BISPA'L. See EPISCOPAL.
BISPA'R, v. n. to obtain a bishopric; also to seek for, or make interest for a bishopric.
BI'SPO, f. m. a bishop.
Bispo de ancl, a titular bishop.
Bispo de aves, the rump of a bird.
BISPO'TE, f. m. a piss-pot, a chamber-pot.
BISSEXTO, the additional day to the leap-year, which Julius Cæsar ordered to be inserted at the twenty-third of April, which is the sixth before the calends of March; and having that year two sixth days before the calends, it was called bisextus, twice the sixth, whence the Portuguese took it. They also say anno bissexto, a leap-year.
BISTOR'TA, f. f. bistort, the herb snake-root.
BITA'COLA, f. f. the bittacle, a frame of timber in the steerage, where the compass is placed on board a ship.
BITATE. (A jocular word.) See DEFELTO.
BITE'SGA, f. f. See BECO sem sabida.
BITO'LA, f. f. (a vulgar word) ex. Fazer huma coisa governando-se pela própria bitola, to do a thing of one's own head.
BITUALHA. See PITUALHA.
BIZALHO. See BISALHO.
BIZARRAMENTE, adv. fairly, finely, very well.
BIZARRE'ADO. See
BIZARREAR, v. n. to play the gallant, to be fine and gay; also to make a boast of something.
BIZARR'IA, f. f. is either personal bravery and gallantry, or rich apparel; the etymology logy some will have to be Arabic, some Balquith, some French.

Bizarria, comeliness, gracefulness, fine manner, garb.
BIZARRRO, a, adj. either personally brave and gallant, or fine in apparel.
Homem bizarro, a comely, handsome, and civil man, a man of good address.
Andar bizarro, to enjoy a perfect health.
BIZARRA ação, any illustrious deed.
BIZO'URO. See BESO'URO.
BLANDICIA, f. f. See AFFAGO.
BLA'O, (in heraldry) blue.
BLASFEMADO, a. See BLASFEMAR.
BLASFEMAMENTE, adv. impiously, blasphemously.
BLASFEMAR, v. a. to blaspheme, or speak evil of.
BLASFEMIA, f. f. blasphemy.
BLASFEMO, f. m. a blasphemer.
Blasfemo, a, adj. blasphemous.
BLAZAM, or BRAZAM, f. m. blazon, arms, coat of arms.
Arte do blazão, or arte da armeria, blazon, heraldry, armory.
Autor que trata de armeria, blazoner, herald.
BLAZONADO, or BRAZONADO. See BLAZONAR, or BRAZONAR, v. a. to blazon a coat of arms.
Blazonar, v. n. to boast of.
BLOCA'DO. } See BLOQUEADO.
BLOCA'R. } See BLOQUEAR.
BLOQUEADO, a, adj. blocked up.
BLOQUEAR, v. a. to block up.
BLOQUE'O, f. m. the blocking up.
BOA. See BOM.
BOA'L, adj. a sort of grapes so called.
BOAMENTE, adv. willingly, joyfully, gladly.
A' boamente, simply, purely, sincerely.
BOATO, f. m. a bruit, rumour, common-sense, talk. Greek.
Esôto de que se não sabe o autor, a similitude, a story.
BOAZ, f. m. hautbois, hautboy, or hoboy, a musical wind instrument.
BOBADA. See ABOBADA.
BOBO, f. m. a mimic, a scurrilous buffoon, or jester, a droll. See also TOLO.
BOCA, f. f. the mouth; also an opening, a hole, an entrance into any place, a passage.
Boca do estomago, do forno, &c. the mouth of the stomach, of an oven, &c.
Boca de huma chaga, the lips, or opening of a sore.
Boca do forno, or muito larga, a wide sparrow-mouth.
Boca da peça, the mouth of a cannon.
Boca do rio, the mouth of a river, or a place where a river empties or runs into the sea.
Tapar a boca á alguém, to stop one's mouth, to make him hold his tongue, to silence or put him to a nonplus; also to bribe, or corrupt with gifts.
Abertura da boca, quando se ri, a grinning, or scornful opening the mouth in laughing.
Abertura da boca dos cães quando arreganham os dentes, threatening, grinning, or gnawing as dogs.
Abrir a boca, to open the mouth, to speak.
Boca dos animais carniceiros, mouth, jaw, or chap.
Abrir-se a boca a alguém, to gape, to yawn.

Fazer a boca doce á alguém, to entertain one with fair hopes. (Metaph.)
Cala a boca, hold your tongue, hush, or mum for that.
Com a boca aberta, a gape, staringly with open mouth, as happens in vulgar admiration, or as young birds that gape for meat.
Esstar com a boca aberta, to hearken attentively.
Elle faz ficar a elles todos com a boca aberta, he sets them all a-gape.
Torcer a boca, to make mouths.
Que tem a boca torta, wry-mouthed.
Apanhar com a boca, como faz o cão, to mouth, to catch with the mouth, as a dog.
Doença na boca dos cavallos, que os não deixa comer, carney.
Isto anda pela boca de todos, it is in every body's mouth, it is a town talk.
Dizer alguma coisa de boca, to tell a thing by word of mouth, or orally.
Boca, a boca, face to face.
Elle diz o que lhe vem á boca, he speaks what comes next, or what lies uppermost.
Dizer alguma coisa á boca cheia, to speak openly, or freely.
Tirar da boca para poupar, to pinch one's belly.
Cavalle duro da boca, a hard-mouthed horse.
Cavalle que tem boa boca, a horse that will eat any thing.
Cavalle que tem boca, ou que obedece á redea, a horse of an easy rest upon the head.
Ter tudo a pedir por boca, to live in clover, or at rack and manger; to have all things to one's heart's desire.
Guarda a boca, is for a sick person to be regular, and eat or drink nothing but what the physician orders.
Não tomar á alguém na boca, not to mention a man.
Não tem boca para dizer não, not to know how to give a refusal.
Reservoesia fruta, para fazer a boca doce, I keep the fruits for the last.
Isto vos fara a boca doce, this will sweeten your breath.
Não quero pôr a boca nisso, I won't meddle with it.
Largo da boca, or o que promete muito e não dá nada, a man that promises a great deal, and performs nothing, a great cry and little wool.
A pedir de boca, or por boca, according to one's mind, desire, wish, or will.
Fallar pela boca pequena, to make as if one did not care for a thing, or would not speak one's mind about it, to mince it.
Tomar por boca, to take or swallow down.
Tenho trinta bocas que sustentar, I have thirty mouths, people, beasts, to feed.
Boca da noite, night-fall, the dusk of the evening.
Boca do caranguejo, crabs claws.
Boca do aro, the side that is marked in an iron circle to play with. See ARO de jogar.
Pella mesma boca, with one consent.
Sempre tendes a mesma coisa na boca, you always speak of the same thing.
P. a boca não admite fiador, the belly has no ears.

P. da mão á boca se perde a sopa, much falls between the cup and the lip.
P. em boca cerrada não entra mosca, a close mouth catches no flies.
P. quem tem boca vai a Roma, that is, a man may go any where if he has language to speak for himself, and ask the way.
P. pella boca morre o peixe: we say, little tid is soon amended; or, much talking brings much woe.
BOCA'CAS, f. f. a wide ugly mouth.
BOCADINHO, f. m. a little bit, diminut. from bocado, a bit.
BOCADINHOS, dainties, fine eating, junkets, tid-bits, kickshaws, delicacies.
Amigo de bocadinhos, one that likes dainties, &c.
BOCA'DO, f. m. a mouth-full. See also PEDAÇO.
Levantar-se com o bocado na boca, to rise from table with one's mouthful; that is, not to allow one's self time to eat.
O bocado de Adão, Adam's bit, the protuberance of the throat.
Comello de hum bocado, to eat it at a mouthful.
Bocado, ou ferro do freyo que se mette na boca do cavallo, a bit, a horse-bit.
Querer comer alguém a bocados, to be in such a passion, as if one would eat a man.
BOCA'L, f. m. kerb-stone, the brim or brink of a well.
Bocal do frasco, the mouth of a flask.
Bocal, adj. that is taken, or swallowed up.
BOCAXIM, f. m. bocaccine, buckram.
BOCEJA'DO, a, adj. See
BOCEJA'R, v. n. to gape, to yawn.
BOCEJO, f. m. gaping, yawning.
BOCE'L, or BOCELINO, f. m. the thick and round circle of a pillar under the neck of it.
BOCE'TA, f. f. a box.
Ter alguém numa boceta, to take special care of one.
BOCE'TE, f. m. a piece belonging to a coat of mail, or cuirass.
BOCETINHA, f. f. a little box, diminut. from boceta.
BOCHE'CHA, f. f. the hollow part of the cheek which stands out by blowing.
Huma bochecha de agoa, as much water as can be held by the cheek when it stands out by blowing.
Com huma bochecha de agoa, (metaph.) with little or no trouble, very easily.
BOCHECHAM, f. m. a stroke with the fist in the cheeks.
BOCHECHU'DO, a, adj. blub-cheeked.
BOCFO, f. m. a swelling in the throat.
BO'ÇAL, adj. ex. Negro boçal, a negro, or a black-moor, that only speaks his own language; also ignorant, rude.
BOÇARDAS. See BUÇARDAS.
BO'DA, or VODA, f. f. a wedding.
BO'DE, f. m. a buck goat.
Bode copado, a gelded he-goat.
BODE'GA, f. f. a place where the meaner sort of people go to eat, like our mean ordinaries, to which no people of any fashion resort; also a public-house.
BODEGUEIRO, f. m. a man that keeps a bodega.
BODIAM, f. m. a sea-fish like a tench.
BODO,

BODO, or VO'DO, f. m. a feast and banquet, used on some particular holy-days, as it is now practised in Portugal at Whitsuntide.

BODO'QUE, f. m. a pellet of clay, a clay-bullet.

BODRIE'. See BOLDRIE.

BODRO'MIAS, f. f. p. Boedromia, an Athenian festival, instituted in memory of Ion, the son of Xuthus.

BODU'M, f. m. the rank smell of the buck-goat.

BOE'IRO. See CANO.

BOE'TA, f. f. (a word that is scarce used) a box.

BO'FA, (in cant) a rez.

Dez bofas, ten rees.

BOFARINH'IRO, f. m. a pedlar, a hawk-er.

P. cada bofarinh'iro louva seus alfinetes, we say, every man thinks his own geese swans.

BO'FE, f. m. the lungs, or lights. Arabic.

Homem de maos bofes, a mischievous, ill-disposed, envious, hard-hearted man.

Lançar es bofes pela boca, to vomit one's heart up.

Maos bofes, (metaph.) ill-will.

Homem de bofes lavadas, an open, free, ingenuous, plain, and downright man.

Espalhar o bofe, to be light-hearted.

Bojê, (a sort of oath) faith; they write it also bó fê.

BOFE'LHAS, the same.

BOFETA', f. m. a sort of fine Indian cotton cloth.

BOFETA'DA, f. f. a blow, or slap on the cheek with the open hand.

Dar bofetadas. See BOFETEAR.

BOFETE, f. m. a table, a counter.

BOFETE'ADO, a, adj. See

BOFETE'AR, v. a. to give a blow or slap on the cheek, with the open hand.

BOFILINHE'IRO. See BOFARINHEIRO.

BO'GA, or VO'GA, f. f. rowing with oars.

Boga, or voga arrancada. See ARRANCALO.

Boga, f. f. a sort of fish.

BOJA'EO, adj. See

BOJA'ER, v. a. to jut, or stand out, to stretch out, to bulge.

BOJA'RDADA, a sort of pear.

BOJA'RLS, f. m. p. (in Muscovy) boiars, certain great lords of the czar's court.

BOKINININGAL. See CASCABEL.

BOIGUACU'. See COBRA.

BO'JO, f. m. any swelling, a protuberance, or prominence, a belly as of a head, hat, &c.

Ter bojo para soffrer alguma coisa, (metaph.) to bear a thing patiently.

Ter grande bojo, (metaph.) to be able and be to endure, to resist, conceal, or disguise.

Tirar do bojo a algum huma coisa, (metaph.) to pump one, or to pump a thing out of one.

BOJOBI. See COBRA.

BOITIAFO'. See COBRA.

BOJU'LO, a, adj. round and prominent, that has a belly. See BOJO.

BO'LA, f. f. any round ball, but generally for such balls as are used at nine-pins, on bowling-greens, or the like.

Bola, (in cant) the head.

Jogo da bola, the play called nine-pins; also the skittle-ground.

Jogar à bola, to play at nine-pins.

Jogar huma bola, to bowl.

BOLA'CHA, f. f. a sort of cake.

BOLA'DA, f. f. a stroke of a bowl; also the tipping at nine-pins.

BOLA'DO, a, adj. See

BOLA'R, v. a. to tip pins.

Trouxe tres e bolzi cinco, I carried three pins, and tip five.

BOLA'NDAS, ex. Leva aquillo em bolandas, carry that quickly.

Hir em bolandas, to be hauled.

BOLATITI'. See BOLETIM, and BORLANTIM.

BOLCA. See BOISA.

BOLDRIE', f. m. a belt, waist-belt, sword-belt.

LOLL'A, f. f. ex. Cavalleo da bolea, the near-horse.

BOLE'ADO, a, adj. See

BOLE'AR, v. a. to make round, to round.

Levear a peça, to move a gun towards star-board, or larboard.

BOLE'O, f. m. a flight, or stroke given to a ball before it comes to the ground, or the flight of the ball.

Der hum bilão, to get a fall.

Levar huma coisa de boleio, to do a thing in a hurry or rashly.

BOLE'TA, f. f. or BOLE'TO, f. m. a soldier's billet, a ticket directing soldiers where to lodge; also an acorn, the fruit of the holm, or scrub oak.

Dar a bolta a hum soldado, to billet, or direct the soldier by a ticket or note where he is to lodge.

BOLE'TIM, f. m. (a military word) a written message.

BOLE'TO. } See { CCGUMELLO.

BO'LHA. } See { IMFOLA.

BOLHE'LHO, f. m. the dirt that comes from the friction, or rubbing of the hands.

BOLICO. } See { EULICO.

BOI'Q'YSO. } See { L: L'Q'YSO.

BOI'NI, f. f. (a sea term) the bowline, a rope fastened to the middle part of the outside of the sail, to make it stand sharper, or closer by the wind.

Ar a bolina, to draw the main bowline, to haul up the bowline.

Hir pelo b'lin. See BOLINAR.

Nô da bolina, the bowline knot, a sort of knot which will not slip, by which the bowline-bridle is made fast to the cringles.

BOI'CA'PO, adj. See

BOI'NAR, v. n. to sail upon a bowline.

BOLINE'TE, f. m. a capstan, or capstern of a ship.

BOLINHA. See FOLINHOLA.

BOLINHO, f. m. a little cake.

BOLINHOLA, f. f. a little bowl, or ball; diminut. from bola.

BOLINHO'LO, f. m. a sort of pancake.

BO'LO, f. m. a cake.

Bolo armenio, Armenian bole, a fatty medicinal kind of earth of a pale reddish colour.

Bôlo, (in some games) a stake at play.

Levantar o bolo, to sweep stakes.

BOLO'NIO, f. m. an ignorant fellow, a simpleton. (In cant.)

BOLO'R, f. m. mouldiness, mould, a kind of concretion, now discovered by microscopes to be perfect plants.

Criar bolôr, to mould, to gather mould.

P. pedra muito bulida não cria bolôr, a rolling stone gathers no naifs.

BOLORE'NTO, a, adj. mouldy.

Fazer-se bolorento, to mould, to gather mould. (Metaph.) old, ancient.

BOLOTA. See BOLETA; also a piece of needle-work like a bolota.

BO'LSA, f. f. a purse, a pouch, a bag; also an exchange for merchants to meet, or a company, ex. Abolsta da india oriental, the East-India company.

Fezar bolsa, to pucker, to gather up, as garments ill made do.

Metter na bolsta, to purse up.

Lazer a algum bolsta, to choose one's purser.

Bolsta de pastor, the herb called shepherds purse, or pouch.

O que faz bolsta, a purse-maker.

Ladrão de bolsas, a pick-pocket, a cutpurse.

Condição da bolsta, purse-strings, or knittles.

Cabideira de bolsta, a bag-wig.

Bolsta, the money that is collected for the prisoners.

Bolsta dos testiculos, the scrotum. (In anatomy.)

P. quem tem quatro e gasta cinco, não he mister bolsta nem bolsta, he that hath four and spends five hath no need of a purse.

Bolsta cu vida, (the words used by highwaymen) they say in England, Leave her.

BO'LSA'DO, adj. See

BO'LSA'R, v. n. (speaking of children) to vomit, to bring up the milk.

BO'LSA'NHA, f. f. a little purse, diminut. from bolsa.

BO'LSA'NHO, f. m. a little coat pocket, diminut. from bolsa.

Alfinete que se coze no cinto dos calçons, a tob.

Alfinete del-rey para gastes secretas, the king's payy-purse.

Alfinete do grao, the husk, or cod of wheat.

BO'LSO, f. m. a coat pocket; also the scrotum.

BOAL, BO'A, adj. good in all its senses.

Bom vinho, boa agua, good wine, good water.

Bom homem, or homem de bem, a good man. The last expression is better.

Bom homem, or simples, a simple, or innocent man.

Huma boa legoa, a good long league.

Hum bom, or grande copo de vinho, a good, or large glass of wine.

Fullao he huma boa fazenda, (ironically) such a one is a notable blade.

Bons dias, good-morrow.

Bons noites, good-night.

Elle he huma boa cabeça, he has a good head-piece.

Bom dito, a jest, a quibble.

Bom tempo, fine weather; also play-time, the proper time or season to take one's pleasure.

Bom genio, good-nature.

Homem de bom genio, a good-natured man.

Bom proveito vos faça, much good may it do you.

Boa vontade, good-will.

De boa vontade, willingly.

Bom successo, or boa fortuna, good-luck.

Deos vos de bom successo, God speed you.
Homen de bom juizo, a good understanding man.
Homen de boas prendas, a man of good parts.
Bens ares, wholesome air.
Bom para a saude, wholesome, or good for one's health.
Anlar, or estar bom, to be in health.
Homen bom de contentar, an easy man to deal withal.
Ter bom animo, or estar de bom animo, to take courage, to cheer up, to hope well.
Fazer boa cara a alguem, to receive one kindly.
Ecas palavras, fair words.
P. acompanha com os bons e eras hum delles, keep good company, and you shall be of the number.
Bom, adv. well, that is well. It is used both in the proper and ironical sense.
Fazel-la boa, to play the fool, to play a foolish trick. (Ironically.)
Esta he boa, this is a fine thing indeed. (Ironically.)
Dizêlas boas, to speak like a fool.
Dizêlas boas a alguem, to chide, to rebuke one. (Ironically.)
Esfapar de boa, (ironically) to have a narrow escape, to be out of the scrape.
Vir ás boas, to speak peacefully, to be reconciled with one's enemies.
Estar metido em boa, to be in danger, to be in a scrape. (In the figurative sense.)
Fregala boa a alguem, to play one a slippery trick, to play or serve one a trick.
BOMBA, f. f. a bomb; also a pump.
Dar á bomba, to pump.
Braço da bomba, or embalete, pump-break, or the pump-handle.
Alavanca da bomba, the plug or sucker of a pump.
Manga de couro por onde sabe a agoa da bomba, pump-dale, or pump-vale.
Dala da bomba, a gutter or pipe to convey the water from the pump into the sea.
Água da bomba, pump-water.
Valde ou vaso para deitar ugoa na bomba, pump-can.
Esuma que sabe da bomba deffois de ter tirado a agoa, the pump suckers.
Emba, a little window in a straw-house.
Emba da camara, a bucket used for carrying water to quench fires in houses.
Bomba para apagar os incendios, an engine to put out fire.
BOMBA'CHAS, f. m. p. a sort of wide silk breeches.
BOMBARDA, f. f. a sort of great gun, a mortar.
Pólvora de bombardas, the powder used to charge mortars.
BOMBARDA'DA, f. f. the blow of a bomb.
BOMBARDEA'DO, a, adj. See BOMBARDEAR.
BOMBARDEAR, v. a. to bombard.
BOMBARDEIRA, f. f. See CANHONEIRA.
BOMBARDEIRO, f. m. a bombardier.
BOMBAZINA, f. f. thickset, a sort of stuff.
BOMBEAR, v. a. to bombard, to throw bombs into a besieged place.
BOMBI'Z, f. m. a silk-worm.
BOMBORDO, f. m. larboard, the left side of a ship.
BONA'CHO, BONACHAM, or BONACHEIRAM, (in familiar discourses) a very good-natured man.

BONANÇA, f. f. calm, fair weather at sea; also prosperity, quietness.
Tempo bonança, vento bonança, mar bonança, weather, wind, or sea good to sail.
BONANÇO'SO. See QUIETO.
BONDADE, f. f. goodness; also wholesomeness.
Ter a bondade de, &c. to be so good as to, &c.
Bondade de huma terra, the fruitfulness of a country.
BONE'CA, f. f. a baby, a doll.
BONE'CO, f. m. boneca, f. f. See BONECA.
BONETE, f. m. a cap, a bonnet.
BONICOS, f. m. p. the dung of a horse or ass.
BONIFR'ATE, f. m. a puppet.
O que faz bolir os bonifrates, a puppet-player, a mountebank.
BONINA, f. f. a little and delicate flower.
Beijum de boninas. See BEIJUM.
BONITO, a, adj. pretty, fine, charming.
Bonito, adv. prettily, finely, neatly, well.
Bonito, f. m. bonito, a sort of tunny-fish.
BOO'TES, f. m. the evening star.
BOQUEJA'DO. See BOQUEJAR.
BOQUEJA'R, v. n. to open the mouth, to gape; also to mutter, to speak softly as with an imperfect voice.
BOQUEIRA'M, f. m. a gulph, whirlpool, pit, abyss, or swallow; also a large bay.
BOQUIA'E'RTO, a, adj. gaping.
BOQUICHE'O, ex. Fallar boquicheo, to pronounce the words distinctly.
BOQUIM, f. m. the mouth-piece of a wind-instrument.
BOQUIMO'LE, adj. tender mouthed. (Speaking of horses.)
BOQUINHA, f. f. a little mouth, diminut. from boca.
BOQUISE'CO, a, adj. ex. Ficar boquiseco, to be at a stand, not to know what to say.
BOQUITO'RTO, a, adj. wry-mouthed.
BORAX. See TINCAL.
BOROLE'TA, f. f. a butter-fly; also a sort of insect that eats the barley.
BORBORINHA, f. f. a shouting of men.
BORBOTO'ENS, f. m. p. the violent gushing of water out of a pipe or other hole; also the bubbling up of boiling water, or of a spring that gushes out of the ground.
Borbotoens, the continual flashings of fire.
BORBU'LHA, f. f. a pimple; also a bud just putting forth, or the knob out of which the bud riseth. See also BRULHA.
BORBULHA'DO. See BORBULHAR.
BORBULHAR, v. n. to gush violently as the water does out of a pipe, or to boil very fast, to bubble up.
BORBULHO'ENS. See BORBOTOENS.
BORCA'DO. See BROCA'DO.
BO'RDA, f. f. edge, side, shore, brink, or brim.
Borda do rio, the bank of a river.
Borda do mar, the sea-shore, the sea-side.
BORDA'DO, f. m. embroidery.
Bordado, a, adj. embroidered.
BORDA'DO'R, f. m. BORDADORA, f. f. an embroiderer.
BORDADURA, f. f. edge, border.
Bordadura, (in heraldry) a bordure.
BORDALE'NGO, the name given to the author of a piece called Cortes de Paraiso.
BORDA'LO, f. m. a fish much like a sturgeon, a sheat-fish, or shad-fish.

BORDA'M, f. m. a stick, a staff to walk with, a walking-staff; also a pilgrim's staff; also the great or base string of an instrument.
Bordaõ ferrado, a pike-staff.
Bordaõ, (metaph.) help, assistance, prop, support.
Bordaõ, the ridiculous and frequent repetition of the same action, or words.
Falso bordaõ, a kind of grave music.
BORDAMSINHO, f. m. a little stick, diminut. from bordam.
BORDA'R, v. a. to embroider.
BO'RDAS, the lips of a woman's privy-parts.
BORDEJA'DO. See BORDEJAR.
BORDEJA'R, v. n. to tack forwards and backwards at sea.
BORDO, f. m. ex. Hir a bordo, to go aboard a ship.
Bordo, tack, the course of a ship from one tacking to another; also a broadside.
Dar, ou fazer hum bordo, to tack the ship, to tack about, or to bring her head about.
Navio de alto bordo, a ship of a large size or rate, a ship that has high sides.
Navio de baxo bordo, a low-built ship, a ship that has low sides.
Borda, (metaph.) humour, temper, disposition.
Bôrdo, a kind of Northern oak.
BOREAL, adj. northern, northerly.
Aurora boreal. See AURORA.
BOREAS, f. m. the wind called north-east.
BORE'LHO, f. m. a kind of bird so called.
BORGAME'STRE, or BORGOMESTRE. See BURGAMESTRE.
BORJA'CA, f. f. a brazier's bag to put the tools in.
BORJAÇOTES, ex. Figos borjaçotes, hard-rinded figs.
BORIL, or BURIL, f. m. burin, a graving tool.
Abrir ao buril. See GRAVAR.
BURILA'DA, f. f. the stroke given with the burin to examine the quality of the silver, or any metal.
BORLA, f. f. a tuft, or a tassell of silk, or other matter. Doctors wear a borla; that is a silk tassell on their caps to denote their degree.
O que faz borlas, a tassell-maker.
BORLANTIM, f. m. a dancer on the ropes, a tumbler. See DANÇANTE.
BORNA'L, f. m. a sort of sack, wherein horses sometimes eat barley, oats, &c.
BORNEA'DO. See BORNEAR.
BORNEA'R, v. a. ex. Bornear huma peça, to level a cannon.
BORNE'L. See BORNAL.
BORNE'O, f. m. the end of the lance which is used in tilting; also Borneo, one of the Indian or Sunda islands, in Asia.
BORNI', f. m. a kind of hawk from Guinea.
BORNI'DO.
BORNIDOR.
BORNI'R.
BOROA.
BORQUE'L.
BO'RNA, f. f. dregs, grounds, or settlement of any liquor.
Frades borras, the friars of the third order of St. Francis.

- Borra da seda*, a kind of coarse silk. See Pedago de cham sem avoires dentro de hum also BARBILHO.
- BORRA'CHA*, f. f. a sort of leather bottle, or vessel for wine.
- BORRACHA'M*, f. m. a great drunkard.
- Borracham da campanha*. See FORRIEL.
- BORRACHE'IRA*. See BEBEDICE.
- Cozer a borracheira*, to sleep the fumes of wine away, or to sleep one's self sober.
- BORRACHEIRO*, f. m. he who makes borrachas. See BORRACHA.
- BORRACHICE*. See BEBEDICE.
- BORRA'CHO*. See BEBEDO.
- BORRA'DO*, a, adj. blotied out; also be-shit, bewrayed.
- BORRADO'R*, or BORRAM, f. m. a minute, or first draught of any writing.
- Borrador*, a day-book, or note-book, where things are only set down for the present, to be written out fair.
- Borrador*, he that makes the first sketch.
- BORRADURA*, f. f. a blot, stroke, or dash through any writing.
- BORRA'GEM*, f. f. the herb borrag.
- BORRA'INAS*, the high parts of a saddle before and behind, that are stuffed with cows hair, or any other thing.
- BORRALHE'IRO*, ex. Goto borralheiro, a cat that for the most part lies in embers.
- BORRA'LHO*, f. m. embers, hot embers. See also CALMA.
- Bolo de borralho*, or soborralho, a sort of cake baked under the embers. The cake we call bannock is baked upon the embers.
- BORRA'M*, f. m. a minute, or first draught of any writing; also a blot. See DE-BUXO.
- Papel borram*, or mataborram, thin brown paper.
- BORRA'R*, to blot, to blur; also to shit. Arabic.
- O que borra os calçoens*, a shit-breech.
- BORRA'SCA*, a tempest, a storm, (metaph.) a broil, a fray.
- BORRASE'IRO*, f. m. a falling of dew, or small rain; also a tree so called.
- BORRE'CO*, f. m. a leading ram.
- BORRE'GO*, f. m. a lamb. (Metaph.) good-natured, quiet.
- BORRE'LHO*, f. m. a coot, or moor-hen.
- BORRE'NA*. See BORRAINAS.
- BORRIF'ADO*, a, adj. sprinkled, &c. See BORRIFAR, v. a. to sprinkle, to besprinkle, particularly with the mouth.
- BORRIFO*, f. m. the action of speaking: also the water that is sprinkled.
- BORTOE'JA*. See BERTO'EJA.
- BORZEGUE'IRO*, f. m. a buskin-maker.
- BORZEGU'M*, f. m. a buskin.
- BO'SFORO*. See BOSPHORO.
- BOST'NA*, BOZINA, or BUZINA, f. f. a cornet, a horn, a trumpet to blow with; also the constellation called the lesser bear.
- Bosina de caçador*, a bugle horn, or a hunter's horn.
- Bosina de pastor*, a neat-herd's, or swine-herd's, horn.
- Bosina*, a sort of large trumpet used at sea, and called speaking-trumpet.
- BOSPHORO*, f. m. bosphorus, a strait or narrow neck of the sea that separates two continents. Greek.
- BO'SQUE*, f. m. a wood, a forest; also a stock or plenty of matter, brought together. (Metaph.)
- Bosque pequeno*, a grove or thicket.
- bosque*, a glade in a wood.
- O que mora, frequenta, ou tem cuidado do bosque*, a woodman, a forester, one that dwells in woods.
- Cheo de bosques*, woody, full of woods.
- Cousa pertencente aos bosques*, rural, savage, pertaining to woods.
- Esconder nos bosques*, to inwood, to hide in woods.
- BOSQUEJA'DO*, a, adj. See BOSQUEJA'R, v. a. to begin or make the draught of a thing, to sketch, to rough-hew, both in the proper and figurative sense.
- BOSQUE'JO*, f. m. the first draught, or rough beginning of any work. See also RETRATO, and IDEA.
- BOSQUE'TE*, f. m. a grove or thicket.
- BO'STA*, f. f. dung.
- Bosta seca de vaca para queimar*, casings, cow blakes.
- Bosta de vaca*, cow-dung.
- BOSTE'LA*, f. f. a push, blister, little wheal, a pimple.
- BO'TA*, f. f. a boot.
- Correas das botas*, boot-straps.
- Botas para andar a cavallo*, whole-chase boots, or large riding-boots.
- Botas com joelheira*, boots with tops.
- Botas grandes*, jack-boots.
- Páo, or taboa aberta de huma parte que serve para tirar as botas*, a jack to pull off boots.
- BOTA'DO*, a, adj. blunted, that is not sharp.
- Botado*, thick, muddy, turned, troubled. (Speaking of liquors) See also LANÇADO, and the v. BOTAR.
- BOTAFO'GO*, f. m. a long stick with a match rope fixed to the end, to fire off cannon. (Metaph.) A stirrer-up.
- BOTALO'S*, (in a ship) studding-sail booms.
- BOTA'NICO*, f. m. a botanist, an herbalist, one that is skilful in herbs.
- BOTA'M*, f. m. a button for a garment.
- Casa do botão*, a button-hole.
- Botão de qualquer planta*, a button, a bud of plants, foot-huck.
- Botões de ouro, ou prata*, plate-buttons.
- Botões de sedas, ou crinas*, hair-buttons.
- Botão com pê ou aza*, a long button.
- Botão de pé de salva*, stud.
- Botões de prata ocios por dentro*, hollow plate-buttons.
- Botão, or Bostela*, a pimple.
- Botão de fogo*. See CAUTERIO.
- BOTA'R*, v. a. to cast, to throw, to pour out.
- Botar a perder*, to spoil, to vitiate.
- Botar o navio ao mar*, to launch a ship.
- Botar a fugir*, to run away.
- Botar*, (speaking of mountains, islands, &c.) to jut or stand out, to stretch out, to hang over.
- Botar, or desbotar os dentes*, to set the teeth on edge.
- Botar, or perder a cor*, to be discoloured, to have its colour changed.
- BOTARE'O*, f. m. an arch; buttress, or prop to hold up a wall that is likely to fall down.
- BOTASE'LLA*, f. f. ex. Tocar a botafella, to sound to horse. (In military affairs.)
- BO'TE*, f. m. the long-boat of a ship.
- Bote de lança*, a thrust of a lance.
- BOTICA*, f. f. an apothecary's shop.
- BOTICAM*, f. m. a pincer, to draw out teeth withal.
- BOTICA'RIO*, f. m. an apothecary.
- BOTI'JA*, f. f. an earthen vessel with a great belly.
- Botija de fundo largo*, a costrel.
- BOTILHA'M*. See ALGA.
- BOTT'NA*, f. f. buskin-boots.
- BOTIQUE'IRO*. See BOTICARIO, and TENDEIRO. This word is only used in Goa, and some other places in India.
- BO'TO*, a, adj. (speaking of the teeth) set on edge. See also BOTADO.
- Homem boto*, or de engenho boto, a blockish man, and slow of apprehension.
- Boto, or BO'UTO*, a sort of fish.
- BOTOE'IRA*, f. f. BOTOEIRO, f. m. a button-maker.
- BOTO'QUE*, f. m. a pierced stone, worn by the Indians.
- BO'TTA de vinho*, a sort of vessel that contains three quarters of a pipe, and sometimes more.
- BO'UBAS*, f. f. p. buboes.
- BOUBE'NTO*. See GALLICADO.
- BOUCE'IRA*, f. f. tow, the hard or coarse part of hemp and flax.
- BO'VEDA*. See ABO'BEDA.
- BOURGAMESTRE*. See BURGAMES TRE.
- BO'UTO*, or BOTO, a sort of fish.
- BO'Y*, f. m. an ox.
- Curral de boys*, an ox-stall.
- Boy silvestre*, a wild ox.
- Berrar como boy*, to low, to bellow like an ox.
- Boy marinho, peixe boy, or bezerro marinho*, a sea-calf, a kind of fish which breedeth on land.
- Boy de deos*, the little creature we call a lady-bird.
- P. aonde irá o boy, que não lavore, pois que sabe?* where shall the ox go but he must labour?
- Cha boy*, bohea, a species of tea of a higher colour than green tea.
- Boy*, a sort of snare for partridges.
- Boy, or BO'I*, (among the Indians) the servant that carries the umbrella.
- BOYA*, f. f. a buoy, a log of wood, barrel, or the like, tied to an anchor when it is cast in the sea, so as to float over it, and shew where the anchor lies; also the small pieces of cork, wood, &c. tied to a fishing-net; or a float to a fishing-line.
- Razão que leva a boya ao fundo*, a very strong reason.
- Pôr boyas na rede*, to cork a net.
- BOYA'DA*, f. f. a herd of oxen.
- BOYANTE*, adj. ex. Navio boyante, a ship that is light laden; also happy.
- BOYA'M*, a kind of earthen vessel with two handles; also a canister or vessel in which snuff, &c. is laid up.
- BOYE'IRA*, BOIEIRA, or BOEIRA. See BOOTES.
- BOYE'IRO*, f. m. a herdsman, he that ploughs with oxen, or tends on them.
- Boyéira, or Estrella*. BOYEIRA. See BOOTES.
- BOYS*, the plural of Boy, oxen, beeves.
- BOYU'NO*. See ESPARAVAM.
- BOZI'NA*. See BOSINA.
- BRABA'NTE*, f. m. the duchy of Brabant, in Lat. Brabantia; a province of the Austrian Netherlands; also packthread.
- BRABURA*, f. f. See BRAVURA.
- BRA'ÇA*, f. f. a fathom.
- BRAÇA'DA*, f. f. an arm full; also a fathom.
- BRACATEIRO*

- BRACADE'IRA da rodella, the handle or string wherewith the target is tied to the arm.
- BRACADE'IRAS do coche, the main braces of a coach.
- BRAC'A'L, f. m. a bracelet, a wrist-band or bracer, armour for the arms.
- Brac'al, adj. ex. Serra brac'al, a large saw, for two people to saw with.
- BRACARE'NSE, adj. of, or belonging to Braga. See BRAGA.
- BRACCHIA, (in orthography) a mark in this manner o, to show that a vowel is short.
- BRACE'ADO, a, adj. See BRACEAR.
- BRACE'AGEM, f. m. coinage, the fee which the masters of the mint have out of every sort of money coined.
- BRACE'AR, v. a. (in navigation) to brace.
- BRACEJA'DO, a, j. See
- BRACEJAR, v. n. to move, to exercise the arms, to resist to.
- Bracejar, (among farriers) ex. Bracejar com a mão de hum cavallo, to move the fore-leg of a horse.
- BRACEIRO, f. m. a lady's usher; also one that has a strong arm at casting a dart.
- BRACELE'TE, f. m. a bracelet, a locket, a woman's ornament for the arm.
- BRACHIOLOGIA, f. f. brachyology, shortness of speech; a concise expression. Greek.
- BRACINHO, f. m. a little arm.
- BR'AÇO, f. m. the arm, the limb which reaches from the hand to the shoulder; also strength, power. (Metaph.)
- Braco de terra*, a neck of land.
- Braco de mar, ou de rio*, an arm of the sea, or of a river.
- Receber alguém com os braços abertos*, to receive one with open arms, with joy.
- A força de braços*, by strength of arms, with main strength.
- Vir a braços com alguém*, to wrestle, to strive.
- Braco ecclesiastico, the clergy, the ecclesiastic government or power.
- Braco secular, the laity or temporal power.
- Entregar, or relaxar ao braco secular*, to deliver a man over to the laity; because when the clergy have found a man guilty of any offence against religion which deserves death, they deliver him over to the laity to receive his sentence.
- Pedir socorro do braco secular*, to appeal to the judges and laity for redress.
- Braco, the neck of a lute, or such instrument wherein the pins are put.
- A braços, adv. at random, disorderly, or without regarding; also fighting, striving, struggling.
- Pelejar braco a braco*, to fight, to come to handy-blows with one.
- Braco, the arm or bough of a tree; also the tendrils of a vine.
- Fazer cabir os braços*, (metaph.) to dishearten, discourage or dispirit, to forbid, deter, to disgust, or to tire.
- Cabirem os braços a alguém*, to despond, to be discouraged, or disheartened. (Metaph.)
- Braco direito, the right arm.
- Braco esquerdo, the left arm.
- Ele té o meu braco direito*, he is my right arm, or he is the person I must rely on. (Metaph.)
- Sobaco do braco, the arm-pit, or arm-hole.
- Cadeira de braços, an arm-chair, or elbow-chair.
- Braco da cruz, the arm of a cross.
- Braços de hum edificio, walls erected in the sides of an edifice.
- Braços, (in a ship) braces, a sort of ropes; also the ribs, or side timbers of a ship.
- Braco de S. Jorje, the straits of Gallipoli, or Dardanelles.
- BRACO, f. m. a setting-dog.
- BRACU'DO, a, adj. brawny, finewy, strong.
- BRADA'DO, adj. See
- BRADA'R, v. n. to cry out, to bawl. (Metaph.) to rear as the sea.
- BR'A'DO, f. m. cry, loud voice, clamour; also shout, shouting, acclamation, praise, commendation.
- BR'A'GA, f. f. Braga, an archiepiscopal city, and capital of the province of Entre Douro e Minho, in Portugal. It has its name from a certain kind of dress which was in use amongst its ancient inhabitants. The Romans styled it Augusta Bracara.
- Brága, an iron-ring fixed on the slaves' legs.
- BRAG'A'DAS. See BARGADA.
- BRAG'A'L, f. m. a sort of coarse cloth so called.
- BRAGANÇA, f. f. Braganza, a city in the province of Trás dos Montes, in Portugal. It is situated in a spacious plain upon the little river Fervença. It gives the title of duke, the eighth of which, John II. became king of Portugal, under the name of John IV.
- BRAGAS, f. f. p. a sort of breeches or trowsers used by friars and working people.
- BRAGUEIRO, f. m. a truss for one that is broken-bellied; also a sort of girdle.
- Braguero, (in a ship) the rudder's rope.
- BRAGU'LHA, f. f. the cod-piece.
- BRAMA'DO, adj. See BRAMAR.
- BRAMA'NES, BRAGMA'NES, BRACHMA'NES, or BRAME'NES, f. m. p. bramans, or bramines, Indian priests, who derive their mission from Confucius.
- BRAMA'R, v. n. to roar like a lion, or other wild beast; also to bellow, to roar and make a great noise as waters; to bluster as the wind.
- BRAMI'DO, adj. See BRAMIR.
- Bramido, f. m. a roaring as of lions, or of the sea; also a blustering.
- BRAMIDO'R, f. m. a roarer.
- BRAMI'R, v. n. to roar like a lion.
- BRAMMANES. See BRAMANES.
- BRANCA urina, the herb bears-foot, or brank-urfin.
- BRANCACE'NTO, a, adj. whitish, inclining to white.
- BR'ANCAS, f. f. p. grey hairs.
- BRAN'CO, a, adj. white.
- O branco, f. m. the white colour, or whiteness.
- O branco dos olhos. See ALVA.
- Que tem cabelos brancos*, hoary, grey, grey haired.
- Muito branco, perfectly white.
- Fazer-se branco de medo*, to wax pale and wan.
- Fazer-se branco de velhice*, to wax hoary, or white-headed.
- Naõ sei se fullano he branco ou negro*, I know not whether such a one is black or white; that is, I know nothing of him.
- Branco da arvore. See ALFURA.
- O branco da pontaria. See ALVO.
- Naõ saber distinguir o branco do preto*, to be a simpleton, a blockhead.
- Filho da gallinha branca, the son of a white hen; that is, a fortunate man who succeeds in all things.
- De ponto em branco, adv. point-blank, entirely.
- Armado de ponto em branco. See ARMADO.
- Deixar em branco, to leave a blank in a writing; also to hault, to disappoint, to leave in the lurch.
- Ficar em branco, to be left in the lurch, to be disappointed.
- Hum assinado em branco, a blank signed.
- Homem branco, a man of a good family.
- Roupa branca, linen, or linen cloths.
- Linha branca ou occulta. See OCCULTO.
- Que he alguma coisa branca*, whitish, somewhat white, inclining to white.
- Fazer branco, to whiten, to make white, to wash white.
- Vestido de branco, dressed in white.
- Manjar branco. See MANJAR.
- BRANCU'RA. See ALVURA.
- BRANDA'ES, f. f. p. (in a ship) backstays.
- BRANDAME'NTE, adv. softly, gently; also by flattery, or fair words.
- BRANDAM, f. m. a sort of torch, or large wax candle; also a great candlestick, to set such a light on.
- BRANDE'O, f. m. brandeum, a little piece of cloth, wherewith the bodies of saints and martyrs had been touched, put in a box, and sent as a relick; also a piece of corporal or communion-cloth.
- BRANDI'DO, a, adj. See BRANDIR.
- BRANDINHO, a, adj. softish, diminut. from BRANDO, which see.
- BRANDIR, v. a. to brandish, to shake to and fro.
- Brandir huma espada*, to brandish a sword.
- BR'ANDO, a, adj. soft, charming, tender, gentle, mild, kind; also flattering, fawning.
- Tempo brando, mild weather.
- Brando, quiet, still, easy.
- Branda condicao, sweet temper.
- Palavras brandas, fair words, compliments, courtship; also flattery.
- Chuva branda, a gentle rain.
- Brando ao tacto, soft to the hand.
- Fogo brando, a gentle soft fire.
- Demasiadamente brando, too much easy, or indulgent to a fault; also softly, slack.
- Sono brando, a slumber.
- Brádo, adv. See BRANDAMENTE.
- BRANDU'RA, f. f. softness, gentleness, tenderness, calmness; it is said both of persons and things.
- Brandura demasiada, weakness, unsteadiness, or want of resolution in the mind, and aptness to be overcome by temptation.
- Com brandura*, peacefully, quietly, calmly.
- Rio que leva as suas agoas com brandura*, a river that glides smoothly along.
- BRANQUEA'DO, a, adj. whited. See BRANQUEAR.
- BRANQUEADO'R, f. m. he who blanches the pieces to be coined.
- BRANQUEA'R, v. a. to whiten, to make white.
- Branquear o dinheiro*, to blanch the blanks or pieces to be coined.
- BRANQUEJA'DO, adj. See
- BRANQUEJAR,

B R E

BRANQUEJAR, v. n. to wax, or become white, to look white.
Mar que branqueja, a cockling sea.
BRANQUILADO, r. See BRANQUEADOR.
BRANQUINHO, a, adj. somewhat white, whitish.
BRASA. See BRAZA.
BRASIL, f. m. Brasil, a large province of South America. Peter Alves Cabral, was the first who discovered this country, in 1501, having been driven thither by a tempest, and erected a pillar with the arms of the king of Portugal, his master. See also BRASILEIRO.
Pao do Brasil, Brasil wood, sufficiently known. The tree is tall, and so thick, that three men can scarce fathom it, the bark of a dark brown, and all prickly. It is used in dying, and physic. The Indians call it Ibira pitanga. Huet shews that it had been known by that name many years before the discovery of the Brasils.
BRASILEIRO, f. m. a native of the Brasils.
BRASSICA marina. See SOLDANELLA.
BRAVAMENTE, adv. fiercely.
BRAVATA, f. f. See RAILHO.
BRAVEJADO. See ESBRAVEJADO.
BRAVEJAR. See ESBRAVEJAR.
BRAVEZA, f. f. headiness, fierceness; also boisterousness, storminess.
BRAVO, a, adj. untilled, unmanured, desert; also untamed, wild, ferocious, savage.
Bravio, f. m. a price, or reward given to him that overcometh in masteries, or activities. Greek.
Bravio, a country put.
BRAVO, a, adj. wild.
Bravo, savage, cruel, fierce, stern, fell.
Bravo, ill-natured.
Bravo, uncultivated, unlearned.
Bravo, rough, boisterous. (Speaking of the sea.)
Bravo, magnificent, excellent, stately. (Speaking of buildings.)
Bravo, seldom seen, unusual, rare, scarce, seldom found.
Bravo, without port, or haven.
Bravo, brave, valiant, courageous.
Bravo, comely, civil, polite.
Bravo, impetuous. (Speaking of a river.)
BRAVOSIDADE, f. f. arrogance, pride, haughtiness, presumption.
BRAVURA. See BRAVEZA.
BRAZA, f. f. live-coal, burning-coal.
P. chegar a braza a sua sardinha; it answers to our saying, every miller draws water to his mill.
BRAZAM. See BLAZAM.
BRAZEIRO, f. m. a fire-pan, such as is used in some countries to make fire in instead of a chimney; they are of earth, copper, or silver.
BRAZIDO, f. m. ex. Grande brazido, a great many burning coals.
BRAZONADO. See BLAZONADO.
BRAZONAR. See BLAZONAR.
BREAR, v. a. to rub over with pitch, to pitch.
Brear hum navio, lançando breo quente nas costuras. See COSTURAS.
BRECA, f. f. a sort of disease in goats, by which they become hairless; also a cramp or contraction of the limbs.
Estar com a breca, (a vulgar expression) to be pensive.

B R I

Estar levado da breca, to be in a despairing condition, to be reduced to extremities.
BRECHA, f. f. a breach, the ruin of any part of works beaten down with cannon, or blown up by a mine, or the like.
BRECHI, f. m. a sort of spear used by the Arabians.
BREDOS, f. m. p. blites, a kind of beet, having no taste.
P. avesou se a velha aos brelos, lambelhe os dedos, the gluttonous old woman, when she was used to eat blites, licked her fingers; that is, the covetous person cannot be satisfied; the more he has the more he desires.
BREGMA, or BREGMATE, f. m. (in anatomy) bregma, or that part of the head which is formed by the two bones of the skull that make the sagittal suture. Greek.
BREGUIGUAM, f. m. a kind of shell-fish like a mussel.
BREJO, f. m. the sweet broom, heath, or ling; also a marshy low ground or fen, wherein water springs both winter and summer.
BREJO'SO, a, adj. oozy, moist, wet, plathy, marshy.
BRELHO, f. m. a small stone.
BREINHA, f. f. a place full of bushes, or brambles.
BREIO, f. m. ship pitch and tar, to caulk and pay a ship.
BRETANGIL. See BERTANGIL.
BRETA'NHA, f. f. the province of Brittany in France. In Lat. Britannia Minor, formerly Armorica.
Gram Bretanha, Great Britain; a large, populous, rich, and fruitful island of Europe, including England and Scotland, since the union of both these parts of it in 1707, under one head.
Cousa pertencente à Gram Bretanha, of, or belonging to Great Britain, British.
Bretanha, f. f. a sort of linen cloth that comes from Brittany, in France.
Trigo Bretanha, red wheat.
BRETE, f. m. a gin, or snare for birds.
BREVE, adj. short, brief; also short, in prosody.
Para dizer breves palavras, to be short.
Brève, f. m. ex. Breve do papa, a brief, or pope's letter, because compact in a body, to distinguish it from the bull, which has the seals hanging down.
Breve, f. f. (in music) breve, a note; or character of time.
BREVES. See ADREVIATURAS.
BREVEMENTE, adv. briefly, shortly, speedily.
BREVIA, f. f. (in some religious orders) a dwelling in the country.
BREVIARIO, a breviary; the book containing the daily service of the church of Rome; also brevier, a particular size of letter used in printing.
BREVIDADE, f. f. brevity, speed, haste.
BRIAL, f. m. a sort of garment formerly worn in Spain, by queens and great ladies.
BRIAREO, f. m. the son of Titan and Terra, a huge giant, whom the poets feign to have had a hundred arms and fifty heads.
BRIANTE, f. m. a stroller, a fellow who will not work.
BRIÇA, the chief point of the field, in which the crescent, a mark used by the heralds to distinguish the second son from the others of the same family, is placed.

B R O

BRIDA, f. f. the bridle used in riding short.
BRIDADO, a, adj. bridled. (In heraldry.)
BRIGA, f. f. strife, quarrel, fighting; also a squabbling, a brawling, or scolding.
BRIGADA, f. f. a brigade of soldiers.
BRIGADEIRO, f. m. the officer of a brigade, or a brigadier.
BRIGADO. See BRIGAR.
BRIGAM, or BRIGOSO, adj. warlike, fighting, contentious, quarrelsome, full of brawling.
BRIGAR, v. n. to fight, to combat.
BRIGUIGAM. See BREGUIGAM.
BRILHALLO, adj. See BRILHAR.
BRILHANTE, adj. shining, glittering, lightning, very conspicuous.
BRILHAR, v. n. to shine, glitter or glister.
BRIM, f. m. a sort of canvas.
BRINÇA, f. f. the herb hog-fennel.
BRINÇADO, adj. See BRINCAR.
BRINÇADOR, f. m. a sporter, a sportful and jocose man, a jester, a droll, a playful man.
BRINCAR, v. n. to sport, or to sport one's self; also to sport with one, to make a fool of him.
Companheiro no brincar, a playfellow, companion in amusement.
Não brinques comigo, don't play the fool with me, or don't meddle with me.
BRINCO, f. m. a jest, a droll, or witty word; also a plaything, or toy for a child, any pretty bauble.
Brincos das orelhas, ear-rings.
Brinco de crianças, play-game.
Ele não se para brincos, he takes no jest.
BRINDADO, adj. See
BRINDAR, v. n. to drink to.
Brindar a saúde de alguém, to drink one's health, or to drink a brindice.
Brindar a vontade, (metaph.) to allure, to entice.
O que brinda, he who drinks a brindice.
BRINDES, f. m. a brindice.
Fazer hum brindes. See BRINDAR.
BRINGELLAS. See BERINGELLAS.
BRINQUINHEIRO, f. m. one that maketh rings.
BRIO, f. m. bravery, valour, mettle, liveliness.
Homem de brio, a man of mettle.
Fazer brio de alguma coisa, to make a pride of a thing, to take a pride, or to glory in it.
BRIOS, f. m. p. the bunt-lines, a small line made fast to the button of the sail in the ship, in the middle part of the bolt-rope. The use of it is to raise or draw up the sail to the yard.
BRIONIA, f. f. the herb briony.
BRIOSO, a, adj. brave, mettlesome, lively.
BRITANICO, a, adj. British, English.
El-rey Britanico, the king of Great Britain.
BRITA- OSSOS, QUEBRA- OSSO, or QUEBRANTOSSO, a kind of eagle, having a very strong beak, called bone-breaker.
BRITADO, a, adj. See
BRITAR, v. a. (This word is only found in ancient writings.) See QUEBRAR.
BRIVIA. (An antiquated word.) See BIBLIA.
BRIZA, or BRIZA-VENTANTE, f. f. the north-east wind.
BROA, or BORQA, f. f. a sort of bread made of millet, and also of maize.
Brôa,

Bráa, (a sea term) the channel of any harbour, river, or sea.

BROÇA, f. f. an auger or wimble.

Bráa, or BROSSA, f. f. a kind of brush, or pencil, used by painters.

BROCADILHO, f. m. an inferior sort of Brocado. See

BROCA DO, f. m. brocade, a sort of stuff.

BROCARDICO, a, adj. problematical.

BROCATIL, f. m. a kind of linsey-woolsey.

BROCHA, f. f. a clasp; also a tack, a little nail with a head.

Brachas cu preguinhas para pregar nos sapatos, spurables, small nails for shoes.

Bráa de que usão os sapateiros, para pregar os saltos, a shoe-maker's peg.

Brocha, stud, a round-headed nail, or boss.

Brachas de boys, thongs of leather to put and tie the oxen to the yoke.

Brocha, a sort of pencil.

BROCONCELLA, f. f. bronchocele. See PAPEIRA.

BRODIO, f. m. pottage, such as they give to beggars with the broken bread and scraps of the table. From the Italian brodo, broth.

BROMA, f. m. ex. Hé hum bromo, he is a stupid and foolish fellow.

BRONCHIO, f. m. bronchia, a hollow pipe dispersed through the lungs. Pronounce as if it was written Bronquio.

BRONCO, a, adj. coarse, rough, unpolished. See also TOSCO.

BRONZE, f. m. cast copper or brass, a compound metal called bronze, two thirds of which consist of copper, and one third of brass.

BROQUEL, f. m. a round target.

BROQUELEIRO, f. m. a target-maker.

BROSLADO. See BORDADO.

BROSLADOR, &c. See BORDADOR.

BROTADO, adj. See

BROTAR, v. n. to bud, to shoot out in growing; also to produce, to beget, or bring forth. (Metaph.)

BRUÇOS, this word is only used adverbially with the particle de before it; as, Beber de bruços, to drink lying along on the ground.

BRUGO. See BURGO.

BRULHA, f. f. the knob out of which the bud r seth.

Enxertar de brulha, to inoculate, to graft in the bud.

BRULOTE, f. m. a fire-ship.

BRUMA, f. f. (In poetry:) See FRIO.

BRUMAL, adj. belonging to winter, winterly, brumal.

Festas brumales, brumalia, the feast of Bacchus.

BRUMO, f. m. matter coming out of a purrified sore.

BRUNIDO, a, adj. burnished.

BRUNIDOR, or BORNIDOR, f. m. a burnisher; also a burnisher or burnishing-stick.

BRUNIDURA, f. f. a burnishing.

BRUNIR, or BORNIR, v. a. to burnish, or polish; also to iron, to smooth.

Ferro de brunir, a smoothing iron.

BRUSCO, a, adj. See ESCURO.

BRUTA'L, adi. brutish, beastly.

BRUTALIDADE, f. f. brutishness, beastliness.

BRUTALMENTE, adv. brutally, beastly; also rashly; at random.

BRUTE'SCO, f. m. grotesque-work, odd sort of landscapes; rude figures made at the pleasure of the artist, only to please the eye.

BRUTEZA, f. f. See BRUTALIDADE.

BRUTO, f. m. a brute beast, or a brutish man; also rough, coarse, unpolished.

Bruto mar, boisterous sea.

BRUXA, f. f. a shriek-owl, an unlucky bird, formerly; but now it signifies a witch, a hag.

Chupado das bruxas, lean and pale coloured.

BRUXARIA, f. f. See FEITICERIA.

BRUXE'LLAS, Brussels, in French Bruxelles, in Lat. Bruxella; the capital city of Brabant, and of all the Netherlands.

No city in Europe has a finer appearance at a distance, except Naples and Genoa.

BU'A, a word used by children when they want to drink.

BU'IA, a sort of sea fish.

BUB'IM, f. m. a tumour, or swelling in the groin, a bubo.

BUÇARDAS, f. f. p. (in a ship) breast-hooks.

BUCELLA'RIOS, f. m. p. so they called formerly the yeomen of the guard in Spain.

BUCENTA'URO, or (as the vulgar say)

BUCENTORIO, f. m. bucentaurus, or bucentoro, a stately galley, in which the doge and senate of Venice go annually in triumph, on Ascension day, to espouse the sea, by throwing a ring into it.

BUCE'PHALO, f. m. Bucephalus, the name of the famous horse of Alexander the Great.

BUCE'LA, f. f. a sort of pincers used by goldsmiths, to hold diamonds and choose them.

BU'CHO, f. m. the craw or maw of a bird; also the stomach of a man, and of any animal.

Bucho do braço, the brawn of the arms.

Tirar alguma coisa do bucho á alguém, (metaph.) to pump one, or to pump a thing out of one.

BUÇO, f. m. down, downy-beard, soft hair.

BUCO'LICA, f. f. bucolic, a pastoral poem.

Bucólio, a, adj. bucolic, pastoral, belonging to a pastoral poem.

BUDA, f. f. Buda, called Buden by the Turks, and by the inhabitants Offen. It is the principal city of Hungary. The Germans took it from the Turks in 1686, under the duke of Lorraine.

BUEIRO. See CANEIRO.

BU'FA, f. f. foist, fizzle.

Dar bufas, to foist, to fizzle.

BU'FALO, or BU'FARO, f. m. a buffle, a wild ox, or ure ox.

Pelle de búfalo, buff-skin.

BU'FALO, adj. See BUFAR.

BUFAM, f. m. See FANFARRAM, and CHOCARREIRO.

BU'FAR, v. n. to puff, to blow, as a horse or an ox, or as a man in a passion; also to be greedy, or eager after.

BU'FARO. } See { BU'FALO.

BU'FETE. } See { BOFETE.

BU'FO, f. m. an owl.

BUFONERIA, f. f. buffoonery, ridiculous jesting.

BUGA'LHO, f. m. the gall-nut that grows on an oak; also a sort of snare or gin for birds.

Bugalho do olho, the white and the ball, apple, or sight of the eye, all together.

BUGIA, f. f. an ape, or jackanapes.

BUGI'ADO. See

BUGI'AR, v. n. to gesticulate like an ape.

Vai bugiar, (a vulgar saying) go about your business, away, get you gone.

BUGIARIAS, f. f. p. knack, or knick-knack, a trifle, gewgaw, a toy.

BUGIGANGA. See MUGIGANGA.

BUGIO, f. m. an ape.

Bugio de alguém, (metaph.) an ape, mimick, an imitator.

BUIDO. } See { AÇACALADO.

BU'IR. } See { AÇACALAR.

BU'ITRA, f. f. the shelf or till of a printing-press.

BUITRE. See ABUTRE.

BULLA. See BULLA.

BULBUS, (a Latin word) a wild onion.

BULCA'M, ou VULCA'M, f. m. a black cloud.

BULDRIE'. See BOLDRIE'.

BU'LE, f. m. a tea-pot.

BULEBU'LE, a sort of herb; also a restless fellow, one that is always in motion.

BULFERINHEIRO. See BOFARINHEIRO.

BU'LHA, f. f. a quarrel, a strife, a confusion, a disorder, a bustle, a tumultuous commotion, a wrangle.

Fazer bulha, to turmoil, to make a noise, to wrangle.

Amigo de fazer bulhas, a wrangler, a peevish and disputative man.

BULHA'FRE. See BILHAFRE.

BULHA'M, f. m. a spring, the rising up of water, a source.

BULIÇO, or BOLIÇO. See REBOLIÇO.

BULIÇO'SO, or BOLIÇOSO, a, adj. restless, turbulent, always in motion, contentious.

BULIDO, adj. See

BULIR, v. a. to move, to stir. See also FERVER.

Bulir, to move as the child does in the belly.

Não bulais com isso, don't touch that.

Bulir-se, v. r. to stir, to move.

Não vos bulais daqui, don't stir from hence.

BU'LLA, f. f. a bull, or letter from the pope.

Bulla, the pope's bull, so called from the Lat. bullā, being the seal hanging to it.

Bulla de ouro, or Bulla aurea, the golden bull, an ordinance or statute made by the emperor Charles V. A. D. 1536.

BU'LRA, f. f. cheat, fraud.

BULRA'M, f. m. See ILLICLADOR.

BU'MBA, (a vulgar word) ex. Dar muyta bumba, to bang, or to beat soundly.

BURACO, f. m. a hole or gap, hollow place; also a small house, a cottage.

Buraco por onde se enche hum barril, &c. a bung-hole.

Buraco da bexiga, the orifice of the bladder.

Buraco da fechadura, the bore of a lock.

Buraco para esconderse, a lurking-hole.

Couza que tem muitos buracos, hollow, full of holes as a pumice.

BURAQUINHO, f. m. a little hole, diminut. from buraco.

BURA'TO, a sort of fine silk stuff.

BURBULHA. See BORBULHA.

BURBULHO'ENS. See BORBULHOENS.

BURE'L, f. m. a coarse cloth of a darkish colour, such as the Franciscan friars habits are made of.

BURGALÊZ,

BURGALE'Z, f. m. a sort of old coin.
BURGALHA'O, f. m. small shells mixed with small stones, such as are found in the bottom of the sea.
BURGAME'STRE, f. m. a burgher-master; it is not properly a Portuguese word, but is taken from the Dutch, to signify that kind of magistracy.
BURGO. See ARRABALDE.
Búrgo, f. m. a kind of locust, or caterpillar.
BURGRA'VIO, f. m. burghgrave, a title of honour in Germany.
BURGUE'Z, f. m. a citizen, a free-man. From the French bourgeois.
BURIL, &c. See BORIL, &c.
BURLA, f. f. a jest, mock, derision. See also PEÇA, and BULRA.
BURLA'DO. } See { BURLAR.
BURLA'M. } { ILLICIADOR.
BURLA'R, v. a. to jest, to impose upon.
BURLE'SCO, a, adj. burlesque, merry, jocose, comical, mock.
Poesia burlesca, mock-poetry.
BURN'DO, a. See BRUNIDO.
BURN'R. See BRUNIR.
BURRA, f. f. a she-ass.
Parir a burra, to foal, or bring forth a young ass, or ass-colt.
Leite de burra, asses milk.
Burra, an iron chest to keep money.
BURRA'DA, f. f. a drove of asses.
BURRINHA, f. f. a little she-ass, diminut. from burra.
BURRINHO, f. m. a little ass, an ass-colt, or young ass.
Burrinho montez, a foal of a wild ass.
BURRO, f. m. a he-ass; so the Portuguese call also a violent storm upon the coast of St. Thomas.
Burro do mato, or montez, a wild ass.
Ha de dar bom burro ao dizimo, he will be good for nothing.
BU'SCA, f. f. a search, seeking, quest.
Ander em busca de alguém, to inquire after one.
Há muito tempo que ando em busca de fullano, I have been a long time in quest of such a one.
Caô de busca, a finder.
BUSCA'DO, a, adj. See BUSCAR.
BUSCAPE', f. m. a sort of squib that follows the people.
BUSCA'R, v. a. to seek, look for, or search, to quest, or go in quest of, to look about; also to visit, to go to see.
Buscar a vida, to work, to shift for bread, to seek how to live.
Buscar desculpas, to use shifts, to find a hole to creep out at.
Hir buscar, to go for, or to fetch.
Mandar buscar, to send for.
Buscar rodeos, to go about the bush.
Buscar o seu proveito, to mind one's own interest.
O que busca, one that seeks or looks for, a searcher.
Buscar, to quest, to go in quest of, or seek out as dogs do; to vent or wind, as a spaniel does.
Caô que busca bem, a dog that is a good or a high ranger.
Buscar pretexto, to pretend, to cloak under a pretence or blind.
Buscar de que pegar, to seek for a drunken quarrel.
BUSILLIS, f. m. ex. Ahi está o busillis,

the difficulty lies in this point.
BU'SSOLA, f. f. a compass, a sea or mariner's compass.
BUSTELA. See BOSTELA.
BUSTUA'RIOS, f. m. p. bustuarii, a kind of gladiators among the Romans, who fought about the bustum, or funeral pile of a person deceased.
BUTUA, a medicinal root that grows in the city, called Butua, in Africa.
BUXA, f. f. a stopple.
Buxa de espingarda, wad, a stopple of paper, hay, straw, old clouts, &c. which is forced into a gun upon the powder, to keep it close in the chamber.
BUXA'L, f. m. a place set with box-trees. Greek.
BU'XO, f. m. the box-tree.
Buxo do braço. See BUCHO.
Buxo de sapateiro, the mallet used by shoemakers.
BU'Z, hush, hold your tongue.
BU'ZIO, f. m. a diver, one whose profession it is to dive under water to fetch up any thing. Greek.
Buzio, a shell-fish like a horn, or trumpet; also a trumpet, cornet, a swine-herd's horn.
Buzio, he that gathers and takes up shell-fish, an oyster-man, one who fishes for the purple fish.
BU'ZIOS, a sort of shells, in the Maldives, called cowries, or black-a-moor's teeth; and these serve for small coin in several parts of India.
BYZANCIO, or BISANCIO, f. m. Byzantium, the ancient name of Constantinople.

C.

C, f. m. the third letter of the Portuguese alphabet.
C before a, o, u, and the consonants l, r, is pronounced as k; but before e and i takes the hissing sound of s, as well as before a, o, u, when there is a dash under it thus ç.
C before b is pronounced like ch in the English words charity, cherry, &c.
Double c is sounded only before e and i, the first with the sound of k, and the other with the hissing sound of s; as in accidente, accident, pronounce akfidente.
C is a Roman numeral letter, that stands for a hundred, according to this verse.
Non plus quam centum C, litera fertur habere.
When it is marked with a tittle, then it stands for one hundred thousand.
This letter, among the ancients, was a mark of condemnation, and was called the fatal letter.
C, sol, fa, ut, the fourth note in the gamut, or scale of music.

CA', (antiquated word) because.
Cá, adv. here, hither.
Vem cá, come hither.
Huns por cá, outros por lá, some one way, some another.
Cá e lá, hither and thither.
Para cá, denotes the time in which a thing had happened.
A hum mez para cá, a month ago, or since.
Ander de cá para lá, e de lá para acolá, to run backwards and forwards, or ramble here and there.
De quando em cá? how long is it since?
P. cá e lá más fadas ba, that is, it is the same there as here.
Chegaivos para cá, draw near this way.
De então para cá, since that time, from that time.
Da banda de cá, this side.
Ca me entendo, I know what I am about.
Dame cá de beber, give me some drink.
Armar raxoens por da cá aquella palha, to quarrel about nothing.
CAA. (In poetry.) See BRANCO.

Cãz, f. f. p. grey-hairs.
Com cãz, hoary, grey, grey-haired.
Entrar em cãz, to grow grey, or hoary.
CABA'ÇA, f. f. gourd, a pompion, a calabash; also a dry hollow gourd, to keep fish, salt, wine, &c. a gourd bottle.
Cabaça de brinco de orelhas, a longish pearl like a gourd in the ear-rings.
CABACINHA, f. f. a little gourd, diminut. from Cabaça.
CABACINHAS, f. f. p. See COLOQUINTIDA.
CABA'ÇO, f. m. a dry hollow gourd, used by husbandmen to keep seeds.
CABAIA. See CABAYA.
CABA'L, adj. just, exact, complete, that wants nothing.
CA'BALAS, f. f. cabal, a secret science which the Rabbins of the Jews pretend to, by which they unfold all the mysteries in divinity, and expound the scriptures.
CABALLISTA, f. m. a cabalist, a person skilled in the Jewish cabala.
CABALLINA, ex. Fonte caballina, a fountain

tain near Helicon, sacred to Apollo and the Muses.
CABALMENTE, adv. exactly, completely, justly.
CABANA, f. f. a cottage, a cabin, a hut.
CABANEIRA, f. f. a country whore, that goes from one cottage to another.
CABANINHA, f. f. a little cottage, cabin, or hut, diminut. from Cabana.
CABAZ, f. m. a basket of twigs, &c. a frail, a pannier.
CABATA, f. f. a sort of Turkish garment.
CABE, f. m. See PALHETA.
Dar hum cabe, to strike a ball and throw it beyond a certain mark, in the play called ARO, which see.
CABEÇA, f. f. the head, pate, noddle; also mind, thought, imagination, brains, &c.
A parte dianteira da cabeça, the fore part of the head; it is commonly called mo-leira.
Parte posterior da cabeça, or toutiço, the hinder part of the head.
A parte mais alta da cabeça, the top or crown of the head.
Dor de cabeça, head-ache.
Cabeça gressa, a joint-head.
Que tem duas cabeças, two-headed, having two-heads.
De cabeça abaxo, headlong, with the head foremost.
Da cabeça até os pés, from top to toe.
Cem cabeças de gado, a hundred head of cattle.
Cabeça da família, the chief of a family.
Cabeça da provincia, the capital of a province.
Cabeça da junta, the chief man in an assembly.
Cabeça de partido, the head of a faction.
Cabeça de alho, a head of garlick.
Cabeça do dedo, the tip of the finger.
Repartir por cabeça, to share out by the head.
Meter-se hum couso na cabeça, to be persuaded, to conceit, to have a thing in one's head.
Dar com a cabeça pelas paredes, to beat one's head against the wall; (metaph.) to carry on an affair rashly to one's own loss.
Não tem pés nem cabeça, he has neither head nor tail.
Cabeça de vento, addle-headed.
Bico, ou cabeça, a play among children instead of push-pin, for they hold the pin covered with their fingers and ask, head or point? and the other is to guess.
Meter na cabeça, to make one believe.
Governar-se pella propria cabeça, to do a thing of one's own head.
Saber de cabeça, to know by heart.
Levantar a cabeça, to lift up one's head; (metaph.) to mend one's fortune, to grow into a better condition.
Lançar de cabeça, (in agriculture) to bow down the branches of vines, or other plants, and stick them in the ground until they have taken root, before they cut them.
Encostar à cabeça, to bow one's head, or to rest it.
Abaxar a cabeça, (metaph.) to submit, to yield, to buckle to.

Isto vos hade dar na cabeça, the mischief will light upon your own head.
Quebrar a cabeça a alguem, to break one's head about a thing, (metaph.) to trouble or importune him about it.
Quebrar a cabeça, (metaph.) to put one's brains upon the rack about a thing.
Vinho que sobe á cabeça, strong heady wine.
Cabeça, a person, a man.
P. quantas cabeças, tantas carapuças, several men, several minds.
P. quem lhe doer a cabeça que a aperte; we say, if any fool finds the cap fit him, let him put it on.
Tanto por cabeça, so much a head, so much a man, or so much a piece.
Cabeça, head, front, or first rank of a body politic or military.
Cabeça, the head or top of trees, and some plants.
Boa cabeça, a good head piece, a man of great sense.
Crime de primeira cabeça, high-treason.
Cabeça de prego, alfinete, cebola, couve, &c. the head of a nail, pin, onion, cabbage, &c.
Cabeça de linhas, a skain of thread.
Direito de cabeça, head-silver, poll-money, poll-tax.
Não sabe aonde hade dar com a cabeça, he does not know which way to turn himself, he is upon his last legs.
Cabeça do dragão, (in astronomy) dragon's head, a constellation.
Cabeça, (in masonry) a large stone.
Cabeça do arco, so the masons call the outside of an arch.
CABEÇADA, f. f. a blow with the head, the head-stall of a beast, a mad prank; also a nod when one is asleep.
CABEÇAS, (among coach-makers) four pieces of wood used instead of our springs.
CABEÇALHA, f. f. the beam of a cart, or wain.
CABEÇAM, f. m. ex. Cabeçao da capa, the collar or cape of a cloak; also a head-stall to tame colts, a cavesson.
Cabeçum, or direito de CABEÇA, which see.
Cabeçao da camisa de mulher, the body of a smock.
Cabeçao, (among printers) a printer's flower, flourish, or border.
CABECEADO, adj. See CABECEAR.
CABECEAR, v. n. to beckon, shake, or wag the head, to nod; also to nod or threaten to fall, (speaking of edifices.)
Cabecear como quem diz, que sim, to nod unto, to shew assent by nodding the head.
Cabecear, como quem diz, que não, to give a nod for a denial.
Cabecear, como fazem os que estão dormindo, assentados em hum cadeira, &c. to nod, or sleep upon a chair, &c. with a motion of the head.
Cabecear, (among bookbinders) to make head-bands for books.
Cabecear, to approve, to applaud, by nodding the head.
CABECEIRA, f. f. the first place, the beginning, the top.
Cabeceira da cama, the bed's head.
Cabeceiras do governo de hum cidade, the head men of a city.
Cabeceira de hum livro, the head-band of a book.

CABECINHA, f. f. a little head, diminut. from Cabeça.
Cabecinha das ervas, the sharp point of the herbs.
CABEÇO, f. m. the top of a mountain; also a hillock.
CABEÇUDO, a, adj. headstrong, obstinate; also one that has a joint-head or a clumsy-pate.
CABEDAL, f. m. a stock, what a man is worth.
Fazer cabedal de hum couso, to value a thing, to make account of it.
Pouco cabedal faço do que dizeis, I don't care for what you say.
Homem de cabedal, a man of substance.
Metter pouco cabedal, (metaph.) to be stingy, niggardly, penurious, close-fisted.
Grande cabedal, good, or great stock, abundance.
Ter grande cabedal de sciencia, to have a good stock of learning.
Cabedal, (metaph.) means, course, way, expedient. See also CÁUDALOSO.
CABEDELLA de pato, goose-giblets.
CABEDELO, f. m. a heap of sand.
CABEIRO, f. m. one that makes hasts, or handles.
Dentes cabeiros. See DENTES do fiso.
CABELLEIRA, f. f. hair, head of hair; also a wig, or peruke.
Cabelleira curta, a bob, a short peruke.
Cabelleira de rabicho, tail-wig.
Cabelleira de bolsa. See BOLSA.
Cabelleira de nós, a tye-wig.
CABELLEIREIRO, f. m. a peruke-maker.
CABELLINHO, f. m. little hair, diminut. from Cabello.
Cabellinhos das ventas, hairs growing in the nostrils.
CABELLO, f. m. hair; also a hard tumour in a woman's breast that hinders children from sucking.
Anel do cabelo, a curl.
Cabello postiço, false-hair.
Cabello, some large sinews in mutton; &c. which when much boiled, split like hairs.
Trança do cabelo, a lock of hair.
Cabello, que cabe, quando hum pessoa se penteia, hair combed off.
Cabellos brancos. See CÃÃS.
Estar por hum cabelo, to be within a hair's breadth, or within the turn of a die.
Fita ou couso semelhante para atar o cabelo, hair-lace, hair-fillet, to tie up hair with.
Ferro para encrestar o cabelo, a crimping-iron.
Cabello crespo, curled-hair, crisped or frizzled hair.
Cabello corredo, lank hair, that hangs flat down.
Arripiar-se o cabelo, is for the hair to stand up an end, as with a fright.
Arrancar-se os cabellos, to tear one's hair for anger, spite, &c.
Couso que tem pouco cabelo, thin haired.
Couso sem cabelo, hairless, without hair.
Ir pelos cabellos; we say, to go like a bear to the stake, that is, very unwillingly.
CABELLUDO, a, adj. hairy.
Cometa cabelludo, a hairy comet.
CABER, v. n. to be contained in another thing, or to be fit or capable to be contained.

Naõ caber em si de alegria , not to be able to contain one's self for joy, to be overjoyed.	Hottentots, the most southern part of Africa. It was first discovered in the year 1493, by Bartholomew Dias, a Portuguese, in the reign of king John II. and by him called Cabo Tormentoso , i. e. the Cape of Great Storms; but the king called it Cabo de Boa Esperança , the Cape of Good Hope, as now, said he, there was hope of making prosperous voyages to the East Indies; and the latter name it still retains.	Cabrão montez , a wild buck.
Caber a alguém por sorte , to fall to one's lot.	Cabo de boa esperança , a flower so called.	Curral de cabritos , a fold where kids are kept.
Aquella he a parte que me coube , that's fallen to my lot, or share.	Cabo Verde , a promontory on the west coast of Africa. A little west of this cape lies a cluster of islands called the Verd Islands, subject to Portugal.	Cabritos , a constellation called the seven stars. Virgil calls them Hædi .
Caber a alguém fazer alguma cousa, quando por ordem successiva de pessoas, chega o tempo de acudir a alguma obrigação , to fall to one's turn.	CABO'Z , f. m. a sort of fish.	CABRUM , CABRUNA , adj. of, or belonging to goats.
Caber , to become, to be proper, to be suitable or fit.	CABU'UCO . See CAVOUCO .	CABRUNCO . See CARBUNCULO .
Naõ cabe nelle fazer tal cousa , he can't do such a thing, he is far from doing it.	CABU'QUEIRO . See CA'OUQUEIRO .	CABUXA'M , f. m. a stone cut tapering.
Nisto naõ cabe erro , there is no danger of mistaking in this.	CABLA , f. f. a she-goat; also a fish called a rochet.	CA'ÇA , f. f. all sorts of game, or sports, as hawking, hunting, shooting, &c. also the game itself, as fowl, deer, &c. from the Italian Caccia .
CABUDA . See VALIMENTO .	Ave noturna que mama nas cabras , a sort of owl, that in the night sucketh goats; a goat-milker.	Caõ de Caça , a hound or beagle to hunt with.
CABUDE , f. m. a rack to set or hang things on.	Saltar como buma cabra , to caprizate, to leap like a goat.	Caça de passaros que se faz de noite , bat-fowling.
CABUDO , a, adj. gracious, in great favour or esteem, well liked of.	Cousa de cabra , of, or belonging to goats.	Caça de aves , fowling, birding.
Cabido , f. m. a chapter of a church. See also the v. CABER .	Que tem pès de cabra , goat-footed, capripede.	Caça de lieus, veados , games, &c. venery, or hunting.
CABIDOLA , (in printing) ex. Letras cabidolas , large and capital letters or characters.	O pastor de cabras . See CABREIRO .	Livro, que trata desta caça , a venery-book, or a book of venery.
CABILDA , f. f. a pack, or crew of moors that live in the same ward. Arabic.	Curral de cabras , a stable or cote for goats.	Dar caça , to chace, as ships do one another at sea.
CABISALVA , f. f. a bird of prey so called.	Cabra montez , a wild she-goat.	Dar caça , or Seguir a caça , to follow after, to pursue, to run after; both in the proper and figurat. sense.
CABISBA'XO , a, adj. hanging down the head, sorrowful, melancholy, full of grief or shame.	Cabra d'agoa , a water-spider with six feet, that runneth on the top of the water without sinking.	Levantar a caça , to start, to put up, to raise the game.
CA'BO , f. m. the extreme part, the end, the conclusion; also a cape or head-land; also the hilt, haft, or handle of a thing. See also FUNDO .	Cabra , so the Portuguese called some Indians that they found chewing the herb betel.	Andar à caça de gangas , to spend one's time and labour in doing nothing; for gangas are a sort of water fowls so cunning that they suffer the fowler to come within gunshot of them, but before he can take aim they are gone, and so they serve him all the day.
Cabo de faca , a knife-haft.	Cabra cega , blind-man's buff, a sort of play.	Ir à caça de grillos , to go a cricket hunting, to hunt after uncertainties; because when a boy goes to the place where he thought he heard a cricket, he finds him not, but hears the same, or another, a little further, and so lights on none.
Cabo do cavallo , the tail of a horse.	Cabra saltante , a sort of meteor, or exhalation, which taking fire, goes, as it were, skipping in the air, like goats.	Caça , f. f. a fine Indian cotton linen, called muslin.
Cabo de machado , the helve of an ax, or hatchet.	P. cabra way pella vinha, por onde way a may, way a filha : we say, like father like son. Mali corvi malum ovum , say the Latins.	CAÇA'DA , f. f. a hunting-match.
Cabo de navalha de barbear , a razor's scale.	CABRA'DA , f. f. a herd of goats.	CAÇADO . See CAÇAR .
Cabo de cebolas , a rope of onions.	CABRAM . See BODE .	CAÇADO'R , f. m. a hunter, a sportsman, a woodman.
Cabos de hum exercito , the officers or commanders of an army.	Cabraõ capado , a gelded he-goat, a buck.	Caçador de aves , a fowler, a birdcatcher, a hawk.
Cabo de partila . See PARTIDARIO .	Cabram , a patient cuckold.	CAÇADO'RA , f. f. a huntress.
Cabo de esquadra , a corporal, an officer in a company of foot, below the sergeant.	CABRE . See CALABRE .	CAÇAFETA'M . See CACOFONIA .
Logo vai as do cabo , it is but a word and a blow with him.	CA'BREA , f. f. a hulk, a broad vessel or sort of ship for setting in of masts.	CAÇANTE , (in heraldry) that is represented as preying upon.
Levar ao cabo alguma cousa , to go through stich with a thing, to make an end of it.	CABREIRO , f. m. a goat-herd.	CAÇA'O , f. m. cacao, the nut whereof chocolate is made. It is about the bigness of an almond, growing in North America, but not in Peru, whither there are vast quantities carried every year. It once passed current for money.
Fallar com o verbo no cabo , to conclude a period with a verb, which is an elegance, if used without too much affectation.	CABRESTANTE , f. m. the capstan of a ship with which they weigh the anchor.	CAÇA'M , f. m. a sort of fish called sea-lamprey.
Aminha obra esta no cabo , my work is almost over.	CABRESTEIRO , f. m. halter-maker.	CAÇA'PO . See LAPARO .
P. naõ se ha de bir com tudo ao cabo , things must not be carried too far.	CABRESTILHO , f. m. a little halter, diminut. from Cabresto .	CAÇA'R , v. a. to hunt, to hawk, to fowl.
Cáto , a sea term, signifying all the cordage belonging to a ship.	Meyas de cabrestilho , under-stockings, or stirrup-stockings.	Caçar aves , to go a birding, fowling, or hawking.
Dar hum cabo , (a sea phrase) to throw a rope for another to take hold of.	CABRE'STO , f. m. a halter for a beast.	A açam de caçar , hunting.
Colher hum cabo , to coil a cable, (a sea term) or to wind it about in form of a ring, the several circles lying one upon another.	CABRIL , f. m. a stable or cote for goats.	Caçar a vela , (among sailors) to draw a cable, to turn the sail to the wind side.
Cabo de S. Vicente , a cape so called, on the coast of Portugal.	CABRINHA , f. f. a little she-goat, diminut. from Cabra ; also a sort of fish. See RUIVO .	Caçar hum navio , it is said of a ship that is hurried away from her course by strong winds, tides, &c.
Cabo de Boa Esperança , the Cape of Good-Hope, in Caffraria, or the country of the	CABRINHAS , or, as fete Cabrinhas , the constellation called the seven stars, or the Pleiades.	CA'CA , f. f. ordure, filth, dirt; nurses use this word to children to persuade them a thing is filthy, and teach them to say it when they want their chair.
	CA'BRIJO . See CABRUM .	CACARACA ,
	CABRIO'LA , f. f. a caper, a skip.
	CABRITAS , ex. Levar às cabritas , to carry upon the shoulder. (Among boys.)
	CABRITINHO , f. m. little kid.
	CABRITO , f. m. a kid.

C A C

CACARACA, a word made to express the clucking of hens.
Confus de cacaraca, trifles, things of no value.
CACAREJ'ADO, adj. See
CACIREJ'AR, v. n. to cluck as a hen doth for her chickens; also to cackle as the hen doth when she has laid.
A oca de cacarejar, a cackling, or clucking.
CACEA, ex. Hir à cacea. See CACEAR.
CACEADO, a, adj. See
CACEAR, or CASSEAR. See CAÇAR humano.
CACET'Á, f. f. a colander or strainer, used by apothecaries; also a sort of vessel wherein they mix the ingredients for electuaries, cordials, &c.
CACHÊ, f. f. the vying with bad cards in some games; also a sort of Indian cloth. (Metaph.) Dissimulation, dissembling, disguise.
CACHAÇA, f. f. rum, a spirit drawn from the sugar-cane.
CACHACAM, f. m. a blow on the neck.
CACHAÇO. See CERVIZ.
CACH'ADO, a, adj. See CUBERTO.
CACH'AGENS, f. f. p. the passages of the nostrils.
CACH'AM, f. m. a bubble of water, when the pot boils.
Ferver em cachos, to bubble.
CACHAPORRA, f. f. a sort of club that has the figure of a leak. From Porro, a leak.
P. quem dá o seu antes que morra, merece que lhe dêem com huma cachaporra: we say,
 Who gives away his goods before he is dead,
 Take a beetle and knock him on the head.
CACHAPORRA'DA, f. f. a blow with such a club.
CACHEIRA, f. f. a sort of ancient garment. See also CACHAPORRA.
CACHEIRO, f. m. See CAJADO.
CACHE'TICO, or CAQUETICO, a, adj. cachecticus, one that has an ill habit of body.
CACHEXIA, f. f. cachexy, an ill habit of body, proceeding from a bad disposition of the fluids and humours.
CACH'Á. See ACACIA.
CACHIMBA'CHES, f. m. p. iron ware.
CACHIMBA'DO, a. See
CACHIMBA'R, v. n. to smoke or take tobacco.
CACHIMBO, f. m. a pipe to smoke tobacco.
Cozer cachimbos. See COZER.
Cachimbos, a sort of beads made of coquillo.
Cachimbos, (in cant) the feet.
Abalar os cachimbos, to go, or scamper away. (In cant.)
CACHIMONIA, f. f. (a vulgar word.) See JUIZO, and PRUDENCIA.
CACHINHO, f. m. a little cluster, diminut. from Cacho.
CA'CHO, f. m. a cluster.
Cácho de uvas, a cluster of grapes.
Cácho de era, a bunch or cluster of ivy-berries.
CACHOEIRA, f. f. (in the Brasils) a great fall of water from a high place, a cataract.

PART I.

C A D

CACHO'LA, f. f. so they call in some provinces a hog's harlots or entrails.
Cachola, or CACHO'ULA. See TOUTIÇO.
CACHO'LAS, (in a ship) the cheeks.
CACHONDE', f. m. a composition of civet and amber, a fine perfume.
CACHONREIRA, f. f. a large head of hair.
CACHO'PA, f. f. See RAPARIGA.
CACHO'PO, f. m. See RAPAS.
Cachopo, a rock in the sea.
CACHO'RRÁ, f. f. See CADELLA; also a sort of fish so called.
CACHORRA'DA, f. f. a bragget, corbel, a prop, or supporter, to bear up the frieze or any other part of a building; cantalivers.
Cachorra-la, (metaph.) mob, rabble, rascally people.
CACHORRINHA, f. f. a little puppy, a whelp.
Cachorrinha de fralla, a lap-dog.
CACHO'RRÓ, a little dog. See also TARAMELA de Moimbo.
Cachorro do mato, a sort of wild beast.
CACHOULA, f. f. See TOUTIÇO.
CACHU'CHO, f. m. a sort of sea bream that has large teeth.
Cachúcho, the pith of quills.
CACIA, or CACHIA. See ACACIA.
CACICOS, so the Peruvians called their petty princes.
CACI'FO. See SELAMIN.
CACIMBAS, pits made on the sea-shore, to get fresh water.
CACIZ, f. m. a Moorish priest.
CA'CO, f. m. a piece of any broken earthenware, a potsherd.
CACO. See FRIGIDEYRA.
CACOS, f. m. p. lumber, pelf, stuff of very little value.
Fazer em cacos, to break in pieces.
CACOCIMIA, f. f. cacochymy, ill digestion. Greek.
CACOCYMIO, or CACOCHIMO, a, adj. of, or belonging to ill digestion, cacochymic.
CACOFONIA, or CACOPHONIA, a disagreeable sound by a repetition of words.
CACO'ULA. See CASSOULA.
CA'DA, a distributive pronoun, every.
Cada vez, every time.
Cada dia, every day.
Cada hum, every one.
Cada dois ou tres dias, every two or three days.
Cada quando, or Cada vez que, whenever.
Cada qual, every one.
P. cada qual sente seu mal: we say, the wearer best knows where the shoe wrongs him.
CADAFALSO, f. m. a scaffold on which criminals are executed, or any other public act performed.
CADARÇO, f. m. ferret, or flurt silk; a kind of coarse silk, (Persian.)
CADASTE, f. m. the stern-post of a ship. The rudder is hung at it on hinges.
CADAV'ER, f. m. a dead body.
CADAVERICIO, a, adj. cadaverous, like, or belonging to a dead carcass.
CADE'A, f. f. a chain; also a goal.
Balas de cadeas, chain-bullets.
Cadea, (metaph.) an order, a concatenation, a train, a continuance, a chain, a series linked together.

C A D

CADEA'DO, f. m. a padlock.
Reer cadeados, to be in a fret. (Metaph.)
Cadeados, a sort of ear-rings.
CADEIRA, f. f. a chair, a seat.
Cadeira de braços. See BRACO.
Espaldar da cadeira, the back of a chaise.
Cadeira que se dobra, a folding chair.
Cadeira, the hip or huckle-bone, the upper part of the thigh.
Derreado das cadeiras, hipped.
CADEIRINHA, f. f. a little chair; also a chair or sedan.
Sahir em cadeirinha, to go out in a chair.
CADE'LLA, f. f. a bitch.
CADELLINHA, f. f. a little bitch.
CADE'NCIA, f. f. a cadence in music, when coming to the close, two notes are bound together, and the following notes descend.
Cadencia do discurso, cadence, or fall of a discourse.
Cadencia do verso, cadence, or number of a verse.
Que tem cadencia, cadenced, numerous.
Cadencia, genius, one's temper, talent, or disposition.
Não tem cadencia para aquillo, his genius does not run that way.
CADENETAS, f. f. p. a sort of ancient needle-work, like lace.
CADERNA, or QUADERNA, f. f. four together.
Sets cadernas, six times four.
Cadernas, two, four, or eaters, at dice.
CADERNAL, (in a ship) a large block with more than one shiver.
CADE'RNO, or QUADERNO, four or five sheets of paper stitched together.
CADE'XO, f. m. a portion of silk that is fit to be weaved.
CADI, f. m. (among the Turks, &c.) cadí, a sort of justice of peace.
CADI'LHO, f. m. the shagged end of any thing that is woven. From the Hebrew gallim, the ends of cloth.
CADIMO, a, adj. ex. Ladrao cadimo, a notable thief.
CADI'NHO, f. m. a crucible, a sort of vessel in a melting house, wherein metals are melted.
CA'DIZ, the city of CALES, by the Romans called Gades, by the Phoenicians, Gadir, or Gadir, i. e. an inclosure, or place hedged round. It is a famous trading city of Andalusia in Spain.
CADIZADELTAS, f. m. p. Cadizadelites, a kind of stoic sect among the Mathometans, who affect an extraordinary gravity in word and action.
CADO'Z, f. m. a deep place or hole; also the fish called a gudgeon.
Cadoz que tem grande cabeça, quab, a kind of fish, called by some water-wasel.
CADUCA'DO, adj. See
CADUCA'R, v. n. to be decrepit, extreme old, or crazy, to doat; also to diminish, or to grow less.
Bens que caducaraõ, an escheat, a wind-fall.
CADUCEADO'R. See ARAUTO.
CADUCE'O, f. m. a rod, or tip-staff, with two snakes twisted about it, Mercury's wand.
CADU'CO, a, adj. doating; also weak, frail, perishable; also falling of itself without violence, or pulling.
CADUCAS esperanças, vain hopes.

M

Mal caduco, the falling sickness, epilepsy.
CAEDIÇO, a, adj. that is apt to fall down, or give way.
CAES, or CAIS, f. m. the key of a river or haven.
CAFARES. See CAFRES.
CAFE', f. m. coffee.
CAFILA, f. f. a caravan of travellers; also a fleet of trading merchants trading at set times to any certain place. Arabic.
CAFRARIA, f. f. Cafria, or country of the Cafres, a very large tract in the southernmost part of Africa.
CAFRES, f. m. p. the people who live in Cafria, Caffers.
CAFURA, or CAFURNA, f. f. a dungeon, a dark and loathsome place.
CAGADO, f. m. a tortoise. There are tortoises both on the land and in the water.
Cagado, a, adj. beset, bewrayed.
CAGALHO, f. m. a sort of bird.
CAGALUME, or CAGALUZ, f. m. a worm shining by night, a glow-worm.
CAGAM, f. m. one lax of body; also a coward.
CAGANEIRA, f. f. looseness, or lax.
CAGANITAS, f. f. as, Caganita de cabra, the dung of goats; Caganita de ovelha, sheep's dung.
CAGAR, v. a. to go to stool, to cack, to shit.
Cagar-se, v. r. ex. Elle estava cagando se com medo, his heart was even sunk into his breech.
Cagar duro, to have a hard stool.
CAGAROLA, f. m. (a ludicrous word) a coward.
CAGARRAZ, f. m. See MERGULHAM.
CAHIDA, f. f. a fall, ruin, misfortune; also the depression of a planet, when the planet is in a sign which is opposed to that of its exaltation. (In astrology.)
CAHIDO, adj. See CAHIR.
CAHIDOS, f. m. p. arrears, or rents unpaid.
CAHINHEZA. } See MISERIA.
CAHINHO. } See CAINHO.
CAHIR, v. n. to fall, to get a fall, to trip, to fall by losing the hold of the feet.
Cabir de bruças, to fall forward.
Cabir de costas, to fall backwards.
Cabir de cabeça a baixo, to fall headlong.
Cabir ao comprido, to fall all along.
Cabirem os braços a alguém, to be disheartened.
Cabir o coração aos pés, to be without heart, as if dead.
Fazer cabir a alguém na razão, to bring one to reason.
Cabir da memória, to slip out of one's memory.
Cabir na conta, ou na razão, to perceive the mistake.
Cabir em si, to come to one's self again.
Como cabio elle nisso? how came he to do that?
Cabir de hum cavallo, to fall off a horse.
Cabir de forte que fique em pé, to fall upon one's feet.
Cabir em pobreza, to fall poor.
Cabir de baixo, to fall under.
Deixar cabir, to drop, or let fall.
Deixar cabir alguma coisa desmazeladamente, to lob, or let fall a thing in a slovenly manner.
Tornar a cabir, to fall again.
Cabir pelas escadas abaixo, to fall down the stairs.

Cabir de narizes, to fall down upon the face.
Cabir em descuido, to be careless.
Cabir sobre o inimigo, to fall upon the enemy, to attack the enemy. (Metaph.)
Cabir hum navio sobre o outro; it is said of ships that fall foul upon one another, as in a storm.
Cabir sobre alguém fazendo-lhe investidas, to fall foul upon one.
Cabir na desgraça de alguém, to fall under one's displeasure.
Não sey sobre quem cabirá a suspeita, I know not upon whom the suspicion will light, or fall.
Cabir em hum crime, to fall into a crime, to commit a crime.
Não se deixou cabir aquillo no chão, that did not fall to the ground, it was taken up, or taken notice of. (Metaph.)
O meu cabelo cabe todo, all my hair comes off.
Cabião-lhe as lagrimas dos olhos, the tears trickled down his cheeks.
Deixar-se cabir, to get a fall, to fall.
Frutos que cabem com o vento, windfalls, fruit that is blown down by the wind.
Cabir huma estrella, to shoot as a star does.
Não cabis no que se diz, you don't understand what is said.
Cabir de fome, to starve for hunger.
Não posso cabir, em quem he um, I can't recollect who you are.
Cabir bem, to fall conveniently for one's purpose.
Os 27 de Fevereiro que cabiram em Domingo, the twenty-seventh of February, which fell on a Sunday.
Cabir da causa, to be cast in law, to lose the suit. From the Lat. cadere causa.
P. cabir da certãa na brasa, to fall out of the frying-pan into the fire.
CAJADADA, f. f. a blow with a sheep-hook.
P. matar dous coelhos de huma cajadada; we say, to kill two birds with one stone.
CAJADINHO, f. m. a little sheep-hook, diminut. from Cajado.
CAJADO, f. m. a sheep-hook.
CAJADO de agoureiro, the augur's crooked staff, wherewith he used in his office to quarter out the heavens.
CAJAO, or CAJON. See DESGRAÇA.
CAJU, f. m. a sort of tree not very tall, but thick of boughs and leaves, the fruit is like an apple. It is singular in this, that all other sorts of fruits have the stone within, and this has it at the top, raised like a green crest.
CAIACIA, or CAIATIA. See ERVA de Cobras.
CAIBROS, the four pieces of timber at the top of the four corners of a house.
CAIÇALHA, f. f. a pack or multitude of dogs.
CAIMAM, f. m. an amphibious creature like a crocodile.
CAIMBA, f. f. felley.
Caimbas de huma roda, the fellies, or fellows of a wheel.
Caimbas, the pieces put into the bottom of a cloak, or other round garment, to make it hang round.
CAIMBRA. See CAMBRA.
CAINHO, a, adj. (a ludicrous word) clofisted, covetous.
CAIREL, f. m. a lace.
CAIRO, f. m. the outward shell of the nut of the coco-tree, otherwise called the palm-tree, of which in the Maldivé islands they make all their cordage and rigging for ships.

CAIRO, f. m. Grand Cairo, the capital of Egypt, in Africa.
CAJURI, f. m. a sort of tree like the palm-tree in India.
CAIXA, f. f. a sort of small Indian coin. See also CAXO.
CAIXEIRO. See CAXEIRO.
CAL, f. f. lime.
Cal viva, quick-lime.
Callear, or derreter a cal, to kill lime.
Cal amassada com areia para obras, mortar.
Obra de pedra e cal, a building made of stone and mortar.
Estar de pedra e cal, so they call a thing that is solid and firm.
Pedra de cal, lime-stone.
Forno de cal, lime-kiln.
Coche de cal, a hod.
Mço de pedreiro que leva a cal as costas no dito coche, a hod-man, a bricklayer's labourer.
CALA. See CALHETA.
CALABAÇA, f. f. See CABAÇA.
CALABOÇO, f. m. a dungeon.
CALABRE, f. m. a cable.
Calabre para alçar, ou guindar hum peso, the line, or rope that runneth in a pulley.
CALABRIADO. See
CALABRIAR, v. a. ex. Calabriar vinhos, to mix wines, especially red and white.
CALABROTE. See CALABRE.
CALACARIA, f. f. truantise, idleness, or truantship. See also VELHACARIA.
CALACEAR, v. n. to truant, to play the truant, to loiter about. See also VELHAQUEAR.
CALACEIRO. See VADIO, and VELHACO.
CALACERIA. See CALACARIA.
CALADA, f. f. ex. Pela calada, insensibly.
CALADAMENTE, or ACALADA, adv. without noise, silently, tacitly.
CALADO, a, adj. silent, quiet, of few words, close reserved.
Homem calado, a secret or close man that can keep a secret. See also the v. CALAR.
Estar calado. See CALAR-SE.
CALAFATE, f. m. a calker.
CALAFETADO, a, adj. See
CALAFETAR, v. a. to calk
Calafetar hum navio, to calk a ship.
CALAFETO, f. m. oakum, or some other thing, to drive into the seams of ships to keep out the water, or calk ships; also the calking of a ship.
CALAFRIOS. See CALEFRIOS.
CALAIM. See ESTANHO.
CALALUZ, f. m. a sort of large Indian vessel with oars.
CALAM, f. m. a sort of Indian earthen vessel.
Juramento de calam, a sort of ordeal trial, by bitter water, among the Cafres.
CALAMBA, or CALAMBUÇO, a very valuable sort of wood brought from the West-Indies, whereof they make beads.
CALAMIDIDE. See DESGRAÇA.
CALAMPNA, or Pedra CALAMINAR, the calamine stone, brass ore.
CALAMPNTA, f. f. calamint, an herb.
CALAMISTRADO, a, adj. crisped, curled, Lat.
CALAMITA, f. f. load-stone, magnet; also a sort of ESTORAQUE, which see.
CALAMITOÇO.

CALAMITO'SO, a, adj. See DESCRAMADO.

CALAMO, f. m. a straw, or stalk of corn. Calamo aromatico, a sweet cane growing in the East-Indies, Arabia, and Syria.

CALAMOCAR. (A vulgar word.) See FERIR.

CALANDRA, f. f. a calender, an engine to calender cloth.

CALAR, v. a. to conceal, to keep close or secret; also to pull, to bring or let down.

Calar sua mágoa, to conceal one's grief.

Calar a boca, hold your tongue, hold your peace.

Calate que me pagaras, I'll be revenged on you, you shall pay for it.

Quem cala consente, silence gives consent.

Calar a bayoneta, to fix the bayonet in the musquet.

Calar os piques para resistir á cavallaria, to present the pikes against the cavalry.

Fazer calar, to command or impose silence, to make one hold his tongue, to stop one's mouth, to silence him.

Calar o melão, to cut a bit out of a melon, to taste it, which is customary in Portugal and Spain before they buy it.

Calar, to pierce through.

Calar, v. u. to be quiet or still, to make no noise.

Calar-se, v. r. to hold one's tongue, one's peace, or one's prating; to be silent, to forbear talking, to keep silence; also to slip or steal away.

P. que nos calamos, let us both be quiet, for we have both our own; when two have reflected hard upon one another; that is, we have both got as good as we brought.

P. ao bom calar chamao fante, good silence is called holiness; that is, to be moderate in talk is a sign of virtue, because he who talks little is not given to detraction.

CALATRAVA, a military order in Spain, instituted under Sancho III. king of Castile, when that prince took the strong fort Calatrava, from the Moors of Andalusia; he gave it to the Templars, who wanting courage to defend it, returned it him again. Dom Raimond, native of Bureva in Navarre, abbot of the monastery of St. Mary of Hytero, and of the order of the Cistercians, accompanied with several persons of quality and courage, made offer to defend this place, which the king thereupon delivered to them, and instituted that order, in 1158, which increased so much under the reign of Alphonso, king of Castile, that the knights desired that they might have a great-master, which was consented to, and the first was don Garcia Randen.

There are now about eighty commanderies of these knights in Spain, who at the beginning wore a white robe and scapulary, as the monks of the Cistercian order do. But pope Benedict XIII. dispensed with this garb, and Paul III. gave them leave to marry once.

CALÇADA, f. f. a pavement, the stones of a street or highway.

Dinheiro para concerto das calçadas, pavement.

CALÇADO, f. m. shoes, slippers, boots, &c. any thing that covers the foot and leg.

CALÇADO, a, adj. ex. Caô calçado, a dog with white feet.

Pombo calçado, a pigeon with hairy feet. See also the v. CALCAR.

CALÇADO, a, adj. See CALCAR.

CALÇADO'R, f. m. a shoeing horn, a shoeing piece of fur, any thing that helps the shoe on.

CALÇADO'URO, the corn that is to be threshed upon the threshing-floor; also the vessel or place where grapes are stamp-ed and trod for wine.

CALÇADURA, f. f. that part of a spur that surrounds the heel.

CALÇAMARES, a sort of birds by the Cape of Good Hope.

CALCANHAR, the heel, the hinder part of the foot.

CALCAR, v. a. to press, to weigh down, to tread upon; also to cram, to thrust close.

CALÇAR, v. a. to shoe, or put on the stockings; also to pave.

Calçar huma arvore. See AMOTAR.

Calçar a roda de hum carro, para que não corra para baixo, to clap a stone to a wheel that it may not turn, to scott, or to scotch a wheel.

Calçar tantos pontos, to wear a shoe of such a size.

Calçar-se, v. r. to put on one's shoes, stockings, &c.

CALÇAS, f. f. p. a leg-harness, or greaves.

CALCEDONIA, a kind of onyx-stone, called chalcedony.

CALCE'TA, f. f. a fetter, or shackle for the feet.

CALCETEIRO, f. m. he who makes or sells CALÇAS, which see; also a paviour.

CALCE'Z, f. m. a step in a ship, that piece of timber whereon the mast or capitan's stand.

CALCINAÇA'M, f. m. calcination, reducing to powder.

CALCINA'DO, a, adj. See

CALCINAR, v. a. to calcine, to burn to a cinder.

Calcinar com detonacão, to detonise, to calcine with detonation.

CALÇOENS, f. m. p. breeches.

CALCORREAR, v. n. (in cant) to run very fast.

CAL'LCOS, (in cant) the shoes.

CALCULADO, a, adj. See

CALCULAR, v. a. to calculate, to reckon or compute.

CAL'CULO, f. m. calculation, computation, reckoning, account; also a little pebble, or great stone, such as the ancients used to reckon with; also the stone in the reins or bladder.

CALCURRIA'DO. See

CALCURRIAR, v. n. See CALCORREAR.

CAL'DA de conserva, the juice of fruits seasoned with sugar.

CAL'DAS, f. f. p. hot-baths, hot-waters.

CALDEADO, a, adj. See

CALDEAR, v. a. ex. Caldear o ferro, to make iron hot, to work it so.

Caldear a cal. See CAL. See also CONFIRMAR. (Metaph.)

CALDE'IRA, f. f. a kettle, a scether, a boiler, a pot; also a cauldron or kettle, in which wool is dyed, a dying vat.

Peixe caldeira, a grampus.

Caldeira de cisterna, a hollow place in the bottom or pavement of a cistern.

Concertar caldeiras, taxos, &c. to tinker.

Caldeira, (in agriculture) a little ditch, or trench made round the trees, to keep the water in.

Caldeira de Pedra betelha, it signifies hell. Covarrubias supposes this. Mr. Peter, &c. was some dyer who had a vast great kettle.

CALDEIRA'DA, f. f. a kettle full.

CALDEIRA'M, f. m. a large kettle; also a great fish called a whirlpool, a kind of whale.

CALDEIRA'M, (in music) a print that denotes a cadence, and is marked thus (c).

CALDEIREIRO, f. m. a brasier.

Caldeireiro que concerta taxos, caldeiras, &c. pelas ruas, a tinker, a mender of vessels of brass, &c.

CALDEIRINHA, f. f. a little kettle, diminut. from Caldeira.

CALDINHO, f. m. small broth, diminut. from CALDO.

CAL'DO, f. m. broth.

Hir ao caldo, to repair for alms to the monasteries, &c. See SOPA.

CALÉ', the ancient name of Oporto, or Port à Port, a city and well known seaport of Entre Douro e Minho, in Portugal.

CALCUT, f. m. Calicut, a town and kingdom in the East-Indies, in the country of Malabar, in the Peninsula on this side Ganges. The Portuguese gained there very great victories about the end of the last century; and it was the first place they landed at in 1498, when they found the way to India by the Cape of Good Hope.

CALEDON'IA, f. f. Caledonia, that part of Scotland lying on the north of the Firth of Forth.

CALEDONIO, or CALIDONIO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Caledonia, or Scotland.

Selva Caledonia, the forest on the mountain Grantzbaie, in Scotland.

CALEFR'OS, CALAFRIOS, f. m. p. shivering, or cold fits, such a shuddering and quivering as precedes an ague fit; horror.

CAL'EIRO, or CAYEIRO, f. m. a lime-maker.

CAL'EJADO, a, adj. See

CAL'EJAR-SE, v. r. to wax hard, or callous.

CAL'ENDAS, f. m. p. calends, the first days of every month. Greek. It is also taken for the eve-day before some festival or holiday.

CALENDA'RIO, f. m. a calendar or political distribution of time, accommodated to use, and taken from the motions of the heavenly bodies; an almanack.

CALÉ'S, in Latin Caletum, Calais, a fortified town in the county of Oye, in the government of Picardy and Artois, in France, with a harbour on the English Channel, on the straight called Pas de Calais, which is between six and seven French leagues, or twenty-two English miles broad, to Dover in Kent.

CALÉ'TE. See TEMPERAMENTO.

CALÉ'XE, f. m. a calash, or chariot. French.

CALHA, f. f. (at nine pins) the space between one row and the other.

CALHAMAÇO, f. m. a sort of coarse linen-cloth.

CALHA'NDRA, f. f. a lark.

CALHANDRE'IRA, f. f. a woman that cleans the close-stool pan.

- CALHA'NDRO. See BACIO, and CAL-HANDRA.
- CALHA'O, f. m. a flint-stone.
Duro como calh o, hard as flint.
- CALHE, (in a garden) a walk; also a mill-leat.
- CALHE'TA, f. f. a small creek, bay, or station for ships.
- CALIBRE, or CALIBER, the diameter of the mouth of a gun; also the weight of a bullet.
- Calibre, (metaph.) fort, quality, power.
- CALI'ÇA, f. f. rubble, or rubbish of old ruinous houses, fallen to the ground.
- CAL'ICE. See CALIS.
- CALIDA'DE, f. f. quality, condition, nature.
- Boa calidade*, good sort or quality, qualification, accomplishment.
- M  calidade*, an ill or bad quality, a bad sort.
- Calidade*, quality, noble birth.
- Calidade*, (among philosophers) quality, any property or affection of a being, whereby it affects our senses so and so, and acquires such a denomination.
- Calidade*, quality, title.
- Elle n  tem as calidades necess rias para isso*, he is not qualified for that.
- CALIDO, a, adj. See QUENTE.
- CALIDO'NIO. See CAL DONIO.
- CAL'FA, CALIFE, or CAL'PHA, a caliph; the title of the successors of Mahomet, in the sovereignty. Arabic.
- CALIFA'DO, the dignity of a caliph.
- CALIFICA' AM, or QUALIFICA' AM, f. f. the exact judgment or censure of any thing, or person, also an argument, a reason, a proof.
- CALIFICA'DO, a, adj. qualified, well-tried, approved, excellent; also substantial, sufficient, creditable, of good account. See also the v. CALIFICAR.
- CALIFICADO'R, f. m. he who qualifies, describes, or gives the character of.
- Calificador*, or QUALIFICADOR do santo officio, qualicator, a divine appointed to qualify, or declare the quality of a proposition brought before the inquisition in Portugal, &c.
- CALIFICA'R, v. a. to qualify, to declare good or bad; also to make noble, or illustrious.
- Calificar-se*, v. r. to make one's self reputable, or noble.
- CALIFICATIVO, a, adj. that qualifies, or gives the character of.
- CALIFO'RNIA, f. f. California, a peninsula, confining on the Pacific Ocean, to the north-west and south, and also the gulf of the same name, which separates it from Mexico in North America.
- CALIGEM, f. f. dimness.
- CALIGINO'SO, a, adj. dark, misty, dim, full of obscurity.
- CALIS, or CALIZ, f. m. a chalice, such as the priest uses at mass. See also CADIZ.
- CALLAR. See CALAR.
- CALL'OPE, f. f. Calliope, one of the Muses.
- CAL'MA, f. f. hot, the heat. See also BONAN A.
- Faz alma*, it is hot.
- Abrazar com calma*, to be burning hot.
- V o as cainas diminuindo*, the heat abates.
- CALMADO. See
- CALMA'R, v. a t. (a vulgar word) to strike, to beat.
- CALMOU-me na cabe a, he struck me on the head.
- CALMARTA, f. f. a calm, when the sea is quiet and still, without the least breath of wind.
- CALMORREAR, (a ludicrous word.) See CALMAR.
- CALMO'SO, a, adj. very hot.
- CALO, or CALLO, f. m. a hard skin, a skin hardened with too much labour.
- CALOS nos dedos dos p s*, corns on the toes.
- Ter feito calos no trabalho*, to be inured to labour.
- Ter feito calos no vicio*, (metaph.) to be hardened in vice.
- Ter feito calo na paci ncia*, to be inured to suffer.
- P o de calo*, bread made of dough that has been too much kneaded, and has no eyes after being baked.
- CALOMELA'NOS, f. m. calomel, or prepared quicksilver.
- CALO'R, f. m. heat, warmth.
- Dar calor*, to make hot, or warm.
- Dar calor*, (metaph.) to favour, to countenance.
- Dar calor   guerra*, to set the war on foot again.
- Tomar calor*, to grow hot.
- Tomar calor*, (metaph.) to be renewed.
- Com calor*, fervently, vehemently, ardently.
- CALO'SO, or CALLOSO, a, adj. full of corns, or hard skinned, callous.
- CALO'STRO. See COLOSTRO.
- CALO'TE, f. m. a trick, a wile; as pregar hum calote a alg em, to trick, or to put a trick upon one. It is particularly said of those that borrow money, &c. and do not pay it.
- CALOTEAR, v. n. to trick, or to put a trick upon one. See CALOTE.
- CALOTEROS, f. m. p. Caloyers, or Calogers, a sort of monks in Greece, and elsewhere.
- CAL'VA, f. f. the head of a bald-pated man.
- CALVA'RIO, f. m. Calvary, a mountain without the city of Jerusalem, where Christ our Saviour was crucified, so called from the skulls of dead men found there; also a sort of ancient Portuguese coin, in the reign of John III.
- Pregar ou fazer hum calvario   alg em*, to put a cheat upon one.
- CALU'DA, (a vulgar interjection) but hush, or mum for that, not a word of the pudding, be sure to keep counsel.
- CALVE'TE, f. m. a pointed stake, used to impale people.
- CALUMNIA, f. f. a calumny, a slander, a false accusation; also Calumny, an Athenian deity, in honour of whom they built a temple.
- Juramento de cal nia*, (a law term) the oath the plaintiff takes that he does not bring his suit out of malice.
- CALUMNIADO, a, adj. See CALUMNIAR.
- CALUMNIADO'R, f. m. a slanderer.
- CALUMNIADO'RA, f. f. she which accuses falsely, a slanderous woman.
- CALUMNIAR, v. a. to accuse, or charge falsely, to slander. See also CONDENAR.
- CALUMNIO'SO, a, adj. slanderous.
- CAL'VO, a, adj. bald, without hair; also without leaves, or trees.
- Fazer se calvo*, to grow bald.
- CALURO'SO, ex. O caluroso do tempo, the heat of the weather.
- CALYPHA. See CALIFA.
- CALYPSO, f. f. Calypso, the daughter of Oceanus, or, as others say, of Atlas and Tethys.
- CAMA, f. f. a bed; also any thing that is strewn, all that is laid on a bed, as a rug, coverlet, &c.
- Cama do mel o*, the bed a melon grows on.
- Fazer a cama a hum negcio*, to contrive, the compassing of a business.
- Estar de cama*, to lie sick a-bed.
- Que esta de cama*, bed-ridden.
- Hir para   cama*, to go to bed.
- Estarna cama*, to lie a-bed.
- Cama*, or camada de cal, a lay of mortar.
- Cama de dormir a sesta*, or ripan o, a bed of ease, or couch, a day-bed.
- Cama do cavallo e outras semelhantes mi-maes*, litter, or straw laid under beasts.
- Cama de javali*, the slough of a wild boar.
- Cama de raposa, lobo, &c.* a den or place where beasts resort to lie.
- Cama de veado ou cor a*, the lodge of a deer, the lair of a stag.
- Cama de penas*, a feather-bed.
- Cama de noivos*, a bride or nuptial bed.
- Cabeceira da cama*, the bed's-head.
- P s da cama*, the bed's-feet.
- Cama do feiti o de guarda-roupa*, a press-bed.
- Cama que de dia serve de mesa*, a table-bed.
- Cama que se fecha de dia e serve de banco*, a settle-bed.
- Lado da cama*, bed-side.
- Primeira cama de fruta ou flores*, the first fruits or flowers of some plants that bear them more than once a year.
- Lan ar camas de sal*, to salt, as people do in curing fish, salting beef, &c.
- CAMA'DA, an eruption, or breaking out into pimples, as it happens in the small-pox, itch, &c. See also CAMA.
- Grande camada de catarro*, a great cold. See also CAMA.
- CAMAFE'O, f. m. any precious stone with figures in it.
- CAMA'LDULAS, f. f. p. a sort of chaplet of beads.
- CAMALDULE'NSE, adj. ex. congrega  o camaldulense, Camaldoli, a religious order, founded by St. Romuald about the end of the tenth century.
- CAMALE M, f. m.ameleon, a creature like a lizard, frequenting the rocks, living on the air or flies, which, as it is said, can turn himself into all colours but red and white.
- Camale m*, (metaph.) a person that is only taken with shew and parade.
- CAMALH M, de lavoura, a ridge, or piece of land lying between two furrows, whereon the corn groweth.
- CAMA'M, f. m. a kind of bird with long red legs and bill, that drinketh as if he bit the water. Lat. porphyrio.
- C MARA, f. f. a bed-chamber. Greek. See also OFFICIAL.
- Mo o da camara*, a valet de chambre.
- Camara de ferro*. See GRILHAM.
- Camara*, a place of public council, a town-house, the house in which the corporation of a town or city meets; also the chief magistrate or corporation of a town or city.
- Camara*, (in gunnery) the chamber of a gun.
- Camara ou senado da camara*, the senate.
- Camara do senado*, the senate-house.
- Camara *, a sort of herb in the Brasils.
- CAMARABA'NDO, f. m. a sort of girdle.
- CAMARA'DA,

CAMARA'DA, f. m. a companion, a comrade, a fellow-foldier; also company, crew.
CAMARAM, f. m. a shrimp, a prawn; also a sort of grapes.
CAMARAS, f. m. p. a looseness, a flux. Fazer camaras. See CAGAR.
CAMARASTINHA, a little bed-chamber, diminut. from Camara.
CAMARÇAM, f. m. a little copse or wood; also any sandy land.
CAMARÇO, (in some game at cards) ex. Dar camarço, to get all the tricks.
Ficar camarço, (metaph.) to be at a stand, not to know what to say.
Camarço, (metaph.) blow, misfortune, cross, accident, sickness.
CAMAREIRA, f. f. a lady of the bed-chamber to the queen.
CAMAREIRO, f. m. a valet de chambre; also a close-stool.
Camareiro mor, a chamberlain, the first officer of the king's bed-chamber.
CAMARE'NTO, a, adj. lax of body, loose with flux.
CAMARIM, f. m. a jewel-house.
CAMARINHAS, f. f. p. the fruit of a kind of shrub that grows wild in Portugal, and almost in shape like wild currants.
CAMARISTA, f. m. he who serves as a CAMAREIRO mor, which see.
CAMAROTE, f. m. a cabin in a ship; also a box in a play-house.
Camarote, que está de huma parte ou lado na casa da comedia, a side-box.
CAMARTE'LO, f. m. a sort of pick-axe and large hammer at the same time, to break stones with.
CAMBADA, f. f. it is said of things that are threaded as a needle.
Cambada de peixes, fishes that hang together on a twig, or cord.
CAMBAD'ELLA, f. f. a tumbling trick.
CAMBADO, a, adj. See CAMBAYO.
CAMBADA. See CAMBAYA.
CAMBALACHA. See TRAMOYA.
CAMBAPE', f. m. a trip, or the Cornish hug.
Dar hum cambapé a alguem, to trip one up, to trip up his heels.
CAMBAR, v. n. to straddle, to go straddling. See also TROCAR.
CAMBAS, f. f. p. the pieces that make the round of a wheel, called the fellyes. See also NESGAS.
CAMBAYO, f. m. bow-legged, that goeth shambling, or shawling.
CAMBETAS, f. f. p. staggering, reeling.
CAMBLTEADO. See
CAMBETE'AR, v. n. to stagger, to reel.
CAMBIADO, a, adj. See CAMBIAR.
CAMBIADOR, f. m. a money-changer, a banker.
CAMBIANTES. (In painting.) See COR, and FURTACORES.
CAMBIAR, or dar a cambio, to put out money to use.
CAMBIO, f. m. exchange, trucking; also change, or the profit of a banker, use-money.
Letra de cambio, a bill of exchange.
O cambio esta muito alto, the change is very high.
Dar a cambio, to put out money to use, or to lend it out upon use.
Tomar a cambio, to take up money at interest.

Cambo, f. m. a hook, or fork. See also CAMBIO.
Cambo de peixes. See CAMBADA.
CAMBO'AS, f. m. p. (in the province of Minho) a fish-garth, a dam, or wear in the sea coast, made for the taking of fish.
CAMBOLIM, f. m. a sort of cloak for the rainy-weather. See also BUREL.
CAMBRÁ, or CAMBRÁ, f. f. a kind of cramp, stiffness of the nerves.
Cambrá, ou espinheiro alvar. See ALVAR.
CAMBRAY, cambric, so called because first brought from Cambray, in the Low-Countries.
CAMBRIDGE, Cambridge, in Latin Cambrigio, the capital of a county in England of the same name. It is an university; and the library contains about forty-four thousand books.
CAMBROENS, f. m. p. way-thorn, buck-thorn.
CAMBULHA'DA, f. f. (a vulgar term) a heap of things of the same kind.
CAMBULIM. See CAMBOLIM.
CAME'DRYOS, f. m. p. an herb called water-germander.
CAMELEAM. See CAMALEAM.
CAMELETE, a sort of cannon, diminut. from Camelo.
CAME'LO, f. m. a camel; also a sort of cannon formerly used.
Palha de camelo. See PALHA.
CAMELOPARD'AL, f. m. a beast like a camel and a panther; also a constellation by Cassiopea.
CAME'NAS, f. f. p. (in poetry) the Muses.
CAMERA. } See { CAMARA.
CAMERAM. } See { CAMARAM.
CAMERA'RIO, ex. Corpo camerario, a part of the brain which is in the uppermost hollow of the skull. (In anatomy.)
Camerário, f. m. an ancient dignity in the episcopal churches.
CAMEREIRO mor. See CAMAREIRO.
CAMERINHAS. See CAMARINHAS.
CAMERISTA. See CAMARISTA.
CAMERLE'NGO, f. m. the pope's great chamberlain.
CAM'LLHA, f. f. a couch, or pallet-bed.
CAMINHA. See CAMILHA.
CAMINHA'DO, a, adj. See CAMINHAR.
CAMINHANTE, f. m. a traveller, a way-faring man.
CAMINHAR, v. n. to travel, to go, to walk.
CAMINHEIRO, f. m. a man sent on purpose, as an express, or a courier.
CAMINHO, f. m. a way, a road, space to go from one place to another; also way, means, expedient, course. (Metaph.)
Caminho, or estrada real, the king's highway, a great road.
Caminho frequentado, a common beaten way.
Caminho estreito, a little narrow way, a path.
Lugar em que se encontraõ dous, tres, quatro, &c. caminhos, a place where two, three, four, &c. ways meet, a cross-way.
Porse a caminho, to set out on a journey, to begin a journey.
Andar caminho, to go on, or forward in one's journey.
Adiantar caminho, the same.
Hum dia de caminho, a day's journey.
Não leva esse caminho, that is not likely.
Caminho dos carros, the cart-way.

Ir fora do caminho, to be out of the way, either really in travelling, or to err in opinion, or in one's methods.
Turnar ao caminho, to return into the right way; (metaph.) to be reduced to reason.
Estais fora do caminho, you are out of the way.
Perder-se no caminho, to go out of one's way.
Caminho ruim por causa das chuvas, a deep way.
Caminho que custa a subir, a craggy, or steep way.
Caminho de santiago, that part of the sky called the milky way.
Eu fui andando meu caminho e não disse huma palavra, I went my way, and said not a word.
Não sei que caminho hei de tomar, I know not which way to turn myself. (Metaph.)
Por que caminho hides? which way do you go?
Mostrar o caminho a alguem, (metaph.) to shew one the way, to give him an example.
Vay pello teu caminho, go your ways.
Falta-nos ainda muito caminho ate lá, we are a great way off, or we have a great way thither yet.
Impedir o caminho a alguem, to stand in one's way.
Ir de caminho, to travel.
De caminho, by the way.
V. y de caminho, go, make haste.
Pobre que pede pellos caminhos sem ter caça, a way-goer, a lazy beggar, a mumper.
O que tem cuidado dos caminhos publicos, the overseer of the highways.
Partir, or ir caminho de França, to go towards France.
De hum só caminho, by the way, at the same time.
Elle está no caminho seguro para enriquecer, he is in a fair way to raise his fortune.
Tomar mão caminho, to take, or follow bad courses.
Não sei que caminho levou, I do not know what is become of it.
Isto não leva caminho, this won't do.
P. fazer de hum caminho dous mandados; we say, to kill two birds with one stone.
P. por toda a parte ha hum pedaço de mau caminho, whatsoever way you go, you'll meet with some inconveniency. When a business is cross and difficult every way.
CAMPSA, f. f. a shirt. St. Isidorus, lib. xix. cap. 22. says, Camisas, vocamus quod in his dormimus in camis, id est, in stratis nigris; also a plaster, or plastering. (In the mason's work.)
Camisa de mulher, a smock, a woman's shift.
Deixar á hum homem em camisa, to strip a man to his shirt.
Fugir em camisa, to run away in one's shirt.
Que não tem camisas, lack linen, wanting shirts.
Camisa de cobra, the slough, or cast skin of a snake.
Camisa, (in fortifications) a narrow wall round a castle.
CAMISO'TE, f. m. a fine shirt with ruffles.
CAMOE'ZA, f. f. a pippin.
Maceira camoeza, the pippin-tree.
CAMPA, f. f. a grave-stone; also a small bell.
CAMPA'DO, a, adj. See CAMPAR.
CAMPA'NHA, f. f. a little bell.

Campainha da boca, (in anatomy) the uvula.
Campainha abatida, columella, an inflammation of the uvula, when it is extended in length like a little column.
Campainha, the herb withwind, or bindweed.
Campainhas, the herb bell-flower.
Campainha, (metaph.) a publisher, proclaimer, or setter forth of things.
CAMPAL, adj. ex. Batalha campal, a pitched battle.
CAMPANA. See ELLENA campana.
CAMPANADO, a, adj. campaniform, shaped something like a bell.
CAMPANARIO, f. m. a steeple, a belfry.
CAMPANHA, f. f. (a military word) a campaign, a field expedition, or summer's war.
Meter-se em campanha, to begin the campaign, to open the field.
Peça de campanha, a field-piece.
CAMPANIL, f. m. copper. Lat. cyprum as.
CAMPANUDO, a, adj. fine, excellent, spruce.
Palavras campanudas, big words.
CAMPAR. See AQUARTELLAR; also to shine, to be remarkable, to look gay.
CAMPEADO, a, adj. See CAMPEAR.
CAMPEADOR. See CAMPEAM.
CAMPEAN, or CAMPIAM, f. m. a champion.
CAMPEAR, v. n. to encamp; also to command. (Metaph.)
Castello que campea sobre algum lugar, a castle that commands a place.
Campear, to shine, to be remarkable; also to reign, to sway, or bear sway, to predominate, to have the upper hand; also to cope with one, to strive with.
CAMPECHE, f. m. a city and a sea-port in the province of Yucatan, in North America, in nineteen degrees of north latitude, and fifty leagues south-west of the city of Merida. This place gives its name to the Campechy-wood, otherwise called log-wood, or block-wood, used in dying.
CAMPESTRE, adj. belonging to the field, rude, rustic, campestrial.
CAMPORA. See CANFORA.
CAMPIDO, a, adj. See CAMPIR.
CAMPINA, f. f. a campaign, a plain; they also say, Terra campina, a flat open country.
CAMPINHO, f. m. a little field, diminut. from Campo.
CAMPIR, v. a. is for painters to put the sky parts in a picture after drawing it.
CAMPPO, f. m. a field; also a camp, or army, the field for armies, and the field in heraldry; also space, room, opportunity, time.
Campo lavrado, mas ainda não semeado, land ploughed, but unsown.
Campo que se lava a primeira vez na primavera, e que se deixa descansar até o outono, land that hath been fallow, and is turned in the spring, and resteth till autumn.
Campo que se deixa descansar hum anno depois da primeira lavra, land that resteth a year after the first ploughing.
Campo que se lava e em que se semea todos os annos, land that is sown and tilled every year.
Nos passamos o inverno na cidade, e o verão no campo, we passed the winter in town, and the summer in the country.

Homem do campo, a country-man.
Mulher do campo, a country-woman.
Ir para o campo, to go into the country.
Sahir a campo, to take the field, to begin the battle.
Viver no campo, to live in the country.
Vida do campo, a country-life.
Casa do campo, a country-house.
Affentar o campo, to pitch one's camp.
Levantar o campo, to decamp, to go from, to break up the camp, to march off.
A acção de deixar o campo, decampment, a decamping or marching off.
Ficamos senhores do campo, we won the field, we remained masters of the field.
Perder, or deixar o campo, to lose the day.
Campo volante, a flying camp.
Campo de desfofo, camp, or lists, the place where camp-fights were anciently fought.
Cousa pertencente ao campo, ou arroyal, of, or pertaining to the camp, or field, to the army or war.
Mestre de campo. See MESTRE.
Campo, (metaph.) a large subject to treat of, a field of discourse.
Campos Elysos, the Elysian fields, where the poets feigned the souls of good men went to rest.
Campo de Ourique, a place in Portugal, famous for a signal victory obtained there by king Alphonso, against five Moorish kings.
CAMPONEZ, a, adj. pertaining to the country, rustical, rural; also plain, simple.
Camponez, f. m. a country-man.
CAMPONEZA, f. f. a country-woman.
CAMINHOS, a little dog, diminut. from Caô.
CAMURÇA, f. f. shamois, or chamois, a kind of wild goat.
Que tem cor de camurça, of the colour of shamois leather.
Pelle de camurça, shamois, chamois, or chamoys leather, commonly called shammy, the skin of a kind of wild goat.
CANA, or CANNA, f. f. a cane, a reed.
Nó da cana, the knot or joint of a cane.
O espaço, que ha entre hum nó e outro nas canas, the space between two knots in a cane.
Cana do trigo, halm, or haulm, the stem or stalk of corn.
Cana de pescar, a fishing-rod.
Cana da perna, the shin, the fore-part of the leg.
Cana de açúcar, a sugar-cane.
Cana do bofe. See ARTERIA aspera.
Cana do leme, the whip, or whip-staff, a piece of timber fastened in the helm, thereby to move the helm and steer the ship.
Cana da India, or Bengala, a fine Indian cane.
CANABRAS, or CANNABRAS, f. f. cow-parsnip, a plant.
CANADA, f. f. a measure in Portugal, containing three English pints; also a by-way for carts, not a main road.
CANAFISTULA, f. f. purging cassia, or huddling-pipe tree.
CANAFRECHA, or CANNAFRECHA, f. f. an herb like big fennel, and may be called fennel-giant.
CANA'L, f. m. a trunk, or pipe for the conveyance of water; a canal, or kennel.
Canal de Inglaterra, the English channel.

Canal de huma columna, the channel of a pillar.
Canal, a town belonging to the province of Alentejo, in Portugal, famous for the signal victory obtained over the Spaniards in the year 1663.
CANA'LHA, f. f. the rabble, the multitude, the mob. From Caô, a dog, as if no better than dogs.
Ca'NAMO. See LINHO.
CANAPE', f. m. a sofa.
CANA'RIAS, f. f. p. the Canaries, a cluster of seven islands, which lie in the Atlantic Ocean. They were first discovered by the Carthaginians; since which time they lay long concealed, till the Spaniards again discovered them in 1493, and are still in the possession of them. They are called Fortunadas, i. e. fortunate.
CANARIM, f. m. a sort of low Indian officer.
CANA'RIO, f. m. a Canary-bird.
Canarios pequeninos, que ainda não podem comer por si mesmos, pushers. Canary-birds that are new flown, and cannot feed themselves.
CANAS, the plural of CANA, which see.
Jogo das canas, a sport or exercise used by gentlemen on horse-back, representing a fight, with reeds instead of lances.
Correr as canas, to make such a representation.
Cânas, a pitiful village of Apulia, in the kingdom of Naples and territories of Bari, near the river Aufidus; noted for a great overthrow which Hannibal gave to the Romans there, wherein about forty thousand men were slain; and among them such a number of gentry, that he sent to Carthage three bushels of rings, as a testimony of the victory.
CANA'STRA, f. f. a great basket. Greek.
Canastra, a dorfel, dorfser, or dossier, a panier or basket, to carry things on horse-back.
Costas de canastra, so the vulgar call a person that has good broad shoulders.
Jejuar pelas almas das canastras, (a vulgar phrase) it is said of one that does not keep his fast.
CANASTREIRO, f. m. he who makes canastras; a basket-maker.
CANASTRINHA, f. f. a little basket, diminut. from Canastra.
CANAVIAL, f. m. a place where reeds or canes grow.
CANCABURRA'DA. (A ludicrous word.) See PARVOICE.
CANÇ'ÇO, f. m. weariness, tiresomeness.
CANÇADINHO, a, adj. somewhat weary, diminut. from Cançado.
CANÇADO, a, adj. tired, weary, spent, worn out, fatigued; also toilsome, wearisome, fatiguing, requiring much pains; also languishing, faint.
Terra cançado, it is said of the land, which by continual sowing falls into impoverishment.
Cançado, (in painting) it is said of a picture that is made with too much nicety, or exactness. See also the v. CANÇAR.
CANCANAS. (In India.) See BRACELETE.
CANÇAM, f. f. a song.
CANÇAR, v. a. to tire, to weary. From the Lat. quassare, to shake.
Cançar-se, v. r. to be weary, to be tired.
Cançar-se

Cançar-se demasiadamente, to plow one's self weary.

Não vos canceis, don't trouble yourself.

CANCEIRA, f. f. See CANÇAO.

CANCELLA, f. f. an iron or wooden gate, consisting of pieces or bars, which hinder the access to the place, but not the sight; as the doors of iron bars used in gardens, or the like.

CANCELLA'DO, a. See

CANCELLAR, v. a. to blot out, to cancel, to cross out, to score.

CANCELLARIO, or Cancellário maximo, a sort of dignity in the university of Coimbra, in Portugal.

CANCER, or CANCRO, f. m. a canker, an eating, or a spreading sore; also cancer, one of the twelve celestial signs.

Cancer, (metaph.) a troublesome person, a disturber.

CANCERADO. See CANCEROSO.

Cancerado, (metaph.) inveterate, confirmed by long use, grown into a custom.

CANCEROSO, a, adj. afflicted with the canker.

CANCIONEIRO, f. m. a book of songs, rhymes, &c.

CANCRO. See CANCER.

CANCRO'SO. See CANCEROSO.

CANDA'LA, f. f. a sort of covering for the legs. It is now out of fashion.

CANDA'R, a sort of a square stone that comes from Candahor, in Persia, from whence it takes the name; it is good to expel the after-birth.

CANDEA, or Candea de garavato, a lamp, and particularly a little sort of lamp made of iron, open, and hanging by a long hook, with which servants light themselves about the house, and when they do not go about, they hang it upon the same hook in the kitchen.

Trabalhar á candea, to lucubrate, to do any thing by candle-light.

P. de noite á candea, a burra parece donzella, at night by the lamp the she-ass looks like a maid; that is, the eyes are soonest deceived by candle-light.

Festa, ou procissão das candeas. See CANDELARIA.

Candea de castanheiro, the flower of the chestnut-tree.

Estar de candeas às arveffas com alguém, to be at variance, or discord, to disagree. It is also said of things, but very seldom.

CANDEINHA, f. m. a small lamp. See CANDEA.

Fazerem os olhos candeinhas, or Trazerem candeinhas nos olhos; it is said of drunkards, to whom the number of lights appears to be increased, to see double.

CANDELA'BRO, f. m. a candle-stick. It is used in poetry, but very seldom in prose.

Candelabro, (metaph.) an exemplary person.

CANDELA'RIA, f. f. the petty mullien, wool-blade, torch-weed, or high-taper, unguent; also Candlemas, the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin; the second of February.

CANDE'NTE, adj. glowing, burning.

CANDENTYSSIMO, a, adj. red-hot.

CANDIA'L, ex. Trigo candial, the best wheat, which makes the finest bread.

CANDIDAME'NTE, adv. sincerely, candidly, in earnest.

CANDIDA'TO, f. m. a candidate, one who offers himself for preferment.

CANDIDE'ZA. See CANDURA.

CANDIDO, a, adj. white, pure, sincere; also of good morals.

CANDIEIRA'DA, f. f. a sudden effusion of oil from a lamp; also a spot of lamp-oil.

CANDIEIRO, f. m. a sort of lamp.

Candieiro das trevas, a sconce made of three pieces of wood set in a triangle, fixed upon a high foot with the point of the triangle up, and down the two sides there are fourteen candles, and one on the top point, which burn at the tenebre, or mains, sung in the churches in the evenings on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in the holy week.

Candieiro, (in fortification) canditeers, or frames to lay faggots and brush-wood on, to cover the work-men.

Candieiros, (in the province of Beira) icicles.

Candieiro de castanheiro. See CANDEA.

CANDIL, adj. ex. Açúcar candil, or candi, sugar-candy.

Candil, (an Indian term) a weight of half a tun; it is also a small sort of coin at Ormus, an island at the entrance of the Persian gulph, or streight of Ormus, in Asia.

Trigo candil. See CANDIAL.

CANDO'NGA, f. f. (a vulgar word) a pretended and dissembled complaisance. See also TRAPAÇA.

CANDONGUEIRO, f. m. a flatterer. See also TRAPACEIRO.

CANDO'R, f. m. whiteness, shining whiteness.

CANDU'RA, f. f. the same thing; also uprightness, sincerity, plain dealing, candor.

CANE'CA, f. f. a mug.

CANE'JA, f. f. a fish so called.

Besta caneja, a slender shanked beast.

CANEIRO, f. m. a narrow passage or channel for the fish to pass through. See DIQUE.

CANE'LA, f. f. cinnamon.

Canela de fado. See CINILHA.

Canela da perna. See CANA da perna.

Agoa de canela, cinnamon-water.

CANELADA, f. f. a blow on the shin.

CANELA'M, f. m. a sort of parsley.

CANE'LLO, f. m. a piece of a horse-shoe.

CANELOENS, f. m. p. great long comfits, with pieces of cinnamon mixed in it; so they also call the pieces of citron covered with sugar, and some other dainties which made part of a festival, which the maids celebrated on the eve of their marriage-day.

CANEMO. See LINHO Canemo.

CANEPHO'RIA, f. f. canephoris, a ceremony among the Athenians.

CANEQUIM, f. f. a thin sort of linen, like muslin, made of cotton.

CANFORA, f. f. camphor, a sort of oriental gum.

CAN'GA, f. f. a yoke for oxen.

Cânga, the porters poles that ease them in carrying a burthen.

CANGA'DO, a, adj. See CANGAR.

CANGA'LHAS, f. m. p. the frames which men have on their beasts to carry great pitchers, or jars of water on. It is also used in a ludicrous sense for a pair of spectacles.

CANGALHE'IRA quarta, a pitcher fit to be carried in the same frames.

CANGA'LHO de peras, macãs, &c. a little branch with three, four, or more pears, apples, &c. on it.

CANGA'LHOS, two pieces of wood on both sides of the oxen's neck, to keep it fast under the yoke.

CANGA'R, v. a. ex. Cangar os bois, to put the oxen under the yoke; also to cheat, to put a cheat upon one. (Metaph.)

Ficar cangado, (a low expression) to be disappointed, to be amazed, to be cheated.

CANGARILHA'DA. (A ludicrous word.) See TRAPAÇA.

CANGIRAM, f. m. a jug for wine.

CANGO'STA, f. f. (in the province of Beira) a steep lane or alley.

CANGREJO. See CARANGUEJO.

CANHA. See CANHOTO.

CANHAMA'ÇO, f. m. a sort of coarse cloth.

CANHAMETRA, f. f. a kind of wild mallows, marsh-mallows.

CANHAM, f. m. a cannon, or a great gun, or a piece of ordnance.

Canham de ferro, iron cannon.

Canham de bronze, brass cannon.

A alma do canham. See ALMA.

O fogam do canham, the touch-hole of a cannon.

Pedago de estopa, ou coufa semelhante para meter no fogam do canham, a fidd.

Cuberta de chumbo para cubrir o fogam do canham, an apron, or a piece of lead which covers the touch-hole of a cannon.

Culatra do canham, the breech of a cannon.

Botaõ, ou extremidade da culatra do canham, the pommel, or hindmost round knob at the breech of a great gun, called the cascabel-deck.

Bala de canham, a cannon-bullet.

Carreta do canhaõ, the carriage of a cannon.

Estar a tiro de canham, to be within cannon-shot.

Polvora de canham, gun-powder.

Desparar hum canham, to let off, or shoot off a great gun.

Eu ouvi alguns tiros de canham, I heard some great guns go off.

Tiro de canham, a cannon-shot, or cannon-bullet.

Lugar aonde assenta a polvera no canham, the barrel of a gun.

Canham encolumbrinado, a sort of culverin; from thirty to forty pounders and more.

Meyo canham bastardo, a piece of ordnance, from sixteen to twenty pounders.

Canham real, a cannon royal, a cannon of eight.

Meyo canham, a demy-cannon.

Canham dobrado, a double cannon.

Canham para bater huma praça, a cannon for battery.

Canham de vinte e quatro, a twenty-four pounder.

Canham da bota, that part of the hoot that covers the ham of one's leg behind the knee upwards.

Canham do vestido, a cuff.

Canham do freyo, the cannon of a bit.

CANHAMO. See LINHO.

CANHENHO, f. m. (a vulgar term) a book kept for remarks.

CANHOENS, f. m. p. the longer and thicker feathers of birds of prey. There are six of them in each wing, and twelve in the tail.

CANHONAÇO, f. m. the shot of a cannon.

CANHONEADO, a, adj. See

CANHONEAR, v. a. to cannonade: neither ther the preter-tense nor the supine of this verb is used.

CANHONEIRA, f. f. the gap or loop-hole left open in a parapet, for the cannon to fire through, called the embrazure.

CANHO'TO, a, adj. left-handed.

Homem canhoto, a left-handed man.

CAN'JA, f. f. rice that is over-boiled. (In India.)

CANICADA, f. f. canes laid across to support and keep up the rose-trees, jasmims, &c.

CANICIA, or CANICIE, f. f. grey-headedness.

CANIÇO, f. m. a sort of thin reeds, like those people make cages with; also a bed of reeds; a great hurdle made of reeds to dry fruits or cheese upon; and also the covering of a cart made of reeds bound together.

CANICULA, f. f. the dog-star; also the dog-days.

CANICULAR, adj. belonging to the dog-star, or dog-days.

Dias caniculares, the dog-days.

CANIFRA'Z, f. m. (a ludicrous word) a lean person like a skeleton.

CANILHA, f. f. a weaver's quill.

CANINO, a, adj. canine, dog-like, relating to a dog.

Fome canina, a canine appetite, the greedy worm.

CANISTREL, f. m. a basket made of rushes or twigs.

CANIVETE, f. m. a pen-knife.

CANNABRA'S. See CANABRA'S.

CANNIBALES, f. m. p. canibals, men-eaters, a people in the West-Indies.

CANO, f. m. a water-pipe, a conduit.

Cano da chemine por onde exhala o fumo, tunnel, the shaft of a chimney, the passage for the smoke.

Cano da orgão, the pipe of an organ.

Cano da limpeza, or Cano real, a sink, or gutter, a common-sewer.

Cano de bota, the leg of a boot.

Cano de espingarda, the barrel of a gun.

Cano da penna, the stem or stalk of a quill.

Cano ou fuste de columna, the shaft, or shank of a pillar, between the chapitre and the pedestal.

Cano de humna fornalha, &c. por onde passa o fumo, calor, &c. the flue of a furnace, &c. to convey smoke, heat, &c.

CANO'A, f. f. a boat all of a piece, being hewed of a tree; a canoe.

CANO'CULO. See OCULO.

CANON, f. m. the canon of the mass.

Canon, (in music) a mark in a canon to shew where one part is to follow the other that leads; and is thus formed, S.

CANONICAL, adj. belonging to a canon, or prebendary.

CANONICAMENTE, adv. canonically, according to rule or order.

CANONICATO, f. m. canon, a canon's place in a cathedral, or collegiate church, a prebend.

CANO'NICO, a, adj. canonical, agreeable to the canons, or church-laws; also authentic.

Horas canonicas, the canonical hours.

Direito canonico, canon-law.

Livros canonicos da sagrada escriptura, the canonical books of scripture.

CANO'NISTA, f. m. a canonist, a professor or doctor of the canon-law.

CANONIZA, f. f. a woman who lives according to the rules of the secular canons.

CANONIZAÇAM, f. f. a canonization, or declaring of a saint.

CANONIZADO, a, adj. canonized, or declared a saint; also approved, confirmed.

CANONIZA'R, v. a. to canonize, to declare and pronounce one for a saint; also to praise, to approve.

CANO'PO, f. m. Canopus, a fabulous god of the Egyptians; also a city of Egypt; also a bright star belonging to the ship Argo, in the southern hemisphere.

CANO'RO, a, adj. canorous, tuneable, warbling.

CANOTILHO, f. m. purl, gold or silver purl.

CANOURA dos moiros. See CALHA.

CANSACO. } See { CANÇACO.

CANSADO. } See { CANÇADO.

CANSAR. } See { CANÇAR.

CANSEIRA. } See { CANCEIRA.

CANTA'BRIA, or BISCAYA, f. f. Biscay, Biscaya, Vizcaya, in Lat. Cantabria; one of the provinces belonging to Spain.

CANTABRO, or BISCAINHO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Biscay.

CANTADEIRA, f. f. a woman who sings for hire.

CANTADO. } See { CANTAR.

CANTAM. } See { CANTOENS.

CANTAR, v. a. to sing.

Cantar, or Celebrar, to chant, to celebrate by song.

Cantar na igreja, to chant, or to sing in the cathedral service.

Cantar a gve, to chirp, or chatter as a bird.

Cantar sempre a mesma cantiga, still to harp upon the same string, to say still the same thing over and over.

Mestre que ensina a cantar, a singing-master.

Cantar à miúdo, to sing often.

Tornar à cantar, to sound, or sing again; to repeat.

Cantar o primeiro, to lead, as in a canon, in which one part leads and the other follows.

Cantar depois que outros tem começado, to sing after another, to follow another in singing.

Cantar só com a voz sem instrumentos, to sing by voice alone.

Acompanhar a quem canta, to accompany one that sings.

Cantar humna cantiga com a voz muito baixa como para si mesmo, to hum a tune over to one's self.

Cantar para fazer dormir alguém, to sing one asleep.

Cantar a rela, to coo as turtles do.

Cantar a perdiz, to call as a partridge does.

Cantar o corvo, to crow, to croak like a raven.

Cantar o pardal, to chirp like a sparrow.

Cantar o morcego, to squeak like a bat.

Cantar o melro, to whistle like a blackbird.

Cantar o cuco, to cry like a cuckoo.

Cantar a gralbe, to kaw like a jackdawn.

Cantar o gallo, to crow like a cock.

Cantar a rãã, to croak like a frog.

Cantar a galinha. See CACAREJAR. See also CHIAR.

P. quem canta, seus males espanta, the person who sings makes easy his misfortunes; that is, singing causes him not to reflect on it so much as he otherwise would.

CANTARA. See CANTARO.

CANTARE'IRA, f. f. a place to set pots, pitchers, or earthen vessels on.

CANTARES, the Canticles in scripture, the book of Solomon's Song.

CANTARIA, f. f. masonry, the art of cutting stones to build with; also free-stone.

CANTARIDA, or CANTHARIDA, f. f. cantharides, or Spanish-flies, applied to raise blisters.

CANTARINHO, diminut. from Cantaro.

P. tantas vezes way o cantarinho á fonte, até que quebra; we say, the pitcher goes so often to the well, that it comes home broken at last.

CANTARO, f. m. a water-pot, a great pitcher to carry water. Greek.

Alma de cantaro, a dull, heavy, stupid fellow.

Chove a cantaros, it pours down, or it rains deadly-hard. See also CHOVER.

CANTATRIZ, or CANTATRICE. See CANTADEIRA.

CANTEIRA, f. f. a corner stone.

CANTEIRO, f. m. a hewer of stone, a stone-cutter; also the house or stand to put barrels of beer or wine upon.

Canteiro de flores nos jardins, a quarter or bed in a garden.

Canteiro do jardim com esterco, a hot-bed.

CANTICO, f. m. a canticle.

Cantico dos Canticos, ou de Salomão. See CANTARES.

CANTI'GA, f. f. a song.

Cantiga amorosa, love-song.

Palavras da cantiga com sua musica, a pricked song, a song set to music, a song in score.

CANTIL, a sort of plane used by carpenters.

CANTILENA, f. f. a song.

CANTIMPLORA, f. f. a bottle made of copper, with a long neck, to cool wine, or water, burying it in snow.

CANTINHO, diminut. from Canto. See CANTO.

CANTO, f. m. a corner or angle.

Casa do canto, a corner house.

Canto do olho, canthus, the angle or corner of the eye.

Cantos da boca, the wiles of the mouth, the corners of the mouth.

Canto da rua, a corner of a street.

Meter se em hum canto, to creep into a corner.

Que tem cantos, corner-wise, cornered, that has corners.

Por a hum canto, (metaph.) to neglect, to despise.

Canto, singing.

Canto do orgão, or figural, music set in all its parts.

Canto chitô, a plain singing by notes.

Canto funebre, a funeral song.

Canto do gallo, the cock-crowing.

Canto dos passaros, the singing of birds.

Canto musico, a musical concert, harmony.

Canto festivo, nos triumphes, a song of triumph.

Canto, a corner-stone; also a stone.

Canto da igreja, (metaph.) St. Peter and the pope his successor.

Canto, canto, a part of an heroic poem.

Jogo dos cantos, a play for boys, called puffs, puffs, in the corner.

CANTOENS, f. m. p. ex. Os Treze Cantos, dos Suíços, ou Esguiceros, the Thirteen Cantons of Switzerland.

CANTONEIRA, f. f. a common whore, that plies at the corners of streets.

CANTOR,

CANTOR, f. m. a singer.
CANTORA, f. f. See CANTADEIRA.
CANTUARIA, f. f. Canterbury, in Latin Cantuaria. The Britons called it Kent, and the Romans Duroverno; it is the capital of the county of Kent, and the see of an archbishop, who is primate of all England, and, next to the royal family, the first peer of Great Britain.
CANUDINHO, f. m. a little tube or pipe, diminut. from Canudo.
CANUDO, f. m. a tube, a pipe; also a piece of reed cut between two knots.
Canudo dos foles, a bellows-nozzle, or snout.
CANUTILHO, f. m. See CANOTILHO.
CANZIS. See CANGALHOS.
Caô, f. m. a dog.
Gratar do caô, to wail, to cry, to yawl, to howl.
Excremento do caô, album græcum, dog's-turd.
Pilha de caens, tick, the louse of dogs.
Caô de quinta, a house-dog.
Caô para caçar javalis, a limer, a great dog to hunt a wild boar.
Caô que se tem preso a huma cadeia, a band-dog.
O latrar dos caens, bow-wow, the bark of dogs.
Latir o caô. See LATIR.
Caô de caça, a hound or beagle to hunt with.
Caô para caçar lebres. See GALGO.
Caô de água, a shock-dog, a water-spaniel.
Beber o caô, to lap.
Caô de gado, a shepherd's dog.
Caô que nasce do ajuntamento do lobo com a cadella, a dog engendered of a wolf and a bitch, a wolf-dog.
Caô, que segue a caça pella vista, e não pello fato, a gaze-hound, or gait-hound.
Caô de mostra, a setting-dog.
Caô de fila, a great cur, a mastiff-dog.
Caô sacador, a dog tumbler. Latin vertagus.
Caô mayor, (with astronomers) the greater dog, a constellation drawn on the globe in that form.
Caô menor, the lesser dog, a constellation on the globe in that form.
P. caô que muito ladra, nunca bom para a caça, a barking-dog is never a good hunter; we say, brag is a good dog, but holdfast is a better.
P. o caô com raiva de seu dono trava, a mad-dog bites his own master; there is no trusting to mad-men, or people in a rage.
P. quem com caens se lança, com puigas se levanta; we say, lie with beggars and you'll be lousy.
P. amor de mulher, e festa de caô, são attenção para a mão,
Caô de pedra. (In architecture.) See CA-CHORRADA.
Caens da chemine, que sustentão a lenha no ar, a dog; an andiron.
Caô da espingarda, the cock of a musquet.
CA'OS, f. m. a confused and disordered heap of things, confusion, chaos.
Semelbante ao caô, chaotic, resembling chaos.
CAPA, f. f. a cloak. Gothic caôpa.
Capa agadeira, a cloak for rainy weather, which is made of bulrush, matweed, leather, &c.
Capa com capello, a cloak with a cawl, or hood to it.

PART I.

Capa de asperges, or de cara, a priest's cope.
Homem de capa preta, the better sort of people; such as in Portugal wear black cloaks.
Homem de capa parda. See CAMPONEZ.
Fazer ou traçar a capa, to wrap the cloak about the arm, as the Portuguese use to do in sudden quarrels, and that serves them for a buckler.
Homem de capa e espada, a lay-man, fit to bear arms.
Capa, (metaph.) colour, pretence; also show, appearance, outside.
Estar a capa, or por-se a capa, to lie by at sea, to back the sails.
Capa da carta, the cover of a letter.
Ser capa de velhacos, (a vulgar expression) to screen, or protect rogues that they may not be punished.
P. viva el rey, dá cá a capa, let the king live, and give me the cloak; that is spoken of persons, who, under a pretence of authority, rob and plunder other people, and, at the same time, pretend they are doing justice to the power reposed in their hands.
P. andar de capa cabida, to be behind-hand in the world.
P. corpo bem feito não há mister capa; we say, a good face needs no band.
CAPACETE, f. m. a head-piece, or helmet.
CAPACHO, f. m. a sort of mat made of mat-weed, bulrush, &c. to keep the feet warm.
CAPACHOS, a religious order founded by St. John de Deos.
CAPACIDADE, f. f. capacity, extension, or capaciousness; also reach of thought, ability, skill, sufficiency.
Conforme a minha capacidade, according to my capacity.
Homem de grande capacidade, a very able man.
CAPACISSIMO, a, adj. superlat. from Capaz.
CAPACITADO, a, adj. See
CAPACITAR, v. a. to convince; to make one sensible of; to understand, to conceive; to enable.
Capacitar-se, v. r. to be convinced, or made sensible of.
CAPADO, a, adj. gelded; also a kid that is above a year.
Meio capado, a ridgeling, or ridgel.
Capado, f. m. an eunuch.
CAPADOR, f. m. a gelder; also an instrument used by gelders, which is a pipe of five or six reeds, which he blows running it along his mouth instead of crying his trade, and is like that which Pan is painted with.
CAPADURA, f. f. a gelding.
CAPADURAS, the stones cut off.
CAPAM, or Gallo capado, a capon.
CAPAR, v. a. to geld, castrate, or cut the stones off any animal; also to spay, (speaking of a female.)
CAPAR, to cut off the eyes of luxuriant plants.
CAPARAM, f. m. (in falconry) a hawk's hood.
Pôr o caparão no falcão, to hoodwink the hawk.
CAPARAZAM, or CAPRAZAM, f. m. a caparison for a horse.
CAPARROSA, f. f. vitriol, or copperas, the name given to three sorts of vitriol, the green, the bluish-green, and the white.

CAPATAM, f. m. a sort of fish so called.
CAPATA'Z, f. m. (a vulgar word) a chief or warden of some company of mechanics.
CAPA'Z, adj. capable, capacious, that can contain; capable, able, apt, fit, sufficient, skilful.
Fazer capaz, to acquaint, to make known.
CAPEADO, a, adj. See
CAPEAR, v. a. to make a sign; also to steal cloaks. See also DISFARÇAR.
CAPELLAR, f. m. a sort of garment used by people in the sport of the jogo das canas. See CANAS.
CAPELLA, f. f. a chapel.
Capella pontificia; it is said of the pope when he is attended by cardinals at divine worship.
Capella, or Capella real, the royal chapel.
Musicos da capella, the musicians of the royal chapel.
Capella, goods left upon condition of saying mass for the person who left them.
Capella de flores, a garland.
Capella do olho. See PALPEBRA.
CAPELLAN'A, f. f. a living, or church-benefice.
CAPELLAM, f. m. a chaplain.
CAPELLINHA, f. f. a little chapel, diminut. from Capella.
CAPELLINHO, f. m. a little hood, diminut. from Capello.
CAPELLO, f. m. a cawl, a hood, a capuche; also a hood worn by doctors as a token of their degree.
Capello de cardeal, a cardinal's hat.
Capello de viúva, a widow's mourning veil.
Capello do membro viril, the prepuce, or fore-skin.
Capello, (a word used by friars) a reprehension, a rebuking.
CAPENDU'A, f. f. the short stalk, or the short shank apple.
CAPEROTADA, f. f. a capilotade, a sort of dish.
CAPIGORAM, f. m. a servitor in the university, one that lives and has his education by serving some gentleman; so called, because they wore capa e gorra, a cloak and cap.
CAPILLAR, adj. ex. Veas e arterias capillares, (in anatomy) capillary vessels, or small arteries and veins, like hairs or threads.
Ervas capillares, (among botanists) capillary plants.
Capillar, f. m. See BEDEM.
CAPILLATO. See CABELLUDO. It is only used in poetry.
CAPINHA, f. f. a small cloak.
CAPIROTE, f. m. a sort of hood, or capuchine, worn by boys and girls. See also CAPARAM.
Capirote dos coldres. See COLDRE.
CAPITAL, f. m. capital money, stock.
Capital, adj. capital, main, principal.
Crime capital, a capital crime.
Inimigo capital, a professed or mortal enemy.
Linha capital, (in fortification) a capital of a bastion, or a line drawn from the angle of the polygon to the point of the bastion, or from the point of the bastion to the middle of the gorge.
Letra capital. See CABIDOIA.
CAPITANA, CAPITANIA, or CAPITAY-NA.

N.

NA.

C A P

NA, f. f. the admiral-ship, the admiral-galley.
CAPITANEADO, a, adj. See
CAPITANEAR, v. a. to command as a captain, to command in chief.
CAPITANIA, f. f. the officer, or authority of a captain, a captainship.
Capitania, (in the Brasils) a province.
CAPITAM, f. m. a captain, commander, chief, a leader.
Capitão de navio, a captain of a ship.
Capitão de piratas, an arch-pirate, or chief robber on the sea.
Capitão de cavallos, a captain of horse.
Capitão de infantaria, captain of foot.
Capitão da guarda, a captain of the guard.
Capitão da guarnição, the governor, or commander in chief of a garrison.
Capitão general, a general, or captain-general.
Capitão de mar e guerra, a captain of a man of war.
Capitão tenente, a lieutenant-captain.
Capitão, the foremost. (Metaph.)
Quando se trata de fugir, sempre he o capitão, in time of flight he is always foremost.
CAPITEL, f. m. (in architecture) ex. Capitel de humna columna, the whole head of a column, called the capital, or chapter.
CAPITO'A, (a vulgar word) a woman that is the head of a report, sedition, &c. a she-captain.
CAPITOLINO, a, adj. belonging to the Capitol.
CAPITO'LIO, f. m. Capitol, a famous fortrefs of old Rome.
CAPITULA, f. f. a portion of scripture, read at the time of divine service. See also CABIDOLA.
CAPITULAÇAM, f. f. a capitulation, or covenant, articles of agreement.
CAPITULADO, a, adj. See
CAPITULAR, v. a. to capitulate, or treat upon terms.
Capitular os erros de alguem, to impeach, or accuse, or alledge articles of accusation against any one.
Capitular, (among physicians) to explain the quality and symptoms of a disease.
Capitular, f. m. the person who has a vote in any community, or chapter.
Capitular, adj. belonging to a chapter.
CAPITULO, f. m. a chapter in a book, or the chapter of a church; also an article, an accord, or convention.
Fazer capitulo, to hold a chapter.
Casa do capitulo, the chapter-house.
Ter voto em capitulo, to have a voice in the chapter.
Capitulo de frades, ou conegos, a chapter, or assembly of friars, or canons.
Dar capitulos de alguem, to put in articles against one.
CAPO, (Ital.) ex. Da capo, a term in music, which means that the first part of the tune should be repeated, da capo.
CAPOE'IRA, f. f. a coop, a place where fowls are kept and made fat; also any forest, (in the Brasils.)
Capoeira, (in fortification) caponniere, a sort of trench, or lodgment, with loop holes to fire out at. French.
CAPOE'IRO, ex. Ladram capoeiro, a thief that steals hens from the coop.
CAPO'ITE, f. m. See CAPA.
CAPOTE, (in the play called picquet) capot.
Dar capote, to capot a man at picquet.

C A R

CAPRAZAM. See CAPARAZAM.
CAPRICHOS, f. m. a fancy, whim, a positive conceit, or wilfulness; also a sudden motion. See also OBSTINACAM, and BIZARRIA.
Fazer capricho de alguma couza, to boast of a thing, to glory, take a pride, or pride one's self in it.
CAPRICHOSAMENTE, adv. See BIZARRAMENTE.
CAPRICHOSO, a, adj. capricious, fanciful, whimsical. See also OBSTINADO, and BIZARRO.
CAPRICO'RNIO, f. m. capricorn, a sign in the zodiac.
CAPRINO, a, adj. of, or belonging to a goat.
CAPTADO, a, adj. See
CAPTAR, v. a. ex. Captar a benevolencia, to curry favour. Lat. captare.
CAPUCHINHOS, f. m. p. the Capuchine friars, a reform of the order of St. Francis, living in more poverty and austerity than the others, and going bare-foot. Matthew Basci, a Franciscan, began this reformation in the year 1525; pope Clement the VIIIth approved his rule, and pope Paul the IIIrd confirmed it in the year 1535.
CAPUCHOS, f. m. p. a sort of Franciscan friars in Portugal.
CAPU'LHO, f. m. ex. Capulho da rosa, a rose-bud. See BOTAO.
CAPU'S, f. m. a long mourning cloak down to the feet, loose before, with a hole to put the head through; formerly used in Portugal and Spain.
CAQUEIRA'DA, f. f. a blow with a piece of an earthen vessel.
CAQUE'IRO, f. m. a piece of an earthen vessel.
CARA, f. f. the face, the visage, the countenance. Greek. Also appearance, outside, likelihood, probability, show.
Cara de pascoa, a joyful face.
Cara de aço, a bold impudent face, a brazen face.
Cara fea, hatched-face, an ugly face.
Cara de poucos amigos, a joyless and unpleasing face.
Cara a cara, face to face, full-butt.
Dizer alguma couza na cara a alguem, to say a thing to a man's face.
Homem de duas caras, a deceitful fellow.
Não ter cara para fazer huma couza, not to have courage to do a thing, to be ashamed.
Esta couza he cara. See CARO.
Mostrar boa cara, to show a good liking.
Mostrar ma cara a alguem, to look upon one sourly, or with an evil eye.
Meter a espingarda a cara, to take the aim with a fusce or musquet.
Fazer cara, to face, to withstand.
Fazer caras, to make mouths.
Cara de açúcar, a large and round piece of sugar.
CARABE', CHARABE', or KARABE'. (A Persian word.) See ALAMBRA.
CARABINA. See CLAVINA.
CARACA, f. f. a great or huge face.
CARACO'L, f. m. a snail; also a plant that bears a flower, white, blue, and purple, resembling a snail.
Pedra de caracol, a snail stone.
Escada de caracol, a winding stair-case.
Caracol, (in horsemanship) caracol, a wheeling about.
CHARACTER, CHARATER, or CARATER, a character; also a fine figure, or chaacter in writing or printing; also a style, a manner of writing; also adventitious titles, or qualities impressed by a post or office; also a mark, token, or stamp; also a sign, or hieroglyphic.

C A R

CARACTERIZA'R, v. a. to characterise, to imprint.
CARAGOATA, a sort of plant. See BA-BOSA.
CARAI'BAS. See CANNIBALES.
CARAIBA. (In the Brasils.) See FEITICEIRO.
CARAMANCHAM, CARAMANCHEL, f. m. an arch made of poles, canes, &c. to support the vines, and make a shelter against the heat of the sun.
CARAMBA'NO, f. m. ex. Carambanos de neve, balls of snow.
CARAMBO'LA, f. f. a cheat, a fraud, a trick to deceive; also a fruit growing in India; also a sort of game.
CARAMELO, f. m. ice; also a kind of sweetmeat made of sugar.
Caramelo que ponde das telhas, ou do car de hum telhado, an icicle.
CARAMINHO'LA, f. f. the top of the hair, wound with a purple lace on the crown of the head.
CARAMUJO, f. m. a shell-fish like a periwinkle.
CARAMUNHAS, or CARAMUNHOS, childrens moanings, or whimperings.
CARANGUEJA'R, v. n. to walk very slow. (A ludicrous word.)
CARANGUE'JO, f. m. a crab-fish. See also CANCRO.
P. ir para tras como o caranguejo, to go crab-like, or backward.
CARANGUEJO'LA, f. f. a large crab-fish.
CARANTO'NHA, f. f. a vizard, an ugly face; also an old ugly painted woman.
CARAM, f. m. complexion, the colour of one's face.
CARAPAO, f. m. a fish so called.
CARAPETA, f. f. the fruit of a plant called lada, which, when dried, serves as a little top for children to play with.
CARAPETA, ou CARAPATA, the handkerchief in which travellers carry their own provisions.
CARAPETE'IRO, f. m. a sort of wild pear-tree.
CARAPETO, f. m. a thorn found in the branches of the carapeteiro.
CARAFE'VA, f. f. a sort of fish.
CARAPINHA, f. f. the curled woolly hair of the blacks.
Que tem carapinha, wool pated.
CARAPUÇA, f. f. a cap to keep from cold and sun-burning.
Carapuça de rebuço, a cap with a hood to cover the face, chin, and neck.
CARAPUÇAM, f. m. a sort of cap used by the Moorish princes.
CARAPUCEIRO, f. m. a cap-maker.
CARAPUCINHA, f. f. a little cap.
CARAV'NA, f. f. See CALILA.
Caravana, (in the order of Malta) a sea expedition of the new knights of Malta.
CARAVANÇARA'. See CARBANÇARA.
CARAVATÁ, f. f. a cravat, a sort of neck-cloth, first worn by the Croats.
CARAVELA, f. f. a caravel, or carvel, a sort of ship.
CARAVELAM, f. m. a large caravel; also a very tall man. It is a ludicrous word in this sense.
CARAVELHA

CARAVELHA, f. f. the wooden pin, or peg of any instrument.
CARAVINA, or CARABINA. See CLAVINA.
CARAVONADA, f. f. a carbonado, a rasher on the coals.
CARABANÇARA, (a Persian word) a caravanera, an inn, a house of entertainment among the Turks and Persians.
CARBASO, f. m. (in poetry) the linen that sails of ships are made of.
CARBUNCLO. See
CARBU'NCULO, f. m. a carbuncle, a precious stone, in colour like a burning coal; a great ruby; also a plague-fore.
CARCASSAM, f. m. (in gunnery) a carcass, iron-case, &c. about the bigness of a bomb, filled with granadoes, charged with barrels of pilletoles, wrapped in tow and dipped in oil, and the other materials for firing houses; it is shot out of mortar-pieces into besieged places.
CARGERAGEM, f. f. carcellage, prison fees.
CARCERE, f. m. a prison. See also BUITRA.
Dar a algum a casa por carcere, to confine a man to his own house.
CARCEREIRA, f. f. a jailor's wife.
CARCEREIRO, f. m. a jailor.
CARCOMA, f. f. the worm in wood, and the dust that falls from worm-eaten wood.
CARCOMER-SE, v. r. to be worm-eaten.
CARCOMIDO, a, adj. worm-eaten; also hollow, worm-eaten up with age.
CARCUNDA, (A ludicrous word.) See CORCOVA.
CARCUNDO, (A ludicrous word.) See CORCOVADO.
CARDA, f. f. card, an instrument made of steel-wire, to card wool.
CARDADO, a, adj. See CARDAR.
CARDADOR, f. m. a carder.
CARDADURA, f. m. carding.
CARDAL, f. m. a place where thistles grow.
CARDAMO. See
CARDAMOMO, f. m. the seed cardamomum, well known, hot, but not unpleasant. It is brought from the East-Indies.
CARDAR, v. a. to card.
CARDEAL, f. m. a cardinal, a prince of the Roman church; also a bird in New Spain, that has not only the feathers but the beak scarlet, with a beautiful tuft on the head; so called from his colour; also a sort of fruit.
CARDEALADO, f. m. the dignity of a cardinal.
CARDEIRO, f. m. he who makes cards to card wool.
CARDENILHO. See VERDETE.
CARDEO, a, adj. black and blue, pale and wan, of the colour of lead.
CARDIACO, a, adj. cardiac, cordial.
CARDIALGIA, f. f. cardialgia, a pain at the heart or stomach, the heart-burn, heart-sickness.
CARDINAL, adj. chief, or principal. From the Lat. cardo, a hinge.
Numero cardinal, a cardinal number, such as expresses the number of things, as one, two, three, &c.
Ventos cardinaes, the four principal winds;

north, south, east, and west.
Signos cardinaes, the cardinal points of the zodiac, i. e. Aries, Libra, Cancer, and Capricorn.
Virtudes cardinaes, (in divinity) the cardinal virtues, i. e. prudence, temperance, justice, and fortitude.
CARDINALADO. See CARDEALADO.
CARDINALATO, idem.
CARDINHO, f. m. an herb against the hæmorrhoids.
CARDINO. See CARDEO.
CARDO, f. m. a thistle.
Cardo bravo, sow-thistle.
Cardo manço, the artichoke.
Cardo santo, the holy thistle, a plant bearing small yellow flowers, surrounded with red prickles.
Cardo morto, an herb growing on walls and tiles, with grey down, like old men's hair; groundsel.
Cardo asneiro, a kind of herb, which being eaten by asses, makes them fart. Lat. onopordon.
Cardo corredor, the weed sea-holm, sea-holly, or sea-hulver.
Cardo penteador, the teazel, or fuller's thistle.
Cardo leiteiro, the white milky thistle.
Cardo matacão, or cardo pinto branco, white camelon thistle.
Cardo que faz azedar o leite, black camelon thistle, out of which they squeeze the juice, and it serves instead of rennet, to make the milk turn.
Cheo de cardos, thistly.
Cardo, is also a symbolical word for torment, pain, affliction, &c.
CARDUÇA, f. f. a thistle to card cloth with.
CARDUÇADOR, f. m. the man that uses the carduça.
CARDUME, f. m. ex. Cardume de peixes, a shoal of fish.
CAREADO, a, adj. See CAREAR.
CAREADOR, f. m. an allurer, an enticer, a decoyer.
CAREAR, v. a. to allure, or entice, to attract.
CARECE'NTE, p. a. wanting, deprived of.
CARECER, v. n. to want, to lack, to be deprived, or without.
CARECIDO. See CARECER.
CARLIRA, f. f. she who sells at a dear price.
CAREIRO, f. m. he who sells at a dear price.
CARE'NCIA, f. f. want, need, necessity, scant.
CARE'PA, f. f. scurf, dandruff, or dandriff.
Pente para tirar a carepa, a dandriff comb. See also LANUGEM.
CARESA, f. f. See
CARESTIA, f. f. dearth; also dearth, scarcity, want.
CARETA, f. f. grimace, wry face. See also MASCARA.
CAREZA. See CARESTIA.
CARGA, f. f. a load, a burthen, a loading; also oppression, charge, vexation, tax, or tribute.
Carga de arma de fogo, the charge of a gun.
Carga, a discharge, or volley of cannon and musket-shot, all at once.
Dar carga ao inimigo, to charge the enemy.

Navio de carga, or navio mercante, a loading or trading ship.
Besta de carga, a beast to carry burthens.
A's cargas, plentifully.
Cárgo, f. m. a charge, an office, an employment; also charge, care; also commission, command, order.
Dar cargo a algum de alguma coisa, to charge, or to intrust one with something.
Ter a seu cargo, to take charge of.
Cargo de conciencia, a burthen on the conscience.
Isso está a meu cargo, I am answerable for it.
Cargo de roupa, a bundle of washed linen.
Cargos, articles of impeachment.
CARIATIDES, f. f. p. (in architecture) cariates, or cariatides, an order of pillars shaped like the bodies of women with their arms cut off.
CARIBDES. See CARYBDES.
CARICIAS, f. f. p. caresses, demonstrations of kindness, flattery, wheedling, fondling expressions.
CARICIOSO. See CARINHOSO.
CARIDADE, f. f. charity, the love of God, and the love of one's neighbour, for God's sake. See also ESMOLA.
Fazer a caridade a hum pobre, to bestow a charity upon a poor man.
Fazer a caridade de, &c. to be so good as to, &c.
Elle vos fará a caridade, (ironic.) he will cheat you, he will be too sharp for you, he will be revenged of you.
CARIDO'SO. See CARITATIVO.
CARIES, (among physicians) a venereal bubo; also rottenness in bones.
CARIL, f. m. the juice of tamarinds. The Indians boil rice with it; also a dish or plate among the wild people of the Brasils.
CARINHA, f. f. a little face, diminut. from Cara, face.
CARINHO, f. m. kindness, affection, love, any fondling expression.
Com carinho, affectionately, kindly, amorously.
CARINHOSO, a, adj. kind, affectionate, loving.
CARISMA, or CHARISMA, f. m. grace, a thankful gift. Greek.
CARISTIA, f. f. a sort of bird so called.
CARITATIVAMENTE, adv. charitably.
CARITATIVO, a, adj. charitable.
CARIZ, f. m. ex. Cariz do ceo, the cope of heaven; or rather a prognostic sign in it.
CARLINA. See CARDO Matacão.
CARLINGA, f. f. (in a ship) the step of the mast, the place wherein the mast is put. The Latins call it modius, because it had the form of a bushel.
CARMEADO, a, adj. See
CARMEAR, v. a. to disentangle, and prepare the wool to be carded.
CARMELITAS, an order of friars, called Carmelites, founded by Almericus, bishop of Antioch, A. D. 1122, at mount Carmel in Syria; also the the nuns called Carmelites.
Carmelitas descalços, that is, the barefoot Carmelites, for the order being fallen from its ancient rigour, St. Teresa undertook a reformation, and reduced it to its primitive severity.

CARMESIM, crimson, a fine deep red colour. Arabic carmec.

Veludo carmesem, crimson-velvet.

Seda carmesim, crimson-silk.

CARMIM, f. m. carmine, a fine red colour; also blood. (Metaph.)

CARMINATIVO, a, adj. (in medicine) carminative, that expels the wind.

CARNADURA, f. f. complexion, the colour of one's face; also the brawn, muscles, or fleshy part in man, or beast.

Carnadura branca, a fair complexion.

CARNAGEM, f. f. a slaughter, a multitude of men slain, a carnage; also the killing of cattle for victualling ships.

CARNAL, adj. sensual, lustful, libidinous; also fleshy.

Carnal, f. m. flesh days.

CARNALIDADE, f. f. sensuality, lust, lechery, concupiscence, wantonness.

CARNALMENTE, adv. carnally, sensually.

CARNAVAL, f. m. Shrove-tide, carnival, or carnaval.

CARNAZ, f. m. the fleshy side of leather.

CARNE, f. f. flesh meat; also the pulp, or that part of the fruit which is good to eat.

Carne de animal que morreo por si, carrion.

Carne de carneiro, vaca, ou vitela, mutton, beef, veal.

Carne salpessa, powdered meat.

Carne salgada, properly salt pork, pickled pork.

Dia de carne, a flesh day.

Pedago de carne que os caçadores dão aos caens, garbage, or quarry, the reward given by the hunters to hounds after they have caught game.

Carne sem offa, (metaph.) a good employment without any trouble.

Ser unha e carne com alguem, to be a very great friend to one; or, as we say, to be like hand and glove.

Fez-me tremer as carnes, it frightened me to the very heart.

Mostrar as carnes, to be all in rags, to be almost naked.

Cortar até à carne viva, to cut to the quick.

Carne do peixe, the fleshy parts of a fish.

Carne, flesh, lust, sensuality.

Carne, alliance in blood, kindred.

Hé bum pedago de carne, he is a blockhead.

P, a carne de lobo, dente do cão, that is, to return railing for railing; or, as our modern proverb says, give him a Rowland for his Oliver. The Latins say, par pari refert.

CARNEIRA, f. f. sheep-skin to bind books.

CARNEIRAÇA, or CARNEIRADA, a sort of disorder.

CARNEIRADA, f. f. a large flock of sheep.

CARNEIRO, f. m. mutton, or a sheep; also a charnel house, a place where the bones of the dead are laid up, an ossuary.

Carneiro castrado, a wether.

Carneiro cafiço, or carneiro de semente, a ram, or tup.

Perna de carneiro, a leg of mutton.

Quarto trazeiro do carneiro com a perna, a gigot, a loin and leg of mutton together.

Pedago de gordura, na perna do carneiro, the pope's eye.

Carneiro, a sort of worm bred among beans, and eating them up.

Carneiro, (in astronomy) aries, the first sign of the zodiac.

Carneiro de cinco quartos, a sheep of five quarters; they are so large that the tail makes one quarter: they come from Africa.

Carneiro, a great horned sea-fish, much of the nature of a shark. See also ARIETE.

CARNICAM, f. m. (a vulgar word) the thickest matter that issues from a fore.

CARNICEIRO, a butcher.

Manchil de carniccio, a cleaver.

Mesa, ou taboa onde o carniccio vende a carne, a butcher's stall.

Carniccio, a, adj. unnatural, brutish.

CARNICERIA. See AÇOUGUE, and CARNAGEM.

CARNIFICINA, f. f. murder, slaughter.

CARNIVORO, a, adj. carnivorous, flesh-devouring, or feeding upon flesh.

CARNOSIDADE, f. f. carnosity, or fleshy excrescence.

CARNO'SO, a, adj. fleshy, full of flesh.

CARNUDO. See CARNOSO.

CARO, a, adj. dear, costly; also dear, beloved, esteemed, grateful, or pleasant.

Caro, adv. dear.

O barato bẽ caro; we say, the best is best cheap.

Caro me custa o ter estado na vossa companhia, your company cost me very dear.

Sabir caro, to come dear.

CAROTA, f. m. a sort of thistle in the Brasils.

CAROAVEL, ex. Ser caroavel de alguma coisa, to like a thing. (An antiquated word.)

CAROGHA, f. f. a painted cap like a mitre, made of a pasteboard, very high, and set on the head of a bawd or a witch that is carried about the streets on an ass, either to be whipped, or only exposed to public shame, like our carting.

CAROÇO, f. m. a stone in some sort of fruit. See also GLANDULA.

Caroco de cereja, azeitona, &c. a cherry, olive, &c. stone.

CARO'LO, f. m. the dashing of two bowls together.

CAROCHA, f. f. a chafer, or beetle.

CAROCHINHA, f. f. a small beetle. See also CONTOS.

CARPE, f. m. the fish called carp. Lat. carpio.

CARPEADO, a, adj. See

CARPEAR, v. a. See CARMEAR.

CARPENTARIA, f. f. carpenter's work; also carpentry, or the carpenter's art.

CARPENTEJADO, a, adj. See

CARPENTEJAR, v. n. to cut, or hew with an ax, to work as carpenters do.

CARPENTEIRO, f. m. a carpenter.

Lugar aonde trabalham os carpenteiros, a carpenter's yard.

Carpenteiro de carros, a cart-wright.

Carpenteiro de navios, a ship-wright, or ship-carpenter.

CARPIDEIRA, f. f. a woman hired to mourn at one's burial.

CARPIDO, a, adj. See CARPIR.

CARPINTEIRO. See CARPENTEIRO.

CARPIR, a verb defective, only used in these tenses and persons, where the p is followed by the vowel i, as carpimos, carpiu, we weep, you weep. Preterimperfect, carpia, carpias, &c. I did weep, &c. See CHORAR.

Carpir-se, v. r. to scratch one's face.

CARPOBALSAMO, f. m. the fruit of the balsam-tree.

CARQUEJA, f. f. the lesser groundiv.

CARRACA, f. f. a sort of very heavy and large ship, called a carrack.

CARRACA, f. f. a crab-louse.

CARRADA, f. f. a cart-load.

CARRANCA, f. f. a frown, grave look or countenance.

Fazer carrancas, to make faces.

Fazer carranca, to frown, to knit the brows.

Carranca, (metaph.) threat, frightfulness, an ill-boding sign, sad or frightful appearance; also a reason or argument.

Carranca do tempo, the cloudiness of the weather.

Carranca da morte, the frightfulness, or the horror of death.

Carranca do mar, the swell of the sea. (Speaking of an over-grown sea.)

Carranca, a frightful machine full of points to defend the dogs necks against the biting of the wolves.

Carranca, spouts in great houses, &c. made in the shape of lions, bears, or other beasts heads, which the water runs through.

CARRANCUDO, a, adj. rude, crabbed, sullen, surly, of a grave and sullen countenance; also lowering, dark, cloudy, (speaking of the weather.)

Homem carrancudo, a man that has a lowering or frowning countenance.

CARRANQUINHA, f. f. ex. Fazer carranquinhas, to fret, or frown a little.

CARRAPATO, f. m. a vermin so called, a tike, which annoy sundry kinds of beasts, as dogs, sheep, &c.

CARRASCAL, a grove of holm-trees.

CARRASCO, f. m. a kind of holm-tree, with prickly leaves; also a hangman, an executioner.

CARRASPANA, f. f. (a ludicrous word) ex. Tomar a carraspana, to get drunk.

CARRASQUEIRO, f. m. a kind of holm-tree.

CARREAR, v. a. to carry any thing in a cart.

CARREGA. See CARGA.

CARREGAÇAM, f. f. See CARGA.

Obra de carregaçam, file-work, work carelessly done.

Fazenda de carregaçam, common and coarse goods.

CARREGADAMENTE, adv. with an ill-will, grudgingly.

CARREGADAS, f. f. p. a kind of play at cards.

CARREGADEIRAS, f. f. p. the ropes that serve to clap on the sails.

CARREGADO, a, adj. charged, loaded, oppressed; also dark, cloudy, lowering.

Cor carregada, a full or deep colour.

Carregado

Carregado, unpleasing to the taste.
Carregado, clogging, heavy.
Carregado, (in heraldry) any piece that has another over it.
Carregado de vinho, full of wine.
Carregado de sono, sleepy.
Rosto carregado, a dull, sad, or surly countenance.
Que tem o rosto carregado, sour-looking, beetle-browed.
Carregado de annos, full of years.
Carregado de dividas, deep in debts.
Que tem a cabeça carregada, heavy headed.
Sono carregado, a sound sleep. See also the v. CARREGAR.
CARREGADOR, a merchant that loads ships.
Negro carregador, a black man that carries people in the nets, used in India.
CARREGAR, v. a. to load, to burden; also to fall upon.
Carregar huma arma de fogo, to charge a gun.
Carregar as velas, to clap on the sails.
Carregar ao inimigo, to charge or attack the enemy, to fall upon him.
Carregar o povo, to over-burden the people, to lay heavy taxes upon them.
Carregar de pancadas, to cudgel a man very much.
Esta carne carrega muito o estomago, this meat clogs one's stomach.
Carregar a alguém de injurias, to rail at one, to revile, or vilify him.
Carregar a alguém de maldições, to curse one, to lay a curse upon one.
Carregar a bolina, to go close by the wind.
Carregar, to enter a thing in a book.
Carregar a mão, to punish, or chide one severely.
Carregar em huma razão, ou argumento, to urge a reason, or an argument.
Carregar-se, v. r. to grieve, to be sad, or sorrowful, to be displeased with.
CARREGO. See CARGO.
CARREIRA, f. f. a career, a course, a race; also the place where they run races.
A barreira, ou lugar donde se largão os cavallos para a carreira, a stulp, a barrier, or starting place.
Carreira do cavallo, a heat.
Duas carreiras, two heats.
A baliza da carreira, a mark at the end of the place in racing.
Parar no meyo da carreira, to stop in full career; (metaph.) to dismay, to fall off one's heat.
Não faz carreira a cego, he will not make way for a blind man; to express the height of ill-nature, that one will not put a blind man in the way, when he is out of it.
Ir de carreira, to go with all speed.
Carreira da vida humana, (metaph.) the course of a man's life.
Carreira, ou pequeno intervallo que se fa entre os cabellos, separados com o pente, ou com a agulha de toucar, the parting of the hair.
Carreira, a voyage, a going from one place to another, especially by sea.
As carreiras, hastily, swiftly, in full speed.
Carreira de polvora, a train of gun-powder. See FORMIGAM de Polvora.

Carreira, a continuance or series of things, a row. See CARREIRO.
CARREIRO, f. m. a narrow way, a foot path; also a carman, or carter.
Carreiro, (in some parts of Portugal) a tom-turd-man.
CARREJAR. See CARREAR.
CARRETA. See CARRO.
Carreta do canhão, ou reparo. See CANHAM.
Ganchos que estão de huma e outra parte das carretas de artilharia, draught-hooks.
CARRETADA. See CARRADA.
CARRETAM. See CARREIRO.
CARRETEIRA, f. f. a lighter, a heavy vessel into which ships are unloaded.
CARRETEIRO. See CARREIRO.
CARRETLHA, f. f. a jaggling-iron, such as pastry-cooks use.
CARRETO, f. m. carriage, portage, wagonage.
CARRICA, a hedge-sparrow, or troglodite.
CARRICO, f. m. ledge, sheer-grass.
CARRIL, f. m. the track or rut of a chariot, or chariot wheel; also a highway for carts or coaches.
CARRILHO, f. m. a check.
Comer a dous carrilhos, to eat with both jaws; that is greedily. (Metaph.) To please two parties, to play Jack on both sides; or to run with the hare and hold with the hound.
CARRINHO, f. m. a little cart, diminut. from Carro.
Carrinho de mão que tem huma só roda, a wheel-barrow.
Carrinho para meninos, a go-cart for little children.
CARRITELE, f. m. a pulley; also a small cylindric piece of wood, that serves to intertwine spangles of gold, or silver, and also gold-thread, &c. round it.
CARRO, f. m. a cart, chariot, wain, a waggon.
Carro cuberto por cima, a close or covered waggon.
Hum carro defeno, a load of hay.
Carro para acarretar estorço ou sujidade, a tumbrel, or dung-cart.
Carro triumphal, a triumphal chariot.
Carro de ouro, a sort of superfine camblet, called Brussels camblet, or camelote.
Por o carro diante dos boys; we say, to put the cart before the horses.
Carro, (in astronomy) Charles's wain, seven-stars in ursa major.
Atar alguém a hum carro, to cart one.
Carro para acarretar madeira, a tug.
O que tem a seu cargo de buscar carros, quando el-rey faz jornada, a car-taker.
CARROÇA, f. f. See COCHE.
Carroça de acarretar, a large cart, a waggon.
CARROCIM, f. m. a little coach.
CARRUAGEM, f. f. a cart, wain, or waggon; a coach, or chariot, a general name of all things serving to carry.
Assento da carruagem. See ASSENTO.
Carruagem de aluguel, a hackney-coach.
CARTA, f. f. a letter.
Dobrar huma carta para fechala, to do up a letter, or to fold up a letter.
Carta de marear, a sea-chart, being a geographical description of sea coasts, with the true distance, heights, and courses of winds, laid down in it.

Carta geographica, a geographic chart.
Carta cosinografica, a general draught of the whole globe of the earth, commonly called a map of the world.
Carta de qualquer reyno, ou provincia do mundo, a chorographic chart, or a description of a particular country, as of England, &c.
Carta topographica, a topographic chart, or a draught of some particular place, as of London, Amsterdam, &c.
Carta da saúde, a certificate of health.
Carta de A, B, C. See ABECEDARIO.
Carta de pago. See RECIBO.
Carta citatoria, summons.
Carta de seguro. See SEGURO.
Carta de guia, a note given to one that travels in a strange country, for all people to put him in his way, and not molest him.
Carta de urias, this is spoken when any one, under a pretence of recommending or doing service to another, does him an injury.
Carta de alfinetes, a paper with several rows of pins in it.
Perder por carta de mais ou por carta de menos, to be over or under.
Carta de alforria, a discharge to a slave, by which he is made free.
Carta mandadeira, or missiva, a familiar, or missive letter.
Cartas de jogar, playing cards.
A primeira carta que se joga, the leading card.
Lancar as cartas sobre a mesa, ou acabar de jogar, to throw up the cards.
Dar cartas, to deal the cards.
Levantar as cartas, to cut the cards.
Ter boas cartas, ou bom jogo, to have a good hand at cards.
P. não affines carta que não leas, nem bebas agoa que não vejas, do not sign any writing which you have not read, nor drink water which you have not seen; that is, see whether it be clear.
CARTABUXA, f. f. a sort of brush made of copper, and used by goldsmiths.
CARTABUXADO, a, adj. See
CARTABUXAR, v. a. to clean with the CARTABUXA, which see.
CARTAGENA, or CARTHAGENA, Old Carthagen, a city of Murcia, in Spain. It lies on a fine bay, is of a middling magnitude, and defended by a fortress.
Carthagen, New Carthagen, the capital of a province of the same name, on the Terra Firma of South America.
CARTAGINEZ, or CARTHAGINEZ, Carthaginian.
CARTAGO, or CARTHAGO, Carthage, Old; in Lat. Carthago; once a celebrated city of Tunis, in Africa, which so long contended with Rome for the empire of the world.
CARTAMO, or CARTHAMO, f. m. wild saffron.
CARTAM, f. m. a board, or stone in a wall, or other place, to write some inscription upon.
CARTÃO. See QUARTÃO.
CARTAPACIO, f. m. a stitched book, or any parcel of writing put together.
Cartafacio da syntaxe, a book wherein the rules of the Latin construction are expounded.

CARTAZ. See CARTA de seguro.
Cartaz, any paper set up in corners of streets, or in public places.
CARTAXO, f. m. a little bird so called.
CARTEADO, a, adj. See
CARTEAR, v. n. to sail according to the compass.
Cartear-se, v. r. to keep correspondence, to correspond by letters.
CARTEL, f. m. a written challenge, a cartel. See also CARTAZ.
CARTELA, a sort of play at cards.
CARTHAGO. See CARTAGO.
CARTHAMO. See CARTAMO.
CARTILAGEM, f. m. cartilage, gristle.
CARTILAGINOSO, a, adj. cartilaginous, gristly.
CARTILHA, f. f. the first book children in Portugal learn to read in, like our primer.
Ler a cartilha a alguém, (a familiar expression) to tell one of his faults.
Cartilha do A, B, C. See ABECEDARIO.
CARTIMPO'LO, f. m. so the countrymen call the book wherein they set their accounts.
CARTINHA, f. f. a short letter, diminut. from CARTA.
CARTORIO. See ARCHIVO.
CARTULARIO. See ARCHIVISTA.
CARTUXA, f. f. a convent of Carthusians.
CARTUXOS, the Carthusians, a religious order instituted by St. Bruno, in the year 1084.
CARTUXO, f. m. a cartridge, to charge any fire-arm with, a case of paper or parchment filled with gunpowder, used for the greater expedition in charging guns; also a cornet of paper used by grocers.
CARVALHAL, f. m. a grove of oaks.
CARVALHINHA. See CAMEDRYOS.
CARVALHO, f. m. an oak.
Causa de carvalho, of an oak, oaken.
Carvalho muito duro, a que alguns chamao cerquinho, oak of the hardest kind, heart of oak.
CARVAM, f. m. coal.
Carvam de pedra, fossil-coal or pit-coal.
Carvam de lenha, charcoal.
Converter em carvão, to annihilate, to turn to nothing.
Negro como hum carvam, coal-black.
CARVAMSINHO, f. m. a little coal.
CARVANSERA'. See CARBANÇARA'.
CARVATA. See CARAVATA.
CARVIS, (in India) fishermen.
CARUNCHO, f. m. rottenness, or worm-eatenness in wood; also a worm bred in wood.
CARUNCHOSO, a, adj. worm-eaten, rotten, putrified; carious.
CARUNCULA, f. f. a little piece of flesh, a caruncle.
CARVOEIRA, f. f. a coal-hole, or coal-house; also a coal-pit, or colliery, the place where charcoal is made; also a coal-woman.
CARVOEIRO, f. m. a coal-man, a collier.
CARYBDES, CARIBDES, or CHARYBDES, a dangerous whirlpool in the straits of Sicily, over against Scylla; a pernicious rock; also any great danger or peril, (metaph.)
CARYOPHILLATA, f. f. avens, or herb benet.

CASA, f. f. a house, home, habitation; it is sometimes used in the plural number, particularly speaking of the house of some great man, as, as casas do duque, the duke's house.
onde está um. de casa? where do you live?
Casa de loucos, an hospital for lunatics, or mad people, a mad-house.
Casa de sobrado, a house with upper rooms, or a chamber above stairs.
Casa da moeda, the mint.
Casa do caracol, a snail's shell.
Casa cuberta de palha, a thatched-house.
Casa real, a royal palace; also the king's household, or servants.
Casa professa, a monastery of religious persons professed.
Casa do campo, a country-house.
Casa de esgrima, a fencing-school; so they also call a room without furniture; but it is only used in jest and raillery.
Casa piquena, que está pegada a huma grande e mais alta, a shed, or out-house.
Casa do jogo, a gaming-house.
Por casa, to set up house keeping.
De casa em casa, from house to house, or from door to door.
Casa ou sala para receber visitas, a parlour, a withdrawing-room.
Casa para fruta. See FRUTA.
Casa aonde se come, a dining-room.
Altos da casa. See ALTO.
Baxos de huma casa. See BAXOS.
Ser de casa, to be intimate, to be well acquainted with.
Casa, (in astrology) a house.
Casas, are also the squares, or chequers on a chess or draught-board.
Fazer casa, (in playing at draughts) to put two men in the same square.
Casa do botão, a button-hole.
Casa forte, so they called formerly a castle or fortress.
Casa em que se põem ou ajunta a sujidade, a draught-house, a house in which filth is deposited.
Casa, house, family, parentage, extraction.
Casa de conversação, a club-room.
P. minha casa e meu lar cem soldos val e eslimouse mal, porque mais val; we say, home is home though it be never so homely. The Latins say, domus amica, domus optima.
P. quem faz casa na praça, huns dizem que he alta, outros que he bayxa; that is, a man in public business can't please every body.
CASACA, f. f. a coat.
Volter casaca, to be a turncoat; to forsake the party of one, and take that of his enemy; to turn cat in pan.
Cajaca amargosa, a sort of plant in the Brasils.
CASACAM, f. m. a great-coat.
CASADO, a, adj. See CASAR.
CASADOURA, ex. Moça donzella casadura, a marriageable girl, that is ready for a husband.
CASAL, f. m. a farm-house; also a small village with few houses.
CASAMATA, (in fortification) casemate, a well, with its subterraneous branches, dug in the passage of the bastion, till the miners are heard at work, and air given to the mine; also a vault of mason's work in the flank of a bastion next to the curtain, to fire on the enemy.

CASAMENTEIRA, f. f. a match-maker.
CASAMENTEIRO, f. m. the same.
CASAMENTO, f. m. a wedding; also a match.
Casamento com pessoa inferior, ou desigual, disparagement.
Escriptura de casamento, a marriage agreement.
Casamento a troco, intermarriage. See CASAR a troco.
CASAPO, f. m. (in India) a cannon, or piece of ordnance.
CASA'R, v. n. or Casar-se, v. r. to marry, to take a wife or husband.
Fazer que alguém case com pessoa inferior, ou desigual a sua, to disparage.
Casar, v. a. to join a man and a woman, to marry them; also to conciliate, to unite, to make to agree; also to bestow in marriage.
Casar-se, v. r. to suit with, to agree, to become.
Casar a troco, ou casarem dous irmãos com duas irmãs, to intermarry, to marry one among another of the same families, as the brother or sister of one, with the sister or brother of the other.
CASCA, f. f. bark, the rind of trees and plants; also the husk, or hose of wheat, or other grain; also hull or peel inclosing the seed.
Casca de laranja, the rind, or peel of an orange.
Casca de laranja que se espreme no vinho para darlhe gosto, zest.
Casca de noz, ou de ovo, the shell of a nut, or of an egg.
Por cascas de albos, for trifles, for things of no signification.
CASCABULHO, f. m. the peel, or skin, wherewith seeds, acorns, &c. are covered. See also CASCALHO.
Cascabulho de huma maçã, &c. the core of an apple, &c.
CASCADO. See CASCAR.
CASCALHO, f. m. a chip, or shard of marble, or other stone, that comes off in hewing; also gravel, little round pebble stones, coarse sand, grit.
CASCALHUDO, a, adj. full of gravel, or sand, gravelly, gritty.
CASCAR, v. a. (a common and low word) to strike, to lick.
CASCARRA, a sort of fish so called.
CASCARRAM, ex. Vinho cascarram, a sort of heady wine.
CASCASINHA, f. f. a little husk, peel, &c. diminut. from Casca.
CASCARE'L, f. m. varvels about the leg of a hawk, ferret, &c.
Cobra de cascavel, a rattle-snake, the wild people of the Brasils call her beicimiringa.
A cascavel surdido, silently, without noise.
CASCO, f. m. ex. Casco da cabeça, the skull.
Casco de cavallo, mula, &c. the horny substance under the hoof of a horse, mule, &c.
Cavallo que tem o casco muyto delgado e brando, a fat-footed horse.
Casco de navio, a ship without masts, ropes, and other rigging; also the keel, or bottom of a ship.

Casco de marisco. See CONCHA.
Casco de cebola, a flake of an onion.
Casco de ferro que se põem na cabeça. See CAPACETE.
Casco de fortaleza, the bare walls and buildings of a fortress without garrison.
Quebrar os cascos, to break the skull; also to plague, to molest.
Fulano tem bons cascos, such a one has a good head; for the most part spoken ironically.
Meter-se alguma coisa nos cascos, to fancy, to think or imagine, to put a thing into one's head.
Que se vos meteo nos cascos? what whim is now come into your head?
CASCUNHAR, (in cant) to see.
CASEIRA, f. f. a farmer's wife; also a woman that hireth another man's house to dwell in, a tenant.
CASEIRO, f. m. a farmer, a husbandman;
 also he that hireth another man's house to dwell in, a tenant.
Casero, a, adj. any thing that is homely, home-made, private; also plain, homespun.
Mulher caseira, a woman that keeps her house and is not a gadder.
Pão caseiro, household bread.
Ave caseira, a dunghill fowl, a tame fowl,
 a fowl fed in a barten.
CASIA. See CANELA.
CASINHA, f. f. a small house, a cottage.
CASINHAS, f. f. p. so they call the rooms of the holy office where the guilty, or suspected about religion, are kept.
CASO, f. m. an accident, a chance, fortune;
 a law case, a case in declining words; also esteem, regard.
A caso, or por acaso, by chance.
Caso que, put the case, supposing, or admitting that.
O que succede a caso, casual, that happeneth
 by chance.
A caso, what! why! it is also used with an interrogation, and then signifies perhaps.
Caso de conciencia, a case of conscience, a question or scruple about some matter of religion.
Fazer muito caso de alguma coisa, to make great account of a thing, to make much of it.
Caso enorme, enormous fact.
Caso reservado, (with Romanists) case reserved, sins of consequence, the absolution of, which is reserved for the superiors, or their vicars.
Isto não faz ao caso, 'tis no matter, it is not to the purpose.
Neste caso, in this case, if it is so.
Em caso, ou no caso, in case, if it should happen, upon supposition that.
Vamos ao caso, let us come to the point, speak to the thing in hand.
Demos caso, supposing, or admitting.
Caso crime, a capital crime.
Não estou no caso, I do not understand the case.
Não estar no caso, to be unable.
Caso de armas. See CHOQUE.
Elle toma tudo em caso de honra, he stands too much upon the point of honour, he stands upon punctilios of honour, he is touchy.
Não faço caso delle, I don't mind him.

CASPA, f. f. scurf, or scales in the head, beard, and brows, dandruff.
CASQUEJADO, a, adj. See
CASQUEJAR, v. n. (among farriers.) See
CICATRIZAR.
CASQUETE, f. m. a calot, or leather, or paper to cover the skull.
CASQUILHO, f. m. a coxcomb, a fop, a beau, a spark.
CASQUINHA, f. f. a thin rind, or little bark; also the rind of citron, sweetened with sugar.
CASSAR, v. a. See QUEBRAR, RISCAR, and ANNULLAR.
CASSIOPEA, Cassiopea, a northern constellation of twenty-four stars.
CASSIS. } See { CACIZ.
CASSO. } See { ANNULLADO.
CASSOULA, or CAÇOULA, f. f. a perfuming pan, or pot.
CASSOULETA. See ESCORVA.
CASTA, f. f. race, family, stock, or generation; also race, breed, strain, kind.
 (Speaking of beasts.)
Castá, sort, kind, species.
Da mesma casta, of one stock or kindred, of the same sort.
Sahir á casta, to take after the father, to do as he did, to be the father's own child in conditions.
CISTALIA, f. f. a fountain of Phocis, at the foot of the hill Parnassus.
CASTALIO, a, adj. of, or belonging to the same fountain.
CASTAMENTE, adv. chaste, modestly.
CASTANHA, f. f. a chestnut.
O ouriço da castanha, the husk, or the rough prickly shells of chestnuts.
Castanha do mato. See HERMODATI-
LO.
Castanha rebordã, a small wild chestnut.
Castanha pilada, a chestnut that has the shell taken off, and is so dried.
Cor de castanha, of a chestnut colour.
Tocado de castanhas, a fashion of curling used among women.
CASTANHAL, f. m. a plot of chestnut-trees, a place planted with chestnut-trees.
CASTANHEIRA, f. f. a wild chestnut-tree that produces no chestnuts.
CASTANHEIRO, f. m. a chestnut-tree.
Castanheiro longal, a sort of chestnut-tree higher than the others.
Castanheiro rebordão, a wild chestnut-tree.
CASTANHETA, f. f. the snapping of the fingers; also a sort of fish.
Castanhetas, snappers, castanets, used to dance with.
CASTANHO, a, adj. of a chestnut-colour.
Castanho claro, light chestnut-colour.
Castanho escuro, dark chestnut colour.
CASTELHANO, a, adj. Spanish.
CASTELLA, f. f. the name of two kingdoms in Spain, the one called Castella a Velha,
 Old Castile; and the other Castella a Nova,
 New Castile.
Castella de ouro, Castella dourada, or Cast- tella nova, a great tract of South-America, now divided into the provinces of Panama, Carthagená, Uraba, Santa Marta, Rio de la Hacha, Venezuela, Cumana, Paria, New Andaluzia, and New Granada.
CASTELLAM, f. m. See CASTELLEI-
RO.
CASTELLEJO, f. m. a small castle; also an old castle.

CASTELLEIRO, f. m. a constable, or keeper of a castle.
CASTELLINHO, f. m. a little castle, dimi-
 nut. from Castello.
Castellino fabricado sobre huma eminencia,
 a cop-castle.
CASTELLO, f. m. a castle, or fortress.
Castello da popa, the hind-castle, (in a ship.)
Castello da proa, the fore-castle.
Formar castellos no ar, to build castles in the air; that is, to hope or expect things that in all probability are not likely to happen.
CASTEL'AL, f. m. See ALCAIDE, obsolete.
CASTICADO, a, adj. See CASTICAR.
CASTICAL, f. m. a candlestick.
Boca do castical, the socket of a candlestick.
Castical de braço, a sconce.
Sorte de castical pequeno aonde se põem os cotos das velas sobre hum ponto de ferro para aproveitalos, fave-all.
CASTICAR, v. n. to breed, to engender.
CASTICO, a, adj. so they call in India the sons born of Portuguese parents; also of good breed, or generous in its kind, fertile.
Cavallo castigo, or pay de egoas, a sta-
 lion.
CASTIDADE, f. f. chastity.
Arvore da castidade, a kind of withy, or willow, commonly called agnus castus, in English pork leaves, Abraham's balm, chaste, or hemp-tree.
CASTIGADO, a, adj. chastised, punished,
 corrected.
Estilo castigado, a correct style.
CASTIGADOR, f. m. he who chastiseth, a correcter, a chastiser.
CASTIGAR, v. a. to chastise, to punish, or correct.
Castigar a alguém exemplarmente, to make one a public example.
Castigar o cavallo, to speak to a horse, to spur, or to lash a horse.
CASTIGO, f. m. a punishment a chastise-ment.
CASTO, a, adj. chaste, unstained.
Linguagem casta, the purest and finest language.
CASTO'ENS, or COSTOENS, so they formerly called the soldiers whose duty was to guard the sea-coast.
CASTOR, f. m. an amphibious animal, called a castor, or beaver.
Chapéu de castor, or hum castor, a beaver or castor, a superfine hat.
Castor & Pollux, Castor and Pollux, a fiery meteor, which at sea seems, sometimes, sticking to a part of the ship, in form of balls; also a constellation called Castor and Pollux.
CASTO'REO, castorum, a medicine made of the liquor contained in the small eggs, which are next to the beaver's groin,
 oily, and of a strong scent.
CASTRADO. See CASTRAR.
CASTRAMETAÇAM, f. f. castrametation,
 the art of encamping an army.
O que faz a castrametaçam, the marshal who appointeth the camp, the quartermaster general.
CASTRAMETADO, a, adj. surrounded with intrenchments; this word is only used in a figurative sense, and signifies a place free from dangers.

CASTRAR.

CÁSTRAR. See CAPAR.

Castrar colmeas. See CRESTAR.

CASTRENSE, a, adj. of, or pertaining to the camp, or field, to the army, or war. Peculio castrense, goods gotten by service in war.

CASUAL, adj. casual, accidental.

CASUALIDADE, f. f. casualty, an unforeseen accident.

CASUALMENTE, adj. by chance, accidentally.

CASUISTA, f. m. a casuist.

CASULLA, f. f. a chasuble, the vestment a priest wears over his alb when he says mass.

CASULLO, f. m. the hull or peel inclosing the seeds, the husk or hofe of wheat, or other grain; also a nest. See also CASCALHO.

Casulo do bicho da seda, the ball that a silk-worm makes.

CATA, f. f. a view, a search.

CATA'CHRESIS, f. f. catachresis, a figure in rhetoric, when one word is abusively put for another; an abusive expression.

CATACLYSMO, f. m. See INUNDAÇAM, and DILUVIO.

CATACOL. See CATASOL.

CATACUMBAS, f. f. p. catacombs, a sort of grottos in Rome, under the church of St. Sebastian, which extend some miles under ground, where the primitive Christians hid themselves in time of persecution, and buried the martyrs.

CATADUPA, f. f. a cataract, or great fall of water, a catadure. See also CANEIRO.

CATADURA, f. f. countenance; aspect; also humour, temper, disposition.

CATAFRACTO, or CATAPHRACTO, f. m. a man in complete armour.

CATALECTICO, a, adj. ex: Verso catalectico, a catalectic verse, or a verse wanting one syllable.

CATALECTOS, f. m. p. a collection.

CATALO', f. m. (In India.) See PREGUICEIRO.

CATALOGO, f. m. a catalogue, a list of names, either of persons or things, as of books, &c.

CATA'NA, f. f. a large broad-sword, used by the inhabitants of Japan.

CATANADA, f. f. a stroke with such a sword; also a wipe, a dry bob. (Metaph.)

CATAPEREIRO, f. m. a sort of wild pear-tree.

CATAPHRACTO. See CATAFRACTO.

CATAPLASMA, f. f. a plaster, a cataplasm, a poultice, a soft mollifying application.

CATAPU'A, f. f. (A ludicrous word.) See VAYA.

CATAPULTA, f. f. a catapult, an engine of war, used formerly to throw javelins twelve or thirteen feet long.

CATAR, v. a. to louse, to take away the lice. See also BUSCAR.

Catar-se, v. r. to louse one's self.

CATARATA, f. f. a cataract, or great fall of water; also a cataract in the eyes. Greek.

Tirar as cataratas, to couch the cataract; also to undeceive, to disabuse. (Metaph.)

CATARATEIRO, f. m. he who cures cataracts.

CATARRAL, adj. belonging to a catarrh, or cold.

CATARRO, a catarrh, a cold, a defluxion proceeding from cold. Greek.

CATHARTICO. See CATHARTICO.

CATASOL, f. m. a sort of superfine woollen stuff woven like camblet; also a sort of dye. See also GIRASOL.

CATASTA, f. f. a cage, or stall wherein they set slaves to sale; also a strapado, or the like, on which Christians used to be tormented.

CATASTROPHE, or CATASTROFE, f. m. a catastrophe, or peripetie, the change or revolution of a dramatic poem, or the turn which unravels the intrigue, and terminates the piece; also catastrophe, the end or issue of a business, the fatal conclusion of action, or of a man's life.

CATATA'O, f. m. a sort of sword with a large blade.

Fazer o catatas a alguém, (a low expression) to be revenged of one, to revenge one's self upon him, to bang him.

CATAVENTO, f. m. a sort of wheel with holes, set at the top of the houses in India, to draw in the air and refresh the house.

CATEL, f. m. a sort of bed in Malabar.

CATERVA, f. f. a crew, a rout, a shoal, a troop, a gang, a company.

CATHARTICO, a, adj. cathartic, purging. Greek.

CATHARTICOS, f. m. p. cathartics, or purging medicines.

CATHECHE'SI. See CATHEQUESI.

CATHECHISTA. See CATHEQUISTA.

CATHECISMO, or CATECISMO, a catechism, instruction in matters of religion; also the book that contains such instructions.

CATHECUMENO, f. m. f. a catechumen, one that is instructing, in order to receive baptism.

CATHEDRAL, or CATEDRAL, f. f. a cathedral, the head church of a diocese.

CATHEDRATICO, or CATEDRATICO, f. m. a professor of a science in an university.

CATHEDRILHA, f. f. (in the university of Coimbra) a chair wherein the professor sits for a very short time, and explains a very short lesson.

CATEGORIA, f. f. a term used by logicians, signifying a predicament; also a class, a rank.

CATHEQUESI, or CATEQUESI, f. f. See CATHECISMO.

CATHEQUISTA, or CATEQUISTA, the person who instructs or teaches the principles of the Christian religion.

CATHEQUIZADO, a, adj. See

CATHEQUIZAR, or CATEQUIZAR, v. a. to catechise, to instruct in religious matters.

CATHOLICAM, or CATOLICAM, f. m. catholicon, a universal remedy; a purging electuary, proper for dispelling all ill humours.

CATHOLICO, f. m. he who professes the Catholic religion.

Catholico, a, adj. catholic, universal, general.

El-rey catholico, the king of Spain: the title of catholic was given by pope Alexander VI. to Fernando V. and to Isabel de Castilla; and since all the kings of Spain have retained the same title.

Forno catholico, (in chemistry) a little furnace, so disposed as to be fit for all such operations as are performed with a vehement fire.

Quadrante catholico, (in gnomonics) a quadrant so contrived as to be fit to show the hours in any part of the world; also a sort of coin in India.

CATIMBA'O, f. m. a ridiculous man.

CATIMPLO'RA. See CANTIMPIORA.

CATINGA, f. f. a sort of rank sinell of the blacks, like that of the jackdaws.

CATIVA, f. f. a slave, a captive.

Cativa de um, (a sort of compliment) your most humble servant.

CATIVADO, a, adj. See

CATIVAR, v. a. to captivate, to take prisoner; also to charm, to subdue.

Cativar o animo de alguém, to win one's friendship.

Isto vos fará cativar o animo de todos, this will endear you to all.

Cativar-se, v. r. to be charmed, to be pleased with.

CATIVEIRO, f. m. captivity, bondage.

CATIVO, f. m. a slave, a captive.

CATOBLE'PA, f. f. a beast near the rise of the Nile, with a great heavy head, which it always hangs down.

CATO'PTRICA, f. f. catoptrics; that part of optics which treats of vision by reflection.

CATOPTROMANCIA, f. f. catoptroman- cy, divination by vision, or looking in a glass.

CATORZE. See QUATORZE.

CATRAPO'S, ex: Cavallo que vai correndo a catrapos, ou a quatro pés, a horse running in his full speed.

CATRAYA, f. f. a sort of boat to carry fish in.

CATRE, f. m. a little bed, a couch.

CATROPEO, (in cant) a horse.

CATTA'. See GRANDULIM.

CATUA'L, f. m. (a word used in Malabar) a governor of a kingdom.

CATULO, f. m. (in poetry) the young of all beasts.

CATUR, f. m. (an Indian word) a sort of small man of war.

CAVA, f. f. a furrow, a trench for a drain; also a digging, or delving.

Cava de huma fortaleza. See FOSSA.

Primeira cava de vinha, a breaking up of the earth to make it proper for the planting of vines.

Segunda cava, a digging, or delving over again; a new digging about vines.

Vea cava, the hollow vein.

avas, (in architecture) flutings.

CAVACA, f. f. a sort of sweet cake made of flour, eggs, and sugar.

CAVACADO, a, adj. See

CAVACAR, v. a. to chip, to cut chips, to rough hew.

CAVACO, f. m. a chip, or piece of wood.

CAVADIÇO, a, adj. that which is, or may be dugged out of the earth.

CAVADO, a, adj. made hollow; also digged, or pulled out.

Cavado, f. m. one of the principal rivers in Portugal. Its source is in the province of Traz dos Montes, and below Barcelos it falls into the sea.

CAVADOR, f. m. a digger, or delver, a ploughman.

Come mais que hum cavador, he eats more than a ploughman.

CAVADURA. See CAVA.

CAVALAM, f. m. a sort of fish of the tunny kind.

CAVALGADA, f. f. a troop of horsemen, cavalcade.

CAVALGADO,

CAVALGADO, a, adj. See CAVALGAR.
CAVALGADURA, f. f. any beast for the saddle, fit to ride upon, as a horse, a mule, an ass, &c. See also ESTUPIDO.
CAVALGAR, v. n. to ride, to ride a horse-back. See CAVALLO.
CAVALGAR, or Encavalgar huma peça de artilharia, to mount a piece of ordnance upon its carriage.
CAVALHADA, f. f. horse-ridings, or races, a cavalcade.
CAVALHARIÇO, a master of the horse to a prince.
Cavalhariço mayor, the chief equerry to the king.
CAVALHEIRO. See CAVALLEIRO.
CAVALHEIRIA. See CAVALLARIA.
CAVALHERO. See CAVALLEIRO.
CAVALLA, f. f. a fish called mackerel.
CAVALLAR, adj. of the race of horses.
CAVALLARIA, f. f. horse, cavalry; also a sort of mule; also knighthood. See also CAVALGADA.
CAVALLARICA, f. f. stables.
CAVALLEIRAS, or Religiosas cavalleiras de Santiago da Espada, the nuns of St. Jago of the Sword, in Portugal.
CAVALLEIRO, f. m. a horseman, a rider; also a sort of ant.
Ir a cavalleiro, ou a escachapernas nos ombros de alguém, to ride, or be borne upon another's shoulders.
Cavalleiro de ordem militar, a knight.
Cavalleiros da ordem de Christo, the knights of Jesu. Christ, in Portugal.
Cavalleiros da Garreiteira, knights of the Garter.
Cavalleiros de Malta, the knights of Malta.
Cavalleiros do Tuxão de Ouro, the knights of the Golden Fleece.
Cavalleiros da Estora dourada, the knights of the Golden Spur.
Cavalleiro Andante, a fabulous hero, intent upon performing great exploits, a knight-errant.
Emprego, ou condição de hum cavalleiro andante, errantry, the employment of a knight-errant.
Cavalleiro de industria, a sharper, one that lives upon his wits.
Armar cavalleiro, to instal, to dub, or make a knight.
Meter-se a cavalleiro, to affect the dignity of a knight.
Cavalleiro novel, he who offers himself to be dubbed a knight.
Cavalleiro, gentleman-like, genteel, gallant, free, noble.
Cavalleiro, (in fortification) cavalier, a kind of high platform to plant great guns upon.
Lugar alto que esta a cavalleiro de outro, a height or rising ground that commands a place.
CAVALLEIROSAMENTE, adv. nobly, generously, bravely.
CAVALLEIROSO, a, adj. noble, generous, great, famous.
CAVALLERIA, f. f. knighthood, the military order of knights.
Livro de cavallerias, books of knight-errantry, romances.
Cavallerias, great deeds of chivalry.
CAVALLETE, f. m. an instrument of torture made like a horse, the Romans called it equuleus; also the bridge of a musical instrument.

Carvallete, (among painters) a painter's easel.
Carvallete, (among printers) the galleys of a printer's press.
CAVALLINHA, f. f. the herb called horsetail.
CAVALLINHO, f. m. a little horse, a tit; diminut. from Carvalho.
Carvallinho de frisa, a cheval-de-frise, a war-like instrument to keep off the horse.
CAVALLO, f. m. a horse; also the knave, (at cards.)
Andar a cavallo, to ride.
Carvalho, a venereal bubo.
Soldado de cavallo, a trooper.
Carvallos ligeiros, light horses.
Carvalho anão, a nag, a gennet, an ambliog nag.
Manejo ou arte de ensinar cavallos, horsemanship.
Carvalho que anda de Andadura naturalmente, a Spanish gennet horse.
A acção de andar a cavallo, riding.
Carvalho dos varões, the fore-horse of a coach, or the off-horse.
Carvalho do bolea, the near horse.
Carvalho de posta, a post-horse.
Carvalho de aluguel. See ALUGUEL.
Carvalho de coche, a coach-horse.
Carvalho que anda de chouto, a horse that jolts.
Carvalho roim, que se serve para puxar pello carro, a cart-jade, a cart-horse.
Carvalho que toma o freio entre dentes, a horse that champs the bit.
Carvalho rijo da boca, a hard-mouthed horse.
Carvalho doce de freio, an horse of an easy rest upon the hand.
Carvalho, que tem boa boca. See BOCA.
Carvalho que tropeça, a stumbling horse.
Carvalho espantadiço, a startling horse.
Carvalho ardente, or sogozo, a stately horse.
Carvalho que morde e da couces, a biting and kicking horse.
Carvalho rebellam, an untamed and unruly horse, a restive, or headstrong horse.
Carvalho que galopea com muita ligeireza, a horse that lightly grazes upon the ground.
Carvalho mal pensado, e magro, a lank, or scraggy horse.
Carvalho, que não consente, ou soffre ancas. See ANCAS.
Carvalho mal mandado, a restive horse.
O que amansa os cavallos, an horse-rider, a breaker of horses.
O que contrata em cavallos, a jockey, a horse-courier.
O que ensina andar a cavallo, a riding-master.
Escola em que se ensina a montar a cavallo, manege, or riding-house.
O que não sabe andar a cavallo; we say, he who sits on horseback as a chip upon a block.
Carvalho marinho, a sea-horse.
Carvalho agoadado. See AGOADO.
Fugir a unhas de cavallo, to run full speed.
Carvalho de albarda, a pack-horse.
Carvalho com mormo, a glandered horse.
Carvalho, a knight; (at chess.)
Carvalho de cana, a hobby-horse for a child.
Carvalho de pão para os meninos brincarem, a cock-horse.
Carvalho de carro, a cart-horse.
Carvalho mais chegado ao carro pelo qual outros puxam, the rod, or roddle-horse, a thiller, or thill-horse.

Carvalho de sella, a saddle-horse.
Carvalho de correr, a race-horse.
Carvalho de guerra, a war-horse.
Carvalho ajazeado, a horse with all his furniture.
Carvalho corredor, a fleet horse.
Carvalho de Barbaria, a Moorish horse, a barb.
Carvalho de lançamento, a stallion-horse.
Carvalho velho, ou musto-manso, sobre o qual o caçador de perdizes, &c. debruçando-se para hum lado delle se esconde juntamente com a espingarda da vista das aves, a stalking horse.
Carvalho capado, a gelding.
Carvalho sem ser capado, a stone-horse.
Carvalho que da aos solles, a broken-winded horse.
Carvalho quattralvo, a horse that has four white feet.
Carvalho alazam, a sorrel horse. See ALAZAM.
Carvalho baio, a bay horse. See BAIO.
Carvalho castanho, a chestnut-coloured horse.
Carvalho baio e castanho, a chestnut bay.
Carvalho rocim, a worthless nag, a poor jade.
Carvalho remendado, ou meyo branco e meyo negro, a dapple horse.
Carvalho ruão, a dapple-grey horse.
Carvalho ruço, a grey horse.
Carvalho que serve para mudar em huma jornada, relay, a fresh horse for a traveller to change.
Carvalho que soffre ancas, a double horse.
Carvalho com azas, a winged, or flying horse.
Carvalho trotão, a trotting horse.
Carvalho de pau, a wooden horse.
Montar a cavallo, (a military command) to horse.
Montar a cavallo, to get upon a horse, to take horse.
Apear-se do cavallo, to come off one's horse, to light off one's horse.
Encavalgar hum cavallo, to ride a horse.
Ensinar hum cavallo a andar pella estrada, to way a horse.
Picar o cavallo, to spur the horse.
Picar o voffo cavallo, clap spurs to your horse, spur your horse.
Ferir o cavallo com as esporas, to spur-gall a horse.
Deixar a redea ao cavallo, to give a horse the head.
Mijar o cavallo, to stale.
Affobiar aos cavallos para que mijem, to whistle to horses a-pissing.
Companhia de cavallos, a troop of horse.
Carvalho, a horse for school-boys to be whipped upon.
Carvalho para andar á caça, a hunter, a horse for hunting, a hunting nag.
Arte de curar os cavallos, horse-leechery.
A cavallo, horse-back, riding.
Mosca de cavallo, or tavao, horse-fly.
Poyo, ou cousta semelhante que serve para montar a cavallo, a horseblock, a stall.
Trança do cavallo, a horse-lock.
Guarda a cavallo, horse-guard.
Esterco de cavallo, horse-dung.
Bichos do cavallo, maw-worms.
Tanque para os cavallos, horse-pond.
Carga de cavallo, horse-load.
Carvalho pequenino, ou novo, a young horse, or filly.
Ladros de cavallos, horse-stealers.
Carreira, or curso de cavallos, horse-race, or horse-match.
Tomar a cavallo a alguém para acostalo na escola, escola, to horse one at school, to hold him up whilst he is whipt.

Estar a cavallo em huma trave, to set a straddle upon a beam.
Estar a cavallo, (metaph.) to be superior, to be uppermost, to get the better of it.
Por-se a cavallo sobre alguém, (metaph.) to ride one, to keep him under.
Andar bem a cavallo, to be a good horseman.
Andar a cavallo sobre huma mula, to ride upon a mule.
Mulher que anda a cavallo, a horse-woman.
Andar a cavallo a escachapernas, to ride a straddle.
O andar das egoas atraz dos cavallos, horse-riding. (Speaking of a mare that wants to go to horse.)
Hé tempo dos cavallos cubrirem as egoas, it is time for the stallions to horse the mares.
Atar os pés de hum cavallo com huma corda, to hopple a horse, to tie his feet with a rope.
Cabeça, pescoço, crinas, rabo, e pés do cavallo, the head, neck, mane, tail, and feet of a horse.
Os quatro dentes dianteiros de hum cavallo, gatherers, the fore-teeth of a horse.
Vestido de andar a cavallo, a riding-habit.
Andar a cavallo em offo ou sem sella, to ride a horse without a saddle, or on the bare back.
Caminho só para cavallos, e não para carros, spur-way, a horse-way, a bridle-road.
P. a cavallo dado, não olhes o dente, never look in the mouth of a gift horse.
CAVANEJO, f. m. a main-hamper, a hand-basket to carry grapes into the press.
P. depois de vindimas cavanejos; we say, after meat mustard.
CAVAQUINHO, f. m. a little click, diminut. from Cavaco.
CAVAR, v. a. to dig, to delve, to make hollow; also to dig, or pull out.
CAVATURA, f. f. hollowness.
CAUCAM, f. f. a caution, or taking heed. See also FIADOR.
CAUCASO, f. m. a high hill in Asia between the Euxine and the Caspian sea.
CAUDA, f. f. a tail.
Couro, ou balsa para meter dentro a cauda do cavallo, a dock, a leather for a horse's tail.
Cauda de vestidura, the tail of a gown.
Cauda do dragão, (in astronomy) deneb, dragon's tail, or a point of the ecliptic opposite to the dragon's head, which the moon cuts in descending from the north to the south.
Cauda de cometa, the tail of a comet.
CAUDAL, or CAUDALOSO, a, adj. ex. Rio caudaloso, a mighty river.
CAUDATARIO, f. m. a train-bearer.
CAUDILHO, f. m. a captain, a leader. Spanish.
CAVEIRA, f. f. a skull.
Pelle que cobre a caveira, scalp.
CAVERNA, f. f. den, cave, cavern.
CAVERNAS, (in a ship) floor-timbers, or ground-timbers, those that form the floor of a ship.
CAVERNOZO, a, adj. full of holes, or dens, hollow, cavernous.
CAVIDADE, f. f. See COVA.
CAVIDADES, (among anatomists) cavities, which are great hollow spaces in the body, containing one or more principal parts; as the chest for the lungs, &c. the head for the brain.

CAVIDA'R-SE. See ACAUTELAR-SE.
CAVIDE, f. m. a peg, a ring in the stables to hang up the bridle, &c.
CAVIDOSO. See ACAUTELADO.
CAVILHA, f. f. a sort of wooden nail.
Cavilha de ferro, an iron-pin, belonging to the building and rigging of a ship.
Cavilha de ferro que se põem no fim do eixo para ter mão na roda, a lynch-pin.
CAVILHA'DO, a, adj. See
CAVILHA'R, to drive in wooden or iron pins.
CAVILLACAM, civil, or sophistical reason.
CAVILLADO, a, adj. See
CAVILLAR, v. a. to mock, to deceive, to play the sophister.
CAVILLOSAMENTE, adv. captiously, deceitfully, subtly.
CAVILLOSO, a, adj. captious, full of craft and deceit.
CAVO'UCO, or CABOUÇO, f. m. the cave or hollowness made by a digger of stones in a quarry.
CAVOUQUEIRO, or CABOUQUEIRO, f. m. a digger of stones in a quarry; also he that undertakes to do a thing that he knows nothing of, an unskilful artist.
CAUSA, f. f. cause, principle, occasion; also cause, reason, motive, subject; also a suit, a plea, a process in law.
Por causa de, for the sake of, on account of.
Por que causa? upon what account? why?
CAUSADA, a, adj. See CAUSAR.
CAUSAM, (among physicians) an ardent fever.
CAUSA'R, v. a. to cause, to occasion, to create.
Causar enfado a alguém, to be troublesome to one.
Causar a morte a si mesmo, to foredo, to be the occasion of one's own death.
Causar-se, v. r. to bring upon one's self.
Causar-se a si mesmo enfado, to create one's self trouble.
CAUSIDICO. See ADVOGADO, and LETRADO.
CAUSTICO, a, adj. caustic, burning.
Causticos, f. m. p. caustics, or things which burn the skin and flesh. See CAUTERIO potencial.
Pintura de caustico, a picture that is enamelled, or worked with fire.
Caustico, (in a moral sense) violence, vehemency.
CAUTAMENTE, warily, heedfully, with caution, circumspectly.
CAUTELA, f. f. caution, heedfulness, wariness.
CAUTELOSO, a, adj. See ACAUTELADO.
Cauteloso, crafty, wily, cunning, sly.
CAUTERIO, f. m. cautery.
Cauterio actual, actual cautery, which is made either by fire or hot iron, or other metal.
Cauterio potencial, potential cautery, which is made by burning medicines.
CAUTERIZADO, a, adj. See CAUTERIZAR.
Consciencia cauterizada, (in a moral sense) a conscience afflicted with checks or stings.
CAUTERIZA'R, v. a. to cauterize, to apply

a cautery.
Cauterizar. (In a moral sense.) See AFLIGIR.
CAUTO, a, adj. wary, heedly, cautious. See CAUTELOSO.
CA'XA, f. f. a chest, a box, also a drum; also shape, form, or figure; also a sort of coin in Tidor, one of the Molucca islands.
Tocar a caixa, to beat the drum.
Caixa, a cashier, a cash-keeper.
Mandar embora com caixas destemperadas, to turn out with contempt and scorn.
Caixa das reliquias dos santos, a shrine.
Caixa, a case.
Caixa de lixa, a shagreen case.
Caixa com buracos no tampoão, &c. See PEIXE.
Caixa de tabaco, snuff-box.
Caixa para os pobres, a poor-box.
Caixa do coche, the body of a coach.
CA'XAM, f. m. a great box.
Caxens de livros postos em ordem em huma livraria, hutches, cases, or shelves where-in books are kept.
CAXEIRO, f. m. a cashier, a cash-keeper; also a merchant's clerk; also a box-maker.
CAXETIM, a printer's box for one sort of letter. French.
CAXILHO, f. m. a frame.
Caxilho de huma porta, a door-case.
Caxilho para huma janella, a frame for a window.
CAXINHA, a little box; diminut. from Caixa, a box.
CAYADEIRA, f. f. a woman that whitens, or white-limes.
CAYADO, a, adj. whited.
CAYADURA, f. f. whitening.
CAYAR, v. a. to whiten, to white-lime.
Cayar o rosto, to paint, to lay colours on the face.
CAYEIRO, f. m. he who makes lime, a lime-maker.
CAZE'BRE, (in cant) a house.
CAZE'RNA, f. f. a sort of hut, or lodge for soldiers in a garrison.
CAZO'L, f. m. a sort of black water, used by women in painting their eye-lids.
CABUJO. } See { SABUJO.
ÇAFA. } See { SAFA.
 N. B. Look under the letter S for the words that you find written with Ç.
CE'A, f. f. supper.
CE'ADO, a, adj. supped.
CEAR, v. a. to sup, to eat one's supper; also to fall astern, or to put back a boat with oars without bringing her head about. (A sea term.)
CEARA, CEAREIRO. See SEARA, SEAREIRO.
CECEAR, CECIOSO. See CICIAR, CICIOSO.
CE'BO, or Sebo, f. m. tallow.
Vela de sebo, a tallow candle.
CEBOLA, f. f. an onion; also the head or root of any thing that is like an onion.
Cebola albarram. See SCILLA.
Cebola ascalonia, a scallion, a kind of small onion.
Cebola cefsem, or cecem, sea-onion, or sea-leek, a squill, a physical herb.
CEBOLA'L, f. m. a bed, or company of onions, a place sown or set with onions.
CEBOLINHA, f. f. a small onion, diminut. from Cebola.
CEBOLINHO,

CEBOLINHO, f. m. cibol, ciboulet, a young cibol, a chibbol.
CEBOSO, or SEBOSO, a, adj. full of tallow, or suet, greasy.
CECA. See MECA.
CECEM. See ACUCENA.
Cecém, is symbolically taken for SAUDADE, which see.
CECÍO, a, adj. (a vulgar word) neat, spruce, gim, well-dressed.
CECÍOSO. See CICIOSO.
CEDELA. See SEDELA.
CEDER, v. a. to truckle, to buckle to, to submit, to surrender, to resign, quit, to give way. See also CONFORMAR-SE.
Ceder de seu direito, to give over one's right to another.
CEDIDO, a, adj. See CEDER.
CEDFLHO, f. m. a kind of comma under the letter C thus (ç), which makes it sound like an S; a cerilla.
CE'DO, adv. soon, early.
Mais cedo, sooner.
CEDRO, f. m. a cedar-tree; they grow in many parts of Asia, and mount Libanus is famous for them; there is also great plenty of them in the West Indies.
Fruto do cedro, the fruit or berry of cedar.
Óleo de cedro, the oil which issueth from the cedar-tree, wherewith they anointed books or other things to preserve them from moths, worms, and rottenness.
Resina que sahe dos cedros mayores, the liquor, pitch, or rosin, running out of the great cedar.
CEDULA. See SEDULA.
CEFA'LICA, VEA. See CEPHALICO.
CEGA, f. f. a sort of snake in the Brasils. The natives call it ibjara, boyguacu, or body.
CEGAMENTE, adv. blindly.
CEGAR, v. a. to blind, to strike blind; also to cloud, to darken; also to fill up to the top, to cover over, or hide, (speaking of ditches or trenches, &c.)
Cegar, v. n. to be struck blind.
As paixões cegão os maos, passions, blind wicked men.
Isso he tão claro, que cega os olhos, it is plain enough, that is obvious to the eye, one cannot but see it.
Cegar huma peça, to nail up a cannon, or to make it unserviceable, to dismount it.
Cegar a vista, to dazzle. See also ENTUPIR.
CEGARREGA. See CIGARRA.
CEGARSE, v. r. to be in a hurry, to fly into a passion, to do a thing rashly.
CEGO, a, adj. See CEGAR.
Cego, f. m. a blind man.
Cego de hum olho por algum accidente, a blinkard, or one blink-eyed.
Cego de hum olho por nascimento, that is born with one eye only.
Nó cego, a hard knot, or intricate, that is hard to be untied, a very tight knot.
Intestino cego, (among anatomists) the blind gut, so called because one end of it shuts up.
Terra cega, woody-land, or land surrounded with mountains.
Área cega. See AREA.
Pancada de cego, a stroke of a blind man; that is, a desperate stroke; because blind men, wanting sight to take aim, lay on with such fury, that the first stroke serves for all.

Almorreimas cegas. See ALMORREIMAS sem sangue.
A's cegas, adv. with the eyes shut, blindfold, or blindly, rashly.
Fazer as causas ás cegas, to go blindly to work.
P. sonhava o cego que via, sonhava o que queria; we say, as the fool thinks, so the bell tinkles or clinks.
P. não ha cego, que se veja, nem torto que se conheça; we say, every man thinks his own geese swans. Suum cuique pulchrum, say the Latins.
P. na terra dos cegos, o torto he rey; in a country of blind men, he that has one eye is the king; we say, better one eye, than quite blind. The Latins say, princeps lufus inter cecos.
CEGO'NHA, f. f. a stork; also an engine to draw up water, a squire; also the piece of iron to which the rope is fastened in order to ring the bell.
CEGU'DE, f. f. an herb much like our hemlock, the juice of it, though extreme cold, is poison.
CEGUEIRA, f. f. blindness either in a proper or a metaphorical sense.
CEIRA, f. f. a basket used by porters to carry burdens in; also a frail to put up dried fruit, as figs, or raisins.
Ceira de lagar do azeite, a sort of basket used at the oil-mills, for the oil to run through, and to stop the dregs.
CEIRA'M, a great basket, properly made of rushes, like a mat, or as our hand-baskets, used to load horses, and for other uses.
CEIRINHA, a little basket.
CEITIL, f. m. a sort of coin in Portugal, of very small value.
CEIVADO, a, adj. See CEIVAR or boys, to unyoke oxen.
CELA'DA, f. f. helmet, a cap of steel, a basinet, a salad.
CELAMIM, or CELEMIM. See SELAMIM.
CELA'RENT, (in logic) a syllogism, whose second proposition is an universal affirmative, the other two universal negatives.
CELEBRAÇAM, f. f. a celebration, or solemnizing, a celebrity; also praise, applause.
CELEBRADO, a, adj. See CELEBRAR.
CELEBRADO'R, f. m. a praiser, or commander, he who celebrates.
CELEBRADO'RA, f. f. she that praiseth, or celebrates.
CELEBRANTE, f. m. the priest that says the high mass in a solemnity.
CELEBRAR, v. a. to celebrate, to solemnize; also to say mass.
Celebrar hum pacto com algum, to agree, to make a bargain with one.
CE'LEBRE, adj. celebrated, famous, renowned.
CELEBRIDA'DE, f. f. celebrity.
Celebridade de bodas, the celebrity of a marriage.
CELEIRO. } See { CELLEIRO.
CELEMIM. } { SELAMIM.
CELEREIRA. See CELLAREIRA.
CELEREIRO. See CELLAREIRO.
CELERIDA'DE, f. f. celerity, swiftness.
CELE'STE, adj. celestial, heavenly.
CELESTIAL, adj. the same.
CELESTINA, the proper name of a woman, See also FEITICEIRA.

CELESTINOS, f. m. p. Celestines, an order of monks, founded A. C. 1244, by one Peter, who was afterwards pope, by the name of Celestin V.
CELE'UMA, or celeuma, f. f. (a sea term) the shout or noise which mariners make, when they do any thing with joined strength, at which times they cry, ho-up; or when they encourage each other. Lat. celeusma; some say it is of the masculine gender.
CELGA. See ACELGA.
CELHA, or SELHA, f. f. a basket to pull the fish in.
CELHAS, the eye-lashes. They call them also pastanas.
CELIBADO, or CELIBATO, f. m. celibacy, a single life.
O que vive em celibado, a bachelor.
CELIBATO, a, adj. of, or belonging to celibacy.
CELCOLAS, the inhabitants of heaven. (Used in poetry.)
CELICO, a, adj. celestial, heavenly. (In poetry.)
CELIDONIA, f. f. the herb celandine, very good for the eyes. It is also called andorinha.
Celidonia, a stone of a white or red colour, found in the belly of young swallows, as some say; but Tollius says that he never could find it there.
CELINS, (in the Portuguese India) the trunk of the cocoa-tree.
CELLA, f. f. a cell, proper for a religious man, or nun in a monastery; also a honey-comb.
CELLAREIRA, f. f. an economist in some religious orders. The nun that takes care of the provisions; the store-house keeper.
CELLAREIRO, or CELEREIRO, f. m. (in some religious orders) an economist, or one who manages the domestic affairs.
CELLULA, f. f. a little cell; also a very small concavity, or hollowness. (Among physicians.)
CELLEIRO, f. m. a granary, the place where corn is kept.
CELSITU'DE, f. f. celsitude, highness, height.
CE'LSO, a, adj. high.
CEM, adj. a hundred.
Cem vezes, a hundred times.
Cem vezes outro tanto, hundred fold.
Causa de cem cabeças, hundred-headed.
CEMENTADO, a, adj. See CEMENTAR.
CEMENTAR, v. a. (in chemistry) to purify gold.
CEMITE'RIO, CEMETERIO, or CIMITARIO, f. m. a church-yard.
Porta do cemiterio, lich-gate.
CENA. See SCENA.
CENACULO, f. m. a dining or supping-room; also a banquetting-house, (in poetry.)
CENDA'L, f. m. a fine linen, a lawn, or fine silk like tiffany. Arabic.
CENDRA'DO, cleansed, purged, refined.
Prata cendrada, pure, fine silver.
CENDRAR, v. a. to cleanse, purify, or refine.
CENHO, f. m. (among farriers) a sort of disorder in the horny substance under the hoof of a horse, mule, &c.
CENO, f. m. See LODO.
O 2 GENOBLALMENTE,

- CENOBIALME'NTE, adv. in a cenobitical manner.
- CENO'BIO, f. m. a monastery.
- CENOBITA, f. m. a cenobite, the person who professes a monk's life.
- CENOBITICO, a, adj. belonging to a monastery.
- CENOPEGIA. See SCENOPEGIA.
- CENOSIDADE, f. f. See LODO, and LAMA.
- CENOTAPHIO, f. m. an empty tomb, raised in honour of a dead person. Greek.
- CENO'URA, or CINOURA, f. f. carrots.
- CENRA'DA. } See { DECOADA.
- CENRE'IRA. } See { SENRE'IRA.
- CENSO, f. m. a charge, a tribute, a yearly revenue.
- Pagar o censo a morte*, (metaph.) to die.
- They say also in the same sense, pagar o censo commun.
- CENSO'R, f. m. a censor, a reformer of manners. See also CENSURADOR.
- CENSUA'L, adj. belonging to a charge, tribute, or yearly revenue.
- CENSURA, the office of a censor.
- Censura*, a censure; also reprehension, blame, reproach; also correction, criticism.
- Censuras ecclesiasticas*, ecclesiastical censures, punishments inflicted on offenders, according to church laws.
- CENSURA'DO, a, adj. See CENSURAR.
- CENSURADO'R, f. m. a censor, a reformer of manners; also one who detracts from another's character, or that finds fault with.
- CENSURA'R, v. a. to censure, to reform manners, to detract from another's character, to find fault with, to reprehend; also to inflict ecclesiastical censures.
- CENTAURE'A, f. f. the herb centaury.
- CENTA'URO, f. m. a centaur; a monster, the poets feigned to be half horse and half man. (Metaph.) a whimsical man.
- CENTE'A'L, f. m. a field of rye.
- CENTE'LHA, f. f. See FAISCA.
- CENTE'NA, f. f. the place of hundreds in numeration; as units, tens, hundreds.
- Huma centena*, an hundred.
- CENTENAR, f. m. hundred.
- CENTENARIO, a, adj. centenarian, a hundred years old.
- CENTE'O'SO, a, adj. See CENTEYO, a, adj.
- CENTE'YO, f. m. rye; so called because it yields an hundred for one.
- Dar em alguma cousa, como em centeyo verde*, that is, to consume a thing in a very short time; because the cattle, they say, feed very greedily on green rye.
- Centeyo, a, adj. of, or belonging to rye.
- CENTE'SIMO, a, adj. hundredth.
- CENTILADO. See SCINTILADO.
- CENTILAR. See SCINTILAR.
- CENTINE'LLA. See SENTINELLA.
- CENTIMANO, f. m. that has an hundred hands, as the poets feigned the giant Briareus.
- CEN'TIO, f. m. hundred.
- Hum cento de ovos*, one hundred of eggs.
- Jogo dos centos*, picquet. (A game at cards.)
- CENTO'CULO, that has an hundred eyes.
- CENTO'ENS, f. m. p. centos, a sort of poetry gathered out of many authors.
- CENTO'LA, or SANTOLA, f. f. a sort of large crab.
- CENTONARIOS, f. m. p. (among the Romans) centonarii, officers whose business was to provide tents, and other warlike furniture, called centones.
- CENTOPE'A, f. f. a worm with many feet, a palmer, a kind of caterpillar.
- Centopea*, (metaph.) a vast number.
- CEN'TOS, jogo dos centos. See CENTO.
- CENTRA'L, adj. placed in the centre, or amidst.
- CENTRALME'NTE, adv. in the centre.
- CEN'TRO, f. m. the centre, the point in the midst of any round thing. Greek.
- Estar no seu centro*, to be at pleasure.
- CENTUMVIRA'TO, f. m. the officer, or post of the centumviri, or hundred judges, chosen to hear certain civil causes among the people.
- CENTUPLICADAME'NTE, adv. a hundred times double.
- CENTUPLO, a, adj. hundredfold.
- CENTURIA, f. f. a company or band of an hundred men; also a century, or hundred years.
- Por centurias*, by hundreds, hundred by hundred.
- CENTURIAM, f. m. a centurion, a captain over a hundred foot-men, of which six made a cohort, and ten cohorts a legion.
- O officio de centuriam*, the office or post of a captain, commanding an hundred men.
- CE'O, f. m. heaven, the sky; also the tester of a bed. See also CLIMA.
- A parte concava do coo*, the cope of heaven.
- Ceo da boca*, the roof or palate of the mouth.
- CE'PA, f. f. the body of the vine, whence the branches shoot out.
- Cepa de cabeça*, an old vine-stock cut down and set deep into the ground, to produce a new offspring.
- CEPHALALGIA, f. f. cephalalgia, a fresh head-ach.
- CEPHA'LICO, a, adj. ex. remedios cephalicos, medicines which purge the head.
- Veia cephalica*, cephalic vein, which creeps along the arms between the skin and the muscles, and divides into two branches.
- CEPILHADO. See ACEPILHADO.
- CEPILHAR. See ACEPILHAR.
- CEPILHO, f. m. a plane, a joiner's tool.
- CE'PO, f. m. a stump, stock, or body of a tree without the boughs; also a crooked plane used by joiners.
- Cepo*, a springe, gin, or snare wherewith to catch birds, or beasts, by the legs; also an iron springe or snare to catch thieves.
- Cepo de jaure*. See JAURE.
- Cepo*, a sort of wooden shackle for the feet of prisoners.
- Cepo ou mesu onde o carneiro corta a carne*, a block, or board to cut out meat.
- Cepo*, (metaph.) a blockish, or stupid creature.
- CEPTRO. See CETRO.
- CE'RA, f. f. wax. Greek.
- Cera da orelha*, ear-wax.
- Vella de cera*, wax-candle.
- Fulano be feito de cera*, such a one is a waxen man, or susceptible of any impression.
- Cera branca*, white-wax.
- O que faz cera*, wax-maker.
- O que faz obras de cera*. See CIRIEIRO.
- Cera amarella*, virgin-wax. They call it also cera bella.
- Cer de cera*, wax-colour.
- CERA'ME, f. m. (in Malabar) a house standing upon four stumps, or stocks of trees.
- CERAPE'Z. See CEROTO.
- CERA'STA, f. f. a serpent having four pair of horns, like a ram's.
- CERA'UNIA, f. f. a thunder-stone.
- CERAUNEOS, or CERAUNIOS montes, hills on the frontiers of Epirus, parting the Ionian and Adriatic sea.
- CERBERO, f. m. the infernal dog, that is feigned to have three, sometimes one hundred heads.
- CERCA, f. f. any garden or vineyard hedged or inclosed, an inclosure; also a hedge, any thing that incloses gardens or fields.
- Cerca de madeira*, a palisade, a fence of pales.
- Cerca*, adv. near, nigh, close by; also about.
- CERCADO, a, adj. See CERCAR.
- CERCADORES. See CERCANTES.
- CERCADU'RA, f. f. a compass, to surround something.
- CERCANTES, f. m. p. the besiegers, or blockers up.
- CERCAR, v. a. to inclose, to beset, to besiege, to encompass; to wall, hedge, fence, or surround; also to approach, to draw near.
- CER'CE, or CE'RCIO, adv. even with the root, close to the bottom; as, Cortar cerce as orelhas, to cut off the ears close to the head; from Circius, a pair of compasses, as if marked out with them.
- CERCEADO, a, adj. See CERCEAR.
- O fallar cerceado*, an affected way of speaking.
- CERCEADO'R, one who clips or cuts round.
- CERCEADU'RA, clipping, that which is clipped, or cut off.
- CERCEAR, v. a. to clip, to diminish, to cut round, to retrench, to lessen.
- CERCE'O, f. m. a cutting short, cutting round, clipping, diminishing.
- CERCETA, f. f. a teal, a sort of fowl.
- CERCILHADO, a, adj. See
- CERCILHAR, v. n. to run often hither and thither.
- CERCILHO, f. m. a monk's or friar's crown.
- CERCO, f. m. a siege, a blockade. See also CIRCO.
- Cerca*, a circle about the sun, moon, or stars.
- CERDO'SO, a, adj. bristly; from the Spanish cerda, a hog's bristle.
- CEREA'ES, or CEREA'LES festas, solemn feast to Ceres, cerealia.
- CEREBE'LLO, f. m. the hinder and lower part of the brain, wherein the animal spirits are supposed to be generated, the cerebellum.
- CEREBRO, the brain.
- CEREFO'LIO, f. m. an herb called chervil.
- CERE'JA, f. f. a cherry. Lat. cerasum.
- Cereja de saco*, the heart cherry.
- Cereja preta*, the black cherry.
- Cereja brava*, a corneil, the fruit of the corneil-tree.
- CEREJA'L, f. m. the place where the cherry-trees grow.
- CEREJE'IRA, f. f. a cherry-tree.
- Cerejeira brava*, the corneil-tree.
- CEREMO'NIA, f. f. ceremony, rite; also ceremony, compliment.
- Mestre das ceremonias*, master of the ceremonies.
- Sem ceremonias*, without ceremonies.
- Ceremonias*, words of course.
- Os seus offrecimentos sam unicamente por ceremonias*.

ceremonia, ou ceremonias, his offers are mere words of course.
Habitos de ceremonias, formalities.
Per cerimonia, adv. coldly, only for fashion, or compliment.
Receber a alguém por cerimonia, to receive one coldly, to give him a cold reception.
CEREMONIAL, f. m. a ceremonial, a ritual.
CEREMONIA'TICO, a, adj. ceremonious, full of ceremonies, formal.
CEREMONIO'SO, a, adj. the same.
CERES, f. f. the goddess Ceres.
CERIEIRO, f. m. See CIRIEIRO.
CERINGA, f. f. See SERINGA.
CERINHA, f. f. a bit of wax.
CERNE, f. m. the best and hardest part of the pine-tree, chestnut-tree, and some others.
CERNE LHA, f. f. the end of the ridge-bone of a beast towards the neck.
CERTEIRO, f. m. (in the ecclesiastical ceremonies) he who carries wax flambeaux, or wax-candles in processions, funerals, &c.
CEROL, f. m. shoemakers wax.
CEROTO, f. m. a plaster made with wax, resin, and gums; a fear-cloth.
CEROU'LAS, f. f. p. drawers, trowsers.
CERQUEIRA, f. f. CERQUEIRO, f. m. the nun or friar that takes care of the garden or vineyard; from CERCA, which f.e.
CERRAÇAM, f. f. ex. Cerraçam do tempo, close gloomy weather.
Cerraçam do peito, shortness of breath, oppression of the breast.
CERRADO, a, adj. shut, locked, made fast, close; also dark, close, gloomy, speaking of the weather, or sky; also made thick, that sticks close together.
Esque cerrado, a dark wood.
Carga cerrada, a volley, a discharge of muskets by a party at once.
Estar cerrado, to speak a broken or mixed language.
Cavillo, ou besta cerrada, so they say when a beast's age cannot be known by the teeth, when the mark is out of the horse's mouth. See also the v. CERRAR.
Cerrado, f. m. an inclosure, a place inclosed or fenced in.
CERRADO'UROS, f. m. p. the strings of a purse to draw it up together.
CERRALHAS. See SERRALHAS.
CERRALHEIRO, f. m. a locksmith.
CERRALHO, f. m. the seraglio, where the Great Turk and other Eastern princes keep their women.
Cerrado de mulheres de má vida, a bawdy-house.
CERRAR, v. a. to shut, to lock, to close up; also to thicken, to make thick, to set, or hold close together.
Cerrar com o inimigo, to close with the enemy.
Cerrar a conta, to close an account.
Cerrar a alguém a boca, to stop one's mouth, to make him hold his tongue, to silence, or put him to a nonplus. (Metaph.)
Cerrar os olhos, (metaph.) to yield, to submit; also to take off one's eyes from a thing, not to mind it.
Cerrar com o ponto, to urge a reason, an argument.
Cerrar a besta. See CERRADO.
Cerrar-se, v. r. ex. Cerrar-se a ferida, is for wounds to close and heal.

Cerrar-se à banda, to set up a resolution not to listen to what people are talking of, and not to grant what is asked.
Cerrar-se a moleira, is for the skull to close, to begin to have discretion.
Cerrar-se a noite, ou o tempo, to darken, to grow dark, (speaking of the night, weather, &c.)
Cerrar-se, to end, to be at an end.
CERRO, f. m. a billock, or a little rising-ground.
CERTAA. See SERTA, and FRIGIDEIRA, so they call in Lisbon the bottom of an alembick.
CERTAMEN, or CERTAME, f. m. a controversy, argument, dispute, exercise, a trial of skill; also danger, persecution, agony.
CERTAMENTE, adv. certainly, surely.
CERTAM. See SERTAM.
CERTEIRO. See CERTO, and ACERTADO.
CERTE'SA, f. f. certainty, surety.
Com certeza. See CERTAMENTE.
CERTIDAM, f. f. a certificate, a writing under a man's own hand, certifying something.
Certidão debaixo de juramento, an affidavit.
CERTIFICADO, a, adj. See CERTIFICAR, v. a. to certify, to assure, to ascertain.
Certificar-se, v. r. to inform one's self thoroughly, to be certified of a thing.
CERTO, a, adj. sure, certain; also certain, some; also certain, regular.
Hum certo homem, a certain man.
Eu sei isto de certo, I know it for certain.
Por certo que assim he, certainly it is so, it is a fact.
O que tem a mão certa no atirar, a good marksman, or one that aims well.
Mão certa, a steady hand.
Certo, adv. See CERTAMENTE.
Do certo, exactly.
CERVA, f. f. a hind, a deer.
CERVAL, ex. Lobo cerval, a beast of the nature of a wolf, having many spots like a deer, a lynx.
CERUDA. See CELIDONIA.
CERVEJA, f. f. beer or ale.
Cerveja forte, strong-beer.
Cerveja fraca, small-beer.
Casa onde se vende cerveja, an alehouse.
CERVEJEIRO, f. m. a brewer.
CERVILHAS, f. f. p. a sort of shoes of a very fine leather, used by some people in processions.
CERVIZ. See CACHAÇO; it is also taken for obstinacy, stubbornness.
CERULEO, a, adj. green coloured.
CERVO. See VEADO.
CERUSSA, f. f. ceruse, or ceruss, a preparation of lead with vinegar, commonly called white lead; whence many other things resembling it in that particular, are by chemists called ceruse.
CERZIDO. } See CIRZIDO.
CERZIR. } See CIRZIR.
CESAR, the name of Julius Cæsar, the first Roman emperor, and from him conveyed to the succeeding emperors, his successors.
He outro Cesar, he is another Cæsar, speaking of a brave captain.
Hum grande animo quer ser Cesar, ou nada, a great genius aims at the greatest things, at being Cæsar or nothing.
CESAREO, a, adj. imperial, belonging to the emperor.

Operação cesárea, (among surgeons) cesarian operation, the cutting a child out of the womb, by opening the belly of the mother; hence Julius the first Roman monarch was called Cæsar, because he was thus brought into the world, i. e. caso matris ventre; and the operation has been called cesarian after him.
CESMEIRO. See SESMEIRO.
CESSAÇAM, f. f. ceasing, giving over.
Cessaçam de armas, armistice, a cessation from arms for a time, a short truce.
CESSADO, a, adj. See CESSAR.
CESSAM, f. f. resignation, cession, the act of giving over.
Cessum de seu direito, the delivering up one's right.
Fazer cessum de bens, to resign one's estate, to turn bankrupt.
CESSAR, v. n. to cease, to give over.
CESSIONARIO, f. m. a bankrupt.
CESSO, the fundament.
CESTA, f. f. a basket, a maund, a pannier of wickers.
Cesta de vindimar, a frail or twig-basket, out of which wine runs when it is pressed.
CESTEIRO, f. m. a basket-maker, or seller.
CESTINHA, f. f. a little basket, diminut. from Cesta.
CESTINHO, f. m. diminut. from Cesto.
Cestinho de vimes de feitio de cabaca para apanhar peixe, a kipe.
CESTO, f. m. a large cesta. See CESIA.
Cesto de acarretar as uvas para o lagar, main-hammer, a basket to carry grapes to the press.
Cesto, f. m. a kind of club, or rather thong of leather, having plummets of lead fastened to it, used in boxing or wrestling; a whirl-bat, hurlbat, or whorlebat; also the girdle of Venus.
CESTOENS. (In fortification.) See CAPOEIRAS.
CESTRO. See SESTRO.
CESTRUOSO. See SESTRUOSO.
CESTUATO, a, adj. made in the shape of a basket, when it lies topsy-turvy.
CESURA, f. f. (in poetry) a syllable left after a complete foot, caesura; also incision, or cutting.
CETERA. See SCOLOPENDRA.
CETIM. See SETIM.
CETO, f. m. a whale, or any other monstrous sea-fish.
CETOSO. See ACETOSO.
CETRA, f. f. a short square target, or buckler, formerly used by the Portuguese and Spaniards, made of the ounce, or buffalo's hide.
CETRO, CEPTRO, or SCEPTRO, f. m. a scepter.
CEVA, f. f. meat, wherewith a beast is crammed or fattened.
Ceva das aves de penna, the filling, or cramming of fowls to make them fat.
CEVA'DA, f. f. barley.
Mondar a cevada, to peel barley.
Pão de cevada, barley-bread.
Tisana de cevada, a ptisan, barley-water.
Hum grão de cevada, a barley-corn.
Cevada santa que nasce pilada, naked barley.
Cevada pilada. See FARRO.
CEVADA'L, f. m. the place where barley grows.
CEVADEIRA,

CEVADEIRA, f. f. (a sea term) the spirit-sail. See also ALFORGES.

CEVADEIRO, f. m. he who takes care of the barley for the king's horses. They call him also Cevaleiro mor.

CEVADICO. See CEVADO.

CEVADILHA. See SEVADILHA.

CEVADO, a, adj. fattened, crammed. See also the v. CEVAR.

Cevado, (metaph.) that is stiffly bent on something; that minds a thing, and applies himself earnestly and vigorously to it.

CEVADO'R, f. m. a poulterer.

CEVADO'URO, f. m. a place wherein creatures are fattened, a stall, sty, pen, or coop.

CEVADURA, f. f. the remains of a partridge, goose, &c. wherewith any bird of prey is crammed.

Cevadura, (metaph.) engagement, fight.

CEVANDILHA, CEVANDIJA, or SAVANDIJA, which see.

CEVAM, ex. Porco cevã, a pig that has been crammed and fattened.

CEVAR, v. a. to make fat, to feed, to glut, both in the proper and figurative sense.

Cevã a ira, raiva, ou qualquer outra paixão, to satisfy one's anger, rage, or any other passion. (Metaph.)

Cevã o desejo, to gratify one's desire.

Cevã a vista, to lead one's sight to one, or many different objects, for one's entertainment or pleasure.

Cevã os appetites, to glut one's self with sensual pleasures; to indulge the senses.

Cevã a espingarda. See ATACAR.

Cevã-se, v. r. to be fed, or glutted, both in the proper and figurative sense; also to be delighted with, to love as one's food.

Pedra de cẽvar. See IMAN.

CEVO. See CEBO.

CEYRA, CEYRAM, &c. See CEIRA, CEIRAM, &c.

CEZAM. See SEZAM.

CHA, f. m. tea, the leaf of an Indian shrub, or the shrub itself; also the drink made with the leaf of the shrub.

Chã boy. See BOY.

Chã verde, green tea.

CHAA. See CHAM.

Chã da pã. See PA'.

CHAMENTE, adv. sincerely, plainly, without disguise; also nakedly, without setting off.

CHAPICO, f. m. (in the Portuguese India) a whip, or scourge.

CHACA, f. f. (at tennis) chafe.

CHACINA, f. f. salt meat.

Fazer chacina. See CHACINAR.

Fazer alguém em chacina, to mince, or cut one in pieces.

CHACINADO, a, adj. See

CHACINAR, v. a. to mince, or cut in pieces the meat and salt it.

CHACO, f. m. (a cooper's tool) a driver.

CHACORREIRO, CHACORRICE. See CHOCARREIRO, CHOCARRICE.

CHACOTA, f. f. a dancing and singing together.

Fazer chacota de alguém, to make a jest of one, to scoff at a thing. From the Latin cachimus, a loud laughing, a laughter in derision.

CHAFALHAM, f. m. (a ludicrous word) a merry or jovial man.

CHAFARIS, f. m. a fountain that pours water through a conduit, or pipe.

CHAFUKDAR-SE, CHAFURDO. See

MERGULHAR-SE, MERGULHO.

CHAGA, f. f. a wound, or sore.

CHALAVEGAM, a sort of vessel with oars.

CHALRATAM. See CHARLATAM.

CHALUPA, f. f. a sloop.

Chalupa, (in some games at cards) so they call the ace of spades when it is together with the ace of clubs, and MANILHA, which see.

CHALYBEADO, ex. Remedio Chalybeado, chalybeates, medicines prepared with steel.

CHAMA, f. f. a flame, or bright burning fire. See also FLAMMA.

Chama que logo se apaga como a de palha, &c. a blaze, a sudden blaze, a flash.

Chamas do amor, amorous flames, love, passion. (Metaph.)

CHAMACEIRA, f. f. the gunnel of a boat, through which the rowers put their oars when they row.

CHAMADA, f. f. (a term used in war) chamade, parley.

Fazer chamadã, to beat a parley.

CHAMADO, a, adj. See CHAMAR.

Chamado, f. m. a calling, a summoning.

CHAMALOTE, or CHAMELOTE, f. m. camblet, a sort of stuff, partly silk, and partly camel's hair.

CHAMAME'NTO, f. m. warning, call, or invitation, to repentance.

CHAMAR, v. a. to call, to call for, to call to, to give a call; also to draw along; also to fetch down from.

Mandar a chamar, to send for.

Estar prompto para quando for chamado, to be ready at a call.

Chamar para dentro, to call one in.

Como chamaís aquillo? how do you call that?

Chamar cada cousa pello seu nome, p. to call a spade, a spade.

Chamar a alguém pello seu nome, to call one by his name.

Chamar nomes a alguém, to call one names.

Chamar a alguém para que se venha embora, to call one away.

Chamar alguém para fora desafiando-o, to challenge one to fight.

Chamar a alguém com voz alta, to call after one.

Chamar de parte, ou à parte, to call aside.

Chamar muitos juntamente, to call together.

Chamar alguém para que ajude, to call to one for help.

Chamar a Deus por testemunha, to call God to witness.

Chamar alguém a contas, to call one to account.

Chamar alguém para cima, to call one up.

Chamar alguém para baixo, to call one down.

Chamar alguém a juizo, to call one before the judge.

Chamar à corte, to cite, to summon to appear.

Chamar para hum conselho, to call a council.

Chamar a miudo, to call often.

Chamar alguém do lugar, em que tem algum emprego, to call one away, to recal him from his employment.

Chamar-se, v. r. to be called, or named.

Como vos chamaís? what is your name?

Chamo-me Pedro, my name is Peter.

CHAMARIZ, f. m. a bird called a witwal, or lariat. See also NEGAÇA.

CHAMARRA, f. f. a garment of sheep skins with the wool on, worn by shepherds.

CHAMBAM, f. m. a pickt bone; also he that undertakes to do a thing he knows nothing of.

CHAMBARIL, f. m. a gammon of bacon, or leg of an hog.

CHAMBERGA, a sort of lyric verses.

CHAMBOADAMENTE. See GROSSEIRAMENTE.

CHAMBOALO. See GROSSEIRO.

CHAMBOUCE. See CROSSERIA.

CHAMEIRA, f. f. (obol.) a woman that carries the bread to the oven.

CHAMEJANTE, adj. burning, flaming.

CHAMFCA, f. f. a small rope made of mat-weed.

CHAMICEIRO, f. m. he who carries chamisa.

CHAMICO, f. m. small sticks, or dry brush-wood to kindle a fire; also wood that is half burnt and serves to make coal of it.

CHAMINE, CHEMINE, or CHUMINE, a chimney.

Quadro, ou outro ornamento de pãz, ou pedra que se peca a roda da chamine, a chimney-piece.

Parteleira da chamine, mantle-piece.

Cano de cheminè. See CANO.

Escarpa culatra, ou panno, da chaminè, the mantle-tree of a chimney.

O que alimpa a chaminè, a chimney-sweeper.

CHAMORRO, a scornful name, given by the Spaniards to the Portuguese, who used to cut off the hair. From the Spanish Chamorro, bald.

CHAMPA da espada, the flat side of the sword.

CHAMPAM, f. m. or CHAMPANA, f. f. a sort of a large boat in India.

CHAMUSCADO, a, adj. singed.

CHAMUSCAR, v. a. to singe.

CHAMUSCO, f. m. the smell of a thing that has been singed.

CHAM, chan, (pronounce it like cam and can) cham, or chan, the title of a foreign prince of Tartary, or emperor of China.

CHAMPRO'ENS, f. m. p. thick and strong planks.

CHANCA, f. f. (a vulgar term) ex. Homem que tem grande chanca, a long-footed man.

Chanca do sapato. See CHANQUETA.

CHANÇA, f. f. a jest, or witty saying.

CHANÇAREL. See CHANCELLER.

CHANÇARONA, f. f. a sea fish so called.

CHANCELA, f. f. a slip or small piece of paper.

CHANCELLARIA, f. f. chancellorship, or chancellourship; also chancery, or chancery court.

CHANCELLER mor do reyno, the lord chancellor.

Chancellor, or Chançarel da universidade, the chancellor of an university.

CHANCHARAS, MARRANCHARAS. See CHULARIA.

CHANÇONETA, f. f. a little song.

CHANEZA, f. f. the smooth, or even surface of a field, glass, &c.

Chaneza de condiçam, ingenuity, freedom, frankness, sincerity.

CHANFRADO, a, adj. See

CHANFRAR, v. a. to slope, to hollow, to flatt,

slant, to cut sloping. From the French echancrer.
CHANFRETAS, f. f. p. trifles, toys, idle stories.
CHANQUETA, f. f. ex. Andar com os sapatos de chanqueta, to walk slipshod.
CHANTADO, a, adj. See CHANTAR.
CHANTAGEM, f. f. the herb plantain.
CHANTAM. See ESTACA.
CHANTAR, v. a. (An obsol. word.) See METER, FINCAR, PLANTAR.
CHANTRA'DO, f. m. the chanter's place or dignity.
CHAN'TRE, f. m. chanter, or chief singer in a church.
CHAM, f. m. ground, or soil.
O chão de hum edificio, ground, or ground-plot.
Caber no chão, to fall upon the ground.
Deitar no chão, to throw, or fling upon the ground.
CHÃO, chã, adj. smooth, flat, level, plain, or even.
Estilo chão, low style, (opposed to sublime.)
Cento chão. See CENTO.
CHIOS. See CAOS.
CHAPA, f. f. a plate, or thin piece of some metal.
Chapa de cor que a vergonha faz sair nas faces, blushing, shamefacedness, modesty.
Chapa de cor que as mulheres põem no rosto, painting, a counterfeit colour.
Ornado com chapas. See CHAPEADO.
Jogo das chapas, a sort of play in which they toss up coin, asking whether it is to be cruzes, or cruzes, as we say, cross or pile.
CHAPADO, a, adj. ex. Homem chapado, a good honest man.
Chapada parvice, nonsense, foolish, absurdity.
Chapado ladrão. See CADIMO.
Chapado villão, a great villain, a wicked wretch.
Chapado estudante, a very fine scholar.
CHAPAKA, f. f. plates, or thin pieces of some metals.
CHAPARRIL'RO, f. m. a young cork-tree in its first growth. Some say it is another sort of oak, that bears no acorns.
CHAPEADO, a, adj. plated, covered or adorned with plates.
CHAPEAR, v. a. to plate, to cover or adorn with plates.
CHASPEIRAM, a cloak with a cowl, worn by country people; also a broad-brimmed hat.
CHAPELETA, f. f. a leap, a hop, speaking of a cannon bullet after its first falling upon the ground till it is spent.
Chapeleta, a sort of hat or cap.
Fazer chapeletas, a duck and drake, a sort of play with a flat pebble, or stone, thrown upon the surface of the water.
Chapeletas, the leaps made by the pebble or stone thrown upon the surface of the water.
CHAPELETE, a little hat.
CHAPEO, f. m. a hat.
Tirar o chapéo a algúem, to pull off one's hat to one.
Tirar o chapéo da cabeça de algúem, to cap one, to take off his hat.
Por o chapéo, to put on one's hat.
Corda do chapéo, a hat-band.
Copa do chapéo, the crown of the hat.
Presilha do chapéo, hat-string.
Presilha para o betão do chapéo, the loop,

Abra do chapéo, the brim of the hat.
Chapéo com abas pequenas, narrow-brimmed hat.
Chapéo com abas grandes, a broad-brimmed hat.
Chapéo de palha, a straw-hat.
Chapéo cuzcuzzeiro, a high and narrow-crowned hat.
Chapéo de sol, umbrella, a sort of skreen that is held over the head for preserving from the sun.
Chapéo de telhados. See COUSELLOS.
CHAPIM, f. m. a sort of high-soled clogs made of thick cork: little women, especially, make use of them to appear taller; a chopin. Arabic.
Chapim de que usavaõ os que representavaõ nas tragedias, a sort of shoe coming over the calf of the leg, worn by actors of tragedies, with a high heel, that they might seem the taller.
Chapim de ferro, ou calçado para escorregar, &c. See ESCORREGAR.
CHAPINS da rainha, ou da princeza, a tribute or tax paid to the queen, or princefs.
Chapins de ferro que usam as mulheres quando bã lama, pattens.
CHAPINHA, a little plate, diminut. from Chapa.
CHAPINHA'DO, CHAPINHAR. See PATINHADO, PATINHAR.
CHAPU'Z, a word invented to express the noise of any thing when it falls down.
CHARABE. See CARABE.
CHARAME'LA, f. f. a bagpipe.
CHARAMELEIRO, f. m. he who plays upon the bagpipe.
CHARAM, f. m. a varnish used in China.
CHARCO, f. m. a puddle of standing water.
CHARE'L, f. m. a housing; or horse-cloth.
CHARIDA'DE. See CARIDADE.
CHARISMA. See CARISMA.
CHARYSTIAS, f. f. p. (among the Romans) Charista, a festival solemnized on the eleventh of the calends of March, among the relations by blood and marriage; also a sort of bird so called.
CHARLA'DO. See
CHARLAR, v. n. to talk, to prate, to chat, to chatter, to prattle-prattle.
CHARLATA'M, f. m. a quack.
CHARNE'CA, f. f. a sandy and barren land.
CHARNEIRA, f. f. See FIVELLA.
CHAROADO, a, adj. japanned, or varnished like japan-work.
CHAROAR, v. a. to japan, to varnish like japan-work.
O que charoa, a japanner.
CHAROLA, f. f. See ANDOR.
CHARPA, f. f. a scarf, from the French écharpe.
CHARRO, a, adj. (A vulgar term.) See HUMILDE, and CHAM.
CHARRUA, f. f. a large plough that requires six or eight oxen; also a ship of burden, a merchant-ship.
CHARYBDES. See CARYBDES.
CHASCO, f. m. a hedge-sparrow, or a tom-tit; also a trick, a bite, a fly saying.
Fulano da bons chascas, such a one is a babbler, a prating fellow, a rattle-basket, an idle impertinent fellow.
CHASO'NA, f. f. ex. Homem de ma chasôna, a man that finds fault with every thing.
CHASQUEAR. See ZOMBAR.

CHATTM, f. m. so they call in India any great merchant; also a merchant that is enticed by any profit, though small. Lat. angina.
CHATINA'DO, a, adj. See
CHATINAR, v. n. to merchandize small things of little price, or value.
Chatinar aos soldados, to keep back the soldiers pay.
CHATO, a, adj. flat.
Naris chato, flat nose.
CHAVAM, a sort of stamp or large seal to mark paste or dough with.
CHAVASCO. See GROSSLIRO.
CHAVASQUICE. See GROSSERIA.
CHAVE, f. f. a key. See also CARAVELHA.
Fechar á chave, to lock.
O que tem cuidado nas chaves, a key-keeper.
P. preguiça chave de pobreza, idleness is the key of beggary. The Latins say, Otia non ditiſcunt.
Chave, (metaph.) authority, power, influence.
O poder das chaves, the pope's authority.
Chave da abobada, the key-stone of a vault.
Chave de um reyno, (metaph.) the key of a kingdom, a strong frontier town.
Chave mestra, a master-key, a key that opens many doors; also a fundamental reason that serves to answer to several objections and difficulties. (Metaph.)
A grammatica he a chave das sciencias, grammar is the key of science.
Chave feitiça, a false-key, a pick-lock.
Estar de baixo da chave, to be under lock and key.
Buraco da chave, the key-hole.
Palbetaõ da chave, key-bit. From the French paneton.
Ter a chave de alguma coisa, to be master of a thing, to dispose of it. (Metaph.)
Chave, (metaph.) the very point, or crisis, of a matter.
CHAVE'LHA, f. f. or CHAVE'LHO, f. m. a peg or pin to fasten the draught of horses, &c. to the beam of the wain.
CHAVINHA, f. f. a little key, diminut. from Chave.
CHE'A, f. f. an overflowing.
CHEAME'NTE, adv. See PLENAMENTE.
CHEFE, f. m. ex. Chefe de família, the head or chief of a family or kindred (in genealogy.)
Chefe, (in heraldry) chief, the uppermost part of an escutcheon.
CHEFFA, f. f. a fee held in capite.
CHEGA'DA, f. f. arrival, coming.
CHEGA'DO, a, adj. landed, arrived, come, &c. See CHEGAR.
Chegado, neighbouring, near at hand; also near of kin, allied.
CHEGAR, v. n. to land, to come, to come to, to arrive at, to come to a place, to get into it; also to come to, to arrive at a thing one aims at, to compass it.
Chegar, v. a. to move, or bring to; also to put to; also to come at, or overtake.
Chegar á tempo, to come in time.
Não poderemos chegar lá esta noite, he muito tarde, we cannot reach there to-night, it is too late.
Ainda agora chego de Lisboa, I am just come from Lisbon.
O voffo dinbeiro chega a dez moedas, your money comes to, or amounts to thirteen pounds ten shillings.

- A quanto chega tudo*, what does the whole come, or amount to.
- Cbegou o seu desaforo a*, &c. his impudence went so far as to, &c.
- Eu não posso chegar a isto*, I cannot reach it.
- Eu chego-lhe com a mão*, I reach it, or I reach to it with my hand.
- Vem chegando a noite*, the night draws on.
- Se eu somente posso chegar a fallar-lhe*, if I can but come to speak with him.
- A vossa carta nunca chegou as minhas mãos*, your letter never came into my hands.
- Chegar a bum navio, para abordo*, to come up to a ship.
- Elle não pode chegar a imitar aquelle illustre fujeto*, he cannot come up to the imitation of that illustrious person.
- Esta couza não chega (ou he inferior) aquella*, this thing comes short of, or is inferior to that.
- Não chegar a alcançar alguma coisa*, to come short of a thing, to miss it.
- Vir chegando*, to approach, to draw near.
- Este bosque chega até o caminho real*, this forest reaches the highway.
- Eu te chegarei a roupa ao couro*; (a common and vulgar saying) we say, I'll thrash you, I'll thrash your jacket.
- Chegar-se*, v. r. ex. chegar-se a alguém, to accost one, to come up to one, to draw near to him; also to join or agree with one; also to address, to apply one's self, to make one's address to one.
- CHEGAIPOS a mim*, come to me, or come near me.
- CHEGARAM-SE a mim*, they came to me.
- CHEIRA'DO*, a, adj. See
- CHEIRA'R*, v. a. to smell.
- Cheiray esta rosa*, smell this rose, or smell to this rose.
- Cheirar*, v. n. to smell, to have, or cast a smell. See also PARECER.
- A açam de cheirar*, smelling, or scenting.
- Cheirar bem*, to smell sweet.
- Cheirar mal*, to smell strong, to stink, to have a hogo.
- Esta carne cheira a queimado*, this meat smells of burning.
- Cheirar a badum*, to smell rammish.
- Cheirar*, (metaph.) to guess at the meaning of a thing, to smoke, or smell it out, to find it out by suspicion.
- O sentido de cheirar*. See OLFATO.
- CHEIRO*, f. m. smell, scent, or odour, whether good or bad; also name, fame, reputation. (Metaph.)
- Bom ou mau cheiro*, a good or bad smell.
- Ter bom cheiro*, to have a good smell.
- Cheiro de badum*, rammish smell.
- Cheiro de carne assada, cozida*, &c. the favour, scent, or smell of any thing that is roasted, boiled, &c.
- Ter cheiro de alguma coisa*, to have an inkling, or hint of something.
- CHEIROS*, perfumes, or any sweet things; so they also call some odoriferous and sweet pot-herbs.
- CHEIRO'SO*, a, adj. odorous, odoriferous, sweet-scented.
- CHELONITES*, or CHELONITIDES, f. f. a precious stone like a tortoise.
- CHELYDRO*, f. m. a water-snake.
- CHEMINE*. See CHAMINE.
- CHE'O*, a, adj. full; also fleshy, gross, plump.
- Esstar cheo*, to swarm, or abound with, to be full of, to crawl with.
- Elle esta cheo de piolhos*, he crawls with lice.
- Lua chea*, full moon.
- Com mão chea*, abundantly.
- Em cheo*, wholly, intirely, fully, to the full.
- Dar em cheo*, to hit a thing full.
- Cheo de vinho*, fuddled.
- Voz chea*, a sonorous voice.
- Cheo até acima, ou até às bordas*, top-full, full to the top or brim.
- Pulsos cheos*, the pulse that has a quick motion.
- Ter a sua conta chea*, it is said of those that have their purse full of money, or have every thing they wish for.
- Não tinha ainda os seus dias cheos*, the time of his death was not come yet.
- Dormir sem sono em cheo*, to sleep soundly.
- CHEQUE*. See XEQUE.
- CHERIFE*. See SERIFE.
- CHERINO'LA*, f. f. (a vulgar word) a story, a tale, a petty fiction, or account.
- CHERVIA*, f. f. scarret, or skirwort.
- CHERNE*, f. m. a kind of sea-fish.
- CHERUBICO*, a, adj. cherubic, pertaining to the cherubim.
- CHERUBIM*, or QUERUBIM, f. m. a cherub.
- Os cherubins*, the cherubim.
- CHES meninês*, ex. Dar no ches meninês, to hit the nail on the head.
- CHE'TA*. (In cant.) See VINTEM.
- CHI, chi*, these are words used by swine-herds in calling their swine.
- CHIA'DO*, a, adj. (in India) sly, cunning. See also CHIAR.
- CHIA'L*, (in India) he who professes the Persian religion.
- CHIAOUL*, f. m. chiaus, an officer of the Turkish court, who does the duty of an usher; and also an ambassador to foreign courts.
- CHIA'R*, v. n. to creak, to make a harsh protracted noise, to shriek, to make a shrill noise, to squeak.
- As rodas do carro não chiao quando estão untadas*, cart wheels squeak not when they are liquored.
- CHIAR o pintainho*, to peep like a chick.
- Chiar o pardal*, to chirp as a sparrow.
- Chiar a doninha*, to cry or squeak like a weasel.
- Chiar o rato*, to chirp or squeak like a mouse.
- Chiar a toupeira*, to squeak like a mole.
- O chiar das passarinhos*, the chirping or squeaking of birds.
- CHIBARRA'DA*, f. f. a flock of bucks. From
- CHIBARRO*, f. m. a little buck, a young gelded he-goat.
- CHIBO*. See CABRITO.
- CHICHARO*, f. m. chicklings, a sort of pease.
- CHICHARRO*, a sort of fish so called.
- CHICHELA'DA*, f. f. a stroke with an old shoe; also a quantity of old shoes.
- CHICHE'LOS*, f. m. p. old shoes.
- Dar ao chibelo*, (a ludicrous expression) to go on.
- CHICHEROS*. See CHICHAROS.
- CHICHIME'CO*, f. m. (in cant) a little ugly fellow.
- CHICISBE'O*, f. m. a ladies-fop, a dangler about women. From the Italian Cicisbeo.
- CHICO'RIA*, or ENDIVIA, f. f. endive, or succory. See also ALMEIRAM.
- CHICOTE*, a whip; also the end of a rope or cable, (a sea term.)
- CHIFRA*, f. f. (among bookbinders) a scraper, or grater.
- CHIFRA'DO*, a, adj. See
- CHIFRA'R*, v. a. to scrape, or grate (among bookbinders.)
- CHIFRO*, or CHIFRE, f. m. See CORNO.
- CHILIFICAÇAM*. See CHILIFICAÇAM.
- CHILINDRAM*, f. m. a sort of play at cards. Greek.
- CHILO'*. See CHYLO.
- CHILRADO*, a, adj. See CHILRAR.
- CHILRA'M*, f. m. a sort of net to catch shrimps with.
- CHILRA'R*, v. n. See CHIAR o rato. It is also said of birds that chirp together.
- CHILREA'DO*, a, adj. See
- CHILREA'R*, v. n. to chirp together as birds do.
- CHILRO*, a, adj. ill seasoned, good for nothing; also plain, mere, pure, unmixed.
- Chilro*. See BILRO.
- CHIM China*, adj. of, or belonging to China, Chinese.
- CHIMBE'O*. } See { ROGIM.
- CHIME'RA*. } See { QUIMERA.
- CHIMERICO*. See QUIMERICO.
- CHIMICA*, f. f. chemistry. See ALCHIMIA.
- CHYMICO*, f. m. a chemist.
- Chimico*, a, adj. belonging to chemistry.
- CHIMPA'R*, v. a. to strike; also to blab, to discover any thing that ought to be concealed. It implies rather thoughtlessness, than treachery.
- CHINA*, f. f. China, a vast empire in Asia. This remote and opulent country was first discovered by the Portuguese, above two hundred years ago.
- Louça da China*, China ware.
- China*, f. m. a Chinese, a native of China.
- CHINCADO*. See
- CHINCA'R*, v. n. ou dar cincoas. See CINCA.
- Nem se quer o chinquei*, (a very common and low expression) I have not even tasted it.
- CHINCHA*, f. f. a sort of fishing boat.
- CHINCHE*. See PERSO'EJO.
- CHINCHEIRO*, f. m. (in the province of Beira.) See CHIMBEO.
- CHINCHO'RO*, f. m. a sort of large fishing net.
- CHINCHO'LO*, a, adj. full of chinchies. See CHINCHE.
- CHINE'LA*, f. f. a slipper, to wear in the house. Arabic.
- CHINELEIRO*, f. m. he who makes slippers.
- CHIO'TE*, f. m. a cloak with a cowl, or hood to it, worn by shepherds.
- CHIPO*, (in India) the places where the aliofar is to be found. See ALJO'FAR.
- Hum dia de chipo*, a day for fishing aliofar.
- CHIQUEIRO*, Chiqueiro de porcos, a swine-cote, the place where they eat. Lat. stus.
- Fechar dentro de hum chiqueiro*, to frank, to shut up in a franktye, or swine-cote.
- CHIRA'GRA*, f. f. the gout in the hands. Greek.
- CHIRINO'LA*, f. f. any puzzling contrivance that cannot be understood.
- CHIRI'POS*. See TAMANCOS.
- CHIRVIA*, f. f. See CHERVIA.
- CHIROMANCIA*, or QUIROMANCIA, f. f. chiromancy, a ridiculous divination, pretending pretending to discover the constitutions and tempers of persons, and to foretell events by the wrinkles, lines, and marks in the hand.

CHIRRIADO, a, adj. See CHIRRIAR.

CHIRRIAR, v. n. to cry, or squeak as some birds do, but particularly it signifies to cry or whoop like an owl.

CHIRURGIA, f. f. surgery. Greek.

CHISPA, f. f. a spark, or flake of fire.

CHISPADO, a, adj. See

CHISPAR, v. n. to sparkle as fire does, to throw sparks of fire.

Chisar, (in cant.) to run away.

CHISPO, f. m. See PESUNHO.

Chisso, a sort of fine shoes formerly worn by women in Portugal.

CHISTE, f. m. a jest, witticism.

Chistes, jests, witticisms, scoffs, quirps.

CHITAM, (an interjection) hush, silence.

CHITAS, f. f. p. chints, superfine Indian painted callico.

CHITON. See CHITAM.

CHITTO, f. m. (an Indian term.) See ESCRITO.

CHLAMYDE, f. f. a cloak, a habit for a man of war, a soldier's coat.

CHOÇA, f. f. a cottage, or cabin of turf, straw, leaves, &c. a thatched house.

CHOCA, f. f. a sort of play among boys.

CHOCADO. See CHOCAR.

CHOCALHADO. See CHOCALHADO.

CHOCALHAR. See CHOCALHAR.

CHOCALHA'DA, f. f. a noise of little bells.

CHOCALHA'DO, a, adj. See

CHOCALHAR, v. n. to make a noise with little bells. It is also said of some other soundings, tinklings, and murmurings. (Metaph.)

Chocalhar, (metaph.) to blab out.

CHOCALHEIRO, f. m. a blab.

Chocalheiro, a, adj. ex. Passarinhos chocalheiros, chattering, or chirping birds.

Olhos chocalheiros, staring, prying eyes. It is also said of some other things, which sound and make a noise when shaken. (Metaph.)

CHOCALHICE, f. f. the vice of blabbing out a thing.

CHOCALHO, a little bell that people use to put in a collar for horses, oxen, &c.

Carneiro com chocalho, bellweather.

CHOCAR, v. n. (in the play called choca) is for the bowls to be struck one against the other.

Chocar, to beat, knock, or bruise together, to dash one against another; also to fall foul upon one another, as ships do in a storm; also to engage (speaking of two armies.)

Chocar, v. a. to hatch, to brood, to sit, or hover over.

CHOCARREADO. See

CHOCARREAR, v. n. to jest, to play the buffoon.

CHOCARREIRO, f. m. a jester, a buffoon.

CHOCARRICE, f. f. jesting, playing the buffoon; also a scoffing, a saucy saying.

CHOCARRICES, scurrilous sayings.

CHO'CAS, f. f. p. the dirt the cloaths are splashed or dashed with, spots of dirt.

CHOCHIM, f. m. (a ludicrous word) a ridiculous man.

CHO'CHO, a, adj. unripe and wrinkled. (Speaking of figs.)

Chocho, rotten; also worn out, decayed, feeble. (Metaph.) See also GORO.

CHO'CO, f. m. a brooding, a lying upon, a sitting abroad, hatching of eggs.

Estar de choco. See CHOCAR.

Choco, a, adj. ex. Ovo choco, an hatched egg. See SEDIÇO.

Gallinha choca, a hen that is sitting to hatch chickens, a brood-hen.

CHOCOLATE, f. m. chocolate.

CHOCOLATEIRA, a chocolate-pot.

CHOCORRETA, f. m. one who drinks wine often. (In cant.)

Chocorrêta, f. f. or Fez de vinho, a glass, or a draught of wine.

CHO'COS, f. m. p. a little cuttle-fish.

CHOFRADO. (In cant.) See

CHOFRA'R, v. a. (in cant.) to deceive, to disappoint.

CHO'FRE, f. m. ex. Dar de chofre, to hit a thing full.

CHO'CHO, a, adj. (a vulgar term) flabby.

CHOISO. See CHOUZO.

CHOLDABOLDA, f. f. (in cant.) a great feast, a banquet, wherein there is also a great noise, bustle and confusion.

CHO'QUE, f. m. a crashing, clashing, or dashing of one against another; also a conflict, combat, skirmish, fight, shock.

CHOQUENTO, splashed.

CHORADEIRA, f. f. a weeping woman, that is always ready to cry.

Choradeira dos defuntos. See CARPIDEIRA.

CHORADO, a, adj. See CHORAR.

CHORADO'R, f. m. a weeping fellow, weeping-ripe, ready to weep, a great crying lubber.

CHORAMIGADO. See

CHORAMIGAR, v. n. to cry as a child, or infant, to squall as a child.

CHORAM. See CHORADOR.

CHORAMIGAS. (A ludicrous word.) See CHORADOR.

CHORAR, v. a. to cry, to weep, to lament, to whine, to bewail; also to drop with moisture.

Choro a vossa e minha desgraça, I bewail your misfortune and my own.

Chorar a criança, to cry as a child, to mewl, to squall as a child.

Chorar com outro, to bewail, or weep for a thing with one.

Chora-se por elle, he is lamented, or bewailed.

Chorar muito, to shed many tears.

Começar a chorar, to burst out in tears, to fall a-weeping.

Acabar de chorar, to leave off mourning.

CHORICAS. See CHORADOR.

CHORILHO, f. m. a croud of people.

CHO'RO, f. m. a weeping, or crying out.

Choro de meninos, the crying of young children. See also CORO.

CHOROGRAFIA. See COROGRAFIA.

CHOROGRAFO. See COROGRAFO.

CHOROMIGAR, v. n. See CHORAMIGAR.

CHORO'NA. See CHORADEIRA.

CHORO'SO, a, adj. mournful, full of tears.

CHO'RRO, f. m. a little Latin grammar, an elementary book, containing the first rules of the Latin tongue.

Chorro de agoa, a water-spout.

Fazer sabir a agoa em chorro, to cause a spring to spout out.

Chorro da voz, the sound of the voice.

CHORUME. See CHURUME.

CHOVE'R, v. imp. to rain.

Chove, it rains.

Chover e nevar juntamente, to sleet.

Chover a cantaras, to pour down, or to rain very hard.

Chover pedras, arrãas, &c. to rain stones, frogs, &c.

Chover, v. a. ex. Os vossos olhos chovem luz a cantaras, your eyes sparkle very much, or are very shining. (Metaph.)

Está o telho chovendo rosas, (metaph.) the roof abounds with roses.

P. chover no melhado, to rain upon the wet, to add sin to sin, or affliction to affliction.

Chover estragos, (metaph.) to lay waste, to do a great deal of mischief.

Chover, v. n. to resort, to rain down, or come together in great numbers or companies, to flock, speaking both of persons and things. (Metaph.)

CHOFIDO, a, adj. See CHOVER.

CHOFISCADO. See

CHOFISCAR, v. imp. to mizzle, to rain very small.

CHO'UPA, f. f. a kind of sea-fish; also the broad iron or blade of a hunting-staff, or boar-spear.

CHOUPA'NA, f. f. See CHOÇA.

CHO'UPO, f. m. a sort of poplar-tree growing near the water.

Lugar em que ha muitas choupos, a grove of poplars, a place set with poplar-trees.

CHOURIÇA, f. f. a sort of large sausage, with some fat in it.

CHOURIÇO, f. m. a kind of sausage; also a sand-bag, or any thing used for hindering the wind from coming into the rooms.

Chouriço mouro, a black-pudding.

CHOUZO, or CHOISO, a small hedged piece of ground.

CHOUTADO'R, ou CHOUTAM, f. m. a hard-trotting horse.

CHOUTAR, v. n. to shake, to jog, to lift up and shake, as the hard-trotting horse shaketh him that rideth. See also PIZAR.

CHO'UTO, f. m. the hard trotting of a horse, mule, &c. also a sort of tribute paid by the inhabitants of Guzarat, in India, to the Resbuts.

Cavalle que anda de chouto, a horse that trots hard.

CHOZ, a sort of snare to catch partridges, woodcocks, &c.

CHRISEO, or CHRYSEO, golden. (An epithet for the sun.)

CHRISMA, f. m. an ointment made of oil of olives, and balsam mixed, and blessed by the bishop.

CHRISMA'DO, a, adj. See

CHRISMA'R, v. a. to confirm any one in the christian faith.

CHRISTAAMENTE, adv. christian like, charitably.

CHRISTANDA'DE, f. f. christianity; also Christendom.

CHRISTAM, ãz, adj. christian.

CHRISTAM, f. m. a christian.

Christão novo, a new christian; that is, who is either himself a convert, or descended from the Moors or Jews.

Christão velho, an old christian; that is, whose race has no mixture of Jewish or Moorish blood.

CHRISTANOVICE, and CHRISTAVELHICE, the abstracts of christão novo, and christão velho, signifying the qualities of being a new, or an old christian.

CHRISTIANISMO, f. m. See CHRISTANDADE.

CHRISTIANÍSSIMO, most christian, the title given to the king of France.
CHRISTIANIZA'DO, a, adj. See CHRISTIANIZA'R, v. a. to communicate christian virtues; also to cause a thing to become christian-like.
CHRISTÍFFERO, a, adj. that carries Christ. Greek.
CRISTO, f. m. Christ, the proper name of the Son of God made man, and ever-blessed Redeemer of mankind.
CHROMÁTICO. See CROMÁTICO.
CHRO'NICA. See CRONICA.
CHRONOGRAFIA. See CRONOGRAFIA.
CHRONOLOGIA, &c. See CRONOLOGIA, &c.
CHRYSEO. } See { CHRISEO.
CHRY SMA. } See { CHRISMA.
CHRYSO'L, or CRISOL, f. m. a goldsmith's melting-pot, a crucible. Greek.
CHRYSO'LITO, f. m. chrysolite, a precious stone of a golden colour. Greek.
CHRYSO'PRASO, f. m. a kind of green stone, mixed with a golden brightness. Greek.
CHUÇA. See CHUÇO.
Pella chuça callada, (a very low expression) in huffer-mugger.
CHUCHADO, a, adj. See CHUCHAR.
CHUCHAME'L. See CHUPAMEL.
CHUCHA'R. See CHUPAR.
CHUCHURRIA'DO. See
CHUCHURRIA'R, v. n. to sip, to drink but a little at a time; to drink wine in the manner women do tea.
CHUÇO, f. m. a great half-pike, with a large iron spear to it. Arabic.
CHU'FA. See CHOCARRICE.
CHUFADOR. See CHOCARREIRO.
CHULARIA, f. f. jocosity, wagery.
CHU'LO, a, adj. jelling, jocose. See PI-CARESCO.
CHUMA'CETE, f. m. (with surgeons) pledget, or pleget, a piece of rag folded up and applied to the orifice after letting blood.
CHUMA'CO, f. m. a pillow.
CHUMBADA, f. f. pieces of lead in a fishing-net to sink it.
CHUMBA'DO, a, adj. of the colour of lead. See also CHUMBAR.
Latego chumbado, a whip, or small rope that has balls of lead fastened to one end of it.
CHUMBA'R, v. a. to solder with lead.
Chumbar o cabelo, to press the hair, to make it hang flat down.
CHUMBE'YRA, f. f. a casting-net.
CHUMBO, f. m. lead.
Pedaços de chumbo, com que se pegão os ferros às vidraças, bonds, little pieces of lead with which iron rods are fastened to the panes of glass-windows.
Causa de chumbo, leaden, or of lead.
Causa semelhante a chumbo, leadish, like lead.
Official que faz obra de chumbo, a worker of lead, a plumber.
CHUME'AS, (in a ship) a sort of cheeks to strengthen a mast when it is cracked.
CHUMINE. See CHAMINE.
CHUNA'MBO, f. m. (In India.) See CAL.
CHUPADO, a, adj. suckled; also very lean. See the v. CHUPAR.
CHUPADURA, f. f. a sucking.
CHUPAME'L, f. m. the herb called honey-suckle.
CHUPA'M, f. m. black and blue made on the skin by sucking it.

CHUPA'R, v. a. to suck; also to imbibe, or take in.
Chupar, (in India) to smoke, or take tobacco.
Chupar a algúem, (metaph.) to suck one's substance, to drain his purse by little and little.
Chupar-se a perdiz, (among hunters) to lurk behind a turf, as partridges do sometimes. French, se motter.
CHURDO. See LAA.
CHURMA da galé. See CHUSMA.
CHURRIA'M, f. m. a sort of waggon used in the country to carry people in.
CHURRO, f. m. a villain.
CHURUME, f. m. moisture, juice, of plants, fruits, &c.
CHUSMA, f. f. the whole crew of slaves in a galley; also the whole crew of any ship; also croud, throng, press, multitudes. From the Italian ciurma.
Chusmar, v. a. ex. Chusmar huma galé, to man a galley, to furnish a galley with men.
CHU'VA, f. f. rain.
Chuva misturada com neve, sleet.
Chuva grande, a shower.
Chuva miada, a mizzling rain. See also CHUVEIRO.
Tempo de chuva, rainy weather.
CHUVEIRO, f. m. a shower.
Chuveiro que passa depressa, a little shower.
Chuveiro, or Chuva de setas, a shower of arrows. (Metaph.)
CHUVO'SO, a, adj. rainy.
Tempo chuvoso e nevooso juntamente, sleety weather.
CHU'Z nem báz, ex. Naõ dizer chuz nem buz, to hold one's peace, to be silent. (A ludicrous phrase.)
CHYLIFICAÇAM, f. f. chylification, the action or faculty of changing the food into chyle.
CHYLO, f. m. chyle, the white juice of digested matter, whereof the blood is made.
CIA'R, CIA'R-SE, or Ter CIUMES. See CIUMES.
CIATICA, f. f. the sciatica, a distemper commonly in the hip, the hip-gout.
CIA'TICO, f. m. he who is afflicted with that disease.
CIBA. See SIBA.
CIBA'LHO, f. m. the worms, or insects, the birds and fowls feed upon.
CIBA'NDO, f. m. a kind of bird of prey that fights the eagle.
CIBO'RIO, the ciborium, or covered cup in which the blessed sacrament is kept in churches.
CICATRIZ, f. f. a scar, left by a wound.
CICATRIZADO, a, adj. See
CICATRIZA'R, v. a. to heal up, only leaving a scar.
A chaga se vai cicatrizando, the wound is cicatrizing itself, or healing up to a scar.
CICERO, f. m. pica, the technical name used by printers for types of a certain size; also the name of a famous orator and philosopher among the Romans.
CICERONIANO, a, adj. ex. Estilo Ciceroniano, Ciceronian style, an eloquent, pure, rhetorical style, or manner of expression like Cicero's.
CICIA'R, v. n. to lisp.
CICIO'SO, a, adj. lisping.
Ciciofo, Ceciofo, or Seciofo, f. m. one that has an impediment in his speech, one that lisps.

CICISBE'O. } See { CHICISSEO.
CICLADES. } See { CYCLADAS.
CICLAMINIS. See CYCLAMINIS.
CICLO'PES. See CYCLOPES.
CICUTA. See ANÇARINHA.
CID, ou CIDE, in Arabic, signifies lord, or commander. This name the Moors give to the famous Spanish general, Roderick Diaz de Bivar, who gained many victories over them; and to say of a man, he hum cid, ou hum cide, is the same as to say, he is as brave as Hector.
CIDADA'M, f. m. a citizen, a freeman. See also FORO.
CIDA'DE, f. f. a city.
Mulher da cidade, a city woman.
CIDADE'LLA. See CITADELLA.
CIDA'O. (In Portuguese India.) See FORO.
CIDE. See CID.
CIDRA, f. f. citron; also cyder.
Cor de cidra, citron-colour.
CIDRA'DA, f. f. an excellent sweetmeat or jelly, of the juice of citron.
CIDRA'L, f. m. a garden of citron-trees.
CIDRA'M, f. m. See CIDRA; also a sort of disease in oxen.
CIDRE'IRA, f. f. citron-tree; also a herb which bees delight in, balm-gentle, or mint.
CIE'RO, f. m. roughness in the skin caused by excessive cold; the lips, particularly, are very liable to it.
CIENCIA. } See { SCIENCIA.
CIENTE. } See { SCIENTE.
CIENTIFICO, &c. See SCIENTIFICO.
CIFADO, a, adj. See
CIFA'R, v. a. (a sea term) to get ready.
CIFRA, f. f. zero, a cypher, (o.) See also COMPENDIO.
Cifra, a mark they use in Portugal, every man according to his fancy; being a knot, or some flourish, at the end of the name, to prevent counterfeiting.
Causa que naõ val huma cifra, a thing that is worth nothing. (Metaph.)
Cifra, the key or explanation of a writing in cyphers.
Cifra ou escriptura enigmatica, cypher, a writing in cyphers, a secret character.
Efcrever por cifras, to cypher, or write in cyphers.
Cifras, cyphers, a flourish of letters.
Cifras, (in heraldry) a device, or coat of arms; also an emblem, or motto on a shield, or upon the arms of nobility.
Cifra de impressores no fim de hum capitulo, ou livro, a tail-piece.
CIFRADO, a, adj. See
CIFRA'R, v. a. See RECOPILAR.
Cifrar, ou efcrever por cifras, to cypher, to write in cyphers.
CIGANA, f. f. CIGANO, f. m. a gypsy, a rambling man or woman, that tells people's fortunes.
CIGANARIA, or CIGANICE, the life and behaviour of gypsies; a cheating trick.
CIGANO. See CIGANA.
CIGARRA, or CEGARRE'GA, f. f. a sautelle, or as others, balm-cricket. Lat. cicada; some say that this chirping insect is unknown in England. See Ainsworth's Dict. v. Cicada.
CIGUDE. See CEGUDE.
CIGURE'LHA, f. f. savoury, a herb so called.

Cigrelha brava, flea-bane, or moth-mullein.
CILADA, f. f. a snare, a trap, or crafty wile, an ambush, a lying in wait.
Cabir nas ciladas, to insnare one's self.
Armar ciladas, to lay wait for, to endeavour to trepan.
CILHA, f. f. a band, to bind beasts with, a girth.
Cilha de catre, a bed-cord; also the girths of stools and chairs.
Cilha de colmeas, many bee-hives set in order, a stock of bees.
CILHA'DO, a, adj. See CILHAR.
CILHAM. See SILHAM.
CILHAR, v. a. to girth, to draw the girth straight. See CILHA.
CILICIO, f. m. hair-cloth. See also SILICIO.
CILINDRO. See CYLINDRO.
CIMA, f. m. the top of a mountain, hill, or other place.
Por cima, above.
De cima, from above; also, besides, more than that.
Para cima, upwards.
A cima delle, above him.
A cima ditto, above-mentioned.
Cima a cima, as above.
Ficar de cima, to vanquish, to overcome, to get the better, to surmount, to carry it.
Elle roubou-o e em cima, matou-o, he robbed him, and, more than that, he killed him.
Por cima de tudo, above all.
Voltar de cima para baixo, to overturn, to turn upside down.
Voltar tudo de cima para baixo, (metaph.) to disorder, to confound, to put into a great confusion.
Estar a cima, to excel, to surmount, to surpass, to exceed, to differ from; also to domineer.
Estar a cima de tudo, to be above-board.
CIMA'CIO, or CIMAÇO. See
CIMA'LHA, f. f. (in architecture) cymatium, a wave, ogee, or ogive; a kind of carved work, resembling the waves of the sea. Greek.
CIMBALO, f. m. the musical instrument called a cymbal.
CIMBRE, f. m. (From the Spanish cimbria.) See SIMPLES, (in architecture.)
CIMEIRA, f. f. (in heraldry) the crest of a head-piece.
Cimeira do capacete, the crest of a helmet, where the plume is set.
CIMENTAR. See FUNDAR.
CIMENTO. See ALICERCE.
CIMITARRA, or SEMITARRA, f. f. a Persian scymitar, a faulchion.
CIMO, f. m. the top of a mountain, hill, or other place.
CINABRIO, CYNABRIO, CINNABRIO, f. m. cinnabar, a soft red stone, found in mines, called minium, red-lead, vermilion; and by an Indian word cinoper, i. e. dragon's-blood, from the colour.
CINAMO'MO. See CINNAMOMO.
CINCA, f. f. (in the play called nine-pins) ex. Dar cinca, to lose five, as when they run through the pins and strike down none.
Dar cinca, (metaph.) to mistake, to misunderstand.
CINCEIRO, f. m. a willow, or fallow-ree.

CINCHO, f. m. a cheese-fat to make cheese in.
CINCO, f. m. ex. O cinco de conta, the figure of five (5.)
Cinco, adj. five.
Causa que tem cinco dobras, five double, or five-fold.
Cinco vezes, five times.
Cinco por cento, five per cent.
Hir a cinco e cinco, to go five by five.
Cinco em rama, an herb called five-leaved-grass, cinquefoil.
CINCOENTA, adj. fifty.
CINCOPA. See SYNCOPA, SYNCOPE.
CINGIDE'IRAS, f. f. p. the middlemost claws of birds of prey.
CINGIDO, a, adj. girded; also encompassed, beset with, surrounded, environed. See also the v. CINGIR.
CINGIDO'URO, f. m. a girdle, or binding-band.
CINGIR, v. a. to tie about; also to gird.
Cingir a espada, to gird on a sword, to wear a sword.
Cingir-se, v. r. to cling, to keep close to, to stick.
CINGULO, f. m. a girdle; but in Portuguese it is generally used for that with which the priest girds his alb, when he vests to say mass.
CINICOS. See CYNICOS.
CINNAMO'MO, f. m. a sort of cinnamon-tree.
CINQUINHO, f. m. a sort of ancient coin of small value in Portugal.
CINTA, f. f. a girdle, a sash; it is also said of some other things stretched like a girdle.
Por espada a cinta. See CINGIR a espada.
Cinta da gula, (in architecture) an ogee, or ogive.
CINTAS, (in a ship) wales, or wails; the outward timbers in a ship's sides, on which men set their feet when they clamber up.
CINTEIRO, f. m. he who makes or sells girdles.
CYNTHIA. } See { CYNTHIA.
CYNTHIO. } See { CYNTHIO.
CINTILADO, a, adj. See SCINTILADO.
CINTILA, or SCINTILA. See FAISCA.
CINTILANTE. See SCINTILANTE.
CINTILAR. See SCINTILAR.
CINTILHO, f. m. a hat-band; also the cestus of Venus. See also TRANCE-LIM.
CINTO, f. m. a leather girdle with a clasp at the end of it. It is also the ancient name they used instead of bodriç, a belt.
Cintô frio, so Camoens calls one of the frigid zones.
CINTRA. See SINTRA.
CINTURA, f. f. a man or woman's waist.
CINTURAM, f. m. a broad belt.
CINZA, f. f. ashes.
Cinzas, in the plural, sometimes signifies the reliques and memory of the dead.
Reduzido a cinzas, turned to ashes.
O reduzir-se a cinzas, incineration.
Quarta feira de cinzas, Ash-Wednesday.
CINZEL. See SINZEL.
CINZENTO, a, adj. of an ash-colour.
CIO, f. m. desire to the male.
Cadella com cio, a proud bitch.
Cio dos peixes, spawning.
Cio do veado, rut.
Andar c. egoa com o cio, to desire to go to horse as a mare doth.

Estar a porca com o cio, to grunt, as a sow doth to go to boar.
CIO'ZO, a, adj. jealous.
Ser ciozo, to be jealous, to fear lest another should, or envy that he doth, possess what I desire; also to retain, to preserve, to keep, to hold fast; also to use endeavours to excuse another, or to gain the same end which another purposes.
CIPO', ou IPECACUANHA, f. m. so they call in the Brasils a kind of shrub that twines about the trees till it reaches the top of them; also a sort of wicker.
Cobra de cipô. See COBRA.
CIPPO, f. m. a grave-stone, or monument. See also TRONCO.
CIPRESTE. See CYPRESTE.
CIRANDA, f. f. a screen, or skreen, to sift lime, gravel, &c. with; also a sieve with large holes for the corn to fall through, and straw to remain behind.
CIRANDA'DO, a, adj. See CIRANDAR.
CIRANDA'JEM, f. f. the refuse, or coarser part of the lime, &c. after being sifted through a skreen.
CIRANDAR, v. a. to screen, or skreen, to sift through a skreen; also to sift the corn, to separate it from chaff by a sieve.
CIRCA'SSIA, f. f. Circassia, a province of Asia. We are beholden to the Circassian Tartars, (who traffic in female slaves) for the invention of inoculation.
CIRCENSES jogos, the Circensian games.
CIRCO, f. m. the Circus at Rome, where the people saw the public shows. See also CIRCULO.
CIRCUITO, f. m. a circuit, a compass.
Circuito da cesaõ, the fits of an ague.
CIRCULAÇAM, f. f. circulation.
Circulação do sangue, the circulation of the blood.
Circulação, (in chemistry) circulation.
CIRCULA'DO, a, adj. See
CIRCULAR, adj. circular, round.
Cartas circulares, circulatory letters.
Circular, v. n. to go or move round; also to rise and fall to and fro, (in chemistry.)
CIRCULARME'NTE, adv. circularly, roundly.
CIRCULATO'RIO, ex. Vaso circulatorio, (in chemistry) circulatory, a glass vessel wherein the liquor infused, by its ascending and descending, rolls about as it were in a circle.
CIRCULO, f. m. a circle.
O imperio de Alemanha esta dividido em dez circulos, the empire of Germany is divided into ten circles.
CIRCUNCIDA'DO, circumcised.
CIRCUNCIDA'R, v. a. to circumcise.
CIRCUNCISAM, f. f. circumcision.
CIRCUNDA'DO, a, adj. compassed round.
CIRCUNDA'R, v. a. to compass round.
CIRCUNFERENCIA, f. f. circumference, compass.
CIRCUNFLEXO, (in grammar) circumflex, a sort of accent. (A)
CIRCUNFLUYR, v. a. to flow about any thing.
CIRCUNFORA'NEO, a, adj. that goes up and down.
Charlataõ circumforaneo, one that sells ointments about the streets.
CIRCUNFU'SO, a, adj. that flows about, circumfluous, or circumfluent; also lying about.
CIRCUNLOCUCAM, f. f. a circumlocution, periphrase.

- periphrase, a compass of words, or beating the bush.
- CIRCUNLO'QUIO, f. m. a circumlocution.
- CIRCUNSCREVER, v. a. to circumscribe, or draw a circle or line, to limit, bound, determine; also to circumscribe, or to draw a figure round another. (In geometry.)
- CIRCUNSCRIPTIVO. } See CIRCUN-
CIRCUNSCRIPTO. } SCREVER.
- CIRCUNSPECÇAM, f. f. circumspection, or wariness of action or words.
- CIRCUNSPEC'TO, a, adj. circumspect, cautious.
- CIRCUNSTANÇIA, f. f. a circumstance.
- Erro nas circunstancias*, a circumstantial mistake.
- CIRCUNSTANCIA'DO. See
- CIRCUNSTANCIA'R, v. a. to circumstantiate, or make a proof of any thing by accidents, to describe a thing with its circumstances.
- CIRCUNSTANCIONA'DO, a, adj. See CIRCUNSTANCIAR.
- CIRCUNSTANTES, f. m. p. those that are present in company, the spectators, beholders, or standers-by.
- CIRCUNSTAR, v. a. to stand about, to surround.
- CIRCUNVALLAÇAM, f. f. (in fortification) circumvallation. See LINHA.
- CIRCUNVALLA'DO, a, adj. See
- CIRCUNVALLA'R, v. a. to trench about, to inclose and fortify with bulwarks, or ramparts, to draw the lines of circumvallation.
- CIRCUNVESTINHO, a, adj. neighbouring.
- CIRGA. } See { SIRGA.
CIRGUEIRO. } { SIRGUEIRO.
- CIRGIDEIRAS. See SIRGIDEIRAS.
- CIRIEIRO, f. m. a waxchandler; also he who makes wax-works.
- CIRINGA. See SERINGA.
- CIRINGA'DO. See SERINGADO.
- CIRINGAR. See SERINGAR.
- CIRIO, f. m. a taper, a large wax-candle.
- Cirio paschal*, a paschal candle, which is a very large one, standing by the side of the high altar, from Saturday in Holy Week till Ascension, and lighted at high mass.
- CIROULAS. See CEROULAS.
- CIRURÇIA, f. f. surgery. Greek.
- CIRURÇIAM, f. m. a surgeon.
- Cirurgião que cura a bordo dos navios*, a sea-surgeon.
- CIRRO. } See { SCIRRO.
CIRZETA. } { CERGETA.
- CIRZI'DO, a, adj. fine-drawn, darned; also that keeps close to, or that sticks fast.
- CIRZIDURA, f. f. a rentering, or fine-drawing.
- CIRZIR, v. a. to darn, or fine-draw.
- CISALPINO, a, adj. of, or belonging to this side of the Alps.
- CISCADO. See
- CISCAR, v. n. (a vulgar term) to run away privately. See ESCAPULIR.
- Ciscar-se*, v. r. idem.
- CISCO, f. m. filth, or dust swept out, sweepings; also charcoal-dust.
- Cisco de ourives*, a goldsmith's sweepings.
- CISMA, or SCISMA, f. m. a schism. Greek.
- CISMATICO, or SCISMATICO, a, adj. schismatic.
- CISNE, f. m. a swan; also a poet. (Metaph.)
- Cisne que ainda he pequeno*, a cygnet, a young swan.
- CISTE'R, Cisteaux, a town in the government of Burgundy, in France. Here is a celebrated abbey, the principal of the Cistercian order, reformed from that of St. Benedict, in the year 1098. The abbot is immediately subjected to the pope.
- CISTERCIE'NSE, adj. of, or belonging to Cisteaux.
- CISTE'RNA, f. f. a cistern.
- Caldeira da cisterna*. See CALDEIRA.
- CISURA. See CESURA.
- CITA. See ALLEGACAM.
- CITAÇAM, f. f. a citation, or summons to appear; also citation, quoting, or quotation.
- CITADE'LLA, f. f. a citadel, a fortress that commands a town.
- CITA'DO, a, adj. See CITAR.
- CITA'NIA, formerly Cinnania, a city in Portugal, about eighteen miles east of Braga. See Val. Max. lib. vi. cap. 4. where you may find a very remarkable instance of the bravery of its inhabitants.
- CITA'R, v. a. to cite, to summon; also to quote an author.
- CITARA. See CITHARA.
- CITATO'RIO, a, adj. ex. Carta citatoria, a summons to appear in court at the day appointed, a citation.
- CITERIO'R, adj. belonging to this side.
- CITHARA, f. f. a musical instrument, not much different from a lute, a cittern.
- CITHARE'DO, f. m. one who plays upon the cithara.
- CITHERE'A. } See { CY THEREA.
CITRA. } { CITHARA.
- CITRARIA, f. f. (an old word) hawking, or the art of falconry.
- CITREIRO, f. m. a falconer, or faulkner.
- CITREO, a, adj. belonging to the citron-tree, or made of citron-wood.
- CITRINO, a, adj. that hath the colour of a citron.
- CIVEL. See RUSTICO, CAMPONEZ. See also CIVIL.
- CIVICO, belonging to a city, civic.
- Coroa civica*, the civic crown, given anciently at Rome; a garland of oak, given to him that saved a citizen's life, by the person who was so saved.
- CIVIL, adj. pertaining to the citizens, the city or state. See also DESCORTEZ.
- Civil, civil, not criminal.
- Direito civil*, a civil law.
- Guerra civil*, civil war.
- Architectura civil*. See ARCHITECTURA.
- Morte civil*, so they called a degradation from the estate of a freeman.
- CIVILIDADE, f. f. See DESCORTEZIA, GROSSERIA, RUSTICIDADE.
- CIVILIZA'DO, a, adj. See
- CIVILIZA'R, v. a. (a new word) to civilize or make civil, to soften, or polish manners. From the French civilizer.
- CIUME, f. m. jealousy, an immoderate passion, a fear lest another should, or envy that he doth, possess what I desire; also hatred, envy.
- CIURO. See HARDA.
- CIZANIA, f. f. tares, cockle, darnel; also discord. (Metaph.)
- CIZA'R. See SISAR.
- CIZIRAM, f. m. a kind of pulse like vetches.
- CLADE, f. f. (in poetry) a slaughter.
- From the Lat. clades.
- CLAMA'DO, a, adj. See
- CLAMA'R, v. n. to cry out, to make a clamour.
- Clamar vingança*, to deserve punishment.
- CLAMIDE. See CHLAMIDE.
- CLAMO'R, f. m. clamour, crying out, exclaiming.
- CLANDESTINAMENTE, adv. clandestinely, privily, secretly.
- CLANDESTINO, a, adj. clandestine, secret, private.
- CLANGO'R, f. m. a sound of a trumpet.
- CLARA de ovo, the white of an egg.
- CLARABO'YA, f. f. a lantern, or light on the top of a house.
- CLARAMENTE, adv. clearly, plainly, evidently, openly, manifestly.
- Fallar claramente*, to speak plain, or freely.
- CLARA'M, f. m. a great reflection of light; also the light seen through two things that are not perfectly joined.
- CLAREA, a liquor made with white-wine and honey.
- CLAREA'DO, a, adj. See
- CLAREA'R, v. n. to grow light and clear.
- CLARETE, f. m. claret, red-wine.
- CLAREZA, plainness, clearness, perspicuity, evidence; also nobleness of birth.
- CLARIDADE, f. f. clearness, brightness, shine, light; also excellency, fame, renown.
- CLARIFICA'DO, a, adj. See
- CLARIFICAR, v. a. to clarify, to make clear; also to ennoble, or make famous; also to improve, to better.
- CLARIM, f. m. a shrill sort of a trumpet, a clarion.
- CLARISTAS, f. f. the nuns of Santa Clara, so called from their foundress's name.
- CLARO, a, adj. bright, clear, light, luminous; also plain, easy, perspicuous, evident; also illustrious, renowned; also clear, transparent.
- Batalha de montes Claros*, the battle of Montes Claros, in which the Portuguese, under the command of the marquis de Marialva, defeated the Spaniards, A. C. 1665.
- Dia claro*, clear day.
- Voz clara*, a clear voice.
- Fazer a voz clara*, to clear the voice.
- Vinho claro*, clear wine, fair wine.
- No claro*, in a lightfame place.
- Ceo claro*, a clear serene sky.
- Juizo claro*, a clear wit, or judgment.
- Claro*, (speaking of liquors) clear, fair, pure.
- Claro*, (speaking of sounds) clear, shrill, loud.
- Claro*, (in painting) the lights of a picture, tapestry, &c.
- Ter a vista clara*, to see plain, to be clearly sighted, to have a clear eye-sight; also to have a piercing, acute, sharp wit, to be sharp. (Metaph.)
- Fallar com voz clara*, to speak with a clear or shrill voice; to speak loud, or distinctly.
- Fallar claro*, to speak plain or freely.
- Saltar em claro*, to jump over. Hence
- Saltar em claro*, to make no mention of, to leave out, or omit. (Metaph.)
- Claro*, (a military word) the distance, or space betwixt two regiments.
- CLASSE, f. f. a class, a rank or order of persons; also a form (in schools.)

Elle he da segunda classe, he is of the second form.
Autor de primeira classe, one of the most approved credit in schools.
Classe, (in poetry) a fleet of war, an armada.
CLASSICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to schools, classic.
Autor classico, a classic author, one of approved credit in schools.
CLAVA, f. f. a club, a baton.
CLAUDICANDO. See CLAUDICAR.
CLAUDICANTE, unfit for use. See also CLAUDICAR.
CLAUDICAR, v. n. to be like to fall, to be wavering, both in the proper and metaph. sense.
CLAVE, f. f. (in music) a key, or cliff.
CLAVEIRO, f. m. (in the order of Christ, in Portugal) he who had the keys of the convent, when the knights of the order of Christ lived together.
CLAVELLINA, f. f. a musk gilly-flower.
CLAVICORDIO, f. m. a harpsicord or spinet, a kind of musical instrument.
CLAVICULA, f. f. (in anatomy) the clavicle, the channel bone.
CLAVINA, f. f. carbine, a sort of gun.
Fechos de clavina. See FECHO.
CLAVIO'RGAM, f. m. a sort of instrument between an harpsicord and an organ.
CLAUSTRA, f. f. so they called formerly, by antiphrasis, the universal relaxation of manners in the religious orders, not long since the year 1348. See CLAUSTRO.
CLAUSTRAES, f. m. p. a sort of Franciscan friars; the present pope Clement XIV. did belong to it.
CLAUSTRAL, adj. of, or belonging to a cloister.
CLAUSTRO, f. m. a place begirt with pillars, a cloister; also a sort of meeting in the university of Coimbra.
Claustro materno. See PENTRE.
CLAUSULA, f. f. article, condition, a clause; also the last circumstance or step in any undertaking.
Clausula, cadence. (A musical word.)
CLAUSULANDO, a, adj. See ENCERRANDO, LIMITADO.
CLAUSULAR. See ENCERRAR, LIMITAR.
CLAUSURA, f. f. an enclosure.
Guardar clausura perpetua, to live always in a convent, without having the liberty of going out.
CLEMENCIA, f. f. clemency, meekness, mercy; also temperateness in cold or heat; (metaph.) also Clemency, a goddess among the Romans.
Com clemencia, clemently, meekly, mercifully.
CLLENTE, adj. meek, merciful, clement; also Clement, the proper name of a man.
CLEMENTINAS, (in the canon law) the constitutions of pope Clement V.
CLEREZIA. See CLERO.
CLERICAL, adj. belonging to the clergy.
Estado clerical. See
CLERIGATO, f. m. the office or dignity of a clergyman.
CLERIGO, f. m. a clergyman, a priest. Greek.
Clerigo de missa. See SACERDOTE.
Clerigo de evangelho. See DIACONO.
Clerigo de epistola. See SUBDIACONO.
Clerigo del-rey, an ecclesiastical desembargador. See DESEMBARGADOR.

CLE'RO, f. f. the clergy.
CLICIA. See CLYCIA.
CLIE'NTE, f. m. a client, one who employs a lawyer; also a client, among the Romans.
CLIE'NTELA, f. f. clientship, among the ancient Romans.
CLIMA, f. m. (in geography) a climate, a part or portion of the earth between two circles, parallel to the equator; and where there is half an hour's difference in the longest day of summer.
CLIMATE'RICO, ex. Amos climatericos, climacterical years; certain observable years, which are supposed to be attended with some great mutation of life or fortune; every seventh and ninth year is a climacteric.
Grandes climatericos, grand climacterics; the sixty-third and eighty-first years, wherein if any sickness happens it is accounted very dangerous.
CLIO, f. f. Clio, one of the nine Muses, feigned to be the inventress of history and heroic poetry. Greek.
CLISTEL. See AYUDA. Greek.
CLOACA. See CANO da limpeza.
CLOTHO, f. f. Clotho, one of the three Destinies.
CLUNICENSES, Cluniac monks, an order of monks, founded in the year 900, by Berno, abbot of Cluny, in Burgundy.
CLIGIA, or CLICIA, CLYTIA, or CLYTIE, a nymph whom Apollo converted into the turnsole, because she discovered to Orpheus that he had lain with his daughter; also the flower turnsole, or heliotrope, (in poetry.)
CO, COA, instead of com o, and com a, with the.
COACÇAM, f. f. force, violence, compulsion.
COACERVA'DO, a. See.
COACERVAR, v. a. to heap up together, to coacervate. Lat.
COADA, f. f. broth strained out of boiled peas, beans, &c. From Coar, to strain.
COADEIRA, or COADEIRO. See COADOR.
COADJUTO'R, a coadjutor, a fellow-helper, an assistant.
COADJUTO'RA, f. f. she that helpeth.
COADJUTORIA, f. f. coadjutorship.
COADO, a, adj. strained; also that looks pale for fear, melted; also that passes through a rift, cleft, or chap in wood or stone, as the wind does. See also CAPADO, and the verb COAR.
COLADU'R, f. m. a colander, a strainer.
Coador, or Cadeiro de lagar de azeite, a great sail used in straining of olives.
COADUNAÇAM, f. f. assembly, meeting, congregation.
COADUNADO. See
COADUNAR, v. a. to gather or assemble together.
COADURA, f. f. strained liquor, or juice.
COAGULAÇAM, f. f. coagulation.
COAGULADO, a, adj. See
COAGULAR, v. a. to coagulate, to congeal, to curdle, to thicken.
COALHA'DA, f. f. curdle-milk.
COALHA'DO, a, adj. See COALHAR.
COALHADURA, f. f. curdling, the turning to a curd; also the thing that has been curdled.
COALHAR, v. a. to curdle, or gather into cream, to curdle, or thicken. See also

CONGELAR.

Fazer coalhar o leite, to curdle milk.
Coalhar com frio, to be frozen with cold.
Coalhar, to strew, or cover all over.
Coalhar-se, v. r. to be curdled, to thicken, to wax thick.
Coalhou-se me o sangue nas veas, the blood freezed in my veins.
COALHO, f. m. coagulum, curd, rennet which turns milk. It is also particularly said of a sort of curdled milk, found in the intestines of kids, lambs, &c.
COAR, v. a. to strain; also to pass through a rift, or cleft in wood, or stone, as the wind doth.
Coar, v. n. to slight, to slip away, to slip out, to escape; also to be very pale and wan.
Coar a coleira, it is said of dogs that throw off the collar; it is also said of people that retire from some business.
Coar-se, v. r. (Metaph.) See DERRETER-SE.
COARTAÇAM, or COARCTAÇAM. See RESTRICÇAM.
COARTADA, or COARCTADA, (a law term) it is said of one that purges himself of a crime, by proving that he was absent from the place where it had been committed.
COARTADO, or COARCTADO, a, adj. See
COARTAR, or COARCTAR, v. a. to restrain, to limit or place bounds, to stint, to confine.
COBA'LES, f. m. p. cobales, a sort of demons in human shape, who were called satyrs, and said to be attendants of Bacchus.
COBA'RDE, f. m. a coward. From Cova, a cave, because he hides himself.
COBARDIA, f. f. cowardice.
COBERTO, a, adj. See CUBERTO.
COBERTO'R, f. m. a covering for a bed, a blanket, a counterpane.
Cobertor de selva, a rug.
Cobertor de papa, a blanket.
COBIÇA, f. f. covetousness, greediness.
COBIÇANDO, a, adj. coveted.
COBIÇAR, v. a. to covet.
Cosa para se cobiçar, a thing to be coveted, covetable.
COBIÇOSO, a, adj. covetous.
COBRA, f. f. a snake.
Camisa de cobra. See CAMISA.
Cobra de cipò, a sort of snake in the Brasils that feeds upon frogs; the wild people of the country call her toniapò.
Cobra de ciracs, a snake in the Brasils whereof the skin is as white as snow, and spotted with black and red, the wild people call her ibibebeca.
Cobra de duas cabeças, another sort of snake in the Brasils, called by the wild people ibiyara.
Cobra de veados, Goboya, or Cobra boy, another sort of snake in the Brasils, and perhaps the largest of that kind; she can easily swallow a stag; the wild people call her giboya, and briguacù.
Cobra verde, a sort of green snake in the Brasils, called by the wild people biabi.
Cobra de cascavel. See CASCABEL.
Cobra de castello, a sort of very venomous snake in India.
Erva de cobras, a sort of herb in the Brasils, called by the wild people caiatia, and carica. It is good against the bite of snakes.
Cobra,

Cobra, a rope to tie the horses or oxen by their necks, in the threshing-floor; also a sort of sweetmeat.
Dizer de alguém cobras e lagartos, to speak ill of one as much as it can be. (A vulgar expression.)
Ser mão como as cobras, to be wily, crafty.
P. saber mais que as cobras, to be more cunning than snakes.
COBRADO, a, adj. See COBRAR.
COBRADOR, f. m. a receiver, a recoverer.
Cobrador importuno, a dun, a troublesome and clamorous creditor.
COBRANÇA, f. f. receiving, or recovering.
COBRAR, v. a. to receive, to recover.
Cobrar alguma coisa de alguém com impertinência, to dun, to press a man to pay.
Cobrar forças, to gather strength.
Cobrar o perdido, to retrieve, or make up one's losses.
Cobrar animo, to take courage.
Cobrar saúde, to recover one's health.
Tornar a cobrar a falla, to recover one's speech, speaking of a man that is recovered out of a swoon, apoplexy, &c.
Cobrar juizo, to recover, to come to his wits, or senses again.
Cobrar fizo, to leave boy's play.
Cobrar affeição, to have an inclination to love.
Cobrar devoção, to affect, to love, especially to devote to one's service.
Cobrar a autoridade, to get or acquire power and authority.
Cobrar fama, to become renowned and famous.
P. cobra boa fama, e deita te a dormir, get a good name, and lie down to sleep: like ours, when your name is up, you may lie a-bed till noon.
Cobrar resposta de huma carta, to get an answer to a letter.
Cobrar-se, v. r. ex. Tornar a cobrar-se. See COBRAR juizo; also to get a serene and calm mind again.
Tornar a cobrar-se de hum desmayo, to recover one's self out of a swoon.
Tornar a cobrar-se de hum medo, to recover from fear.
COBRE, f. m. copper.
COBRELO, f. m. (in physic) herpes miliaris, a cutaneous inflammation which is like millet-seed upon the skin, and itches.
COBRINHA, f. f. a little snake.
Cobrinha cega, a shoe-worm.
COBRIR. See CUBRIR.
COBRÔ, f. m. ex. Por alguma coisa em cobro, to lay up a thing safe, so that it may not be easily found.
Por a alguém em cobro, to keep or have one in custody, to keep or guard him from flight.
Por cobro, to remedy, to put a stop, to stop, to keep from going forward. See also COBRELO.
COÇA, f. f. coculus indicus, a poisonous narcotic berry, made use of by poachers to intoxicate fish, so that they may be taken out of the water with the hand; called bacca piscatoria, fishers-berries; also a sort of shrub in America.
Dar coca a alguém, to wheedle, to allure, to trepan. (Metaph.)
Coca, or COCO, which see.
COÇA, ex. Dar huma coça a alguém, to trim one's jacket.
COÇA'DO, a, adj. See COÇAR.

COÇADURA, f. f. scratching.
COÇAR, ou COÇARDA, f. f. a plume, or feather for the hat.
Coçar, v. a. to scratch, scrub, or claw.
Coçar-se, v. r. to scratch one's self.
Naõ ter tempo para se coçar, to have one's hands full, to have enough to do.
Coçar-se a corça, na cabeça, is for a deer to fray her head, or rub it against a tree.
Coçar-se as costas, to scratch one's self, by shrugging up and working the shoulders.
COÇARAS, f. f. p. ex. Estar de cocaras, to squat, to lie or sit squat.
COÇA'M, f. f. (in medicine) concoction, digestion in the stomach.
COCE'DRA, f. f. (obsolet.) a quilt, or mattresses. Spanish.
COCE'GAS, f. f. p. tickling.
Fazer cocegas, to tickle.
Fazer cocegas, (in a moral sense) to make one's mouth water, or to set the teeth watering.
Fes lhe cocegas de, &c. the fancy or humour took him to, &c.
Sintir cocegas, (metaph.) ex. Elle sente cocegas nos ouvidos, he cannot forbear speaking.
COCEGUE'NTO, a, adj. ticklish.
COCE'IRA, f. f. an itching.
Coceira, or Couceira da porta. See COUCEIRA.
CO'CHE, f. m. a coach. It is said to have been invented by the Hungarians.
Coche de aluguel, a hackney-coach.
Diubeiro que se paga pello aluguel do coche, coach-hire.
Caxa do coche. See CAXA.
Tejadilho do coche. See TEJADILHO.
Estribos do coche. See ESTRIBO.
Coche de cal. See CAL.
COCHE'IRA, f. f. coach-house.
COCHE'IRO, f. m. a coachman.
Assento do cocheiro, ou seja almofada, coach-box.
COCHICH'A'DO, a, adj. See COCHICH'A'R, v. n. to mumble, to mutter. (A vulgar word.)
COCHI'CHO, f. m. a sort of lark.
COCHICH'O'LA, f. f. a narrow house.
COCHIM, Cochim, the capital of Cochim, or Kakochin, a kingdom of the Malabar coast, and Mogul empire, in Asia; the Dutch took it from the Portuguese in 1663.
COCHINO, f. m. See PORCO. It is also a sort of game at cards.
COCHONILHA, f. f. its first and proper signification is a wood-louse; but since the said name is given to the scarlet-dye, because it is made of small flies, which, sprinkled with wine or vinegar, roll up together like woodlice, and these are the rich scarlet-dye. Cochineal.
COCYTO. See COCYTO.
COÇIVARA'LO, f. m. (an Indian word) a sort of tribute in the kingdom of Canara, in India.
COCLEA'DO, a, adj. ex. Escadas cocleadas, winding-stairs.
CO'CO, f. m. coco-nut.
Coco, or Coca, words used to fright children; as we say, the bull-beggar.
Fazer coco, to play at bo-peep.
COCODRI'LO, f. m. a crocodile.
COCORIM, f. m. (a Turkish word) a hen.
COÇO'UROS. See COSSOUROS.
COCYTO, f. m. a small river of Campania in Italy, which runneth into the Lucrine lake, feigned by the poets to be the river of hell.

CO'DEA, f. f. a crust; also the scurf, or scab of a wound.
Codea de arvore. See CASCA.
Tirar a codea ao pão, to chip bread.
Codea por meyo da qual hum pão fica pegado no outro no forno, a kissing-crust.
Codea, (in a moral sense) the superficial knowledge of any thing.
Cousa que tem codea, crusty.
CODEAR. (A ludicrous word.) See COMER.
CO'DEASINHA, f. f. a little crust; diminut. from Codea.
CODE'ÇO. See CODESSO.
CO'DEGO, or CO'DIGO, f. m. code; a volume of the civil law, which the emperor Justinian collected.
CODE'SSO, f. m. a kind of shrub, not unlike a slender willow, good for cattle and women's milk.
CODICILLO, f. m. a codicil, a supplement to a will.
CO'DIGO. See CODEGO.
CODILHO, codille, a term at ombre, when the game is won against the player.
CODIL'M, f. m. (in India) a sort of spade or shovel, for digging the ground.
CO'DO, f. m. See GEADA. (Obsolet.)
CODORNIZ, f. f. a quail.
CODO'RNOS, f. m. p. a warden, a great pear.
COE'ROS, f. m. p. swath, swathe, swaddling clothes, clouts for children.
COELHE'IRA, a clapper of conies.
COE'LHO, f. m. a rabbit; also a sort of fish.
Rede para apanhar coelhos, hay, a net to catch conies in.
Cova do coelho, coney-burrough.
Lugar agudo se conserva os coelhos, a coney-warren.
O que tem cuidado dos coelhos, a warrener.
Pelle de coelho, coney-skin.
Pelo de coelho, fluz, the down or soft hair of a rabbit.
Gritar o coelho, to squeak as a rabbit.
Levantar hum coelho, to bolt a coney, to start, or to put up a coney.
COENTRE'LLA, so they call in some parts the herb pimpinel. See PIMPINELLA.
COE'NTRO, f. m. the herb called coriander.
COERCIVO, a, adj. coercive, that has the power of laying restraint.
COESSO, f. m. a sort of fish.
COET'NEO, a, adj. coetaneous, cotemporary, or contemporary.
COE'VO. See CONTEMPORANEO.
CO'FRE, f. m. a coffer for keeping of money; also a coffer, (in fortification.)
Cofres del-rey, the king's coffers.
COGITATIVO, a, adj. (a philosophical term) belonging to the power or faculty of thinking.
COGNAÇA'M, f. f. kindred.
Cognaçam natural, kindred by the mother's side.
COGNO'ME, f. m. a surname. See also ALCUNHA, SORRENOME.
Por hum cognome, to surname, to give a surname.
COGNOME'NTO, f. m. See ALCUNHA.
COGNOMINA'DO, a, adj. surnamed.
COGNOSCITIVO, a, adj. that has understanding, or intellect. (Among philosophers.)
A faculdade cognoscitiva, the cognitive faculty.
COGO'MERO.

COGO'MBRO. See PEPINO.

COGO'TE, f. m. (a vulgar term) the hinder part of the head.

COGULA, or CUCULA, f. f. a monk's cowl, or hood.

Cofa que traz cogula, hooded, cowed.

COGULA'DO, a, adj. heaped up, more than filled.

COGULO, the over measure of corn, &c.

COGUME'LO, f. m. a mushroom.

Cogumêlo que nasce sem pé, a puff-ball, or puff-bill, a kind of mushroom without a stalk, or root.

Sorte de cogumelos grandes, toad-stool.

Cogumelos de porco, a kind of mushroom about the roots of oaks.

Cogumelos que nascem no pé do sabugueiro, jews-eur.

COHABITAÇ'AM, f. f. cohabitation, a cohabiting, or dwelling together, especially as man and wife do.

COHABITA'DO. See

COHABITA'R, v. n. to cohabit, to dwell together, especially as man and wife do.

COHERDE'IRA, f. f. coheirefs, a woman who shares inheritance with another.

COHERDE'IRO, f. m. coheir, a joint heir with another.

COHERENCIA, f. f. coherence, or coherency, a sticking, cleaving, or hanging together; an agreement.

Coherencia do discurso, a proper connection and agreement between the parts of a discourse.

COHERENTE, adj. coherent, agreeing, or hanging together.

Ser coherente, to cohere, to stick or cleave to, to hang together well, to agree.

COHERENTEMENTE, adv. fitly, agreeably.

COHIBI'DO, a, adj. See

COHIBIR, v. a. to cohibit, to restrain, to curb. See REPRIMIR.

Cohibir-se, v. r. to forbear a thing, to refrain, or keep one's self from it.

COHIRMAM. See CONHIRMAM.

COHONESTA'DO, a, adj. See

COHONESTA'R, v. a. to colour, to palliate, or excuse.

COHORA'DO, a, adj. See

COHORA'R, v. a. (among chemists) to cohobate, to repeat the distillation of the same liquor, having poured it on again upon the dregs which remain in the vessel.

A açam de cohorar, cohobation, the repeated distillation of the same liquor.

COHO'RTE, f. f. a cohort, which, among the Romans, was ordinarily a band of five hundred men, or a tenth part of a legion.

CO'IA, f. f. a cawl for women's heads. From the French coiffe.

CO'IMA, f. f. a pecuniary mulct, which is paid in order to redeem the cattle distrained for a trespass, or entering unlawfully on another's ground.

Curral, ou lugar semelhante, onde o rendeiro fecha os animais que achou nos campos alheios, a pound, or pinfold for strayed beasts, where cattle distrained for a trespass are detained.

Fazer huma coima, to distrain cattle for a trespass.

COIMBRA, f. f. Coimbra, a fine city in Portugal. Here is an university, which was first founded by king Dennis, at Lisbon, in 1291, but soon afterwards was removed hither, in 1308.

COIMERA'Ã, ex. Estrada Coimbra, the road that brings to Coimbra; also any highway. (Metaph.)

CO'INA. See COUNA.

COINCIDIDO. See COINCIDIR.

COINCIDIR, v. n. to happen together, to meet, or come together, to fall in with, to meet at an end.

Coincidir na mesma culpa, to fall together into the same crime.

Coincidir nas mesmas ideias sobre hum assunto, to jump, to agree, to tally.

Que coincis no anno de nosso Senhor 725, that fell in the year of our Lord 725.

COINQUINA'DO, a, adj. spotted, defiled.

COIRMAM. See CONHIRMAM.

CO'ITA, f. f. (obsol.) grief, &c. See PENA.

COITADINHO, f. m. ex. Elle he hum coitadinho, he is a poor harmless creature.

Coitadinho, (a word of endearment or pity) poor soul, poor creature.

Coitadinho de mim, poor me.

COITADO, or COUTADO, a, adj. miserable, pitiful, woful, in a sad plight, wretched, calamitous. From the Spanish cuita, vexation, grief, affliction.

Coitado de vos senão fizerdes o que vos mando, woe to you, if you don't do what I bid you.

Coitado de mim, poor me, woe is me.

He hum coitado, he is a poor harmless creature.

CO'LA, f. f. glue. See also REDONDILHO.

Cola, ou CAUDA, which see.

COLAÇAM, or COLLAÇAM. See CONSOADA, and COLLAÇAM.

COLA'CO, f. m. foster-brother.

COLA'R. See CABEÇAM, and GOLILHA.

Colar que os cavalleiros trazem ao pescoço por insignia, a collar of a knight.

Colar de que usão as mulheres, a necklace.

COLARINHO da camisa, the neck of a shirt.

COLATO'RIO, f. m. a sort of colander formerly used.

Colatório, (in anatomy) ex. Osso colatorio, the eighth bone of the head, which is placed about the middle of the origin of the os frontis; it is of its own substance thin, and full of little holes for the use of finelling.

CO'LCHA, f. f. a counterpoint, or counterpane for a bed, a quilt.

O que faz colchas, a quilt-maker.

Colcha de montaria, a counterpoint with needle-work, representing stags, dogs, &c.

COLCHAM, a mattress.

COLCHE'A, f. f. (in music) a crochet, or quaver.

COLCHETE, or CORCHETE, f. m. a clasp.

COLCHOE'IRO, one who makes mattresses.

COLGOTHA'R, (among chemists) colcotol, or the dry substance which remains after distillation of vitriol.

CO'LDRE, f. m. holster.

Couro, ou capirote que cabe sobre a boca dos coldres para seebalos, a holster-cap.

Coldre de setas. See ALJAVA.

COLE'IRA, f. f. a collar, or defensive arm that covereth and defendeth the neck.

Coleira que se põem nos caens, e outros animais, a collar.

Coleira de cão armada de bicos, a mastiff collar full of nails.

COLEIRA'DO, (in heraldry) collared.

Cão coleirado, a dog with a white ring, or spot round the neck.

CO'LERA, f. f. choler; also anger, wrath.

Estar em co'era, to be angry.

Colera com muito humor melancolico, melancholy, or choler adust.

Colera vitelina, a thick and yellow bile.

Colera verde, the bile that has a porraceous colour.

COLE'RICO, a, adj. choleric, in whom choler predominates; also angry, hasty, passionate.

COLE'TE, f. m. a waistcoat without sleeves.

Colete de anta, a buff waistcoat.

COLGADURA, f. f. a suit of hangings; also a present made to one on his birthday.

COLHARE'IRO. See COLHEREIRO.

COLHEDE'IRA, (among painters) a stick, a horn, or any thing else, wherewith painters scrape up their ground colours.

COLHEDO'R, f. m. a gatherer, a collector.

COLHEDO'RES, (in a ship) the lines of the shrouds.

COLHE'ITA, f. f. a crop, harvest.

Tempo da colheita, reaping, or harvest time.

Colheita, or PRECARIA PRESTAÇAM. See PRECARIO.

COLHE'R, v. a. to gather, pull, or pluck fruit, herbs, &c. also to catch one, to take unawares, to take in the fact; also to infer, gather, or conclude.

Colher às mãos, to lay hands on, to seize.

Colher alguem, to take one up.

Colher a alguem alguma palavra, to lay hold of a word, to not let it fall to the ground, to take it up.

Colher alguem desframente, to take one in by caviling, or making use of captious arguments.

O vosso argumento não colhe em forma, your argument concludes false.

Colher, to come unlooked for, to come upon suddenly, to surprise.

A chuva nos colheu na metade do caminho, the rain caught us at the half-way.

Colher hum cabo, (a sea term) to quoil a cable.

Colher os frutos do proprio trabalho, to reap the fruit of one's labour. (Metaph.)

Que fruto colhereis disso? what benefit shall you reap by it?

Colher-se, v. r. ex. Colher-se fera da companhia de alguem, to rid one's self of one's company.

Colher, f. f. a spoon.

Colher de pedreiro, or trolha, (a mason's tool) a trowel to spread mortar with.

Colher em que se põem alguma couza, que encobre o remedio, que se quer dar a hum menino, ou doente, a mad spoon.

Colher, or Colherada, a spoon-full, a ladle-full.

Meter a sua colherada, (a vulgar expression) we say, to have an oar in the boat, to intermeddle or put in one's word.

COLHERE'IRO, f. m. a sort of bird.

COLHERINHA, f. f. a little spoon, diminut. from Colher.

COLHIDO, a, adj. See COLHER.

COLHIMENTO, f. m. a taking, gathering, or receiving.

CO'LICA, f. f. the colic.

COLIFLO'R, f. m. a cauliflower.

COLINA, or COLLINA. See OUTEIRO.

COLIRICA, f. f. (in medicine) the illness of the stomach, with a flux and vomit.

COLIRIO.

COLIRIO. See COLLYRIO.

COLISSEO, f. m. an amphitheatre, built by Vespasian in Rome.

COLLAÇÃO, f. f. a repast allowed on a fasting night; also the collation of a benefice, or church-living by a bishop, &c. also a collation, collating, or comparing together.

COLLATERAL, adj. collateral, or that comes side-ways, not direct, on one side; also that is either at the right or left hand.

Ventos collaterales, collateral winds.

Collateral, (in genealogy) ex. Parentes da linha collateral, collateral relations, as brothers and sisters children, and those that descend from them.

COLLE. See OUTEIRO.

COLLECÇÃO, f. f. a collection; also things written or gathered out of many works; notes, collections, observations.

COLLECTA, f. f. a gathering of charities; also a gathering, or levy of a tax.

Collecta, (a sort of prayer) a collect.

COLLECTANEO. See SEQUAZ.

COLLECTICJO, a, adj. (a military term) gathered up of all sorts, picked up and down.

COLLECTIVAMENTE, adv. (in philosophy) collectively, in a collective sense.

COLLECTIVO, a, adj. (in grammar) collective.

COLLECTOR, or COLLEITOR, a collector, a gatherer of taxes, charities, &c.

COLLEGA, f. m. a colleague, a fellow or copartner in office.

COLLEGIA'DA, f. f. a collegiate church.

COLLEGIAL, f. m. a collegier. See PORCIONISTA.

COLLEGIO, f. m. a college, or college, a company or society of those that are of the same profession, and have equal authority; also a college, or school.

COLLEITOR. See COLLECTOR.

COLLIGAÇÃO, f. f. a conjunction, or union between two or more.

COLLIGADO, a, adj. confederate, allied. See also COLLIGAR.

COLLIGANÇIA, f. f. (in anatomy) union, tie.

COLLIGAR, v. a. to tie, bind, or clasp together.

Colligar-se, v. r. to make a league, or alliance.

COLLIGIDO, a, adj. See

COLLIGIR, v. a. to gather, to infer, or draw a consequence; also to collect, or make a collection of.

COLLI'NA, f. f. a ward so called in Rome; also a gate of Rome near it.

COLLIQUAÇÃO, f. f. (with physicians) colliquation, a kind of dangerous flux.

COLIRIO. See COLLYRIO.

COLLISÃO, f. f. collision, a knocking, or dashing one body against another.

COLLITIGANTE. See ADVERSARIO.

CO'LLO, or COLO, f. m. lap; also the neck.

Ter o menino no collo, to hold a child upon one's lap.

Tomai o menino ao colo, take the child in your arms.

ffer ecer, or render o collo ao jugo, to submit one's self, to yield. (Metaph.)

C'lo torto, hypocrite, religious cheat.

Lançar-se ao collo de alguém, to clap one about the neck, to embrace him.

Collo de garrafa, the neck of a bottle.

Collo da mão, the wrist, or the part of the arm joining to the hand.

Capa em collo, so they call a vagabond that is not worth a straw.

COLLOCAÇÃO, f. f. colocation, or placing in order; rank, order.

COLLOCADO, a, adj. See

COLLOCAR, v. a. to set, or pitch in a place.

COLLOQUIO, f. m. colloquy, dialogue, conference.

COLLUSÃO, f. f. collusion, juggling, deceit, covin, used among lawyers.

Por collusam, or com collusam, by covin and collusion, collusively.

Ufar de collusam, to collude, to juggle, to plead by covin.

COLLUVIO. See COLLUSAM.

COLLYRIO, f. m. an eye-salve.

COLMA'DO, a, adj. See

COLMAR, v. a. to thatch.

COLMEIA, f. f. a bee-hive.

Greslar colmeas, to take the honey away from the hive.

COLMEAL, f. f. a place where bee-hives stand, a stock of bees.

COLMEEIRO, f. m. he that keeps bees.

COLMEIRO, f. m. a thatcher; also a bundle of straw to thatch with.

COLMILHOS. See DENTE.

CO'LMO, f. m. the stem, stalk, or straw of corn. It is properly the stubble, or straw left in the field after the corn is reaped; also straw of rye to thatch with.

COLO. See COLLO.

COLO'BIO, f. m. a short coat without sleeves, used in former ages by the monks in Egypt, and by others; it was afterwards changed into the garment called the dalmatica.

COLOBRINA. See COLUBRINA.

COLOCA'SIA, f. f. the Egyptian bean.

COLOCYNTIDA, f. f. a kind of wild gourd, purging phlegm, the apple whereof is called colocynthida.

COLOFONIA. See COLOPHONIA.

COLOMBINO. See COLUMBINO.

Pes columbinos, a sort of stork-bill.

COLON, f. m. the second of the great guts. Greek. Also the middle point of distinction, marked thus (:), in grammar.

COLONIA, f. f. a colony, a plantation, a company of people transplanted from one place to another, in order to cultivate and inhabit it; also Cologne, the capital of the electorate of the same name in Germany. Among other tombs in the cathedral are those of the three Eastern wise men, called the three kings of Cologne; and in the Cordeliers church that of the celebrated Scottish schoolman, Duns Scotus.

COLO'NO, f. m. a husbandman, a farmer, a tiller of the ground; also a planter that goes to settle in some other place.

COLOPHONIA, f. f. colophonia, any pitch or resin, made by the exhalation or drawing off the thinner parts of terebinthinous juices.

COLOQUINTIDA, or COLOCYNTIDA, f. f. colocynthida, the bitter apple, the fruit of a wild gourd of a very bitter taste; it is vulgarly called cabacinhas.

COLO'R. See PRETEXTO.

COLOREA'DO, a, adj. See

COLOREAR, v. a. to colour, to varnish over, to palliate, to blanch.

COLORIDO, a, adj. See COLORIR.

Bem colorido, that has a fine colouring.

COLORIR, v. a. to colour, to varnish. See also PINTAR, REPRESENTAR.

COLORISTA, f. m. ex. Bem colorista, a painter skilled in the right use of colours.

COLO'SSO, f. m. colossus, or coloss, a statue of a vast bigness.

Colosso de Rhodes, a large statue at Rhodes representing the sun; it was seventy cubits high, between whose legs ships sailed.

He hum colosso, so they call a very tall and stout man.

COLO'STRO, f. m. beefings.

COLUBRINA, f. f. a piece of cannon called a culverin.

Colubrina real, the largest culverin, carrying a twenty-pound ball.

Colubrina ordinaria, the ordinary culverin, carrying a seventeen-pound ball.

Meia colubrina, the demi-culverin, carrying a ten-pound ball.

Espada colubrina, a sword that has a winding edge.

COLUMBINO, a, adj. of, or belonging to pigeons; also harmless, innocent. (Metaph.)

COLUMBO, f. m. the capital of all the Dutch settlements in the island of Ceylon, in the Indian ocean, in Asia, on the S. W. coast; having been taken from the Portuguese in 1656, with immense treasure in it, after a siege of seven months.

COLUME'LLA, f. f. columella, an inflammation of the uvula, when it is extended in length like a little column.

COLUMNA, COLUNNA, or COLUNA, f. f. a column, or pillar.

Cano ou fuste da columna, the shaft or shank of a pillar, betwixt the chapter and the pedestal.

Capitel da columna. See CAPITEL.

Bocel, or Bocelino da columna. See BOCEL.

Gula da columna. See GULA.

Dentilhocos da columna, a part of a pillar cut and engraven like teeth.

Metopas da columna, the distance or place betwixt the dentils and the triglyphs; the metope.

Triglyphos da columna, a hollow graving like three furrows, or gutters.

Prumos, or Pefons da columna, a kind of wreath, or circle about a pillar engraven.

Plinto da columna, the square foot of a pillar.

Base da columna, the foot, or base of a pillar.

Pedestal da columna, the footstool of a pillar, or that whereon it standeth; a pedestal.

Craca da columna. See CRACA.

Abaco da columna. See ABACO.

Columna Dorica, Ionica, Corinthia, Toscana, Composita, Gotica, a column of the Doric, Ionic, Corinthian, Tuscan, Composite, or Gothic order.

Columna torcida, a wreathed pillar.

Columna encanada, a fluted, or channelled column.

Columnas de hum livro, the columns in a book, or parts of a page divided by a line.

Columna, (in the military art) a column, or the long file or row of troops, or of the baggage of an army, in its march.

Espaco entre duas columnas, the space between pillars.

Sustentado

Sustentado de columnas, propped, or under-set with pillars.
Lugar cercado de columnas, a place begirt with pillars.
Edifício que tem columnas na fachada, a house or building with pillars in front.
Edifício com oito columnas na fachada, oc-
tastyle, or octostyle.
Columnas de Hercules, the Pillars of Hercules, which are two mountains called Calpe and Abyla, in the mouth of the Straight of Gibraltar.
Columna, (metaph.) a support, or one on whom is our dependance.
COLURO, f. m. (in astronomy) colure.
Colure equinocial, the colure of the equinoxes.
Colure solsticial, the colure of the solstices.
COLUTED, f. f. coluted, or the bastard sen-
na.
COM, prep. with, together with.
Com de dia, by day-light.
Com n'osco, with us.
Com v'osco, with you.
Com, before a substantive, is very often englished by an adverb. Ex. Com pru-dencia, prudently; com facilidade, easily.
Elle foi-se embora com tudo, o que tinha, he went away with every thing belonging to him.
Com tudo, or com tudo isto, notwithstanding,
nevertheless, for all that.
Com n'osco, com v'osco, with us, with you.
COMA, f. f. the mane of a horse or other beast; also branches and leaves of trees, (analogically.)
Coma, (in orthography) a comma, which implies only a small rest, or little pause; and is marked thus (,).
Coma, (in music) the ninth part of a tone, or the interval whereby a semitone or a perfect tone exceeds the imperfect.
Coma vigil, (among physicians) coma vigil, a distemper accompanied with a strong inclination to sleep, without being able to do so.
Coma de Berenices, (in astronomy) Bere-nice's hair, a constellation at the tail of Leo.
COMADRE, f. f. a gossip; also a midwife.
See also ESQUENTADOR.
Quinta feira de comadres, gossip's Thursday,
Thursday seven-night before Shrove-
Tuesday.
P. f. lejaão as comadres, descobrem-se as ver-dades; we say, when knaves fall out, honest men come by their right. The French say, les larrons s'entre-battent, les larcins se decouvrent.
COMARCA, f. f. a hundred, or a part of a shire, a district, or territory belonging to a province: Portugal is divided into provinces, and each province into co-marcas.
Cabeça de comarca, the principal city or town of such a district or territory.
COMARCA'M, ãã, adj. bordering upon.
COMARO, or COMORO, f. m. a sluice, to keep rivers from over-flowing.
COMATA, ex. Gallia Comata, an ancient name given to France and to the Netherlands.
COMBALDO, a, adj. that is almost sick.
COMBANDO. See APODRECIDO.
COMBANIR-SE. See APODRECER.
COMBATE, f. m. a combat, or fight. See also PELEJA.
Combate de duas pessoas s'mente, a duel.
COMBATE'NTE, f. m. a combatant, a fighting man, a soldier.

COMBATE'R, v. u. to combat, or fight.
Combater contra huma opiniaõ, to combat an opinion.
Combater, v. a. to fight, to combat, to batter.
Combater-se com alguém, to fight a duel.
COMBATIDO, a, adj. assaulted, tossed to and fro, attacked.
Combates de varios pensamentos, wavering,
doubtful, uncertain.
COMBINACAM, f. f. a combination. See also CONFRONTACAM.
COMBINADO, a, adj. See
COMBINAR, v. a. to combine, to join together. See also CONFRONTAR.
COMBINAVEL, adj. that may be combined.
COMBOI, f. m. a convoy, money, provisions, or ammunition sent to a town or army, with a strong guard to secure it against the enemy: the same word is used at sea for a guard of men of war to secure merchants.
COMBOYADO, a, adj. See
COMBOYAR, v. a. to convoy.
COMBRO, f. m. a heap of earth.
COMBUSTAM, f. f. (among astrologers)
combustion, a planet being under the sun, which continues till it be removed seventeen degrees.
Combustão, the remains of burnt things.
COMBUSTIVEL, adj. combustible, apt to take fire, or burning.
COMBU'STO, (in astronomy) it is said of a planet that is not above eight degrees thirty minutes distant from the sun.
COMEÇADO, a, adj. See COMEÇAR.
COMEÇAR, v. a. to begin.
Começar a fazer alguma coisa com grande ancia, to fall on, to begin eagerly to do any thing.
Começar a fallar, to begin to speak.
Começar a cortar, to begin to cut.
Começar por onde se deve acabar, to flay an eel at the tail, to begin where one should end.
COMEÇO. See PRINCIPIO.
COMEDIA, f. f. a comedy, a play.
Greek.
Livro de comedias, a play-book.
Casa da comedia, a play-house.
Comedia, f. f. See ALIMENTO, *COME-
DORIA*.
COMEDIA'NTE, f. m. or f. a player, or actor; a comedian.
COMEDIDAME'NTE, adv. civilly, modestly, moderately.
COMEDI'DO, a, adj. moderate, modest.
COMEDIME'NTO, f. m. modesty, moderation.
COMEDI'R-SE, v. r. to behave modestly, and with moderation, to weigh one's words and actions.
COMEDO'R, f. m. a great eater.
COMEDO'RA, f. f. a woman that is a great eater.
COMEDORPA, f. f. so they anciently called the victuals given to the family of the founder of any convent, or church; also meat and drink allowed to one of the king's officers.
COMEDO'URO, f. m. the drawer of a bird-cage.
COMEMORAÇAM. See *COMMEMORA-
ÇAM*.
COMENDA. See COMMENDA.

COMENDADOR. See *COMMENDA-
DOR*.
COMENDATARIO. See *COMMENDA-
TARIO*.
COMENOS, ex. Neste comenos, in the mean time, in the mean while.
COMENTA'DOR. See *COMMENTA-
DOR*.
COMENTAR. See COMMENTAR.
COMENTARIOS. See *COMMENTARI-
OS*.
COMER, v. a. to eat; also to spend, to waste. See also POSSUIR.
Começar a comer com grande vontade, to fall to, to begin eagerly to eat.
Comem-me os braços, my arms itch.
Estar comendo alguma coisa com os olhos, to look earnestly on a thing, as if one would eat it.
Comer os santos, it is said of one who says his prayers before the images of saints, and looks earnestly on them, as if he would eat them.
Comer, to eat in, into, or up; also to wear gently, (metaph.)
A ferrugem comco ferro, rust eats into iron.
Comer, to swallow up. (Metaph.) See
SUBMERGIR.
Comer-se as mãos de raiua, to bite one's hands spitefully.
Comer-se huns aos outros, to eat up one another, to be always quarrelling.
Comer tanto de renda, to spend so much a year.
Comer e calar, to eat on and say nothing.
Comer alguém por hum pé, to sponge upon one, to eat and drink at his cost. (a vulgar expression.)
Comer-se a vogal, is for a vowel to be cut off in a verse at the end of a word.
Comer as ultimas syllabas, not to pronounce the last syllables.
Comér, f. m. eating.
Achar o comer feito, to find the victuals ready. It is also said of any thing that is ready and easily obtained.
Comer sem beber, to make a sheep's meal, to eat without drinking.
P. O comer, e o coçar, todo está no começar;
we say, one shoulder of mutton thrusts down another.
COMERCEADO. See *COMMERCEA-
DO*.
COMERCEAR. See COMMERCEAR.
COMERCIO. See COMMERCIQ.
COMERES, f. m. p. feasts, victuals, dishes of meat.
COMESA'INAS, ou COMESA'NAS, f. f. p. feasts, entertainments of eating and drinking.
COMESTIVEL, adj. eatable.
COMESTO, a, adj. See COMIDO. It is only used in the proverb pão comesto, &c.
See PAM.
COMETA, f. m. a comet, a blazing star.
Cometa barbato, a bearded comet, a comet with a beard.
Cometa comprido, e agudo a modo de espada, a comet in the air, appearing with swords.
Cometa redondo a modo de tonel, a comet appearing through a mill like a tun.
Cometa a modo de dardo, ou setta, a comet
like a dart.
Cometa a modo de ponta de boy, a comet like a horn.

Discurso sobre os cometas, cometography.
COMETER, COMETER, or COMETER, v. a. to commit.
Cometer huma falta, to commit a fault.
Cometer algum negocio a alguém, to commit a business to one, to leave it to his care or discretion.
Cometer a sua ventura a Deus, to commit one's self to God's care.
Cometer, to enterprise, or undertake; to go about, or endeavour to do a thing.
Cometer, to prove, to try, to endeavour to pass or run through.
Cometer, to seize, to attack.
Cometer huma jornada, to begin a journey.
Cometer a peleja, to engage in battle.
Cometer, to entrust with, to commit to one's keeping, or care.
Cometer, to propose, to offer.
Cometer com paz, to offer peace.
Cometer hum rio, to sound the depth of a river, in order to ford it.
Cometer, or delegar. See DELEGAR.
COMETIDO. See COMETER.
COMETIMENTO, f. m. fault, crime. See also ACCOMETIMENTO.
COMEZANA, f. f. (a vulgar word) a great banquet or feast with revelling and junketing.
COMICHAM, f. f. itching.
COMICHOSO, a, adj. humorous, morose, hard to please, peevish, froward, wayward, comical.
COMPCIO, f. m. an assembly of people for chusing officers, or making of by-laws.
COMICO, a, adj. belonging, or fit for a comedy, comical.
Poeta comico, a comic poet.
COMPDA, f. f. eating.
COMPDO, a, adj. See COMER.
COMIGO. See COMMIGO.
COMILAM, f. m. a great eater, a greedy-gut, a glutton.
COMILLOA. See COMEDORA.
COMINHOS, cummin seed.
Não val dous reis de cominhos, it is not worth a straw.
COMIRMAM. See CONHIRMAM.
COMITIA, f. f. train, retinue of attendants, followers. Italian.
COMITRE, f. m. the boatswain of a galley.
COMMEMORAÇAM, f. f. a commemoration, or remembrance.
COMME'NDA, f. f. commendam.
COMMENDADOR, f. m. a commendatory; that is, he who has a revenue in commendam.
COMMENDADORIA, f. f. the office of commendatory.
COMMENDATARIO, ex. Abade commendatario, an abbot in commendam.
COMMENSA'L, f. m. a table-fellow, one that eats and drinks with another.
COMMENSURADO, a. See
COMMENSURAR, v. a. to proportion, or measure together.
COMMENSURAVEL, adj. (in geometry) commensurable.
COMMENTADO, a, adj. See COMMENTAR.
COMMENTADOR, f. m. one who makes comments, or remarks, a commentator.
COMMENTAR, v. a. to expound, to write notes upon.

COMMENTARIOS, f. m. p. a brief abstract, or historical abridgment of things.
COMMENTICIO, a, adj. See FINGIDO, and FABULOSO.
COMME'NTO, f. m. a comment, an exposition of an author's text, an interpretation, a gloss.
COMMERCEADO. See
COMMERCEAR, v. n. to traffic, or merchandize.
COMME'RCIO, f. m. commerce, trade.
Nenhum commercio tenho com elle, I have nothing to do with him.
COMMETE'R. See COMETER.
COMMETIDO. See COMETIDO.
COMMIGO, adv. with me.
COMMINAÇAM, f. f. commination, threatening.
COMMINA'DO. See
COMMINA'R, v. a. to threaten.
COMMINATORIO, a, adj. comminatory, of, or belonging to threatenings.
COMMISERAÇAM, f. f. commiseration, compassion.
COMMISSAM, f. f. a commission, a power given from one person to another of doing any thing.
Commissam, (in law) commission, or delegation for the determining any cause, &c.
Commissam, (in military affairs) commission, or warrant.
Commissam, (in trade) commission, or the order by which any person trafficks for another; also commission-money, or the wages allowed to a factor who trades for another by commission.
Dar commissam, to commissionate, to give a commission.
Peccados de commissam, sins of commission.
Vender por commissam, to sell for another.
COMMISSARIO, f. m. a commissioner; also a judge to delegate.
Commissario de guerra, ou de mostras, a muster-master, a commissary.
COMMISSO, f. m. a kind of forfeit, or fine.
COMMISSURA, f. f. (among anatomists) the mould of the head where the parts of the skull are united, commissure.
COMMOÇAM, f. f. trouble, disquiet, commotion, anger, disturbance.
COMMODAMENTE, adv. easily, with ease.
COMMODATARIO, f. m. he who has borrowed something that is to be returned in kind, as the lawyers say. (A law term.)
COMMODATO, f. m. (a law term) the thing that is lent or borrowed, and is to be returned in kind.
COMMODIDADE, f. f. convenient time, opportunity; also advantage, convenience, goods of fortune, riches.
COMMODO, f. m. leisure; also advantage, gain, profit, convenience, benefit, interest.
Commodo, a, adj. rich, wealthy, that lives well; also taken and given to pleasure.
COMMOVER, v. a. to put into any concern by anger, fear, love, &c.
COMMOVDO, a, adj. commoved.
COMMUM, ua, adj. common, that belongs to one as well as another.
Commum, (geral universal) common, public, general, universal.
Prego commum, a common rate.
Commum, common, usual, ordinary, familiar.

Adagio commum, a common saying.
Homem do commum, an ordinary man.
O bem commum, the public good.
O commum, the generality, the greatest part.
Viver em commum, to live in common.
COMMUNAL. See COMAJUM.
COMMUNGA'DO, a, adj. See
COMMUNGA'R, v. a. to administer, or give the communion.
Commungar, v. n. to communicate, or receive the communion, or Lord's supper.
COMMUNHAM, f. f. communion.
Mesa da sagrada communhão, the communion-table.
COMMUNICAÇAM, f. f. communication, imparting.
Communicaçam de bens, community of goods.
Communicaçam por palavras praticadas com alguém, communication, conference, the act of communing.
Communicaçao de idiomas, (with divine;) communication of idioms, or the communication of the attributes of one nature in Jesus Christ to that of another.
Communicaçam, (amizade) communication, intercourse, correspondence.
Communicaçam, (in fortification.) Linhas de communicaçam, lines of communication. See LINHA.
Communicaçam, f. f. (a church term) fellowship, union in faith.
Communicaçao, (with rhetoricians) communication, as when the orator argues with his auditory, and demands their opinion.
COMMUNICADO, a, adj. See
COMMUNICAR, v. a. to communicate, to impart, to tell, to show, to discover, to reveal.
Communicar, (tratar, conversar com alguém) to converse, to keep company, to be familiar with, to commune.
Communicar, (fazer commum) to impart, to share with, to put in common.
Communicar-se, v. r. ex. Communicar-se com alguém, to have a correspondence with one.
Communicar-se, to be joined to; also to spread, to diffuse or spread itself, (speaking of opinions, discourses, reports, &c.)
Mal que se comunica, an infectious or catching disease.
COMMUNIDADE, f. f. commonalty; also a community, that is a society that lives in common, as religious orders.
COMMUNME'NTE, commonly, usually; also most commonly, for the most part.
COMMUTAÇAM, f. f. change, commutation.
Commutaçam de penas, commutation of punishment.
COMMUTADO, adj. See
COMMUTAR, v. a. ex. Commutar penas, to commute, or change the punishment.
COMMUTATIVA, ex. Justiça commutativa, commutative justice.
COMO, adv. and conjunct. as, like; also when.
Como? how?
Dizei-me como lhe hei de fallar, tell me how I may speak to him.
Como está em? how do you do, sir?
Como assim? how so?
Como! what!
Como! não quereis vir? what! won't you come?
Como, while, whilst.

Como quer que, whereas, seeing that.
Como isto affim lê, since it is so.
Tam bom como, as good as.
Como, as it were, almost.
Como se, as if.
Como também, as well as.
Rico como elle he, as rich as he is.
Como fôis meu amigo, quere, &c. as (or because) you are my friend, I will, &c.
Dizei-me como, tell me how, in what manner.
Eu sei como fazer para que elle venha, I know the way I shall take to make him come.
Como elle lá não esteja, eu irey, provided he is not there, I will come.
Como, (speaking of time) after.
Como quer que seja, however it be.
Seja como for, be as it will.
COMORO. See COMARO.
COMPACTO, adj. compact, close.
COMPADECER-SE, v. r. to pity, to take pity of, to have compassion, to commiserate; also to agree or stand, to be comparable.
Compadecer, v. a. to admit of, to permit or suffer.
COMPADECIDO, a, adj. See COMPADERECER.
COMPADRE, f. m. a man-gossip, a compeer.
COMPAGINACÃO, a close joining, a closure.
COMPALXAM. See COMPAXAM.
COMPANHIA, f. f. (an ancient word used by Camoens instead of companhia) company. See also CIUSMA.
Companha, a division of a ship's crew, who jointly attend the tackling.
COMPANHEIRO, f. f. a the companion, a female partner.
Minha companheira, or minha mulher, my wife.
COMPANHEIRO, f. m. a companion, fellow, mate, partner.
Companheiro no estudo, a school-fellow.
Companheiro na guerra, a fellow-soldier, a comrade.
Companheiro da mesma casa, ou do mesmo aposento, a comrade, or chamber-fellow.
Companheiro no beber, a pot-companion.
Companheiro na mesa, a companion at table, a tabler, or fellow-boarder.
Companheiro no jogo, a play-fellow, a fellow-gamster.
Companheiro na dança, partner in dancing.
Companheiro por mar, a fellow-passenger in a ship.
Companheiro no officio, a co-partner in office.
Companheiro no herdar. See COHERDEIRO.
COMPANHIA, f. f. company.
Regra de companhia, (in arithmetic) rule of fellowship.
Fazer companhia a alguém, to keep one company, to accompany him.
Companhia de homens de negocio, company of merchants, corporation.
Fazer companhia, to enter into partnership.
Homem de boa companhia, a sociable man, of good company.
Companhia ou tropa de cavallaria, a troop of horse.

Companhia de soldados, a company of soldiers.
COMPARAÇÃO, f. f. comparison, comparing, parallel.
Sem compare, m, without or beyond comparison.
Em comparação, or a respeito de, in comparison of, in regard to, in respect of.
COMPARANDO, a, adj. See
COMPARAR, v. a. to compare, to set together, to confer, to make comparison.
Causa que se pode comparar, comparable, that may be compared, comparative.
COMPARATIVAMENTE, adv. comparatively.
COMPARATIVO, (in grammar) ex. Grão comparativo, or de comparação, comparative degree.
COMPARECER, v. n. to appear before the judge. See APARECER.
COMPARECIDO, a, adj. See COMPARECER.
COMPARTES, (in law) jointers, two joined in an action against another.
COMPASSADO, a, adj. measured with compasses. See COMPASSAR.
Compassado, or bem regulado, that is kept within compass, regular.
Navio compassado. See COMPASSO.
Proporção compassada, an exact proportion.
COMPASSAGEIRO, f. m. See COMPANHEIRO por mar.
COMPASSAR, v. a. to measure with compasses.
Compassar, (in music) to beat time.
COMPASSIVO, a, adj. compassionate, full of compassion, merciful.
COMPASSO, f. m. a pair of compasses.
Pes do compasso, the shanks of a pair of compasses.
Compassos que tem os pes curvos ou arcados, callipers, compasses with bowed shanks.
Compasso, (in music) the time that is kept, or the masters beating time.
Fazer compasso, (in music) to beat time.
Sabir do compasso, not to keep time.
Soltar as palavras por compasso, (metaph.) to make a full stop at every word, either in reading or speaking.
Navio de ruim compasso, ou mal compassado, a ship that is ill stowed, which makes her not sail steady.
COMPATIVEL, adj. compatible, that can agree.
COMPATRIOTA, f. m. a country man; that is, one of the same country.
COMPAXAM, f. f. compassion, pity, commiseration.
Digno de compaxam, that deserves to be pitied, or lamented.
Versos que fazem compaxam, (ironically) doggerel verses.
COMPEÇADO. See COMEÇADO.
COMPEÇAR. See COMEÇAR.
COMPEÇADO. See
COMPEÇAR, v. n. (an antiquated word) to eat bread with any victuals.
COMPELLIDO, a, adj. See
COMPELLIR, v. act. to compel, or force.
COMPENDIADO, a, adj. abridged, epitomized; also pressed close, held hard together.
COMPENDIAR, v. a. to abridge, to shorten, to epitomize, to contract.
COMPENDIO, f. m. compendium, abridgement.
COMPENDIOSAMENTE, adv. briefly, in few words, succinctly.

COMPENDIOSO, a, adj. compendious, brief, short, very concise.
COMPENSAÇÃO, f. f. compensation, a recompence, amends, satisfaction, equivalent.
COMPENSADO, a, adj. See
COMPENSAR, v. a. to compensate, to make amends for, to recompense, to counterbalance.
COMPETÊNCIA, f. f. a striving, or struggling, debate. strife. See also EMULAÇÃO.
de competência, with emulation.
Competência do juiz, a judge's competency.
Ter competências em amores, to be a rival, or competitor in love.
COMPETENTE, adj. competent, sufficient, proper, lawful.
Juiz competente, a competent judge.
COMPETENTEMENTE, adv. competently, sufficiently, properly, lawfully.
COMPETIDO, a, adj. See COMPETIR.
COMPETIDOR, f. m. a competitor, or rival. See also EMULO.
COMPETIDORA, f. f. a female rival.
COMPETIR, v. n. to strive, to contest; also to belong.
COMPILAÇÃO, f. f. compilation, collection.
COMPILADO, a, adj. See COMPILAR.
COMPILADOR, f. m. a compiler.
COMPILAR, v. a. to compile, to collect.
COMPITALIOS, or COMPITALICIOS jogos, feasts held among the ancient Romans in honour of the lares.
COMPLACÊNCIA, f. f. complaisance, compliance, condescension, obliging carriage.
Complacência para consigo mesmo, self-conceit, self-conceitfulness.
COMPLECTAMENTE, adv. See JUNTAMENTE.
COMPLEIÇÃO, f. f. constitution, or temper of the body.
COMPLEIÇÃOADO, a, adj. ex. Corpo bem compleiçionado, a strong constitution.
COMPLEMENTO, f. m. a complement, a filling up, or perfecting that which is wanting.
Complemento da cortina, (in fortification) complement of the curtain.
Dar complemento. See COMPRIR.
COMPLETAR, v. a. to perfect, to finish, to complete, to accomplish; also to recruit, to supply or fill up with fresh men. (A military word.)
COMPLETAS, f. f. p. compline, the last of the seven parts of the divine office, sung by priests and religious men, being recited at night before they go to bed.
COMPLETO, a, adj. complete, perfect, finished or ended.
Tem cem annos completos, he is completely a hundred years old.
COMPLEXO, f. m. a space, or compass.
COMPLICAÇÃO, f. f. (in medicine) complication.
COMPLICADO, a, adj. ex. Doenças complicadas, complicated diseases. (In medicine.) See also COMPLICAR, v. a. to mix, or confuse many things one with another. See also ATAR.

Complicar-se, v. r. (in medicine) to be complicated.

CO'MPLICE, f. m. complice, accomplice, partner in an action.

COMPLICIA'R-SE, v. r. to be complice.

COMPOEDO'R. See COMPOSITOR.

COMPONEDO'R, or COMPONIDOR, (among printers) a composing-stick.

COMPOR, v. a. (fazer huma obra em prosa ou verso) to compose, to make, to write, to be the author of.

Compor, (in music) to set to music.

Compor, (among printers) to compose.

Compor discordias, to compose, or adjust differences.

Compor, or Concertar, to fit, to adjust, to set in order.

Compor, or Reconciliar pessoas, to make up differences, to reconcile, to make friends.

Compor-se, v. r. ex. Compor-se com seus inimigos, to be reconciled with one's enemies.

Compor-se. See CONFORMAR-SE.

Compor-se, or ter em si, to consist, or be made up.

Compor-se com os acredores, to compound with one's creditors.

Compor-se com a sua magoa, to bear patiently one's grief, or affliction.

Compor-se com a parte, to compound with the plaintiff.

Compor-se huma molher, is for a woman to dress herself.

COMPORTA, f. f. (porta que tem mao nas aguas dos moinhos, &c.) a flood-gate, a dam.

COMPORTA'DO, a, adj. See

COMPORTA'R, v. a. (sófrer, tolerar) to bear, to suffer, to allow of.

COMPOSIÇA'M, f. f. composition, writing; also composing, making up, framing, putting, or setting together.

Composiçam, CONCERTO, ou CONVENÇAM, accommodation, composition, agreement.

Composiçam, (capitulaçam) composition, capitulation, articles.

Composiçam, (among printers) the action of composing, as a printer does from a copy.

Composiçam. See COMPOSTURA.

COMPO'SITA, (in architecture) ex. Ordem Composita, the Composite order.

COMPOSITO'R, f. m. (escriptor de obra de engenho) composer, writer, author.

Mão compositor, ou author, a scribbler, a paltry writer.

Compositor, (among printers) compositor, one that composes in a printing-house.

Compositor de musica, a setter to music.

COMPO'STO, f. m. a composition, mixture, compound.

Compêsto, a, adj. composite, writ, or written; also consisting or made up.

Remedio composto, a composition, (speaking of medicines.)

Palavra composta, a compound word.

Homem composto, a sober and modest man.

COMPOSTU'RA, f. f. decency, modesty.

Compostura, (in music) counter-point.

COMPRÁ, f. f. purchase, emption, buying.

Fazer, or acabar de fazer huma compra, to strike, or strike up a bargain.

COMPRÁ'DO, a, adj. bought.

COMPRADO'R, f. m. a buyer, a purchaser, a chapman.

Comprador que compra o comer para huma casa, a caterer, or purveyor.

COMPRADO'RA, she that buyeth.

COMPRÁ'R, v. a. to buy, to purchase, to get, to procure for money.

Comprar de alguém, to buy of one.

Comprar fiado, to buy upon trust.

Comprar dos que vendem mais barato, to buy things at the best hand.

Comprar caro, ou barato, to buy dear, or cheap.

Comprar com dinheiro de contado, to buy, money in hand.

Comprar caro hum favor, to pay dear for a favour.

Comprar de comer, to cater, to buy victuals.

Comprar cartas, (in some games at cards) to take cards.

COMPRAZE'R, v. a. to please, to humour, to comply with.

Comprazêr-se, v. r. to delight, to take pleasure.

Comprazêr-se em si, to value one's self very much upon something.

COMPRÁZ'DO, a, adj. See COMPRAZER.

COMPRAZIME'NTO. See COMPLACENCIA.

COMPREIÇA'M. See COMPLEIÇAM.

COMPREHENDE'R, v. a. to apprehend, to comprehend, to conceive, to understand; also to comprehend, to comprise, to include, to contain, to compass, to take in.

COMPREHENDI'DO, a, adj. apprehended, &c. See COMPREHENDER.

COMPREHENÇA'M, f. f. comprehension, understanding.

COMPREHENSIVA, f. f. See COMPREHENÇAM.

COMPREHENSIVEL, adj. comprehensible, intelligible, conceivable.

COMPREHENSIVO, a, adj. comprehensive, having the power to comprehend, or understand.

COMPREHENSO'RES, (in divinity) the blessed in heaven.

COMPRESSA'M, f. f. compression, compresure, a pressure.

COMPRESSO, a, adj. pressed, or thrust close. See also CHATO.

COMPRIDA'M. See COMPRIMENTO.

COMPRIDY'NHO, a, adj. somewhat long; diminut. from Comprido.

COMPRIDO, a, adj. long. See also the v. COMPRIR.

COMPRIMENTA'R, v. a. to compliment.

COMPRIMENTE'IRO, f. m. a complimenter.

COMPRIME'NTO, f. m. length, long.

Comprimento de tempo, length of time.

Comprimento das profecias, fulfilling, of the prophecies.

Dar comprimento a sua palavra. See COMPRIR.

Dei comprimento aos meus desejos, my desires are fulfilled.

Comprimento, f. m. a compliment, obliging words.

Estudar hum comprimento, to study a compliment.

Comprimentos, compliments, ceremonies.

Palavras de cumprimentos, words of course.

Sem cumprimentos, freely, without ceremonies.

Por comprimento, or por cerimonia, complementally.

Fazer cumprimentos, to compliment.

De cumprimento, ou pertencente a cumprimentos, complimentary.

COMPRIMIR, v. a. to press, to thrust, to confine in less compass.

Comprimir, (in a moral sense) to appease, to stop, to repress, to keep under.

COMPRIR, v. a. to fulfil, or perform, to keep. See also CONVIR.

Comprir a sua promessa, ou voto, to fulfil one's promise, or one's vow.

Comprir com o seu officio, to perform one's duty.

COMPROMETE'R-SE, v. r. to compromise, to put to arbitration, to consent to a reference.

COMPROMISSO, f. m. compromise, a compromise of two or more parties at difference, to refer the deciding their controversies to the decision of arbitrators.

COMPROVAÇAM. See PROVA.

COMPROVA'DO, a, adj. See

COMPROVA'R, v. a. to prove. See PROVAR.

COMPROVINCIA'L, adj. (speaking of bishops) comprovincial, belonging to the same province.

COMPULSO'RIO, a, adj. ex. Carta compulsoria, a subpoena.

COMPUNÇA'M, f. f. compunction, remorse of conscience for an offence committed.

COMPUNGIDO, a, adj. penitent, touched with compunction, grieved. See also COMPUNGI'R, v. a. to affect, to influence, to touch, to move.

Compungir-se, v. r. to be penitent, sorrowful, to be touched in conscience for one's sins.

COMPUTAÇA'M, f. f. computation, reckoning, or casting up.

Fazer computaçam. See COMPUTAR.

COMPUTA'DO, a, adj. See

COMPUTA'R, v. a. to compute, to reckon, to cast up, to sum up, to tell, to count.

COMPUTO. See COMPUTAÇAM.

COMSIGO, adv. with himself, within himself.

CONTIGO, adv. with thee.

COMUM.

COMUNGAR.

COMUNICAÇAM.

COMUNICADO.

COMUNICAR.

COMUTAÇAM.

COMUTAR.

CONCAVIDA'DE, f. f. concavity, hollowness.

Concavidade do ceo, the cope of heaven.

CO'NCAVO, a, adj. concave, hollow.

Concavo metal, (in poetry) a cannon.

CONCEBE'R, v. a. to conceive a child, to breed. See also COMPREHENDER.

Conceber esperanças, to entertain hopes.

CONCEBIDO, a, adj. See CONCEBER.

CONCEBIME'NTO. See CONCEIÇAM.

CONCEDE'R, v. a. to grant, to permit, to give, to allow.

CONCEDI'DO, a, adj. See CONCEDER.

CONCEIÇA'M, f. f. conception, breeding.

Freiras da conceiçam, a religious order of nuns, founded by Beatrix da Silva, a Portuguese lady, and confirmed by pope Innocent VIII. who gave them the rules of the Cistercian order, in 1489; but they, after after Batrix's death, changed them for St. Clare's, retaining the same name and habit, as at first. Julius II. drew them quite from the direction of the Cistercians, and recommended them to the Franciscans care, in 1511.

A immaculada conceição da Virgem Nossa Senhora, the Immaculate Conception of the Holy Virgin, a feast held on the eighth of December, with the Roman Catholics.

CONCEITO, f. m. conceit, thought; also opinion, or judgment upon any thing.

Conceito, esteem, repute, reputation, fame, credit, name.

Explicar bem os seus conceitos, to express elegantly whatsoever is conceived in the mind.

Formar conceito. See JULGAR.

CONCEITOADO, a, adj. See

CONCEITOAR, v. n. to express elegantly whatsoever is conceived in the mind.

CONCEITUOSO. See SENTENCIOSO.

CONCELEBRAR. See CELEBRAR.

CONCELHO. See CONSELHO.

CONCENTO, f. m. concert, harmony.

CONCENTRADO. See RECONCENTRADO.

CONCENTRAR. See RECONCENTRAR.

CONCENTRICO, a, adj. concentric, that hath one and the same center.

CONCEPÇÃO, f. f. (in logic) a conception, or simple idea.

CONCERNENTE, adj. concerning, touching.

CONCERTADO, a, adj. ordered, disposed, or put in order; also set off, commended.

Concertado no vestir. See ALINHADO.

Concertado, promised in marriage, betrothed, or espoused. See also CONCERTAR.

CONCERTANTE, f. m. a striver with a rival.

CONCERTAR, v. a. to order, to dispose, or put in order; also to set off, to adorn.

Concertar pessoas desavindas, to reconcile, or set people to rights that were at variance.

Concertar, to agree, to contract.

Concertar com alguma o casamento de sua filha, to betroth one's daughter to a man.

Concertar, to mend, to repair, to patch, or botch.

Concertar-se, v. r. ex. Concertar-se com a parte, to compound with the plaintiff.

Concertar-se no preço, to agree in the price.

Concertar-se, or reconciliar-se com alguém, to be reconciled with one, to make one's peace with him.

Concertar-se o tempo, to grow fair. (Speaking of the weather.)

CONCERTO, f. m. disposition, a disposal, or setting in order.

Fazer alguma cousa de concerto, to do a thing by consent, to go hand in hand in a business, to act unanimously.

Concerto, order, discipline.

Concerto, (in music books) a concerto, concert, or piece of music of several parts for a concert.

Concerto, repair, repairing, or mending.

Concerto, agreement, contract, covenant, composition.

CONCESSÃO, f. f. concession, grant, permission, dispensation. See also DOAÇÃO.

O que alcança a concessão, grantee, the person to whom a grant is made.

O que faz a concessão, granter, the person who makes a grant.

Concessão, (with rhetoricians) concessio, a figure the same with synchorexis.

CONCHA, f. f. a shell.

Concha de grã, a shell-fish, the liquor whereof makes a purple colour.

Concha em que se gerão as perolas. See MA-DREPEROLA.

Carado a modo de concha, fashioned like the shell of a fish, wide and hollow.

Concha de atafona, the lower mill-stone of a horse or ass-mill.

Meter-se nas conchas do seu escrupulo, to be obstinately scrupulous. (Metaph.)

Meter-se nas conchas, (metaph.) to hold one's peace, to be silent.

Concha que trazem no chapéo os romeiros que vão a Santiago, a sort of cockle-shell, the pilgrims, that go to the shrine of St. James the apostle in Galicia, used to wear in their hats.

Que tem duas conchas, bivalve, two-shelled.

CONCHAVADO. See CONCLUIDO.

CONCHAVAR. See CONCLUIR.

CONCHEGAR-SE, v. r. to conspire, to combine in some secret design, generally criminal.

CONCHEGO, f. m. a conspirator.

CONCHELLOS, f. m. p. the herb pennywort, penny-grass, Venus-navel, or hip-wort.

CONCHINHA, f. f. a little shell; diminut. from CONCHA.

Conchinhas cheirosas, a kind of shell-fish, mussels.

CONCIÊNCIA, or CONSCIENCIA, f. f. the conscience; also scruple of conscience.

Elle faz conciencia de mentir, he makes a conscience to lye, or of lying.

Elle não faz conciencia de faltar a sua palavra, he makes no conscience of his word.

Exame da conciencia, self-examination.

Conciencia larga, a large conscience.

Conciencia escrupulosa, tender conscience, a strict conscientiousness.

Boa conciencia, conscientiousness.

Homem que tem boa conciencia, an upright, conscientious, or honest man.

Desencarregar a conciencia, to discharge one's conscience.

Encarregar a conciencia, to charge, or burden the conscience.

Sem conciencia, unconscionable.

Em conciencia, in conscience, upon my conscience, indeed.

Não posso fazello em conciencia, I can't answer it to my conscience.

Mesa da conciencia, a tribunal in Lisbon, instituted by king John III. to decide matters of conscience. Muley Maluco desired king D. Sebastian to consult this tribunal about his going to take the kingdom he was master of.

CONCILHOS. See CONCHELLOS.

CONCILIABULO, f. m. an assembly of schismatic prelates, a conventicle.

CONCILIAÇÃO, f. f. conciliation.

CONCILIADOR, f. m. he who conciliates.

CONCILIADO, a, adj. See

CONCILIAR, v. a. to conciliate, or gain; also to make agree.

Esta unica acção lhe conciliou o amor de todos os homens de bem, this single action conciliated to him the love of all good men.

Conciliar o sono, to cause sleep, to cast into a sleep.

Conciliar opinioes, to reconcile different opinions.

CONCÍLIO, f. m. a council, an assembly of bishops and divines, to determine matters of religion.

CONCISO, a, adj. concise, short, or brief.

CONCITADO, a, adj. excited, &c. See

CONCITAR, v. a. to stir up, to excite, to instigate. See also ANIMAR.

CONCLAVE, f. m. conclave, the place where the cardinals meet to chuse a pope.

CONCLAVISTA, f. m. a conclavist, one who attends a cardinal during his abode in the conclave.

CONCLUENTE, adj. concluding, convincing.

CONCLUIDO, a. See

CONCLUIR, v. a. to conclude, to finish; also to make an end, to settle, to determine; also to conclude, or gather by reason; also to convince, or to run one down in argument.

Concluir hum ajuste ou contrato, to strike or conclude a bargain.

Concluir-se, v. r. to decline, to decay.

Hir-se concluindo, (speaking of a sick man) to be in a dying condition.

CONCLUSÃO, f. f. conclusion, end, close, issue; also conclusion, consequence, inference; also the last of the three propositions in a syllogism. (in logic.)

Vir à conclusão, to come to a conclusion, or end.

Em conclusão, in conclusion, in short.

CONCLUSOENS, a disputation, thesis; also the thesis-sheet.

Defender conclusões, to be a respondent.

CONCLUSO, a, adj. concluded, finished; also settled, determined, agreed upon.

CONCOCTIVA, or CONCOCTRIZ, (among physicians) ex. Faculdade concoctriz, the digestive virtue.

CONCOMITÂNCIA, f. f. (a dogmatical word) concomitancy.

Por concomitância, concomitantly, in course, along with another.

CONCOMITANTE, adj. (a dogmatical word) ex. A graça concomitante, the concomitant grace.

CONCORDADO, a, adj. See CONCORDAR.

CONCORDÂNCIA, f. f. concordance, agreement, relation.

Concordância da Biblia, the concordance of the Bible, an alphabetical index of all Bible words, and their places.

Concordância, (in grammar) concordance. See also CONSONÂNCIA.

CONCORDAR, v. n. to agree together, to concord; also to be in a tune, to hold together.

Voz que concorda, a tunable voice.

Concordar, v. a. to reconcile, to make friends; also to conform.

Concorda duvidas, to adjust, to make up differences.

Concordar a voz com o instrumento, to sing in tune with an instrument. See also CONCILIAR.

CONCORDATA, f. f. act of agreement between princes, a treaty, a concordat.

CONCORDE, adj. of one mind, or will, unanimous.

CONCORDEMENTE, adv. by one consent, peaceably.

CONCORDIA, f. f. peace, concord, harmony; also a goddess called Concord, among the Romans.

CONCORRE'R, v. n. to run with others, to run together, to resort to the same place; also to concur, to help.

Dens concorre com as causas segundas, God concurs with second causes.

Concorrer com o seu parecer, to concur, or agree with one in something.

Concorrer, to aim, or aspire to the same thing, to be concurrent, or rival.

Concorrer, to meet or join together.

Concorrer para o gasto, to come in for the expence, to club, to pay one's club.

CONCRE'TO, (in logic) concrete, any quality considered with its subject.

CONCUBINA, f. f. a concubine.

Concubina de homem casado, a married man's leman, or mistress.

CONCUBINARIO, f. m. one that keeps a concubine.

CONCUBINATO, f. m. concubinage, the keeping of a concubine.

CONCULCA'DO, a, adj. See

CONCULCA'R, v. a. to trample under foot; also to contemn, (in a moral sense.)

CONCULHOS. See CONCHELLOS.

CONCUPISCENCIA, f. f. concupiscence, or lust.

CONCUPISCIVEL, ex. Appetite concupiscivel, the concupiscible appetite.

CONCURRENCIA, f. f. state, circumstance, or condition; also a running, or meeting together.

Concurrencia, aspiring, the act of aspiring, or pretending to the same thing; canvassing, or suing for the same thing.

Concurrencia, or Concurso do povo, a running of people to a place, a resort, a concourse.

CONCURRENTE, f. m. competitor, rival, one who sues for the same office or thing which another does.

CONCURSO, f. m. concourse, crowd, confluence, resort; also concurrence, the act of pretending to the same thing.

CONCUSSA'M, f. f. extortion, money unjustly taken in time of one's office, an unlawful fee.

CONCUSSIONARIO, f. m. an extortioner, one that exercises extortion upon the people.

CONDA'DO, f. m. county, earldom. So they also called formerly a great tract of land given by the king to any Fidalgo. See FIDALGO. Also the dignity of a count, or earl.

CONDA'M. See PREROGATIVA, EXCELLENCIA.

Kara de condam. See VARINHA.

CONDE, f. m. a count, or earl; also the knave at cards.

Conde andeiro, words used to fright children, as we say, the bull-beggar.

Pera do conde, a sort of pear.

Villa do Conde, a town of Entre Douro e Minho, in Portugal, on the sea coast, at the mouth of the Ave, with an old strong castle.

CONDECENDER. See CONDESCENDER.

CONDECENDIDO. See CONDESCENDER.

CONDECORA'DO, a, adj. See

CONDECORA'R, v. a. to grace, to honour, to embellish, to adorn, to set forth, to deck.

CONDENACA'M, f. f. condemnation; also a penalty, fine, mulct, commonly of money.

CONDENA'DO, a, adj. condemned, cast, sentenced, damned; also mulcted, fined.

Condenado, f. m. a damned in hell.

CONDENAR, v. a. to condemn, to cast, to sentence, to damn, to pronounce judgment against one; also to fine, to mulct. See also DESAPROVAR.

Condenar-se, v. r. to condemn one's self, to accuse one's self.

CONDENAVEL, adj. blame-worthy, that may be blamed, or found fault with, condemnable.

CONDENSAÇA'M, f. f. condensation, making thick; also condensity, thickness.

CONDENSA'DO, a, adj. See

CONDENSA'R, v. a. to condense, to condense, to thicken.

Condensar-se, v. r. to grow condensed, to condense.

CONDENSATIVO, a, adj. that has the virtue of condensing.

CONDESCENDI'R, v. n. to condescend, to comply, submit, or yield to.

CONDESCENDIDO, a, adj. See CONDESCENDER.

CONDESSA, f. f. a countess.

CONDESSILHO. (In old records.) See DEPOSITO.

CONDESTABE, or CONDESTAVEL, f. m. this charge was first instituted in Portugal by king Fernando, in 1382, and was the greatest in that kingdom, being generalissimo, or captain-general of all its forces. The first that had this dignity was D. Alvaro Pirez de Castro, count of Arrayolos, brother to the unhappy queen D. Inez de Castro. It has been hereditary in the noble family of the famous D. Nuno Alvares Pereira; but now the duty of such charge is performed by the generalissimo, who is appointed at the king's pleasure. It answered to our ancient lord high-constable of England.

Condestable, or Condestavel de navio, the chief gunner aboard a ship.

CONDIÇA'M, f. f. condition, estate, quality, natural habit, or inclination of the mind; also temper, quality of a person or thing, which renders it good or bad, perfect or imperfect.

Homem de boa, ou má condicam, a good, or ill-conditioned man.

Condicam, an order, rank, or degree.

Condicam, condition, article, clause, proviso, terms.

Por condicam, to article, to make a clause or proviso.

Com condicam, upon condition.

CONDICIONA'DO. See ACONDICIONADO.

CONDICIONA'L, adj. conditional.

CONDICIONALMENTE, adv. conditionally, upon condition, with a proviso.

CONDIDO, a, adj. See CONDIDIR.

CONDIGNO, a, adj. condign, worthy.

CONDIMENTO, f. m. See ADUBO.

CONDIR, v. a. (among apothecaries) to tie a remedy in a piece of cloth in order to boil it.

CONDISCIPULA, f. f. a she-school-fellow.

CONDISCIPULA'DO, fellowship, in school, or learning.

CONDISCIPULO, f. m. a school-fellow.

CONDIZER, v. n. to answer or agree.

CONDOER-SE, v. r. to condole.

O que se condoe, condoler.

CONDOPDO, a, adj. See COMPADECIDO.

CONDOR, f. m. condor, or conur, a sharp and monstrous bird in Peru, with a very hard and sharp beak that will pierce a bull's hide.

CONDUCA'M, f. f. conducting.

CONDUCENTE, adj. conductible, conducting, or conducive.

CONDUTA, f. f. a canal of pipes for the conveyance of waters; a conduit.

Condueta de soldados, a levy of soldiers.

Condueta; (in the university of Coimbra) ex. Fazer condueta a algum, to appoint a learned man to read lectures in a chair of inferior note, till there is room to provide for him better.

CONDUCTARIO, f. m. he who reads lectures in a chair of inferior note, &c. See CONDUCTA.

CONDUCTOR, f. m. a leader, or guide.

CONDUPLICAÇA'M, f. f. (with rhetoricians) a figure, when one or more words are repeated over again.

CONDU'TO, f. m. any thing that is eaten with bread.

CONDUZIDO, a, adj. See

CONDUZIR, v. a. to conduct, convoy, or carry in safety any thing; also to hire, or bargain for.

CONDUZIR, v. n. to conduce, to avail, or contribute.

CON'NEGA, f. f. a canones, a virgin that lives like a nun, but without making a vow.

CON'NEGO, f. m. a canon.

Conegos azuis. See LOYOS.

CONES'A, f. f. canonship.

CONEXA'M. See CONNEXAM.

CONFEDERAÇA'M, f. f. confederation, confederacy, league, alliance.

CONFECTO, a, adj. spent, wasted, worn out. From the Lat. confectus.

CONFEDERA'DO, a, adj. See

CONFEDERA'R-SE, v. r. to confederate, to unite into a confederacy.

CONFITÇA'M, f. f. confectio, composition; (in medicine) also the act of preparing a physical composition.

CONFIEÇOA'DO, a, adj. See

CONFIEÇOA'R, v. a. to mix, to make a confectio, or physical composition.

CONFETAR, v. a. to confect, to make up into sweetmeats, to preserve with sugar.

CONFETARIA, f. f. a confectioner's shop; also the place where the confectionaries live.

CONFETEIRO, f. m. a confectioner.

CONFETOS, f. m. p. comfits, sugar-plumbs.

Confeitos de ervas doces, aniseed covered with sugar.

CONFERENCE'NCIA, f. f. conference, talking together, a parley.

CONFERENTE, f. m. he who confers, or talks with another.

Conferente, adj. See CONDUCENTE.

CONFERIDO, a, adj. See

CONFERIR, v. a. to confer; collate, give, or or bestow; also to confront, to compare.

Conferir, v. n. to confer, to discourse, to talk together, to communicate, to impart.
CONFESSA'DO, f. m. ex. Eu sou confessor de João, I use to confess to such a one.
Confessor, a, adj. See CONFESSAR.
P. pe. cada confessor de meio perdoador, confession of a fault is half the amends.
CONFESSA'R, v. a. to confess, acknowledge, own, or allow; also to confess, or hear one's confession.
Confessar-se, v. r. to confess one's sins, to flout.
CONFESSIONÁRIO, f. m. the place where confession is made; a confessionary, or penitentiary.
CONFESSO, f. m. one that has confessed. See also CONVERSO.
CONFESSOR, f. m. a confessor, either a saint that is no martyr, or a father that hears confessions.
Confessor da primitiva igreja, a confessor of the primitive times, a martyr.
CONFIDAMENTE, adv. boldly, courageously; also freely.
CONFIA'DO, a, adj. (in a good sense) bold, confident, courageous, having an assurance; also impudent, shameless, saucy, insolent, malapert, fool-hardy (in a bad sense.) See also CONFIAR.
For seis bem confiado, you are mighty confident.
CONFIANÇA, f. f. (in a good sense) self-confidence, courage, confidence; also (in a bad sense) presumption, boldness, fool-hardiness; also friendship, intimacy.
Falar com alguém com confiança, to talk to one familiarly.
Fazer confiança. See CONFIAR.
Dar confiança, to make one's self familiar, to grow familiar, to contract a familiarity with.
CONFIAR, v. a. to entrust, deliver upon trust, to trust one with a thing.
Confiar, v. n. (or fazer confiança) to confide, to trust upon.
CONFICHA'DO, a, adj. See CONFICHOAR.
CONFICHOAR. See CONFICHOAR.
CONFIDENTE, f. m. a confident, a bosom friend.
CONFINA'DO, a, adj. See CONFINAR.
CONFINANTE, p. a. bordering upon, confine.
CONFINAR, v. n. to confine, to border upon.
CONFINS, f. m. p. confines, borders.
CONFIRMAÇAM, f. f. confirmation, ratification.
Confirmação, (in an ecclesiastical sense) the church confirmation.
Dar a alguém o juramento da confirmação, to confirm one.
CONFIRMADO, a. See.
CONFIRMAR, v. a. to confirm, to ratify and make good.
Confirmar uma sentença, to affirm, or confirm a sentence.
Confirmar-se, v. r. to confirm one's self.
CONFIRMATIVO, a, adj. confirmatory, whatever corroborates or ratifies a thing.
CONFISCAÇAM, f. f. confiscation.
CONFISCA'DO, a, confiscated, forfeited; also spent, wasted, worn out.
CONFISCAR, v. a. to confiscate one's goods.
CONFISSA'M, f. f. confession, acknowledgment.

Confissão geral, a general or full confession.
Ouvir de confissão, to hear confession.
Confissão de S. Pedro, St. Peter's confession, or tomb at Rome.
Confissão auricular. See AURICULAR.
Confissão da fé, confession of faith.
Confissão dos peccados, confession of sins.
CONFLA'DO. See UNIAM.
CONFLICTO, or CONFLITO, f. m. See COMBATE.
CONFORMAÇAM, f. f. conformation. See also CONFORMIDADE.
CONFORMA'DO, adj. See.
CONFORMAR, v. a. to suit, adapt, or accommodate.
Conformar-se, v. r. to agree with; also to make suit, to like.
Conformar-se com o tempo, to accommodate one's self to the times.
Elle conforma-se com tudo, he makes shift with any thing, any thing serves his turn.
CONFORME, adj. conformable, suitable, like.
Conforme, adv. according, as.
CONFORMEMENTE, adv. conformably, agreeably, by content.
CONFORMIDADE, f. f. conformity, agreeableness, conformableness, resemblance, likeness.
Conformidade da sua vontade com a de Deus, submission, or compliance to God's will.
CONFORTADO, a. See.
CONFORTAR, v. a. to corroborate, to strengthen as a medicine, &c. See also ANIMAR, CONSOLAR.
CONFORTATIVO, a, adj. that comforts, strengthening.
CONFORTATIVO, f. m. a medicine that comforts the heart.
CONFORTO, f. m. See ALIVIO.
CONFRA'DE, f. m. a brother, not by nature, but of a brotherhood or confraternity, which is generally on some pious account.
CONFRAGO'SO, a, adj. rugged, shaggy, rough.
CONFRARIA, f. f. a brotherhood, society, fraternity. See CONFRATE.
CONFRATERNIDADE, f. f. confraternity, brotherhood, chiefly on a religious account.
CONFRONTAÇAM, f. f. confronting.
CONFRONTA'DO, a, adj. See.
CONFRONTAR, v. a. to confront, to compare, or oppose.
Confrontaram as testemunhas com o acusado, the witnesses confronted the criminal.
CONFUNDI'DO, a. See.
CONFUNDIR, v. a. to confound, to mix together; also to confound, or put out of countenance, to puzzle.
Confundir-se, v. r. to be confounded or mixed together; also to be puzzled or perplexed.
CONFUSAMENTE, adv. confusedly.
CONFUSAM, f. f. confusion, or disorder; also confusion, or shame.
CONFUSO, a, adj. confused, or mixed together; also confused, perplexed, out of order; also ashamed. See also PERPLEXO.
CONFUTAÇAM, f. f. confutation, confuting an argument.
CONFUTA'DO, a, adj. See.
CONFUTAR, v. a. to confute, to run down an argument.
CONGELAÇAM, f. f. a freezing, or being frozen.

CONGELA'DO, a, adj. See.
CONGELAR, v. a. to congeal, to starve, to freeze.
Congelar-se, v. r. to be frozen or congealed; also to harden, or become hard.
Congelar-se de medo, to curdle for fear.
Congelar-se a voz na garganta, (metaph.) to become speechless.
CONGESTAM, f. f. (among physicians) congestion or heap.
CONGLOBAÇAM, f. f. a gathering round, or coming together like a ball.
CONGLOMERA'DO. See ANOVELADO.
CONGLOMERAR. See ANOVELAR.
CONGLOTINA'DO, a, adj. See.
CONGLOTINAR, v. n. to be conglutinated.
CONGO, f. m. Congo, or Lower Guinea, a very large tract on the west coasts of Africa. The capital of the Portuguese settlements there is Loango, in a small island near the coast.
CONGO'SSA, f. f. the herb periwinkle.
CONGO'XA, f. f. anguish, trouble, pain, affliction.
CONGOXO'SO, a, adj. full of anguish, grief, trouble, or pain.
CONGRAÇA'DO, a, adj. See.
CONGRACAR-SE, to be reconciled, to make peace.
CONGRATULAÇAM, f. f. congratulation.
CONGRATULA'DO, a, adj. See.
CONGRATULAR, v. a. to congratulate, to rejoice with one for his good fortune.
CONGREGAÇAM, f. f. congregation, assembly, meeting.
CONGREGA'DO, a, adj. See CONGREGAR.
CONGREGA'DOS, the congregation of the priests of the Oratory, founded by St. Philip Nery.
CONGREGAR, v. a. to congregate, to gather together.
Congregar-se, v. r. to assemble, to meet, gather, come or meet together.
CONGRE'SSO, f. m. congress, meeting.
CONGRO, f. m. a fish called a conger, like a large over-grown eel.
CONGRUA, f. f. the ecclesiastical revenue belonging to some priests, being the third part of what is necessary for his convenient support.
CONGRUAMENTE, aptly, fitly, agreeably.
CONGRUENCIA, f. f. agreeableness, conformity, congruence.
Ter congruência, to be proper, or convenient.
CONGRUENTE, adj. convenient, proper, suitable.
CONGRUO, a, adj. ex. Porção congrua. See CONGRUA. See also CONGRUENTE.
CONHECEDO'R, f. m. a skilful or knowing man, an understander.
CONHECENÇA, f. f. acknowledgment, requital, or arbitrary reward.
CONHECENTE, f. m. one that knows.
Sou conhecente de João, I know such a one.
CONHECE'R, v. a. to know, to acknowledge, to understand.
Conhecer de vista, to know by sight.
Dar-se a conhecer, to make one's self known.
Conhecer de huma causa, to hear a cause pleaded as judge.

Fazer conhecer, (mostrar) to show, to make appear.

CONHECIDAMENTE, adv. plainly, knowingly.

CONHECTIDO, a, adj. See CONHECER.

Conhecido, f. m. an acquaintance.

CONHECIMENTO, f. m. knowledge, acquaintance; also familiarity, friendship.

Tomar conhecimento de huma causa. See Conhecer de huma causa.

CONHECIMENTO, a bill of lading.

CONHIRMAM, CONIRMAM, or COHIRMAM, f. m. an ancient word for cousin.

They only say now primo conhirmao, a cousin german.

CONICO, a, adj. conic, conical, having the form of a cone.

Figura conica, a cone.

CONJECTURA, or CONJEITURA, f. f. a conjecture, a guess.

CONJECTURADO, a, adj. See CONJECTURAR.

CONJECTURADO'R, f. m. one that guesses, or conjectures.

CONJECTURAR, v. a. to conjecture, to guess.

CONJUGAÇAM, f. m. conjugation, the way of conjugating verbs.

CONJUGADO, a, adj. See CONJUGAR.

CONJUGAL, adj. conjugal, connubial, belonging to a married couple.

CONJUGAR, v. a. (in grammar) to conjugate. See also CONJECTURAR.

CONJUNÇAM, f. f. conjunction, union; also conjunction (in grammar.)

Conjunçam, conjuncture, opportunity, the state and circumstances of affairs.

Conjunçam do sol com a lua, (in astronomy) the conjunction of the sun and moon.

Conjunçam, the monthly flux of women's terms.

CONJUNTIVO, (a term of grammar) conjunctive.

CONJUNTO, a, adj. joined, near to, close.

Conjunto em sangue, a-kin by blood and birth, of the same blood and kindred.

CONJUNTURA, f. f. conjuncture, the state or circumstance of affairs.

CONJURAÇAM, f. f. a conspiracy. See also EXORCISMO.

CONJURADO, a, adj. See CONJURAR.

CONJURADOS, conspirators, plotters.

CONJURAR, v. a. and n. to conspire, to plot.

CONLUIO. See COLLUSAM.

Con conluyo, ou conluyosamente, collusively, in a fraudulently concerted manner.

CONNATURAL, adj. connatural.

CONNEÇA'M. See

CONNEXAM, f. f. connection, or hanging together.

CONNIVENCIA, f. f. See CONSENTIMENTO.

CONQUISTA, f. f. conquering; also a conquest, the thing conquered; also acquisition.

CONQUISTADO, a, adj. See CONQUISTAR.

CONQUISTADO'R, f. m. a conqueror, a subduer.

CONQUISTADORA, f. f. a she-conqueror.

CONQUISTAR, v. a. to conquer, to subdue, to bring under, to gain or get by force of arms. See ALCANÇAR, CONSEGUIR.

CONSAGRAÇAM, consecration, a consecrating, or hallowing.

CONSAGRADO, a, adj. consecrated. See the v.

CONSAGRAR, v. a. to consecrate, or hallow, to dedicate, or devote to God, or divine use.

Consagrar (na missa), to consecrate (in the mass.)

Consagrar-se, v. r. to devote to one's service.

CONSANGUÍNEO, a, adj. of the same kindred and blood.

CONSANGUINIDADE, f. f. consanguinity, kindred by blood.

CONSARCINADO, a, adj. patched, or packed together.

CONSCIÊNCIA. See CONCIENCIA.

CONSCRIPTO, ex. Os padres conscriptos, a title first conferred on those senators that were taken into that order by Brutus, after the expulsion of Tarquin, to distinguish them from the Patricii, who were elected by Romulus; but afterwards applied to the whole senate in general, who were addressed on all occasions by this epithet: patres conscripti. Leg. etiam in sing. & absol.

CONSECRANTE, p. a. consecrating, that consecrates.

CONSECUTIVAMENTE, adv. continually.

CONSECUTIVO, a, adj. one after another, without intermission.

CONSEGUIDO, a, adj. See CONSEGUIR.

CONSEGUIR. See CONSEQUENTE.

Por conseguinte. See Por consequente.

CONSEGUINTEMENTE. See CONSEQUENTE.

CONSEGUIR, v. a. to obtain, get, gain.

Conseguir o seu intento, to obtain what one desireth.

CONSELHEIRA, f. f. she that gives advice.

CONSELHEIRO, f. m. a counsellor, adviser.

CONSELHO, f. m. counsel, advice.

Tomar conselho, to take advice.

Conselho, (junta de conselheiros) council-board.

Conselho de estado, the council of state.

Conselho de guerra, a court-martial, or court-marshal.

Conselho da fazenda, the council that has the direction of the king's revenue, the exchequer court.

Conselho ultramarino, the counsel that has the direction of the ultramarine affairs.

Conselho, or Concelho, so they call some country towns adjoining one another, which are governed after the same manner, and by the same judges.

CONSELOS. See CONCHELLOS.

CONSENTO. See CONSENTIMENTO.

CONSENTANEO, a, adj. consentaneous, convenient, agreeable.

CONSENTIDO, a, adj. See CONSENTIR.

CONSENTIDO'R, f. m. he that consents.

CONSENTIDO'RA, f. f. she that consents.

CONSENTIMENTO, f. m. consent, agreement.

Consentimento, (among physicians) consent of parts, or that perception one part has of another, by means of some fibres and nerves that are near one another.

CONSENTIR, v. n. to consent, to agree.

P. quem cala consente, silence gives consent.

Consentir, v. a. (permitir) to permit, to suffer, to let, to bear.

CONSEQUENCIA, f. f. consequence, an orderly following, conclusion, or inference; also importance, moment, weight.

Consequencia, sequel, consequence, what follows.

Por consequencia, consequently, therefore, by consequence.

CONSEQUENTE, (in logic) consequent, the last part of an agreement, opposed to the antecedent.

Consequente, (in mathematics) consequent, the latter of two terms, which are immediately compared with one another, in any set of proportionals.

Por consequente, por conseguinte, or consequentemente, consequently, therefore.

CONSERVA, f. f. preserve, conserve, a sort of confits.

Fazer conserva de frutas, to preserve fruits.

andar de conserva, (a sea term) to keep company together, to sail under a convoy.

As vossas cartas ainda estam de conserva, (metaph.) I have not yet read your letters.

Ter de conserva alguma coisa, (metaph.) to keep a thing without making any use of it.

Conserva, counter-guard, a piece of fortification.

CONSERVAÇAM, f. f. preservation, security.

CONSERVADO, a, adj. See CONSERVAR.

CONSERVADO'R, f. m. a conservator, a judge to preserve or secure the rights and immunities.

CONSERVADORA, f. f. she that preserves.

CONSERVAR, v. a. to keep, to maintain, to conserve, to keep warily; also to keep up, or entire.

Conservar-se, v. r. to keep one's self in health, or in the same estate.

CONSERVATIVO, a, adj. (among physicians) ex. Remedios conservativos, conservative medicines, that part of a physician's care that preserves a person in health.

CONSERVATORIA, f. f. a grant to preserve privileges.

CONSERVEIRA, f. f. a woman confectioner, or a woman skilful in making sweetmeats.

CONSERVEIRO, f. m. a confectioner.

CONSERVO, f. m. a fellow-servant.

CONSIDERAÇAM, f. f. consideration, forecast.

Homem de muita consideraçam, a considerate or discreet man, a choice excellent man.

Ter consideraçam. See CONSIDERAR.

Com consideraçam, considerately, or advisedly.

CONSIDERADAMENTE, adv. considerately, or advisedly.

CONSIDERADO, a, adj. considerate, discreet. See

CONSIDERAR, v. a. to consider, to deliberate, to weigh; also to esteem, to regard, to look upon.

CONSIDERAVEL, adj. considerable, to be considered.

CONSIGNAÇAM, f. f. granting; also the thing granted.

Consignaçam, (a new word among tradesmen) ex. A sua consignaçam, consigned to him, or to be delivered to him.

CONSIGNADO, a, adj. See

CONSIGNAR, v. a. to give a grant to receive and enjoy any interest of money, ground-rent, &c.

CONSILÁRIO. See CONSELHEIRO.
CONSISTENCIA, f. f. consistency, stability, a permanent or lasting estate of any thing; also the thickness of liquid things.
Consistencia da idade, consistence, a state of rest, that age wherein men and beasts live some years without any visible decay.
CONSISTIDO, a, adj. See
CONSISTIR, v. n. to consist.
CONSISTORIA'L, adj. belonging to a consistory, consistorial.
CONSISTÓRIO, f. m. consistory, a solemn meeting of the pope and cardinals. It is taken for some other assemblies. (Metaph.)
CONSOADA, f. f. a light supper, as upon a fast day.
CONSOANTE, the letter called a consonant.
Consoante, (nos versos) rhyme, or rhyme, the likeness of sound at the end of words.
Consoantes reflexos. See REFLEXOS.
CONSO'CIO, f. m. a companion.
CONSO'GRO, f. m. when two fathers marry their children together they are conso'gros, that is, joint fathers in law.
CONSOLAÇÃO, f. f. consolation, comfort.
CONSOLAÇAMSINHA, f. f. a little comfort, or ease, diminut. from Consolação.
CONSOLADO, a, adj. See CONSOLAR.
CONSOLADOR, f. m. a comforter.
CONSOLADORA, f. f. a she comforter.
CONSOLAR, v. a. to comfort.
Consolar-se, v. r. to be comforted.
CONSOLATÓRIO, a, adj. consolatory, comforting.
CONSO'LDA, f. f. the herb comfrey, or consound.
CONSOLIDAÇÃO, f. f. a gluing, or closing together, an uniting of the lips of a wound; also consolidation, or unity of possession, i. e. the joining or uniting the possession, occupancy or profits of certain lands with property. (In the civil law).
CONSOLIDA'R, v. a. to consolidate, heal, or close up; also to harden, or make hard. See also CORROBORAR.
CONSOLIDAR, (a law term) to consolidate the property and rent to one possessor; also to renew, or to confirm.
Consolidar-se, v. r. to close as a wound, to wax sound and whole.
CONSONÂNCIA, f. f. consonance, agreement, harmony, accord in voices or sounds; also concord, friendship.
CONSONANTE, adj. (in music) agreeable to the ear.
CONSONAR, v. n. to agree, or be suitable to.
CONSONO, a, adj. of like tune, or sound, consonous.
CONSORCIO, f. m. fellowship, intercourse, partnership, correspondence, union.
CONSORTE, f. m. a partner, or consort, a partaker, or sharer; also spouse, husband, wife.
Ambo es consortes, both husband and wife.
CONSPÉCITO, f. m. See PRESENÇA, VISTA.
CONSPÍCUO, a, adj. excellent, worthy, commendable, remarkable.
CONSPIRAÇÃO, f. f. See CONJURAÇÃO.
Conspiração, (in a good sense) unanimity, consent, harmony.

PART I.

CONSPIRADO, a, adj. See
CONSPIRAR, v. n. to conspire, or consent, (either in a good or bad sense.)
CONSPURCADO, a, adj. See
CONSPURCAR, v. a. (among physicians) to defile, to befoul, to bewray.
CONSTÂNCIA, f. f. constancy, steadfastness.
CONSTANTE, adj. constant, steady; also regular.
Constante, sure, certain.
CONSTANTEMENTE, adv. constantly, steadfastly, stoutly, resolutely; also certainly.
CONSTANTINO'PLA, f. f. Constantinople, the ancient Byzantium, by the Turks called Istambul. It is the capital of Romania, in European Turkey, and now the residence of the grand signior; but by Europeans it is commonly called the Porte.
CONSTADO. See
CONSTAR, v. n. to appear, to be plain, or clear, and manifest; also to consist, or be made up.
CONSTELLAÇÃO, f. f. constellation.
CONSTERNAÇÃO, f. f. surprize, consternation, a great fear by reason of some sudden affliction, or public calamity.
Cauzar consternação, to astonish, to discourage, or fright.
Estar em consternação, to be astonished, or put into a fright.
CONSTIPAÇÃO, f. f. (in medicine) constipation, when the pores of the human body are more closely united than they were before.
Cauzar constipação, to astonish, to discourage, or fright.
CONSTIPADO, a, adj. See
CONSTIPAR, v. a. to cause a constipation. See CONSTIPAÇÃO.
CONSTITUENTE, f. m. the person constituting, or appointing another in his room.
CONSTITUIÇÃO, constitution, institution.
Constituição do ar, temperateness, or temperature of the air.
CONSTITUIDO, a, adj. See
CONSTITUIR, v. a. to constitute, appoint, assign, establish, to make.
Constituir alguém numa dignidade, to raise or prefer one to honour.
Constituir-se, v. r. to turn or become.
CONSTO, f. m. (In India.) See CERTIDAM.
CONSTRANGE'R, v. a. to compel or force, to constrain.
A acção de constranger, constraining.
CONSTRANGIDO, a, adj. compelled, forced, constrained.
CONSTRANGIMENTO, f. m. constraint, or compulsion.
CONSTRICÇÃO, (in medicine) contraction, or shrinking.
CONSTRINGIDO, a, adj. See
CONSTRINGIR, v. a. (in medicine) to shrink, to make narrow, or narrower.
Constringir-se, to grow narrow, or straight, to grow narrower, or straighter, to shrink.
CONSTRUÇÃO, f. f. building, framing, making.
CONSTRUÇÃO, or CONSTRUIÇÃO, (in grammar) construction.
CONSTRUIDO, a, adj. See
CONSTRUIR, v. a. (in grammar) to construe words, to arrange them in their proper order.
O construir, construing.

CONSULES festas, (among the Romans) Consualia, certain feasts and games appointed by Romulus in honour of Consius, the god of counsels.
CONSUBSTANCIAL, adj. consubstantial.
CONSUL, f. m. a consul, the chief magistrate of ancient Rome, after the expulsion of the kings; also an officer or commissioner in foreign parts, to maintain the immunities and rights of the merchants of his nation.
CONSULADO, f. m. consulship.
Casa do consulado, (in Lisbon) the house wherein the customs belonging to the king, are paid.
CONSULAR, adj. of, or belonging to the consul.
Consular, ou homem consular, f. m. one that has been consul.
CONSULENTE, f. m. he that consults, or asks advice.
CONSULTA, f. f. a consultation, a debate in council; also an ordinance, or decree of council.
Consulta de medicos, a consultation of physicians, in order to deliberate upon a sick person's disease.
CONSULTADO, a, adj. consulted of; designed, named, appointed. See also the v.
CONSULTAR, v. n. to consult, to advise together.
Consultar, v. a. to consult, to ask advice, or counsel.
Consultar alguém, to ask counsel of one.
CONSULTOR, f. m. a counsellor, or giver of counsel.
CONSUMIDO, a, adj. See
CONSUMIR, v. a. to consume; to eat up, to spend, to waste.
Consumir, in the mass, signifies the priest's receiving the blessed sacrament.
Consumir-se, v. r. to fret, to fret one's self, to consume away.
CONSUMMAÇÃO, f. f. consummation, ending, finishing.
Consummação do matrimonio, consummation of matrimony.
CONSUMMADO, a, adj. consummate, or accomplished.
Homem de consummada prudencia, a man of consummate prudence.
Consummado, well versed, skilled. See also the v. CONSUMMAR.
Consummado nas sciencias, an absolute scholar.
CONSUMMAR, v. a. to consummate, to finish, to perfect, to complete, to put an end.
Consummar o matrimonio, to consummate matrimony.
CONSUMO, f. m. use, charge, (speaking of provisions.)
Consumo mal regulado. See DESPERDÍCIO.
CONSUS, f. m. (among the Romans) Consius, the god of counsels.
CONTA, f. f. account, reckoning; also a head.
A conta, on account.
Tomar, or ter conta, to take care of, to be answerable for.
Fazer conta, to intend, or to propose.
Esta coisa faz conta, this thing turns to account.
Faço conta de vos vir ver, I intend to go to see you.
Fazer huma conta; to cast up an account.

R

Pedir,

Pedir contas, to call to an account.
Pagar, or Dar à conta, to pay an account.
Dar boa conta de si, to give a good account of himself, to behave cleverly.
Não acho a minha conta neste dinheiro, I find something wanting in this sum.
Ele fazia huma conta, e sabia lhe outra, (metaph.) he was much disappointed.
Não fez bem as contas, the same.
Não ter conta do que lhe pertence, to leave all at sixes and sevens.
Não faças conta que elle venha, assure yourself that he will not come.
Custa em conta, or barata, a cheap thing.
Eu tomo isso à minha conta, I take it upon myself.
Pela conta que lançais, in your judgment, or opinion.
Pela conta, so, if it be so.
Per fim de contas, at the foot of the reckoning, when all is done, upon the upshot.
Ella estava pejada, e por fim de contas achouse que não era casada, she was with child, and, when it came to the upshot, it was found that she was not married.
Trabalhar por sua conta, to set up for one's self, or to set up a private interest.
Carregai-o na minha conta, let it down in my account.
Faço conta que isso está feito, I reckon it as good as done.
Isso corre por minha conta, I will answer for it.
Por sua conta, on his account; also for the sake of him.
Dar conta a, to set forth, to show, or represent.
Dar conta de, to be answerable for.
Fazer conta, ou estimar, to set by, or to esteem.
Não fazer conta, or desprezar, to set at naught.
Elle tem-se em grande conta, he sets too much by himself.
Conta ou rol dos gastos, a bill, a reckoning.
Conta de venda, account of sales.
Fique isto por conta dos authores, let us leave it to the authors.
Bicho de conta. See PORQUINHA de S. Antão.
Conta relação, ou narração, account, story, or relation.
Cahir na conta. See CAHIR.
Ja não faça conta disso, I don't think any more about it.
Ser tido em conta, to be honoured, or esteemed.
Entrar as contas com alguém; we say, to pluck a crow with one, to expostulate with him about something.
O que he obrigado a dar conta a outrem, an accountant.
Que he obrigado a dar conta por outrem, accountable, answerable.
P. fazer as contas sem a hospeda, to reckon without the hostess, or as we say, the host; we say also, to sell the bear's skin before one has caught him.
P. contas de perto, e amigos de longe, even reckonings make long friends.
Contas, a pair of beads; also accounts.
CONTACTO, f. m. contact, the touching of one thing with another.
CONTA'DO, a. adj. reckoned; also told, or reported. See the v. CONTAR.
Dinheiro de contado, ready money.
De contado. See TOTALMENTE, and also

PROMPTAMENTE.

P. do contado come o lobo, the wolf eats of what is counted; that is, thieves will steal though they know it will be missed, much more if they think it will not.
CONTADO'R, f. m. a reckoner, accountant, one well versed in casting up accounts; also a desk.
Contador mór do reyno, the auditor of the exchequer.
CONTADORIA, f. f. See CONTOS.
CONTAGIA'M, f. f. See
CONTA'GIO, f. m. a contagion, infection, a catching disease, as the murrain, &c. See also PESTE.
CONTAGIO'SO, adj. contagious, infectious. See also PESTILENCIAL.
CONTAMINA'DO, adj. See
CONTAMINAR, v. a. to contaminate, to defile, to pollute.
CONTAR, v. a. to count, to tell, to cast accounts; also to relate, to report, to story.
Conta-se, it is reported, or storied.
CONTAS de rezar, a pair of beads.
Rezar as contas, to say over one's beads.
CONTE'IRA, f. f. a piece of iron fixed at the end of a spear in a game called argolinha.
CONTE'IRO, f. m. he who makes beads.
CONTEMPLAÇ'AM, f. f. contemplation.
Per contemplação minha, for my sake.
CONTEMPLA'DO, a. adj. See CONTEMPLAR.
CONTEMPLADO'R, f. m. one that is given to contemplate, a contemplator.
CONTEMPLADO'RA, f. f. she that contemplates.
CONTEMPLAR, v. a. to contemplate, to behold, to meditate.
CONTEMPLATIVO, a. adj. contemplative, given to contemplation.
CONTEMPOR'NEO, a. adj. contemporary, of the same time.
CONTEMPORIZA'DO, a. adj. See
CONTEMPORIZAR, v. n. to conform one's self to the times.
Contemporizar com o humor de alguém, to humour.
CONTEMPTIVEL, adj. contemptible.
CONTENÇ'AM, f. f. See CONTENDA.
CONTENCIOSO, a. adj. contentious, litigious, quarrellome.
CONTEN'DA, f. f. contention, strife, debate, quarrel, brabble.
Ter contenda com alguém, to be at odds with one.
CONTENDE'R, v. n. to contend, to cope, to strive, to debate; also to vie with one, to contest, to try for the mastery.
CONTENDOR, f. m. a competitor, a rival.
CONTENE'NCIA, f. f. (a military word) a salute to princes, generals, &c. it is performed by bowing the colours down to the ground at their feet.
CONTENTA'DO, a. adj. See CONTENTAR.
CONTENTAME'NTO, f. m. contentment, joy, satisfaction.
O contentamento he a mayor riqueza, contentment is the greatest wealth.
CONTENTAR, v. a. to content, to satisfy, to please.
Contentar-se, v. r. to be contented, to be satisfied, to be pleased.
Contentai-vos, que eu falle, give me leave to speak.

CONTE'NTE, adj. contentful, or full of content; pleased, satisfied.
CONTE'NTO, f. m. liking.
Homem de mão contento, a man that is hard to be pleased.
A meu contento, to my liking, according to my wishes.
Tomar hum criado a contento, to take a servant upon liking.
Contento, (approvaçam) good-liking, or approbation.
CONTE'R, v. a. to contain, to hold.
Contêr-se, v. r. to be restrained, to moderate one's self.
CONTE'RMINO, a. adj. bordering, near together, nigh.
Contermos, f. m. p. borders, confines.
CONTE'RR'NEO. See PAISANO.
CONTESTAÇ'AM, f. f. a taking witness. See also CONTENDA.
CONTESTA'DO, a. adj. witnessed, proved by witnesses. See also CONTESTAR.
Lite contestada, it is said of a process, or action at law, after putting in the plaintiff's declaration, and the defendant's answer.
CONTESTAME'NTE, adv. with one consent.
CONTESTAR, v. a. to make out any thing by witness; also to agree upon.
Contestar a lite, to put in the plaintiff's declaration, and the defendant's answer.
CONTE'STES, it is said of witnesses that declare the same.
CONTEU'DO, f. m. contents.
Conteudo em huma carta, the contents of a letter.
CONTE'XTO, f. m. See
CONTEXTURA, f. f. contexture, the joining together or framing of a discourse, or any other thing; also the context, or the scripture which lies about the text, before, or after it.
CONT'IA, f. f. a sort of reward given in ancient times by the kings of Portugal to the noblemen that attended him. See also QUANTIA.
CONTIGUIDA'DE, f. f. contiguity, or contiguonsness.
CONTIGUO, a. adj. contiguous, that touches, or is next, very near, close, adjoining.
CONT'INA de deudo. See CONTINUA.
CONTINE'NCIA, f. f. continence, chastity, temperance.
CONTINE'NCIAS, f. f. p. a sort of bows or reverences used in some public rejoicings, as in a bull-feast, &c.
CONTINE'NTE, adj. continent, chaste, temperate.
Continente, (in geography) continent, or a great extent of land, which comprehends several regions and kingdoms which are not separated by sea.
Em continente, adv. incontinently, presently, immediately. From the French incontinent.
CONTINGE'NCIA, f. f. contingency, or contingency, casualty, uncertainty of event.
Pôr em contingencia, to expose or to bring into danger.
CONTINGE'NTE, adv. contingent, accidental, casual, that may or may not happen.
CONTINHA, f. f. a short account; also a small bead, diminut. from Conta.
CONTINO,

- CONTINUO, a. v. ex. De contin. See CONTINUAMENTE.
Contínuo, f. m. See CONTINUO, f. m.
CONTINUO, f. m. the principal whim, or croquet of a mad man.
A jaz continua lê de, &c. the upshot of his madness is of, &c.
CONTINUIÇAM, f. f. continuance; also continuation, a joining, without interruption.
CONTINUÍDO, a, adj. See CONTINUO, and the v. CONTINUAR.
CONTINUAMENTE, adv. continually.
CONTINUAR, v. a. to continue, to lengthen; also to go often to, to frequent; also to go on.
Continuar, v. n. to reach, to be extended.
CONTINUIDADE, f. f. continuity, the connexion or joining together of the several parts of a thing.
CONTÍNUO, a, adj. continual, without intermission, daily.
Febre contínua, continual fever.
Contínuo, close together, touching, plain, even, and uniform.
CONTÍNUO, f. m. a messenger that goes on an errand from the king, or a tribunal; a serjeant, or beadle that warneth men to appear.
CONTO, f. m. a million, the number of ten hundred thousand.
Casa dos contos, or contadoria real, the exchequer.
Conto, (historia fabulosa) a tale, a story, or fable.
Hum co to de velhas, ou da carouchinba, an old woman's tale, or story, a tale of a tub.
O que conta contos de velhas, story-teller.
Tudo vem a hum conto, all comes to the same purpose.
Conto da lança, a piece of iron fixed at the end of a spear, pike, &c.
CONTOADA, f. f. a stroke with the conto.
CONTO'RNO, f. m. See CIRCUITO.
CONTRA, f. f. See CONTRADIÇAM, and DUIDA.
Contra, prep. against, contrary to; also over against, opposite to.
Pro e contra, pro and con.
CONTRABALDA'DO. See BALDADO.
CONTRABALDA'R. See BALDAR.
CONTRABANDISTA, f. m. a smuggler.
CONTRABANDÓ, f. m. contraband goods; also the act of smuggling.
Fazer contrabandos, to contraband.
CONTRABATERIA, f. f. a counter-battery, that is a battery which plays upon another.
CONTRABA'XO, f. m. (in music) base, the lowest of all its parts.
CONTRACAMBEA'DO. See COMPENSADO.
CONTRACAMBEA'R. See COMPENSAR.
CONTRACÇA'M, f. f. contraction, or shrinking in; also a contraction of two syllables into one.
CONTRACTIVO, a, adj. that causes contraction.
CONTRA'CTO, a, adj. (in grammar) nomes contrahidos, nouns that have a contraction of two syllables into one.
CONTRADA'NÇA, f. f. country-dance.
CONTRADIÇAM, f. f. contradiction, gaining.
Elle tem hum espirito de contradiçam, he is a contradictory man; or, as we say, he is a cross-patch.
CONTRADICTA'R. See CONTRADICTAR.
CONTRADICTO'R. See CONTRADICTOR.
CONTRADITAR, v. a. to contradict, to oppose.
CONTRADITAS, f. f. p. (a law term) a refutation of witnesses.
CONTRADITO, a, adj. See CONTRADIZER.
CONTRADITO'R, f. m. (a law term) adversary.
Contraditor, or Contradizêr, one that contradicts, or loves to contradict.
CONTRADITÓRIO, a, adj. contradictory, which contradicts itself, or implies a contradiction.
CONTRADITÓRIAMENTE, adv. oppositely, contradictorily, in a thwarting manner.
CONTRADIZER, v. a. to contradict, to gain say.
Homem inclinado a contradizêr, a contradictory man, or a man full of contradiction.
Inclinação a contradizer, contradictoriness, aptness to contradict, thwartingness.
Contradizêr-se, v. r. to contradict one's self. See also DENTE.
CONTRAERVA. See CONTRAHERVA.
CONTRAFAZE'R, v. a. to counterfeit, to imitate, to mimic, to ape.
Contrafazêr-se, v. r. to disguise one's self, to feign, or dissemble.
CONTRAFE'ITO, a, adj. See CONTRAFAZER.
CONTRAFORTE, (in fortification) a sort of prop, or shore, in the inside of the walls.
CONTRAGUA'RDA, f. f. (in fortification) counter-guard.
CONTRAE'NTE, f. m. and f. a bridegroom, a bride.
CONTRAHERVA, or CONTRAYERVA, f. f. contrayerva, a plant in the West Indies, much used with others in counterpoisons. From contra, against, and yerva, which in Spanish sometimes signifies poison.
CONTRAHI'DO, a, adj. See
CONTRAH'R, v. a. ex. Contrahir matrimonio, to marry, to take a wife or husband.
Contrahir amizade, to contract, engage, or knit a friendship.
Contrahir huma doença, to get or catch a distemper.
Contrahir dividir, to run into debt.
Contrahir hum mau costume, to contract an ill habit.
Contrahir-se, v. r. to be contracted, to shrink (in medicine); also to be included, contained, or comprehended.
CONTRALTO, f. m. a counter-treble, in music.
CONTRAMANDA'DO, f. m. countermand, a revoking of a former command.
Passar hum contramandado, to countermand, or give contrary orders.
CONTRAMA'RCHA, f. f. a countermarch.
CONTRAMARCHA'R, v. n. to countermarch, to march backward.
CONTRAME'STRE, f. m. a boatswain, an officer in a ship.
CONTRAMINA, f. f. countermine.
O que faz contraminas, counter-miner.
CONTRAMINA'DO, a, adj. See
- CONTRAMINA'R, v. a. to countermine, both in the proper and figurative sense.
CONTRAMURA'LHA, f. f. countermure, a wall set against another.
CONTRAMURO, f. m. the same.
CONTRAPARENTE, f. m. and f. a kinsman, or kinswoman by marriage.
CONTRAPEÇO'NHA, f. f. counter-poison, antidote; also the herb called swallow-wort.
CONTRAPEZA'DO, a, adj. See
CONTRAPEZA'R, v. a. to counterpoise, to weigh one thing against another, to counterbalance; also to weigh, to examine, or consider.
CONTRAPEZO, f. m. a counterpoise, counterbalance; also a small matter to make up weight.
Ser contrapezo de dous competidores, (metaph.) to keep two parties in a just balance.
CONTRAPONTISTA, f. m. (in music) he who knows the counterpoint.
CONTRAPO'NTO, f. m. (in music) counterpoint.
CONTRAPO'R, v. a. to put over against; also to bring a thing into balance with another, to compare them together; to set one thing against another. (Metaph.)
Contrapôr-se, v. r. to oppose, to be contrary.
CONTRAPOSIÇAM. See OPOSIÇAM.
CONTRAPO'STO, a, adj. See the v. CONTRAPOR.
CONTRARANCHO, f. m. the contrary crew, or party.
De contraranchos, belonging to the contrary crew, party, or faction.
CONTRARIADO, a, adj. See CONTRARIAR.
CONTRARIADO'R, a, adj. contradictory, full of contradiction, apt to contradict.
CONTRARIAMENTE, adv. contrarily, in opposition.
CONTRARIA'R, v. a. to contradict, to oppose.
Contrariar-se, v. r. See CONTRADIZER-SE.
CONTRARIEDADE, f. f. contrariety.
Contrariedade do reo, a law expression, the defendant's answer.
CONTRARIO, a, adj. contrary, opposite.
Contrário, f. m. an adversary, an enemy.
Pelo contrario, adv. contrariwise, on the contrary, nay.
Tudo pelo contrario, quite contrary.
CONTRA-rotura, f. f. a plaster for ruptures.
CONTRASCARPA, f. f. (in fortification) a counterscarp.
Fazer huma contrascarpa, to counterscarp.
Fazer ou por contrascarpa a hum fosso, to counterscarp a ditch.
Que tem contrascarpa, counterscarped.
CONTRASE'DULA, f. f. a schedule given in countermand of another.
CONTRASE'NHA, f. f. a token, sign, or mark agreed on between two, to answer, or know one another.
CONTRASTA'DO, a, adj. See
CONTRASTA'R, v. n. to quarrel, debate, jar, or dispute; also to strive against.
Contrastar, v. a. to resist, to oppose, to withstand.
CONTRA'STE, f. m. See CONTENDA.
Contraste com gritos, e com injurias, a brawling, or scolding, a jar, a strife in words.

Contrastes de fortuna, ill-luck, misfortunes.
Contraste, a weigher, a prizier, valuer, or rater of gold, silver, pearls, &c.
Contraste, touch, trial.
CONTRATAÇÃM, f. f. See CONTRATO.
CONTRATADO, a, adj. See CONTRATAR.
Esar contratado de casar, to be contracted to any one.
CONTRATADO'R, f. m. a dealer, or merchant.
CONTRATAR, v. n. to trade, or deal; also to contract or bargain.
Contratar em tudo, to deal in all sorts of commodities.
CONTRATO, f. m. a contract, covenant, agreement, bargain; also commerce, traffic, trade, trading.
CONTRATE'MPO, f. m. unseasonableness.
Fazer huma coisa a contratempo, to do a thing unseasonably, to ill-time it.
CONTRAVENTO, f. m. See CONTRAPEÇONHA.
CONTRAVENTO, adv. against the wind.
CONTRAVENTO, a, adj. See
CONTRAVENTO, v. a. to contravene, to infringe, to break a law, custom, &c.
CONTRIBUIÇÃM, f. f. contribution.
CONTRIBUI'DO, a, adj. See
CONTRIBUI'R, v. a. to contribute, or give something with others. See COOPERAR.
CONTRIÇÃM, f. f. contrition, a sorrow for sin, proceeding from love to God more than fear of punishment.
CONTRITO, a, adj. contrite, sorrowful, very penitent.
CONTROVERSA, f. f. controversy, debate, dispute. See also DÚVIDA.
Pertencente a controversia, controversial.
CONTROVERSI'STA, f. m. one who holds or writes controversies, a controvertist.
CONTROVERSO, a, adj. controverted, debated, disputed.
CONTROVERTE'R, v. a. to controvert, to hold controversies.
CONTUMACIA, f. f. contumacy, stubbornness, wilfulness.
Com contumacia, stubbornly, frowardly.
CONTUMAZ, adj. stubborn; also contumacious, (in law.)
Contumaz, f. m. (a law term) a criminal, who being summoned doth not appear before the judge, a contumacious person.
CONTUMELIA, f. f. a contumely, a reproach.
Com contumelia, reproachfully, injuriously.
CONTUNDIR, v. a. to squash, to crush, to beat, to bruise flat.
CONTUZA'M, f. f. a contusion, or bruise, (in surgery.)
CONTUZO. See CONTUNDIR.
CONVALESCENCIA, f. f. convalescence, a recovery of health; also valetudinary, or hospital for sick men that begin to recover their health.
CONVALECENTE, f. m. and f. one that is upon recovery after a fit of sickness.
CONVALECER, v. n. to recover health, to grow strong after sickness.
Convalescer-se, v. r. the same.
CONVEN, v. imperf. it is fit, requisite, expedient, convenient, or meet.
CONVENÇA. See
CONVENÇÃM, f. f. convention, covenant, or agreement. See also UNIÃO.
CONVENCER, v. a. to convince; also to convict, to prove one guilty. See also INFERIR.

Que convence, convincing.
CONVENCIDO, a, adj. See the v. CONVENCER.
CONVENIENCIA, f. f. See UTILIDADE.
CONVENIENTE, adj. convenient, proper, suitable, fit, agreeable.
CONVENIENTEMENTE, adv. decently, conveniently.
CONVENTICULO, conventicle, an unlawful meeting.
CONVENTO, f. m. a convent, monastery, religious house.
Convento juridico. See COMARCA. Some say it signifies the chancery.
CONVENTUAL, adj. conventual, belonging to a convent.
Missa conventual, high mass.
Ordem conventual, cu dos conventuacs. See CLAUSTRAES.
CONVENTUALIDADE, f. f. the dwelling in a convent.
CONVE'RSA, f. f. ex. Freira conversa, a lay-sister in a nunnery.
Conversa, a discourse, talk, or prattle-prattle.
CONVERSAÇÃM, f. f. conversation, discourse. See PREÇO.
Casa da conversaçam, a parlour, or room to receive company in.
Ter conversaçao com huma mulher, to know a woman, to have carnal knowledge of her.
CONVERSA'M, f. f. an alteration, or change; also conversion, change, transmutation, (speaking of morals.)
CONVERSA'DO, a, adj. See
CONVERSA'R, v. n. to converse, to keep company, to talk, and be familiar with.
Conversar com a boca, (speaking of onions, garlic, &c.) to make one smell strong; to rise in one's stomach.
CONVERSAVEL, adj. conversable, sociable, easy, or free of access.
CONVE'RSO, f. m. a lay-brother, in religious orders.
CONVERTE'R, v. a. to convert, turn, or change; also to convert, or make a convert.
Converter-se, v. r. to turn, to change, to become; also to be reclaimed, or to mend; also to be made a convert, to be converted.
CONFERTIDA, f. f. a penitent, it is said of penitent women that retire from their lewdness.
Recolimento das convertidas, shelter for women that retire from lewdness, such as the Magdalen-house.
CONVE'XO, a, adj. convex.
CONVE'Z, f. m. deck.
CONFICÇÃM, f. f. (a law term) conviction, or full proof.
CONVICIO, f. m. See INJURIA.
CONVICTO, a, adj. convicted.
CONVIDADO, a, adj. invited, desired to come.
Convidado, f. m. a guest.
O convidado por outro convidado, an unbidden guest, accompanying one to a feast. Lat. umbra.
CONVIDAR, v. a. to invite, to bid, to desire to come; also to invite, allure, or incite; also to give a little reward, or drinking-money.
CONFINHÁVEL. (Obsol.) See CONVENIENTE.

CONVIR, v. n. (ser conveniente) to become, to be proper, suitable, or agreeable, to fit, to suit with; also to assent, or agree to, to be of one's mind or opinion, to grant; also to appertain, to belong to one.
CONVITE, f. m. See BANQUETE.
Convite, drinking-money.
CONVOCAÇÃM, f. f. a convocation, or calling together.
CONVOCA'DO, a, adj. See
CONVOGAR, v. a. to call together, to assemble.
CONVULSA'M, f. f. a convulsion, a shrinking up of the sinews.
CONVULSIVO, a, adj. convulsive.
CONVULSOENS, convulsion fits.
COOPERAÇÃM, f. f. co-operation.
COOPERADO'R, f. m. co-operator.
COOPERADO. See
COOPERAR, v. n. to co-operate, or work together.
COOPERARIO. See COOPERADOR.
COORDINAÇÃM, f. f. ordering, order, disposal, contrivance.
COORDINADO, a, adj. See
COORDINAR, v. a. to set in order, to dispose, to place in order, to rank.
CO'PA, f. f. a set of plate for table use; also a cup-board, or side-board table.
Copa, a cup or goblet to drink out of.
Copa do broquel, ou do escudo, the boss of a buckler, or shield.
Copa do chapeo, the crown of a hat.
Copa da arvore, the tuft of a tree.
COPA'DO, a, adj. tufted, thick, bushy. See also the v. COPAR.
COPADO, (among farriers) round.
COPAI'BA, f. f. a sort of a most sovereign balsam.
COPAL, f. m. copal, a sort of hard resin, or gum of a whitish or yellowish colour, brought from America.
COPAR, v. a. (among gardeners) to top, or cut off the top.
COPAS, f. f. p. (a suit at cards) hearts.
COPEIRO, f. m. a cup-bearer.
COPE'LHA, or COPELLA, f. f. cupel, copel, or cuppel, a furnace made of ashes and burnt bones, to try and purify gold and silver; a crucible.
COPENAGUEN. See COPPENAGUEN.
COPIA, f. f. a copy; also abundance, plenty, copiousness.
COPIADO'R, f. m. one who copies any thing, a copier, a transcriber.
Copiador de payveis, one who draws from an original.
Copiador, (among tradesmen) a book to copy letters in.
COPIADO, a, adj. See
COPIAR, v. a. to copy, or write out, to transcribe.
Copiar hum paynel, to copy or draw from an original. See also IMITAR.
Copiar, f. m. (In the Brasils.) See ALPENDRE.
COPIOSAMENTE, adv. copiously, abundantly.
COPIO'SO, a, adj. copious, plentiful, abundant.
COPISTA, f. m. one that copies writings, a copier.
CO'PLA, f. f. a catch, a song, a stanza. See the Art of poetry of John Dias Rengifo.
CO'PO, f. m. a cup, a glass to drink out of; also one of the southern constellations called Hydra.

Copo grande sem pé, a tumbler.
Fullano he grande copo, such a one is a toper, a man that drinks much.
Copo da balança. See BALANÇA.
Copo da espada, the shell of a sword-hilt.
Copos de rca. See ROCA.
Copo da brida, the branches of a bridle.
COPPENAGUEN, Copenhagen, a free imperial city, the capital of all Denmark, and the royal residence in Danish Kiøbenhavn, anciently Kiøbmanshaun, i. e. the Harbour of Merchants, on account of its fine haven and commodious situation for trade; in Lat. Hafnia.
COPRA, f. f. (in India) so they call the pulp or kernel of the coco when dry. See COCO.
COPULA, f. f. copulation, a carnal coupling.
Copula, (in logic) copula, or the verb which joins together any two terms, in an affirmative or negative proposition.
COPULATIVA, (in grammar) copulative, that which serves to couple, or join; as Conjunçam copulativa, a copulative conjunction.
COQUE, f. m. a back-hand slap; also a buffet or blow with some broad flat thing.
COQUEADA, f. f. so they call by the figure onomatopoeia, the noise made by the monkeys; also the cry made by the sailors in India when they spy land.
COQUEIRO, f. m. the coco-tree, otherwise called the palm-tree, because like the palm.
COQUILHO, f. m. a little coco-nut that comes from the Brailis; they generally make snuff-boxes and beads out of it.
CO'R, f. f. colour, also colour, looks, or complexion.
Cor clara, a lively or gay colour.
Cor trizte, a dull colour.
Cor escura, a sad or dark colour.
Cor carregada, a deep colour.
Cor de rosa, rosy colour, or roset.
Cor de palha, straw colour.
Cor de verde mar, ou verde claro, plunket colour.
Cor vermelha muito viva, ou carmin, carmine, a bright red colour.
Cor incarnada, carnation colour.
Cor de carne, flesh colour.
Cor carmesim, cor vermelha, crimson red.
Cor de mel, a dark yellow.
Cor baça, brown, tawny, a dim, or dark colour, dusky.
Cor macilenta, a pale faded colour.
Doas cores, furtacores, ou cambiantes, a deep changeable colour.
Pintura toda de hum cor, camaieu, a painting in which there is but one colour.
Mudar de cor, to change the colour as a man does upon a surprize; also to blush.
Ella tem bellas cores, she has a fresh colour.
Corrar a cor, to recover, to take up again; to resume the colour.
Cor para o rosto, paint, a counterfeit colour.
Cor, a cloke, or pretence, an excuse, or plea.
Cores de eloquencia, rhetorical figures and ornaments.
Não sey de que cor elle seja, I know nothing of him, I never saw him.
Cor, heart, memory, remembrance: this word has always the particle de before it.
Saber de cor alguma couza, to know something by heart.

CORAÇAM, f. m. heart.
Mal do coraçam, the pain of the heart.
Cortar o coraçam, to break the heart.
Isto me corta o coraçam, this makes my heart ache.
Eu o farci de bom coraçam, I shall do it willingly.
Com todo o meu coraçam, with all my heart, willingly.
Nenhuma coisa trego tanto ao coraçam, como, &c. nothing is dearer, or more acceptable to me, than, &c.
Trazer ao coraçam, to value, to esteem, to have at heart, to cherish.
Coraçam, spirit, courage, heart, mettle.
Ter coraçam, to have courage.
Elle tem muita falta de coraçam, he is very much out of heart.
Não tenbo coraçam para dizello, my heart will not serve to speak it.
Falto do coraçam, faint-hearted.
Que tem grande coraçam, stout-hearted.
Que tem coraçam alegre, light-hearted.
Que tem coraçam cruel, e duro, hard-hearted.
Fibras do coraçam, heart-strings.
Bom para o coraçam, hearty, hale, good for the heart.
Agua que conforta o coraçam, heart's-ease, a sort of strong water.
Cahir o coraçam aos pés, to be faint-hearted.
Não tive coraçam para lá hir, I could not find in my heart to go.
Isto me chega ao coraçam, this grieves, or strikes me to the very heart.
Tenbo certa couza no coraçam, que me não atrevo a dizer, something lies upon my heart, which I dare not reveal.
Elle conhece inteiramente o meu coraçam, he knows the bottom of my heart.
Coraçam lizo e sincero, an upright heart.
Aquillo chegou-lhe mais ao coraçam, que outra couza, that went more to the heart of him than any thing else.
Meu coraçam, (an expression of endearment) my dear heart.
Coraçam, (metaph.) the heart, or midst.
No coraçam do inverno, in the midst of winter.
O coraçam de Portugal, the heart or midst of Portugal.
Diz-me o coraçam, I surmise, think, or imagine.
Coraçam do pão, the pith or heart of a tree.
Coraçam do coo. See CULMINANTE.
Planeta que está no coraçam do sol, a planet that is not above nineteen minutes distant from the sun.
Coraçam de galo, a sort of grapes so called.
P. fazer das tripas coraçam. See TRIPA.
Coraçam-sinho, (a word of endearment) a little or pure heart, a sweet-heart, a minion.
CORACORRA, or COROCORA, a sort of long vessel with oars, in India.
CORACU'DO, a, adj. See ANIMOSO.
CORA'DO, a, adj. coloured; also disguised, pretended. See also APPARENTE, FIGIDO, and the v. CORAR.
CORAGEM, or CORAGE, f. f. courage, heat, valour, resolution, boldness, daringness, mettle.
CORAL, f. m. coral, a kind of shrub that grows in the sea; also a tree brought from India.
Vermelho como coral, coralline, red as coral.
Fino como hum coral, as fine as coral; this signifies an arch roguish boy.
Coracs de perit, wattles, the red puggered flesh; that hangs under a turkey-cock's neck.

Coracs do gallo, the wattles of a cock, jawlaps.
Coral, adj. belonging to the choir of a church.
Canto coral. See Canto chaõ.
Gota coral. See GOTÁ.
CORALLINA, f. f. coralline, a sort of mols sticking to the corals; and also to the rocks.
CORAR, v. a. to colour, to dye; also to disguise, to cloak, to palliate. (Metaph.)
Corar as faces, to paint, to beautify the face.
Corar, (speaking of linen) to bleach.
Corar-se, v. r. to recover the colour; also to wax red, or blush.
CORARIA, f. f. the royal collegiate church of the town of Guimaraens, in Portugal.
CORÇA, f. f. the female of a hind, a she-deer, a doe. See COÇAR-SE.
Gordura de corça, ou corço, suet, the fat of a deer.
Corça de tres annos, a spade, a deer of three years old.
CORCHETE. See COLCHETE.
CORÇO, f. m. a wild buck. See also COSSO.
Corço de dois annos, a pricket, a buck in his second year.
Corço, ou corça de hum anno, a fawn.
CORCOMA. See CARCOMA.
CORCOMIDO. See CARCOMIDO.
CORCOVA, f. f. a bunch in the back, on the shoulders, &c.
CORCOVA'DO, a, adj. and f. bunched, bossed, bunch-backed, crooked backed, crump shouldered.
Corcovado, f. m. a sort of fish caught near the Moluccas islands.
CORCOVO, f. m. crupade, a bouncing of a horse.
CORCO'Z, f. m. he who has a bunch, a bunch-backed man.
CORCULHE'R, f. f. a lark.
CO'RDA, f. f. a cord, rope, halter, line.
Entesar hum corda, to stretch out a cord.
Cordas de instrumentos musicos, strings for fiddles, &c.
Cordas de lataõ, wire-strings.
Por cordas na rabeça, to string a fiddle.
Corda do arco, the string of a bow.
Corda, ou maroma de borlanti, a dancing-rope.
Corda de enforcar, a hanging-cord or rope.
Isto merece a corda, that deserves hanging, he deserves hanging for it.
Cordas do navio, cordage, or ropes belonging to a ship.
Corda com que se ata a antena ao mastro, the cord wherewith the sail is bound to the mast.
Cor da á qual se pega quem sobe a hum navio, entering rope.
Corda que puxa á sirga, the rope which bargemen use to pull their barges along against the tide.
Corda que se ata ao navio para o rebocar, halter, hawser, a cable, or rope to tow a ship along with.
Corda á qual se cozem as velas, holt-rope.
Corda para enxugar a roupa, a cloath-line.
Corda de inquirir, a rope to tie a burden with.

Dar corda ao relógio, to wind up a clock or watch.
Dar corda a alguém, to veer out a line; that is, to give one rope enough, to let a man go on without check.
Corda de ferrania. See CORDIHEIRA.
Corda, (in anatomy) tendon, the extremity of a muscle, where its fibres run into a strong springy chord.
Corda de rolana, the line or rope that runneth in the pulley.
Corda sequena. See CORDINHA.
P. nem tanto puxer, que se quebre a corda; that is, things must not be carried too far.
P. em casa de ladrão, não falles em corda, name not a rope where one has hanged himself.
CORDAM, f. m. a lace, such as women use to their stays; any silk rope, twist, braid, or lace; also a friar's rope, or cord full of knots; ex. Corda de S. Francisco, St. Francis's girdle.
Corda, (in fortification) cordon, a plinth, or edge of stone, a stone jutting out between the rampart and the basis of the parapet; it goes quite round the fortification.
Corda, (in architecture) cordon, the edge of stone on the outside of a building.
Corda de ouro, a little gold chain, used particularly by women.
Cordões de huma bolsa. See BOISA.
Corda de cavalleria, a troop of horse that surrounds any place.
CORDEIRO, a, adj. See
CORDEIRO, v. a. to measure by the cord.
CORDEIRA, f. f. a ewe lamb.
CORDEIRINHO, f. m. a little lamb, or lambkin.
Cordeirinho que ainda mama, a sucking lamb; diminut. from
CORDEIRO, f. m. a lamb. See also PARTO.
Cordeiros tardios, lambs yeaned after Lammas, collet-lambs.
Berrar o cordeiro, to bay, or bleat like a lamb.
CORDEL, f. m. a small cord, or line.
Cordeis com que se dão tratos, little cords wherewith they stretch people upon the rack, to make them confess.
CORDELEJO, f. m. (a familiar word) a sharp reprimand.
CORDIACA, or CORDICIA, f. f. a sort of discale in the heart of a horse.
CORDIAL, adj. cordial, good for the heart; also cordial, sincere, free, open, affectioned.
Cordial, f. m. a cordial, a physical drink to comfort the heart.
CORDIALMENTE, adv. cordially, heartily, sincerely.
CORDICIA. See CORDIACA.
CORDILHEIRA, or CORDA de Serrania, a long chain or ridge of hills.
Cordilheiras, the famous chain of mountains consisting of two ridges, that traverse America from south to north, called the Cordilheiras of the Andes.
CORDINHA, f. f. a small rope, or cord.
Cordinha que tecida com outra compoem a corda, a twist.
CORDOALHA, f. f. cordage, all the ropes belonging to the rigging or tackling of a ship.
CORDOARIA, f. f. a rope-yard, a place where cords are made or sold.

CORDOEIRO, f. m. a rope-maker.
CORDOVA, f. m. Cordovan leather, made out of goat skins, at Cordova in Spain.
CORDURA, f. f. discretion; gravity, wisdom.
COREA, f. f. a dance where many dance together; a ball.
COREIXA. } See { GROU.
CORESMA. } See { QUARESMA.
CORJA, f. f. (an Indian word) the number twenty.
CORICA, f. f. a sort of parrot.
CORIFEIO, or CORYTEO, the chief, or principal.
CORINTHO, Corinth, by the Turks called Gereme, anciently a celebrated city in the Morea of Turkey in Europe. Its first name was Ephra: it had also the name of Heliopolis and Bimaris.
Ordem Corinthia, (in architecture) the Corinthian order.
CORISCO. See PEDRA de corisco.
CORISTA, f. m. a young friar passed his noviceship, but under age to receive holy orders.
CORNA, or CORNADURA, the head or horns of a deer.
Primeira corna, crowned top, the first head of a deer.
Corna, a horn in which hunters and country-people use to put fish, meat, &c.
CORNAÇA, f. m. (an Indian word) the man who takes care of, and teaches the elephant.
CORNADA, f. f. a push, or punch with a beast's horn.
CORNADURA. See CORNA.
CORNAS, or HORNAVEQUES, (in fortification) horn-work; it is an out-work which advances towards the field, carrying in the fore-part two demi-bastions, in the form of horns.
CORNEIRA, f. f. a sort of strap of a bull's hide, to tie the horns of the oxen to the yoke.
CORNELINA, f. f. the cornelian stone.
CORNEO, a, adj. of, or like horn, horny, make of horn.
CORNETA, f. f. cornet, a sort of musical instrument made of horn, or something like a hautboy; also an instrument used by shepherds.
Corneta da montaria, bugle-horn, or a hunter's horn.
Corneta, a cornet, a woman's cornet.
CORNICABRA, f. f. a sort of pear so called.
CORNIFERO. See CORNIGERO.
CORNIGE. See CORNIFA.
CORNIGERO, a, adj. that wears, or carries horns.
CORNIFA, f. f. (in architecture) cornish, or cornice.
CORNINHO, f. m. a little horn, such as snails have; diminut. from CORNO, f. m. a horn.
Por os cornos a alguém, to cuckold one.
Cornos da lua nova, the horns of the crescent, or moon in its increase.
Quebrar os cornos a alguém, to break one's horns; that is, to humble one.
Corno, (an ancient military word) the wing of an army.
Corno de Amathia, the horn of plenty.
Substancia porosa que cresce dentro dos cornos dos bois, &c. See SABUGO.
Não val hum corno, it is not worth a pin.
Mudar os cornos, to shed the horns, as deers do.

CORNOZO'LLO, a sort of horse-shoe.
CORNUALLA, f. f. Cornwall, the furthest of any part of Great Britain. In Lat. Cornubia.
CORNUCOPIA, f. f. plenty, abundance, and also the horn full of many things, painted, or carved in the hands of Plenty, or Amathia.
CORNUDO, a, adj. horned.
Cornudo, f. m. a cuckold.
Cornudo consentido, a witol, wittel, a contented cuckold. Lat. curruca.
CORNUITO, a, adj. ex. Argumento cornuto. See DILEMMA.
Obras cornutas. See CORNAS.
COIRO, f. m. choir, the chorus; also choir, the quire of the church wherein divine service is said or sung; also the clergy or musicians that sing.
Menino do coro, a singing-boy that sings in divine services, a chorister.
COROA, f. f. a crown, a diadem, a garland; also some ancient coins.
Coroa de religioso, the crown that is shaved on a religious man's head.
Coroa de cabeça, nell, noul, the crown of the head.
Coroa triumphal, a garland of laurel, or crown of pure gold, sent to the emperor or general in honour of triumph.
Coroa obsidional, a garland made of herbs, given to him who had raised the siege.
Coroa civica, a garland of oak, given to him that saved a citizen's life, by the person who was so saved.
Coroa mural, a crown given to him who first scaled the wall and entered the town.
Coroa naval, a crown formed like beaks of ships, given to him who first boarded an enemy's ship, or by whose means a sea victory was obtained.
Coroa oval, a garland given to a prince or captain for a victory without slaughter of men, or when the enemies subdued were vile and base.
Coroa, (reyno) crown, kingdom, monarchy.
Bens da coroa, the king's demesnes, crownlands.
Coroa, (a meteor) a circle about the sun, moon, or stars.
Coroa de Ariadna, a constellation of seven stars.
Coroa do monte, the top of a mountain.
Coroa de rey, the herb melilot.
Coroa de nossa Senhora, a chaplet, a pair of beads. See also CASTOR e Pollux.
Coroa do casco do hum cavallo, an horse's coronet.
Coroa ou obra coroadada, (in fortification) crowned work.
COROAÇÃO, f. f. coronation, the act or solemnity of crowning a king.
COROADO, a, adj. See COROAR.
Obra coroadada. See COROA.
COROAIR, v. a. to crown.
COROÇA, or CROÇA, f. f. a sort of cloak made of bulrushes, &c. used by country people to keep off the rain. See also ENCOROÇADO.
COROCHA. See CAROCHA.
COROGRAFIA, f. f. chorography.
COROGRAFO, f. m. a chorographer.
COROLLARIO, f. m. a corollary, or inference. See also COMPENDIO.
CORONAL, (in anatomy) ex. Offo coronal, coronal, coronal, coronale, the coronal bone, or bone in the forehead.

Vas e arterias coronales, coronaria vasa.
CORONEL, f. m. a colonel.
Coronel, (in heraldry) a duke's or marquis's coronet.
CORONELERIA, f. f. colonellship, the office or post of a colonel.
CORONHA, } See CRONHA.
CORONICA, } See CRONICA.
CORONIDE, f. f. the end of any thing; also the cornice, or top ornament of a pillar or other member of a building.
CORONISTA, See CRONISTA.
CORONILHA, a sort of cawl for the head.
CORPINHO, f. m. a little body; also a little doublet or waistcoat, generally worn by women.
CORPO, f. m. body, a compound of matter and form.
Corpo morto, a dead body or corpse.
Tomar a forma de hum corpo, to be shaped or fashioned into a body.
Causa do corpo, belonging to the body.
Corpo a corpo, body to body, man to man, hand to hand.
Em corpo, in cuerpo, ex. Estar vestido em corpo, to be in cuerpo, or to be without the upper coat, or cloke, so as to discover the true shape of the cuerpo or body.
Meio corpo, a bust, a statue representing only the head, breast, and shoulders of a human body.
Corpo, body, society, company.
Corpo, body, strength, speaking of wine, &c.
Corpo de gente de guerra, body, a whole army, or a certain number of soldiers.
Corpo da batalha, See BATALHA.
Corpo de reserva, a reserve of soldiers, or body of reserve.
Corpo da guarda, the corps de guard.
Fazer corpo por si, to live by one's self.
Corpo de direito civil, a body of civil law.
Corpo, body, a collection of what relates to an art or science, out of one, or several authors.
Corpo de delicto, the coroner's inquest.
Corpo da divisa, See DIVISA.
Corpo de armas, a breast-plate, or coat of mail.
Corpo santo, (a fiery meteor.) See CASTOR and POLLUX.
Corpo de Deus, Corpus Christi day.
CORPORAL, adj. corporal, bodily, belonging to the body; it is used as a substantive for the corporale, or linen cloth on which the host or blessed sacrament is laid by the priest, who officiates at mass.
Crime Corporal, the adultery or incest committed by a bishop.
CORPOREIDADE, f. f. (in philosophy) corporiety.
CORPOREO, a, adj. bodily, corporeal, that hath a body.
CORPOFERARIO, one that carries a body.
CORPULENCIA, f. f. corpulency, bulkiness, or grossness of body.
CORPULENTO, a, adj. corpulent, gross, bulky.
CORPUS, ex. O dia de Corpus, Corpus Christi day.
CORRA, f. f. the rope that runs round with an engine called NORA, which see.
CORREA, f. f. a leather strap, or thong.
Correa de castigar, a whip, or scourge made of thongs.
P. do carro lle fahem as correas, the thongs come out of his skin; that is, he pays for it.

Correa, ou cinta de couro, a girdle of leather.
Correa ou aulho que se põe nas costas dos livros quando se encadernão, a band for a book.
Correa de gladeador, See CESTO.
CORREAM, or CORRIAM, f. m. a broad thong of leather; also a shoulder-belt, or collar for soldiers.
CORRIOENS do coche, the main braces of a coach.
CORREARIA, f. f. the street, or place where they make purses, scrips, or any thing made of leather, except shoes.
CORRECAM, f. f. correction, punishment, reproof; also correction, or amending, reforming; also correctio, a figure when the orator unsays what he has already said, and says something more fit in the stead of it.
CORRECTAMENTE, adv. correctly, without a fault.
CORRECTIVO, (among physicians) corrective.
CORRECTO, a, adj. correct.
Medicamento correctivo, a corrective.
CORRECTO'R, f. m. a corrector.
CORRECTORA, f. f. she that corrects.
CORREDELLA, See CORKIDA.
CORREDEMPTO'R, f. m. the person who, with another, helps a third.
CORREDEMPTO'RA, f. f. she that, with another, helps a third.
CORREDIÇAS, f. f. p. a sort of shutters or frames for the windows that slide on both sides, contrary to those that are so formed as to be let up and down.
CORREDIÇA, See CORTINA.
CORREDIO, ex. Nó corredio, a slip knot.
Cabello corredio, See CABELLO.
CORREDO'R, f. m. a sort of gallery, or passage in the houses; also a spy in wars, a scout, one that goes out to discover, or to scour the country. See also ANDARIM.
Corredor, (in fortification) corridor, or covered way.
Ginete corredor, a hunting nag.
Corredores, the name of two currents in the bay of Lisbon.
Cardo corredor, See CARDO.
Corredor da folha, he who looks and takes care of the books wherein the names of the persons that are guilty are set down.
Corredor, he who runs in a race, a racer.
CORREDO'URA, f. f. See GALGA.
CORREEIRO, f. m. he who makes purses, scrips, or any other thing of leather, except shoes.
CORREENTO, a, adj. hard as leather, (speaking of fowls, geese, &c.)
CORREFERIDO, a, adj. See
CORREFERIR, v. n. or CORREFERIR-SE, v. r. to have a mutual relation to another.
CORREGEDO'R, f. m. the chief civil magistrate in every city or town of note, appointed by the king.
Corregedor do civil, a judge that takes cognizance of civil causes.
Corregedor do crime, the judge that takes cognizance of criminal causes.
CORREGEDORIA, the office or dignity of such magistrate.
CORREGÉR, v. a. to correct, to amend, to punish, to chastise.
Correger hum navio, to refit a ship, to repair it.

CORREGIDO, a, adj. See CORREGER.
Gente corrigida, (an antiquated phrase) people that are neatly dressed.
CORREGIMENTO, f. m. the stopping a leak, (speaking of ships that leak.)
CORREGO, f. m. a canal, or channel.
CORREIÇAM, f. f. so they call the going out of a corregedor to administer justice in the places belonging to his jurisdiction. See CORREGEDOR.
CORREJOLA, See CORRIJOLA.
CORRELAÇAM, f. f. a mutual relation to another.
CORRELATADO, See CORREFERIDO.
CORRELATAR, See CORREFERIR.
CORRELATIVO, a, adj. correlative, that has mutual relation.
CORRENÇA, f. f. See DIARRHEA.
CORRENTE, f. f. the current of a river, or of the sea.
Seguir a corrente, to run along with the stream, to go down the stream.
Hir contra a corrente, to go against the stream.
Seguir a corrente de alguém, to imitate a person.
Corrente, a chain for prisoners.
Corrente, course, progress.
Corrente, adj. running, that runs.
Corrente, (in heraldry) courant, running, or represented in a running posture.
Moeda corrente, current, or courant coin, or money.
Corrente, general, common, universal.
Estilo corrente, smooth, or easy style.
Verso corrente, a verse that runs smooth.
Corrente, courant, or current, a term used to express the present time; as, the year 1770 is the current year.
As dez do corrente, the tenth courant, the tenth day of the month now running.
Corrente, easy to be done.
Homem corrente, a man easy to be pleased, a man of gentle temper.
Estar corrente com alguém, to agree together.
Corrente, ready, inclined.
Corrente, free from cares.
Corrente, or VERSADO, which see.
Corrente, adv. expeditiously, easily, without hesitation.
Correntes, a sort of small tax.
CORRE'O, f. m. a courier, a post, a letter-carrier; also the post-office.
Correo de pé, a foot-post.
Correo mor, post-master-general.
CORRE'R, v. n. to run, to flow like liquor; also trickle, or trickle down, (speaking of tears.)
Correr com toda a pressa, to fly upon a full speed.
Correr a posta, to ride post.
Correr a cortina, to draw the curtain.
Correr risco, to run the hazard.
Corri risco de afogarme, I was like to be drowned.
Correr as ruas, to go from side to side, to gad or rove up and down as vagabonds do.
Correr tal vento, is for such a wind to blow.
Correr arvore seca, (sea language) to spoon, to lie a hull; a term used of a ship when she takes all her sails in, in a storm, because she cannot carry them.
Correr a campanha, (a military expression) to scour the country for intelligence.
Correr

Correr tormenta, to be tossed by the waves in a storm.

Este livro não corre em França, the reading of this book is forbidden in France.

Correr a moeda, is for coin to be current.

Correr huma eslocada, to run through with a sword.

Correr touros, to ride at the bulls, as gentlemen do in Portugal and Spain, with spears and on horseback.

Correr a argola, to run at the ring.

Correr o mundo, to go up and down the world, to travel about.

Correr os mares, to rove on, or up and down the sea.

Correr, (speaking of time) to run, slip, go, or pass away.

Correr de cá e de lá, to ramble about, to gad up and down.

Correr com algum negocio, to handle, or manage a business.

Correr a poz-de alguma couza, to run after a thing, ambitiously to seek after it.

Isso corre por minha conta, I'll take care of it, I'll be answerable for it.

Correr a voz, it is said, it is given out, or reported.

Fazer correr huma voz, to be the author of a report.

Correr, to reach, to be extended.

Esta razão não corre, this reason does not hold.

Correr a folha dos que estão presos, to turn over the book wherein the names of the prisoners are set down.

Corre-me a obrigação, it is my duty.

Correr o mesmo risco, to be in the same case.

A correr, or correndo, hastily, in full speed, in a hurry.

Correr, (speaking of liquids) viz.

Correr para baixo, to flow, to swim down.

Correr para dentro, to flow into, to run into.

Correr por meyo, to flow, or run between.

Correr alem, to flow, or run beyond.

Correr para algum lugar, to flow in.

Correr ao redor, to flow about.

Correr por baixo, to run, or flow under.

Correr juntamente, to flow together out of divers places.

Correr-se, v. r. See ENVERGONHAR-SE.

Corre-se, v. imp. they run.

CORRERIA, f. f. an excursion of soldiers.

CORRESPONDÊNCIA, f. f. correspondence, as by letters; also a return for a kindness received; also uniformity in building.

CORRESPONDENTE, f. m. correspondent.

Correspondente, adj. agreeable, answerable. See

CORRESPONDE'R, v. n. to correspond, answer, to agree with; also to make a return for a kindness.

Corresponder-se, v. r. to correspond, to hold a correspondence one with another.

CORRESPONDIDO. See CORRESPONDER.

CORRETA'GEM, f. f. brokerage.

CORRETO'R, f. m. a broker.

Corretor de amores, a pimp.

CORRIAM. } See { CORREAM.

CORRICO'CHE. } See { SEGE.

CORRIDA. } See { CURSO.

De corrida, hastily, in a hurry.

CORRIDO, a, adj. See the v. CORRER. See also ENVERGONHADO.

Navio de ponte corrida. See PONTE.

CORRIGIDO. See CORREGIDO.

CORRIGIR. See CORREGER.

CORRIJO'LA, or CORREJOLA, f. f. the herb knot-grass.

CORRI'LHO, f. m. See CONVENTICULO.

Fazer corrilhos, ou andar por corrilhos, to haunt the markets, or other public places.

CORRIMA'ÇA. See VAYA.

CORRIMA'M, f. m. the piece on the rails of the stairs on which we lay our hand as we go up or down. Passamano, Spanish.

De corrimão, or de corrida. See CORRIDA.

CORRIME'NTO, f. m. (in physis) a flowing of humours, or rheum.

CORRIO'LA, f. f. the herb withwind, or bind-weed; also a sort of play used by gypsies.

CORRIOLA, a vulgar word, signifying a scrape, secret, or plunge.

Fazer cabir alguém na corriola, to let one into a secret, to trick, or cheat him.

CORRIPO, f. m. a whirling or turning round.

CORRIQUEIRO. See TRIVIAL.

CO'RRO, f. m. a place to bait bulls.

CORROBORAÇAM, f. f. a corroboration, or strengthening.

CORROBORADO, a, adj. See CORROBORAR.

CORROBORANTE, adj. corroborative.

CORROBORAR, v. a. to corroborate, to strengthen a weak or feeble part, to confirm or make good an evidence, or argument.

CORROER, v. a. to corrode, or eat up.

CORROIDO, a, adj. See CORROER.

CORROMPE'R, v. a. to corrupt, to taint, deprive, debauch, spoil, adulterate, or mar; also to corrupt, bribe, or pervert.

Corrompêr-se, v. r. is for liquors to decay; also to corrupt.

CORROMPIDO, a, adj. corrupted, &c. according to the v. It is also said of a thing that was divulged, notwithstanding all endeavours to keep it secret.

CORROSA'M, f. f. corrosion.

CORROSIVIDADE, f. f. corrosiveness.

CORROSIVO, adj. corrosive.

Medicamento corrosivo, a corrosive, or corroding medicine.

CORRUÇAM, f. f. corruption, putrefaction, rottenness; also bribery; also alteration, change in languages.

CORRUPTAMENTE, adv. corruptly.

CORRUPTELA, f. f. corruption, depravation, only in the figurative.

CORRUPTIVEL, adj. corruptible.

CORRUPTO, a, adj. See CORRUMPIDO.

O Portuguez he hum Latim corrupto, Portuguese is a broken Latin.

CORRUPTO'R, f. m. a corruptor, a debaucher.

CORRUPTO'RA, f. f. a woman that corrupts, or spoils.

CO'RSA, and CORSO. See CORÇA, and CORÇO.

CORSA'RIO. See COSSARIO.

CO'RSO, f. m. (a sea term) a cruising.

Andar a corso, to cruise.

Corso, one of the most frequented streets in Rome.

CORTABO'LSAS, f. m. (a vulgar word) a cut-purse.

CORTADEIRA, or TALHADEIRA, f. f. an iron to make button-holes with; also a broad blade of a sword.

CORTADO, a, adj. cut; also spent, wasted, worn out.

Cortado, (retalhado.) See RETALHADO.

Cortado, (speaking of the ransom of a captive) ex. Em quanto foy cortado? how much is to be paid for his ransom?

Cortado de temor, despondent, frightened, astonished, amazed. See also APARADO, and the v. CORTAR.

CORTADO'R, a, adj. sharp, cutting.

Espada cortadora, a sharp cutting sword.

CORTADO'R, f. m. a butcher.

CORTADURA, f. f. a cut, a jag. See AMEA, and ENTRINCHEIRAMENTO.

CORTAME'NTO. See CORTADURA.

CORTAR, v. a. to cut.

Cortar em pedaços, to cut in pieces, or asunder.

Cortar huma arvore, to fell, or cut a tree.

Cortar a cabeça a alguém, to cut off one's head.

Cortar huma bolsa, to cut a purse.

Cortar o vestido, to cut a suit of cloaths.

Cortar a alguém de vestir, (metaph.) to slander, to rail, to back-bite, to speak ill of one.

Cortar por si, to desist, to cease, to leave off, to yield in order to avoid, or prevent a strife.

Cortar as unhas, to pare, cut, or clip the nails.

Cortar a erva, to mow the grass.

Cortar huma carta com hum trunfo, to ruff, to trump a card not a trump.

O que corta, a cutter.

O que corta lenha, a wood-cleaver, a feller of wood.

Cortar por todos, to have a satirical virulent tongue, to spare no body.

Cortar o coração. See CORAÇAM.

Cortar ou aparar o bico ao falcão, to cope, to pare the beak of a hawk.

Cortar as azas. See AZAS.

Cortar hum capão na mesa, to cut up a capon.

Cortar, (abreviar.) See ABREVIAR.

Cortar, (atalhar.) See ATALHAR.

Cortar, (pronunciar.) See PRONUNCIAR.

Cortar, (interromper.) See INTERROMPER.

Cortar largo, (a sea term) to sail away large.

Cortar, to end, to finish, to make an end, to lay aside, or leave off; also not to mind, nor make account of a thing.

Cousa que se pode cortar, that may be cut, cleaved, or taken asunder.

P. cortar o vestido conforme o paño, to cut one's coat according to the cloth.

Cortar ou aparar hum livro, to cut a book.

Cortar os mares, to sail.

Faz hum vento que corta a cara, there's a wind that cuts one's face, or there's a cutting wind.

Cortar os ares, to fly.

O vinagre corta os beiços, vinegar cuts the lips.

Cortar por si. See VIOLENTAR-SE.

Cortar a diliação, to cut off delays.

Cortar, DIMINUIR, ABATER, REPRI-MIR; see them in their proper places, (in a moral sense.)

Cortar ao redor, to clip, or cut round about.

Cortar pelo meyo, to cut in the midst, to hew asunder.

Cortar

Cortar hum pouco, to cut a little.
Cortar-se, v. a. to cut one's self.
CORTE, f. f. the court of a prince, the place where the prince resides.
A corte do grão Turco. See PORTA OTHOMANA.
Fazer corte, to endeavour to please, to make one's court to a prince.
Dia de corte, court day.
Homem de corte, a courtier, a follower of the court.
Causa da corte, court-like, of the court, belonging to the court.
Côrte, f. m. the edge. See also CORTA-DURA.
Corte da espada, the edge of a sword.
Espada com duas cortes, a two-edged sword.
De corte, with the edge, with a cutting blow.
Dar de corte, to cut, to slash.
Corte da mata, the felling of wood.
Corte de pano, seda, &c. any quantity of cloth, silk, &c. that does not come to a piece.
Este corte he bastante para hum vestido, there is cloth enough to make a suit of cloaths.
Corte, a medium, or expedient, terms of the composition of a difference.
Dar hum corte, to come to a medium.
Corte de cavallos, stables.
Corte de boys, an ox-stall.
Corte de ovelhas, a sheep-fold.
Corte de porcos, a hog's sty.
Corte de cabras, a house for goats.
CORTEJA'DO, a, adj. See
CORTEJA'R, v. a. to make one's court to a prince, or some other person, to attend, to court.
Cortejar as senhoras, to court the ladies.
CORTEJO, f. m. attendance, train, or retinue.
CORTELHO de porcos. See POSILGA.
CORTES, f. f. p. the estates, or the assembly of the three estates of the kingdom, viz. the clergy, nobility, and commonalty. The first cortes in the kingdom of Portugal were held at Lamego.
Fazer cortes, is for the three estates to assemble, meet, or get together.
Chamar a côrtes, to call or assemble the three estates.
CORTEZ, adj. courteous, civil, affable, kind.
CORTEZAM, f. m. a courtier, a follower of the court. See also CORTEZ.
Bispo cortezão, a titular bishop in the king's chapel in Portugal.
CORTEZANIA, f. f. courtliness, civility, courtesy, a courtier's manners.
CORTEZIA, f. f. civility, kindness, courtesy, good manners; also a bow, a reverence, a courtesy, obeisance, an act of reverence by inclination of the body.
Fazer mal huma cortezia, to scrape a leg.
CORTEZMENTE, adv. courteously, kindly, civilly.
CORTIÇA, f. f. a rind, or bark. It is generally taken for the cork or bark of the cork-tree.
Rolha de cortiça, a cork.
Tapar com rolha de cortiça, to cork, to stop with a cork.
CORTIÇO, f. m. a hive, or bee-hive; also a sort of bird.
Lugar acêde estaç os cortiços, the place where bee-hives stand.

CORTIDO, a, adj. soaked, steeped, watered, softened by watering; also tanned.
Cortido, spent, wasted, worn out.
CORTIDO'R, f. m. a tanner.
CORTIME'NTO, f. m. tanning.
Cortimento dos vinhos, the making of wine by separating the grapes from the stalks to take the roughness from it.
CORTINA, f. f. a curtain.
Ornar com cortinas, to curtain.
Cortina da cama, a bed-curtain.
Cortina da janella, window-curtain.
Correr ou jêcher a cortina. See FECHAR.
Correr, ou abrir a cortina, to draw the curtain, to open it so as to discern the object.
Varam, ou verga de ferro por donde correm as cortinas da cama, the lath of a bed, or curtain-rod.
CORTINA, (in fortification) curtain, the part of the wall or rampart that runs from one bastion to another.
CORTINA'DO, f. m. a set of curtains.
CORTIR, v. a. to soak, to make soft by steeping; also to tan or dress with tan.
Cortir os vinhos, to make wine by separating the grapes from the stalks to take the roughness from it.
Cortir couros, to tan, to curry, or dress leather.
Cortir, to inure or accustom, to exercise, or train up.
Cortir-se com o trabalho, to inure one's self to hardship.
Cortir a pelle, (metaph.) to slander, to rail, to back-bite.
Cortir a cal, to slake lime.
CORUCHE'O, or CURUCHE'O. See PI-NACULO.
Corucho sobre columna, the chapter of a pillar.
CORVEJADO. See
CORVEJA'R, v. n. to stickle, to mind a thing and apply himself earnestly and vigorously to it. From Corvo, a crow; because the crows stick to the dead bodies, when once they have begun to eat them.
CORVINA, f. f. a sort of sea-fish; so called, because its fins are as black as a crow.
CORU'JA, or CURU'JA, f. f. owl, the great owl.
CORUNHA, f. f. Corunna, commonly called the Groyne; it is the ancient Brigantium in Galicia, a maritime province of Spain.
CO'RVO, f. m. a crow.
Gritar o corvo, to caw as a crow.
Corvo marinho, a cormorant, a sea-raven.
P. criayo corvo tiravos-há o olho; it is said of a person that being received in distress, defrauds, or grows too great for him that entertained him.
Corvo, one of the Azores islands, in the Atlantic Ocean. It lies north of Flores, from which it is divided by a channel, about two miles in breadth. It is only three miles in circuit, has two harbours, and is subject to Portugal.
CORUSCANTE, adj. coruscant, flashing, glittering by flashes. Lat. coruscus.
CORUTO, f. m. the top, or round-top of any herb, wherein the seed lieth.

CO'S das calças, the waistband of the breeches; also a little doublet worn by women.
Cor, i. e. com os, with the; ex. cor olhos, with the eyes.
COSCORAM, f. m. a fritter, or pan-cake.
CO'SCORO, it is said of linen, cloth, &c. that is wrinkled and stiffened after being washed.
COSCORRAM, f. m. a box on the ear. F. om Costa, the head, in old Spanish.
COSCORRINHO, f. m. that which a son or slave holdeth of their own, under a father, or a master, and is distinct from either of their stocks.
COSCUZEIRO. See CUSCUZEIRO.
COSEITO, an antiquated word. See COZIDO.
COSE'R, v. a. to sew as a taylor, or sempstress.
Cozer ao lume para cozinhar. See COZER.
Cozer-se com a terra, to lie flat upon the ground; also to coast along, to keep to the shore.
Cozer a punhaladas, to stab or kill with a dagger.
COSIDO, com agulha. See the v. CO-SER.
Cosido ao lume. See COZIDO.
COSTINHA. See COZINHA.
CO'SMICO, (in astronomy) cosmic; ex. nascimento, ou pôr cósmico, the rising or setting of a star, &c. with the sun; also the ascending above the horizon, or descending below it, (according to Kepler.) Greek.
Cósmico, f. m. See GLOBO.
COSMOGRAPHIA, f. f. cosmography. Greek.
COSMOGRA'PHICO, a, adj. cosmographical, of, or pertaining to cosmography.
COSMOGRAPHO, f. m. a cosmographer, one skilled in cosmography.
COSMOLA'BIO, f. m. cosmolabe, an ancient mathematical instrument for measuring distances both in the heavens and on the earth.
COSPIDO. } See { CUSPIDO.
COSPIR. } See { CUSPIR.
COSSARIO, f. m. corsair, pirate, or robber by sea.
CO'SSE, f. m. (in India) a measure containing two thousand four hundred, or two thousand five hundred geometrical paces.
CO'SSO, f. m. ex. Andar a cosso, to pirate, to cruise.
Tomar a cosso, is for a corsair to take a ship.
Tomar lebres a cosso, to reach, or over-reach the hares.
COSSOLE'TE, f. m. a corselet, an armour for a pike-man.
COSSO'UROS do navio, trucks, (in a ship.)
CO'STA, f. f. ex. Costa do mar, sea coast.
Navegar costa a costa, to coast along, to keep close to the shore.
Dar a costa, to run a-ground, or on shore.
Costa da mão, the back of the hand.
Costa do monte para baixo, a declivity.
Costa arriba, a bending upwards, steepness.
Costa, a rib.
Costa do outeiro, the ridge of an hill.
Costas do navio, ribs, or side timber of a ship.

Costa de biscuito, a piece of biscuit.
Costa de sapateiro, the wedge shoe-makers drive in upon the last to raise the shoe on the instep.
COSTA'DO, f. m. side, or line of confangulnity.
Costados do navio, the planks that are laid upon a ship's sides after she is built.
COSTAL, f. m. a sack.
Costal de carne, as much flesh as a man can carry upon his back.
COSTANE'IRA, f. f. See ALA.
Costaneira, or papel costaneiro, waste-paper.
COSTAS, f. f. p. the back.
Guardar as costas, to back a man, to stand by him.
Virar as costas a alguém, to turn one's back to one; also to forsake one. (Metaph.)
Dar as costas, to run away, to betake one's self to flight, or to one's heels.
Hir nas costas de alguém, to be at the heels of another, to be close at his heels, to pursue him close.
Costas com costas, back to back.
Pôr tudo sobre as costas de alguém, to lay all on one's back, to lay all the burden, or charge upon him, (both in the proper and figurative sense.)
Costas do papel, the backside of a leaf.
Cabir de costas, the fall on one's back.
Costas da cheminê, the back of a chimney.
Pancada com as costas da mão, a back-blow, or back-stroke.
Por detrás das costas, behind the back.
Eu o tomarei às costas, I'll take him up behind me.
Fallar mal de alguém por detrás das costas, to back-bite one, to rail at one behind his back, or when he is absent.
O que falla mal de alguém por detrás das costas, a back-biter.
Deitar alguém de costas, to turn upward, to lay one on his back.
Que está de costas, turned with the belly upward, lying along on his back.
Ter as costas quentes em alguém, to be backed, or supported by one. (Metaph.)
Ca para traz das costas, (a low and vulgar expression) by no means.
Deitar uma coisa para traz das costas, to forget a thing, to make slight of it.
COSTE'ADO, a, adj. See
COSTE'A'R, v. a. to coast along, to keep close to the shore.
COSTE'IRO. See COSTA do couteiro.
COSTE'LA, f. f. a rib; also a sort of snare for birds.
COSTILHA, f. f. a sort of snare for falcons.
COSTO, f. m. a kind of shrub growing in Syria and Persia, having a root of a most pleasant spicy smell.
COSTO'ENS. See CASTOENS.
COSTRA, f. f. crust, scurf, or scab.
COSTUM'ADO. See ACOSTUMADO.
COSTUM'A'R. See ACOSTUMAR.
COSTUM'A-SE, v. imp. it is wont, it is the custom.
COSTU'ME, f. m. custom, usage, use, way.
Ter por costume, to be wont, to use.
He contra o meu costume, o sabir a estas horas, it is not my way, or I am not used to go out at this time.
Fazer tomar hum costume, to accustom, to inure, to use one to a thing.
COSTU'MES, f. m. p. morals, manners.

COSTURA, f. f. a sewing, or seam; also the joint of two boards.
Assentar as costuras, to beat down the seams.
Costuras do navio, the seams of a ship.
Lançar breo quente nas costuras do navio, to pay the seams of a ship.
COSTURA, the linen that is cut and ready to be sewed.
COSTURA, the task or work one is to do. (Metaph.)
COSTURE'IRA, f. f. a seamstress.
COTA, f. f. a coat of mail; also a long sort of coat used formerly, or rather a vest hanging to the middle of the leg, like a short cassock, very full of plaits, with wide sleeves, and train; also a petticoat; also a sort of large sea-fish.
Cota, annotation, note, remark, observation. See the v. COTAR.
Cota, a surplice. From the Italian Cotta. This word is used by Vieira.
Cota de faca, the back of a knife.
CORTA'DO, a, adj. See COTAR.
COTAM, f. m. the nap that comes off from the cloth by rubbing it; also cotton, down, mossiness.
COTAR, v. a. ex. Cotar hum livro, to write notes in the margin of a book.
COTEJA'DO. See COMPARADO.
COTEJA'R. See COMPARAR.
COTE'JO, f. m. a very little man, a dwarf, a dandiprat.
COTHU'RNO. See COTURNO.
COTIA, f. f. a sort of beast in the Brazils, not unlike the rabbit; also a sort of ship in India.
COTICA, (in heraldry) cotice, or cotise.
COTIDIANAME'NTE, adv. daily.
COTIDIA'NO, a, adj. daily, that happens every day.
COTTO, a, adj. that is easily dried, or baked.
COTITTA, f. f. Cotytto, the goddess of wantonness.
COTO, f. m. ex. Coto de vela, snuff, or a candle almost burnt out.
Coto de aza, that part of a wing from the joint towards the body of a bird; also the stump of a limb that has been cut off.
Coto, f. m. a little sword, or rapier.
COTO'NIAS, f. f. p. (an Indian word) a sort of fine fustian, dimity.
COTOVAL, f. m. a sort of judge in India.
COTOVELA'DA, f. f. a hunch.
COTOVELA'DO. See ACOTOVELADO.
COTOVELA'R. See ACOTOVELAR.
COTOVELO, f. m. the elbow; also a corner turning, bending, or winding, (speaking of rivers, sea, &c.) (Metaph.) See ANCO.
Rio que faz cotovelo, a river that makes an angle, or elbow.
COTOVIA, f. f. a lark.
P. se cabir o ceo matará todas as cotovias; we say, if the sky fall we shall catch larks.
Quid si cælum ruat? the Latins say. See also ESPELHO.
COTU'RNO, f. m. a sort of buskin; also a tragedy. It is only used by the poets. From the Lat. coturnus.
COTYTO. See COTITTA.
CO'VA, f. f. hole, ditch, pit; also the grave.
Alimpar huma cova de lodo, ou de lama, to cleanse a ditch of mud.

Cova de plantar arvores, a ditch, dike, furrow.
COVA da mão, the hollow of the hand.
COVA na barba, a dimple.
COVA dos olhos, eye-hole.
COVA soterranea, a cavern under ground.
COVA de ladroens, a house of thieves, or the place where they meet; a lurking hole for thieves.
COVA do ladraõ, so the women call the hollow of the hinder part of the head.
COVA do dente, the hollow of the tooth.
Estar cos pés na cova, to be very old, to be at the pit's brink, or death's door.
COVADO, f. m. a measure used in Portugal, which contains three quarters of a yard, or a Flemish ell.
COVAM, f. m. a deep and large ditch, or den; also the grave.
Covaõ de gallinbas. See COVO.
Covaõ de pescar, a sort of weel to take fishes. See also COLMEAL.
COVARDE. } See { COBARDE.
COVARDIA. } See { COBARDIA.
COVA'TO, f. m. (in agriculture) a little ditch or furrow.
Covato, a piece of ground for burying dead persons.
COUCE, f. m. a kick, or spurn; also the butt end of a musket; also the recoiling of it.
Tirar couces, to kick, to spurn; also to speak or behave rascally. (Metaph.)
O que tira couces, he who kicks, a kicker.
Hum tira couces, a rogue, a knave, a scoundrel.
Couce da porta, the socket on which a door turns.
Couce da procissão, the latter end of a procession.
COUCEADO'R, he who kicks, a kicker.
COUCE'IRA, f. f. See COUCE da porta.
COVCELLOS, COUSELLOS. See CONCHELLOS.
COUCOE'IRA, f. f. a little cup, goblet; also a thick board that comes from the Brazils: this sort of boards are used to make doors.
COUDE'L mor, the commander of a troop or company; also the officer that takes care of stone-horses kept for covering mares.
COUDELARIA, f. f. the office of taking care of stone-horses, &c. See COUDEL mór.
COVE'IRO, f. m. a grave-maker.
COVE'LLO, f. m. a small ditch.
COVIL, f. m. a den of wild beasts, lurking hole.
Covil do leão. See LEONEIRA.
Covil de ladroens. See COVA de ladroens.
Covil de lebre. See CAMA de lebre.
COVILHE'TE, f. m. a patty-pan, to make little pies in, and thence the pies themselves; also a juggler's cup, or box. See also DADO.
COV'NHA, f. f. a little hole, or pit, diminut. from Cova.
Covinha que os rapazes fazem parar jogar, cherry-pit, or chuck-hole.
Jogo da covinha, the play called chuck-farthing.
Covinha, a dimple in the cheek, that is seen when one laughs.
COULIFLO'R, or COLIFLOR. See COLIFLOR.
CO'VO, f. m. ex. Covo de gallinbas, a pyramidal midal basket of osiers, bulrush, &c. to keep the hen and chickens.

Covo de pescar. See COVAM de pescar.
CO'URA, f. f. a leather jerkin.
Coura de anta, a buff-coat.
COURAÇA, f. f. a cuirass, an armour for the back and breast; also a cuirassier, a horseman armed with a cuirass; but now it means a soldier that wears a leather jerkin, or buff-coat.
Curaca, (in the ancient fortifications) a work cast up about a besieged city to defend the besieged from sallies; a breast-work.
COURA'IA. See COURO.
COURE'LLA, f. f. a long and narrow piece of ground.
CO'URO, f. m. a hide, a skin.
Diraço que se paga pelos couros, pellage.
Entre o couro e a carne, between the skin and the flesh.
CO'USA, f. f. a thing.
Alguna coisa, something, somewhat.
Couza de duas legoas, about two leagues.
COUSE'LLOS. See CONCHELLOS.
COUS'NHA, a small thing, a trifle, diminut. from Couza.
COUTA'DA, f. f. a park, a piece of ground inclosed and stored with wild beasts of chase; also a large track of land, wherein no person can catch any game without permission; else he becomes a poacher.
COUTA'DO. See COITADO.
COUTE'IRO, f. m. a keeper of a park.
CO'UTO, f. m. a place of refuge or security, a shelter.
CO'UVE, f. f. cabbage, a colewort.
Couve murciana, crisp cabbage.
Couve do mar. See SOLDANELLA.
Grela de couve, the young sprout of coleworts.
CO'XA, f. f. the thigh.
Parte de dentro da coxa, the twist, or the hollow of the thigh.
Parte de dentro da coxa do cavallo, gaskins.
Parte mais alta da coxa, the hip, or haunch, the huckle bone, the joint of the hip.
COXE'ADO. See
COXE'AR, v. n. to go lame, to limp, to halt.
COXPA, f. f. (in a galley) the coursey.
Peça de coxia, the great gun on the prow.
Coxia, (in a stable for horses) the distance from a post or stake to another, the places where the horses are.
Carrer a coxia, to go from one place to another, to ramble about, to gad up and down.
COXIM, f. m. See ALMOFADA.
CO'XO, a, adj. lame, cripple, halt.
COXO'TE, f. m. a sort of defensive arm.
COZ. See COS.
COZE'R, v. a. to do, to boil, dress; also to ripen, to bring to ripeness; also to concoct, to digest.
Cozer a borracheira. See BORRACHEIRA.
Tempo necessario para cozer huma couza, boiling, baking, dressing.
Cozer no forno, to bake.
Fazer cozer muito alguma couza, to over-boil.
Cozer tijolos, to burn bricks.
Cozer a telha, &c. to aneal, to harden tiles, &c. in the fire.
Cozer cachimbos, to bake tobacco-pipes;

Isto coze-se logo, this is soon done, or dressed.
Cozer com agulha. See COSER.
COZI'DO, a, adj. See COZER.
COZIDU'RA, f. f. ex. Cozadura de fava, ervilhas, &c. such quantity of beans, peas, &c. that will serve once.
COZIME'NTO, f. m. boiling baking, dressing. See also DIGESTAM.
COZINHA, f. f. kitchen.
Bicho da cozinha, a scullion, the lowest domestic servant, that washes the kettles and the dishes in the kitchen.
Arte da cozinha, cookery.
Lugar da cozinha em que se esfrega e lavam os pratos, &c. scullery.
Saber de cozinha, to understand cookery.
Trafes da cozinha, kitchen-tackling.
Fazer a cozinha. See COZINHAR.
Moça da cozinha, a kitchen-maid, or a kitchen-wench.
COZINHA'DO, a, adj. See
COZINHA'R, v. a. to cook, to dress. See GUISAR.
COZINHE'IRA, f. f. a woman cook.
COZINHE'IRO, f. m. a cook.
Cozinheiro mor, a master-cook.
ÇOC and ÇOT. See SOC and SOT.
CRA'CA, f. f. a channel, furrow, hollow gutter, or strake in rabating of pillars.
Parte da columna mais levantada entre bu-ma, e outra craca, a ridge.
Craca, a sort of shell-fish; also sea-weeds that stick under a ship, and make her sail heavy.
CRACO'VIA, f. f. Cracow, the capital of the whole kingdom of Poland, in the palatinate of the same name. It has been no less than nine times burnt.
CRA'NEO, f. m. the brain-pan.
CRA'PULA, f. f. a surfeit by too much eating, or drinking. Lat.
CRASSAMENTE, adv. rudely, bunglingly.
CRASSIDA'M, f. f. thickness, grossness.
CRA'SSO, a, adj. thick, gross.
Ignorancia crassa, gross ignorance.
CRA'STA, f. f. (An antiquated word.) See CLAUSTRO.
CRA'STINO, a, adj. of to-morrow. From the Lat. crastinus.
CRAVAÇAM, f. f. many nails set in order to fasten a thing, or to stud it.
CRAVA'DO, a, adj. See
CRAVA'R, v. a. to nail, to fasten with nails, to strike a nail into a place. From Cravo, a nail; also to thrust into, to stick into.
Cravou-lhe o punhal no peito, he stuck the dagger into his breast, he has stabbed him.
Cravar os olhos em alguém, to fix one's eyes upon one, to look steadfastly at him.
Com os olhos cravados, with a steady look.
Cravar o pensamento em alguma coisa, to mind a thing, and apply earnestly and vigorously to it. (Metaph.)
Cravar, ou bater o ouro sobre a pedra, to set a stone in gold.
CRAVA'TA, f. f. a cravat.
GRAVEJA'DO, a, adj. See
GRAVEJA'R, v. a. ex. cravejar o cavallo, to fasten, or to put the nails that are wanting in a horse-shoe.
GRAVE'IRA, f. f. the holes in a horse-shoe; also a shoe-maker's size.

CRAVE'IRO, f. m. a pot to keep pinks in; also the tree that bears cloves.
Palmo craveiro, a span according to the standard.
Craveiro da ordem de Christo. See CLAVEIRO.
CRAVE'TE, f. m. the tongue of a buckle.
CRAY'NA. See CLAVINA.
CRAVIO'RGAM. See CLAVIORGAM.
CRAVO, f. m. a small nail; also a pink.
Cravo da India, clove, a sort of spice.
Cravo, a sort of ring-worm, or tetter; also a sort of corn in the toe, or elsewhere.
Cravo, an harpsichord.
CRE'.
CREAÇAM. } See { CREDA.
CREA'DO. } { CRACAM.
CREA'R. } { CRADO.
CREA'R. } { CRAR.
CREATU'RA, &c. See CRATURA, &c.
CRECE'NÇA, f. f. the overplus in measure of corn, weight of bread, &c.
CRECE'NTE, f. m. a crescent, or half moon.
Crecente da lua, the increase of the moon.
Crecente. See FERMENTO.
Crecente, p. act. ex. Lua crecente, half-moon.
Crecente, f. f. ex. Crecente do rio, the swelling of a river.
Crecente, heat, ardour, vehemence, the height, or highest pitch of any thing. (In a moral sense.)
Crecente da maré. See ENCHENTE.
CRECE'R, v. n. to grow, to increase; also to abound, to be superfluous, or over and above.
Deixar crescer, to let grow.
Tornar a crescer, to grow, spring, or sprout up again.
CREC'DO. See CRECER.
CRECIME'NTO. See AUGMENTO.
Cremento da febre, the fit of a fever.
CREDE'NCIA, f. f. the table which is covered by the altar, on which stands the wine, water, and other necessary things for the mass.
CREDENCIA'L, adj. ex. Cartas credenciaes, ou de crenca, credentials.
CREDENCIA'RIO, f. m. he that has charge of the credencia.
CREDIBILIDA'DE, f. f. credibility.
CRE'DITO, f. m. credence, credit, or belief.
Homem digno de credito, a credible man.
Dar credito a alguma coisa, to give credence to a thing.
Credito, credit, name, esteem, reputation, power.
Ter grande credito para com alguém, to be great with one.
Credito entre mercadores, public credit among merchants.
CRE'DO, f. m. the Belief, the Creed; so called because the first word of it in Latin is credo, I believe.
Em menos de hum credo, in less time than a man will be saying his Creed; that is, in a trice, in a moment.
CREDO'R. See ACREDOR.
CREDULIDA'DE, f. f. a credulity, easiness or readiness to believe.
CRE'DULO, a, adj. credulous, apt to believe, or give credit.
CRE'VEL. See CRIVEL.
CREMESIM. See CARMESIM.
CREMO'R

CREMO'R de cevada, the thick juice of barley.

Cremer de tartaro, or Sal de tartaro, salt of tartar. (Among chemists.)

CRE'NÇA, f. f. See RELIGIAM.

Cartas de crença, credentials, or letters of credit.

CRE'NCHA, f. f. the partition of the hair, or the hair curiously parted on the forehead.

CRE'NTE, p. act. of crer, a believer.

CRE'PE, f. m. (a sort of stuff) crape.

CREPITA'DO. See CREPITAR.

CREPITA'NTE, p. act. crackling, making a noise.

CREPITA'R, v. a. to crepitate, to crackle, as laurel, &c. in the fire.

CREPUD'INA, f. f. toadstone.

CREPUSCULA'R, v. a. to darken, to dim, to cloud.

CREPU'SCULO, f. m. twilight, crepuscule.

CRER, v. a. to believe.

CRERIZIA', f. f. See CLERO.

CRESCE'R. See CRECER.

CRESCE'DO, &c. See CRECIDO, &c.

CRESPA'M, f. m. a sort of cripped, and fine woollen stuff.

CRESPIDA'M, f. f. roughness, unevenness.

CRE'SPO, a, adj. crisped, curled, frizled; also curled or shaken with the wind, somewhat swollen or blown up.

Estilo crespo, bombast.

Escrever com estilo crespo, to write bombast.

Crêspo, f. m. curl, or curling.

CRE'STA, f. f. ex. Tempo da cresta das colmeas, the time of taking honey, or driving of the hives.

Dar huma cresta, (metaph.) to rob, to spoil, to plunder, to make a prey of.

Cresta colmeas, f. m. he who takes the honey away from the hives.

CRESTA'DO, a, adj. See CRESTAR.

CRESTA'M, f. m. a gelded he-goat, a buck.

CRESTAR, v. a. ex. Crestar colmeas, to take the honey away from the hives; also to burn somewhat, or a little; also to rob, to spoil, to plunder, to make a prey of.

CRE'VE, f. m. (in St. Ubes) so they call the man sent by the captains of foreign ships to score the quantity of salt that is sent aboard. From the Dutch kerwor, he who scores, or marks with chalk, &c.

CRÍ, or CRIS, f. m. a sort of dagger used by the inhabitants of Malacca, or Malaya.

CR'IA, f. f. a colt, or foal, a filly, a young horse, or mare.

Cria, (in cant) beef.

CRIAÇA'M, f. f. education, educating; also creation, the making, or being made out of nothing; also creation, creating; also the young of any creature; also an establishment, or establishing.

Os da criação del-rey. See DONZEL.

CRIDA, f. f. a woman, or maid servant.

Criada que acompanha fora de casa á sua senhora, a waiting maid or woman.

CRIDE'IRA, f. f. a good female nourisher, feeder, or maintainer.

Gallinha criadeira. See GALLINHÁ.

CRIDI'LHA. See TUBARA.

CRIDA'DO, a, adj. made out of nothing. See

CRÍAR, and CRÍAR-SE.

Criado, (ensinado) brought up, educated.

Mal criado, ill-bred.

Menino bem criado, a child well educated.

Bem criado, well fleshed, plump, fat.

Criado, f. m. a servant.

Criado parente, one that has been educated, bred, or brought up at the house of some of his kindred.

Criado (Moço fidalgo.) See FIDALGO.

CRIDA'DO'R, f. m. a creator, a maker.

CRIDA'DO'RA, f. f. she who makes, or creates.

CRIDA'DO'R, a, adj. that nourishes, or makes grow up (speaking of the weather); also fertile, fruitful, (speaking of the land.)

CRIA'NÇA, f. f. a child. See also ME-NINO.

Criança de peito, a child that sucks, a sucking child.

Criança que se deixou ao desamparo, mas foy achada, a foundling, an infant exposed, or left in any place, and found there.

Criança que se poem em lugar de outra, a changeling, a child put in the place of another.

Criança das abelhas, a young bee just formed.

CRÍAR, v. a. to create; also to nurse, to breed; also to bring forth, to produce; also to nurse, to breed, to nourish, to feed.

Criar magistrados, to create magistrates.

Criar minas de carozo, (a canting phrase) to be very rich.

Criar ao peito, to suckle, or give suck.

Criar sem ser ao peito, to bring up a child by hand.

Criar hum menino ensinando-lhe os bons costumes, to bring up a child to good manners.

O que sabe criar bem os meninos, a good breeder of children.

Cordeiro, &c. que se cria a mão, a lamb, &c. brought up by hand, cosset.

Criar cabelo, to wear a beard, to let his hair grow.

CRÍAR-SE, v. r. ex. Criar-se alguma coisa sobre outra, to grow upon.

Criar-se huma coisa no meyo de outra, to grow, or spring up amongst.

CRÍATUR'A, f. f. a creature, a created being.

Criatura que acaba de nascer, a babe, or child delivered.

Criatura, creature, one that has been made or preferred by another, and owes his fortune and rise to him.

CRÍATURYNHA, f. f. a little creature, diminut. of Criatura; also a poor creature.

CRÍDO, a, adj. believed.

CRÍME, f. m. a crime.

Crime infame, a naughty, or base action, a scandalous crime.

Crime capital, a capital crime.

Crime de lesa magestade de primeira e segunda cabeça, high treason.

Fazer hum grande crime, to perpetrate or commit a great crime.

Purgar-se de hum crime, to clear one's self from a crime, to justify one's self.

Escrevão do crime, a clerk, or register of a criminal court.

Juiz do crime, a judge in criminal causes.

CRIMEME'NTE. See CRIMINALMEN-TE.

CRIME'ZA, f. f. See RIGOR, and SEVERIDADE.

CRIMINACA'M, f. f. an accusation.

CRIMINA'DO, a, adj. See CRIMINAR.

CRIMINA'L, adj. criminal; also severe, crabbed.

CRIMINALME'NTE, adv. criminally.

CRIMINAR, v. act. to accuse any one of a crime.

CRIMINO'SO, f. m. a criminal, offender.

CRINA, or CRINE, f. f. the mane of a horse, or other beast.

Crinas do cometa, the beams of a comet.

Erva crina. See ERVA.

CRIN'TO, a, adj. that has a mane.

Cometa crinito, a hairy comet.

CRIO'LO, f. m. a home-born slave.

CRIO'ULA, f. f. ex. Gallinha crioula, a hen that is born in one's house.

Crioula, a bond-woman that is born in the house.

CRIS, f. m. ex. Sol cris, lua cris, an eclipse of the sun or moon. See also CRÍ.

CRISA'DA, f. f. a stroke or blow with the CRÍ, which see.

CRISE. See CRIZE.

Crise, a sort of fine woollen cloth, worn by some friars.

CRISEO. } See CHRYSEO.

CRISMA. } See CHRISMA.

CRISMA'DO, a, adj. See

CRISMA'R, v. a. to anoint with chrism, or holy oil, to confirm.

CRISO'L. See CHRY SOL.

CRISO'LITO. See CHRY SOLITO.

CRISOPRASO. See CHRY SOPRASO.

CRISTA, f. f. the comb of a cock, or hen.

Gallinha de crista. See GALLINHÁ.

Abatoras cristas. See ABATER.

Jogar as cristas, to fight. (Metaph.)

Crista de gallo, a sort of tree; also a sort of herb, having leaves like the tuft of feathers in the crown of a cock, louse-herb, or red rattle-grass.

CRISTA'L, or CRYSTAL, f. m. crystal.

CRISTALE'IRA, f. f. a woman that gives-glitters.

CRISTAL'INO, a, adj. crystalline.

Humor cristalino, crystalline humour, or icy humour, (with oculists.)

Ceas cristalinos, the crystalline heavens, or two spheres, supposed by the astronomers of old.

CRISTALLIZADO, a, adj. See

CRISTALLIZA'R, v. a. to crystallize.

CRISTANDA'DE, f. f. See CHRISTAN-DADE.

CRISTE'L, f. m. a glister.

CRÍTICA, f. f. criticism, the art of criticising; also a censure.

CRÍTICA'DO, a. See

CRÍTICA'R, v. a. to criticise, to play the critic, to judge and censure a man's actions, words, or writings; to examine nicely, to find fault with.

CRÍTICO, f. m. a critic, or fault-finder.

Crítico, a, adj. ex. Dia critico, ou dia em que se faz a crize, a critical day, or a day of crisis.

Hora critica, the critical hour.

Apostema critico, an imperfect crisis.

CRIVA'DO, a, adj. sifted. See CRIVAR.

CRIVA'NTES, (in cant) the teeth.

CRIVAR.

C R U

CRIVAR, v. a. to sift; also to shoot through and through in twenty places.
CRIVEL, adj. credible, to be believed, or credited.
CRIVO, f. m. a sieve.
CRIZE, or CRIZIS, f. f. (among physicians) crisis.
Crize perfeita, ou imperfeita, a perfect, or imperfect crisis.
CRO, the cackling of hens; also a play at cards.
CROÇA. See COROÇA.
CROÇAL, f. m. a precious-stone like a cherry.
CROCITA'DO. See
CROCITAR, v. n. to croak like a raven, or crow.
A açam de crocitar, the croaking of crows, or ravens.
CROCODILO, f. m. a crocodile, a very large beast in the shape of a lizard, living both on the land and in the water.
Lágrimas de crocodilo, crocodile's tears, or treacherous tears.
CROCO'TA, ou CROCU'TA, f. f. a kind of mongrel beast in Ethiopia.
CROCUS metallorum, a kind of impure opaque glass of antimony. Crocus metallorum.
CROCUTA. See CROCOTA.
CRONA'TICO, (in music) chromatics, a delightful and pleasant sort of music.
CRO'NHA, f. f. the stock of a gun, pistol, &c.
CRO'NICA, or CHRO'NICA, f. f. chronicle, a history according to the order of time.
CRO'NICO, a, adj. ex. Doenças crônicas, chronic diseases, as the gout, stone, &c.
CRONISTA, f. m. chronicler, a writer of chronicles.
CRONOGRÁFIA, f. f. chronology.
CRONO'GRAFO, f. m. a chronologist.
CRONOLOGIA. See CRONOGRÁFIA.
CRONO'LOGO. See CRONOGRÁFO.
CRO'QUE, f. m. a grapple, or grappling iron.
CRU, a, adj. raw; also undigested.
Humor cru, a crude humour.
Meio cru, half raw.
Seda crua, raw silk.
Cru, (speaking of linen cloth) never whitened nor washed.
Carne crua, raw meat.
Cru, cruel, fierce, bloody.
CRUAMENTE, adv. austere, roughly; also rudely, or uncivilly; also cruelly.
CRUCIFEROS, or MINISTROS dos enfermos, a religious order founded by St. Camillus de Lellis, their employment is to serve and wait upon the sick; this congregation was confirmed by pope Sixtus V. in 1586; also another religious order founded in 1160, under Alexander III.
CRUCIFERO, a, adj. that has a cross.
CRUCIFICA'DO, a, adj. See
CRUCIFICA'R, v. a. to crucify, to nail to a cross. See also MORTIFICAR.
CRUCIFIXO, f. m. a crucifix.
Crucifixo, a, adj. crucified.
CRUEL, adj. cruel, fierce, bloody.
CRUELDADE, f. f. cruelty, inhumanity.
Com crueldade, cruelly, inhumanly.
Crueldade para com os estrangeiros, inhospitability.

C U B

pitability.
CRUELME'NTE, adv. cruelly, inhumanly.
CRUE'NTO, a, adj. See SANGUINOLENTO.
CRUE'ZA, f. f. crudity, ill digestion. See also CRUELDADE.
CRU'SCA, the name of the famous academy in Florence.
CRU'STA, f. f. a crust, scurf, or scab.
CRU'TA, f. f. a sort of sea-fish, called sea-bream.
CRUZ, f. f. a cross; also a cross, an affliction, trouble.
Cruz, ou sinal que fazem os que não sabem escrever, a mark or character made by those who cannot write their names.
Cruz no fim do peçoço do cavallo, a horse's withers.
Fazer o sinal da cruz, to make the sign of the cross.
Cruz em aspa, a cross made after the form of the letter X.
Em cruz, cross-wise.
Por huma couza em cruz com outra, to put a thing cross-wise.
Terra de Santa Cruz. See BRASIL.
CRUZADA, f. f. crusade, the expedition of the Christian princes for the conquest of the Holy Land.
CRUZADO, f. m. a piece of money in Portugal, so called because of the cross on it, and worth two shillings and eight-pence and two fifths of a penny; this is called cruzado novo. The other, called cruzado velho, is worth two shillings and three-pence.
Cruzado, a, adj. See CRUZAR.
CRUZADOS, f. m. p. those that were listed to go to the crusade.
CRUZAMENTO da cara, two cuts in the face one across the other.
CRUZAR, v. a. (a sea term) to cruise.
Cruzar a corte, to frequent, or haunt the court.
Não para cruzar, a cruiser.
Cruzar a cara, to give two cuts in the face, one across the other.
Cruzar as mãos, (metaph.) to take patience.
Cruzar, (por em cruz) to lay across; also to cross, or cut one another.
Cruzar hum papel escrito com riscos, to draw cross-lines upon a writing.
Cruzár-se, v. r. to cross, or cut one another. See also BENZER-SE.
Cruzár-se, (in the figurative sense) to wonder at, to be very much surprised.
CRUZEIRO, f. m. a large cross of stone they used to set up in the streets, and some other public places; also a cross in building, as in a cathedral church, or the like; also the Crossiers, a little constellation of four stars towards the south pole. They are disposed after the form of a cross.
CRUZE'TA, f. f. a little cross.
CU, f. m. the breech, the fundament.
Alimpar o cu. See ALIMPAR.
Cú de Judas, a dirty lane.
CUADA, f. f. a fall on the backside.
CU'BA, f. f. the vat into which the wine runs from the press. There is a vat one in an ancient convent, called St. Andrew de Anse de near the river Douro, that holds forty pipes of wine.
Cuba, one of the four great Antilles, an island of North America, in the Atlantic

C U B

Ocean. It is subject to Spain; it is also the name of a little town of Alentejo, in Portugal.
CUBE'BAS, f. f. p. a sort of small Indian fruit, or berry; cubebis.
CUBE'LLO, f. m. a sort of tower formerly erected upon the walls of a town or fortress.
CUBE'RTA, f. f. a cover; also a shelter.
Cuberta da mesa, a mess, a course, or service of meat.
Primeira, segunda, ou terceira cuberta, the first, second, or third course.
Cuberta do navio, deck.
Cuberta corrida, (a sea phrase) a flush deck fore and aft, a term used when the decks of a ship are laid level from head to stern.
Cuberta da cama. See COBERTOR.
CUBERTAMENTE. See OCULTAMENTE.
CUBERTE'IRAS, (in falconry) the uppermost feathers of a hawk.
CUBE'RTO, f. m. a sort of gallery, or balcony.
Cuberto, covered, &c. See the v. CUBRIR. See also CHEO.
Estrada cuberta, ou encuberta, (in fortification.) See CORREDOR.
Frutos cubertos, or de conserva, preserved fruits. See CONSERVA.
Cuberto de nuvens, over-cast, cloudy.
Cuberto pela dívida, it is said of one that has recovered his money.
CUBERTO'R. See COBERTOR.
CU'BICO, a, adj. cubical, solid, square every way.
Raiz cubica, (in arithmetic) cube-root.
CUBICULARIO, f. m. a gentleman of the bed-chamber.
CUBICULO, f. m. See CELLA.
CUBILHEIRA, f. f. a lady of the bed-chamber to the king.
CUBISTA'L, adj. belonging to the elbow.
CUBITO, f. m. a cubit, a measure in use among the ancients; which was originally the distance from the elbow, bending inwards, to the extremity of the middle finger.
CU'BO, f. m. cube, a solid body terminated by six equal squares; also a tub, pail, or bucket; also the nave, or round stock of a wheel in which the spokes are fastened.
Arcos de ferro que cobrem os cubos das rodas, the trees of a cart, the iron hoops about the naves.
CUBRICAMA. See COBERTOR.
CUBRIR, v. a. to cover; also to cloke, colour, palliate, dissemble.
Cubrir o carneiro a ovelha, to tup, or to copulate as a ram.
O acto de cubrir o carneiro a ovelha, tuppings.
Cubrir o cavallo a ega, to horse a mare, as a stallion does.
Cubrir huma cadella, to line a bitch.
Huma voz que cobre as outras, a voice that drowns that of other people.
Cubrir as arvores, to heap up earth at the roots of trees.
Cubrir alguma cousa com ouro, to overlay a thing with gold.
Cubrir, or fazer casa, (in playing at draughts.) See CASA.
Cubrir huma parede ou muralha, pendolha por cima as ultimas pedras, to cope a wall.

Pedras que servem para cubrir huma parede,
&c. perpenders, coping-stones.

Cubrir-se, v. r. ex. Cubrir-se o ceo de nuvens, is for the sky to grow cloudy.

CUBRA-SE, put on your hat, be covered.

CUBRITOR. See COBERTOR.

CUCARNE, f. m. (a sort of play) cockal.

CUCHICHADO, a, adj. See

CUCHICHAR, v. n. to whisper, to speak softly.

A accam de cuchicar, whispering.

CU'CIO. See CORDEIRINHO.

CU'CO, f. m. a cuckow.

Cantar o cuco. See CANTAR.

CUCU'FA, f. f. a sort of coif with cephalic medicines.

CUCU'LA. See COGULA.

CUCUME'LO. See COGUMELO.

CUCURBITA. See CABAÇA.

CUCURUCU', a word made to imitate the sound of the cock-crowing.

CUCURUTA, f. f. the top or crown of the head.

CUCURUTO. See CARAMANCHAM.

CUE'CAS, f. f. p. trowsers, a pair of drawers.

CUE'IROS. See COEIROS.

CUGU'LA. See COGULA.

QUIDA'DO, f. m. study, diligence, care; also thought, trouble, affliction, grief. See also the v. QUIDAR.

Com cuidado. See QUIDADOSAMENTE.

Estar com cuidado, to be uneasy.

Ter cuidado, to take care, to mind.

Isto me da cuidado, this makes me uneasy.

Não vos de cuidado, never mind, don't trouble yourself.

QUIDADOSAMENTE, adv. carefully.

QUIDADOSO, a, adj. diligent, careful, mindful; also thoughtful, uneasy.

QUIDA'R, v. n. to take care, to be diligent, to think upon, to mind, to reflect, or consider; also to think, to believe, to imagine, or suppose.

Dar que cuidar, or Dar em que cuidar a alguém, to put one to his trumps.

Isto he coisa que merece que se cuide nella, this is a thing to be considered of.

Não se cuida nisso, people are very easy about it, they don't mind it.

Como se cuida, as people imagine.

QUIDO'SO. See QUIDADOSO.

QU'JO, a, pron. relat. whose, of which.

CULA'TRA, f. f. the butt end of a musquet, or the breech of a cannon.

Calatra, ou escharpa da cheminé. See CHEMINE'.

CULEBRINA. See COLUBRINA.

CULHER. See COLHER.

CULMINANTE, (in astronomy) ex. Ponto culminante, the highest point in the heavens that it is possible for the sun or any star to be.

CUL'PA, f. f. a fault, sin, offence.

A culpa não hé nossa, it is not our own fault.

Dar, ou por a culpa, to tax, to lay the fault on.

Ter a culpa, to be the cause.

P. tanta culpa tem o ladrão como o consentidor, the receiver is as bad as the thief.

CULPA'DO, a, adj. guilty, culpable.

Pessoa culpada que está na presença-do juiz, a culprit.

CULPA'R, v. a. See ACCUSAR.

CULPA'VEL, adj. See CULPADO.

CULTIVAÇAM. See CULTURA.

CULTIVA'DO, a, adj. See CULTIVAR.

CULTIVA'DOR. See CULTOR.

CULTIVAR, v. a. to cultivate, to till, to manure.

Cultivar o engenho, to improve one's wit.

Cultivar a amizade de alguém, to cultivate one's friendship. (Metaph.)

Que se pode cultivar, cultivable, that may be cultivated.

CU'LTO, f. m. worship, honour, respect, observance.

Culto divino, divine worship.

Dar culto, or Levantar culto, to worship.

Culto, or ornato de huma mulher, a woman's ornaments.

Culto, a, adj. ex. Homem culto, an eloquent man.

Lingua culta, refined language.

Estilo demasiadamente culto, bombast, formal speaking, or writing, an affected elegance.

CULTO'R, f. m. a worshipper; also a lover, respecter, observer, a favourer, a fautor, a promoter.

CULTURA, f. f. tillage, husbandry, culture.

Cultura do engenho, the improvement of the mind. (Metaph.)

Cultura, f. f. ex. Cultura da lingua, the refining of a language: some call cultura da lingua, the bombastic expressions they foolishly make use of.

CULUMELLA. See COLUMELLA.

CU'ME, f. m. the top; also the height, or the highest pitch of any thing. (Metaph.)

CUMPRIME'NTO. See COMPRIMENTO.

CUMPRIR, &c. See COMPRIR, &c.

CUMULA'DO, a, adj. filled up. See CUMULAR.

Cumulado de louvores, (metaph.) highly commended.

CUMULA'R. See ACCUMULAR.

CUMULATIVO, (a law term) ex. Jurisdicção cumulativa, a new jurisdiction or power that reaches beyond the verge and extent of another jurisdiction or power the same person is possessor of.

CU'MULO, f. m. See COGULA.

Cumulo, the height, or the highest pitch of any thing. (Metaph.)

CU'NA, f. f. a cradle. (It is particularly used in poetry.)

CU'NEO, f. m. (a military word among the ancient Romans) a battalion or company of foot, drawn up in form of a wedge, the better to break the enemy's ranks; also (among the same) seats and benches in the theatre, narrower near the stage, and broader behind.

CU'NHA, f. f. a wedge.

Castá de malho com que se bate nas cunhas para as fazer entrar, a beetle, a heavy mallet with which wedges are driven.

O cabo desta sorte de malho, beetle stock, or the handle of a beetle.

Feito a maneyra de cunha, wedged, made like a wedge.

Cunha, ou ripaço do verso. See RIPANÇO.

Cunhas, (in falconry.) See CUBERTEIRAS.

CUNHA'DA, f. f. sister-in-law.

CUNHA'DO, f. m. brother-in-law.

Cunhado, a, adj. See the v. CUNHAR.

CUNHADO'R, f. m. a coiner of money.

CUNHA'ES, (the plural of Cunhal) coins, or quoins, the corners of walls.

CUNHA'L, f. m. an angle, or corner of a wall.

CUNHA'R, v. a. to coin money.

Cunhar em moeda. See AMOEDAR.

CUNHE'TE, f. m. a little vessel to put dry figs and raisins in.

CU'NHO, f. m. a stamp to coin money with; also pile, one side of a coin, the reverse of cross.

Cuntos ou cruzes. (A sort of play.) See CHAPA.

CUPIDO, f. m. Cupid, the fabulous god of love.

CUPULA, or CUPOLA, f. f. a cupola, an arch tower of a building, in form of a bowl turned upside down. Ital.

CU'QUIA'DA. (An Indian sea term.) See COQUEADA.

CU'RA, f. m. a curate of a parish; also a cure.

Esta he a melhor cura que elle fez, this is the best cure that ever he did.

Cura ou cuidado, care.

CURAÇAM, f. f. cure, or the curing of any distemper.

CURA'DO, a, adj. cured; also healthful; that is in health and soundness of body. See also the v. CURAR.

CURADO'R, f. m. a guardian, or trustee.

CURADO'RA, a woman guardian.

CURADORIA, f. f. guardianship, or trusteeship.

CURA'R, v. a. to cure; also to regard, to take care, to mind. See also PROCURAR.

Curar o enfermo, to cure a sick man.

Curar do enfermo, to take care of a sick man, to attend a sick body.

Curar, to bleach.

Curar huma ferida, to dress a wound.

Não curar do que se diz, not to value what is said.

CURATIVO, a, adj. physical, that hath the quality of curing.

CURA'TO, f. m. parsonage, the mansion or dwelling house of a parson.

CURA'VEL, adj. curable, that may be cured.

CU'RIA, f. f. a court of justice.

Cúria de Roma, the court of Rome; but formerly it was the place where the senate or council assembled; the council-house, or state-house, the hall, or moot-house, that belonged to every one of the thirty-five wards of Rome.

CURIA'ES, f. m. p. those of the said court or ward.

CURIA'L, adj. belonging to the Curia. See CURIA, and AULICO.

CURICA, or CURICO. See CORICA.

CURIOSAMENTE, adj. curiously, neatly.

CURIOSIDADE, f. f. curiosity, inquisitiveness.

CURIO'SO, a, adj. curious, inquisitive.

CURRA'L, f. m. ex. Curral de ovelhas, a sheep-fold. See CORTE.

Meter gado no curral, to stable, to house cattle in a stable.

CURRICAR, v. n. to run to and fro, to gallop up and down.

CURSADO. See the v. CURSAR.

Curfado. (Versado.) See VERSADO.

CURSA'NTE, (speaking of the wind) blowing continually and without interruption.

CURSA'R, v. a. to ease one's self, to ease one's belly; also to blow continually, and without interruption. (Speaking of the wind.)

Curfar no mar. See NAVEGAR.

Curfar, v. a. to frequent, to follow the schools;

schools; also to haunt; also to carry, to reach, (speaking of guns, muskets, &c.) also to profess, to exercise publicly a particular calling or art.

CURSIO, a sort of small hares, which run very fast.

CURSISTA, or CURSANTE, f. m. he who frequents or follows the schools, especially at an university; a student.

CURSIVA, (among printers) ex. Letra cursiva, Italic letter.

CURSO, f. m. a carrier, a running course, race; also a space of time.

Curso de coisa fluida, course, running stream, current.

Curso dos astros, &c. the course of the stars, or any other thing.

Curso de philosophia, the study of philosophy.

Andar no curso, to follow the schools, to be a student, especially at an university.

Andar no curso de philosophia, &c. to study philosophy, &c.

Ele tem andado no curso tantos annos, he has been at the schools so many years.

Abrio-se o curso, the schools are opened.

Curso do corpo, a stool, or going to stool.

CURSO, f. m. (in the court of Rome) a courier, a kind of messenger from his holiness the pope to his cardinals, or others of the court, to give them warning or notice of consistories, or convocations.

CURSOS, f. m. p. looseness, flux of the belly.

CURTA, ex. Por alguém à curta, to speak ill of one, to rattle him.

CURTALLOS Bramanes, (in India) the most civil and polite Bramins, or Brachmans.

CURTEZA, f. f. shortness, the want of breath, or length.

CURTIDO. } See CORTIDO.

CURTIR. } See CORTIR.

CURTO, a, adj. short, brief; also weak, heavy, tardy.

Curto e grosso, ou curto e forte, stubby.

Curto no entendimento, half-witted.

Curto de palavras, brief in words.

Curto de vista, short-sighted; also that has no forecast. (Metaph.)

Ser curto, to come, to be, or fall short, to be inferior, to fall, or be below; not to come near.

Homem curto, a faint-hearted man.

CURVA, f. f. the ham of one's leg behind the knee.

Curvas, (in a ship) the knees of a ship. From the Lat. curvus, crooked.

Curva do perna do cavallo, the ply or bending of the ham of a horse.

CURVADO. See CURVO.

CURVADURA. See CURVIDADE.

CURVAR, v. a. to bow, bend, or make crooked.

Curvar-se, v. r. to bow down, to grow crooked.

CURUCHEO. See CORUCHEO, and PI-NACULO.

CURVETA, f. f. a curvet, the gait, motion, or prancing of a managed horse.

CURVETEADO. See

CURVETEAR, v. n. to prance as a managed horse does.

CURUJA. See CORUJA.

CURVIDADE, f. f. crookedness.

CURUL, adj. belonging to a chariot, or chair of state, in which the head officers of Rome were wont to be carried to council.

Cadeira curul, a chair of state in which, &c. See CURUL.

CURVO, a, adj. arched, crooked, bent.

CURUTA. See CRUTA.

CUSCUTA, f. f. the herb dodder, or with-wind. Lat.

CUSCUTZ, or CUSCUS, f. m. p. a kind of eatable made of the finest flower.

CUSCUIZEIRO, f. m. a kind of earthen vessel to boil the cuscuz in.

Chapeo cuscuzero, a high-crowned hat, shaped at the top like a pyramid.

CUSPE, f. m. so they call the very small fishes.

CUSPIDEIRA, f. f. a spitting-box.

CUSPIDO. See the v. CUSPIR.

Ele he cuspidor, ou semelhante a seu pay, he is the lively image of his father. (A very low expression, not to be used.)

CUSPIDOR, f. m. a spitter, a spitting, or spawling man.

CUSPINHA'DO. See

CUSPINHAR, v. n. to spit often, to be always spitting.

CUSPIR, v. n. to spit, to spit out.

Cuspir na cara de alguém, to spit in one's face out of contempt.

Homem que cospe muito. See CUSPIDOR.

Cuspir, v. a. to spit, ex. Cuspir sangue, to spit blood.

Cuspir, not to abide, to cast, or throw back.

CUSPO, f. m. spit, spittle.

CUSTA, f. f. cost, charge, expence.

CUSTADO. See

CUSTAR, v. n. to cost, to stand in; also to be dear, chargeable, painful, or troublesome.

Quanto vos custa o vosso chapeo? how much does your hat cost?

As demandas custao muito, law-suits are too chargeable.

Meu filho me custa mais de, &c. my son cost me above, &c.

A gloria custa a alcançar, the purchase of glory is a dear purchase.

Bem lhe custa o estar ausente, he pays dear for his absence.

As honras custao muito a quem as quer conservar, much worship much cost.

Tudo lhe custa a fazer, he does every thing against the grain.

Nenhuma resolução me custou tanto, I never was so long resolving about any thing.

O dinheiro não lhe custa a ganhar, he knows not the value of money.

Pouco lhe custao as lagrimas, he, or she makes nothing to cry.

Custe o que custar quero ver-lhe o fim, I don't mind any troubles or expences, provided I see the end of it.

CUSTAS, f. f. p. charges.

CUSTO, f. m. cost, expence; also loss.

A custo, with the loss.

A todo o custo, at any rate.

CUSTODE, ex. Anjo custode. See ANJO.

CUSTODIA, f. f. custody, keeping, charge; also the tabernacle in which the blessed sacrament is kept on the altar; some call it re-monstrance.

Custodia de reliquias, a case or box that contains the relics, or remains of the bodies or cloaths of saints.

Custodia, the convent where the custodio lives. See

CUSTODIO, f. m. a warden in a religious house, the provincial's deputy.

CUSTOZAMENTE, adv. costly, sumptuously.

CUSTOZO, a, adj. sumptuous, costly, chargeable; also troublesome.

CUTANEO, a, adj. cutaneous, belonging to the skin.

CUTELA, f. f. a large knife.

Cutela de carneiro, a butcher's chopping-knife.

CUTELARIA, f. f. the street where the cutlers live.

CUTELO, f. m. See ALFANGE; also a broad semicircular knife, used by the correeiros. See CORREEIRO.

Cutelos, (in falconry) the six principal feathers in each of the hawk's wings, called the farcel feathers.

Cutelos, (in a ship) studding-sails, bolts of canvas, extended in a fair gale of wind, along the side of the main-sail, and boomed out with a boom.

CUTICULA, f. f. (in anatomy) cuticle, a little thin skin which covers the main skin of man or beast, extending all over like a membrane, and is void of sense.

CUTILADA, f. f. a cut, or wound made with the edge of a sword.

CUTILEIRO, f. m. a cutler.

CUVILHEIRA, f. f. (an antiquated word.) See CUBILHEIRA.

CUVILHETE. See COVILHETE.

CUYA, f. f. a cup made of clay, used by the wild people of the Brasils to drink in.

CUJAR. } See SUJAR.

CUJO. } See SUJO.

N. B. Look under the Letters Sz for the words that you find written with Ç.

CYCLADAS, f. m. p. certain islands in the Archipelago, reckoned about fifty-three in all.

CYCLAMINIS, f. f. the herb called sow-bread.

CYCLO, f. m. a cycle.

Ciclo solar, the solar cycle.

Ciclo lunar, the lunar cycle.

CYCLOPAS, or CYCLOPES, the Cyclops, a gigantic people, having but one eye, and that in the middle of their fore-head. Greek.

CYLINDRICO, a, adj. cylindrical.

CYLINDRO, f. m. a cylinder; also a roller, a rolling-stone.

CYNABRIO. See CINABRIO.

CYNICOS, cynics, a sect of philosophers, first instituted by Antisthenes. Greek.

CYNOCEPHALOS, the plant called snap-dragon.

CYNOSURA, f. f. cynosura, the constellation of the Lesser Bear, or the polar star in the tail of it.

CYNTHIA, f. f. so the poets call the moon.

CYNTHIO, f. m. Apollo, so called as being born in Cynthus.

CYPO. See CIPO.

CYPRESTE, or CIPRESTE, f. m. the cypress-tree.

Fruto do cypreste, the nut, or little round ball of the cypress-tree.

CYRENAICOS, f. m. p. Cyreniacs; certain philosophers who accounted pleasure the chief good.

CYTHARA. See CITHARA.

CYTHEREA, f. f. Venus, so called because worshipped at Cythera.

CYTISO. See CODESSO.

CZAR, f. m. czar, the title of the emperor of Muscovy and Russia. He that first took the title of czar was Basilus, son of John Basilides.

D.

D, one of the mutes, supposed to be formed from the Greek Δ. It was anciently represented by three stars set in a triangle. In numbers it stand for five hundred, according to this verse:

Littera D velut A quingentes significabit.

In Portuguese, D before a proper name signifies Dom. Pierius gives a large account of all that belongs to this letter.

D'. See DO, and DA.

DA, prep. and article, of, from; ex. Da mulher, of the woman.

Da janella, from the window.

DÁCTYLO, f. m. a dactyl, a foot in poetry, consisting of one long and two short syllables.

DÁCTYLICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to a dactyl.

Versos dactílicos, several sorts of verses so called.

DADA, f. f. a bestowing, a donation.

DADIVA, f. f. a gift.

P. dádivas quebrantão penhas, gifts break rocks; that is, kindness overcomes the hardest hearts, and bribes or presents corrupt the most resolved.

DADIVO'SO, a, adj. liberal, bountiful.

DADO, a, adj. given. See the v. DAR, and DAR-SE.

Dado, (inclinado.) See INCLINADO.

Dádo, f. m. a dye to play with.

Covilhete com que em algumas partes se jogam aos dados, metendo-os nelle, e depois lançando-os, a dice-box to throw the dice out of.

DADO'R, f. m. a giver, a donor, or bestower.

DADO'RA, f. m. a woman that gives or bestows.

DAHI', adv. from thence, on that occasion, for that cause.

Dahi por diante, from that time, thenceforth, or thenceforward; also from that place.

DAIRI, or DAIRO. See DAYRI.

DALA, f. f. (in a ship.) See BOMBA.

DALI', adv. from thence, from that place.

Dali em diante, dali a diante, or dali por diante. See DAHI' por diante.

DALMATICA, f. f. the vestment used by deacons in the church of Rome; a dalmatic.

DAMA, f. f. a lady; at chiefs the queen; also a doe.

Fazer dama, or cobrir a dama, to king a man at draughts.

Jogo das damas, the game of draughts.

Molher dama, a whore; also a mistress, or sweet-heart.

DAMAM, Damman, a port town of Cambaya, and on the west coast of the Hither India, in Asia. It is a Portuguese factory, and their second best in the East Indies.

DAMARIA. See DAMICE.

DAMASCA'DO, a, adj. damasked.

DAMASCO, f. m. damask; also a sort of apricots so called.

DAMASQUEIRO, f. m. an apricot-tree.

DAMASQUILHO, f. m. worsted damask; or half thread half worsted.

DAMASQUINO, a, adj. damasked, as swords, or knives, from the city Damascus.

DAMICE, f. f. delicacy, niceness; also affectation, affectedness, women's whims.

DAMNIFICAÇAM. See DANIFICAÇAM.

DAMNIFICADOR. See DANIFICADOR.

DAMNO, &c. } See { DANO, &c.

DAMNOSO. } See { DANOSO.

DAMO, f. m. a ruffian, a bully, a pimp.

DAMORIM, a sort of pear so called.

DANADQ, a, adj. corrupted; also ill-minded. See the v. DANAR.

Autor danado, an author whose writings have been condemned.

Caô danado, a mad dog.

Danado. See CONDENADO.

DANAR, v. a. to corrupt, to spoil; also to damnify, to hurt; also to ruin, or undo; also to bend, or crook; (speaking of a sword) also to mad, to make mad.

Danar-se, v. r. to be corrupted, to grow or wax rotten, or tainted; also to grow mad, (speaking of a dog.)

Danar-se o ferro, is for a sword, knife, &c. to be blunted, to have the edge taken off.

DANÇA, f. f. a dance. Gothic.

Mestre de dança, a dancing-master.

Escola de dança, a dancing-school.

Dança de poucos movimentos, e maneos do corpo, brawl, a sort of dance.

Dança de espadas, a sword-dance.

Guia da dança, he that leadeth the dance.

DANÇADE'IRA, a woman dancer.

DANÇADEIRINHA, a little dancing girl, diminut. of Dançaadeira.

DANÇA'DO, a, adj. See DANÇAR.

DANÇA'DO'R, f. m. DANÇA'DORA, f. f. See

DANÇA'NTE, f. m. and f. a dancer.

Dançante em corda, or borlanti, rope-dancer.

Pao que tem nas mãos os dançantes, a poy, or pole used by rope-dancers.

Corda ou maroma dos dançantes, ou borlanti. See CORDA.

DANÇA'R, v. n. to dance.

Dançar sobre a corda, to dance upon the rope.

O dançar, dancing.

DANIFICAÇAM, f. f. See DANO.

DANIFICADO, a, adj. damnified, hurt.

DANIFICADO'R, f. m. one that damnifies, or does hurt.

DANIFICAR, v. a. to damnify, to hurt, to damage.

DANI'NHO, a, adj. (speaking of mischievous birds, or beasts) hurtful, mischievous.

DANI'NHO, f. m. he who sows horses, oxen, &c. into a field of corn, garden, &c. on purpose to hurt another.

DANO, DAMNO, or DANNO, f. m. detriment, loss, hurt, damage, prejudice.

Dano que faz o daninhão, ou o que mete gado, ou bestas à cinte em pãõ, oliveas, &c. de outrem, damage feafants.

DANO'SO, a, adj. mischievous, hurtful.

D'ANTEMAM, adv. before-hand, or afore-hand.

Condenar d'antemam, to condemn afore-hand.

D'ANTES, adv. before.

DANTI'SCO, or DANTZIC, f. m. Dantzick, in Lat. Dantiscum, or Gedania; a famous trading and fortified city of Little Pomerania, in Polish Prussia. The Poles call it Gdantzk.

DANUBIO, f. m. Danube, in Lat. Danubius, and by the Germans called Donau; a very large and famous river in Europe.

DAQUEM. See AQUEM.

DAQUI, adv. hence, from this place. See AQUI.

DAR, v. a. to give.

Dar huma cutileada, to cut with a sword.

Dar horas, is for the clock to strike.

O relógio está para dar dez horas, the clock is upon the stroke of ten.

Dar a alma a Deus, to give up the ghost, to die.

Deu-me huma dor, I was taken with a pain.

Dar no alvo, to hit the mark.

Da cá, give hither.

Dar fê, to credit, to believe; also to perceive, to descry, to take notice, to smell out.

Dar liçam, to teach as a master does, or to read one's lesson.

Dar consigo em alguma parte, to cast one's self into a place, or to go to a place.

Dar leite, to suckle.

Dar garrote, to strangle.

Dar parte de hum negocio, to impart a business.

Dar com huma pessoa, to light upon a person.

Dar vozes, to cry out, to bawl.

Dar suspiros. See SUSPIRAR.

Dar ouvidos, to give hearing.

Dar em rosto, to upbraid, to cast in the teeth.

Dar sobre o inimigo, to fall upon the enemy.

Dar a luz nos olhos cegando-os com o resplendor, to dazzle, to hurt the sight with too much light.

Dar o sol nos olhos, it is for the sun to shine in one's eyes.

Dar razoes, to debate, to reason, to contend, to yield reasons for something.

Dar consigo no chaô. See CAHIR.

Dar ordem. See ORDENAR.

Dar, to bear, to bring forth, to produce.

Dar em alguem, to strike, or smite, to thump, to beat one.

Dar em alguem com a mão aberta, to spank, to slap with the open hand.

Dar em alguem, to catch one, to take one unawares.

Dar de si, to bend, bow, or sink; also to sink, or go to the bottom; also to bend in, to bend in the middle; also to yield, to submit, to surrender.

Dar

Dar em alguma cousa com o movimento que se faz, to strike upon, or run against.
Dar em alguma cousa. See ACERTAR.
Dar à vela. See VELA.
Dar à costa. See COSTA.
Dar as mãos, to shake hands.
Dar a mão ajudando. See AJUDAR.
Dar batalha. See BATALHA.
Dar, to cause, to occasion.
Dar em que fallar, to give an occasion to be slandered and backbitten.
Dar em alguma cousa. See ACHAR and ENCONTRAR.
Dar em que entender a alguém, to put one to his trumps.
Dar os parabens, to congratulate.
Dar com a porta na cara, ou olhos de alguém, to shut the door upon one.
Dar com a porta nos olhos a alguma cousa, to slight, to despise a thing. (Metaph.)
Dar com o navio nos cabos, ou contra as pedras, to run a ship against the rocks.
Dar o fado a alguém de buena cousa, to distrust something.
Esta traveça vai dar na rua larga, this lane strikes or goes into the broad-street.
Dar em alguém, (accusar.) See ACCU-SAR.
Dar em todos, or dizer mal de todos. See CORTAR por todos.
Dei no pensamento de, &c. it came into my head to, &c.
Dar alteza, to give the title of highness.
Dar de escolher a alguém, to give one the choice.
Dar em, to grow, to become.
Quem me dara estar em casa! how fain would I be at home!
Elle deu em bir a aquelle lugar, he began to use that place.
Dar em ridicularias, to grow, or become ridiculous.
DAKÁNDE'LLA, f. f. a sort of ancient garment.
DAR-SE, v. r. ex. Dar-se por culpado, to acknowledge one's self guilty.
Dar-se, (applicar-se.) See APPLICAR-SE.
De nenhuma sorte vos deis por entendido ou achado, take no notice of any thing.
Dar-se por aggravado, to make a shew of anger.
Elle deu-se a toda a sorte de vicios, he gave himself over to all manner of vice.
Não se me da disso, I matter it not.
Que se vos da a vos disso? What have you to do with it?
Pouco se me dá, I care but little.
Não se lhe dá de morrer, he matters not his dying.
Tanto se me dá de ir como de ficar, I had as lief go as stay.
Elles dão-se muito bem, they agree mighty well together.
Esta carne não se dá bem comigo, this meat does not agree with me.
Dar-se por vencido, to submit, to surrender one's self a prisoner, or to yield a point.
Dar-se por satisfeito, to rest satisfied.
Dar-se a partido, or lançar-se ao partido. See PARTIDO.
Quando se der a occasião, when occasion shall require.
DARDO, f. m. a dart.
DARES e tomares, chiding, brawling, strife, contention, reasoning, and debate between two persons, or parties.

DARIS, so they call some monkeys from Guinea.
DATA, f. f. the date of any writing. See also HUMOR.
Pôr a data, to date, to set such a date to.
Que data tem aquella carta? What date does that letter bear?
Data, (dadia.) See DADIVA, and DOM.
DATARIA, f. f. the chancery of Rome.
DATARIO, f. m. datary, the chief officer in the chancery of Rome, through whose hands most vacant benefices pass.
DATILES. See TAMARA.
DATIVO, (in grammar) the dative case.
DAVANTE, (a sea term.) See DIANTE.
DAYRI, ou dayro, the title given to the emperor of Japan.
DE, prep. from, of; it is also the indefinite article in the Portuguese language.
De aqui, hence.
De porta em porta, from door to door.
De longos annos, since many years.
De noite ou de dia, by night, or by day.
Hora de comer, time to dine.
Espero de ver, I hope to see.
De todo, entirely.
De parte a parte, from side to side; that is, quite through.
De dez annos a esta parte, since ten years.
De, for, or by reason of.
Este livro he de fulano, this book belongs to such a one.
Eraõ perto de vinte, they were about twenty.
He cousa de perigo, it is a dangerous thing.
Isto não he de crer, this is not to be believed.
He de crer que, &c. people must believe that, &c.
Elle estava vestido de marinheiro, he was dressed in a sailor's dress.
Não sou de ceremonias, I make no ceremonies, or I don't like ceremonies.
Penna de escrever, a pen to write with.
DEA'DO, f. m. deanship, the office or dignity of dean.
DEALBA'DO, a, adj. See BRANQUE-ADO.
DEAMBULATO'RIO, ex. Interdi o deambulatorio, a general interdict, through the whole kingdom, or province. (A law term.)
Deambulatorio, f. m. See PASSEYO.
DEA'M, f. m. dean.
Jurisdicção do deam, deanery, the jurisdiction of a dean.
DEARTICULA'DO, a, adj. See
DEARTICULA'R, v. a. to articulate, to pronounce distinctly.
DEBADO'URA. See DOBADOURA.
DEBA'IXO. See DEBAXO.
DEBA'LDE, adv. in vain, for nothing.
Debalde vos cansais, you trouble yourself for nothing.
P. Melhor he fazer debalde que estar debalde, it is better to work for nothing, than be lazy and do nothing at all.
DEBA'TE, f. m. strife, contention, and debate between two persons or parties.
DEBA'TER, v. n. to contend, to strive, to debate.
Debater-se, v. r. to clap the wings, to try to fly.
DEBATID'ÇO, a, adj. that claps the wings very much.
DEBATID'DO, a, adj. agitated, debated.
DEBATIDU'RA, f. f. the action of clapping the wings too much.
DEBA'XO, prep. under.

Debaxo, adv. from under, underneath, beneath.
Levar alguém debaxo, to throw one down.
DEBELLAÇA'M, f. f. a vanquishing, or overthrow, debellation. (It is little used.)
DEBELLA'DO, adj. See
DEBELLA'R, v. a. to vanquish, to overthrow, to debellate.
DEBICA'DO. See the v.
DEBICAR, v. a. to taste, touch lightly, or take a smack of a thing, (a vulgar word); also to piddle, &c. See PETISCAR.
DE'BIL, adj. weak, feeble.
DEBILIDA'DE, f. f. weakness, feebleness, debility.
Debilidade do espirito, faint-heartedness.
DEBILITAÇA'M, f. f. debilitation. See DEBILIDADE.
DEBILITA'DO, a, adj. weakened, enfeebled. See also ABATIDO, and ATENUADO.
DEBILITA'R, v. a. to weaken, to enfeeble, to debilitate. See also ABATER, and DIMINUIR.
DEBILMENTE, adv. feebly, weakly.
DE'BITO, f. m. the mutual obligation in marriage.
DEBOLA'DO, a. See
DEBOLA'R, v. a. to take off the crust, scurf, or scab.
DEBREADO, a, adj. See
DEBREA'R, v. a. to whip cruelly, to lash, to jerk to pieces.
DEBRUA'DO, a, adj. See
DEBRUA'R, v. a. to hem.
Debruar, (guarnecer.) See GUARNECER and ORNAR.
DEBRUÇA'DO, a, adj. See
DEBRUÇA'R-SE, v. r. to stoop, to bend downwards.
Debruar-se a alguém, or aos pés de alguém, to prostrate one's self, to cast one's self at any one's feet.
DEBRUÇOS, adv. flat on the ground, with the mouth down.
DEBRUM, f. m. hem, selvage, border.
DEBULHA, f. f. the time of threshing corn.
DEBULHA'DO, a. See
DEBULHAR, v. a. to thresh.
Debulhar, (desfolhar.) See DESFOLHAR.
Debulhar-se em lagrimas, to melt into tears.
DEBULHO, f. m. the threshing of corn.
Debulbo, or Desbulbo, an entrail, an inward part of a hog, ox, &c.
DEBUXA'DO, a, adj. See DEBUXAR.
DEBUXADO'R, f. m. one that draws in black and white.
DEBUXA'NTE, p. act. of
DEBUXA'R, v. a. to draw in black and white, with a pen, coal, pencil, or the like. Camoens makes use of this word instead of Pintar, to paint.
DEBU'XO, f. m. the art of drawing in black and white, with a pen, coal, &c. also a draught drawn by hand, with pen and ink, pencil, or the like.
Não te metas em debuxos, meddle not with what does not concern you, or with what may hurt you.
DE'CADA, f. f. decade, the number of ten, as the Decades of Livy. Greek.
DECADE'NCIA. See DESCAHIDA.
DECA'GONO, f. m. (in geometry) a decagon. Greek.
DECA'LOGO, f. m. the Decalogue, the Ten Commandments. Greek.

DECAMPA'DO, a, adj. See DECAMPA'R, v. n. to decamp, to go from, to break up the camp, to march off.
A acção de decampar, -a decampment, a decamping, or marching off.
DECANA'DO. See DEADO.
DECAN'A, f. f. presidentship, or the place of a monk that had ten others under his command.
DECA'NO, f. m. the senior in any order, the eldest in a corporation; also a dean.
Decano, (among astrologers) decanate, decury, ten degrees attributed to some planet, which being in, it is said to have one dignity.
DECANTA'DO, a, adj. sung, or solemnly pronounced; also much spoken of, in every body's mouth. See the v.
DECANTA'R, v. a. to praise, to commend, to sing out, to publish.
DECEINA'DO, a, adj. See DECEINA'R, v. a. (in falconry) to tame the hawk again, that is after the changing of the feathers; also to cry aloud.
DECEMVIRA'TO, f. m. the office of the decemviri, decemvirate.
DECEMV'TROS, f. m. p. decemviri, ten noblemen among the Romans, who governed the commonwealth instead of consuls.
DECE'NCIA, f. f. decency, comeliness, seemliness.
Com decencia, decently, becomingly.
DECENDE'NCIA. See DESCENDENCIA.
DECENDE'NTE. See DESCENDENTE.
DECENDER, &c. See DESCENDER, &c.
DECE'NTE, adj. decent, becoming, be-seeming.
Decente, or descende, f. f. the channel of a river.
DECENTE'NTE, adv. decently, becomingly.
DECEPA'DO, a, adj. maimed, mangled, or cut off.
O Decepado, so they called the most brave and valiant standard-bearer Edward d'Almeyda, from whom the Spaniards, in the year 1385, could not wrest the colours without cutting off his hand.
DECEPA'R, v. a. to maim, or mangle.
DECER. See DESCER.
DECERTAR. See PELEJAR.
DECIDA. See DESCIDA.
DECIDI'DO, a, adj. See DECIDIR, v. a. to decide, to determine, resolve.
DECIFRA'DO, a, adj. See DECIFRA'R, v. a. to decypher.
Decifrar huma carta, to decypher a letter.
A acção de decifrar, decyphering.
Decifrar, ou descrever, to decypher, or describe.
DE'CIMA, f. f. decastick or stanza, consisting of ten verses; also the tenth part of any thing paid to a prince; but the tenth part due to the parson of the parish is properly called dizimo. See DIZIMO.
DECIMAÇAM, f. f. decimation. See DIZIMAR.
DECIMA'DO, a, adj. See DIZIMADO.
DECIMA'L, adj. of or belonging to tithes.

Aritmetica decimal, decimal arithmetic.
DECIMA'R. See DIZIMAR.
DECIMO, a, adj. the tenth, or decimal part.
Decimo tercio, or terceyro, the thirteenth.
Decimo quarto, the fourteenth.
Decimo quinto, the fifteenth.
Decimo sexto, the sixteenth.
Decimo setimo, the seventeenth.
Decimo outavo, the eighteenth.
Decimo nono, the nineteenth.
DECISA'M, f. f. decision, resolution, determination, conclusion.
DECISIVAME'NTE, adv. decisively, determinately, resolutely.
DECISIVO, a, adj. decisive, conclusive.
DECLAMAÇAM, f. f. declamation, a declaiming, an oration made upon a theme; also the action of declaiming.
DECLAMADOR, f. f. a declaimer, a pleader; also a reciter or rehearser; also a publisher, proclaimer.
DECLAMA'DO, a, adj. See DECLAMAR, v. n. to declaim, to make set speeches.
Declamar muitas vezes, to declaim, or plead often.
DECLAMATO'RIO, a, adj. declamatory, pertaining to the exercise of declaiming.
DECLARAÇAM, f. f. a declaration, manifestation, explanation, exposition; also a deposition in law.
Declaração de bens, a publick owning, or registering of goods. (A law term.)
Fazer declaração dos bens, to give in an account of lands, or goods, so as to have them recorded, or registered.
DECLARADAME'NTE, adv. openly, clearly, evidently.
DECLARA'DO, a, adj. See DECLARAR, v. a. to declare, to manifest.
Declarar bem as palavras. See ARTICULAR.
Declarar os bens, ou fazendas, to give in an account of lands, or goods, so as to have them recorded, or registered. (in law.)
Declarar as fazendas aos officiaes da alfandega, to enter goods at the custom-house.
Inimigo declarado, a professed, or open enemy.
Declarar a guerra, to declare war.
Declarar-se, v. r. to declare, tell, or open one's mind, or thoughts.
Declarar-se por, ou contra alguém, to declare for, or against one.
Declarai-vos, explain yourself.
Declarar-se com alguém. See ABRIR-SE com alguém.
DECLARATIVO, a, adj. declarative, serving or tending to declare.
DECLINA, f. f. (in astronomy) allidada, or transom, or cross-staff, a kind of ruler that moves on the back of an astrolabe.
DECLINAÇAM, f. f. (in grammar) a declension, or the varying of nouns according to their diverse cases.
Declinação, a declining, a decaying.
Declinação, (among physicians) declension.
O dia está na sua declinação, it draws towards night, it grows late.
Declinação, (in astronomy) declination, or the distance of any star, or part of heaven, from the equator.

Declinação da idade, declining age.
Declinação da agulha, declination of the mariner's compass.
DECLINADO, a, adj. See DECLINAR.
DECLINANTE, p. aét. declining, going off. See the v. DECLINAR.
Relogios do sol declinantes, declining dials, dials drawn upon declining planes.
DECLINAR, v. a. to decline grammatically.
Declinar a jurisdição, (law term) to decline a jurisdiction.
Declinar, v. n. to decline, decay, to abate, to lessen, to grow less, to sink, to decrease.
O dia declina, ou vay declinando, it begins to grow late, it draws towards night.
Declinar o sol, (in astronomy) is for the sun to run from the equator.
Declinar, to bend downwards, to hang; also to lean, to incline, or to be inclined.
Declinar, to incline to, to come near, to be something like, (speaking of colours.)
Declinar, to decline, a term used in grammar.
DECLINATO'RIA, (a law term) ex. Exceção declinatoria, an exception taken against a judge or jurisdiction.
DECLIVE, adj. bending downward, steep.
DECLIVIDA'DE, f. f. a bending downward, a declivity.
DECOA'DA, f. f. ley-ashes.
Panno que cobre a cuba em que se faz a decoada, bucking-cloth.
Cuba em que se faz a decoada, buckingtub.
Decoada de ervas, the herbs that were boiled with the ley-ashes.
DECOCÇAM, f. f. decoction, a boiling or seething a medicinal liquor, or diet-drink, made of roots, herbs, &c. boiled.
Decocção, (metaph.) See DECISAM.
DECORA'DO, a, adj. See DECORAR, v. a. to learn by heart, to con-to fix in the mind, to study.
DECO'RO, f. m. suitableness of the character to the person.
Com decoro, comely, seemly, handsomely.
Decoro, decorum, that comeliness, order, decency, or good grace, which it becomes every man to observe in all his actions.
Guardar o decoro, to keep a decorum.
Causa contra o decoro, unbecoming, unhand-
 some, unseemly.
DECORO'SO, a, adj. decorous, decent, comely, seemly.
Decorofo, (metaph.) See MODESTO.
DECOTA'DO, a, adj. See DECOTAR.
Ave decotada, a bird that has the feathers rent and pulled in pieces.
Decotado, that has the neck and the breast uncovered, that has a naked breast.
DECOTA'R, v. a. to thin plants, to cutaway the boughs that hinder the light; also to prune or lop trees that they may grow, or spring up again.
DECRECIME'NTO, f. m. a decreasing.
DECREME'NTO, f. m. a decreasing.
Decremento da lua, the wane of the moon.
DECREPITA'R, v. a. (with chemists) to decrepitate, to calcine salt till it has ceased to make a crackling noise in the fire.

DECREPITO, a, adj. very old, decrepit.
DECRETA'DO, a, adj. See DECRETAR.
DECRETA'ES, f. f. p. Decretals, the second of the three volumes of the canon law; which contains the decretal epistles of popes, from Alexander III. to Gregory IX.
DECRETA'R, v. a. to decree, to resolve, determine.
DECRE'TO, f. m. a volume of the canon law, so called, collected by Gracian, a monk of the order of St. Benedict; also a decree, an edict, a law.
DECRETORIALME'NTE, adv. decisively, in manner of a final decision.
DECRETO'RIO, adj. critical, decisive.
Dia decretorio, (among physicians) the day when the disease may be judged of.
DECUBITO, f. m. the lying of a sick man a-bed. (Among physicians.)
DECUMA'NO, a, adj. the tenth; also huge, of a large size.
Onda decumana, a huge wave, or billow.
DE'CUPLO, a, adj. decuple, tenfold, ten times as much as another.
DECU'RIA, f. f. a decury, a committee of ten judges, or a band of ten troopers amongst the ancient Romans; also the number of ten scholars.
DECURIAN, f. m. a decurion; also a scholar that hears the lessons of ten other scholars, and looks at their exercises.
DECU'RSO, f. m. a course.
Decurso, a, adj. (a law term) ex. Foros decursos, ground-rents that are due.
DEDA'DA, f. f. as much as a finger can hold.
DEDA'L, f. f. a thimble, from dedo, a finger.
Dedal de alayate, a ring-thimble.
DEDA'ES, or DIDAES, a childish play with thimbles.
DEDE'IRA, f. f. a finger or thumb-stall for reapers, or mowers.
DEDICAÇAM, f. f. a dedication. See also CONSAGRAÇAM.
Dia da dedicaçam da igreja, dedication day, the festival at the consecrating of a church.
DEDICA'DO, a, adj. See
DEDICA'R, v. a. to dedicate, or consecrate.
Dedicar hum livro, to dedicate, or address a book.
DEDICATO'RIA, f. f. dedication, an epistle dedicatory.
DEDIGNA'R-SE, v. r. to count unworthy, not to vouchsafe, to disdain, slight, or scorn.
DEDILHA'DO, a, adj. See
DEDILHAR, v. n. to stop the strings of a harp, or any instrument of music, in the neck.
DEDINHO, f. m. a little finger, diminut. of DE'DO, f. m. a finger.
O dedo polegar, the thumb.
O dedo mostrador, the fore-finger.
Dedo do meyo, the middle-finger.
Dedo anular, the ring-finger.
Dedo meeminho, or minimo, the little-finger.
Dedo do pé, a toe.
Pontas dos dedos, the tips or tops of the fingers.
Juntas e nos dos dedos, the joints and knuckles of the fingers.
Largura de hum dedo, a finger's breadth.
Mostrar com o dedo, to point out with the finger.

Contar pelos dedos, to reckon by the fingers.
Dar estalos com os dedos, to make a snapping with the fingers.
Dedos de huma mão metidos por entre os da outra, peckinated fingers.
Postura dos dedos de huma mão metidos por entre os da outra, peckination.
Naõ te afastes a grossura de hum dedo, don't stir a jot.
Pauvinho ou couro que se põem no dedo ferido ou doente, a finger-stall.
Saber ou ter huma coisa nas pontas dos dedos, to have a thing at one's fingers end, to be perfect.
Tocar com os dedos, (metaph.) to see clearly, or plainly.
Fazer tocar alguma coisa com os dedos, (metaph.) to demonstrate a thing, to make it out as clear as the sun at noon-day.
Hum dedo de vinho, a little wine.
O dedo de Deos, the finger, or doing of God.
Couza pertencente aos dedos, of or belonging to a finger, digital.
Elle não deixa meter o dedo na boca, (a familiar expression) that is, he is not a fool, he is sharp enough.
Dedo, (in astronomy) digit, or the twelfth part of the diameter of the sun, or moon, and is used to denote the quantity of an eclipse.
Morder-se os dedos, to bite one's fingers, to be enraged, to be in a great passion.
DEDUCÇAM, f. f. a deducing, a deduction; also a conclusion, consequence, or inference.
DEDUZI'DO, a, adj. See
DEDUZIR, v. a. to deduce, to draw one thing from another, to infer; also to conduct, to guide, to lead, or bring along.
DEFAMADO, DEFAMAR. See DISFAMADO, and DISFAMAR.
DEFECA'DO, a, adj. defecated, refined from the dregs; also pure, unmixed. (Metaph.)
DEFECA'R, v. a. to defecate, to purge from dregs, to refine.
A açam de defecar, defecation.
DEFECTIBILIDA'DE, f. f. faintness, lassitude, weakness, feebleness.
DEFECTIVO, (in grammar) ex. Nomres defectivos, defective nouns.
Verbo defectivo, a defective verb.
DEFECTUOSO, or DEFEITUOSO, a, adj. defective, faulty, imperfect, maimed.
DEFEITO, f. m. defect, blemish, failing, imperfection, want; a fault, a mistake, an error.
DEFEITUOSO. See DEFECTUOSO.
DEFENDE'NTE, f. m. a respondent, he that answers the opponent in disputations.
DEFENDE'R, v. a. to defend, to protect, support, or uphold; to assert, maintain, or justify; also to answer the opponent in disputations.
Defender-se, v. r. to defend, to keep one's self from.
DEFENDI'DO, a, adj. See DEFENDER.
DEFENSA, f. f. defence, guard, or protection.
Defensa, (in military affairs) defence, opposition.
Sem defesa, defenceless, without defence.

Por-se em defesa, to stand upon one's defence, or guard.
Linha da defesa fixante, line of defence fixed or rictant, or that line which is drawn from the angle of the curtain to the flanked angle of the opposite bastion, nevertheless without touching the face of the bastion.
Linha da defesa razante, ou flanqueante, line of defence, rasant, a line drawn from the point of the bastion along the face, till it comes to the curtain.
DEFENSA'M, f. f. See DEFENSA.
DEFENSA'VEL, adj. defensible, of defence.
DEFENSIVO, a, adj. defensive.
Armas defensivas, defensive arms.
Remedio defensivo, (among surgeons) defensives, or such medicines which divert humours from a part affected.
DEFENSO'R, f. m. defender, protector.
Defensor da fe, defender of the faith, a title given by Pope Leo X. to king Henry VIII. of England, for writing against Luther.
DEFERE'NTE, (in astronomy) deferent, an imaginary circle or orb in the Ptolemaic system, that is supposed, as it were, to carry about the body of the planet, and it is the same with eccentric.
DEFERIDO, a, adj. See
DEFERIR, v. n. to answer or subscribe a petition; also to grant, yield, to allow, to approve of, to permit.
Deferir como se pede, to grant what a petitioner or requester asks for.
Deferir à experiencia, to be led, moved, or persuaded by experience.
DEFE'SA, f. f. (in law) a reply, or defence.
Nada disse em sua defesa, he said nothing in his behalf.
Defesa, (in fortification.) See DEFENSA.
Defesa. See DEVEZA.
DEFESO. See PROHIBIDO.
DEFICIENCIA. See FALTA.
DEFIDENTE, adj. mistrustful, diffident, suspicious, from the Ital. Diffidente.
DEFINHA'DO, a, adj. See MAGRO and DEFINHA'R, v. n. to consume, or pine away. See EMMAGRECER.
DEFINICA'M, f. f. a definition.
DEFINIDO'R, f. m. one who defines, or determines; also a definitor, counsellor, or assistant of a general or provincial of a religious order.
DEFINI'DO, a, adj. See
DEFINIR, v. a. to explain, to define.
DEFINITIVAMENTE, adv. decisively, definitively, determinately, conclusively.
DEFINITIVO, a, adj. ex. Parte definitiva, (in rhetoric) so the rhetoricians call that stating of a cause, wherein the terms of the controversy are first to be explained. See also DECLSIVO.
DEFIRIR, ou disfirir á vela, (a sea phrase) to set sail, to sail, to go out.
DEFLORA'DO, a, adj. See
DEFLORAR, v. a. to deflower or desflower, to rob a virgin of the flower of her virginity; also to pick out or cull, to choose.
DEFLUVIO, f. m. a falling of the hair.
DEFLUXO, f. m. See CATARRO, and ESTILICIDIO.
DEFORMA'DO, a, adj. See
DEFORMAR,

DEFORMAR, v. a. to disfigure, or mar the fashion of, to deform.
DEFORME, adj. deformed, ugly, misshapen, disfigured.
DEFORMIDADE, f. f. deformity, ugliness; also disgrace, dishonour, (in a figurative sense.)
DEFRALDADO. See DESFRALDADO.
DEFRALDAR. See DESFRALDAR.
DEFRAUDADO, a, adj. See
DEFRAUDAR, v. a. to defraud, to cheat, to cozen, or beguile, to deprive by a trick; also to refuse, to deny, to deprive.
Defraudar a sua natureza, ou estomago, to pinch one's belly. Terence says, defraudare genium.
O que defrauda, a deceiver, a beguiler.
Defraudar-se, v. r. to deprive one's self of; also to usurp the property of a thing, to claim or take to one's self.
DEFRAUDO, f. m. a deceiving, beguiling, cozening, defrauding; also the thing a man was deprived of by a trick.
DEFONTAR, v. n. to face, to stand opposite to (speaking of mountains, islands, &c.)
DEFUTADO. See DESFUTADO.
DEFUTAR. See DESFUTAR.
DEFUMADO, a, adj. smoky, or black with smoke; also dried in the smoke, smoke-dried. See also the v. DEFUMAR.
DEFUMADURA. See PERFUME.
DEFUMAR, v. a. to smoke, to hang or dry in the smoke; also to blacken with smoke.
Defumar, (perfumar.) See PERFUMAR.
DEFUNTA, f. f. DEFUNTO, f. m. the dead body of a woman, or man.
O dia da commemoração dos defuntos, All Souls day.
Bens do defunto que servem para pagar as dividas e legados, assets.
Defunto, a, adj. that is dead, deceased, late.
O rey defunto, the late king.
DEGELADO, a, adj. thawed.
DEGELAR-SE, v. r. to thaw. From the French dégeler.
DEGENERADO, a, adj. See
DEGENERAR, v. n. to degenerate, to grow out of kind, (speaking of trees, &c.)
Degenerar de si mesmo, to change one's mind, to alter from himself.
Degenerar dos seus antepassados, to degenerate, to fall from the virtue of his ancestors.
O que degenera da virtude dos seus antepassados, a layman, one that degenerates from the virtues of his ancestors.
Causa que degenera, degenerating.
Degenerar, to grow worse, (speaking of trees that are transplanted.)
Degenerar em prado, to turn into a green field, or common.
DEGOLAÇÃO, f. f. decollation, a beheading.
DEGOLADO, a, adj. See DEGOLAR.
DEGOLADOURO, the butchery, a slaughter-house; also the fore-part of the neck where the wind-pipe is.
DEGOLAR, v. a. to kill, or cut one's throat, to behead, or decapitate.
DEGRADAÇÃO, f. f. degradation, a degrading, a disqualifying.
DEGRADADO, a, adj. See DEGRADAR, v. a. to banish, to turn or send out of his native, into some foreign country; also to cast out, drive out, or away. (Metaph.)

Degradar, to degrade, to deprive of an office, title, or dignity.
Degradar da nobreza, to degrade from the estate of a nobleman.
Degradar da milicia, to put out of commission, to cashier a soldier, to disband, to dismiss out of service with disgrace.
Degradar do clero, to degrade a priest from his priesthood for ever.
DEGRADO, adv. willingly, readily, freely, gladly.
Muito degrado, very willingly.
DEGRADUADO, a, adj. See
DEGRADUAR, v. a. to deprive of an office, title, or dignity.
DEGRÃO, f. m. step of stairs, or of a ladder.
De degrão em degrão, ou por degrãos, gradually, by degrees, by steps, by little and little.
Degrão, (metaph.) an occasion, entry, way, or means to a thing, degree.
DEGREDO, f. m. banishment, exile, transportation.
DEIDADE, f. f. a deity, a fabulous god, or goddess.
Deidade, or substituto de deos. See SUBSTITUTO, and DEOS.
DEJEÇÃO, f. f. (among physicians.) See CÁMARAS.
DEIFICAÇÃO, f. f. See APOTHEOSIS.
DEIFICADO, a, adj. See
DEIFICAR, v. a. to deify, to put among the gods.
DEIFICO, a, adj. See DIVINO.
DEIFORME, adj. (an ascetic word) that is united to God, or that is conformable to God's will.
DEISTAS, f. m. p. deists, a sect so called.
DEITADO, a, adj. See DEITAR, and DEITAR-SE.
DEITAR, v. a. to cast, throw, fling.
Deitar lagrimas, to shed tears.
Deitar sangue, to bleed.
Deitar água, to pour water.
Deitar fora, to thrust; or drive out.
Deitar a perder, to spoil, to ruin, to corrupt, (both in the proper and figurative sense.)
O calor deita a perder a carne, heat taints the meat.
Deitar, to put, or stretch; as, Elle deitou a cabeça fora da varruagem, he put his head out of the coach.
Deitar gallinbas, to lay a course of eggs under a hen to hatch them.
Deitar ovos as gallinbas, the same.
Gallinha deitada, or choca. See CHOCO.
Deitar a culpa, to tax, to lay the fault on.
Deitar a culpa sobre outrem, to cast the fault upon another.
Deitar no chão, to throw or pull down.
Deitar a semente à terra. See SEMEAR.
Deitar em rosto, to throw a thing in one's dish, to hit in the teeth with.
Deitar a língua fora da boca, to loll out one's tongue.
Deitar sortes, to cast lots.
Deitar raizes, to take root.
Deitar ancora, to cast anchor.
Deitar huma coisa a mal, to take any thing ill.
Deitar, to put to bed.
Deitar huma ajuda, to give a glyster.

Deitar de costas a alguém, to lay one on his back.
Deitar ventosas, to cup, as the surgeon does.
Deitar debruços a alguém, to lay one with the mouth down.
Deitar grilhões, to fetter, to shackle.
Deitar a mão, to lay hold of.
Deitar hum bando, to make a proclamation.
Deitar às costas, to take upon one's back.
Deitar a conta, to make the account, to reckon.
Deitar humas solas nos sapatos, to sole shoes.
Deitar para hum canto, to cast into a corner, to despise, to contemn.
Deitar hum cadeado, to shut up with a padlock.
Deitar hum remendo, to patch, or piece.
Deitar vinho, to fill, or pour out wine.
Deitar huma ferradura a hum cavallo, to shoe a horse.
Deitar hum vestido, to put on a new suit of cloaths.
Deitar poeira nos olhos, to throw dust in one's eyes, to give him to understand that the moon is made of green cheese. (Metaph.)
Deitar alguém a dormir, to lay a-sleep, or to sleep.
Ir-se deitar, to go to bed.
Idem deitar, go to bed.
P. deitar em facho roto, to spend the breath in vain.
P. deitar azeite no fogo, to make bad worse. Horace says, oleum addere camino.
Deitar, v. n. to come, to amount.
A quanto deita tudo? what does the whole amount to?
Deitar-se, v. r. to go to bed, or to lie down.
Deitar-se vestido, to lie rough, or with one's cloaths on.
Deitar-se por terra, to lie down flat, to lie along.
Deitar-se a dormir, to lie down to sleep.
Deitar remosques. See REMOQUEAR.
Se fizerdes esta vida deitar-vos-eis a perder, if you live such a life you'll ruin yourself.
DEIXA, f. f. (legado.) See LEGADO.
Deixa, ou a ultima palavra de huma figura que faz lembrar a outra, o que tem para dizer, cue, or the last words of a speech, which the player, who is to answer, catches, and looks on as an intimation to begin.
DEIXAÇÃO, f. f. a giving, or giving up, a renouncing.
DEIXADO, a, adj. See
DEIXAR, v. a. to leave, to forsake, to quit; also to leave behind; also to leave off, or over.
Deixar de, &c. to let pass, to slip, or pass over; to make no mention of, to leave out, or omit.
Deixar, to transmit by writing, or tradition.
Deixar, to suffer, to permit, to let one do a thing.
Deixei-o em casa, I left him at home.
Deixo a vossa consideração, I leave you to think.
Deixei recado a moça para que lto dicesse, I left word with the maid that she should tell him of it.
Deixar a propria mulher, to leave, or put away one's wife.
Deixame com isso, leave that to me.

Deixar fugir huma boa occasião, to slip, or let slip a fair opportunity.
Deixar no ar, to leave undetermined.
Deixaime, let me alone, be quiet, don't meddle with me.
Deixai-o, let him alone.
Deixar no testamento, to bequeath, or leave by will.
Deixaime hir, pray let me go.
Deixar, to lay aside, or apart.
Deixei a minha bolsa sobre a mesa, I left or forgot my purse upon the table.
Deixai aqui a vossa capa, leave your cloak here.
Deixar hum caminho à direita, to leave a way on the right-hand.
Elle deixou os seus papeis nas mãos de fulano, he has left his papers with such a one, he has deposited them in his hands.
Deixar ao cuidado ou prudencia de alguém, to leave, to trust, or commit to one's care, or prudence.
Deixar, or perder a vida, to lose, or lay down one's life.
Não deixar homem à vida, to kill every man, to spare none.
A pesar de quanto lhe tenho dito, não deixa de o fazer, for all that I told him, he does not leave off, or forbear doing it, or he still does it.
Isto porém não deixa de ser certo, it is certain nevertheless, or for all that.
Nunca deixarei de amarvos, I shall always love you.
Não deixarei de fazer da minha parte o que puder, it shall not be wanting on my part.
Deixai de cuidar nisso, trouble not yourself about it, don't think about it.
Não deixar cabir huma coisa no chão, to take notice of a thing. (Metaph.)
Não deixarei de passar pela vossa casa, I shall not balk your house.
Deixar de, &c. to abstain from, &c.
Não pode deixar de ser, it cannot be otherwise.
Carne que deixa máo gosto, a meat that leaves an ill taste behind.
Deixar, to cause, to occasion.
Deixar a pele, to die.
Deixar o mundo, to leave the world, to enter into a religious life.
Deixar as escuras, to leave in the dark.
Deixar alguém com a palavra na boca, to leave one without hearing what he says.
Deixar no tinteiro, to omit, to leave out, not to mention.
Deixar as rédeas ao cavallo, to let loose the reins of a horse, to give him the head.
Deixar alguém com a boca aberta, to deceive one's hopes.
Deixar de parte, to lay aside.
P. deixemos de zombar e fallemos de sério, jesting aside, let us speak seriously. Horace says, amote queramus seria ludo.
P. deixame nas pontas do touro; that is, he left me in great danger.
Deixar-se, v. r. ex. Deixate disso, let that alone.
Deixar-se cabir, to fall.
Deixar-se dar, to suffer one's self to be beaten.
Deixar-se persuadir, to be persuaded, to be prevailed upon.

Deixar-se levar de seus appetites, to addict, to abandon one's self up to passions, to gratify one's passions.
Deixar-se do negocio, to leave off trade.
Deixar-se cabir em tentação, to yield to a temptation, to give way to it.
Deixar-se enganar, to be imposed upon, or to suffer to be imposed upon.
Deixar-se hir pela agoa abaixo, (metaph.) to commit one's self to fortune, to make on account of any thing.
DELAMBE'R-SE, v. r. it is vulgarly used, speaking of a sneering fellow, that slips away laughing in his sleeve.
DELATADO, a, adj. See
DELATAR, v. a. to accuse, to impeach, to inform against one; also to acquaint one, or make one acquainted with.
DELATOR, f. m. an informer, an evidence, an accuser. Lat. See also the v. DELATAR.
DELECTO, f. m. choice, or picking out.
DELEGAÇÃO, f. f. delegation, or commission.
DELEGADO, f. m. a delegate, one to whom authority is committed from another, to handle and determine matters.
Delegado, a, adj. delegated, &c. See
DELEGAR, v. a. to delegate, to appoint, by an extraordinary commission, judges, to hear and determine a particular case.
Delegar, to communicate, to impart. (Metaph.)
DELEITAÇÃO, f. f. a delight, pleasure, enjoyment.
DELEITADO, a, adj. See
DELEITAR, v. a. to delight, to please.
Deleitar-se, v. r. to be delighted.
DELEITAVEL, adj. pleasant, delightful.
DELEITE, f. m. See DELEITAÇÃO.
DELEITOSO, a, adj. See DELEITAVEL.
DELEIXADO, a, adj. See MOLLE and PREGUIÇOSO.
DELEIXAMENTO, f. m. faintness, feebleness, weakness; also laziness, slothfulness.
DELETERIO, a, adj. ex. Remedios deletorios, deleterious medicines, that is, whose particles are of a poisonous nature. Greek.
DELETREAR. See SOLETRAR.
DELFIN, a dolphin, a sea-fish.
Delfin, (in astronomy) dolphin, a constellation so called.
Delfin de França, the dolphin or dauphin, the eldest son of the king of France, whose coat of arms is set out with dolphins and fleurs-de-lis.
Delfins, (in gunnery) dolphins, or handles made in that form to pieces of ordnance.
DELGADAMENTE, adv. thinly, nicely, finely: also ingeniously, subtilely.
DELGADEZA, thinness, fineness.
Delgadeza do engenbo, subtilty, sharpness of wit.
DELGADO, a, adj. slender, thin; also subtle, acute.
Fiar delgado, to spin nicely.
Fiar delgado, (metaph.) to look too narrowly into things; also to be too sparing, too saving, stingy, and penurious. (In the same sense.)
DELIA, f. f. one of the names of Diana, or the moon.

DELIBERAÇÃO, f. f. deliberation; also resolution, determination.
DELIBERADAMENTE, adv. deliberately, purposely, advisedly, for the purpose.
DELIBERADO, a, adj. consulted of, deliberate; also free; also resolved, resolute, stout, hardy, bold, intrepid, fearless. See the v.
DELIBERAR, v. n. to deliberate upon a thing; also to take a resolution.
DELIBERATIVO, a, adj. pertaining to deliberation.
DELICADAMENTE, adv. delicately, deliciously; also sharply, ingeniously.
DELICADEZA, f. f. daintiness, delicacy, niceness.
Delicadezas de huma lingua, the niceties, or delicacies of a language.
Delicadeza do engenbo. See DELGADEZA.
DELICADO, a, adj. delicate, fine, dainty; also ingenious.
Manjares delicados, dainty hits.
Mãos delicadas, soft hands.
Delicado, (subtil) thin, small, slender.
Delicado, (polido) nice.
Delicado, (que não pode sofrer) queasy, squeamish, that loatheth, and cannot brook an affront.
Estomago muito delicado, a squeamish stomach.
Delicado de compleição, delicate, nice, weak, tender.
Ter o gosto delicado, to love good things; also to have a good genius.
Conciencia delicada, a tender, or nice conscience.
DELICIA, f. f. delight, pleasure, that which delights.
DELICIA-R-SE, v. r. See DELEITAR-SE.
DELICIOSAMENTE, adv. deliciously, delightfully, wooingly.
DELICIOSO, a, adj. delightful, delicious, sweet, agreeable.
Delicioso, (dado às delicias) voluptuous, sensual, given to pleasures.
DELICTO. See DELITO.
DELIDO, a, adj. liquified, made liquid, dissolved.
DELINEAÇÃO, f. f. a delineation.
DELINEADO, a, adj. See
DELINEAR, v. a. to delineate, to draw the outlines; also to describe. (Metaph.)
DELINEATIVO, a, adj. that can delineate.
DELINQUENTE, p. act. a delinquent, an offender.
DELINQUIDO. See
DELINQUIR, v. n. to transgress, to offend, to commit a crime.
DELIQUADO, a, adj. See
DELIQUAR, v. a. (in chemistry) to dissolve the calx by suspending it in moist cellars.
DELIQUIO, f. m. a fainting, or swooning, Lat.
Deliquio, (in chemistry) deliquium.
Resolver por deliquio. See DELIQUAR.
DELIR, v. a. to liquify, to dissolve, to make liquid.
DELIRADO, a, adj. See DELIRAR.
DELIRAMENTO. See DELIRIO.
DELIRAR, v. n. to rave, to be light-headed, to talk idly.

Que delira, doating, that talks or acts idly, delirious.
DELIRIO, f. m. deliration, a doating, or being beside one's self.
DELITO, f. m. a crime.
DELIVRA'DO, a, adj. See
DELIVRA'R, v. n. is for a woman in labour to expel the after-birth.
DELLA, DELLE, the genitives of the relative pronouns ELLA, ELLE, which see.
DELO'NGA, f. f. ou DELO'NGO, f. m. See DILAÇAM.
DELTETON, f. m. a constellation of six stars, like the letter Δ, Deltoton, otherwise called Triangulus Septentrionalis.
DEI'U'BRO, f. m. a church, chapel, a place consecrated to some god; also a shrine, or place where some image or idol stood.
DELUCIDARIO. See DILUCIDARIO.
DELUTO, f. m. (among physicians) an infusion.
DEMA'NDA, f. f. a suit, a plea, a process in law.
O feito ou actos de huma demanda, papers, belonging to a law-suit, the particulars of a case.
Demanda civil, ou criminal, a civil or criminal cause.
Fazer, armar, por demanda a alguém, to sue one, or bring his action against.
Perder a demanda, to lose his action, to be cast.
Vencer a demanda, to carry the cause, to cast one's adversary.
Ter huma demanda, or andar em demanda, to have a law-suit, to be at law.
Compôr huma demanda, to make an end of a law-suit by compounding with the plaintiff.
O que anda em demanda, a client, one that has a suit in law.
Andar em demanda, to hunt after, to strive to obtain.
Hir em demanda de alguém, to inquire after one.
Hir em demanda de algum lugar, to seek, to look for a place.
DEMANDADO, a, adj. requested, sued for. See the v. DEMANDAR.
DEMANDANTE, or DEMANDAM. See DEMANDISTA.
DEMANDAR, v. a. to sue at law; also to go, to march, to seek for a place, to repair to it; also to require, to demand.
Hir demandar, (speaking of things) to reach.
DEMANDISTA, f. m. a splitter of causes, a barterer, a caviller, or quarrelsome knave. In law, a pettifogger, a litigious man.
DEMARCAÇAM, f. f. a bounding, or limiting; also a boundary, or land-mark.
Demarçam, the land that is limited, or bounded.
Demarçam. (In a moral sense.) See LI-MITE.
DEMARCA'DO, a, adj. See
DEMARCA'R, v. a. to bound, to set bounds to, to limit; also to serve as a boundary or land-mark.
DEMASI'A, f. f. overplus, superfluity; also want of moderation, unreasonableness, excess.

Em demasia, too much, excessively.
Demasia, the rest of the money.
Demasia, insolence, haughtiness, sauciness.
DEMASIADAME'NTE, adv. excessively.
DEMASI'A'DO, adv. the same.
Demasiado, a, adj. overmuch, excessive, immoderate.
DEMASI'A'R-SE, v. r. to grow immoderate, extravagant, or intemperate.
DEME'NCIA, f. f. madness, stupidity, silliness.
DEMERECIME'NTO. See
DEME'RITO, f. m. want of merit, or desert, demerit.
DEMIGO'LLA, f. f. (in fortification) demi-gorge.
DEMINUIÇAM. See DIMINUIÇAM.
DEMINU'DO, &c. See DIMINUIDO, &c.
DEMISSAM, or DIMISSAM, the resignation of an office, quitting, or laying aside; also a discharge of soldiers.
DEMI'SSO, a, adj. ex. Ter os olhos demissos, to look downwards.
DEMITI'DO, a, adj. See
DEMITIR, ou dimitir, v. a. to give over, to leave off.
Demitir de si a vontade, to be unwilling.
Demitir de si a razão, to slight or contemn reason.
Demitir o seu direito, to yield up one's right.
Demitir, (a military word) to dismiss, to discharge.
DE'MO, f. m. See DEMONIO.
P. não he o demo tam feo como o pintaõ; we say, the lion is not so fierce as his picture.
DEMOCRA'CIA, f. f. democracy, a popular state, such as Holland. Greek.
DEMOCRA'CIO, a, adj. democratical.
DEMOLIÇAM, f. f. a destruction, demolition, ruin.
DEMOLI'DO, a, adj. See
DEMOLIR, v. a. to demolish, to pull down any thing built.
DEMO'NIO, f. m. demon, an evil spirit, the devil. Greek.
DEMONSTRAÇAM. See DEMONSTRACAM.
DEMONSTRADO. See DEMONSTRADO.
DEMONSTRAR, &c. See DEMONSTRAR, &c.
DEMO'RA, f. f. delay.
Fazer demora. See DEMORAR-SE.
DEMORA'DO, a, adj. See
DEMORA'R, v. n. to lie, or be situate; also to delay, or keep back, v. a.
Demorar-se, v. r. to lie, or stick; also to tarry, to stay, to lag, to loiter.
Nos demoramo-nos lá tres dias, we tarried there three days.
DEMONSTRAÇAM, f. f. demonstration, a clear proof; also a sign, or token.
Demostaçam, (in mathematics) a demonstration, or a proof founded on self-evident principles.
DEMONSTRA'DO, a, adj. See DEMONSTRAR.
DEMONSTRADO'R, or DEMONSTRADOR, f. m. one that demonstrates, or shews things plain.
Dedo demonstrador, or mostrador. See DEDO.
DEMONSTRANTE, or DEMONSTRAN-

TE, (in heraldry) that points at a thing.
DEMONSTRAR, or DEMONSTRAR, v. a. to demonstrate, to shew plainly, to prove evidently.
DEMONSTRATIVAME'NTE, adv. demonstratively, convincingly.
DEMONSTRATIVO, or DEMONSTRATIVO, a, adj. demonstrative.
DEMOVI'DO, a, adj. See
DEMOVER, v. a. to displace, to turn out of an office.
DEMUDA'DO, a, adj. that has changed countenance, turned pale.
DEMUDA'R-SE, v. r. to change countenance, to turn pale. From Mudar, to change.
DENARIO, f. m. a Roman denier, near the weight of the Attic drachm, in value about eightpence three farthings of our money, till after the reign of Vespasian, when the weight of it being reduced it amounted not to above seven-pence half-penny.
DENDRO'PHOROS, f. m. p. dendrophori, those who performed that office in the dendrophoria.
DENDROPHORIA, f. f. dendrophoria, a ceremony performed in the sacrifices of Bacchus, Cybele, &c. of carrying trees through a city.
DENEGA'DO, a, adj. See
DENEGA'R, v. a. not to give or grant. See also ARRENEGAR.
DENEGRIDO. } See { DENIGRIDO.
DENEGRIR. } See { DENIGRIR.
DE'NGUE, f. m. a coyness or affectation; also a minion, a darling, or favourite.
DENIGRI'DO, a, adj. made black; also made black and blue, pale and wan, of the colour of lead.
DENIGRI'R, v. a. to blacken, to denigrate.
Denigrir-se, v. r. to wax black, to turn black.
DENODADAME'NTE, adv. rashly.
DENODA'DO, adj. bold, resolute, intrepid; also rapid, violent, rash.
Voto denodado, a rash and inconsiderate vow, as that made by Vasco Martins de Melo, in 1385, at Aljubarrota, of apprehending the king of Spain.
DENODO. See ATREVIMENTO.
DENOMINAÇAM, f. f. denomination.
DENOMINADO'R, f. m. (in arithmetic) denominator.
DENOMINA'DO, a, adj. See
DENOMINA'R-SE, v. p. to be denominated.
DENOTA'DO, a, adj. See
DENOTA'R, v. a. to denote, mark, or signify.
DENSAME'NTE, adv. thickly.
DENSIDA'DE, f. f. density, thickness. See also ESPESSURA.
DE'NSO, a, adj. dense, thick, close, compact; a term opposed to thin. See also ESPESSO.
Ar denso, gross air.
Densas trevas, great darkness.
Densa nevoa, a thick fog.
Denso, full of, impervious, unpassable.
Materia densa, como borra, ou outra coisa semelhante, a thick matter, as the dregs, grounds, or sediments of any liquor.
Fazer denso, to thicken, to make thick.
DENTA'DA, f. f. a mark; or bite of a tooth, the

the impression made with the teeth in any thing.	of one that can eat more than he can earn.	say, he that sends mouths sends meat; that is, God made no body to forsake him, he provides for all the creatures he makes.
DENTA'DO , a , adj. toothed, having teeth.	P. quando cuidas metter o dente em seguro, coparas o duro , harm watch, harm catch. Horace says, et fragili quarens illidere dentem, offendet solido .	P. cada qual por si, e Deos por todos , every one for himself, and God for all.
DENIA'M , a kind of fish with sharp teeth.	P. dar com a lingua nos dentes , to contradict one's self, to belie.	DE'OSA , f. f. a goddess.
DE'NTE , f. m. a tooth.	A acçam de dar com a lingua nos dentes, ou contradizer-se em juizo , miskenning, or miskenning.	DE'OSSES da gentildade , heathen gods, or deities.
Dentes incisivos , or gelajinos , the fore-teeth.	Dente de liam , the herb called lions-tooth.	DEPARA'DO , a , adj. See
Dentes caninos , or oculares , the eye-teeth, or fangers.	DENTIFRÍCIO , f. m. dentifrice, a powder for scouring, cleaning, and whitening of teeth.	DEPARAR , v. a. this verb is used speaking of persons, or things, upon which we light, or with which we meet by chance; as, deparoume Deos esse homem , I met with this man by chance, or God sent this man to me.
Dentes molares , or queixaes , the grinders, or cheek-teeth.	DENTILHOENS . See COLUMNA .	Deos ma depare boa , God send it be good to me.
Dentes cabeiros , da sabedoria , or do fiso , the two farthest teeth, which come last; they are called dentes sapientiæ , because they grow after a man is come to years of maturity.	DENTINHO , f. m. a little tooth, diminut. of Dente .	DEPARTIÇAM , f. f. (obsolet.) See CONVERSACAM .
Dentes colmilhos , (in a horse) the four teeth next the gatherers, that is, one on each side above and below; the tusks or tusks of a horse.	DE'NTRO , prep. and adv. within.	DEPARTIDO , a , adj. See
Colmilhos da parte de fora , (in a horse) wolf's teeth, two teeth in the upper jaw, which grow sharp pointed, so as to prick the tongue and gums.	Dentro das muralhas , within the walls.	DEPARTIR , v. n. to speak together, to discourse, to confer. (obsolet.)
Colmilhos da parte de fora , (in a horse) wolf's teeth, two teeth in the upper jaw, which grow sharp pointed, so as to prick the tongue and gums.	For dentro , thorough; also inwardly, or withinside.	Departir-se , v. r. See APARTAR-SE .
Dentes cavalgados , ou postos buns sobre os outros , snag, or snagged teeth.	De dentro , from within.	DEPENNA'DO , a , adj. See
Que tem os dentes muito apartados buns dos outros , gap-toothed.	Dentro de casa , within doors, at home.	DEPENNA'R , v. a. to peck, or plume; also to strip, to spoil, to rob, to bereave. (Metaph.)
O que tira dentes , a tooth-drawer.	Para dentro , inward, or inwards, towards the inner parts.	DEPENDENCIA , f. f. dependence, or dependency, a relation, or subjection to.
Dente aballado , a loose tooth.	Hir para dentro , to go in.	DEPENDENTE , p. aet. depending.
Dor de dentes , the tooth-ach.	Dentro is also used as a substantive; as, o de dentro , the inside.	DEPENDER , v. n. to depend.
Corvas das dentes , the sockets of the teeth.	De portas a dentro , within doors.	DE'ENDIDO , part. of the preterp. tense of dependere . Ex. Ter dependido , to have been a dependant.
Começa a nacer-lhe bum dente , one of his teeth begins to peep out.	Dentro de poucos dias , within a few days.	DEPENDURA . See PENDURA .
O nacer dos dentes , the breeding of the teeth.	DLNTUÇA , f. f. crookedness, or bending of the teeth; also he who has got gag-teeth.	DEPENDURADO . See PENDURADO .
Tempo em que nace os dentes , dentition.	DENUNCIACAM , f. f. an information.	DEPENDURAR . See PENDURAR .
Fallar por entre os dentes , to speak between one's teeth, to mumble, to mutter, to growl.	Denunciaçam de guerra , a declaration of war.	Estar a dependura , to be very near to die.
Tomar entre dentes , to defame, to slander. (Metaph.)	DENUNCIADO , a , adj. See DENUNCIAR .	DEPENICA'DO , a , adj. See
Todos o tomão entre dentes , every one has a sting at him.	DENUNCIADO'R , f. m. an informer, a secret accuser.	DEPENICA'R , v. a. to pluck off by little and little.
Mudar os dentes , to shed teeth.	DENUNCIAR , v. a. to inform against one. See also DECLARAR .	DEPLORA'DO , a , adj. deplorate, hopeless, past recovery, past all hope, given over. See also
Mostrar os dentes , (metaph.) to show the teeth, to show one's self a man of courage.	Denunciar guerra , to declare war.	DEPLORAR , v. a. to deplore, to lament, to bewail.
Dente de alho , a clove of garlic.	DENVOLTA . See ENVOLTA .	DEPLORA'VEL , adj. deplorable, sad, calamitous, miserable.
Bate os dentes com frio , his teeth chatter with cold.	DE'OS , f. m. God.	DEPOENTE , (in grammar) a verb dependent.
Ter dente de coelbo , so they say when a matter or writing is very intricate or hard.	Deos vos guarde , (a form of saluting at meeting) God save you.	DEPOIME'NTO , f. m. a testimony; an evidence, or deposition; also a bearing of witness, a testifying.
Dentes postigos , set teeth.	Deos vos acompanhe , God be with you.	DEPO'IS , or DESPOIS , prep. after.
Dente da ancora , flook of an anchor.	Deos vo lo pague , God-a-mercy.	Depois que , since.
Dente do arado , the wood wherein the share or coulter of the plough is put; also the coulter.	Deos vos de bom successo , God speed you.	O dia depois , the day after.
Ranger com os dentes , to gnash with the teeth for anger, or pain.	Por providencia de Deos , as God would have.	Logo depois , forthwith, immediately.
Remedio para alimpar os dentes , dentifrice.	A Deos , adieu, farewell.	DEPONENTE . See DEPOENTE .
Dente , (in masonry) toothing, a corner stone left for more buildings.	Não queira Deos , God forbid.	DEPOPULADO , a , adj. unpeopled, depopulated.
Dente de pentem , the tooth of a comb.	Queira Deos , God grant.	DEPO'R , v. a. to turn out; to remove, to depose; also to lay down, to resign.
Dente de serra , the tooth of a saw.	Prouvera a Deos , would to God.	A acçam de depor , deposing.
Dente da roda de moinho , a cog of a mill-wheel.	Deos o faça , God grant it.	Depor as armas , to lay down arms.
Fazer os dentes a huma roda , to cog a wheel.	Por graça de Deos , by the grace of God.	Depor, or fazer depoimento , to depose, to swear to as a witness.
P. primeiro sam dentes que parentes ; we say, near is my coat, but nearer is my skin; and Terence says, heus proximus sum ego met mihi .	Graças a Deos , God be thanked, or thanks be to God.	Depor em alguém alguma coisa , to deposit, or trust a thing with one.
P. lá vai a lingua onde o dente grita , to scratch where it itches.	Por amor de Deos , for God's sake.	Depor a vida , to die, to expire.
Valente do dente ; so they say, speaking	Valha-me Deos , God help me, or good God!	DEPORTAÇAM , f. f. transportation, or banishment, also a carrying away captive.
	Deos lhe tenha a sua alma na gloria , God rest his soul.	DEPORTADO , a , adj. banished, exiled.
	Está com Deos , or Deos o levou , he is dead.	DEPOSIÇAM , f. f. a deposing, degrading, degradation. See also the v. DEPOSITAR .
	P. quem não falla não o ouve Deos , a man may hold his tongue in an ill time.
	P. quando Deos não quer, santos não rogaõ , when it pleaseth not God, the saints can do little.
	P. ventura te dá Deos filbo, que saber pouco te basta , God give you good luck, child; for a little learning will serve your turn, because it is fortune that raises men more than merit.
	P. não fez Deos a quem desemparrasse ; we

DER

DEPOSITADO, a, adj. deposited, intrusted. See also the v. DEPOSITAR.
DEPOSITADOR, f. m. he who deposits.
DEPOSITAR, v. a. to deposit, to put one in trust with a thing, to intrust one with a thing.
Depositar o corpo de hum defunto, to set a dead body upon a bed of state.
Ser depositado, (speaking of a dead body) to lie in state.
A acção de depositar, a trusting of a thing with one.
DEPOSITÁRIO, f. m. depository, trustee, or keeper of a thing.
DEPOSITO, f. m. depositum, the thing deposited, or left in trust.
DEPOSTO, a, adj. depofed, &c. See DEPOR.
DEPRACA, adv. publicly, openly.
DEPRAÇAM, f. f. depravation, spoiling, corruption.
DEPRADAMENTE, adv. depravedly, corruptly.
DEPRADO, a, adj. depraved, corrupted. See also FALSIFICADO.
DEPRADOR, f. m. one who depraves, or corrupts, a corrupter.
DEPRAR, v. a. to deprave, to corrupt, to spoil. See also ADULTERAR, and FALSIFICAR.
Depravar-se, v. r. to corrupt, or be corrupted, debauched, marred, &c.
DEPREÇAM, f. f. a prayer; also deprecation, a figure whereby the orator invokes the aid of some person or thing.
Deprecam, (in law) a petition put up by an inferior judge to a superior one; also a deprecation, a begging pardon for.
DEPRECAÇÃO, a, adj. See DEPRECAR.
DEPRECADOR, f. m. a deprecator.
DEPRECAR, v. a. (in law) is for an inferior judge to put up a petition to a superior one; also to deprecate, to ask pardon for; also to invoke the aid of some person, or thing.
DEPRECATORIA carta, a deprecatory letter.
DEPREDAÇÃO, a, adj. See
DEPRER, v. a. to rob, or spoil, to plunder.
A acção de depredar, depredation.
DEPRESSA, adv. quickly, hastily, with speed; also by-and-by, ere long, soon; also in a hurry.
Elles tão depressa pelearão como fazem as pazes, they easily fall out, and are friends again.
Hum pouco depressa, somewhat quickly.
Mais depressa, more speedily, sooner.
DEPRIMIDO, a, adj. See
DEPRIMIR, v. a. to depress, to debase.
DEPUTADO, f. m. a subaltern, or inferior officer, or minister; also a deputy.
Deputado, a, adj. See
DEPUTAR, v. a. to depute, to appoint any one to represent the person, and act in the room of another. See also SINALAR, and DESIGNAR.
DEREYAMENTE. See DIREYTAMENTE.
DEREYTO. See DIREYTO.
DEREYTURA. See DIREYTURA.
DERELICTO. See DESEMPARADO.
DERIVAÇÃO, f. f. derivation, the tracing a word from its original; also derivation, or the drawing of a humour from one part of the body to another. (In physic.)

DER

DERIVADO, or DERIVATIVO, a, adj. derived. See also DERIVAR, v. a. to derive; also to draw the humour from one part of the body to another.
Derivar-se, v. r. to be derived, to come originally from; also to spread, to diffuse, or spread itself. See also DECENDER.
DERIVATIVO, a, adj. derivative. (In grammar.)
DERIVATÓRIO, a, adj. (in physic) that draws the humour from one part of the body to another.
DEROGAÇÃO, f. f. the taking away by a new law, to make some exception to a former DEROGADO, a, adj. See
DEROGAR, v. a. (in law) to take away by a new law, to make some exception to a former; also to derogate, to lessen, or take from the worth of any person, or thing.
DEROGATÓRIO, a, adj. derogatory. (In law.)
DERRABAÇÃO, a, adj. docked.
DERRABAR, v. a. to dock, or cut off the tail of an animal; also to break, or cut off the latter end of any thing.
Derrabar hum cavallo, to dock a horse.
DERRADEIRO, a, adj. the last.
Por derradeiro, adv. lastly, at last.
DERRAMAÇÃO, a, adj. spilt, scattered, shed; also set or placed in a scattered manner. See DERRAMAR.
Caão derramado. See DANADO.
DERRAMADOR, f. m. one that spills, or wastes.
DERRAMAMENTO, f. m. a spilling, or scattering. See also EFFUSAM.
DERRAMAR, v. a. to scatter; to spill, to waste; from rama, a branch; as it were to scatter branches of a thing.
Derramar dinheiro sobre o povo, to fling money among the people.
Derramar lagrimas, to shed tears.
Derramar sangue, to spill, or shed blood.
Derramar, vãmente os passos, to step in vain.
Derramar, (espalhar) to scatter about, to spread, to diffuse, to disperse.
Campos derramados, wide fields.
Derramar, (divulgar) to divulge, to publish, to spread about.
Derramar-se, v. r. to be poured out, to be scattered, or spilt, to diffuse, or spread itself.
DERRANÇAR, v. a. to deprave, to spoil.
DERRANÇAR, ou DERRENGAR, v. a. to luxate, to disjoint, to put out of joint.
DERREÇÃO, a, adj. broken-backed.
DERREAR, v. a. to break one's back, to hip-shot a beast.
DERREDO, r, or ao redor. See REDOR.
DERREGADO, a, adj. See
DERREGAR, v. a. to plough land the second time.
DERRENCAR, ou DERRENGAR. See DERRANGAR.
DERRETER, v. a. to melt, to dissolve, or make liquid, to thaw; also to weary, to tire, to be tiresome, to be tedious. (Metaph.)
Derreter-se, v. r. to melt like wax; also to run as metal doth; also to thaw as snow doth, to grow liquid; also to be weary, to be tired. (Metaph.)

DES

DERRETIDO, a, adj. See DERRETER.
Homem derretido nas palavras, a man that entices with fair words.
DERRETIMENTO, f. m. trouble, weariness.
Que causa derretimento, tedious, wearisome, tiresome.
DERRIBADO. See DERRUBADO.
DERRIBAR. See DERRUBAR.
DERRIÇADO, a, adj. See
DERRIÇAR, v. n. to stretch out with the teeth; also to mouth as a dog, &c.
DERROCAÇÃO, a, adj. See
DERROCAR, v. a. to throw down, from roca, a rock, as it were cast from a rock.
DERROGADO, DERROGAR. See DEROGADO, DEROGAR.
DERROTA, f. f. ex. Derrota, ou caminho que se faz por terra, road, way.
Derrota ou viagem por mar, the course, or way of a ship.
Tomar a derrota caminho de França, to go towards France.
Tomar a derrota caminho do norte, to steer one's course to the northward, to steer to the northward, to ply to the north.
Bem vejo a derrota que quereis tomar, I know what you aim at. (In a moral sense.) See also ROTA.
DERROTAÇÃO, a, adj. See DERROTAR and QUEBRANTADO.
DERROTAR, v. a. to rout, to defeat.
DERRUBADO, destroyed, overthrown. See also PROSTRADO.
Derrubado, (among farriers) ex. Orelhas do cavallo derrubadas, the ears of a horse that are bent and close to his head.
Terreno derrubado, (in horsemanship) a piece of ground somewhat bending downward.
DERRUBADOURO, f. m. a precipice.
DERRUBAR, v. a. to throw down; also to enervate, to weaken.
Derrubar alguém com vinho, to drink one down.
Derrubar, (speaking of the wind that shakes down the fruits, leaves, &c.) to shake down, to shake off.
DERVSIOS, f. m. p. dervises, a strict order of religious persons among the Turks, who undergo very severe penances.
DES, a negative, or privative inseparable particle that answers to our English un, and is never found but in composition, as DESABAFADO, a, adj. uncovered, or laid open; also disengaged, freed, rid of.
Lugar desabafado, an open, airy place.
Homem desabafado, a bold man who is not out of countenance at any thing; also a man that has a sweet temper.
Desabafado, whose prospect is not hindered. See also DESABAFAR, v. n. to take some fresh air; also to vent, to wreak, or breathe out one's anger.
Desabafar de roupa, to undress one's self, or to pull the heavy clothes off and put on the light ones.
Desabafar, to tell, to relate.
Desabafar, v. a. ex. Desabafar penas. See Desafogar com alguém o seu sentimento.
DESABALADAMENTE, adv. unmeasurably,
DESABALADO,

DESABALADO, a, adj. enormous, vast, huge, exceeding great.
DESABITA'DO, a, adj. See DESABITAR, v. a. to forsake, leave, or abandon a place, or country.
DESABITUADO. See DESACOSTUMADO.
DESABITUAR. See DESACOSTUMAR.
DESABONADO, a, adj. See DESABONAR, v. a. ex. Desabonar a hum homem, to diminish, lessen, or ruin a man's reputation, to speak ill of him.
DESABONDO, f. m. prejudice, harm, damage, (speaking of reputation, fame, or credit.)
DESABOTO'ADO, a, adj. See DESABOTAR, v. a. to unbutton.
Desabotoar-se, v. r. to unbutton one's self; also to open, and spread as a flower doth.
DESABRIDAMENTE, adv. rudely, roughly, harshly, bitterly.
DESABRIDO, a, adj. sharp, unpleasant. See also the v. DESABRIR.
Inverno desabrido, a sharp winter.
Homem desabrido, (metaph.) an ill-tempered man.
Voz desabrida, an harsh voice.
Resposta desabrida, a rude, or sharp answer.
DESABRIGADO, a, adj. abroad in the air, without the house, open; also that wants repair.
DESABRIGAR, v. a. to leave one without shelter, lodging, or place against ill weather.
DESABRIGO, f. m. want of shelter, lodging, or place against ill weather.
DESABRIME'NTO, f. m. ex. Desabrimento do tempo, the sharpness of the weather.
Averiguar desabrimentos, to end, to decide a controversy, or difference. (Jacint. Freyre, edit. Paris, p. 306.)
Desabrimento das palavras, bitterness of words.
Fallar com desabrimento a alguém, to inveigh bitterly against one.
Com desabrimento. See DESABRIDAMENTE.
DESABRIR mao, v. a. to desist, to leave off, to give over. See also CESSAR.
DESABROCHA'DO, a, adj. unclasped, loose. See also DESABROCHAR, v. a. to unclasp, to let loose, from brocha, a clasp; also to speak ill of one freely. (Metaph.)
DESACATA'DO, a, adj. See DESACATAR, v. a. to disrespect, to behave unmannerly.
DESACATO, f. m. disrespect, unmannerliness.
DESACERTADO, a, adj. that is very much liable to miscarrying, or disappointment. (Speaking of an undertaking.)
DESACERTAR, v. n. to err, to mistake, to miscarry, not to succeed, to take wrong measures.
DESACERTO, f. m. a fault, a mistake, a wrong measure.
DESACOBARDA'DO. See ANIMADO.
DESACOBARDA'R. See ANIMAR.
DESACOMMODADO, a, adj. unprovided of conveniences; also unfit, not proper. See DESACOMMODAR, v. a. to incommode, to disturb, to trouble.
DESACOMPANHADO, a, adj. alone, unaccompanied.
DESACOMPANHAR, v. a. to leave alone, to shun a man's company. See also PART I.

DESUNIR.
DESACONSELHA'DO, a, adj. See DESACONSELHAR, v. a. to dissuade.
DESACORDADO, a, adj. ex. Desacordado dos sentidos, raving, bereaved of sense. See also DESACORDAR, v. n. to disagree.
DESACORDO, f. m. ex. Desacordo dos sentidos, a raving, the loss of one's wits.
Desacordo (falta de attenção) negligence, carelessness.
DESACOROÇOAR. See DESCORÇOAR.
DESACOSTUMADO, a, adj. disused, unaccustomed; also broken of a custom.
DESACOSTUMAR, v. a. to break off, or wean from a custom, or habit, to make one leave it off.
Desacostumar hum menino dos maos habitos, to break a child of his tricks.
Desacostumar-se, v. r. to disuse, to leave off, to break one's self of a custom.
Desacostumar-se do vinho, to disuse wine.
Desacostumar-se de mentir, to leave off lying.
DESACREDITADO, a, adj. that has lost his credit. See DESACREDITAR, v. a. to discredit, to take away one's reputation.
Desacreditar-se, v. r. to lose one's credit, or reputation, to sink in one's credit.
DESADORA'DO, a, adj. not adored, not worshipped.
Desadorado por impaciente, impatient.
Desadorado por rayvoso, fuming, angry, in a chafe.
DESADORAR, v. n. ex. Desadorar com impaciencia, to be impatient.
Desadorar com rayva, to chafe, to fret and fume.
Fazer desadorar, to chafe, or anger.
DESAFECTAÇÃO, f. f. a natural and unaffected way of speaking, writing, &c. it is contrary to affectation.
Com desafeção, without affectation.
DESAFECTADO, a, adj. natural, unaffected.
DESAFECTO. See DESAFEIÇÃO, f. f. indifference, disaffection, want of love.
Com desafeição, without love, disaffectedly.
DESAFEIÇÃO'DO, a, adj. disaffected. See also DESAFEIÇAR, v. a. to disaffect, or alienate from.
Desafeiçoar-se, v. r. to be disaffected, or to lose the affection.
DESAFERRADO, a, adj. See DESAFERRAR, v. a. to force out from, to take away a thing that was held by a cramp-iron, &c.
Desaferrar, to snatch away, to wrest, or wring.
Desaferrar do porto, to weigh the anchor, to unmoor, to put out to sea.
Desaferrar-se, v. r. to desist, to leave off, to give over.
DESAFERROLHA'DO, a, adj. See DESAFERROLHAR, v. a. to unbolt.
Desaferrolhar cadeas, grilhoens, &c. to unshackle.
DESAFIADO, a, adj. See DESAFIAR.
DESAFIADO'R, f. m. a challenger.
DESAFIAR, v. a. to challenge; also to defy, to face bravely; also to blunt.
Desafiar os ventos, to defy the winds.
DESAFINADO, a, adj. See DESAFINAR, v. n. to be out of tune.
DESAFIO, f. m. a challenge.

Desafio singular, a duel, a fight between two persons.
Cartel de desafio, a cartel, a challenge to a duel, a letter of defiance.
Chamar a desafio. See DESAFIAR.
Entrar em desafio com a morte, to defy death.
DESAFOGADO, a, adj. drained; also free from cares, easy.
Tempo ou horas desafogadas, spare time, leisure.
Desafogado, open, airy. See also DESAFOGAR, to free, to clear, to give liberty, or air.
Desafogar o coração, to ease the heart.
Desafogar com alguém o seu sentimento, to unbosom one's self to one, to communicate one's trouble, or affliction to another, to unload one's heart.
Desafogar a ira, to vent one's anger.
Desafogar as payxoens, to gratify, or indulge one's passions.
Desafogar saudades, to ease one's heart by shedding tears, looking at, or speaking to a beloved person whom we have been absent from. See SAUDADE.
DESAFOGO, f. m. ease, relief, comfort; also alacrity, cheerfulness.
DESAFORADAMENTE, adv. frowardly, snappishly, saucily. See also DESAVERGONHADAMENTE.
DESAFORADO, a, adj. insolent, saucy, malapert, abusive, impertinent. See also DESAVERGONHADO.
Desaforado, freed from ground-rent; also exempt, free from. (Metaph.) See also DESAFORAR, v. a. to exempt, or free from ground-rent.
Desaforar-se, v. r. to deprive one's self of the privileges; also to grow unruly, or licentious, to take too much liberty.
DESAFO'RO, f. m. outrage, an injury, a wrong; also malapertness, sauciness.
DESAFORTUNADO, a, adj. unhappy, unlucky.
DESAFREGUESADO, a, adj. that has lost some customers.
DESAFRONTADO, a, adj. See DESAFRONTAR, v. a. to revenge, avenge, or vindicate.
Desafrontar-se, v. r. ex. Desafrontar-se de todos os cuidados, to rid one's self of all cares.
DESAGASALHA'DO, a, adj. See DESAGASALHAR, v. a. to turn one out of doors, to bereave one of shelter.
DESAGASTADO, a, adj. See DESAGASTAR, v. a. to appease, to pacify, or calm.
Desagastar-se, v. r. to grow calm again. (Speaking of a person in a passion.)
DESAGOADO, a, adj. See DESAGUAR, v. n. to discharge, to empty, to disburthen, to disembody itself, as a river does; also to become dry.
DESAGRADADO, a, adj. See DESAGRADA'R, v. a. to displease.
Desagradar-se, v. r. to dislike, to have a dislike, to disallow.
A cousa que mais me desagradava delle, the chiefest thing I dislike in him.
DESAGRADÁVEL, adj. disagreeable, unpleasant.
DESAGRADÁVELMENTE, adv. disagreeably, unpleasantly.
DESAGRADECE'R, v. a. to be unthankful, or ungrateful.

DESAGRADECIDO, a, adj. unthankful, ungrateful.
DESAGRADECIMENTO, f. m. unthankfulness, ingratitude.
DESAGRADO, f. m. disagreeableness. See also DESABRIMIENTO.
Isto he desagrado de Deus, this is disagreeable to God.
Converter-se em desagrado, to become disagreeable.
DESAGRAVADO, a, adj. See
DESAGRAVAR, v. a. to right, to redress wrongs.
DESAGRAVO, f. m. righting of wrongs. See also SATISFAÇAM.
DESAGUISADO, a, adj. ill-minded, ill-affected.
Desaguisado, or Desaguiso, f. m. a disgust, a wrong, an injury.
DESAGUIÇO. See DESAGUISADO.
DESAINADURA, f. f. (among farriers) a superfluous humour in a horse, which proceeds from want of exercise, and too much feeding.
DESAIRADO, a, adj. See
DESAIRAR, v. a. to deprave, to spoil.
DESAIRE, f. m. a depravation, a crooking, or writhing, want of donayre. See DONAYRE.
DESAIROSAMENTE, without grace, or elegance, awkwardly.
DESAIROSO, a, adj. unhandsome, without grace, awkward.
DESAJUDADO, a, adj. See
DESAJUDAR, v. a. to forbear assisting, or to do harm instead of good; also to help to ease one of a thing, to help to disburden.
DESALAGADO, a, adj. See
DESALAGAR, v. a. to draw off water, to drain.
Cousa que se pode, ou não pode desalagar, drainable, or undrainable.
DESALASTRAR. See DESLASTRAR.
DESALBARDADO, a, adj. unpannelled. See
DESALBARDAR, v. a. to take off the pack-saddle, to unpanel a beast.
DESALENTAR-SE. See DESANIMAR-SE.
DESALINHA DO, a, adj. fluttish, not neat. See also DESALINHAR, v. a. to take away the ornament, or attire.
Desalinhar huma mulher, to unrig a woman, to take off her cloaths, attire, ornaments.
DESALYNHO, f. m. unhandsomeness, want of set-off, or neatness.
Com desalinho, without neatness, or set-off.
DESALIVADO. See
DESALIVIA DO, a, adj. no longer eased, &c. See
DESALIVIA R, v. a. to ease, to mitigate, to allay, to unburden no longer.
Desaliviar-se, v. r. to unburthen one's self no longer.
DESALMADAMENTE, adv. impiously, cruelly, without conscience.
DESALMA DO, a, adj. that has no regard to his soul, wicked.
Desalmado, f. m. a wicked man.
DESALMAR, v. a. Bluteau says that it is not easy to understand the meaning of this word. This is only what I can say, that in Spanish it signifies to take away the life of another violently.
DESALOJA DO, a, adj. See

DESALOJAR, v. n. to decamp, to remove the camp, to dislodge.
Desalojar, v. a. to dislodge, to drive an enemy from a station or post.
O desalojar, the action of marching off.
DESALTERADO, a, adj. See
DESALTERAR, v. a. (in surgery) to put, or set again in the same state.
DESALUMBRAMENTO. See DESLUMBRAMENTO.
DESAMA DO, a, adj. See DESAMAR.
DESAMADO, f. m. he who is no more loved.
DESAMANHADO. See DESCONCERTADO.
DESAMANHAR. See DESCONCERTAR.
DESAMAR, v. a. to love no more; also to hate.
DESAMARRADO, a, adj. See
DESAMARRAR, v. a. to unbind, to let loose; also to weigh anchor.
Desamarrar, or desaferrar do porto. See DESAFERRAR.
DESAMARRAR, v. n. See DESAFERRAR-SE.
DESAMO R, f. m. hatred, aversion; also a declining, or decadency in love.
DESAMORADO, f. m. he who does not love so much as he did before.
DESAMORAVEL, adj. that is not amorous, disagreeable, unlovely.
DESAMORAVELMENTE, adv. with hatred, or aversion.
DESEMPARADO. See DESEMPARADO.
DESEMPARAR. See DESEMPARAR.
DESEMPARO. See DESEMPARO.
DESAMUADO, a, adj. See
DESAMUAR-SE, v. r. to be pacified or pleased again. It is properly said of children. See AMUAR.
DESANGAR, v. a. to pummel, to beat soundly.
Desanquei-lhe o corpo, I pummelled his sides for him, i. e. I beat him soundly.
DESANCORADO, a, adj. See
DESANCORAR, v. a. to weigh anchor.
DESANDA DO, a, adj. See
DESANDAR, v. a. to go the same way over again, as when a man has gone out of his way and is forced to turn back.
Desandar o andado, to go over again; also to undo what is done. (Metaph.)
Quanto anda tanto desanda, he does nothing but to do and undo. Horace says, Des-truit, ædificat, mutat quadrata rotundis.
Desandar com alguma cousa, praticando com alguém, to bring a thing in a discourse.
Desandar com huma bofetado. See PESPEGAR.
DESANGRADO, a, adj. See
DESANGRAR, v. a. to bleed one dry; to drain all the blood out of the body.
Desangrar, (metaph.) to weaken, to debilitate, to enervate.
DESANIMADO, a, adj. See
DESANIMAR, v. a. to discourage.
Desanimar-se, v. r. to be discouraged, or disheartened, to lose courage, to despond.
DESANINHA DO, a, adj. See
DESANINHAR, v. a. to turn out of the nest; also to dislodge.
DESANNEXAR, v. a. (in law) to divide things that were incorporated.
DESANNEXO, a, adj. divided, &c. See the v. DESANNEXAR.
DESAPALXONADAMENTE, adv. without passion, or partiality.
DESAPALXONADO, a, adj. impartial, unconcerned, not affected with passion, or concern. See also the v.

DESAPALXONAR, v. a. to calm, to quiet, to ease.
DESAPARECE R, v. n. to disappear, to vanish away, to go out of sight.
DESAPARECIDO, a, adj. See the v. DESAPARECER.
DESAPARELHA DO, a, adj. See
DESAPARELHAR, v. a. ex. Desaparelhar a náu, to unrig, to unmast, to disarm a ship, to lay her up.
Desaparelhar a mesa, to take away, to clear the table.
Desaparelhar a besta. See DESALBARDAR.
Desaparelhar, (speaking of a ship) is sometimes taken in a passive signification, and then it signifies to be unrigged, or un-masted. Jac. Freyre.
DESAPEGADO. See DESPEGADO.
DESAPEGAR, &c. See DESPEGAR, &c.
DESAPERCEBIDO, a, adj. unprovided, unfurnished, destitute, unprepared.
DESAPERTADO, a, adj. See
DESAPERTAR, v. a. to unbend, to loosen, or make loose.
DESAPIEDA DO. See DESPIEDADO.
DESAPODERADO, a, adj. See
DESAPODERAR, v. a. to put out of power.
DESAPODERADAMENTE, adv. mightily, far and wide.
DESAPOSSADO, a, adj. See
DESAPOSSAR, v. a. to dispossess, to deprive of a possession.
DESAPRAZER, v. n. to displease, to be unacceptable, or disagreeable.
DESAPRENDIDO, a, adj. See
DESAPRENDER, v. a. to unlearn, to forget what one has learned.
DESAPRESSADO, a, adj. See
DESAPRESSAR, v. r. to free, to deliver; also to free one from great cares or troubles.
DESAPROPRIA DO, a, adj. See
DESAPROPRIA R-SE, v. a. to dispossess one's self, to deprive one's self of the property of any thing.
DESAPROVADO, a, adj. disapproved.
DESAPROVAR, v. a. to disapprove, or dislike.
DESAPROVEITADO, f. m. See DESPERDIÇADOR.
Desaproveitado, a, adj. See
DESAPROVEITAR, v. a. to prejudice, to cause one to be a loser; also to waste, to consume, to squander away.
DESA R, f. m. faultiness, pravity, consisting in excess, or defect of what ought to be; also a mistake, an error. See also INFORTUNIO.
DESARA DO, p. of the preterperf. See
DESARAR o casto, v. a. (among farriers) to cause the hoof of a horse to fall off.
DESARCA DO, a, adj. ill-shaped, huge, exceeding great. See also DESARCAR, v. a. to drive out hoops.
DESARMA LO, a, adj. See
DESARMAR, v. a. to disarm.
Desarmar huma casa, to pull down the suits of hangings, and other furniture of a room.
Desarmar hum arco, to unbend a bow.
Desarmar, v. n. or Desarmar-se, v. r. to fly with elastic force, to spring.
DESARRAIGADO, a, adj. See
DESARRAIGAR, v. a. to pull up by the roots; also to root out, to extirpate.
DESARRANJADO,

DESARRANJADO, a, adj. dispersed, disturbed, confused; also without shelter. See DESARRANJAR, v. a. to disorder, to disperse, to scatter about, to confound, to put out of order.
DESARRANJO, f. m. confusion, disorder, perplexity.
DESARRAIGADO. See DESARRAIGADO.
DESARRAIGAR. See DESARRAIGAR.
DESARREZOADAMENTE, adv. unreasonably, unjustly, wrongfully.
DESARREZOADO, a, adj. unreasonable. See also DESARREZOAR, v. a. to shew the unreasonableness of any thing.
DESARRUGADO, a, adj. See
DESARRUGAR, v. a. to take away wrinkles, to make smooth.
DESARVORADO, a, adj. See
DESARVORAR, v. a. to pull down.
Desarvorar uma naô, to cut down the mast; or to shoot a mast by the board.
DESASADO, a, adj. foolish, blockish; also careless, negligent.
DESASADO, a, adj. pulled, or drawn away. From the Spanish v. Desasir, to separate things that cling together. See also DESASINDO.
DESASISADO, a, adj. foolish, silly; blockish.
DESASNADO, a, adj. See
DESASNAR, v. a. to teach wit. (A vulgar word.)
Está desasnado, he is grown wiser.
DESASO, f. m. blockishness, dullness; also negligence, carelessness.
Com desaso, negligently, carelessly.
DESASOLVADO, a, adj. See
DESASOLVAR, v. a. (among artillery men) ex. Desasolvar a peça, to unload a cannon, to draw the charge.
DESASSISTIDO, a, adj. See DESEMPARADO.
DESASSOCEGADO, &c. See DESASSOSSEGADO, &c.
DESASSOMBRADAMENTE, adv. boldly, without fear; also easily, without much ado.
DESASSOMBRADO, a, adj. funny; also free from fear or trouble. See also DESASSOMBRAR, v. a. to free from care, or trouble.
Desassombrar-se, v. r. to recover from fear, surprize, &c.
DESASSOSSEGADO, a, adj. unquiet, restless.
DESASSOSSEGAR, v. a. to disquiet, to trouble, to perplex.
DESASSOSSEGO, f. m. unquietness, restlessness.
Com desassossego, unquietly, restlessly.
DESASTRADAMENTE, adv. unhappily, unluckily, unfortunately.
DESASTRADO, a, adj. unhappy, unfortunate, unlucky.
DESASTRE, f. m. a disaster, a misfortune; also a chance, an accident.
Per desastre, by chance.
DESASUSTADO, a, adj. free from fear, recovered from fear.
DESASUSTAR, v. a. to drive away fear, to recover from fear. From susto, fear; and the negative particle DES, which see.
DESATACADO, a, adj. See
DESATACAR, v. a. to unlace, to loosen;

also to unload a hand-gun, pistol, &c. to draw the charge.
Desatacar os calções, to untie one's breeches.
DESATADO, a, adj. untied; also unhand-some, improper, not neat.
Discurso desatado, a loose discourse that does not hang together.
Rir com riso desatado, to burst out with laughing, or into laughter.
Desatado das prisões do corpo, dead. See also DERRETIDO, and the v.
DESATAR, v. a. to untie.
Desatar duvidas, dificuldades, &c. to resolve, to untie, to decide a hard question, difficulty, &c.
Desatar a lingua a lamentar, to lament, bewail, or mourn for.
Desatar, to resolve, to dissolve.
Desatar-se, v. r. is for a knot to be undone.
Desatar-se, v. r. to get rid. (Metaph.)
DESATAVIADO, a, adj. See
DESATAVIAR, v. a. to unig, to take off the ornament.
DESATTENCAM, f. f. want of attention. See also ABSTRAÇAM, and DISTRACÇAM.
Desatencão, disrespect, want of respect.
DESATTENDER, v. a. to be unattentive; also to neglect; also to disrespect.
DESATTENDIDO, a, adj. See DESATTENDER.
DESATTENTADAMENTE, adv. unadvisedly, rashly.
DESATTENTADO, a, adj. See DESATTENTAR.
Desattentado, f. m. he that considereth not, or taketh not care what he saith or doth.
DESATTENTAR, v. a. See DESATTENDER.
DESATTENTO, f. m. want of consideration, indiscretion.
DESATINADA, f. f. a heedless, rash, hot-headed woman.
DESATINADAMENTE, adv. madly, imprudently.
DESATINADO, f. m. a heedless, rash, hot-headed, giddy-headed man.
Desatinado, a, adj. stunned, amazed. See also LOUCO, and the v.
DESATINAR, v. n. to be mad, out of his wits, or beside himself; also to mistake; also to be in a fret; also to have a great mind, to long.
Desatinar, v. a. to trouble, or be troublesome, to importune, to beat a man's brains with a thing.
Desatinar alguém para que pague o que deve, to dun, to press a man to pay.
DESATINO, madness, extravagancy, folly, rashness.
DESATRAVESSADO, a, adj. See
DESATRAVESSAR, v. a. to remove from lying across.
DESAUCIADO, a, adj. out of all hopes. It is a Spanish word, though needless in the Portuguese language, since they have the word desconfiado, which answers to the same. (Speaking of a sick person.)
DESAVENÇA, f. f. See DISSENÇAM.
DESAVENTURA. See DESASTRE.
DESAVENTURADAMENTE, adv. unluckily, unhappily, unsuccessfully.
DESAVENTURADO, a, adj. unhappy, unlucky, miserable.
Desaventurado, f. m. a wicked man, a relentless rascal.
DESAVERGONHADAMENTE, adv. im-

prudently, shamelessly.
DESAVERGONHADO, a, adj. shameless, impudent, brazen-faced. See the v. DESAVERGONHAR-SE.
DESAVERGONHAMENTO, f. m. impudence, shamelessness, effrontery.
DESAVERGONHAR-SE, v. r. to grow shameless, to grow impudent.
DESAVEZADO. See DESACOSTUMADO.
DESAVEZAR. See DESACOSTUMAR.
DESAVIAMENTO, f. m. See DESATENCAM.
DESAVINDO. See DISCORDE, and the v.
DESAVIR-SE, v. r. ex. Desavir-se com alguém, to break or fall out with one.
DESAUTHORADO, a, adj. degraded, &c. See
DESAUTHORAR, v. a. to degrade, to deprive of an office, title, or dignity.
DESAUTORIDADE, f. f. unworthiness, indignity, baseness. (Speaking of an unworthy action committed by a prince, or other person that is in power or authority.)
DESAUTORIZADO, a, adj. See
DESAUTORIZAR, v. a. to put out of authority, or to lessen the authority or power, to disauthorize.
Desautorizar-se, v. r. ex. E assim se desautorizou, and so he lost or lessened his authority.
DESAZADO. } See { DESASADO.
DESAZO. } See { DESASO.
DESBAGOADO, a, adj. See
DESBAGOAR, v. a. to pick out a bunch of grapes, &c.
DESBALÇADO, a, adj. See
DESBALÇAR, v. a. to grub up.
DESBANCADO, a, adj. See
DESBANCAR, v. a. to beat, to drown, to eclipse or surpass.
Desbancar alguém na disputa, to bear or run one down in a dispute; also to win all the money of a dealer, at the game called basset.
DESBARATADAMENTE, adv. See DISPARATADAMENTE.
DESBARATADÍSSIMO, a, superl. See
DESBARATADO, a, adj. put to the rout, overthrown, beaten. See also DESPROPOSITADO, and ARRUINADO.
DESBARATADO, dissolute, licentious, loose. See also ESTRAGADO, and the v. DESBARATAR.
DESBARATADOR, f. m. a prodigal man, a waster, consumer, great spender, spendthrift.
DESBARATAR, v. r. to waste, to consume, to spend, to squander away: also to beat, to get the better of, to overcome, to rout, to put to the rout.
Desbaratar, to put, to turn, to drive out, or away.
Desbaratar, to disorder, to put in confusion.
Desbaratar, to blot, or rase out of memory.
Desbaratar o intento de alguém, to defeat, or frustrate one's design.
DESBARATE, f. m. havock. See also DISPARATE.
DESBARATO, or DESBARATE, f. m. wasting, consuming, spending, squandering away; also havock.
DESBARBA'DO, a, adj. beardless, without a beard.
DESBARBAR, v. a. to shave.

- DESBARRADO, a, adj. See
- DESBARRAR, v. a. to open that which is stopped or covered with clay.
- DESBARRETADO, a, adj. with an open head, or bare-headed. See
- DESBARRETAR, v. a. ex. Desbarretar a quem, to take away another's cap.
- Desbarretar-se*, v. r. to put off one's cap.
- DESBASTADO, a, adj. See
- DESBASTAR, v. a. to rough-hew; also to remove, to cut off (metaph.); also to civilize, (in the same sense.)
- Desbastar hum pedaço de madeira*, to rough-hew a piece of timber.
- Desbastar os ramos das plantas*, to thin plants.
- DESBOCADO, a, adj. ex. Cavalle desbocado, a hard-mouthed horse.
- Desbocado*, foul-mouthed.
- Ira desbocada*, an implacable anger.
- DESBOCAR-SE, v. r. ex. Desbocar-se o cavalle, is for a horse to be unruly and hard-mouthed, not to obey the bridle.
- Desbocar-se no fallar*, to talk rashly, or imprudently, to talk nastily.
- DESBOTADO, a, adj. discoloured, that hath lost its colour.
- Cor desbotada*, faded colour.
- Dentes desbotados*, teeth set on edge. See
- DESBOTAR.
- DESBOTADURA, f. f. discolouring.
- DESBOTAR, v. a. to discolour, to deface the colour.
- Desbotar os dentes*, to set the teeth on edge.
- Desbotar-se*, v. r. to fade, to be discoloured, to have its colour changed.
- DESBRAVADO, a, adj. See
- DESBRAVAR, v. n. to vent one's fury or fierceness upon a person or thing.
- DESBROCHADO. See DESABROCHADO.
- DESBROCHAR. See DESABROCHAR.
- DESBUCHADO, a, adj. or DESEMBUCHADO. See
- DESBUCHAR, or DESEMBUCHAR, v. n. to clear the maw, to disgorge. (Speaking of birds of prey.)
- Desbuchar*, (a vulgar phrase) to reveal secrets.
- Fazer desbuchar a quem*, to pump one, or to pump a thing out of one.
- Desbuchar contra a quem*, to vent one's hatred upon another.
- DESBULHO. See DEBULHO.
- DESCABEÇADO, a, adj. See
- DESCABEÇAR, v. a. to behead, to take the head off.
- Descabeçar a marê*, (metaph.) to begin to ebb.
- Descabeçar*, (in agriculture) to open a tree or vine at the root, to bare the root.
- DESCABELLADO, a, adj. See ESCABELLADO.
- DESCADEIRADO. See DERREADO.
- DESCADEIRAR. See DERREAR.
- DESCAHIDA, f. f. a misfortune, a fall, or ruin.
- Descabida de gallinha*, the entrails, bowels, guts, or garbage of a hen.
- DESCAHIDO, a, adj. See DESCAHIR.
- DESCAHIMENTO, f. m. See RELAXAÇÃO.
- DESCAHIR, v. n. to decay, to decline, to sink.
- Descabir da sua grandeza*, to fall from one's greatness.
- Descabir do valimento para com huma corte*, to sink in, or lose one's credit, or grow out of favour at court.
- Descabir da sua esperança*, to lose one's expectation, to be disappointed.
- Descabir*, (a sea term) not to keep the right course, to drive, or deflect from the right course, by the force of currents, winds, &c.
- Descabimos na pratica, e fallamos sobre aquillo*, the conversation fell upon that.
- DESCALÇADO, a, adj. See
- DESCALÇAR, v. a. to pull off the shoes.
- Descalçar-se*, v. r. to pull off one's own shoes.
- DESCALÇO, a, adj. bare-footed.
- A pé descalço*, bare-footed.
- Descalço de pé em perna*, bare-footed and bare-legged.
- Descalço*, (metaph.) unprepared, not ready.
- DESCAMBAÇAM, f. f. drollery, buffoonry.
- DESCAMBADO, a, adj. pleasant, merry, jocose, comical. See also
- DESCAMBAR, v. n. to slide and fall at once. See also TROCAR.
- DESCAMINHADO. See DESENCAMINHADO.
- DESCAMINHAR. See DESENCAMINHAR.
- DESCAMINHO, f. m. imbezzlement, purloining, the ill use of a thing; also the corruption of morals.
- DESCAMPADO, f. m. a desert.
- DESCANÇADAMENTE, adv. easily, quietly, in rest.
- DESCANÇADO, a, adj. ease, undisturbed, quiet, at rest, or that has rested.
- Viver descançado*, to live at one's ease. See also DESCANÇAR.
- DESCANÇAM, f. m. he who serveth the country people, as mowers, &c. with drink at their meals.
- DESCANÇAR, v. n. to rest, to take some repose or rest; also to cease, to desist, to discontinue.
- Descançar em a quem*, to rely upon one about an affair, to trust, or intrust him with it.
- Descançar*, to rest or sleep; also to lie upon.
- Descançai*, be easy, don't trouble yourself.
- Terras que se deixam descançar*, a fallow field, or fallow ground.
- Descançar*, v. a. to help, or relieve, to rest.
- DESCANÇO, f. m. rest, ease, quietness.
- Descanços de ferragoulo*, the sleeves of a sort of cloak used in former times, with a large cape. See FERRAGOULO.
- DESCANTADO, p. of the preterperfect tense. See
- DESCANTAR, v. n. to give a concert.
- DESCANTE, f. m. a concert; also a serenade at a lady's door.
- DESCARADO, a, adj. brazen-faced, impudent.
- DESCARAPUÇADO, f. m. he who is bare-headed, or that has the cap taken off.
- DESCARGA, f. f. unloading, or disburthening.
- Descarga de humores*, a driving out or purging off the humours.
- Descarga da culpa*, a clearing, or excuse.
- Lugar aonde bẽ a direyta descarga de hum navio*, the place where the cargo of a ship is to be laid down.
- DESCARGO, f. m. a clearing, or excuse.
- Por descarga da consciencia*, to unburthen the conscience.
- DESCARNADO, a, adj. lean, meagre, not fleshy. See also
- DESCARNAR, v. a. to pick the flesh off.
- Descarnar hum dente*, to clear a tooth from the gum in order to draw it.
- Descarnar da terra*, to wash away the ground, as the tides do from the rocks by dashing against them.
- Descarnar os alicerces*, to dig out the ground, that is, by the ground-fellings, and throw it away, that the wall may more easily be pulled down.
- Descarnar*, to remove, to drive away. (Metaph.)
- DESCARREGA, f. f. a discharging, or unloading.
- DESCARREGADO, a, adj. See
- DESCARREGAR, v. a. to unload, to discharge, to unburthen.
- Descarregar sobre a quem a sua ira*, to vent, or wreak one's anger upon one.
- Descarregar hum golpe, ferindo de alto abaxo*, to cut downright.
- Descarregar sobre a quem os seus cuidados*, to throw off, or cast one's cares upon one.
- Descarregar a espingarda*, to discharge, or shoot off a gun without aiming.
- Descarregar*, v. n. to lie upon.
- Descarregar com artilharia*, to discharge, or let off the guns.
- Descarregar-se*, v. n. to get rid of.
- Descarregar-se de humores*, to drive out the humours of one's body.
- DESCARTADO, a, adj. See
- DESCARTAR-SE, v. r. to discard, to lay out one's cards.
- DESCARTE, f. m. the discarding of cards; also those that stood candidates for any office, but were excluded from it. (Metaph.)
- DESCASCADO. See ESCASCADO.
- DESCASCAR. See ESCASCAR.
- DESCATIVADO, a, adj. See
- DESCATIVAR, v. a. to free from slavery.
- Descativar os cercados*. See DESCERCAR.
- DESCAVALGADO, a, adj. See
- DESCAVALGAR, v. a. ex. Descavalgar huma peça de artilharia, to dismount a piece of ordnance.
- DESCAVEIRADO. See ESCAVEIRADO.
- DESCENDENCIA, f. f. extraction, race, lineage.
- DESCENDENTE, p. a. of Descender, he who draws his origin from; an offspring.
- DESCENDER, v. a. to descend, to draw his origin from, to come from. See also DESCER, and BAIXAR.
- DESCENDIDO, a, adj. See DESCENDER.
- DESCENDIMENTO, f. m. the action of taking a thing down.
- Hum descendimento da cruz*, a picture representing the manner of our Saviour's being taken down from the cross.
- DESCENSAM, f. f. (in music) the going down of the hand in beating time.
- Descensam*, (in astronomy) descention.
- Descensam recta, ou obliqua de hum signa*, the right, or oblique descension of a sign.
- DESCER, v. a. to come, go, or step down.
- Descer, or pender para baxo*. See DECLINAR.
- Descer aos particulares*, to descend to particulars.
- Descer*, (in music) to sing a note lower.
- Descer,*

Descer, v. a. ex. Descer as escadas, to go down stairs.

Descer hum outeiro, to descend a hill.

Elle não quer descer hum jota da sua autoridade, he will not part with a jot of his authority.

Descer-se, v. r. ex. Descer-se da sua opinião, to change one's opinion, to forsake it.

DESCERCADO, a, adj. See

DESCERCAR, v. a. to make the besiegers raise the siege.

DESCIDA, f. f. the going down; also a descent of ground.

DESCINGIDO, adv. See

DESCINGIR, v. a. to ungird.

DESCOALHADO, a, adj. See

DESCOALHAR, v. a. to melt, to dissolve, or make liquid.

DESCOBRIDOR, f. m. a scout, one that is sent to bring tidings of the enemy's army.

DESCOBRIMENTO, f. m. detection, discovery.

DESCOBRIR, v. a. to uncover, to bare, to discover, disclose, open, declare or reveal; to discover, see, perceive, find out, or detect.

Mandar descobrir o campo, to send out scouts for intelligence.

Descobrir terra, (metaph.) to make diligent enquiry and search.

Descobrir a alguém o seu coração, to un-bosom one's self to another.

Descobrir de longe, to descry, to discover afar off.

Descobrir a cara a alguma coisa, is for a dissembling man to show plainly and manifestly what he had artfully concealed. (Metaph.)

Descobrir-se, v. r. to uncover one's self.

Descobrir-se, eu tirar o chapéo, to pull off one's hat.

Isto há de descobrir-se algum dia, this will come out, or be known one time or other; time will bring it to light.

DESCOCADAMENTE, adv. over-boldly, over-freely, with too much liberty.

DESCOCADO, a, adj. bold, impudent, saucy. See

DESCOCAR-SE, v. r. to grow impudent, bold, insolent.

DESCOCO, f. m. impudence, audacity.

DESCODEADO, a, adj. See

DESCODEAR, v. a. ex. Descodear o pão, to chip bread.

DESCOMEDIDAMENTE, adv. immoderately, uncivilly.

DESCOMEDIDO, a, adj. See the v. DESCOMEDIR-SE.

DESCOMEDIMENTO, f. m. want of moderation, excess. See also DESCORTEZIA.

DESCOMEDIR-SE, v. r. to behave without moderation, to be rash.

Descomedir-se em palavras, to speak rashly.

Descomedir-se contra alguém, to rise or stand up against one.

DESCOMER. See DESISTIR do corpo.

DESCOMIDO. See DESISTIDO.

DESCOMODO, f. m. See IMCOMMODIDADE.

DESCOMPADRADO, a, adj. See

DESCOMPADRAR, v. n. to vary, to disagree, to fall out with one.

DESCOMPASSADAMENTE, adv. without measure, beyond compass.

DESCOMPASSADO, a, adj. out of measure, immoderately great; that is beyond compass, or rule, disorderly, discomposed.

Navio descompassado, a ship that is not well trimmed.

DESCOMPASSAR, v. a. to do a thing without proportion, moderation, or decency, to exceed the bounds in doing it.

Descompassar-se, v. r. to be out of measure, or beyond compass, immoderately great; also to behave without moderation.

DESCOMPO'R v. a. to discompose, to disorder; also to affront, to abuse with ill language.

Descompor os intentos de alguém, to frustrate one's designs, to make them miscarry.

Descompor, to confound, to puzzle.

Descompor-se, v. r. to pull off one's proper cloaths, as a man does that is disturbed, or dashed out of countenance.

Descompor-se, no andar, to walk awkwardly.

DESCOMPOSIÇAM. See DESALINHO.

DESCOMPOSTAMENTE, adv. indecently, immodestly.

DESCOMPOSTO, a, adj. disordered, immodest; also affronted.

Descomposto, that is not in a gentle garb.

Homem descomposto em tudo, a man that has no good garb at all.

Gritos descompostos, confused cries.

Ser descomposto nas palavras, to use lewd words, or expressions.

DESCOMPOSTURA, f. f. immodesty, indecency, disorderliness.

DESCONCERTADAMENTE, adv. disorderly; also immoderately.

DESCONCERTADO, a, adj. ex. Homem desconcertado, a man that is not in a gentle garb. See also DESCONCERTAR, v. a. to disorder, to put out of order.

Desconcertar hum relógio, to disorder a watch.

Desconcertar-se, v. r. ex. Desconcertar-se com alguém, to break a bargain.

Desconcertar-se hum pé, ou hum a mão, to put a hand or foot out of joint.

DESCONCERTO, f. m. disorder, confusion; also trouble, mutiny.

Desconcerto nos costumes, libertinism, debauchery.

Desconcerto, a naughty, base, or scandalous action.

DESCONCORDADO, a, adj. See DESCONCORDAR.

DESCONCORDANCIA, f. f. variance, disagreeing, difference.

DESCONCORDAR, v. n. to vary, to dissent, to disagree.

DESCONFIADAMENTE, adv. with distrust, diffidently.

DESCONFIADO, a, adj. suspicious, jealous, mistrustful. See also DESANIMADO, and the v. DESCONFIAR.

Desconfiado dos médicos. See DESAUCIADO.

DESCONFIANÇA, f. f. distrust, mistrust, diffidence, suspicion, jealousy.

Entrar em desconfianças, to begin to mistrust.

DESCONFIAR, v. n. to distrust, to mistrust, or suspect; also to despair of a thing.

Eu desconfio delle, I distrust him.

Desconfiar de si, to fall into despair; also not to trust to one's self.

Desconfiar com alguém, to fall out with one.

DESCONFORMA'R, v. n. to disagree, to dissent.

DESCONFORME, adj. disagreeing. See also DESAVINDO.

DESCONFORMIDADE, f. f. dissent, or contrariety of opinion.

DESCONHECER, v. a. not to know, to take for another; also to disown, not to own for one's own. See also NEGAR.

Desconhecer-se, v. a. to forget one's self, to forget one's former condition.

DESCONHECIDO, a, adj. unknown; also ungrateful. See the v. DESCONHECER.

DESCONHECIMENTO, f. m. ungratefulness.

DESCONJUNTADO. See DESLOCADO.

DESCONJUNTAR-SE. See DESLOCAR.

DESCONJUNTURA. See DESLOCACAM.

DESCONSENTIDO, p. of the preterf. tense of DESCONSENTIR, v. n. to dissent. See also REPUGNAR.

DESCONSOLAÇAM, f. f. a discomfoting, affliction.

DESCONSOLADO, a, adj. See

DESCONSOLAR, v. a. to discomfot.

DESCONTADO, a, adj. See

DESCONTAR, v. a. to discount, to deduct, or to abate; also to compensate, or make amends for.

Descontar-se, v. r. to be compensated.

DESCONTENTADISSO, or DESCONTENTADIÇO, a, adj. peevish, hard to please.

DESCONTENTADO, a, adj. See DESCONTENTAR.

DESCONTENTAMENTO, f. m. uneasiness, trouble, or disquiet of mind, a discontent, or sorrow.

DESCONTENTAR, v. a. to displease, to discontent.

DESCONTENTE, adj. discontented.

Viver descontente da sua vida, to live a discontented life.

Parecer descontente, to look discontentedly, to have a discontented look.

DESCONTINENCIA. See INCONTINENCIA.

DESCONTINUAÇAM, f. f. intermission, discontinuance, cessation, interruption.

DESCONTINUADO, a, adj. See

DESCONTINUAR, v. n. to discontinue, to leave, or break off for a time.

Descontinua-se, they leave off for a time.

DESCONTO, f. m. discount, or deduction; also a recompense, a compensation, satisfaction.

DESCONTOS, f. m. p. See DISCORDIA.

DESCONVENIENCIA, f. f. disagreeing. See DESPROPORÇAM.

DESCONVENIENTE, adj. disagreeing.

DESCONVERSAR, v. n. to change the subject matter of a discourse.

DESCONVERSÁVEL, adj. unsociable, not fit for conversation.

DESCORADO, a, adj. discoloured; also pale, wan, white. See

DESCORAR, v. n. to lose or change its colour, to fade away. See DESMAYAR.

DESCORCHAR. See ESCORCHAR.

DESCORÇOADO, a, adj. See

DESCORÇOAR, v. a. to discourage.

Descorçoar, v. n. to be discouraged, or disheartened, to lose courage, to despond.

Elle não descorçoou, he was not wanting to himself.

DESCORNAR. See ESCORNAR.

DESCOROADO, a, adj. See

DESCOROAR, v. a. to uncrown.

DESCORRER. See DISCORRER.

DESCORRIDO. See DISCORRIDO.

DESCORTE'Z, adj. unkind, discourteous.

DESCORTEZIA, f. f. incivility, discourtesy.

Com descortezia, discourteously.

DESCORTINADO, a, adj. See

DESCORTINAR, v. a. (in fortification) to pull down the curtain; also to see, or descry.

DESCORTINO, f. m. See DESCOBRIMENTO, and the v. DESCORTINAR.

DESCOSER, v. a. to rip, to unstitch, or unsew.

Descoser a amizade, to break or fall out with one by little and little. (Metaph.)

Descoser na carne do inimigo, to cut in pieces the enemy.

Descoser a vida, See MURMURAR.

DESCOSIDO, a, adj. See the v. DESCOSER.

DESCOSIDURA, f. f. ripping, unsewing.

DESCOSTUMADO. See DESACOSTOMADO.

DESCOSTUMAR. See DESACOSTOMAR.

DESCOUTA'DO, a, adj. See

DESCOUTAR, v. a. to bereave a place of the privilege of being an asylum.

DESCOZER. See DESCOSER.

DESCOZIDO, &c. See DESCOSIDO, &c.

DESCREDITA'DO. See DESACREDITADO.

DESCREDITAR. See DESACREDITAR.

DESCRE'DITO, f. m. discredit, disgrace.

DESCREPA'DO, part of the preterp. tense of DESCREPAR, which see.

DESCREPA'NCIA, f. f. variance, disagreement, difference.

DESCREPAR, v. n. to vary, to dissent, to disagree.

DESCRE'R, v. a. to disbelieve, not to believe.

DESCREVE'R, v. a. to describe, to make a description of.

DESCRFDO, a, adj. disbelieved, &c. See the v. DESCRER.

Descrido, one that will not believe what he believed before.

DESCRIPÇAM, f. f. description.

Descripçam da terra. See GEOGRAPHIA.

Descripçam de lugares. See TOPOGRAPHIA.

Descripçam do mundo. See COSMOGRAPHIA.

DESCRITO, a, adj. described, &c. See the v. DESCREVER.

DESCUBERTAME'NTE, adv. openly, plainly.

DESCUBE'RTO, a, adj. uncovered, discovered; also found out.

Descuberto, abroad in the air.

Descuberto, unfortified, unvalled, without garrison, or other strength.

A cara descuberta, openly.

Em descoberto, abroad in the air, without any thing to shade from the sun, rain, &c.

DESCULPAR. See DESCOBRIR.

DESCUIDADAME'NTE, adv. carelessly, negligently.

DESCUIDA'DO, a, adj. careless, negligent.

DESCUIDAR-SE, v. r. to neglect, to be careless. See also ESQUECER-SE.

DESCUIDO, f. m. negligence, carelessness.

DESCULPA, f. f. an excuse.

O que tem justa desculpa para não apparecer em juizo sendo citado, an essoign. (In law.)

Desculpa para não apparecer em juizo, an essoign, or excuse.

Desculpa, (in music) temperament, or tempering, a rectifying, or amending the false or imperfect concords, by transferring to them part of the beauty of the perfect ones.

DESCULPA'DO, a, adj. See

DESCULPAR, v. a. to excuse, to justify.

Desculpar, (in music) to rectify or amend the false or imperfect concords. See DESCULPA.

Desculpar-se, v. r. to pretend, or plead in way of excuse, to justify, or clear one's self.

Desculpar-se com a pobreza, to plead poverty.

Desculpar-se com a ignorancia, to plead ignorance.

DESCURIOSIDADE, f. f. incuriousness, carelessness, laziness.

DESCURIO'SO, a, adj. incurious, careless, inattentive, lazy.

DESCURSO. See DISCURSO.

DESDA'DO, p. of the preterp. tense of DESDAR.

DESDANHADO. See DESDENHADO.

DESDANHAR. See DESDENHAR.

DESDAR, v. a. ex. Desdar hum no, to untie a knot.

DE'SDE, p. from, since.

Desde a criação do mundo, from, or since the creation.

Desde aquelle tempo, since that time.

Desde aqui, from this place.

Desde o berço, from the cradle.

Desde tal tempo, ou lugar, from such a time, or place.

Desde o presente, from this time forward.

Desde então, from that time, ever since.

Desde que, ou logo que, as soon as; also since.

Desde quando? how long since, or ago?

DESDÉM, f. m. disdain, scornfulness; also negligence; also demureness, affected gravity, or pretended reservedness.

Com desdem, scornfully; also negligently; also demurely, with an affected gravity, or pretended reservedness.

Ao desdem, carelessly drest, without any set-off, or attire.

DESDENHA'DO, a, adj. See

DESDENHAR, v. a. to disdain, to scorn, to set light by.

Desdenhar-se, v. r. to count unworthy, not to vouchsafe, to disdain, slight, or scorn. See also DESPREZAR-SE.

DESDENHOSO, a, adj. disdainful, scornful; also demure, affectedly grave.

DESDENTA'DO, a, adj. toothless, or that hath few teeth left.

DESDENTA'R, v. a. to make toothless.

DESDITA, f. f. a misfortune.

DESDITOSAME'NTE, adv. unfortunately.

DESDITO'SO, a, adj. unfortunate.

DESDITO, p. of the preterp. tense of

DESDIZE'R-SE, v. r. to unsay, to recant.

Desdizer-se de alguma coisa, to unsay a thing.

Eu o farei desdizer-se, I'll make him unsay.

DESDIZE'R, v. n. to misbecome, not to become.

DESDOBRADO, a, adj. See

DESDOBRAR, v. a. to unfold.

DESDOURADO, a, adj. See

DESDOURAR, v. a. to take off the gilding. See also DESHONRAR.

Desdourar, to darken, to deprive of light.

DESDO'URO, f. m. a spot, or blemish on the reputation.

DESECA'DO, a, adj. See

DESECAR, v. a. to dry, or make dry.

DESECATIVO, a, adj. delicate, apt to dry, of a drying quality.

DESEDIFICA'DO, a, adj. See

DESEDIFICAR, v. a. to scandalize, to give scandal, or bad example, to be a stumbling-block.

DESEJA'DO, a, adj. See

DESEJAR, v. a. to desire, to wish for.

Desejar muito, to desire greatly, or earnestly, to fain.

Desejar muito alguma coisa, to be a-gog for a thing, to desire it earnestly.

Desejar-se, v. r. ex. Desejo-me fora daqui, I wish myself out of this place. Verse e desejar-se, ou estar metido em talas. See TALAS.

DESEJA'VEL, desirable, eligible, that is to be wished for.

DESEJO, f. m. desire, wish, eagerness to obtain or enjoy.

A medida do desejo, according to wish.

Desejo de mulher prenhe, a longing of a woman with child, a pica, a vitiated appetite, wherein women with child crave things sometimes unfit for food.

Fazer vir o desejo, to set a-gog.

Ter desejo. See DESEJAR.

DESEJO'SO, a, adj. desirous.

DESEMBAINHA'DO, a, adj. See

DESEMBAINHAR, v. a. to unsheath.

DESEMBARAÇADAME'NTE, adv. speedily, readily, easily, without let or hindrance.

DESEMBARAÇA'DO, a, adj. prompt, ready, quick, bold. See also

DESEMBARAÇAR, v. a. to disentangle. (It is used both in the proper and figurative sense.)

Desembaraçar o cabelo, to disentangle the hair.

Desembaraçar, to make a clear riddance, to set in order, to get in readiness, to clear, to get clear, to rid of, or from, to free or get out.

Desembaraçar-se, v. r. to get rid, or rid one's self of, or from.

Desembaraçar-se de todos os cuidados, to rid one's self of all cares.

Desembaraçar-se de hum negocio trabalhoso, to disentangle one's self from a scurvy business.

Desembaraceime finalmente daquelle importunente, at last I got rid of that troublesome fellow.

DESEMBARAÇO, f. m. disentangling, clearness from encumbrance; also quickness, promptness.

Com desembaraço, quickly, nimbly, without hesitation, boldly.

DESEMBARALHA'DO, a, adj. See

DESEMBARALHAR, v. a. to make a clear riddance where there is a confusion, to set in order.

DESEMBARCADOURO, f. m. a landing place.

DESEMBARCA'DO,

DESEMBARCA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMBARCA'R, v. n. to land or come to shore.
Desembarcar, v. a. to land, to set on shore.
a açam de desembarcar, disembarking.
DESEMBARGA'DOR, f. m. a chief judge.
Desembargador do paço, one of the king's judges belonging to the privy council.
Desembargador da casa da supplicação, one of the judges belonging to the tribunal, called Casa da supplicação. See SUPPLICAÇÃO.
Desembargador da mesa da conciencia, one of the judges belonging to a tribunal, called Mesa da conciencia. See CONCIENCIA.
DESEMBARGA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMBARGA'R, v. a. to take off an embargo, to set at liberty, to free that which was attached, stopped, or detained.
DESEMBARCO, f. m. a deliverance, or dismissing; the action of taking off the embargo.
Desembarço do paço, the privy council.
DESEMBARQUE, f. m. disembarking, landing.
Lugar bom para desembarque, a good landing-place.
DESEMBEBEDA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMBEBEDA'R, v. a. to make sober, to recover from drunkenness.
DESEMBESTA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DESEMBESTAR, v. n. is for a beast to begin to run furiously.
DESEMBIRRA'DO. See DESAGASTA'DO.
DESEMBIRRA'R. See DESAGASTAR.
DESEMBOGA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMBOGAR, v. n. to disemboque itself as a river doth; also to disemboque, to sail out of a strait or gulph at sea, to come out of the mouth of a river.
Esta traveça desemboca, or vai desembocar no mercado, this lane strikes or goes into the market-place.
DESEMBOLÇADO, a, adj. See DESEMBOLÇAR, v. a. to disburse, to lay out.
DESEMBORRACHA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMBORRACHA'R, v. a. (among silversmiths) to blanch, to whiten, to make white.
DESEMBRAVECE'R, v. a. to tame, to mitigate, or appease.
Desembravecer-se, v. r. to be appeased, to relent, to grow gentle.
DESEMBRAVECIDO, a, adj. See DESEMBRAVECE'R.
DESEMBRENHA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMBRENHA'R, v. a. to draw forth any thing from a place full of brambles.
DESEMBRULHADO, a, adj. See DESEMBRULHA'R, v. a. to open, unwrap, unfold. See also DESEMBARÇAR.
DESEMBUÇA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMBUÇAR, v. a. to unmuffle.
Desembuçar-se, v. r. to unmuffle one's self.
DESEMBUCHADO. See DESEBUCHADO.
DESEMBUCHAR. See DESEBUCHAR.
DESEMBURRADO. See DESASNADO.
DESEMBURRAR. See DESASNAR.
DESEMBURULHADO. See DESEMBRULHADO.
DESEMBURULHAR. See DESEMBRULHAR.

DESENCARAVADO. See DESENCARAVADO.
DESENCARVAR. See DESENCARVAR.
DESEMMALADO, p. of the preter. tense of DESEMMALAR, v. n. to empty a portmanteau. From Mala, a portmanteau.
DESEMMARANHA'DO, a. See DESEMMARANHA'R, v. a. to disentangle. See DESEMBARAÇAR.
Desemmarranhar, to make manifest, to clear up, or render conspicuous any obscure or intricate matter. (Metaph.)
DESEMMASCARAR, v. a. to unmask, to take off a mask, both in the proper and figurative sense.
Desemmascarar a locução, (metaph.) to speak or write in a plain style.
Desemmascarar-se, v. r. to unmask, to pull off one's mask.
DESEMMASTEADO. See DESMASTEADO.
DESEMMASTEAR. See DESMASTEAR.
DESEMELHA'NÇA. See DESSEMELHANÇA.
DESEMPACHA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMPACHADO, and DESEMPACHA'R, v. a. to take away loathing by purging and driving out the humours, to bring the stomach to an appetite.
DESEMPA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMPAR.
DESEMPAPELA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMPAPELAR, v. a. to unfold any thing covered with paper.
DESEMPA'R, v. a. to take away the props, or pales from under the vines.
DESEMPARADO, a, adj. See DESEMPARA'R, v. a. to forsake, to quit, to give over, to abandon.
As forças me desemparam, my strength fails me.
DESEMPARELHADO, a, adj. See DESEMPARELHA'R, v. a. to unmatch.
Desemparelhar, v. n. is for a runner to cast the other behind, after being even in their running.
DESEMPA'RO, f. m. an abandoning, forsaking, or leaving.
Deixartudo ao desemparo, to leave all things to be pillaged.
DESEMPAVEZA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMPAVEZA'R, v. a. (a sea term) to take away the waste cloths that hung about the cage-work of a ship's hull, to shelter the men from the enemy in a fight.
DESEMPEÇA'DO. See DESEMBARAÇADO, and DESEMPEÇAR.
Estilo desmpeçado, a free and easy style.
DESEMPEÇA'R, v. a. See DESEMBARAÇAR.
Desmpeçar-se, v. r. See DESEMBARAÇAR-SE.
DESEMPEDI'DO, a, adj. that is at leisure, that has nothing to do. See also DESEMPEDIR, v. a. to give a free passage, to remove any let or hindrance.
Desmpedir o caminho. See ABRIR o caminho.
DESEMPEDRA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMPEDRA'R, v. a. to unpave.
Desmpedrar hum campo cheo de pedras, to clear a field of stones.
DESEMPENADO, a, adj. See DESEMPENA'R, v. a. (among carpenters) to examine whether a board is even.
DESEMPENHADO, a, adj. See DESEMPENHA'R, v. a. to redeem out of pawn, to disengage.

Desmpenhar a palavra, to perform one's promise.
Desmpenhar a expectação de algua, to answer one's expectation.
Desmpenhar a promessa, to fulfil one's promise.
Desmpenhar a outro das suas dividas, to rid one of his debts, to pay the debts for him.
Desmpenhar-se, v. r. to pay one's debts.
Desmpenhar-se na execução de alguma coisa, to come off with credit, or with flying colours.
Desmpenhar-se na administração do seu officio, to do, or to perform the duty of one's place, to acquit one's self very well in his office.
Desmpenhar-se, (mostrando-se aggradecido) to acquit an obligation.
DESEMPE'NHO, f. m. the redeeming of goods in pawn; also the action of discharging one's self from an obligation, &c. according to the v. DESEMPENHAR.
DESEMPERRA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMPERRA'R, v. n. to lay aside stubbornness, to become pliant, to yield.
DESEMPESTADO. See DESINFICIONADO.
DESEMPESTAR. See DESINFICIONAR.
DESEMPOADO, a, adj. See DESEMPOA'R, v. a. to clean from dust.
DESEMPOSSADO. See DESAPOSSADO.
DESEMPOSSAR. See DESAPOSSAR.
DESEMPRASTA'DO, a, adj. See DESEMPRASTAR, v. a. to take off a plaster.
DESEMPULHADO, p. of the preter. tense of DESEMPULHA'R-SE, v. r. to make a return of raillery, to return raillery for raillery.
DESENCABRESTADAMENTE, adv. ex.
Correr desencabrestadamente, to run full speed.
Fazer huma coisa desencabrestadamente, to do a thing rashly. (Metaph.)
Viver desencabrestadamente, to lead a licentious, or dissolute life.
DESENCABRESTADO, a, adj. See DESENCABRESTAR.
Desencabrestado, f. m. (a vulgar word) a rake, or a rake-hell.
DESENCABRESTA'R, v. a. to unhalter.
Cavalleo que se desencabresta, a horse that unhalters himself.
DESENCADA'DO, a, adj. See DESENCADA'R, v. a. to unchain.
DESENCADERNADO, a, adj. See DESENCADERNAR, v. a. to unbind papers or books.
DESENCAXADO. See DESENCAXADO.
DESENCAXAR. See DESENCAXAR.
DESENCALHADO, a, adj. See DESENCALHA'R, v. a. ex. Desencalhar hum navio, to get off a vessel that was run aground.
Desencalhar a penna, to begin to write. (Metaph.)
Desencalhar, v. n. is for a ship to come off from a shelf, sand, &c. to float again.
DESENCALMADO, a, adj. See DESENCALMA'R, v. a. to cool, to refresh.
Desencalmar o caraão, to restore the face to its natural colour.

DESENCAMIN-

- DESENCAMINHADO, a, adj. See DESENCAMINHAR, v. a. to put out of the way; also to pervert, to embezzle, or purloin, to misemploy, to convert to another use.
Defencaminhar o dinheiro do thesouro delrey, to imbezzle the king's treasure.
A açcam de defencaminhar neste ultimo fentido, imbezzling.
O que defencaminha o dinheiro do publico, a purloiner, a converter of public money to his own use.
Defencaminhar os bens da igreja, to defecrate.
Defencaminhar, to lead astray. See also DEPRAVAR.
Andar defencaminhado, to go astray.
DESENCAMINHAR-SE, v. r. to go astray. See also DEPRAVAR-SE.
DESENCAMIZADO, a, adj. See DESENCAMIZAR, v. a. (in falconry) to unhood the hawk.
DESENCAMPADO. See DESENCAMPAR, v. a. to return, or send back a thing to the person who had sent or sold it for good, not being so.
DESENCANTADO, a, adj. See DESENCANTAR, v. a. to disenchant, to decharm; also to discover, to find out.
DESENCAPELLA'DO, a, adj. See DESENCAPELLA'R, v. a. (a sea term) to unrig the mast.
DESENCARCERADO, a, adj. See DESENCARCERAR, v. a. to free one from a prison.
DESENCARREGA'DO, a, adj. See DESENCARREGAR, v. a. to free, to rid.
Defencarregar alguém de todos os seus trabalhos, to rid one of all his troubles.
Defencarregar-se, v. r. ex. Defencarregar-se de huma culpa pondo a outrem, to cast the fault upon another.
Defencarregar a consciencia, to unburthen the conscience, to make satisfaction for wrongs done.
DESENCATELLADO, a, adj. See DESENCATELLAR, v. a. to beat out of a castle.
DESENCASTO'DO, a, adj. See DESENCASTOAR, v. a. to take a stone out of a ring, the head out of a cane, or the like.
DESENCAVADO, a, adj. See DESENCAVAR, v. a. to unhast, to pull off the hilt or haft of any tool, or weapon; also to take to pieces.
Defencavar-se, v. r. is for the hilt or haft of any tool to fall off by itself.
DESENCAXADO, a, adj. See DESENCAXAR, v. a. to unjoint, to separate, to pull a thing from the place where it was fastened. See DESCONJUNTAR, and DESLOCAR.
Defencaxar-se, v. r. to shake, to be agitated with a vibratory motion.
DESENCERRADO, a, adj. See DESENCERRAR, v. a. to open, to disclose, to expose to public sight.
DESENCOLADO, a, adj. See DESENCOLAR, v. a. to unglue.
DESENCOLHER, v. a. to extend, to dilate, to stretch out.
Defencolher-se, v. r. to spread, or stretch one's self.
Defencolher-se, to lay aside bashfulness. (In a figurative sense.)
DESENCOMMENDADO, a, adj. countermanded, &c. See DESENCOMMENDAR, v. a. to countermand, to contradict former orders, or what had been bespoken.
Defencomendar-se, v. r. is for one to desire to be excused, or to refuse to perform another's orders.
DESENCONTRADO, a, adj. See DESENCONTRAR-SE, v. r. to go different ways, not to meet one another.
Defenccontrar-se no parecer, to dissent, to be of a contrary opinion, to disagree.
DESENCORDADO, a, adj. See DESENCORDAR, v. a. to unstring an instrument.
DESENCOSTA'DO, a, adj. standing straight up, that does not lean, or rest upon any thing. See also DESENCOSTAR, v. a. to remove a thing from another which it was leaning upon, or by which it was supported.
Defencostar-se, v. r. to stand, or stand up, not to lean upon any thing.
DESENCOVA'DO, a, adj. See DESENCOVAR, v. a. to dig out, to dig up; also to ferret, to drive out of lurking places, as the ferret drives the coney.
DESENDIVIDA'DO, a, adj. See DESENDIVIDAR-SE, v. r. to get out of debt, to pay one's debts.
DESENFADADIÇO, a, adj. pleasant, delightful.
DESENFADA'DO, a, adj. merry, jocund, pleasant, witty.
Humor defenfadado, good-humour. See also the v. DESENFADAR.
DESENFADAMENTO. See DESENFADAR, v. a. to please, to ease of vexation, to divert, to make merry, to recreate.
DESENFADA'R-SE, v. a. to divert one's self, to take one's pleasures; also to grow calm, or easy again.
DESENFADO, f. m. diversion, pleasure; also tranquillity, calmness, composedness.
DESENFARDELA'DO, a, adj. See DESENFARDELAR, v. a. to unpack, to open a pack.
DESENFASDIADAMENTE, adv. prettily, with a grace, wittily, smartly; also with good appetite.
DESENFASIA'DO, a, adj. restored to an appetite, that has the loathing taken away; also that takes away loathing, that provokes appetite.
Defensfastiádo no humor. See DESENFADADO.
DESENFASIA'R, v. a. to restore to an appetite, to take away loathing.
DESENFAXA'DO, a, adj. See DESENFAXAR, v. a. to unroll, unswathe, to unbind.
DESENFETA'DO, a, adj. unadorned, not decked or trimmed; also without rhetorical ornaments or flourishes.
DESENFETAR, v. a. See DESALINHAR.
Defensfetar-se, v. r. to lay aside the ornaments.
DESENFETIÇA'DO, a, adj. See DESENFETIÇAR, v. a. to unbewitch, to disenchant.
DESENFEXADO, a, adj. See DESENFEXAR, v. a. to untie a bundle.
DESENFERRUJA'DO, a, adj. See DESENFERRUJAR, v. a. to get out, or fetch off the rust.
DESENFEZADO. See DEFECADO.
DESENFEZAR. See DEFECAR.
DESENFIA'DO, a, adj. See DESENFIA'R, v. a. to unthread.
Defensfiar perolas, to unstring pearls.
Defensfiar a agulha, to unthread a needle.
Defensfiar-se, v. r. is for a needle to be unthreaded, or for beads, pearls, &c. to be unstrung.
DESENFREADAMENTE, adv. disorderly, ungovernably.
DESENFREADO, a, adj. unbridled; also unruly, lewd, disorderly; according to the v.
DESENFREA'R, v. a. to unbridle.
Defensfrear-se, v. r. is for a horse to pull off the bridle.
Defensfrear-se, (in a moral sense) to grow unruly in talk or actions.
Appetites que se defensfreão, unbridled desires, or affections.
DESENFRONHADO, a, adj. See DESENFRONHAR, v. a. to take off the pillow from the pillow-bear.
DESENGAÇA'DO, a, adj. See DESENGAÇAR, v. a. to pull the grapes from the stalks where they hung.
DESENGANADAMENTE, adv. ingenuously, without dissimulation, freely, frankly.
DESENGANA'DO, a, adj. plain, honest, downright.
Naõ defenganado, a plain and flat denial. See also DESENGANAR, v. a. to undeceive, to shew a man his mistake, to work one out of an error.
Defenganar-se, v. r. to undeceive one's self.
DESENGA'NO, f. m. the discovery of a deceit. See also LIBERDADE.
Com defengano, freely, openly, boldly.
DESENGASTA'DO, a, adj. See DESENGASTAR, v. a. to take a stone out of a ring.
DESENGENHO'SO, a, adj. destitute of capacity, judgment, or apprehension.
DESENGOMA'DO, p. of the preterpense of DESENGOMA'R, v. n. to dissolve the gum.
DESENGONÇA'DO, a, adj. put out of joint; also that looks to be out of joint.
DESENGONÇAR, v. a. to loosen, to put out of joint.
Defengonçar-se, v. r. to be put out of joint; or to look to be out of joint.
DESENGRAÇADAMENTE, adv. unhandsofly, without grace, grossly.
DESENGRAÇADO, a, adj. without grace, unpleasant, unhandsome.
DESENGRAZADO, a, adj. See DESENGRAZAR, v. a. ex. Defengrazar contas, to unstring beads.
Defengrazar-se, v. r. to be unstrung, ex. Defengrazaraõ-se, senhora, as vestas, contas, madam, your beads are unstrung.
DESENGRENHADO. See DESGRENHADO.
DESENGRENHA'R. See DESGRENHAR.
DESENGROSSA'DO, a, adj. See DESENGROSSAR, v. a. See ADELGAÇAR.
DESENGUIÇA'DO, a, adj. See DESENGUIÇAR, v. a. (tirar o enguicho.) See ENGUIÇO.
DESENHA'DO, or DEZENHADO, a, adj. See DESENHAR, or DEZENHAR, v. a. to form to one's self an idea of a thing, to have an idea of any thing or person; son; also to delineate, to sketch, to design.

DESE'NHO, or DEZE'NHO, the idea or design that a painter has in his head; also the form or image of any thing (in the figurative sense.)
Livro de desenhos, a drawing-book.
Desenho, design, purpose, project, enterprise.
DESENJURIA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENJURIA'R-SE, v. r. to be revenged, to return like for like, to be even with one, to retaliate an injury.
DESENLAÇA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENLAÇA'R, v. a. to unlace, to loose any thing fastened with strings.
DESENNASTR'A'DO, a, adj. without bondage, that is, loosely tied.
DESENNOVELLADO, a, adj. See
DESENNOVELLA'R, v. a. to undo a bottom of thread or yarn.
DESENQUIETAÇ'AM, f. f. See INQUI-ETACAM
DESENQUIETA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENQUIETA'R, v. a. to disquiet, to disturb, to make uneasy, to harass, to deprive of tranquillity.
Desenquietar o criado de huma casa, to intice a servant in order to leave his master.
Desenquietar alguém da sua obra, to take one off from his work.
Desenquietar huma virgem, to entice a virgin.
DESENQUIETO, a, adj. See INQUIETO.
Rapaz de desenquieta, a girl that plays the wanton.
DESENREDA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENREDA'R, v. a. to disentangle, to extricate, to rid of trouble. (In a proper and figurat. sense.)
Desenredar-se, v. r. to disentangle one's self, to get rid of a trouble.
DESENROLA'DO, a, adj. unrolled; also clear, evident, plain. (Metaph.) See also DESENROLA'R, v. a. to unroll, to open what is rolled or convolved; also to examine, to expound.
Desenrolar muitos textos, to alledge or quote many texts, word for word.
Desenrolar os cuidados alheos, to detect the designs of another.
DESENROSCA'DO, a, adj. untwined. See
DESENROSCA'R, v. a. to untwine, to undo that which is held together by convolution.
Desenroscar-se, v. r. to untwine, or unwind itself.
DESENSACA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENSACA'R, v. a. to take out of a sack.
DESENSINA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENSINA'R, v. a. to unteach.
DESENTENDE'R, v. n. to feign one's self ignorant.
DESENTENDI'DO, a, adj. that wants understanding and apprehension.
Dar-se por desentendido. See DESENTENDER.
Fazer huma cousa muito ao desentendido, to do a thing very covertly, so that people cannot apprehend that it is done on set purpose, and with a design.
DESENTERESSADAMENTE, adv. disinterestedly; also impartially.
DESENTERESSA'DO, a, adj. disinterested, or disinterested; also impartial.
DESENTERESSE, f. m. disinterestedness.
DESENTERIA. See DYSENTERIA.
DESENTERRA'DOR, f. m. he who digs out dead bodies.

DESENTERRA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTERRA'R, v. a. to unbury, to dig up; also to find out or discover.
Desenterrar os mortos, to unbury the dead; also to talk ill of them. (Metaph.)
DESENTESOURA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTESOURA'R, v. a. to take out of a treasure.
DESENTEZA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTEZA'R, v. a. to unbend.
Desentezar-se, v. r. to slacken, to grow loose.
DESENTOADAME'NTE, adv. out of tune.
DESENTOA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTOA'R, v. n. to be out of tune, to be rudely loud; also to utter a thing unexpected.
Desentoar, (in music) to jar.
Risada desentoadada, a loud laughter.
Voz desentoadada, a jarring voice.
DESENTOA'R-SE, v. r. See DESENTOAR.
DESENTORPECE'R, v. a. to remove a stiffness. See also DESPERTAR.
DESENTORPECIDO, a, adj. whose stiffness is removed. See also the v. DESENTORPECER.
DESENTRANÇA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTRANÇA'R, v. a. to unplait the hair.
DESENTRANHA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTRANHA'R, v. a. to unbowel, to draw the guts; also to examine, to sift, to search diligently. (Metaph.)
Desentranhar hum negocio, to extricate an affair, to make it easy.
Desentranhar-se, v. r. ex. Desentranhar-se por alguém, to bestow all one has on another.
DESENTRONIZA'DO. See DETRONADO.
DESENTRONIZA'R. See DETRONAR.
DESENTROUXA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTROUXA'R, v. a. to unpack, to open a truss, bundle, or fardel.
DESENTULHA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENTULHA'R, v. a. to empty, or to make any place void by taking away what it contained.
Desentulhar da calça e ruínas de edificios velhos, to cleanse from rubbish.
Desentulhar hum poço, to cleanse a well.
O que desentulha, an emptier, one that empties.
O que desentulha os poços, a cleanser of wells.
DESENTUPIDO, a, adj. See
DESENTUPI'R, v. a. to unstop, to free from stop.
DESENVAZA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENVAZA'R, v. a. (among ship-carpenters) to take out from the stocks, to launch a ship, or boat.
DESENVENCILHA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENVENCILHA'R-SE, v. r. (a vulgar word) to disentangle one's self.
DESENVERNADO. See DESINVERNADO.
DESENVERNAR. See DESINVERNAR.
DESENVOLADO, a, adj. See
DESENVOLA'R, v. a. to hallow again, as it happens in a church when homicide, or some other crime, has brought pollution upon it.
DESENVOLTAME'NTE, adv. readily, easily, nimbly; also licentiously, overfreely, with too much liberty.
DESENVO'LTO, a, adj. nimble, light, speedy; also licentious, dissolute, unruly.

DESENFOLTA'RA, f. f. See AGILIDADE.
Desenfoltura nos costumes, licentiousness, boundless liberty.
Com desenfoltura. See DESENVOLTAMENTE.
DESENFOLVER. See DESENTROUXAR.
DESENVOLVIDO. See DESENTROUXADO.
DESENXABIDAME'NTE, adv. foolishly, unwittily.
DESENXABIDO, a, adj. insipid, wallowish, having no taste or relish, unfavoury; also sottish, silly, witless, absurd, foolish. (Metaph.)
Gracas desenxabidas, poor jests, little puns.
DESENXARCEA'DO, a, adj. See
DESENXARCEA'R, v. a. (a sea term) to unrig, to strip of the tackle.
DESERÇAM, f. f. desertion, the act of deserting, or running from the colours.
DESERDAÇAM. See DESHERDAÇAM.
DESERDADO. See DESHERDADO.
DESERDAR. See DESHERDAR.
DESERTA'DO, a, adj. deserted, &c. See
DESERTA'R, v. a. to desert, to run away from the colours.
Desertar, (in law) not to appear in a court at a day assigned, to forsake a law suit.
DESER'TO, a, adj. (in law) ex. Deserta appellaçam, is when he that appeals does not appear in a court at a day assigned, so that the appeal will not afterwards be allowed.
Deserto, f. m. a desert, or wilderness.
DESERTO'R, f. m. a deserter.
DESERVIÇO, f. m. an inofficious action, an ill turn, a disservice.
Fazer deservicos. See DESERVIR.
Que fas deservicos, inofficious, not civil.
DESERVIDO, a, adj. See
DESERVIR, v. a. to disserve, to do injury to, to hurt.
DESESPANTADO, a, adj. See
DESESPANTA'R-SE, v. r. to cease from wonder.
DESESPERAÇ'AM, f. f. despair, desperation, despondency.
DESESPERADAME'NTE, adv. hopelessly, despairingly.
DESESPERA'DO, a, adj. desperate, hopeless; also despaired of, given over, forlorn, given up for lost.
Desesperado, without care of safety, rash, precipitant, resolute through despair.
Desesperado da saude, without hope of recovery. See
DESESPERA'R, v. n. to despair, to despond, to have no hopes, to be out of or past hopes, to give over for lost; also to be mad.
Fazer desesperar alguém, to put one out of hopes, to give him no hopes; also to make one mad, to tease him.
Desesperar, (in theology) to lose hope of the divine mercy.
O que desespera, a despairer, one without hope.
DESESEQUIPA'DO, a, adj. without equipping, or rigging.
DESESTIMADO. See DESPREZADO.
DESESTIMAR. See DESPREZAR.
DESFABRICA'DO, a, adj. See
DESFABRICA'R, v. a. to unbuild, to raze, to destroy.
DESAÇA'R-SE. See DESAVERGONHAR-SE.

DESFALCA'DO, a, adj. See DESFALCAR.
DESFALCAME'NTO, f. m. defalcation, diminution, abatement.
DESFALCAR, v. a. to defalcate, to cut off.
DESFALECE'R, v. n. to faint, to waste away, to grow feeble and weak, to decay.
Desfalecer no esforço, to lose courage.
DESFALECI'DO, a, adj. fainted, &c. See DESFALECER, and FALTO.
DESFALECIME'NTO, f. m. faintness, wasting away, discouragement.
Desfalecimento do cerebro. See ESVAIDO du cabeça.
DESFATTO, f. m. appetite, stomach, desire of eating; also mirth, wit. (Metaph.)
DESFATTO'R, f. m. decay, or decline from the state of being favoured; also a denial.
DESFATTORECE'R, v. a. to disgrace, to put out of favour.
DESFATTORECI'DO, a, adj. disgraced, &c. See DESFATTORECER.
Desfatorecido da natureza, that is not endowed with gifts of nature.
DESFAZE'R, v. a. to undo; also to dissolve.
Desfazer huma muralha, to pull down a wall.
Desfazer hum no, to untie a knot.
Desfazer hum contrato, to break, or violate a contract.
Desfazer huma cousa tecida, to unweave.
Desfazer, v. n. ex. Desfazer em alguém, to find fault with one, to speak ill of him.
Desfazer-se, v. r. ex. Desfazer-se de alguma cousa, to part with a thing, to sell, or change it for another.
Desfazer-se de criados, to dismiss, or send away the servants.
Desfazer-se de hum officio, to divest one's self of an office.
Desfazer-se em lagrimas, to melt into tears.
DESFECHA'DO, a, adj. opened, unlocked.
DESFECHADA mentira, an impudent lie. See also DESFECHA'R, v. n. to break, or burst out; also to utter a thing unexpected.
Desfechar a ris, to fall a-laughing.
Desfechar, v. a. to open, to unlock.
Desfechar a bôsta, to shoot arrows out of a bow.
Desfechar o selo, to break the seal.
Desfechar-se, v. r. ex. Desfechar-se a espingarda, is for the cock of a gun or musket to go down by itself.
DESFE'CHO, f. m. (among comedians) the solution, discovery, or unravelling of the intrigue of a play, which commences when the reader begins to see the doubts cleared up.
DESFEITA, f. f. an excuse; also an ill usage, a knavish trick.
DESFEITO, a, adj. undone, &c. See the v. DESFIZER.
Desfeito, excessive, very great, out of measure; also very lean.
Desfeito, f. m. a sort of hash made of mutton, bread, &c.
DESFERIDO, a, adj. See
DESFERIR, v. a. (a sea term) ex. Desferir as velas, to loosen the sails.
DESFERRADO, a, adj. See
DESFERRA'R, v. a. to unshoe a horse, or other beast.

A açam de desferrar, unshoeing.
Desferrar-se, v. r. is for a horse or other beast to loose the horse-shoe.
DESFERROLHADO. See DESAFERROLHADO.
DESFERROLHAR. See DESAFERROLHAR.
DESFIADO, a, adj. untwisted, unspun; also a sort of linen-cloth formerly used that had some threads drawn out. See also ESPALHADO, and the v.
DESFIAR, v. a. to unravel, or unweave.
Desfiar-se, v. r. to unravel, to unweave.
DESFIGURADO, a, adj. See
DESFIGURA'R, v. a. to disfigure, to deform.
Desfigurar-se, v. r. to grow more homely, to lose one's good shape, features, or complexion.
DESFILO'DA, (a military word) ex. Marchar a desfila, to file off.
DESFILO'DO, a, adj. See
DESFILO'R, v. n. to file off.
DESFIVELLA'DO, a, adj. See
DESFIVELLA'R, v. a. to unbuckle.
DESFLEIMA'DO, a, adj. See
DESFLEIMA'R, v. n. to expectorate, to bring away or purge off phlegm.
DESFLORAÇAM, f. f. deflowering, or deflowering. (Speaking of a virgin.)
DESFLORA'DO, a, adj. See DESFLORAR.
DESFLORAME'NTO, f. m. See DESFLORAÇAM.
DESFLORA'R, v. a. to deflower, to get one's maidenhead; also to wash away the finest part of any thing.
DESFOGONA'DO, a, adj. See
DESFOGONA'R-SE, v. r. (among gunners) ex. Desfogonar-se huma peça, is when the touch-hole of a gun is spoiled, so that the gun is of no use at all. From the Ital. Sfo:onato.
DESFOLHADO, a, adj. See DESFOLHAR.
DESFOLHADURA, f. f. slipping of leaves.
DESFOLHA'R, v. a. to pull off the leaves.
Desfolhar a vinha, to pluck, or rub off superfluous leaves of a vine.
DESFORÇA'DO, p. of the preterp. tense of DESFORÇA'R-SE, v. r. to be reinvested, or placed in possession of a thing one had been deprived of by force; also to requite a man in his own way, to repay an ill fully.
DESFORMADO, a, adj. See
DESFORMA'R, v. a. See DESFIGURA'R.
DESFORME. See DEFORME.
DESFORRADO, a, adj. See
DESFORRA'R, v. a. to unline, to take out the lining.
Desferrar-se, v. r. to win one's money back again.
DESFRAIDA'DO, turned out of his monkish order. See
DESFRAIDA'R, v. a. to turn a friar out of his order.
Desfradar-se, v. r. to forsake one's monkish order.
DESFRALDA'DO, a, adj. See
DESFRALDA'R, v. a. to lessen the width of a coat, gown, &c.
Desfraldar as velas. See DESFERIR.
DESFUTADO, a, adj. See
DESFUTA'R, v. a. to gather, or have the product of a land; also to impoverish, to make sterile. (Speaking of lands.)

Desfrutar dinheiro, to waste money, to be a spendthrift.
DESFUNDA'DO, a, adj. See
DESFUNDA'R, v. a. to stave a cask, pipe, &c. to knock off its head or bottom.
DESGABA'DO, a, adj. not worthy to be named, unworthy of praise.
DESGABA'R, v. a. to blame, to discommend, to find fault with.
DESGADELHA'DO, a, adj. See
DESGADELHA'R, v. a. to dishevel, to pull one's hair about.
DESGALHA'DO, a, adj. See
DESGALHA'R, v. a. to cut away, or to tear off the branches or boughs of a tree.
DESGARRA'DO, a, adj. that has missed or lost his way. See also DESEMBARÇADO, and DESGARRA'R, v. a. to miss or lose one's way.
Desgarrar, (a sea term) to set sail.
Desgarrar a ancora, to weigh the anchor.
DESGARRRO, f. m. a bravado, or boasting.
DESGOSTA'DO, a, adj. See
DESGOSTA'R, v. a. to disgust, to offend.
Desgostar-se, v. r. to be or grow out of conceit, to grow weary, to be displeased with.
DESGOSTO, f. m. a disgust, an offence.
DESGOSTOSO, a, adj. troublesome, offensive, grievous, unpleasant; also that is grown weary or displeased with.
DESGOVERNA'DO, a, adj. mindless, careless; also disordered, corrupted, misgoverned. See DESGOVERNA'R, v. a. (among farriers) to drench a horse, or to burn certain veins in his pasterns.
Desgovernar-se, v. r. (Speaking of the animal economy) to break, or to want that regularity which causes health. See also DESREGRAR-SE.
DESGOVERNO, f. m. misgovernment, ill administration, mismanagement.
Desgoverno, (among farriers) the burning of the veins, &c. See DESGOVERNAR.
DESGRAÇA, f. f. misfortune, disgrace, the state of being out of favour.
Cabir na desgraça de alguém. See CAHIR.
DESGRAÇADAMENTE, adv. unfortunately.
DESGRAÇA'DO, or DESGRACIADO, a, adj. unfortunate, unlucky.
DESGRENHA'DO, a, adj. See DESGADELHA'DO.
DESGRUDA'DO, a, adj. See
DESGRUDA'R, v. a. to unglue.
Desgrudar-se, v. r. to unglue, to come off.
DESGUARNECI'DO, a, adj. undecked.
DESGUARNECE'R, v. a. to undeck, to deprive of ornaments.
DESHERDAÇAM, f. f. a disinheriting.
DESHERDA'DO, a, adj. See
DESHERDA'R, v. a. to disinherit.
DESHONESTAMENTE, adv. immodestly, indecently, obscenely.
DESHONESTIADE, f. f. dishonesty, immodesty, obscenity.
DESHONESTO, a, adj. immodest, indecent, bawdy, lewd, obscene.
DESHONRA, f. f. dishonour, shame, ignominy.
DESHONRA'DO, a, adj. See
DESHONRA'R, v. a. to dishonour, to bring a reproach upon, to disgrace, to discredit, to brand with infamy.
Desbonrar huma donzella. See DESFLOAR.
Desbonrar-se,

Desbonrar-se, v. r. to disgrace one's self.
DESHORA'DO, or FORA de horas. See DESHORAS, adv. ex. A deshoras, unseasonably, out of due time.
Couja que se faz a deshoras, untimely, ill timed.
DESHUMANAME'NTE, adv. inhumanly, cruelly.
DESHUMANIDA'DE, f. f. inhumanity, cruelty.
DESHUMANO, a, adj. inhuman, cruel, barbarous.
DESIDIA, f. f. idleness, slothfulness.
DESIGNA'DO, a, adj. See DESIGNAR, v. a. to design, to appoint, to elect.
Designar hum dia, to set, or appoint a day.
DESIGNIO, f. m. a design, purpose, intent.
DESIGUAL, adj. unlike, unequal, different, not even, not equal. See also INCAPAZ.
Pulso desigual, caprizant pulse, an uneven or leaping pulse.
Lugar desigual, an uneven place.
DESIGUALDA'DE, f. f. inequality, unevenness.
DESIGUALMENTE, adv. unequally.
DESJEJUA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DESJEJUA'R-SE, v. r. to break one's fast.
DESIMAGINA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DESIMAGINA'R, v. a. to blot a thing out of another's imagination.
Desimaginar-se, v. r. to blot a thing out one's imagination.
DESINÇADO, a, adj. See DESINÇAR, v. a. to extirpate, to root out, to destroy.
DESINCHA'DO, a, adj. See DESINCHAR, v. a. to take a swelling away.
Desinchar, v. n. to unswell.
DESINFECTAR. See DESINFICIONAR.
DESINFICIONA'DO, a, adj. See DESINFICIONAR, v. a. to take away the infection.
DESINSADO. See DESINÇADO.
DESINSAR. See DESINÇAR.
DESINVERNA'DO, a, adj. See DESINVERNAR, v. n. (a military word) is for soldiers to leave the winter quarters.
DESIRMANA'DO, a, adj. See DESIRMANAR, v. a. to unmatched.
DESISTENCIA, f. f. desistance, the act of desisting, cessation.
DESISTIDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
DESISTIR, v. n. to desist, to cease from any thing, to stop.
Desistir do corpo, to evacuate by stool.
Ter vontade de desistir, to go to stool, to have a mind to do his needs.
DESISTIVO, f. m. a purging medicine.
DESLACERA'DO, a, adj. See DESLACERAR, v. a. to rend, to tear, to tear off, to pull in pieces.
DESLADRILHA'DO, a, adj. that has the bricks taken away. See DESLADRILHAR, v. a. to take away the bricks.
DESLAMBER-SE, v. r. See DELAMBER-SE.
DESLASTRA'R, v. a. to take away the ballast of a ship.
DESLASTRE, f. m. the act of taking away the ballast of a ship.
DESLAVA'DO, a, adj. discoloured. See also DESAVERGONHADO, and

DESLAVA'R, v. a. to discolour, to deface the colour. See also DESBOTAR.
DESLAVRA'DO, a, adj. See DESLAVRAR, v. a. to give the ground the second tith.
DESLEAL, adj. disloyal, false, unfaithful.
DESLEALDA'DE, f. f. disloyalty, falsehood, unfaithfulness.
DESLEALME'NTE, adv. disloyally, unfaithfully.
DESLEIXA'DO, a, adj. lazy, good for nothing.
DESLIADO, or DESLIGADO. See DESATADO.
DESLIAR, or DESLIGAR. See DESATAR.
DESLINDA'DO, a, adj. See DESLINDAR, v. a. to clear any business.
DESLIVRA'DO. See DESLIVRAR.
DESLIVRAR. See DESLIVRAR.
DESLIZA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DESLIZAR, v. n. to slip, to slide.
Deslizar no caramello, to slide on the ice.
Deslizar, v. a. ex. Deslizar a alguma de huma coisa, to keep a thing secret, to say nothing of it, not to mention it to one.
Deslizar-se, v. r. to come down, to descend.
DESLICAÇAM, f. f. (in surgery) dislocation, luxation, a violent pressure of a bone out of the socket.
DESLICA'DO, a, adj. See DESLICAR, v. a. to dislocate, to put out of joint; also to put any thing out of the proper place. (Metaph.)
DESLICA'DURA. See DESLICAÇAM.
DESLOMBA'DO, a, adj. See DESLOMBAR, v. a. to break the back.
DESLUMBRADO, a, adj. See DESLUMBRAR.
DESLUMBRAME'NTO, f. m. the dazzling of the sun, or any over-light; also hallucination, error, blunder, mistake, folly.
DESLUMBRA'R, v. a. to daze, or dazzle, to overpower with light, to strike with too strong lustre.
DESLUSTRA'DO, a, adj. See DESLUSTRAR, v. a. to take away, or lessen the lustre.
Deslustrar a reputaçam de alguma, to stain or blur one's reputation.
DESLUSTRE, f. m. deprivation of the splendour, or lustre; also blemish, stain, note of infamy.
DESLUZID, a, adj. See DESLUZIR, v. a. to take away the gloss or beauty of a thing; also to eclipse, to drown, to surpass. See DESLUSTRAR.
DESMADA'DO, a, adj. fainted, swooned.
Desmaiado na cor, pale, wan.
Versos desmaiados, (in the vulgar poetry) so they call those verses that appear to the ear to be shorter than they ought to be, for want of synalœphas. See also DESMADAR, v. n. to faint, to swoon, to lose courage, to dismay, to despond; also to grow pale, to decay, and fade.
Desmair, v. a. to puzzle, to dazzle, to surprise, to amaze, to astonish by something wonderful.
DESMADIO, f. m. a swoon, a lipothymy, a fainting fit.
Acordar de hum desmaio, to recover from a swoon.
Desmaio do valor, discouragement, want of courage.
Desmaio das forças, feebleness, want of strength.

DESMAMA'DO, a, adj. See DESMAMAR, v. a. to wean, to put from the breast, to ablate.
Criança que se acabou de desmamar, a weanling, a weanling, a child newly weaned.
DESMANCHADAME'NTE, adv. confusedly, disorderly.
DESMANCHA'DO, a, adj. See DESMANCHAR, and Desmanchar-se.
DESMANCHAPRAZERES, f. m. and f. (a vulgar word) a troublesome guest, one that spoils the sport of the company.
DESMANCHAR, v. a. to take to pieces, to unhast. See also DESLOCAR.
A acçom de desmanchar, unhasting.
Desmanchar, to confuse, to shew to be false.
Desmanchar-se, v. r. to be taken to pieces. See also DESMANDAR-SE.
DESMANCHIO, f. m. confusion, disorder; also want of moderation, excess.
Desmancho nos costumes, licentiousness, corruption of morals.
DESMANDA'DO, a, adj. disobedient. See also DESREGRADO, and DESMANDAR-SE.
Pedra desmandada, a stone thrown at random, as when the hurler of it takes no aim at all.
DESMANDAR-SE, v. r. to go too far, to pass the bounds of fitness.
DESMANTELA'DO, a, adj. See DESMANTELAR, v. a. to dismantling, to throw down walls, or works.
DESMARCADAME'NTE, adv. out of measure, immoderately, beyond measure.
DESMARCA'DO, a, adj. out of rule, exceeding great, out of square, enormous.
Encarecimento desmarcado, too spruce affectation.
DESMAREA'DO, a, adj. See DESMAREAR-SE, v. r. ex. Desmarear-se a navegaçam, is for sailors not to perform their duty.
DESMASTEAD, a, adj. See DESMASTEAR, or DESEMMASTEAR, v. a. ex. Desmastear hum navio, to un-mast a ship.
Desmastear hum navio com tiros de peças, to shoot the masts of a ship by the board.
A tempestade desmasteou o nosso navio, we lost our masts in the storm.
DESMAZELADAME'NTE, adv. negligently, carelessly.
DESMAZELA'DO, a, adj. senseless, careless.
DESMAZELAME'NTO. See DESMAZELO, f. m. want of thought, negligence, carelessness.
Com desmazelo. See DESMAZELADAMENTE.
DESMEDI'DO. See DESMARCADO, and DESMEDI'R-SE, v. r. See DESMANDAR-SE.
DESMEDRA'DO, a, adj. See DESMEDRAR, v. n. (speaking of plants) to go backward, to decay instead of thriving; also to diminish, to grow less, to be impaired.
DESMELHORA'DO, a, adj. See DESMELHORAR, v. a. to make worse.
Desmelhorar, v. n. to grow worse.
DESMEMBRAÇAM, f. f. dismembering, pulling to pieces; also dismembering, dividing, cantling. (Speaking of lands, provinces, &c.)
DESMEMBRA'DO, a, adj. See DESMEMBRAR, v. a. to dismember, or pull in pieces; also to dismember, divide, vide, or cattle. (Speaking of lands, provinces, &c.)

DESMEMORIA'DO, a, adj. forgetful.
DESMENTI'DO, a, adj. that has had the lie given him. See
DESMENTIR, v. a. to give the lie; also to belie or contradict. See also DESMANCHAR.
Desmentir o caminho, to go out of the road in order to deceive a pursuer.
Desmentir-se, v. r. to belie, or contradict one's self.
Naõ se desmentir, to be always the same, to be steady, firm and constant.
DESMENTIO-SE a conjectura, the conjecture was false.
DESMERECE'R, v. n. to become undeserving, to demerit, to deserve blame.
DESMERECIMENTO. See DEMERTITO.
DESMESURA'DO, a, adj. See DESMARCA'DO.
DESMIOLADO, a, adj. See
DESMIOLA'R, v. a. to pull out the brains; also to take out the crumb of bread.
DESMONTA'DO, a, adj. ex. Cavallo desmontado, a horse that is saddled but has no rider upon him. See also DESMONTA'R, v. n. See APEAR-SE.
Desmontar, v. a. to unhorse, to beat from an horse, to throw from the saddle; also to order to alight.
Desmontar huma peça, to throw a cannon from its carriage.
DESMORONA'DO, a, adj. See
DESMORONA'R-SE, v. r. to moulder away. (Spanish.)
DESNACE'R, v. n. to re-enter the mother's womb.
DESNARIGA'DO, a, adj. See
DESNARIGA'R, v. a. to cut off the nose.
DESNATURA'DO. See DESNATURALIZADO.
DESNATURALIZAÇÃ'M, f. f. the act of disnaturalising.
DESNATURALIZA'DO, a, adj. See
DESNATURALIZA'R, v. a. to disnaturalize, to deprive of the privileges of birth.
DESNATURA'R, v. a. See DESNATURALIZAR.
DESNAVEGA'VEL, adj. that hinders from sailing. (Speaking of the weather.)
DESNCESSARIAMENTE, adv. unnecessarily.
DESNCESSÁRIO, a, adj. unnecessary, needless.
DESNEVA'DO, a, adj. cold as snow.
DESNINHA'DO. See DESNINHADO.
DESNINHA'R. See DESNINHAR.
DESNOC'A'DO, or DESNUCA'DO, a, adj. See
DESNOC'A'R, or DESNUCA'R, v. a. to break or hurt the nape or the joint of the neck behind.
DESOBEDECE'R, v. n. to disobey, to be disobedient.
DESOBEDECIDO, a, adj. disobeyed.
DESOBEDIE'NCIA, f. f. disobedience.
DESOBEDIE'NTE, adj. disobedient.
DESOBEDIENTEMENTE, adv. disobediently.
DESOBRIGA'DO, a, adj. See
DESOBRIGA'R, v. a. to exempt, or free from duty. See also REFORMAR.
Desobrigar-se, v. r. to do, or to perform one's duty.
Desobrigar-se da sua promessa, ou de hum voto, to fulfil one's promise, or one's vow.

Desobrigar-se da quaresma, is for the Roman Catholics to confess their sins and receive the holy sacrament in Lent.
Desobrigou-se da execuçam da sua promessa, he excused himself for not having fulfilled his promise.
DESOBSTRUE'NCIA. See DESOPILACA'M.
DESOBSTRUE'NTE, adj. (in medicine) ex. Remedio desobstruente, desobstruent, deopillative, or deopillatory medicines, that serve to move obstructions or stoppages.
DESOBSTRU'DO. See DESOPILADO.
DESOBSTRU'R. See DESOPILAR.
DESOCUP'A'DO, a, adj. at leisure, idle, without business. See also LIVRE.
DESOCUP'A'R, v. a. to depart from a place, to quit it. See also DESPEJAR.
Desocupar-se, v. r. to retire from a business, to free one's self from it, to lay it aside.
DESOLAÇÃ'M, f. f. destruction, desolation, ravage.
DESOLA'DO, a, adj. See
DESOLA'R, v. a. to lay waste, to desolate, to ruin.
DESOPILAÇÃ'M, f. f. deopillation.
DESOPILA'DO, a, adj. See
DESOPILA'R, v. a. to deobstruct, to deopillate, to free from obstructions.
DESOPPRIMI'DO, a, adj. See
DESOPPRIMI'R, v. a. to free from oppression.
DESO'RDEM, f. f. disorder, confusion. Com desordem, confusedly, disorderly.
DESORDENADAMENTE, adv. idem.
DESORDENADO, a, adj. disordered; also unbridled, loose, unruly. See
DESORDENA'R, v. a. to disorder, to throw into confusion, to confound, to put out of method, to ruffle, to confuse.
DESORELHADO, a, adj. See
DESORELHA'R, v. a. to cut off the ears.
DESOSSA'DO, a, adj. See
DESOSSA'R, v. a. to bone, to take the bones from the flesh.
DESOVA'DO, a, adj. See
DESOVA'R, to spawn, to produce as fishes do eggs.
DESPACHADAMENTE, adv. speedily, readily, without hinderance.
DESPACHA'DO, a, adj. See DESPACHAR.
DESPACHADO'R, f. m. a man of quick dispatch.
DESPACHA'R, v. a. to dispatch.
Despachar hum negocio, to dispatch a business.
Despachar hum correo, to dispatch, or send a courier.
Despachar, or Despachar desta vida a hum homem, to dispatch, or to kill a man, or to dispatch him out of the way.
Despachar a alguem, to dispatch another's affairs.
Despachar-se, v. r. to conclude one's affairs; also to make haste. See also AVIAR-SE.
DESPA'CHO, f. m. a writing in answer to a petition, which we call a rescript when it comes from the emperor, or from the pope; also a dispatch, a letter.
Dias de despacho, leading days.
DESPALMA'DO, a, adj. See
DESPALMAR, v. a. (among farriers) to pare a horse's hoofs.
DESPAPA'DO, a, adj. (in horsemanship) that lifts or holds up the head too much.
DESPARADO. See DISPARADO.

DESPARAR. See DISPARAR.
DESPARATADO. See DISPARATADO.
DESPARATAR. See DISPARATAR.
DESPARATE. See DISPARATE.
DESPARTI'DO, a, adj. See
DESPARTI'R, v. a. to separate, to disunite, to part, to break off.
Despartir os que estão pelejando, to part combatants.
DESPARZIDO. See ESPARZIDO.
DESPARZIR. See ESPARZIR.
DESPEA'DO, a, adj. foundered. See also
DESPEA'R, v. a. to unfetter, or unlock a horse, &c.
DESPEDAÇA'DO, a, adj. See
DESPEDAÇA'R, v. a. to tear in pieces.
DESPEDIDA, f. f. a farewell, taking leave; also a discharging, dismissing. See also FIM.
Por despedida, at last.
DESPEDI'DO, f. m. he who took leave; also he who was dismissed.
Despedido, a, adj. See
DESPEDI'R, v. a. to dismiss, to turn away; also to disband.
Despedir hum criado, to turn off a servant.
Despedir, to shoot, to let off, to discharge any thing so as to make it fly off with speed or violence.
Despedir, or Despachar hum correo. See DESPACHAR.
Despedir, v. n. to cease, to be at an end.
Despedir-se, v. r. to take leave.
DESPEGA'DO, unglued. See also DESPEGAR, and Despegar-se.
DESPEGA'R, v. a. to unglue, to loose any thing cemented.
Despegar, ou despegar da obra, v. n. to leave one's work.
Despegar-se, v. r. to part, to leave, to come away, to get rid.
O homem habituado ao vicio com difficuldade se despega delle, a man hardened in vice will hardly get rid of it.
DESPE'GO, or DESAPE'GO. See LIBERDADE, and IZENÇAM.
Despego de huma pessoa, a withdrawing from one's company. See also AVERSAM.
DESPEJADAMENTE, adv. quickly, expeditiously.
DESPEJA'DO, a, adj. ex. Lugar despejado, a place that is cleared, or voided.
Despejado, shameless, impudent. See also DESPEJA'R, v. a. to clear or void a place; also to depart, to go away, to go out. See also VASAR.
DESPE'JO, f. m. See DESCOMPOSTURA.
DESPEJOS, the accommodations of a house.
Casa que tem muitos despejos, a very convenient house.
DESPEITO, f. m. contempt.
A despeito, or em despeito, in spite.
Em seu despeito, in spite of him.
Em vosso despeito, in spite of your teeth.
DESPEITORADO, a, adj. See
DESPEITORA'R-SE, v. r. to open or discover one's breast.
DESPENADO, a, adj. See
DESPENA'R, v. a. to rid one of his troubles and cares.
DESPENDE'R, or DISPENDE'R, v. a. to spend.
Despender razoes, to produce or bring forth reasons.
DESPENDI'DO, a, adj. See the v. DESPENDER, DESPENDIO.

DESPENDIO. See DISPENDIO.

DESPENHADEIRO, f. m. a precipice, a head-long steep, a fall perpendicular, without gradual declivity.

DESPENHA'DO, a, adj. See

DESPENHA'R. See PRECIPITAR.

Despenhar-se, v. r. See PRECIPITAR-SE.

DESPE'NHO, f. m. a falling from a high place. See also DESPENHADEIRO.

DESPE'NSA, f. f. a buttery, or pantry, a place to keep provisions in.

DESPENSAÇAM. See DISPENSAÇAM.

DESPENSADO, &c. See DISPENSADO, &c.

DESPENSE'IRA, f. f. she that dispenses, shares, or bestows any thing, a distributor.

DESPENSEIRO, f. m. a butler, a yeoman of the larder, a steward; also a distributor, one who deals out any thing.

DESPENTEADO, a, adj. See

DESPENTEAR, v. n. it is said of a horse whose shoulder parts from the breast. This disease, or hurt, is called by our farriers shoulder-torn.

DESPERDIÇADO, a, adj. See DESPERDIÇAR.

DESPERDIÇADO'R, f. m. a spend-thrift, a prodigal, a lavishier.

DESPERDIÇAR, v. a. to lavish, to scatter with profusion.

Elle desperdiçou toda a sua fazenda, he has spent all his estate.

Vos desperdiçais as palavras, you spend your breath in vain.

DESPERDICIO, or DESPERDIÇO, f. m. lavishness.

DESPERTA'DO, a, adj. See DESPERTAR.

DESPERTADO'R, f. m. he that wakes others; also an alarm-bell to wake by; also an exciter.

DESPERTA'R, v. a. to wake, to rouse from sleep; also to excite, to put in motion, or action; to stir up.

Despertar, v. n. to wake, to cease from sleep.

DESPE'ZA, f. f. charge, expence, cost.

DESPE'ZO, ex. Andar despezo, to lack, to be wanting.

DESPIADOSAMENTE, adv. unmercifully, without pity.

DESPIADO'SO, a, adj. unmerciful, pitiless.

DESPICA'DO, a, adj. that has taken revenge. See

DESPICAR-SE, v. r. to be revenged, to return like for like, to be even with one, to retaliate an injury, to revenge an affront.

DESPIDO, a, adj. stripped of, made naked, deprived of covering; also unsheathed. See the v. DESPIR.

DESPIEDADE, f. f. inhumanity, cruelty.

DESPIEDADO, a, adj. cruel, barbarous, inhuman, fierce, hard.

DESPIMENTO, f. m. the act of divesting, or making naked. See also DESPEGO.

DESPINTADO, a, adj. See

DESPINTAR, v. a. to misrepresent, to falsify.

DESPIQUE, f. m. satisfaction, or revenge taken.

DESPIR, v. a. to divest, to strip, to make naked.

Despir a serpente a pelle, to cast off the slough. (Speaking of a snake.)

Despir-se, v. r. to pull off one's cloaths, to strip one's self naked; also to leave, to lay aside, to forsake; also to change, to put off, to cast off, to leave off.

DESPLUMA'DO. See DEPENNADO.

DESPLUMAR. See DEPENNAR.

DESPOJA'DO, a, adj. See

DESPOJAR, v. a. to strip, to spoil, to rob, to bereave, to dispossess.

Despojar huma pessoa da sua dignidade, to strip or deprive one of his dignity.

DESPOJO, f. m. a robbing, spoiling, pillaging, or plundering; also a spoil, a booty.

DESPO'IS. See DEPOIS.

DESPONSA'ES. See DESPOSORIOS.

DESPONTADO, a, adj. See

DESPONTAR, v. a. to blunt, to take off the point.

P. as letras não despontaram a lança, that is, learning and military virtue are not incompatible.

Despontar o cabelo, to clip the hair.

Despontar, v. n. to depart, to desist from a practice.

Elle não despontou em hum quilate, he departed not an hair's breadth.

Despontar a mare, is for the tide to begin to ebb.

DESPO'R. See DISPOR.

DESPO'ERTO. See DI'VERTIMENTO.

DESPOSIÇAM, &c. See DISPOSIÇAM, &c.

DESPOSA'DA, f. f. a woman espoused, a bride or a new-married woman.

DESPOSA'DO, f. m. a bridegroom, or a new-married man.

DESPOSA'DO, a, adj. See

DESPOSA'R, v. a. to affiance, to betroth, to bind any one by promise to marriage.

O que desposa, an affiancer, he that makes a contract of marriage between two parties.

DESPOSO'RIOS, f. m. p. espousals, the act of contracting, or affiancing a man and woman to each other, the act or ceremony of betrothing.

DESPOSSADO. See DESAPOSSADO.

DESPOSSAR. See DESAPOSSAR.

DESPO'TICO, a, adj. despotic, despotic, absolute in power.

Senhor despótico, ou absoluto, an absolute prince, one that governs with unlimited authority, a despot; but this last word is not in use, except as applied to some Dacian prince; as the despot of Servia.

DESPO'TO, f. m. a despot, a great title anciently given by the Grecians to a lord or governor of a country.

DESPOVOADO, f. m. a desert place.

Despovoado, a, adj. See

DESPOVOAR, v. a. to unpeople, to depopulate.

DESPRAZER. See DESGOSTO.

Dar desprazer, to displease, or discontent.

DESPREGADO, a, adj. See DESPEGAR.

DESPREGADURA, f. f. the act of unplaiting, or undoing the plaits.

DESPREGAR, v. a. to unmail; also to un-plait, or undo the plaits.

Bandeiras despregadas, colours flying, or displayed.

Despregar o panno, or as velas, to spread the sails.

Despregar os olhos de algum objecto, to cease looking at an object.

Despregar os olhos, to open the eyes.

DESPRENDE'R, v. a. See SOLTAR.

Desprender-se, v. r. ex. Desprender-se dos olhos de alguém, to disappear, to vanish away, to go out of sight.

DESPRENDIDO, a, adj. See DESPRENDER.

DESPREVENTO, a, adj. unwary, heedless, that doth not foresee.

DESPREZADO, a, adj. See DESPREZAR.

DESPREZADO'R, f. m. a despiser, contemner, scorner.

DESPREZADO'RA, f. f. she that scorns, or cares not for.

DESPREZAR, v. a. to despise, to scorn, to contemn, to slight, to disrespect. It is said both of things and persons.

Desprezar-se, v. r. to disdain, to scorn, to consider as unworthy of one's character.

DESPREZAVEL, or DESPREZIVEL, adj. despicable, contemptible, vile, mean, sordid, worthless.

DESPREZIVELMENTE, adv. despicably, meanly, sordidly, vilely.

DESPREZO, f. m. contempt, slight regard, scorn.

Com desprezo, or por desprezo, scornfully, disdainfully, lightly, with contempt.

Ter por desprezo. See DESPREZAR-SE.

Desprezo, a neglect, carelessness.

DESPRIMO'R, f. m. a fault, a foolish or impolitic action; also a fault or defect. See DESCORTEZIA.

DESPRIMOROSAMENTE, adv. without primor. See PRIMOR.

DESPRIMORO'SO, a, adj. that wants primor. See PRIMOR.

DESPRIVAR, v. a. to disgrace, to turn out of favour; also to reject, to cast off, to slight.

DESPROPORÇAM, f. f. want of symmetry, disproportion.

Com desproporçam, or desproporcionadamente, disproportionately.

DESPROPORCIONADO, a, adj. disproportionate, unsymmetrical, unsuitable to something else either in bulk or value.

DESPROPOSITADAMENTE, adv. nonsensically, foolishly, impertinently.

DESPROPOSITADO, a, adj. impertinent, foolish, out of the way, nonsensical. See DESPROPOSITAR, v. n. to talk idly, or impertinently, to talk at random, to extragate, to doat.

Despropositar com alguém, to break, or fall out with one.

DESPROPOSITO, f. m. nonsense impertinence, absurdity.

Não faz se não dizer despropositos, he talks nothing but nonsense.

DESQUE. See DESDE que.

DESQUEIXADO, a, adj. See

DESQUEIXAR, v. a. to tear the jaws.

DESQUERER, v. a. to dislike, to regard without affection, to regard with ill-will, or disgust; also to love no more.

DESQUERIDO, a, adj. disliked, &c. See the v. DESQUERER.

DESQUITADO, a, adj. See

DESQUITAR-SE, v. r. to divorce one's wife. See also DESFORRAR-SE.

DESQUITE, f. m. a recovering what was lost. See DESFORRAR-SE, and DIVORCIO.

Ter bom desquite, to be even with one's competitor.

DESRAMADO. See DECOTADO.

DESRAMAR,

DESRAMAR. See DECOTAR.
DESREGRADO, a, adj. See
DESREGRAR-SE, v. r. to exceed in eating, drinking, &c. not to observe the rules prescribed by the physician. See also DESMANDAR-SE.
DESSA. See PRONOME.
DESSABO'R, or DISSABOR, f. m. See DESCOSTO.
DESSABOROSO, a, adj. that has a bad taste.
DESSA'R, v. a. (in the province of Beira) to unsalt, to water salt meat or fish.
DESSE. See PRONOME.
DESSECADO. See DESECADO.
DESSECAR, &c. See DESECAR.
DESSEINAR-SE. See DESENGONÇAR-SE.
DESSEMElhADO, a, adj. disfigured, deformed.
DESSEMElhANÇA, f. f. unlikeness.
DESSEMElhANTE, adj. unlike. See also DIFFERENTE.
DESSEMElhANTEMENTE, adv. diversely. See also DIFFERENTEMENTE.
DESSERT, f. m. (a new word from the French.) See SOBREMESA.
DESSERVIR, v. a. to deserve, to hurt; also to misserve, to serve unfaithfully.
DESSOLADO, } See { DESOLADO.
DESSOLAR, } See { DESOLAR.
DESTA, DESTÉ', genitive of the pronoun este. See ESTE, and PRONOME.
DESTACADO, a, adj. See DESTACAR.
DESTACAMENTO, f. m. (a military word) detachment, a body of troops sent out from the main army.
DESTACAR, v. a. to detach, to send out part of a greater body of men on an expedition. From the French detacher.
DESTAMPADO, a, adj. doating, silly. See also DESTAMPAR com alguém, v. n. to fall out with one.
DESTAMPATO'RIA, f. f. See DISPARATE.
DESTAPADO, a, adj. See
DESTAPAR, v. a. to open, to unstop.
DESTECEr, v. a. to unweave, to unravel.
DETECIDO, a, adj. unravelled, unwoven.
DETELHADO, a, adj. See
DETELHAR, v. a. to untile.
Destelhar huma casa, to untile a house.
DESTEME'R, v. a. to have no fear, to make no account of.
DESTEMIDO, a, adj. bold, stout, undaunted, fearless.
DESTEMPERADAMENTE, adv. intemperately, immoderately, without measure or moderation.
DESTEMPERADO, a, adj. that is out of tune. See also DESTEMPERAR.
Mandar embora com caixas destemperadas. See CAXA.
DESTEMPERAMENTO, weaknefs, squeamishnefs, aptness to vomit. (Speaking of the stomach.)
Destemperamento da barriga, diarrhoea, flux of the belly.
DESTEMPERANÇA, f. f. See INTEMPERIE.
DESTEMPERAR, v. a. to put out of tune; also to dilute, to make thin, to attenuate by the admixture of other parts.
Licor que serve para destemperar outro, a diluter, that which makes any thing else thin.
A açam de destemperar hum licor com outro, a dilution, the act of making any thing thin or weak.

Destemperar o estomago, to loosen the belly, to ease costiveness.
Destemperar as caixas, to beat the drum confusedly. It is used when they punish a soldier.
DESTEMPERO, f. m. See INTEMPERIE.
DESTERRADO, a, adj. See
DESTERRAR, v. a. to banish, to condemn to leave his own country; also drive away.
A açam de desterrar, a banishing, a sending away, or confining to some far country.
O que desterra, a banisher, he that forces another from his own country.
DESTERRO, f. m. banishment; also a desert or wilderness.
Desferro da razão, (metaph.) deviation, or swerving from reason.
DESTETADO. See DESMANADO.
DESTETAR. See DESMAMAR.
DESTILAÇAM. See DESTILLAÇAM.
DESTILADO, &c. See DISTILLADO, &c.
DESTINAÇAM, f. f. See DESTINO.
DESTINADO, a, adj. See
DESTINAR, v. a. to purpose, to determine, to appoint, to destinate.
DESTIMIDO. See DESTEMIDO.
DESTINGIDO, a, adj. See
DESTINGIR, v. a. to discolour, or extinguish the colour.
DESTINO, f. m. destiny, fate.
DESTINTO, f. m. See INSTINCTO.
DESTITUIÇAM, f. f. destitution, want; also abandoning, forsaking.
DESTITUIDO, a, adj. that wants something necessary. See also DESTITUIR, v. a. to leave one destitute. See DESEMPARAR.
DESTORCER, v. a. to untwist, to separate any things involved in each other, or wrapped up on themselves. See also INDIREITAR.
DESTORCIDO, a, adj. See DESTORCER.
DESTORROADO, a, adj. See
DESTORROAR, v. a. to harrow, to break with the harrow.
A açam de destorroar, a harrowing, or breaking of clods.
Aquelle que destorroa, a harrower.
DESTOUÇADO, a, adj. See
DESTOUÇAR, v. a. to undress the head.
Destouçar o cabelo. See DESENTRANÇAR.
DESTRA, f. f. the right hand.
De destra, ou á destra. See ADESTRO.
DESTRAGADO. See ESTRAGADO.
DESTRAGAR-SE, &c. See ESTRAGAR-SE, &c.
DESTRAHIDO. See DISTRAHIDO.
DESTRAHIMENTO, &c. See DISTRAHIMENTO, &c.
DESTRAMENTE, adv. sharply, wittily; also cunningly, subtilly, shrewdly.
DESTRANCADO, a, adj. See
DESTRANCAR, v. a. to unbar.
DESTRATADO. See DISTRATADO.
DESTRATAR. See DISTRATAR.
DESTRAVADO. See DESPEADO.
DESTRAVAR. See DESPEAR.
DESTREPADO. See DESLIZADO.
DESTREPAR-SE. See DESLIZAR-SE.
DESTRE'ZA, f. f. dexterity, readiness of contrivance, quickness of expedient, skill of management.

DESTHRONADO. See DESTRONADO.
DESTHRONAR. See DESTRONAR.
DESTRICTO. See DISTRICTO.
DESTRINÇADO, a, adj. See
DESTRINÇAR, v. a. to unravel, to disentangle, to extricate, to clear, to expound things minutely.
DESTRIPA'DO, a, adj. gutted, paunched.
DESTRIPA'R, v. a. to gut, to paunch, to pull out the guts.
DE'STRO, a, adj. dexterous, expert in management, subtle, full of expedients; also that shows the artificer's dexterity.
DESTROÇADO, a, adj. See
DESTROÇAR, v. a. to make havock, to put to flight, to break in pieces.
Destroçar, (cortar em troços) to cut in pieces.
Destroçar, to divide an army into TROÇOS, which see.
Destroçar, (falar a troços.) See TROÇOS.
Capitão destrocado, a captain that has lost his ship.
DESTROCADO, a, adj. See
DESTROCAR, v. a. to change again what was changed before.
DESTROÇO, f. m. havock, slaughter, spoil, destruction, desolation, ravage.
Destroços de huma armada, the broken remnants of an army.
Destroços de hum navio, the remains of a ship that was destroyed by winds or rocks.
Destroços da fortuna, the remains of one's fortune.
DESTRONADO. See DESENTRONIZADO.
DESTRONAR. See DESENTRONIZAR.
DESTRONCADO, a, adj. See
DESTRONCAR, v. a. to truncate, to maim, to lop; also to cut or pull down the trunk of a tree.
DESTRUCTIVO. See DESTRUIDOR.
DESTRUICAM, f. f. destruction, ruin.
DESTRUIDO, a, adj. See DESTRUIR.
DESTRUIDO'R, f. m. one that casts down, a demolisher, a quencher, a destroyer.
DESTRUIDO'RA, f. f. she that destroys, or casts down.
DESTRUIR, v. a. to demolish, to throw, pull, or take down any thing that is built or made; also to subvert.
Destruir-se, v. r. to come to ruin, to fall, or fall down.
Estas opiniões destroemse com o tempo, these opinions are lost in time.
Destruir-se hum ao outro, to ruin one another.
DESUADIDO. See DISSUADIDO.
DESUADIR. See DISSUADIR.
DESVAIRADO, a, adj. (an antiquated word) that stuns the ear, that makes dizzy.
DESVAIRO, f. m. See DISCORDIA.
DESVALIDO, f. m. he who is out of favour, one that is disgraced at court.
DESVALIMENTO, f. m. disgrace; the state of being out of favour.
DESVANECER, v. a. to puff up one with pride; also to frustrate, to disappoint, to deceive.
Desvanecer as esperanças, to cut off from expectation.
Desvanecer a cabeça, to make giddy, to cause giddiness.
Desvanecer-se, v. r. to grow proud, to be blown blown or puffed up; also to vanish, to pass away, to be lost.

DES

DESVANECIDAMENTE, adv. proudly, arrogantly.
DESVANECIDO, a, adj. See DESVANECER.
DESVANECIMENTO, f. m. pride, vanity.
DESVAN, f. m. a little room, or accommodation in a house. See DESPEJOS.
DESVARIADO, a, adj. many and various. Desvariado do juízo, light-headed. See DESVARIAR, v. n. See DELIRAR.
DESVARFO, the loss of wits, alienation of mind, disorder of the faculties.
DESVELADO, a, adj. without sleep, waking, that sleepeth not. See also DESVELAR, v. a. to hinder from sleeping; also to overwatch, to subdue with long want of rest.
Desvelar-se, v. r. to apply the mind to, to care for a thing, to give one's self to it, to long, to wish with eager desire continued.
Desvelar-se em alguma coisa, to be very careful and laborious in a thing. See also FIGIAR.
DESPELO, f. m. a watching, a sitting up, all night long; also care, diligence, watchfulness, diligent observation.
DESVENTURA. See DESADVENTURA.
DESVIADO, a, adj. put out of the way, removed. See also DESVIAR, v. a. to put out of the way.
Desviar alguém do estudo, to divert, or take away one from his study.
Desviar huma pancada, to shun, or parry a blow.
Desviar dinheiro, fazenda, &c. See DESENCAMINHAR.
Desviar a pensamento. See DIVERTIR.
Desviar alguém da sua resolução, to dissuade one from his resolution.
Desviar alguém do caminho da razão, to make one deviate, or swerve from reason.
Desviar alguém do seu caminho, to put a traveller out of his road.
Desviar alguém do perigo, to keep one from danger.
Desviar-se, v. r. ex. Desviar-se do caminho, to digress, to turn out of the road; also to miss one's way, to wander, to go astray.
Desviar-se da virtude, to forsake virtue.
Desviar-se da obediência, to shake off obedience.
Desviar-se do seu assumpto, to digress, or depart from the main design of a discourse.
Desviar-se de hum costume, de huma regra, ou da sua obrigação, to deviate, or depart from a custom, rule, or from one's duty.
Desviar-se de hum perigo, to shun a danger.
Desviar-se da razão, to swerve from reason.
Elle desvia-se de mim, he avoids me.
Os peccadores impenitentes não se desviaram da vingança de Deus, unrepentent sinners shall not avoid God's vengeance.
DESVO, f. m. a place secret or apart from company, a retirement; also a deviation, or the act of quitting the right way, an error, (both in the proper and moral sense.)
Desvio do caminho commun, a turning, a side-way, a by-path.
Desvio, coldness, want of ardour, (among lovers.)
Desvio, or SUBTERFUGIO, which see.
Desvio de dinheiro, ou fazenda. See DESENCAMINHO.

DET

DESVITUADO, a, adj. See DESVITUAR-SE, v. r. (among farriers) ex. Desvituar-se o casco, it is one of the effects that proceed from the ATROAMENTO, which see.
DESVIVER, v. n. to die.
DESVIVIDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DESVIVER.
DESUNIAM, f. f. disjunction, disunion. See also ANTIPHEN.
DESUNIDO, a, adj. See DESUNIR, v. a. to disunite, to separate, to divide.
DESUSADO, a, adj. unusual, that is not in use; also unfrequented.
Palavras desusadas, obsolete words.
DESUSAR-SE, v. r. to grow out of use or date.
DESUSO, f. m. disuse, lack of custom.
DETERÇA, f. f. delay, stay.
DETERÇAM. See RETENÇAM.
DETERÇOSO, a, adj. craggy, rugged, almost impervious. See also VAGAROSO.
DETER, v. a. to keep back, to stop, to detain, to withhold, to hinder; also to withstand, or oppose.
Deter o alheio, to detain, or keep that which belongs to another.
Deter o pranto, to forbear crying.
Deter alguém com palavras, to keep one at a bay, to drive one off with fair words.
Deter-se, v. r. to stay, to continue in a place, to forbear departure, to tarry.
Deter-se por causa do vento, to be wind-bound.
Deter-se muito, to be long in coming.
DETERIOR, adj. worse.
DETERIORADO, a, adj. See DETERIORAR, v. n. to grow worse.
DETERMINAÇAM, f. f. determination, resolution; also a boundary.
DETERMINADAMENTE, adv. namely, precisely, particularly. See also DELIBERADAMENTE.
DETERMINADO, a, adj. See DETERMINAR, v. a. to determine to resolve.
Determinar com si, to conclude, to be resolved, to conclude with one's self. See also DESTINAR.
Determinar-se, v. r. to resolve, to design, to come to a resolution.
DETERSIVO, a, adj. (with physicians) detensive.
DETESTAÇAM. See ABOMINAÇAM.
DETESTADO. See ABOMINADO.
DETESTAR. See ABOMINAR.
DETESTAVEL. See ABOMINAVEL.
DETIDO, a, adj. hindered, stopped, &c. See the v. DETER.
DETONAÇAM, f. f. (in chemistry) detonation. See also CALCINAR.
DETONADO. See DETONAR, v. n. (in chemistry) is for a mixture that is kindled in the containing vessel, to make a thundering noise.
DETORADO, a, adj. See DETORAR, v. a. to prune, or lop trees, that they may grow or spring up again.
DETRACÇAM, f. f. detraction, the impairing, or lessening a man in point of fame.
DETRACTO'R, f. m. a detractor, one that takes away another's reputation.
DETRAHIDO, a, adj. See DETRAHIR, v. a. to detract, to slander, to backbite.
DETRAZ, a prep. after, behind.

DEV

A porta detraz da casa, a back door.
A parte detraz da casa, the back part of a house.
DETRIMENTO, f. m. detriment, damage, hurt, loss.
Detrimeto, (in astronomy) detriment, or the greatest of the essential debilities of a planet, viz. the sign directly opposite to that which is its house; as the detriment of the sun in Aquarius, because it is opposite to Leo.
DETRONADO. See DESESTRONIZADO.
DETRONAR. See DESESTRONIZAR.
DEVAÇAM, or DEFOÇAM, f. f. devotion.
DEVAGAR, adv. slowly, softly, leisurely. P. devagar-se vai ao longe, fair and softly goes far.
Devagar, softly, hold there.
Devagar não vos enfadeis, prithee be not angry.
DEVANE'O. See DESVANECIMENTO.
DEVASSA, f. f. the act of examining witnesses, and hearing their depositions; also the writings containing the same depositions.
Tirar devassa, to examine a witness.
DEVASSADO, a, adj. conspicuous, obvious to the sight, that may be seen at a distance. See also DEVASSAR, v. n. to examine witnesses, to take an information in order to prosecution at law.
Devassar, v. a. to view, to take a view of, to see afar off.
Devassar-se, v. r. Devassar-se a mulher, is for a woman to sell herself to whoredom, or to take a lewd course of life.
DEVASSIDAM, f. f. licentiousness.
DEVASSO, that does not shut close. See also DEVASSADO.
Mulher devassa, a whore, a prostitute, a public strumpet.
DEVASTAÇAM, f. f. devastation, waste, havoc, desolation.
DEVASTADO, a, adj. See DEVASTAR.
DEVASTADOR, f. m. a spoiler, waster, a depopulator.
DEVASTADORA, f. f. she that wasteth, or destroyeth.
DEVASTAR, v. a. to waste, to destroy, to desolate, to depopulate, to lay waste.
DEUCALIAM, f. m. Deucalion, the son of Prometheus.
Deluvio de Deucalião, Deucalion's flood or deluge, which happened A. M. 2440, and 784 years after that in Noah's time.
DEVENDOR, f. m. a debtor.
Ser devendor, to owe, to be obliged to pay, to be indebted. See also DEVER.
DEVEDORA, f. f. a woman that owes something.
Ser devedora. See DEVER.
DEVENTRE, f. m. the entrails, the intestines, the bowels, &c.
DEVER, v. a. to owe, to be indebted; also to be obliged to ascribe, to be obliged for.
Dever ao terço e ao quarto, to be in every body's debt.
Dever os cabellos da cabeça, (a vulgar phrase) to owe more than one is worth, to be in debt over head and ears.
Que devemos fazer? what must we do?
Tu deves de ser louco, you must be a fool.
Como deve ser, as it ought to be.

Eu devo bir, it is my business, or duty to go, I must go.
Deve ser assim, it ought to be so.
Não ficar devendo nada a alguém, to recompense one fully; also to be equal to one.
Elle deve vir hoje, he is to come to-day.
Ainda que eu devesse perder a minha vida, though I were to lose my life.
Livros do deve, e ha de haver. See HAVER.
P. a rico não devas, e a pobre não prometas, do not run in debt with a rich man, nor promise any thing to a poor one; because rich men are litigious, and poor men will not fail to claim a promise.
P. quem não deve não teme, out of debt, out of danger.
Dever, f. m. duty, devoir, part.
Fazer seu dever, to do, or perform one's duty.
DEVERAS, adv. in earnest, truly, indeed.
DEVERTIDO. See DIVERTIDO.
DEVERTIMENTO, &c. See DIVERTIMENTO, &c.
DEVESE, v. imp. people must, or ought.
DEVEZA, f. f. a pasture ground; also a piece of ground planted with chestnut-trees, oaks, &c. from the Spanish Dehesa.
DEVIDAMENTE, adv. duly.
DEVIDO, a, adj. See JUSTO, and the v. DEVER.
DEVIZA. See DIVIZA.
DEVIZADO, &c. See DIVIZADO, &c.
DEVOÇAM, f. f. devotion, love, or piety to God, godliness; also devotion, disposal, power.
DEVOCIONARIO, f. m. a prayer-book.
DEVOÇOENS, f. f. p. prayers, private devotions.
DEVOLUÇAM, f. f. devolution, removal from hand to hand; also a falling into lapse. (In canon law.)
DEVOLVER, v. a. to leave, or refer a thing to one, to make him the judge of it.
Devolver-se, v. r. (in law) to be devolved, to devolve. See also PROPENDER.
DEVOLUTARIO, f. m. he that has a benefice fallen into lapse, or one that claims a benefice fallen to lapse.
DEVOLUTO, a, adj. devolved, escheated. (In law.)
Terra devoluta a coroa, an escheat.
Beneficio devoluto, a benefice fallen into lapse.
Perda do direito que alguém tinha para a apresentação de hum beneficio que ficou devoluto, a lapse, or the forfeiture of the presentation to a benefice fallen into lapse.
Causa devoluta a coroa por appellaçam, an action, or cause devolved to the king by way of appeal.
DEVORADO, a, adj. See
DEVORAR, v. a. to devour, to eat greedily.
Devorar os livros, (or Estudar muito) to devour books.
Devorar as povos, to devour, or oppress the people.
DEVOTAMENTE, adv. devoutly.
DEVOTO, a, adj. devout, religious. See also AFFEICADO.
DEUTERONÓMIO, f. m. Deuteronomy. Greek.
DEXTRA, f. f. See DESTRA.
DEZ, f. m. ten; also the middle pin in the play called nine-pins.
DEZANOVE, nineteen.

DEZASEIS, sixteen.
DEZASETE, seventeen.
DEZEMBRO, f. m. December.
DEZENA, f. f. the place of tens in numeration; also half a score.
DEZENHADO. See DESENHADO.
DEZENHAR, &c. See DESENHAR, &c.
DEZIMA. See DECIMA, and DIZIMA.
DEZIMADO. } See { DIZIMADO.
DEZIMAR. } { DIZIMAR.
DEZOUTO, eighteen.
DGINDI. See GINDI.
DIA, f. m. the day.
Dia natural, the natural day, or the time from noon to noon.
Dia artificial, the time between the rising and setting of the sun, called the artificial day.
Dia santo, a holiday.
Dia de fazer, or de trabalho, a week day, a working day, neither Sunday, nor holiday.
Dias de entrudo. See ENTRUDO.
Ultimo dia de entrudo, Shrove-tuesday.
Dia de san joão, Midsummer-day.
Meyo dia, mid-day, or noon.
Dia do natal, Christmas-day.
Dia de páscoa, Easter-day.
Dia de anno bom, New year's day.
Dia de reys, Twelfth-day.
Dia do baptismo, the christening-day.
He dia claro, it is broad day.
Dia de corte, a court-day.
De dia em dia, from day to day.
Cada dia, day by day.
Todos os dias, every day.
De dois em dois dias, every other day.
De tres em tres dias, every third day.
Trabalhar o dia inteiro, to work all the day long.
O dia de hoje, to-day, or this day.
Nunca o vi antes deste dia, I never saw him before to-day.
Assim se chama athe o dia de hoje, it is so called to this day.
De hoje a outro dias, this day se'nnight, or a week hence.
Ha outro dias, this day se'nnight, or a week ago.
O romper do dia, day-break, or day-spring.
Trabalho de hum dia, day labour.
O que trabalha por dias ou jornaleiro, day labourer, one that works by the day, a journeyman.
Eans dias, good-morrow.
Dar os bons dias a alguém, to bid or wish one good-morrow.
Tres dias há, three days ago.
Treze dias há, thirteen days since.
Dia de veram, a summer day.
De dia, in the day-time.
De noite e de dia, by night and day.
Jornada de hum dia, a day's journey.
Pagar tanto por dia, to pay so much a day.
Dia de carne, meat-day.
Dia de peixe, fish-day.
Dia do casamento, wedding-day.
Dias, (in the plural) days, time, age, life.
P. não há dia sem tarde; we say, the longest day must have an end; or, be the day never so long, at length cometh even-song. The French say, Il n'est si grand jour que ne vienne a ve'pre.
P. em bons dias boas obras, the better days, the better deed.
P. para dia de san cerjo; we say, when two Sundays come together, that is never.

P. o que senão faz no dia de santa luzia faz se no outro dia; we say, all is not lost that is delayed. The French say, Ce qui est differé n'est pas perdu.
Dia, a Greek word used in pharmacy to signify the principal ingredient of which the medicines are made.
DIABALAUSTIA, f. f. an astringent powder that is principally made of the flowers of the pomegranate-tree.
DIABALZEMER. See DIASENE.
DIABELHA. See GUIA-BELLA.
DIABETES, f. m. diabetes, a disease when one cannot hold his water. Greek.
DIABETICO, a, adj. diabetical, troubled with, or belonging to a diabetes.
DIABINHO, f. m. devil-kin, a little devil. See FURADO.
DIABO, f. m. the devil, a fallen angel.
Que diabo tendes feyto? what the devil or the deuce have you done?
Levevos o diabo, the devil take you.
Diabo do mar, a sea-devil, a strange monster on the coasts of America, having black horns, like a ram, a terrible aspect, and a bunch on the head, resembling a hedgehog, tusks like a boar, a forked tail, and the flesh of a poisonous quality.
Raiz roida do diabo, devil's bit, an herb.
P. nem sempre o diabo está atraz da porta; we say, every flow will have its ebb. The Latins say, variae sunt fortunae vices.
Algum diabo, ou mal baja que, &c. See HAVER.
DIABOLICAMENTE, adv. devilishly, very wickedly.
DIABOLICO, a, adj. devilish.
DIABORACIS, f. m. a sort of powder chiefly made of borax.
DIABO'TARO, f. m. an emplaster made of herbs.
DIABRETE, f. m. a small devil.
DIABRURA, f. f. devilishness, very great wickedness.
DIABRYO'NIAS, f. m. a cephalic electuary, chiefly made of the root of the herb bryony.
DIABUGLOSSI, f. m. a sort of powder chiefly made of the rind of the root of borage.
DIACALAMINTHES, f. m. a compound medicine, whose principal ingredient is calaminth.
DIACA'RTHAMO, f. m. a medicine chiefly made of the seeds of carthamus.
DIACASSIA, f. f. a medicine made of cassia.
DIACASTOREO, f. m. a medicine made of castor.
DIACATOLICAM, f. m. a compound medicine fitted for all bodies, and all humours; diacatholicon.
DIACHALCITEOS, f. m. an emplaster wherein chalcitis is the chief ingredient.
DIACHO. See DIABO.
DIACHYLAM, or DIAGUILAM, f. m. a kind of plaster, to maturate boils, eruptions, &c. diachylon.
DIACINNABARIS, f. m. a sort of powder chiefly made of cinnabar.
DIACINNAMOMO, f. m. a medicine chiefly made of cinnamon.
DIACLETES, f. m. a sort of stone.
DIACODIO, f. m. a syrup of white poppies.
DIACOLOCYNTHIDOS, f. m. a confection chiefly made of coloquintida.
DIACONATO,

D I A

DIACONATO, f. m. deaconship.
DIACONISA, f. f. a deaconess.
DIACONO, f. m. a deacon.
DIACORO, f. m. a cephalic electuary chiefly made of acorns.
DIACOSTO, f. m. a medicine chiefly made of colts.
DIACROCO, or DIACURCUMA, a medicine made chiefly of saffron.
DIACRYDIO. See DIAGRYDIO.
DIACRYSTAL, a sort of powder made chiefly of chrysal.
DIACURCUMA. See DIACROCO.
DIACYMINO, f. m. a composition made of cymmin.
DIADAMASCENO. See DIAPRUNIS.
DIADEMA, f. m. a diadem.
DIADFA, f. f. a reward given to husbandmen above their due.
DIADFANO, or DIAPHANO, a, adj. diaphanous, transparent. Greek.
DIADFA'RFARA, f. f. a composition, made of foal-foot, or colts-foot.
DIAPENICAM. See DIAPHENICAM.
DIAPORETICO, or DIAPHORETICO, a, adj. ex. Medicamentos diaphoreticos, diaphoretics.
DIAPHRAGMA, f. m. diaphragm, the midriff, or a muscle which separates the thorax or chest from the abdomen. Greek.
DIAPHRAGMATICO, a, adj. belonging to the diaphragm, or that pass through the diaphragm.
DIAGALANGA, f. m. a composition chiefly made of galangal.
DIAGARGANTE, or DIAPAPAR, f. m. a gurgle of sugar, or sugar-candy.
DIAGNOSTICO, a, adj. (in physic) ex. Sinaes diagnosticos, diagnostic signs, or those signs of a disease that are apparent.
DIAGONAL, adj. diagonal.
DIAGRYDIO, f. m. diagridium, a preparation of scammony, by baking or roasting it inclosed in the fruit of quince.
DIAMISSEPE, f. m. a medicine chiefly made of hyssop.
DIAL. See QUOTIDIANO.
DIALACCA, f. f. a medicine chiefly made of lacca, or gum.
DIALECTICA, f. f. dialectica, or logic. Greek.
DIALECTICO, a logician.
Dialectico, a, adj. dialectical, or dialectic.
DIALECTO, f. m. dialect, or a manner of speech peculiar to some part of a country, and differing from the manner used in other parts, yet all using the same radical language as to the substance of it.
DIALOGIA, f. f. (a figure in rhetoric) diaphora.
DIALOGISMO, f. m. a figure in rhetoric, when a man reasons by himself, as if he had another with him.
DIALOGO, f. m. dialogue.
DIALTEA, f. f. ointment of marsh-mallows.
DIAMANTE, f. m. diamond, adamant.
Diamante tabla. See TABLA.
Diamante bruto, a rough diamond, a brait.
O que corta diamantes, a diamond cutter.
De diamante, ou duro como diamante, adamantine, of or belonging to adamant, hard, inflexible.
Diamante, (in gunnery) a sort of priming iron.
DIAMANTINO, a, adj. adamantine.

D I C

DIAMAÔ. See DIAMANTE.
DIAMARGARITAM, f. f. diamargariton, a restorative powder whose main ingredient is pearl.
DIAMASTICOSE, f. f. diamastigosis, a solemnity in honour of Diana.
DIAMETRAL, adj. diametrical, or diametral.
DIAMETRALMENTE, adv. diametrically, or directly over-against.
DIAMETRO, f. m. a diameter.
DIAMO'RO, or DIAMORON, f. m. a confection made of mulberries.
DIANA, f. f. Diana, the poetical goddess of hunting.
DIANTE, prep. before.
Hir por diante, or continuar, to go on, to continue.
Do diante, afterwards.
Dar por diante, or por avante, (a sea expression) to put about.
Daqui em diante, hereafter, hence forward.
P. quem ao diante não olha atraz torna, he that looks not before, finds himself behind.
DIANTEIRA, f. f. the forepart, front; also the act of running, or making speed before.
Tomar a dianteira, to over run, to out run, to get the start of one.
Dianteira da cabeça. See MOLEIRA.
Dar a alguém a dianteira, to give preference to one, to yield, or to resign one's place to him.
Dianteira do exercito. See VANGUARDA.
DIANTEIRO, a, adj. that is before another.
As partes dianteiras de hum cavallo, the forehead, or fore-parts of a horse, as head, neck, and fore-quarters.
Relógio dianteiro, a clock, or watch that goes too fast.
DIAPAPA'R. See DIAGARGANTE.
DIAPAZAM, f. f. (in music) diapason.
DIAPENTE, f. m. a diapedesis in music, which is the second of the concords in music, called a perfect fifth.
Diapente, (in pharmacy,) a diapente, which is a composition made of five ingredients.
DIAPHANO. See DIADFANO.
DIAPHENICAM, or DIAPENICAM, f. f. an electuary made chiefly of dates or the fruit of the palm-tree.
DIAPHORETICO. See DIAPORETICO.
DIAPHRAGMA. See DIAPHRAGMA.
DIAPRUNIS, f. m. a composition made of damascens.
DIACHYLAM. See DIACHYLAM.
DIARIAMENTE, adv. daily, day by day.
DIARIO, a, adj. daily.
Diario, f. m. a diary, a relation of what happens day by day, a journal.
DIARRHEA, f. f. diarrhoea.
DIASENE, f. m. an electuary made chiefly of fenna.
DIASPRO, f. m. a kind of jasper.
DIASTOLE, f. m. (in physic) diastole.
DIATHEZERAM, or DIATESSARAM, f. m. (in music) diatessaron.
DIATHEUTICA, or DIETHEUTICA, f. f. (in physic) dietetic, that part of physic, which considers the way of living, as to food or diet, suitable to particular cases.
DIATONICO, a, adj. (in music) diatonic.
DICAM, f. f. See DOMINIO.
DICAM, f. f. a word.
DICCIONARIO, f. m. a dictionary.
DICHA, f. f. (a Spanish word) See DITA.

D I F

DICHOTE, f. m. a scoff, a jest: it is generally used in the plural.
DICIPLINA. } See { DISCIPLINA.
DICIPULO. } See { DISCIPULO.
DICTADO, a, adj. See DICTAR.
Dictado, or Ditado. See ADAGIO.
Dictadas do mestre, lessons, or notes, which the master pronounceth to his scholars.
DICTADOR, f. m. a dictator, or chief magistrate among the Romans.
DICTADURA, f. f. the dictatorship.
DICTA'ME, f. m. dictate, precept, instruction, rule.
Conforme ao dictame da razão, according to the dictates of reason.
DICTAMO, f. m. dittander, or dittany, garden ginger, an herb in Crete, which the goats when they are shot, feed upon, and which causes the arrow to fall out.
DICTA'R, v. a. to dictate how, or what one shall write; also to dictate, to advise, to deliver to another with authority, to prescribe, to suggest.
DICTERIO, f. m. jest, witticism, scoff, quirk.
DIDAL. See DEDAL.
DIECESE, or DIOCESE, f. f. diocese. Greek.
DIERESIS, f. f. dieresis, a poetical figure, where one syllable is divided into two, as evoluísse for evoluisse.
DIESIS, a term in music, denoting a tone below a semi-tone, or sharp.
DIETA, f. f. (in physic) diet.
Fazer dieta, to diet, to eat by rules of physic.
Prescrever a dieta a alguém, to diet one.
O que prescreve a dieta, a dieter.
Consa pertencente a dieta, dietary, dietetical, or dietetic.
Dieta, diet (from dies, an appointed day, Skinner; from diet, an old German word signifying a multitude, Junius) an assembly of princes or estates.
Dieta, (among the Arabians) dieta, a day's journey.
DIETHEUTICA. See DIATHEUTICA.
DIFFAMAÇAM, f. f. defamation, calumny, reproach.
DIFFAMADO, a, adj. See DIFFAMAR.
DIFFAMADOR, f. m. a defamer, a detractor.
DIFFAMAR, v. a. to defame, to make infamous, to destroy reputation.
DIFFAMATO'RIO, a, adj. defamatory, calumnious, tending to defame.
DIFFERENÇA, f. f. difference; also dispute, quarrel, debate.
Diferença, (in logic) difference, or the attribute which essentially distinguishes one species from another.
Diferença, (in a coat of arms) difference, or such thing that distinguishes one family from another, or persons of the same family from each other.
DIFFERENÇADO, a, adj. See DIFFERENÇAR.
DIFFERENÇAR, v. a. to difference, to cause a difference.
Diferençar-se, v. r. to differ, to be distinguished from, to have properties and qualities not the same with those of another person or thing.
DIFFERENTE, adj. different, distinct, not the same.
DIFFERENTEMENTE, adv. differently.
DIFFERIDO, p. of the preterp. tense of DIFFERIR.
DIFFERIR, v. r. See DIFFERENÇAR-SE.
DIFFICIL, adj. difficult, hard.

Difficil de contentar, hard to please.
DIFFICILMENTE, adv. difficulty.
DIFFICULDADE, f. f. difficulty.
Buscar dificuldades donde não as há; we say, to stumble upon plain ground; and Terence says, Nodum in scirpo querere.
Difficuldade no persuadir-se, difficultness.
DIFFICULTADO, a, adj. See
DIFFICULTAR, v. a. to make difficult, to raise difficulties.
DIFFICULTOSAMENTE, adv. See DIFFICILMENTE.
DIFFICULTOSO. See DIFFICIL.
DIFFINIDOR. See DEFINIDOR.
DIFFORMAR. See DEFORMAR.
DIFFUNDIR, v. a. to diffuse, to pour out; also to spread, to scatter, to disperse.
Diffundir-se, v. r. to diffuse itself.
DIFFUSAMENTE, adv. diffusively.
DIFFUSAM, f. f. diffusion, diffusiveness, a spreading.
DIFFUSIVO, a, adj. that may be diffused, or spread abroad.
DIFFUSO, a, adj. diffused, spread abroad; also copious, not concise; See also DISTRIBUIDO, and COMPRIDO.
DIFIRIR á vela. See DEFIRIR á vela.
DIGAMMA, (among grammarians) digamma, or the letter F.
DIGERIDO, a, adj. See
DIGERIR, v. a. to digest, to concoct in the stomach; also to suffer, to bear patiently.
Digerir, (a chemical term) to soften by heat as in a boiler, or in a dunghill.
Cousa que se pode digerir, digestible, that which is capable of being digested.
DIGESTAM, f. f. digestion, or concoction.
Cousa que ajuda a digestam, a digester thing, a digester.
DIGESTIDO. } See { DIGERIDO.
DIGESTIR. } See { DIGERIR.
DIGESTIVO, f. m. digestive, an application which disposes a wound to generate matter.
DIGESTO, a, adj. digested.
O digesto, the Digest, the Pandect of the Civil Law, containing the opinions of the ancient lawyers.
DIGNADO, a, adj. See DIGNAR.
DIGNAMENTE, adv. worthily, deservedly.
DIGNAR, v. a. to deem worthy.
Dignar-se, v. r. to vouchsafe, to condescend, to deign, to yield.
DIGNIDADE, dignity, rank of elevation.
Dignidade, (among ecclesiastics) a promotion or preferment to which any jurisdiction is annexed.
Dignidade, (in astrology) dignity, or the advantage which a planet has upon account of its being in a particular place of the zodiac, or in such situation with other planets, &c.
DIGNO, a, adj. worthy.
DIGRESSAM, f. f. digression, a passage deviating from the main tenor or design of a discourse.
DILAÇAM, f. f. delay.
For em dilaçam. See DILATAR.
DILACERADO. See DESPEDAÇADO.
DILACERAR. See DESPEDAÇAR.
DILAPIDADO, a, adj. See
DILAPIDAR, v. a. to dilapidate, to ruin.
DILATAÇAM, f. f. dilatation, extension.
DILATADAMENTE, adv. See AMPLAMENTE.
DILATADO, a, adj. delayed, put off, deferred; also lasting, of long continuance, long. See DILATAR.

DILATADOR, f. m. a dilator; also a de-layer. See also PROPAGADOR.
DILATAR, v. a. to delay, to prolong, to put off; also to dilate, to extend, to spread abroad.
Dilatar-se, v. r. to be prolix in writing, or speaking, to be copious, not concise; also to dilate, to widen, to grow wide.
DILECÇAM, f. f. love, affection, dilection.
DILEMMA, f. m. a dilemma, an argument equally conclusive by contrary suppositions.
DILEMMATICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to a dilemma.
DILIGENCIA, f. f. diligence, industry, assiduity. See also PROMPTIDAM.
DILIGENCIA'DO, a, adj. See
DILIGENCIAR, v. a. to solicit, to be diligent in the prosecution of affairs.
DILIGENTE, adj. diligent.
DILIGENTEMENTE, adv. diligently.
DI-LO-HEI. See DIZER.
DILUCIDADO, a, adj. See
DILUCIDA'R, v. a. to dilucidate, to explain.
DILUCIDA'RIO, f. m. any writing or book, that dilucidates, or explains another.
DILUCIDO. See LUCIDO.
DILUVIO, f. m. a deluge, a flood.
DIMANADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
DIMANAR, v. n. to stream, or flow abroad as water doth.
DIMENSAM, f. f. dimension, measure.
DIMIDIADO, a, adj. See
DIMIDIAR, v. a. to halve, to divide into two halves.
DIMINUIÇAM, f. f. diminution, subtraction. (In arithmetic.)
Hir em diminuiçam, to grow less.
Diminuiçam das columnas, (in architecture) contracture.
DIMINUIDO, a, adj. See
DIMINUIR, v. a. to diminish, to impair, to lessen the opposite, to increase; also to subtract (in arithmetic.)
Diminuir, v. n. to diminish, to grow less, to be impaired.
Diminuir-se, v. r. idem.
DIMINUTAMENTE, adv. imperfectly.
DIMINUTIVO, (in grammar) a diminutive; a word which lessens the original word from whence it is derived.
DIMINUTO, a, adj. imperfect, that wants, defective, not complete.
DIMISSAM, or DEMISSAM, which see.
DIMISSO'RIO, a, adj. ex. Letras dimissórias, dismissory letters, i. e. letters sent from one bishop to another, in favour of one who stands candidate for holy orders in another diocese.
DIMITTIDO. See DEMITTIDO.
DIMITTIR. See DEMITTIR.
DINAMARCA, f. f. Denmark, one of the three northern kingdoms of Europe, Sweden and Norway being the other two.
DINAMARQUE'S, a, adj. Danish.
Dinamarques, ou o natural de Dinamarca, a Dane.
DINAMENTE. See DIGNAMENTE, &c.
DINIDADE, &c. See DIGNIDADE.
DINA'R, f. m. a sort of coin in Osmus.
DINASTA. See DYNASTA.
DINHEIRAMA, f. f. (a ludicrous word) a great heap of money.
DINHEIRO, f. m. money, any sort of coin; also a sort of coin formerly used in Portugal. See Manoel Severim de Farir, p. 196, 197, &c..

Dinheiro de san pedro, Peter pence, a tribute of a penny paid by every house, given to the pope by Ina, king of the West Saxons, A. C. 720.
Dinheiro de contado, ready money.
Que vale dinheiro, money's worth.
Ha muito dinheiro, money stirs, or is stirring.
Que tem muito dinheiro, full of money.
Que não tem dinheiro, moneyless.
P. tudo pode o dinheiro, money governs the world. Horace says, Scilicet uxorem cum dote, fideique & amicos et genus et famam, regina pecunia donat.
DIO, or DIU, an island of Cambaya, or Guzaratte in the empire of the Mogul, in Asia; it is the strongest place belonging to the Portuguese in the East-Indies.
DIocese, DIOCESI, or DIECESE. See DIECESE.
DIOCESANO, a, adj. diocesan.
Diocesano, f. m. one that is of a bishop's diocese.
DIOPTRA, f. f. dioptra, the index, or ruler of an astrolabe.
DIOPTRICA, f. f. dioptrics.
DIOPTRICO, a, adj. dioptrical.
DIPHTONGO, or DITONGO, a diphthong.
DIPLO'A, f. f. (in anatomy) the diploe, the inner lamina, or plate of the skull.
DIPLOMA, f. m. a diploma, a charter, or a prince's letters patent, a writ, a mandamus.
DIPTYCOS, f. m. p. (in the Greek church) diptychs; a sort of tables or tablets, on one of which were written the names of the deceased, on the other the names of the living, for whom prayers were to be offered.
DIQUE, f. m. a sluice, a frame of wood in a river for keeping the water from overflowing low ground.
DIRAS, f. f. p. curses, imprecations; also the furies.
DIRECÇAM, f. f. direction.
DIRECTAMENTE, adv. directly.
DIRETIVO, a, adj. that directs or rules, directive, having the power of direction.
DIREGIO'R, f. m. a director.
Director da consciencia, a ghostly father.
DIRECTORA, f. f. a governess.
DIRECTORIO, f. m. a book, or writing that contains rules, laws, or precepts.
DIREITAMENTE, adv. See DIRECTAMENTE.
DIREITO, a, adj. right, straight.
Visam direita, (in optics) direct vision.
Armas direitas, (in heraldry) a coat of arms without differences, or mixture of any other arms.
Direito senhoria, the right owner.
Homem ás direitas, an upright and honest man.
A's direitas, the right way.
Isso he direito, this is right or reasonable.
A mão direita, the right-hand.
Dar a mão direita a alguém, to give one the right hand; a compliment paid to the female sex, or to those to whom one should show respect: we say to give one the wall.
Não se be qual he a sua mão direita, he is an ignoramus or a silly fellow.
Direito, adv. directly, or straight.

Ir direito a alguém, to go directly to one.
Elle anda direito, he deals or proceeds honestly.
Direito, f. m. right, claim, a man's due in law.
Direito natural, the law of nature.
Direito civil, the civil law.
Direito canonico, the canon law.
Direito, ou parte oposta a carnaz, the smooth glossy side of the leather.
Direito divino e humano, divine and human law.
Direitos da alfandega, customs for goods imported or exported.
DIREITURA, or rather em direitura, adv. straight way, straight on, straight forward, directly.
DIRIGIDO, a, adj. See
DIRIGIR, v. a. to direct.
Dirigir-se, v. r. ex. Este discurso se dirige a vos somente, this discourse regards none but you, or is directed to none but you.
DIRIMENTE, p. a. (in the canon law) ex. Impedimento dirimente, an absolute impediment, that invalidates a marriage.
DIRIMIDO, a, adj. See
DIRIMIR, v. a. to break off, to determine, to make an end of.
Dirimir o matrimonio, to dissolve, or break off a match.
DIRIVACAM. See DERIVAÇAM.
DIRIVADO, &c. See DERIVADO, &c.
DISEARATE. See DISPARATE.
DISCENSAM. See DISSENÇAM.
DISCENTERIA. See DISSENTERIA.
DISCERNIDO, a, adj. See
DISCERNIR, v. a. to discern one thing from another.
A acçam de discernir, discerning.
O que discerne, a discernor.
Que se pode discernir, discernible.
DISCINGIDO, a, adj. See
DISCINGIR, v. a. to ungird.
DISCIPLINA, f. f. discipline, a sort of scourge; also discipline, institution, education, instruction; also any liberal art or science.
Tomar disciplina. See DISCIPLINAR-SE.
Disciplina militar, the discipline of war.
DISCIPLINADO, a, adj. See DISCIPLINAR.
DISCIPLINANTES, f. m. p. men that scourge themselves.
DISCIPLINAR, v. a. to discipline, to instruct; also to discipline, or scourge one, as they do in monasteries.
Disciplinar-se, v. r. See AÇOUTAR-SE.
DISCIPLINAVEL, disciplinable, tractable, apt to receive instruction, capable of discipline.
DISCIPULA, f. f. a the scholar.
DISCIPULO, f. m. a scholar, a disciple, or learner.
DISCO, f. m. a quoit of stone, brass, &c. which the Grecians and Romans used in exercise, wherein he was victor who threw it highest, or at greatest distance.
Disco, (in astronomy) discus, or disk, the round phases in the sun or moon, which at a great distance appear plain or flat.
DISCOLO, or DYSCOLO, a, adj. See DEPRAVADO.
DISCOMMODIDADE. See DESCOMMODO.
DISCOMODO. See DESCOMMODO.
DISCONFORME, adj. discordant, not conformable.

DISCONVENIENCIA, f. f. variance, disagreeing, difference.
DISCORDADO, a, adj. See DISCORDAR.
DISCORDANCIA. See DISCONVENIENCIA.
DISCORDAR, v. n. to vary, to dissent, to disagree. See also DESENTOAR.
DISCORDE, adj. harsh untunable; also that is at discord, jarring, that is at variance.
DISCORDIA, f. f. discord, variance, debate, strife.
DISCORRE'R, v. n. to reason, to discourse, to speak; also to run over, or to recount cursorily.
Discorrer no pensamento, to run over in the mind.
Discorrer por varias terras, to travel through different countries.
Discorrer, v. a. ex. Discorrer os meyas, to think about an expedient.
DISCORRIDO, a, adj. See the v. DISCORRER.
DISCRASIA. See DYSCRASIA.
DISCREPADO, p. of the preterp. tense of DISCREPAR.
DISCREPANCIA, f. f. disagreement, difference, contrariety. See also DIFFERENÇA.
DISCREPANTE, p. act. of DISCREPAR. See DISCORDAR.
DISCRETAMENTE, adv. discreetly, prudently, ingeniously, wittily.
DISCRETO, a, adj. discreet, judicious.
Quantidade discreta, discrete quantity.
Discreto, f. m. a wise man, a judicious man.
DISCRIÇAM, f. f. discretion, judgment, prudence. See also AGUDEZA de engenho.
Anos da discriçam, the years of discretion.
Entregar-se a discriçam, to surrender at discretion, to yield without terms.
Cerrar hum navio, &c. à discriçam dos ventos, ou dos mares, is for a ship, &c. to go a-drift, or to be committed to the winds or waves.
Entregar-se a discriçam das ondas, to commit one's self to the waves.
DISCRIMINADO, a, adj. See
DISCRIMINAR, v. a. to divide or part.
DISCURSADO. See DISCORRIDO.
DISCURSAR. See DISCORRER.
DISCURSIVO, a, adj. discursive.
DISCURSIVOS, f. m. p. the spectators of mankind.
DISCURSO, f. m. discourse, reasoning, speech, talk; also space, or quantity of time.
Discurso, (in logic) discourse, that rational act of the mind, by which we deduce or infer one thing from another.
O que faz discursos, a discoursor, a speaker.
DISCUTIDO, a, adj. See
DISCUTIR, v. a. to discuss, examine.
DISFARÇADO, a, adj. See
DISFARÇAR, v. a. to disguise, to put on a counterfeit habit. See also DISSIMULAR.
Disfarçar-se, v. r. to disguise one's self, to put one's self in a disguise.
DISFARCE, f. m. a disguise, or counterfeit habit. See also DISSIMULAÇAM.
DISFAVOR. } See { DESFAVOR.
DISFORME. } { DESFORME.
DISGREGADO, a, adj. See
DISGREGAR, v. a. (in optics) ex. Disregar a vista, to disjoin, or separate the visual rays.

DISGREGATIVO, a, adj. that separates the visual rays.
DISISTAM, this word is found in the first volume of the Monarch. Lusit. but Bluteau thinks it was to be either digestão, or decisão. See these words in their proper places.
DISISTIDO. See DESISTIDO.
DISISTIR, &c. See DESISTIR, &c.
DISJUNCTIVO, a, adj. disjunctive, (in grammar.)
DISLOCAÇAM. See DESLOCAÇAM.
DISLOCADO, &c. See DESLOCADO, &c.
DISPAR, adj. See DIFFERENTE, and DESIGUAL.
DISPARADO, a, adj. See
DISPARAR, v. a. to shoot, to discharge, to let off, (speaking of a pistol, gun, &c.)
Disparar affrontas contra alguém, to affront one.
Disparar-se, v. r. to go off, to shoot.
DISPARATADAMENTE, adv. foolishly, absurdly.
DISPARATADO, a, adj. See
DISPARATAR, v. n. to talk, or act ignorantly or foolishly. See also DESPROPOSITAR.
DISPARATE, f. m. nonsense, a nonsensical or foolish action, or expression.
DISPARIDADE, f. f. disparity or disparity.
DISPENDER. See DESPENDER.
DISPENDIDO. See DESPENDIDO.
DISPENDIO. See GASTO; see also DANO, PERIGO, PERDA.
DISPENSA, f. f. See DESPENSA. See also
DISPENSACAM, f. f. immunity exemption, a dispensation.
Dispensacam, distribution, management, a stewardship.
DISPENSA'DO, a, adj. See DESPENSAR.
DISPENSADO'R, f. m. a dispenser, a distributor.
DISPENSA'R, v. a. to dispense with, to excuse one.
Dispensar. See DETERMINAR, and DISTRIBUIR.
Dispensar-se, v. r. to decline, to avoid, or refuse.
DISPENSEIRO. See DESPENSEIRO.
DISPERSAM, f. f. dispersion, separation.
DISPERSO, a, adj. dispersed, scattered, separated.
DISPLICE'NCIA, f. f. displeasure. See also DISGOSTO.
DISPO'R, v. a. to dispose, to order, to contrive, to prepare. See also TRANSPLANTAR.
Dispor, v. n. to dispose of, to do what one pleases with.
A acçam de dispor, disposing.
Dispor-se, v. r. to prepare, or prepare one's self, to get or make one's self ready.
P. o humem propoem, e Deus dispoem, man proposes, and God disposes.
DISPOSIÇAM, f. f. disposition, order, contrivance; also a constitution, a state of body either good or bad. See also APTIDAM.
DISPOSIÇAM, mind, resolution. See also PREPARACAM.
DISPOSITIVAMENTE, adv. with a preparative or preparatory means to any thing.

DISPOSITO'R, f. m. a disposer, and setter in order.
DISPO'STO, a, adj. disposed.
Estar bem disposto, to be in a good disposition of body, to be well. See also the v. DISPOR.
DISPUTA, f. f. dispute, debate, controversy, contest.
DISPUTADO'R, f. m. a disputant.
DISPUTA'DO, a, adj. See
DISPUTA'R, v. n. to dispute, contend, quarrel.
DISPUTA'VEL, adj. disputable, which may be brought into controversy.
DISSABOR. See DESSABOR.
DESSECÇAM, f. m. (with anatomists) dissection.
DISSENSAM. See DISCORDIA.
DISSENTERIA. See DYSSENTERIA.
DISSENTI'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DISSENTI'R, v. n. to dissent, to be of another opinion.
DISSERTAÇAM, f. f. dissertation, a treatise upon any subject.
DISSIDENTE. See DISCORDE.
DISSIMILA'R, adj. (in anatomy) dissimilar, unlike.
DISSIMULAÇAM, f. f. dissimulation, dissembling, disguise, hypocrisy, counterfeit.
Uzar de dissimulaçam, to use dissimulation, to dissemble.
DISSIMULADAMENTE, adv. dissemblingly, sily, craftily.
DISSIMULADA, f. f. a dissembling woman.
DISSIMULA'DO, f. m. a dissembler, or a dissembling man.
DISSIMULA'DO, a, adj. See
DISSIMULA'R, to dissemble, feign, conceal, disguise, cloak, or counterfeit; also to connive at a thing, to take no notice of it.
DISSIMULO, f. m. See DISSIMULACAM.
DISSIPACAM, f. f. dissipation, dispersion, scattering; also dissipation, waste, destruction.
DISSIPA'DO, a, adj. See
DISSIPA'R, v. a. to dissipate, remove, scatter, disperse, to dispel; also to dissipate, to waste, to consume, spend, or squander away, to destroy.
Dissipar, to enervate, weaken, or enfeeble.
DISSO, of it. See PRONOME.
DISSOLUCA'M, f. f. dissolution, chemical liquefaction; also dissoluteness, lewdness, licentiousness, depravation. See also EVAPORACAM.
DISSOLVENTE, adj. (in chemistry) dissolving.
DISSOLVE'R, v. a. to dissolve, to part or separate; also to dissolve, melt, liquify.
Dissolver o matrimonio, to dissolve, or break off a match.
DISSOLVIDO, a, adj. dissolved, &c. See DISSOLVER.
DISSOLUTIVO. See DISSOLVENTE.
DISSOLUTO, a, adj. lewd, wicked, dissolute, debauched.
DISSONANÇIA, f. f. (in music) dissonance, disagreement in sound. See also CONTRARIEDADE.
Dissonancia, absurdity, impropriety.
DISSONANTE, p. act. disagreeing.
DISSONA'R, v. n. to disagree, to make discord in music, to be discordant.
DISSONO, a, adj. See DISSONANTE.

DISSUADIDO, a, adj. See
DISSUADIR, v. a. to dissuade, to advise to the contrary.
DISTANÇIA, f. f. distance.
DISTANTE, adj. distant.
DISTA'R, v. n. to be distant.
DISTICO, f. m. a distich, a couplet, two verses.
DISTILLAÇAM, f. f. See DEFLUXAM.
Distillaçam. See ESTILLAÇAM.
DISTILLADO, &c. See ESTILLADO, &c.
DISTILLA'DO, or DESTILLADO, a, adj. See
DISTILLA'R, or DESTILLAR, v. a. to drop, or trickle down, distil.
DISTINÇAM, f. f. distinction.
Homem de grande distincçam, a man of note. See also DIFFERENÇA.
DISTINCTO. See INSTINCTO.
DISTINGIDO. See DESTINGIDO.
DISTINGIR. See DESTINGIR.
DISTINGU'DO, a, adj. See
DISTINGUI'R, v. a. to distinguish.
Distinguir-se, v. r. to make one's self eminent, to raise one's self above the common level by one's wit or learning.
DISTINGUI'VEL, adj. that may be distinguished from another.
DISTINTAMENTE, adv. distinctly.
DISTINTIVO, a, adj. distinctive.
DISTINTO, f. m. See INSTINCTO.
Distinto, a, adj. See DIFFERENTE.
DISTO, of this. See PRONOME.
DISTRACÇAM, f. f. distraction.
DISTRACTIVO, a, adj. that takes off, or diverts from.
DISTRAHY'DO, a, adj. distracted, also corrupted. See DISTRACHIR.
DISTRACHIME'NTO, f. m. distraction, licentiousness.
DISTRACHIR, v. a. to distract, to divert from, to fill the mind with contrary considerations. See also DEPRAVAR, and DESENCAMINHAR.
DISTRATA'DO, a, adj. See
DISTRATA'R, v. a. to abolish, cancel or make void an agreement.
DISTRIBUIÇAM, f. f. distribution, the act of dividing or sharing amongst many; also the figure called distributio, (in Rhetoric.)
DISTRIBUIDO'R, f. m. a distributor.
DISTRIBUIDO, a, adj. See
DISTRIBUI'R, v. a. to distribute, to divide or share, to dispose or set in order.
DISTRIBUTIVA justiça, distributive justice.
DISTRICTO, f. m. a district, territory, or precinct.
DISTRINÇADO. See DESTRINÇADO.
DISTRINÇAR. See DESTRINÇAR.
DISTURBIO. See ESTORVO.
DITTA, good luck.
DITADO. See DICTADO.
DITADOR, &c. See DICTADOR, &c.
DITHYRAMBO, f. m. dithyrambic; a sort of hymn anciently sung in honour of Bacchus.
DITINHO, f. m. any word of endearment to engage a person's affections to one.
DITO. See DITTO.
DITO'NGO. See DIPHONGO.
DITO'NNO, f. m. ditone, a double tone in music, or the greater third.
DITOSAMENTE, adv. happily, luckily.
DITO'SO, a, adj. happy, prosperous, fortunate.

DITTAME. } See { DICTAME.
DITTADO. } See { DICTADO.
DITTAR. } See { DICTAR.
DITTO, or DITO, a, adj. said; -also the aforesaid, or the same.
Ditto, f. m. a saying.
Que tem bons ditos, drolling, full of pleasantries.
DIV. See DIO.
DIVA, f. f. a goddess (in poetry.)
Diva, ou divina. See DIVINO.
DIVAM, or DIVAN, f. m. divan, a great council or court of justice, among the Turks and Persians.
DIVAGA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DIVAGA'R, v. n. to wander, to gad, or rove up and down.
DIVERSAMENTE, adv. differently.
DIVERSAM, f. f. a diversion the act of diverting from.
Fazer huma diversam dos humores, to divert the humours.
Diversam, (a military word) a diversion, or the act or purpose of drawing the enemy off from some design, by threatening, or attacking a distant part.
Diversam dos negocios, avocation from businesses.
DIVERSIDADE, f. f. diversity, variety, difference.
DIVERSIFICA'DO, a, adj. See
DIVERSIFICA'R, v. a. to diversify, to vary, to variegate.
DIVERSO, a, adj. See DIFFERENTE.
DIVERSORIO, f. m. an inn, a public house of entertainment.
DIVERTIDAMENTE, adv. carelessly, negligently.
DIVERTIDO, a, adj. jocund, pleasant, sportful, merry, full of joy. See also the v. DIVERTIR, and DESATTENTO.
DIVERTIME'NTO, f. m. absence of mind, heedlessness; also entertainment, amusement, diversion.
DIVERTIR, v. a. to call off, to divert; also to turn away; also to have a respite.
Divertir o pensamento, to withdraw the mind.
Divertir os humores, to divert the humours.
Divertir as forças, (in war) to draw forces to a different part.
Divertir-se, v. r. to divert one's self, to take one's pleasure.
DIVFCIAS, f. f. p. See RIQUEZAS.
DEVIDA, f. f. debt.
Devida perdida, a bad debt, money that is irrecoverably lost.
DIVIDAMENTE. See DEVIDAMENTE.
DIVIDENDO, f. m. dividend, a number given to be divided.
DIVIDIDO, a, adj. See
DIVIDIR, v. a. to part, to share, to divide, to separate, to sunder.
Dividir hum numero, to divide a number.
DIVIDO. See PARENTESCO. (Obsolete.)
DIVINAMENTE, adv. from God, divinely. See also EGREGIAMENTE.
DIVINATORIO, a, adj. belonging to divination.
DIVINDADE, f. f. divinity, the god-head.
DIVINIZADO, a, adj. See
DIVINIZA'R, v. a. to make divine.
DIVINO, a, adj. divine, of or belonging to God; also heavenly.
DIVISA, f. f. a device, a compound of a picture and of the motto; also a mark of distinction to be known.

- Corpo da divisa, ou empreza, the body of a device.*
Alma da divisa. See ALMA.
DIVISADO, a, adj. See DIVISAR.
DIVISA'M, f. f. a division, separation, partition; also disunion, discord, difference.
DIVISAR, v. a. to discern, to see.
DIVISIVEL, adj. that may be parted and divided.
DIVISO, a, adj. divided, separated.
DIVISOR, f. m. (in arithmetic) divisor.
DIVORCIA'DO, a, adj. divorced.
DIVORCIO, f. m. a divorce, a parting of man and wife.
Fazer divórcio, ou quitar-se de huma mulher. See QUITAR-SE.
DIFOS, f. m. p. (a poetical word) the heaven gods; also the canonized saints.
DIURETICO, a, adj. diuretic, that provokes urine.
DIURNO, f. m. a diurnal, or book of the divine office, that contains part of the Breviary.
Diurno, a, adj. daily, or of the day, diurnal.
DIUTURNIDA'DE, f. f. diuturnity, lastingness, long continuance.
DIUTURNO, a, adj. lasting, of a long continuance.
DI'ULGA'DO, a, adj. See
DI'ULGAR, v. a. to divulge, to publish, to give out.
O que divulga, a publisher.
D'FAES, f. m. p. children's play-things, baubles, as bells, rattles, p'pets.
D'FAIMES. See MEXERICOS.
DIZENHO. See DESENHO.
DIZER, v. a. to tell, say, speak, talk, or relate.
Que quer dizer aquillo? what is the meaning of that? what signifies that?
Aquillo quer dizer que, the meaning is that.
Aquillo não quer dizer nada, that signifies nothing.
O coração me diz que, my mind misgives me, that.
Dizer alguma coisa ao ouvido, to whisper a thing in one's ear.
Diz Francis N. (in a petition) Francis N. humbly sheweth.
Dizer injurias. See INJURIAR.
Achar que dizer, to find fault with.
Di-lhe a voz pay, I will tell your father of it.
Dizem, it is said, it is reported.
Dizer que sim, to say yes.
Dizer que não, to say no.
Dizer mal, to slander, to speak ill.
Dizer bem, to speak well of, to praise.
Andar dizendo, to give out, to divulge, to spread abroad.
Dizer a deus, to bid adieu, to take leave of one, to bid farewell to.
Que quer dizer, que não vindeis mais? where come ye, or what can be the reason you come no more?
Dizeille que venha amanhã, bid him come to-morrow.
Pera assim dizer, or pormodo de dizer, as it were, as one should say.
Para dizer tudo em huma palavra, to wind up all in one word.
Ehe diz tudo que lie vem a boca, he speaks what comes next, or what lies uppermost.
Dizer alguma coisa de boca, to tell a thing by word of mouth.
Em toda a parte se diz, it is reported every where.
- Dizer, v. n. to agree with, to be suitable.
Foi hum dizer e fazer, it was no sooner said, but done.
DIZIDOR. See FALLADOR.
DIZIMA, f. f. See DECIMA.
Dizima, (in arithmetic) decimal arithmetic, they call it also decimal.
DIZIMA'DO, a, adj. See
DIZIMAR, v. a. to decimate, to tithe, to take the tenth.
Dizimar soldados, to decimate, to punish every tenth soldier.
A açam de dizimar, decimation.
DIZIMADO'R, or DIZIME'IRO, f. m. a tithing man, a tither.
DIZIMO, f. m. tithe, the tenth part of all fruits, &c. the revenue that is generally due to the parson of the parish.
Causa que paga dizimas, or dizimas, titheable.
DIZIVEL, adj. that can be said.
D-LA-SOL-KE, the fifth note in each of the three septenaries of the gamut.
DO, a sign of the genitive case, of; also from.
Dó, f. m. mourning, a mourning suit of clothes.
Dó aliviado, second mourning.
Trazer o dó por algum, to mourn for one, to wear the habit of sorrow for him.
Causa pertencente ao dó, mourning, mournful.
Dó, compassion, pity.
Ter dó de algum, to have compassion of one, to pity him.
Perder o dó ao dinheiro, to lay out money liberally.
DOAÇA'M, f. f. gift, a free gift, a donation, a grant.
DOA'DO, a, adj. See DOAR.
DOADO'R, f. m. a giver, a donor.
DOA'R, v. a. ex. Doar os seus bens, to make over one's goods by gift.
DOADE'IRA, f. f. a woman that winds skains, or bottoms.
DOA'DO, a, adj. See DOBAR.
DOBADO'URA, f. f. windle, a pair of blades.
DOBA'R, v. a. to wind into a skain, or bottom.
DO'BRA, f. f. plait, or fold.
Dobra, a sort of ancient coin in Portugal; also a piece of money worth three pounds twelve shillings.
DOBRADAMENTE, adv. doubly.
DOBRADICE, a, adj. pliant, pliable, flexible, that bends easily.
DOBRA'DO, a, adj. folded, or folded up.
Dobrado, doubled, made twice so much.
Dobraço, crafty, subtil, wily.
Dobraço, ou torcido. See TORCIDO.
Dobrado, ambiguous, that has a double sense, or meaning. See also the v. DOBRAR.
DOBRADURA, f. f. a folding, or folding up; also a bending.
DOBRAM. See DO'RA.
DOBRA'R, v. a. to fold, or fold up; also to crooken, bow, or bend.
Dobrar huma carta, to fold, or make up a letter.
Criada que dobra os vestidos, a maid that foldeth, or layeth up garments, a chambermaid.
Dobrar hum sino, to toll, to ring a bell.
Dobrar os sinos por defuntos, to ring a peal for the dead.
Dobrar hum cabo, (a sea expression) to double, or turn a cape at sea.
Dobrar as guardas, to double the guard.
Dobrar, to move, to prevail with, to make yield. (Metaph.)
Dobrar a parade, to double the stake at play.
Dobrar, to strengthen, to reinforce, or fortify; to encrease the number.
Dobrar o mão natural de algum, to tame one, to break him of his bad temper.
Dobrar a ganancia, to get twice as much.
Dobrar a folha, (metaph.) to depart, digress, to go from the purpose.
Dobrar huma rua, to turn, or go from one street into another.
Dobrar, v. n. ex. Dobrar de resolução, to change one's mind, or resolution.
Dobrar, to sing well. (Speaking of birds.)
Deixar-se dobrar, to be prevailed with.
Dobrar-se, v. a. ex. Dobrar-se ao partido de algum, to take one's part, to become a confederate.
Dobrar-se, to be moved, or affected.
Dobrar-se, to become double.
DO'BRE, adj. double, deceitful; also doubled, made twice as much.
Dobre, f. m. Dover, by the Romans called Portus Dubris, i. e. a steep place.
DOBRE'Z. See RUGA.
Dobrez, f. f. double dealing, flyness, craftiness, cunningness.
DO'BRO, f. m. double, as much again, as much more.
Pagar em dobre, to give double the price.
DOÇALINHA, or DOÇALINO, a sort of wind instrument, called a flute with a lip.
DO'CE, adj. sweet. See also AGRADAVEL and GOSTOSO.
Doce, that has not salt enough.
Palavras doces, fair and flattering speech, courteous language.
DOCE'L, f. m. a canopy.
DOCEME'NTE, adv. sweetly.
DOCEZINHO, a, adj. sweetish, somewhat sweet.
DO'CIL, adj. docil, tractable, good natured.
DOCILIDA'DE, f. f. docility, tractableness.
DOCTAMENTE. See DOUTAMENTE.
DOCTRINA, &c. See DOUTRINA, &c.
DOCUME'NTO, f. m. document, instruction. See also PROVA, and TESTE-MUNHO.
DOCUMENTOS, (in law,) papers, writings belonging to a law-suit.
DOÇURA, f. f. sweetness.
DODECA'GONO, f. m. a dodecagon.
Dodecagono, (in fortification) dodecagon, a place with twelve bastions.
DODECATEMO'RIO, f. m. dodecatemory, the twelve signs of the zodiac.
DOENÇA, f. f. sickness, disease, distemper, malady, indisposition.
Principio, augmento, auge, e declinação da doença, arche, anabans, acme and paracme of a distemper.
DOENTE, adj. sick, ill, diseased, out of order. See also DOENTTO, a, adj. sickly, subject to sickness.
Lugar doentio, an unwholesome or noisome place.
DOER, v. n. to ach, to feel pain.
Dóme a cabeça, my head aches.
Que vos doe? what ails you?
Não lhe doe a dor alheia, he is not moved, or affected by another's grief.
DOERSE, v. r. to pity, to take pity; also to complain.

Doer o cabelo a alguém; we say, to smell a rat, to distrust something.
DOESTADO. See INJURIADO.
DOESTAR. See INJURIAR.
DO'ESTO, f. m. See INJURIA.
DO'GE, f. m. doge, the chief magistrate of the republics of Venice and Genoa.
DO'GMA, f. m. a dogma, a tenet, a doctrine.
DOGMATICO, a, adj. dogmatical or dogmatic.
Philosophia dogmatica, dogmatic philosophy, which, being grounded upon sound principles, asserts a thing positively, and is opposed to sceptic.
Dogmático, f. m. dogmatist.
DOGMATISTA, f. m. a dogmatist, or one who is the author of any new sect, or opinion.
DOGMATIZADO, a, adj. See
DOGMATIZAR, v. a. to dogmatize, to give instructions, or precepts, to teach new opinions.
DO'GO, f. m. a bull-dog. From the English dog.
DOLANQUIM, a sort of black dye or tincture that comes from China.
DOLINHA. See DONINHA.
DO'LO, f. m. fraud, deceit.
Com dolo, craftily, deceitfully.
DOLORIDO. See DORIDO.
DOLOROSAMENTE, adv. sorrowfully, grievously.
DOLOROSO, a, adj. painful, tormenting, sorrowful, smarting; also a thing to be lamented.
DOLO'SO, a, adj. fraudulent, deceitful, knavish.
DOM, f. m. a gift, or present.
Dom da natureza, a natural gift, endowment, or advantage.
Dom, a title given to gentlemen and persons in posts of honour in Portugal and Spain. It was formerly restrained to the kings, and some particular great families, but now it is grown more common.
DOMADO, a, adj. See DOMAR.
DOMADO'R, f. m. tamer, vanquisher, subduer, conqueror.
DOMADO'RA, f. f. she that tames, or subdues.
DOMAR, v. a. to tame, to subdue, to overcome.
A acção de domar, a taming, breaking.
DOMAVEL, adj. easy to be tamed, or subdued.
DOMESTICADO, a, adj. See
DOMESTICAR, v. a. to tame, to make gentle, or familiar.
Domesticar-se, v. r. to grow familiar, to grow tame.
DOMESTICAVEL. See DOMAVEL.
DOMESTICO, a, adj. tame, gentle, familiar; also domestic.
DOMICILIO, f. m. a dwelling, an habitation. See also RECEPTACULO. (Metaph.)
DOMINAÇÃO, f. f. command, domination, dominion, sovereignty.
DOMINAÇÕES, dominations, one of the nine orders of angels.
DOMINADO, a, adj. See DOMINAR.
DOMINADO'R, f. m. a commander, who has power over others.
DOMINADO'RA, f. f. she that commands.
DOMINANTE, p. act. of dominar. See also PRINCEPE REX.

Planeta dominante, a predominant planet.
DOMINAR, v. a. to lord, to command, to have power.
Dominar, (prevalecer.) See PREVALE-CER.
A cidadella domina a cidade, the citadel commands the city. See also DEVASSAR.
DOMINATIVO, a, adj. having power, government, or superiority.
DOMINGA, or DOMINGO, f. m. Sunday.
DOMINICAL, adj. belonging to Sunday.
Letra dominical, the dominical letter.
Oração dominical, the Lord's prayer.
DOMINICANOS, or DOMINICOS, dominicans, an order of friars founded in the year 1206, by St. Dominic.
DOMINIO, f. m. dominion, rule, power, lordship.
DOMINIOSO, a, adj. See ALTIVO.
DO'MO, f. m. the cathedral church of a city. From the Ital. Duomo.
DO'NA, f. f. a title given to ladies of quality. See DOM.
Dona de honra, a lady of honour to the queen.
Dona, an old widow that they keep in the great houses in Portugal, rather for grandeur than any service they do; it is also the title given to some nuns.
DONADO, (among some friars) a lay-brother that has made his profession.
DONATARIO, f. m. donee, he to whom a thing is given.
DONATIVO, f. m. a present made to a church; also a donative, a dole, a distribution among many.
DONATO, f. m. a lay-brother among some friars, who has not made his profession, as it is generally practised, or only serves the friars and makes no profession at all.
DONATYRE, f. m. grace, good behaviour.
Donayre, a woman's hoop, a hoop-petticoat.
DO'NDE? where? also from whence?
De onde vindes? where do you come from?
Por donde? which way?
Donde es tu? what countryman are you?
DONINHA, f. f. a weasel; also a greedy fish, a sea lamprey, an eel-pout.
Cor de doninha, a tawny, or yellowish colour.
Doninha de rabo muy felpudo, a modo de raposa. See HARDA.
DO'NO, f. m. the master, owner, or proprietor of any thing.
Dono da casa, the master of the house.
DONO'SO, a, adj. pleasant, witty.
DONZEL, (in falconry) that may be easily tamed.
Donzel, so they anciently called the eldest son of any noble family, who was brought up in the king's palace.
Vinho donzel, pleasant wine, without any harshness.
DONZELLA, f. f. a maid, a virgin.
Donzella, a dumb-waiter.
DO'R, f. f. grief, pain, sorrow.
Dores de parida, the throws, or pangs of a woman, in labour. See also PARÉAS.
P. dor de cotovelo e dor de marido, ainda que doa, logo he esquecida, sorrow for a husband is like the pain of an elbow; it is very sharp, but lasts only a short time.
DO'RICO, a, adj. ex. Ordem Dorica, the Doric order in architecture.
DORIDO, a, adj. delicate, weak, that cannot bear or suffer.

DORMENTE, adj. benumbed, stiff.
Ponte dormente, a bridge made of stone, &c. it is opposite to a draw-bridge.
P. barriga farta pé dormente; we say, when the belly is full, the bones would be at rest.
Os sette dormentes, the seven sleepers.
DORMIDA, f. f. the tree where a bird sleeps by night continually.
DORMIDEIRAS, f. f. p. the herb called poppies.
DORMIDO, a, adj. See DORMIR.
DORMINHO'CO, f. m. a sleeper, a sluggard.
DORMIR, v. n. to sleep, to be fallen asleep.
Dormir com o sono ligeiro, to slumber.
Dormir a festa, to take a nap after dinner.
Dormir sem cuidados, to sleep securely; Terence says, Dormire in utramvis curam.
Dormir a sono folto, to sleep soundly.
Fingir de dormir, to sleep dog-sleep.
Estar com vontade de dormir, to be sleepy.
Dormir em o senhor ou em deos, is for a virtuous man to die.
Dormem as leys, (metaph.) the laws are not regarded.
P. dorme como hum arganáz, he sleeps like a dormouse.
DORMITADO, a, adj. See
DORMITAR, v. n. to nod, to slumber.
DORMITÓRIO, f. m. a dormitory, a dormer, dortior, or dorture, the common room where all the friars, or nuns of a convent sleep at nights.
DO'RNA, f. f. a vat for wine, oil, &c.
DORSE'L, f. m. the back part of the chair used in the choirs of the churches.
DO'RSO, f. m. the back.
DOS, the sign of the genitive of the plural for the nouns of the masculine gender, ex. Dos homens, of the men; dos corpos, of the bodies.
DO'SIS, f. f. a dose of physic.
Determinar a dosis necessaria, to dose.
DOTAÇÃO, f. f. a foundation, a revenue settled and established for any church.
DOTADO, a, adj. See DOTAR.
DOTADO'R, f. m. he who endows, or gives; a dower.
DOTA'L, adj. of, or pertaining to a dower that is given with a woman in marriage.
DOTAR, v. a. to endow, to give a dower, or marriage goods; also to enrich with any excellence.
Dotar huma igreja, to endow a church.
Dotar a alguém de excellentes qualidades, to endow one with excellent qualities.
DO'TE, f. m. a dowry, a woman's portion.
DO'TES, endowments, gifts of nature. See also PRENDAS.
DOUDAMENTE, adv. foolishly, extravagantly, unwisely.
DOUDEJADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
DOUDEJAR, v. n. to play the fool, to play mad tricks; also to play the scotter, jester, or buffoon; also to court a woman.
DOUDICE, f. f. madness, stupidity, foolishness, silliness.
DOUDICES, trifles, nonsense, idle stories.
DO'UDO, a, adj. mad, fool, out of his senses.
Nascer doudo, to be fool-born, or foolish from the birth.
Festa dos doudos. See FESTA.
DOURA'DA, f. f. dorado, some call it St. Peter's

D R A

D U L

D U Z

Peter's fish; it is an enemy to the flying fish.
DOURADYNHA, f. f. the herb called ceterach, or ceterack, much like to fern, wall-fern, stone-fern, milt-waist, spleenwort.
DOURADO, a. adj. gilt.
Os cavaleiros Dourados, the knights of the Golden Spur.
Idade dourada, the golden age.
DOURADO'R, f. m. a gilder.
DOURAR, v. a. to gild, or gild over.
Dourar, (jalliar.) See PALLIAR.
Dourar, (mitigar a doçar.) See MITIGAR, a doçar.
Dourar, (ornar.) See ORNAR.
DOURO, f. m. Douro, a river of Portugal, which rising in the N. E. part of Old Castile, a province of Spain, runs from thence by Valladolid, crossing Leon, it empties itself into the Atlantic Ocean below the town of Porto. It is said formerly to have yielded gold in its sands, out of which king John III. they say, had a sceptre made.
DOUS, duas, adj. two.
Das vezes, twice.
Das e dous, two and two.
Egal das dous? which, or whether of the two?
Arbas de dous, ambas de duas, both.
Qualquer dos dous, whithersoever of the two.
Hum dos dous, one, or other of the two.
Deus de centa, the figure of two.
DOUTAMENTE, adv. learnedly.
DOUTISEIMO, a. superl. very learned.
DOUTO, a. adj. learned.
M. lianamente douto, half learned.
DOUTOR, f. m. a doctor.
DOUTORADO, f. m. the degree of doctor.
Doutorado, a. adj. See DOUTORAR-SE.
DOUTORAL, conego, (in a cathedral) a canon that has taken the degree of a doctor in law.
DOUTORAMENTO, f. m. the act of giving the degree of a doctor.
DOUTORANDO, f. m. he who is to take the degree of a doctor.
DOUTORAR-SE, v. r. to take the degree of a doctor.
DOUTRINA, f. f. doctrine, learning, instruction. See also ENSINO.
Doutrina christãã, the christian doctrine, the catechism.
Greges: ção da doutrina christãã, a sort of religious order founded by Cæsar de Brie.
DOUTRINADO, a. adj. See DOUTRINAR.
DOUTRINAL, adj. belonging to doctrine.
DOUTRINALMENTE, adv. See MAGISTRALMENTE.
DOUTRINANTE, p. act. of
DOUTINAR, v. a. to teach, to instruct.
DOUTINAVEL, adj. apt to be instructed.
DOZE, the number twelve.
Doze vezes, twelve times.
De doze, of twelve.
Doze em ordem. See DUODECIMO.
DRACHMA, f. f. a Greek coin, the same as the Roman denier.
Drachma, or drama, a drachm, the eighth part of an ounce.
DRACUNCULO, f. m. a sort of small worm so called.
DRAGAM, f. m. a dragon, a sort of serpent; also a sea-fish so called; also a constellation.

Dragam, a dragoon, or dragoonier, a soldier who fights sometimes on horseback, and sometimes on foot.
Ordem do Dragam, knights of the order of the Dragon, an order erected by the emperor Sigismund, A. C. 1417, upon the condemnation of John Hus, and Jerom of Prague.
Sangue de dragam, dragon's blood, the gum, or resin of a tree called Arbor draco.
Dragam volante, flying-dragon, it is a fat, heterogeneous, earthy meteor, in the shape of a flying-dragon.
Dragam, (among farriers) a small white spot in the bottom of a horse's eye.
DRAGO. See DRAGAM.
Sangue de drago. See DRAGAM.
DRAGOEIRA, or DRAGOEIRO, the dragon-tree.
DRAGONTEA. See SERPENTINA.
DRAMA, f. m. drama, a play, either comedy or tragedy.
Drama. See DRACHMA.
DRAMATICO, a. adj. dramatic.
DRYADAS. See DRYADAS.
DRICHAS, f. f. p. (in a ship) the halliards, being the ropes by which they hoist all the yards in a ship, except the cross-tack and the sprit-fail yard.
DROGA, f. f. any sort of drug; also goods, commodities.
Dar em droga, to grow a very drug.
Isto he droga, this is not worth a pin, it is a drug.
DROGARIA. See
DROGAS, f. f. p. all sorts of drugs in general, grocery-ware.
DROGUETE, f. m. drugget, a sort of stuff.
DROMEDARIO, f. m. a dromedary, a sort of camel, having two bunches on the back.
DRUIDAS, or DRUIDES, f. m. p. the druids, certain learned Pagan priests of the ancient Britons and Gauls.
DRYADAS, f. f. p. Dryades, the nymphs of the woods and mountains.
DUAL, adj. (in grammar) ex. Numero dual, the dual number.
DUAS. See DOUS.
DUBIO, a. adj. ex. Cea dubia, a supper where there are so many dishes that a man knows not which to eat of. Terence says, Cæna dubia.
DUBLIN, the city of Dublin in Ireland; it is the seat of government.
DUCA'DO, f. m. a dukedom; also a ducat, a foreign coin of gold, or silver of different values, according to the places where current.
DUCA'L, adj. belonging to a duke, ducal.
DUÇAM, (an Indian word.) See QUINTA.
DUCATAM, f. m. a foreign coin called ducatoon.
DU'CTIL, adj. conveyed into.
DU'CTO, f. m. (in medicine) See VIA and CAMINHO.
DUELLI'STA, f. m. a duellist.
DUE'LLO, f. m. a duel, single combat, the point of honour which obliges men to fight. See also DESAFIO.
DUE'NDES, f. m. p. fairies, spirits, hobgoblins.
DULCIFICA'DO, a. adj. See DULCIFICAR.
DULCIFICA'NTE, p. act. of.
DULCIFICA'R, v. a. See ADOÇAR.

DULPA, f. f. the honour and servitude due to the saints.
DU'NAS, or DUNES, downs, or sandy hills; also the sea lying near the sands upon the coast of Kent, where the British navy rides.
DU'Q, f. m. (in music) duetto, little songs, or airs, in two parts.
DUODECAGONO. See DODECAGONO.
DUODE'CIMO, a. adj. the twelfth.
DUODE'NO, (in anatomy) duodenum, or the first of the intestines or guts, in length, about twelve fingers breadth.
DUPLEX, double, one of the three offices of the Roman Breviary.
DUPLICACAM. See REPETICAM.
DUPLICADO, a. adj. See
DUPLICAR, v. a. to double.
DUP'LICE. See DUPLEX.
DUQUADO. See DUCADO.
DU'QUE, f. m. a duke.
DU'QUES, (at dice, &c.) two, deuce.
DUQUE'SA, f. f. a duchess; also a sort of woollen stuff.
DURÁ, f. f. lastingness.
Cousa de munta dura, a very lasting thing. See also GUARDA.
DURACAM, f. f. duration, continuance.
DURACÃO. See DURAZIO.
DURA-MATER, (in anatomy) dura-mater, the outward skin, which encompasses the brain.
DURADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DURAR.
DURAME'NTE, adv. hardly.
DURANTE, f. m. durant, a sort of stuff made of wool.
Durame, f. m. p. act. of
DURAR, v. n. to last, to continue.
DURAVEL, adj. durable, lasting.
DURAZIO, a sort of peaches that will not easily part from the stones.
Durazio, a. adj. See
DUREIRO, a. adj. costive, or bound in body.
DURE'ZA, f. f. hardness, solidity.
Dureza do coração, cruelty, ruggedness.
Dureza do ventre, costiveness.
DURIAM, a sort of fruit growing in several parts of the East Indies.
DURO, a. adj. hard, stiff; also cruel, nigardly, unmerciful, hard.
Duro de subir, steep.
Homem duro dos fechos, a man that is not easily persuaded.
Verfos duros, so they call those verses that appear to the ear to be longer than they ought to be, by having many synalephas. They are opposed to those called verfos desmaiados. See DESMAIADOS.
DUVIDA, f. f. a doubt.
Sem duvida, cu controversia, without doubt, or controversy. See also DISCORDIAS.
DUVIDADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of DUVIDAR, v. n. to doubt, or question.
DUV'DAR-SE, v. imp. it is not certain, it is a question.
DUVIDOSAMENTE, adv. doubtfully.
DUVIDOSO, a. adj. doubted.
Duvidoso, doubtful, dubious, uncertain; also dangerous, full of peril.
DUUMVIRATO, the office of two in equal authority, the duumvirate.
DUUMVROS, f. m. p. two officers of Rome, that had an authority like our sheriffs, the duumviri.
DUZEN'TOS, two hundred.
DU'ZIA, f. f. a dozen.

DYNA'STA,

DYNA'STA, f. m. a nobleman of great power, a prince, a ruler, a potentate, a lord.
DYNASTIA, f. f. dynasty.
DYSCOLO. See DISCOLO.
DYSCRACIA, (in medicine) dyscracy, or an unequal mixture of elements in the blood, or nervous juice.

DYSCRECIADO, a, adj. that is troubled with dyscracy.
DYSENTERIA, f. f. dysentery, looseness accompanied with gripings in the belly.
Dores que causa a dysenteria, the gripings of the guts.
DYSEPULO'TICO, a, adj. ex. Chaga dysepulotica, an ulcer beyond cure, or hard to cicatrise or cure.

DYSPESIA, (in medicine) dyspepsy, or a difficulty of digestion, or fermentation in the stomach or guts.
DYSPNE'A, f. f. dyspnoea, or difficulty in breathing.
DYSURIA, f. f. dysury, or difficulty of urination.

E.

E, the fifth letter of the Portuguese alphabet, bet, and the second of the vowels. Among the ancients it was a numeral letter, that stood for 250, according to this verse:

E quæque ducentos, & quinquaginta tenebit.

E, a conjunctive particle, and.

Este e aquelle, this and that.

E'A, or E'Id, an exhortative particle, now, come on.

E'BANO, f. m. the ebon-tree, or ebony-tree.

Ebano, ebony, the wood of the ebon, or ebony-tree.

O que trabalha, ou faz obras de ebano, an ebonist, a cabinet-maker in such way.

EBRA'ICO. } See HEBRAICO.

EBRE'O. } See HEBREO.

EBRIEDADE, f. f. drunkenness.

EBULLIÇAM, f. f. ebullition, or boiling up of the blood.

EBULO. See ENGES.

EBURNEO, a, adj. made of ivory, or white as ivory, (in poetry.)

EÇA, f. f. a cenotaph, an empty tomb, set up in honour of the dead.

ECCEIÇAM, &c. See EXCEIÇAM.

ECCENTRICIDADE, f. f. (in astronomy) eccentricity.

ECCENTRICO, a, adj. eccentric.

ECCLESIASTES, f. m. Ecclesiastes, (i. e. the Preacher) the title of a book in the Scripture, written by king Solomon. Greek.

ECCLESIASTICO, a, adj. ecclesiastical, belonging to the church.

Ecclesiástico, f. m. an ecclesiastic, a churchman, a clergyman; also Ecclesiasticus, a book of the Scripture, written by Jesus the son of Syrach.

ECCO. See ECO.

ECHADIÇO, a, adj. spread abroad, laid in the way designedly.

ECHO. See ECO.

ECLIPSADO, a, adj. See

ECLIPSA'R-SE, v. r. to be eclipsed, or darkened, to be in an eclipse.

ECLIPSE, f. m. an eclipse.

ECLIPTICA, f. f. ecliptic, a great circle of the heavens, in which the sun moves in its annual motions.

E'CLOGA, f. f. an eclogue, a pastoral poem.

ECLUSA. See DIQUE.

ECO, ECHO, ECCO, or ECCHO, f. m. eccho, or echo, rebounding of sound; also a nymph who fell in love with Narcissus, but being slighted by him pined away to a skeleton, having nothing left her but her voice. Greek.

E'co, (in poetry) a sort of verse in which the last part of the last word is repeated, as the natural echo does words.

ECONOMIA, or ECONOMICA, f. f. œconomy, the government of a house or family. Greek.

ECONOMICO, a, adj. œconomical, œconomic, belonging to œconomy.

ECO'NOMO, f. m. an œconomist.

ECU'LEO, f. m. an instrument of torture, made like a horse.

ECUMENICO, a, adj. œcumenical. Greek.

EDA'Z, adj. eating much, gluttonous. From the Latin edax.

EDEMA, f. m. (in medicine) œdema, any tumor or swelling; but more strictly a white, soft, insensible tumour, proceeding from pituitous matter. Greek.

EDEMATO'SO, a, adj. œdematous, belonging to an œdema.

EDIÇAM, f. f. edition of a book.

EDIÇTO, or EDITTO, f. m. an edict, a proclamation.

EDIFICAÇAM, f. f. an edifying good example.

Dar edificaçam, to edify, to set good examples.

EDIFICA'DO, a, adj. See EDIFICAR.

EDIFICADOR, f. m. a builder.

EDIFICAR, v. a. to build, to edify; also to edify, to set good examples; also to please.

EDIFICATIVO, a, adj. edifying, that sets good example.

EDIFICIO, f. m. an edifice, a building, a structure.

EDI'L, f. m. an edile, or officer in ancient Rome, a surveyor of the works, clerk of the market, &c.

EDIMBURGO, or EDEMBURGO, Edinburgh, the metropolis of the kingdom of Scotland.

EDITA'L, f. m. the paper wherein an edict or proclamation is written.

EDITTO. See EDIÇTO.

EDUCAÇAM, f. f. education.

EDUCA'DO, a, adj. educated.

EDUCANDA, f. f. a girl put in a nunnery to be educated.

EDUCA'R, v. a. to educate, to bring up.

O que educa, one that brings up.

EDULCORA'DO, a, adj. See

EDULCORAR, v. a. (in chemistry) to edulcorate, to sweeten, to make sweet.

EFFE'BO, or EPHEBO, f. m. a stripling of fourteen years old, a youth, a lad, Lat.

EFEMERIDES. See EPHEMERIDES.

EFEMINA'DO. See EFFEMINADO.

EFIMERO. See EPHIMERO.

EFFECTIVAMENTE, adv. really, effectually.

EFFECTIVO, a, adj. effective, real. See also EFFICAZ.

Homem effectivo nas promessas, a punctual man, a man of his word.

EFFEITO, f. m. effect; also performance, deed, execution.

Os efeitos de hum mercador, the effects or goods of a merchant.

Com effeito, really, in effect.

Para effeito, to the end that.

Causa que não tem effeito, effectless.

EFFEITUA'DO, a, adj. See

EFFEITUA'R, v. a. to effect, perform, bring to pass, or put in execution.

O que effeitua alguma causa, an effector.

EFFEMINA'DO, a, adj. See

EFFEMINA'R, v. a. to effeminate to enervate.

EFFERA'DO, a, adj. made wild, fierce, enraged.

EFFERVESCE'NCIA, f. f. See EBULLIÇAM.

EFFICA'CIA, f. f. efficacy.

EFFICAZ, adj. efficacious, full of efficacy, effectual, powerful.

EFFICAZMENTE, adv. efficaciously.

EFFICIE'NCIA, f. f. efficiency, efficiency, the faculty or power to do a thing.

EFFICIENTE, adj. efficient, producing its effect.

Causa eficiente, efficient cause.

EFFIGIE, f. f. effigies, image, the picture or portraiture of a person.

EFFUGIO, f. m. See SUBTERFUGIO.

EFFUNDIÇA, f. f. See INFUNDIÇA.

EFFUNDI'R, v. a. to shed; as effundir lagrimas, to shed tears

EFFUSAM,

EFFUSÃO, f. f. effusion, or shedding, a pouring out.
EFIMERA. See EPHIMERA.
EFORO. See EPHORO.
EGLOGA. See ECLOGA.
EGOA, f. f. a mare.
Egoa pequena, a filly-foal, a young mare, a mare colt.
Huma cobra de egoas, a stud of mares, a flock of breeding mares.
EGOARIÇO, f. m. a breeder of horses, or one that takes care to raise a breed of horses.
EGREGIAMENTE, adv. egregiously.
EGREGIO, a, adj. egregious, rare, excellent.
EGRO, a, adj. sharp, violent, hard.
EGYPCIANO, EGYPCIO, EGYPTANO, or EGITANO, a, adj. Egyptian.
EGYPTO, f. m. Egypt, a kingdom in Africa.
EGITANO. See EGYPCIANO.
EL, (obol.) See EU.
ELA. See EA.
ECHAM, or EYCHAM. See DESPENSEIRO.
EIDO, (in the province of Beira.) See LAR.
EILA, EILAS. } See EIS.
EILO, EILOS. }
EIRA, f. f. a threshing-floor, a barn-floor.
EIRADO, f. m. the leads of a house, the solar in a house, a terrace.
EIRO, f. f. a sea-fish, very like an eel.
EIS, adv. demonstrative, behold, here is, this is, here are, these are.
Eis aqui que tu enmudecerás, behold, thou shalt be dumb.
Eis aqui o homem que eu procurava, here is, or this is the man I looked for.
Eis aqui os meus livros, here are my books.
Eis aqui a minha mulher, e os meus filhos, here are, or these are my wife and children.
Eis-me aqui, here am I.
Como eu vinha chegando à cidade, eis que vejo vir um grande numero de soldados a ter comigo, as I drew near the town, I perceived a great number of soldiers making towards me.
N. B. The consonant S is very often changed into lo, or los for the masculine; and into la, or las for the feminine; as, eilo abi vem, here he comes; eilos a qui, here they are; eila abi vem, here she comes; eilo lá vai o traidor, there goes the traitor; eilo ali, there he is, or there it is; eila ali, there she is.
EITO, they make use of this word, putting the particle a before it; ex. A cite, continually, without intermission.
EIVA, f. f. See FALHA.
EIVADO, a, adj. (speaking of fruits.) See TOCADO.
Eivado, that has got a falha. See FALHA, and ACHACOSO.
EIXO. See EXO.
EJECTO, a, adj. cast, or thrown forth.
EL, the Portuguese make use of this Spanish article only before the word rey, instead of the Portuguese article O, the; ex. El-ry, the king.
E-LA-MI, the sixth ascending note of each septenary in the scale of music, e-la-mi.
ELABORADO, a, adj. See
ELABORAR, v. a. to make an elaborate piece of work; also to concoct or digest the animal fluids, (among physicians.)

A acção de elaborar neste ultimo sentido, elaboration, or digestion of the animal fluids.
ELADO, a, adj. a Spanish word seldom used by the Portuguese. See CONGELADO.
ELASTICO, a, adj. elastic, or elastical.
Virtude elastica, elasticity.
ELCHE. See RENEGADO, Arab.
ELEBORASTER, f. m. the black hellebore.
ELECTIVO, a, adj. elective.
Reyno electivo, an elective kingdom.
ELECTO, a, adj. elected.
ELECTRA, f. f. See ALAMBRE.
ELECTRIZ, f. f. an elector's wife, an electress.
ELECTUARIO, f. m. (in pharmacy) an electuary.
ELEFANTE. See ELEPHANTE.
ELEGANCIA, f. f. elegance, fineness of speech.
Com elegancia, elegantly.
ELEGANTE, adj. elegant, fine, (speaking of the style.) See also DISCRETO.
ELEGER, v. a. to elect; to chuse.
ELEGIA, f. f. elegy, a mournful poem.
ELEGÍACO, a, adj. elegiac.
ELEGÍVEL, adj. eligible, fit to be chosen.
ELEIÇÃO, f. f. election, choice, opinion.
ELEITO, a, adj. elected.
ELEITOR, f. m. an elector.
Eleitores do imperio, the electors of the empire.
ELEITORADO, f. m. electorship; also an electorate, an elector's territories.
ELEITORAL, adj. electoral, of, or belonging to an elector.
ELEITUARIO. See ELECTUARIO.
ELEMENTAL, adj. belonging to the elements, or that partakes of the elements, elementary.
O fogo elemental, the elementary fire.
ELEMENTAR, adj. belonging to the elements, rudiments, grounds, or first principles of any art or science.
ELEMENTARIO. See ELEMENTAL.
ELEMENTO, f. m. an element; also the grounds of any art or science, the rudiments, or first principles of them, (metaph.)
Estar no seu elemento, to be in one's element, (speaking of a thing one delights in.)
A caça he o seu elemento, hunting is his element.
ELENA campana. See ENULA campana.
ELENCO, f. m. the index in a book; also a sophistical argument, an elench.
ELEPHANCIA, f. f. elephantiasis, the leprosy, which makes the skin rough like that of the elephant.
ELEPHANTE, f. m. an elephant.
Gritar o elephante, to bray as an elephant.
Cavalleiros do Elephante, knights of the Elephant, or of the order of St. Mary; an order of knighthood in Denmark. It was instituted by king Canutus, A. C. 1184.
ELEPHANTINO, a, adj. elephantine, or belonging to an elephant.
Mal elephantino. See ELEPHANCIA.
ELEVACÃO, f. f. elevation, lifted up; also rise, preferment, advancement.
Elevação do polo, (in astronomy) elevation of the pole, which is the height of the pole above the horizon, or the number of degrees the pole is raised above the horizon.

Elevação, (in gunnery) elevation, or the angle which the chace of a cannon or mortar, or the axis of the hollow cylinder, makes with the plane of the horizon.
ELEVADO, a, adj. rapt, rapt up, or ravished; is commonly taken for one in rapture, or besides himself, in divine contemplation; also elevated, lifted up, raised, preferred; also proud. See ELEVAR, v. a. to raise, to lift up, to elevate; also to ravish, to transport with pleasure.
Elevar, ou arrebatár com admiracão a algum, to ravish one with admiration.
Elevár-se, v. r. to be rapt up, ravished, or transported.
ELÍACO. See NACIMENTO, and PO'R.
ELIANOS. See CARMELITAS.
ELIMINADO, a, adj. See
ELIMINAR, v. a. to put, or turn out.
ELIOTAS. } See { ELIANOS.
ELYSIOS. } { ELYSIOS.
ELIXACÃO, f. f. (in pharmacy) elixation.
ELIXIR, f. m. (with alchemists) elixir.
ELLA, a feminine pronoun, she, or it.
ELLE, masculine pronoun, he, or it.
Elle vai, he goes. See also EA.
ELLEBORASTER. See ELEBORASTER.
ELLEBORINHA, f. f. the herb called wild white hellebore.
ELLEBORO, f. m. the herb hellebore, or sneeze-wort.
Elleboro branco, white hellebore.
Elleboro negro, black hellebore, or bears-foot.
ELLIPSE, (in grammar) ellipsis; it is when some word is wanting to make up the sense; also a figure of rhetoric, by which something is left out; also an ellipsis or oval figure in geometry.
ELLIPTICO, a, adj. elliptical.
ELLO. See ELO.
ELMO, f. m. an helmet, or casque.
ELO, f. m. the tendril, or young twig, or shoot of a vine, wherewith it takes hold of every thing, and climbs up by it. See also GRILHAM, and TESOURINHAS.
ELOCUÇÃO, f. f. elocution, the power of expression, or diction.
ELOENDRO, rose-tree, rose-bay-tree, rose-bay, oleander.
ELOGÍACO, a, adj. that contains praises or eulogies.
ELOGIO, f. m. an eulogy, a commendation, a speech, or verses made in praise of one.
Fazer um elogio, to aggrandize, to extol, to praise.
ELOQUÊNCIA, f. f. eloquence.
ELOQUENTE, adj. eloquent.
ELOQUENTEMENTE, adv. eloquently.
EL-REY, the king.
P. aonde não ha el-rey o perde; where nothing is to be had, the king must lose his right. We say also, it is very hard to have an egg.
ELVAS, a city of Portugal, in the province of Alentejo. It was anciently called Helva, from the Helvi, a people of Gaul. It is a good fortress, and has a castle called Santa Luzia. Among the curiosities of this city is a very large cistern, into which water is conveyed by means of an aqueduct about a mile long, and so high near the town, that it requires a three-fold row of arches over one another to support it. The Spaniards took the place in 1580, but in 1659 they were defeated in the neighbourhood by the Portuguese. Lat. Helvia.

ELUCIDARIO. See DILUCIDARIO.

ELUDIR, v. a. to elude, to shift off, to get clear of any mischief by any artifice; also to shift off or avoid in words.

ELYCIOS Campos, the Elysian Fields, feigned by the poets to be the place where the souls of just men lived in pleasure, and free from all sense of pain.

EM, prepos. in, at. See also PARA, and POR.

Estarci em casa, I shall be at home.

Em quatro annos, in four years.

Em sonho, in a dream.

Em, or Em quanto, while, whilst.

EMA, f. f. a sort of ostrich first found in the islands called Moluccas, and particularly in that of Banda.

EMACIADO, a, adj. lean, thin, emaciated.

EMALHAR redes, v. a. to weave or make nets. From malha, a mesh.

EMANAÇÃO, f. f. emanation; it is used by divines to express the proceeding of the Holy Ghost from the Father and the Son. See also ORIGEM, and NASCIMENTO.

EMANADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of EMANAR, v. n. to flow, to proceed from. Cousa que emana, that floweth from, emanative.

EMANCIPAÇÃO, f. f. emancipation, setting free. See the v. EMANCIPAR.

EMANCIPADO, a, adj. See

EMANCIPAR, v. a. to emancipate, to set at liberty his son, nephew, or any other under his jurisdiction.

Emancipar-se, v. r. to take too much liberty; also to get rid, or free one's self from another's jurisdiction.

EMBABACADO, a, adj. See

EMBABACAR, v. a. to allure, to deceive, to cajole, (a vulgar word.)

EMBAÇADO, a, adj. mumped, at a loss, put to a stand, stunned, amazed, astonished. See also EMBAÇAR, v. a. to strike one hard in the spleen, or some other part, so that he scarce may breathe or speak. From baço, spleen.

Embaçar, to make blackish; also to make dull, to fully a looking-glass with the breath.

Embaçar, to astonish, to amaze, to put to a stand, to stun. (Metaph.)

Embaçar, (entupir.) See ENTUPIR.

Embaçar, v. n. to grow stunned, or amazed; also to be out of breath.

EMBACELLAR, v. a. to plant young vines. From BACELLO, which see.

EMBACIADO, a, adj. (speaking of colours.) See BACÔ, a, adj.

EMBAIME'NTO, f. m. a deceit. See also MENTIRA.

EMBAINHADO, a, adj. See

EMBAINHAR, v. a. to sheathe.

Embainhar a espada, to sheathe, or put up a sword in the scabbard.

Embainhar as unhas, (speaking of a lion, birds of prey, &c.) to shut the claws.

Embainhar, (abainhar.) See ABAINHAR.

EMBAIDO, See ENGANADO.

EMBAIDOR. See ENGANADOR.

EMBAIR. See ENGANAR.

EMBAIXADA. See EMBAXADA.

EMBAIXADOR. See EMBAXADOR.

EMBALANÇADO. See BALANÇADO.

EMBALANÇAR. See BALANÇAR.

EMBALADO, a, adj. See

EMBALAR, v. a. ex. Embalar hum meni-no, to rock a child.

O, or a que embala, a rocker.

EMBALSAMADO, a, adj. See

EMBALSAMAR, v. a. to embalm, to impregnate a body with aromatics, that may resist putrefaction.

EMBANDEIRADO, a, adj. See

EMBANDEIRAR, to adorn with flags or colours.

EMBARAÇADAMENTE, adv. intricately.

EMBARAÇADO, a, adj. See

EMBARAÇAR, v. a. to encumber, to entangle, to stop, to hinder.

Embaraçar hum negocio, to perplex, intricate, or confound a business.

Embaraçar, to confound, to put to a non-plus.

Embaraçar-se, v. r. to be entangled or ensnared with something not easily extricable, as a net, or something adhesive, as briars or thorns.

Embaraçar-se, to confound one's self, to be at a stand. (Metaph.)

Embaraçar-se em algum negocio, to entangle one's self in a business, to engage in a business.

EMBARAÇO, f. m. impediment, clog, hindrance; also confusion, crowd, embarrassment; also stop, crowd in a way or passage.

Embaraço, or perturbação do animo, trouble, a being puzzled, perplexity of mind, the being gruelled.

EMBARAÇO'SO, a, adj. troublesome, cumbersome, perplexing, puzzling.

EMBARBASCADO, a, adj. See

EMBARBASCAR, v. n. to stick in the ground as the plough does against a root; also to stumble or trip in walking against the root of a tree, or any other thing, (metaph.)

EMBARCAÇÃO, f. f. embarkation, the shipping of men or goods; also any sort of vessel or ship.

EMBARCADO, a, adj. See

EMBARCAR, v. a. to ship, to embark.

Embarcar-se, v. r. to go aboard ship, to embark.

Embarcar-se em algum negocio, to embark in an affair, to engage one's self in it.

Embarcar-se sem biscoute, to go hand over head in an affair, to undertake a thing rashly.

EMBARGADO, a, adj. See EMBARGAR.

EMBARGANTE, p. act. he that letteth, or withstandeth a matter that it may not go forward; also he that brings in an exception in law. See also EMBARGAR, v. a. to lay an embargo, to arrest, to stop, to seize, to stay. See also REPRIMIR, and IMPEDIR.

Isto não embargo, this does not hinder. See also EMBARGO, f. m. an embargo, an arrest, a stop, a stay; also an exception at law.

Sem embargo, nevertheless, notwithstanding.

Pôr embargos, or embargar, to except against a thing, to bring in an exception in law.

Embargo, an objection, a difficulty.

EMBARRANÇADO, a, adj. See

EMBARRANÇAR, v. n. to doubt, to stop, to be at a stand, to be in the brisrs.

EMBARRADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of EMBARRAR, v. n. to strike upon, or run against.

Embarrar, v. a. to daub with clay. From barro, clay.

Embarrar-se, v. a. See METER-SE.

EMBARRILADO, a, adj. See

EMBARRILAR, v. a. to put in a barrel.

EMBASACADO, a, adj. foolishly surprised, taken up with trifles, gazing like a fool.

EMBA'TE, f. m. a beating against a thing.

EMBAXADA, f. f. an embassy, or embassy, a commission which a prince or state gives to a man of parts and skill, to treat with another prince or state about matters of importance.

Mandar embaxada, to send an embassy.

Ir fazer Luma embaxada, to go upon an embassy.

Embaxada, a message, or errand.

Fazer humã embaxada, or dar hum recado, to deliver one's message.

EMBAXADOR, f. m. an ambassador, he that is sent by one sovereign, prince or state to another, either to compliment or to treat of business.

EMBAXATRIZ, f. f. an ambassadress, she that is sent with a commission to treat of affairs, &c. or the ambassador's lady.

EMBEDECER. See EMBEBER.

EMBEBEDADO, a, adj. See

EMBEBEDAR, v. a. to make or get fuddled, to fuddle one.

Embebedar-se, v. r. to fuddle one's self, to get fuddled or drunk.

EMBEBER, v. a. to imbibe, to suck.

Embeber-se, v. r. to imbibe, to suck or drink in, to be imbibed; also to be taken up intirely with a thing, to stand on any thing; also to be wrapt up, or involved totally.

Embeber-se no ouvir alguem, to hang on what one speaks.

Setta embebida no arco, an arrow ready to be shot.

EMBELECADO, a, adj. See

EMBELECAR, v. a. to cheat, to impose upon, to defraud.

EMBELECO, f. m. a fraud, a deceit, an imposition; also an oversight.

EMBESPINHADO, a, adj. See

EMBESPINHAR-SE, v. r. (a vulgar word.) See AGASTAR-SE.

EMBETESGADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of

EMBETESGAR, v. n. to go into a place that is not a thoroughfare. From ETESGA, which see. (It is little used.)

EMBEZERRADO, a, adj. frowning. (a vulgar word.)

EMBICADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of

EMBICAR, v. n. to stumble, to trip in walking; also to slip, to slide into a blunder.

Embicar, (reparar.) See REPARAR, and DIFFICULTAR.

Embicar em alguma coisa sem razão, to seek for a drunken quarrel.

EMBIÇO, f. m. the navel. From the Latin umbo.

EMBIÇADO, a, adj. See EMBIÇAR.

EMBIOCAR-SE, v. r. is for women to cover and hide their faces.
EMBIRRA'DO, a, adj. (a vulgar word) obdurate, stubborn.
EMBLEMA, f. m. an emblem, an allusive picture.
EMBOBORA'DO, a, adj. See EMBOBORAR. See EMBOBORAR.
EMBOCA'DO, a, adj. See EMBOCAR.
EMBOCADURA, f. f. the mouth or passage into a place; also that part of the bridle that is in the mouth of a horse, the bit-mouth.
EMBOCAR, v. a. to get into the mouth of a passage.
Emboçar a rua, to enter a street.
Emboçar a bola, to lay a bowl into the iron ring at trucks, or into the port at billiards, or the like.
Emboçar, to blow upon, in any wind instrument.
Emboçar hum poffare, to feed a bird, to give him his bill full.
EMBOÇA'DO, a, adj. See EMBOÇAR.
EMBOÇAR, v. a. (in masonry) to lay on the first plaster or mortar.
EMBOÇO, f. m. the first plaster, or parge laid on in a wall; also the act of laying on the first plaster or mortar.
EMBOLDRE'DO, a, adj. See ENLODADO.
EMBOLDREAR-SE, v. r. See SUJAR-SE.
EMBOLISMA'L, adj. embolismical.
EMBOLISMA, f. m. embolism. Greek.
EMBOLSA'DO, a, adj. See EMBOLSA'R.
EMBOLSA'R, v. a. to put into a purse.
Emboçar-se, v. r. See COBRAR.
EMBO'LSO, f. m. a putting of money in a purse.
EMBONA'DO, a, adj. See EMBONAR.
EMBONAR, v. a. to add some planks or timber to the bilge of a ship, in order to enlarge it.
EMBONICA'DO, a, adj. See EMBONICAR-SE.
EMBONICAR-SE, v. r. is for women to adorn themselves with too much affectations. From bonica, a doll.
EMBO'NO, f. m. the act of adding some planks, &c. See EMBONAR.
EMBO'QUE, f. m. the act of playing the ball at billiards into the port; or the act of laying a bowl into the iron ring at trucks, or the like.
EMBO'RA, adv. prosperously, in a good time, auspiciously.
Seja embora como quere, well, let it be as you will.
Muito embora seja assim, well, or never mind, let it be so.
Faite embora, go away.
Embras. See PARABENS.
EMBORCACHAM. See EMBROCAÇAM.
EMBORCA'DO, a, adj. See EMBORCAR.
EMBORCAR, v. a. to overwhelm, or to whelme, to turn the open side of a vessel downwards.
EMBORNA'ES, f. m. p. the scupper-holes in a ship, which are close to the decks, through the ship's sides, by which the water runs out of the decks.
EMBORRACHA'DO, a, adj. See EMBORRACHAR.
EMBORRACHAR, v. a. Embrachar-se, v. r. See EMBEBEDAR, and Embebedar-se.
EMBORRALHA'DO, a, adj. covered with ashes.
EMBOSCA'DA, f. f. an ambush.

EMBOSCA'DO, a, adj. See EMBOSCAR-SE.
EMBOSCAR-SE, v. r. to go into the wood, in order to lay in ambush.
EMBOTA'DO, a, adj. See EMBOTAR.
EMBOTAR, v. a. to dull or blunt, to take off the edge.
Vinho embotado. See BOTADO.
Embotar o juizo, to dull or blunt the brain, or wit. (Metaph.)
Embotar-se, v. r. to be blunted.
EMBRACADE'IRA, f. f. the hold of a shield, or buckler.
EMBRACA'DO, a, adj. See EMBRACAR.
EMBRACAR, v. a. ex. Embracar o escudo, to fix the buckler to the arm, by running the arm through the rings on the inside of it.
EMBRANDECE'R, v. a. to make soft; also to loosen.
EMBRANDECE'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMBRANDECER.
EMBRANQUECE'R, v. n. to grow white.
Embranquecer de vellos, to be hoary, to have grey hairs, to wax old.
EMBRANQUECE'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMBRANQUECER.
EMBRAVECE'R, v. a. to make fierce or furious, to enrage one.
Embravecer-se, v. r. to grow fierce or furious.
EMBRAVECE'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMBRAVECER.
EMBRECHA'DOS, f. m. p. little stones, pebbles, or shells, for a grotto.
EMBRENHA'DO, a, adj. See EMBRENHAR-SE.
EMBRENHAR-SE, v. r. to hide, or thrust one's self into the briars and rocks.
EMBRIAGADO. See EMBEBEDADO.
EMBRIAGAR. See EMBEBEDAR.
EMBRIAGUEZ. See BEBEDICE.
EMBRIAM, f. m. the embryo, or embryon, the child before it is formed in the womb; also any abortive conception of the mind, the state of any thing yet unfinished. (metaph.)
EMBRIDA'DO, a, adj. See EMBRIDAR.
EMBRIDAR, v. n. or Embridar-se, v. r. is for a horse to go with the head lifted up when bridled; also to be in a huff, thrusting at the same time the chin into the neck; we say, (speaking of women) to bridle it.
EMBROCAÇAM, f. f. (in medicine) embrocation, a kind of fomentation, wherein the fomenting liquor is let distil from aloft, drop by drop, very slowly, upon the part, or body to be fomented. Greek.
EMBRULHA'DA, f. f. See CONFUSAM, and DISCORDIA.
EMBRULHA'DO, a, adj. wrapped up, involved.
Embrulhado, (embaraçado.) See EMBARAÇADO.
Ter o estomago embrulhado, to be ready to vomit. See also the v. EMBRULHAR.
EMBRULHADO'R, f. m. a trifler, a toyer, a baffle, a cheat, a disturber, a perturber.
EMBRULHAME'NTO, f. m. ex. Embrulhamento do estomago, a qualm, or list to vomit.
EMBRULHA'R, v. a. to intricate, to perplex or confound; also to wrap up.
Embrulhar o estomago a alguem, to make one ready to vomit. See also ENFADAR.
Embrulhar-se, v. r. to be perplexed or confounded.

Embrulhar-se no seu capote, to throw one's cloak about one's shoulders.
Embrulhar-se no discurso, to be at a stand, not to know what to say.
Embrulhar-se fallando, not to pronounce distinctly.
Embrulhar-se o estomago, to be ready to vomit; also to be mightily displeased at a thing. (Metaph.)
EMBRUSCA'DO, a, adj. See EMBRUSCAR-SE.
EMBRUSCAR-SE, v. r. to grow dark, or cloudy.
EMBRUTECE'R, v. a. to make one brutish.
EMBRUTECE'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMBRUTECER.
EMBRUXA'DO, a, adj. See EMBRUXAR.
EMBRUXAR, v. a. See ENFEITIÇAR.
EMBUÇA'DO, a, adj. muffled up.
Embuçado, wrapped up.
Manhã embuçada, cloudy morning.
Embuçado, (fingido.) See FINGIDO, and DISSIMULADO. See also EMBUÇAR-SE.
EMBUÇAR-SE, v. r. to muffle one's self up.
Embuçar-se na capa, to wrap up one's self in one's cloak.
A acção de embuçar-se, muffling up.
Embuçar-se. See DISFARÇAR-SE.
EMBUCHA'DO, a, adj. See FARTO.
Embuchado de huma coisa que enfada, tired with a thing. See also EMBUCHAR. See FARTAR.
EMBUÇO, f. m. any thing with which a man muffles up himself. See SIMULAÇAM, DISFARÇAMENTO.
EMBU'DE, f. m. See EMBURRICADO.
EMBURRICADO, a, adj. See EMBURRICAR.
EMBURRICAR, v. a. to make one. From burro, an ass.
EMBURULHADA. See EMBURULHADO.
EMBURULHADO, &c. See EMBURULHADO.
EMBU'STE, f. m. a fly lie, a cheat, a position, a falsehood.
EMBUSTE'IRA, f. f. or EMBUSTEL.
EMBUSTEL, f. m. a lying prating person, a cheating gossip; also an hypocrite.
EMBUTIDO, a, adj. See EMBUTIR.
Obra de eributidos, inlaid work.
EMBUTIDO'R, f. m. an inlayer.
EMBUTIR, v. a. to inlay wood or stone.
Embutir, ou Embotar o juizo. See EMBOTAR.
EMENDADA, f. f. amendment, reformation; also correction, punishment.
Emenda, that which is substituted in the place of any thing wrong; also an honourable amend.
EMENDA'DO, a, adj. See EMENDAR.
EMENDADO'R, f. m. a corrector, or amender.
EMENDADO'RA, f. f. she that corrects or amends.
EMENDAR, v. a. to correct, to amend, to improve, to better, to mend, to reform, to help. See also CASTIGAR.
He cousa que não podemos emendar, it is a thing we cannot help.
Emendar, (in phylic) to correct, or to obviate the qualities of one ingredient with another.
Emendar-se, v. r. to amend, to grow better, to be reformed.
EMENDA'VEL, adj. amendable, that may be amended.
EMENTA. See EMMENTA.
Z EMERGENTE,

EMERGE'NTE, adj. emergent, proceeding, or issuing from any thing.

EME'RITO, a, adj. deserving, worthy of esteem.

EMERSA'M, f. f. the act of emerging out of the water.

Emersam, (in astronomy) emerſion, the time when a ſtar, having been obſcured by its too near approach to the ſun, appears again.

EMETICO, a, adj. emetic, emetical, having the quality of provoking vomit.

EMFASI. See EMPHASIS.

EMFATIO'TA. See EMPHYTEUTA.

EMHASTA'DO. See ENHASTADO.

EMINA. See HEMINA.

EMINE'NCIA, f. f. eminency or eminence, a high place; alſo the title given to a cardinal. See alſo EXCELLENCIA, SUPERIORIDADE.

EMINENTE, adj. eminent, lofty, high placed, remarkable. See alſo IMMINENTE.

Eminente, (excellente.) See EXCELLENTE.

EMINENTEME'NTE, adv. eminently, excellently.

EMIR, f. m. emir, a title of dignity or quality among the Saracens and Turks. It answers to our word commander. From amar, Arab. to command.

EMISFERIO. See HEMISPHERIO.

EMITRITEO. See HEMITRITEO.

EMMADEIRA'DO. See MADEIRADO.

EMMADEIRAME'NTO, &c. See MADEIRAMENTO.

EMMADEIXA'DO, a, adj. See

EMMADEIXA'R, v. a. to make ſkeins of thread, ſilk, &c. From madeixa, a ſkein of thread, ſilk, &c.

EMMAGRECE'R, v. a. to make lean, to emaciate.

Emmagrecer-se, v. r. to grow lean.

EMMAGRECI'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMMAGRECER.

EMMANQUECER, v. n. to grow lame.

EMMARANHADO. See EMBARAÇADO.

EMMARANHAR. See EMBARAÇAR.

EMMARAR, v. n. (a ſea term) to go far off from the land.

EMMASCARADO. See MASCARADO.

EMMASCARAR-SE. See MASCARAR-SE.

EMMASSADO, a, adj. See

EMMASSA'R, v. a. to bundle, to tie in a bundle.

EMMASSAR, or AMASSAR as cartas. See AMASSAR.

EMMASTE'A'DO, a, adj. See

EMMASTE'A'R, v. a. to fit a ſhip, or veſſel with maſts.

EMMEDA'DO, a, adj. See

EMMEDA'R, v. a. to pile, or to make up corn, hay, &c. into ricks.

EMMENINECE'R, v. n. to grow a child again; alſo to wax young.

EMMENTA, f. f. a ſort of memorandum-book. (An antiquated word.)

EMMENTES, adv. whiſt.

EMMOLDADO. See MOLDADO.

EMMOLDAR. See MOLDAR.

EMMOSTO'DO, a, adj. wet, or moiſt with muſt.

EMMOUQUECE'R. See ENSURDECER.

EMMOUQUECI'DO. See ENSURDECIDO.

EMMUDECE'R, v. n. to loſe the faculty of ſpeaking; alſo to be ſilent.

EMMUDECE'R, v. a. to ſilence, to ſtill, to oblige to hold peace.

EMMUDECI'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMMUDECE'R.

EMMURCHECE'R. See MURCHAR.

EMOLL'DO, a, adj. See EMOLLIR.

EMOLLIE'NTE, (among phyſicians) emollient, making ſoft.

EMOLLIR, v. a. (among phyſicians.) See MOLLIFICAR, and EMBRANDECER.

EMOLUME'NTO, f. m. emolument, advantage, profit.

Cauſa de que ſe tira emolumento, emolumental, profitable.

EMPA, f. f. the ſtaking, propping, or underſetting of vines.

EMPACHA'DO, a, adj. hindered, obſtructed; alſo ſurſeited. See the v. EMPACHAR.

EMPACHAME'NTO, f. m. ex. Empachamento do eſtomago; ſurfeit, ſickneſs, or ſatiety, cauſed by over-fulneſs; cloyment.

Doente por cauſa de empachamento do eſtomago, crop-ſick.

EMPACHA'R, v. a. to hinder, to obſtruct.

Empachar o eſtomago, to ſurfeit, to feed with meat or drink to ſatiety and ſickneſs, to cram overmuch, to cloy with eating.

O que empacha o eſtomago com comer, &c. a ſurfeit.

Empachar-se, v. r. to be oppreſſed with grief, fear, &c. to deſpond.

EMPA'CHO, f. m. See OBSTACULO, and EMBARAÇO.

Empacho do eſtomago. See EMPACHAMENTO.

Agoa que cura os empachos do eſtomago, ſurfeit-water.

Empacho, (pejo.) See PEJO.

EMPA'DA, f. f. a ſort of pie.

EMPA'DO, a, adj. that is propped, ſtayed, or underſet with ſtakes. See alſo SUSTENTADO, and ARRIMADO. (Metaph.)

EMPALADO, a, adj. See

EMPALAR, v. a. to impale, a kind of puniſhment uſed in Turkey, which conſiſts in driving a ſtake through a man, from the fundament to the head.

EMPALAMA'DO, or EMPALEMADO, a, adj. covered with ſores, or ulcers.

EMPALHEIRA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPALHEIRA'R, v. a. to put the ſtraw into the barn.

EMPALLIDECE'R, v. n. to grow pale.

EMPALLIDECI'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMPALLIDECE'R.

EMPANA'DA, f. f. (a Spaniſh word.) See EMPADA.

Empanada de janella, ſaſh-window, made of linen or paper, to keep the ſun, &c. from the room.

EMPANADI'LHA, f. f. a little pie; diminut. of EMPANADA. (Spaniſh.)

EMPANA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPANA'R, v. a. to make dull, to dull, (ſpeaking of a looking-glaſs, &c.) that is dulled with one's breath. From panno, cloth, becauſe it looks as if a cloth were over it.

EMPANTANA'DO, a, adj. boggy or hogged.

EMPANTUFA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPANTUFAR-SE, v. r. to put on one's pantoffles. From PANTUFO, which ſee.

EMPANTURRA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPANTURRA'R-SE, v. r. to eat one's belly full; alſo to grow proud.

EMPAPA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPAPA'R, v. a. to ſoak, to ſteep. From papa, pap; becauſe ſoaking makes things ſoft.

EMPAPELA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPAPELA'R, v. a. to wrap, to put up in paper. From papel, paper.

EMPA'R, v. a. (in agriculture) ex. Empar a vinha, to ſtay, or to prop a vine.

Cana vara, &c. com que ſe empa a vinha, a vine-prop.

A açam de empar as vinhas, ſtaking, propping, or underſetting of vines.

EMPARAMENTA'DO. See PARAMENTADO.

EMPARAMENTA'R. See PARAMENTAR.

EMPARA'DO. See AMPARADO.

EMPARA'R. See AMPARAR.

EMPAREDA'DO. See

EMPAREDA'R, v. a. to ſhut up betwixt walls. From parede, a wall.

Emparedar-se, v. r. to ſhut one's ſelf up in a room, or betwixt walls.

EMPARELHA'DO, a, adj. abreast, ſide by ſide. See alſo the v.

EMPARELHA'R, v. a. to match, to ſet one thing by another, to make them alike.

From the Latin par, equal.

Emparelhar, v. n. ex. Emparelhar, cu andar emparelhado com alguém no jogo, to go half with one in playing.

Emparelhar com alguém, to match or to be equal to one.

EMPARO. See AMPARO.

EMPARVOECE'R, v. n. to rave, to become light-headed.

EMPARVOECI'DO, a, adj. See the v. EMPARVOECER.

EMPASCOA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tenſ of EMPASCOA'R, v. n. to keep Eaſter.

EMPASTA'DO, a, adj. (in painting) paſted.

EMPA'TA, f. f. (a word uſed in Caſteria) a ſort of conſiſcation, or forfeiture.

EMPATA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPATA'R, v. a. See SUSPENDER.

EMPATARAM os votos, or os votos ficrao empatados, their yeas and noes were equal, (ſpeaking of the votes or opinions concerning a matter in debate.)

EMPATAR as vaſas, is for a player to get as many tricks as the other.

EMPAVEZA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPAVEZA'R, v. a. (a ſea-term) to make ready the ſhip for fight, by putting the nettings on the ſide of a ſhip or galley ſtuffed with beds, or the like, to defend men againſt the ſmall ſhot.

EMPEÇA'DO, a, adj. See EMBARAÇADO, and the v.

EMPEÇA'R, v. a. See EMBICAR.

Empeçar, (começar.) See COMEÇAR.

EMPECE'R, v. a. to hurt.

EMPECT'DO, a, adj. hurted.

EMPECT'LHO, f. m. any lett, or impediment.

EMPEÇONHENTA'DO, a, adj. See

EMPEÇONHENTA'R, v. a. to poiſon. From peçonha, poiſon.

EMPEDERNI'DO, a, adj. See

EMPEDERNIR-SE, v. r. to petrify, to grow ſtony, or hard hearted.

EMPEDIME'NTO. See IMPEDIMENTO.

EMPEDRA'DO, a, adj. See EMPEDRAR, EMPEDRADURA.

- EMPEDRADURA, f. f. a disorder in a horse's hoof.
- EMPEDRAR, v. a. to pave. From pedra, a stone.
- EMPEGA'DO. See EMMARADO.
- EMPEGA'R-SE. See EMMARAR.
- EMPEIORA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPEIORAR, or EMPEYORAR, v. a. to make worse. From peor, worse.
- Empeiorar-se, v. r. to grow worse.
- EMPELLICA'DO, a, adj. ex. Elle nasceu empellicado, he was wrapt up in his mother's smock; he is born to a good fortune.
- Empellicado, (in Asia) violated, injured by irreverence.
- EMPEN'A'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPENAR, v. n. is for a board to bend, or warp.
- EMPENHA'DO, a, adj. (emdividado.) See ENDIVIDADO, and the v. EMPENHAR.
- Empenhado, (hypothecado.) See HYPOTHECADO, and
- EMPENHA'R, v. a. to lay, to gage, to pawn a thing; also to engage, persuade, to draw in, to get, or to make interest with one.
- Empenhar a sua palavra, to engage one's word.
- Empenhar, ou meter empenhos para alcançar algum posto, to put in, sue, canvass, or stand for an office, to seek for preferment, to make an interest for a place, to court it. French, Briguer une charge.
- Empenhar-se, v. r. to engage, to promise to take upon one's self, to pass one's word; also to run in, or into debt.
- Empenhar-se em algum perigo, to run one's self into a danger.
- Empenhar-se por algum, to protect one, to take one under one's protection, to put in for one, in order to get a place or preferment for him.
- Empenhar-se, to have a great desire, or passion.
- Empenhar-se contra alguém, to oppose one, to be against one.
- EMPE'NHO, f. m. a pawning; also engagement, promise, obligation.
- Empenho, undertaking, attempt, enterprize.
- Empenho para alcançar hum posto, a canvassing, an earnest suing, soliciting and making interest for a place, an intrigue to get a dignity.
- Empenho, assiduity, diligence, closeness of application, an earnest endeavour after any thing.
- Com empenho, earnestly, vehemently.
- EMPENHOS. See AMORES.
- EMPENNADO, adj. feathered, &c. See
- EMPENNA'R, v. n. to begin to have feathers, to be fledged.
- Empennar, v. a. to feather, to fit with feathers.
- Empennar huma setta, to put feathers to an arrow, to feather it.
- EMPEORA'DO. See EMPEIORADO.
- EMPEORAR. See EMPEIORAR.
- EMPEPINA'DO, a, adj. -See EMPERTIGADO.
- EMPEQUETA'DO, a, adj. (in heraldry) chequered, or chequer-wise.
- EMPERADO'R, f. m. an emperor.
- EMPERATRIZ, f. f. an empress.
- EMPERRA'DO. See OBSTINA'DO.
- EMPERRAR. See OBSTINAR-SE.
- EMPERTIGA'DO, a, adj. that holds up his head, and thrusts the chin into the neck. It is said of one that takes much state upon him, and moves as if he had a pole in his body. From the Lat. pertica, a pole.
- Andar empertigado, is for a woman to bridle, or thrust the chin into the neck.
- EMPESTA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPESTA'R, v. a. to infect, or corrupt.
- EMPEYORADO. See EMPEIORADO.
- EMPEYORAR. See EMPEIORAR.
- EMPEZA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPEZAR, v. a. to preserve from corruption, or infection.
- EMPHASIS, EMFASI, or EMPHASE, f. m. an emphasis, a strong or vigorous pronunciation of a word; also earnestness, or an express signification of one's intention. Greek.
- EMPHATICAMENTE, adv. emphatically.
- EMPHATICO, a, adj. emphatical, emphatic.
- EMPHYTE'OSIS, f. m. the renting of land upon condition to improve it. Greek.
- EMPHYTEUTA, f. m. he who rents a land upon condition to improve it.
- EMPICILHO. See EMPECILHO.
- EMPIEMA. See EMPYEMA.
- EMPI'GEM, f. f. a ring-worm, a tetter.
- Empigem farinbenta, a morphew.
- Empigem, que começa na barba e se estende por todo o rosto, a foul tetter, or scab on the chin, causing the hair to fall off.
- EMPILHADO, a, adj. See
- EMPILHA'R, v. a. to heap up, to pile.
- EMPINA'DO, raised, lifted up; also craggy, steep, hard, or dangerous to climb, or get up. See the v. EMPINAR.
- Sol empinado, is for the sun to come to the meridian. See MEYO dia.
- EMPINAR, v. n. or Empinar-se, v. r. to prance, to stand, or rise upon his two hind feet, as a horse does. From pinheiro, a pine-tree, which is tall.
- A acção de empinar-se hum cavallo, pont-levis, a pefade.
- Fazer empinar o cavallo, to rear up a horse.
- Empinar, v. a. See LEVANTAR.
- Empinar hum copo, to lift up the glass, to drink the whole glass, to see the bottom of it.
- Empinar hum sino, to raise a bell, so that the mouth is upright.
- EMPIREO. See EMPYREO.
- EMPIRICO, a, adj. empirical, belonging to a quack. Greek.
- Experiencia empirica, empiricy, skill in physic, gotten by mere practice.
- Profissam, ou practica empirica, empiricism, the profession, or practice of a quack, or empiric.
- Empirico, f. m. empiric, a physician by bare practice, a mountebank, or quack.
- EMPISCA'DO, p. of
- EMPISCA'R, v. a. as, empiscar o olho, to wink, or make signs with the eyes. Lat. miclare.
- EMPLA'STICO, a, adj. (in pharmacy) ex. Medicamentos emplasticos, emplastics, or medicines which constipate or shut up the pores of the body.
- EMPLA'STO, EMPRASTO, or EMPLASTRO, f. m. a plaster. Greek.
- Emplasto, ou panno com unguento que se applica na cabeça, &c. a piece of cloth covered with salve, a plaster laid to the head, &c.
- EMPLUMA'DO, or EMPRUMADO, a, adj. feathered, adorned with feathers.
- EMPOA'DO, a, adj. full of dust, dusted, dusty. See
- EMPOA'R, v. a. to dust, to cast dust upon.
- EMPOBRECE'R, v. n. to grow poor.
- Empobrecer, v. a. to beggar, to impoverish, or make poor.
- EMPOBRECIDO, a, adj. See EMPOBRECE'R.
- EMPOÇA'DO, a, adj. ex. Estar empoçado em lama, to stick in the mire.
- EMPO'FIA, f. f. (a word used in Cafreria.) See TRAPAÇA, and DEMANDA.
- EMPO'FO, or EMPOPPO, f. m. a sort of beast in Cafreria like a horse.
- EMPO'LA, f. f. a bubble of water when it rains, or the pot boils.
- Forma empolas, to bubble. (Speaking of water and other liquids.)
- Empola, blister, or rising of the skin.
- Empola, (in India) See POMAR.
- EMPOLA'DO, a, adj. swollen; puffed up, that has blisters, or risings in the skin.
- Estyle empolado, a high-flown style, a high strain, bombast. See also
- EMPOLA'R, v. n. to bubble. See also ENRIQUECER.
- Empolar-se, v. r. to swell, to rage and storm, as the sea does.
- EMPOLEIRA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPOLEIRA'R-SE, v. r. to perch, to sit or roost upon a perch, stick, or twig of a tree, as birds do. From poleiro, a hen-roost.
- EMPOLGADE'IRA, f. f. the notch in the horn or end of the bow.
- EMPOLGA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPOLGA'R, v. a. See AFERRAR and ATRACAR.
- EMPOLVARIZA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPOLVARIZA'R-SE, v. r. to grow dusty, to cover one's self with dust.
- EMPOPPO. See EMPOFO.
- EMPORE'TICO, a, adj. emporitic, or emporitical, of, or pertaining to markets, fairs, or merchandize. Carta emporetica, the paper used by merchants to wrap up stuffs, &c.
- EMPO'RIO, f. m. emporium, a market-town.
- EMPOSSADO. See APODERADO.
- EMPOSSAR-SE. See APODERAR-SE.
- EMPO'STA, f. f. that part of a pillar in vaults, and arches, on which the weight of the whole building lies; also any thing that is interposed, or put between two others.
- Emposta de terra, a hill, a rising ground.
- EMPOTRA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPOTRA'R, v. n. (among farriers) to grow hard.
- EMPRASTA'DO, a, adj. See
- EMPRASTA'R, v. a. to lay a plaster to a sore, &c.
- EMPRAZA'DO, a, adj. See EMPRAZAR.
- EMPRAZAME'NTO, f. m. a summons, or warning to appear before the judges on an appointed day.
- EMPRAZA'R, v. a. to summon, to appear, to cite.
- Emprazar, or fazer hum prazo. See PRAZO.
- Emprazar a caça. See BATER mato.
- EMPREGA'DO, a, adj. employed. See also the v. EMPREGAR.
- Bem empregado, well done, he deserved it.
- EMPREGA'R, v. a. to employ, to bestow, to use, or make use of; also to lay out, to spend. See also CASAR.

Empregar a vista, em alguma coisa, to fix one's eyes upon a thing.
Empregar o tempo, to spend one's time.
Empregar mal, to misuse, to make an ill use of.
Empregar bem, to make a right use of.
Empregar em alguém a furia, to vent one's fury upon one.
Empregar dinheiro, to lay out money.
Empregar bem hum tiro, dardo, &c. to take one's aim well.
Empregar o tempo no estudo, to bestow one's time upon books.
Empregar-se, v. r. to apply one's self, to bestow one's self. See also OCCUPARSE, and APPLICAR-SE.
EMPREGO, f. m. a purchase.
Fazer hum emprego, to purchase.
Emprego amoroso. See AMORES.
Fazer emprego, to hit, or strike the aim.
Fazer emprego na fama, to get renown and reputation.
Emprego, the act of taking one's aim well, or hitting the aim.
Emprego. See OCCUPAÇÃO, OFFICIO, CARGO.
EMPREITA, f. f. (among mat-makers) a long strip made of esparto. See ESPARTO.
Empreita de pão. See CHINCHO.
EMPREITADA, f. f. the act of undertaking a work, job work.
Tomar de empreitada, to undertake a work, job work; also to haunt, to frequent, to be much about any place or person. (Metaph.)
Dar de empreitada, to set out a thing as a job.
EMPREITEIRO, f. m. an undertaker of work by the job.
EMPRENDER, v. a. to undertake, to enterprize, to attempt.
Emprender huma praça, to besiege, to lay siege to a town, or fortrefs.
EMPRENDIDO, a, adj. See EMPRENDER.
EMPRENHAÇÃO, (in chemistry) impregnation.
EMPRENHA'DO, a, adj. See
EMPRENHA'R, v. a. to get with child, to impregnate.
Empreñar, (fallando dos animaes) to fill with young.
Empreñar, v. n. to be got with child, to conceive.
Empreñar, (in chemistry) to impregnate, or imbibe.
EMPRENHIDA'M, f. f. impregnation; also the state of being with child.
EMPRESA. See IMPRESA.
EMPRESA'DO. See IMPRENSADO.
EMPRESA, or EMPREZA, f. f. an enterprize, an undertaking; also an emblem, a device.
Tomar por empreza alguma coisa, to undertake a thing.
EMPRESTADO, a, adj. lent.
Tomar emprestado, to borrow.
EMPRESTAR, v. a. to lend.
P. quem empresta, não cobra, e se cobra, não todo, se todo não tal, e se tal, inimigo mortal, he that lends is not paid, if paid not all; if all, he gets a mortal enemy, meaning of him he lent to.
EMPRESTIMO, the act of lending or borrowing.
Estar em alguma parte por emprestimo, to be in a place for a little while.

EMPRESA. See EMPRESA.
EMPRIDO, a, adj. See
EMPRIR, v. a. (an antiquated word.) See ENCHER.
EMPROA'DO, a, adj. See
EMPROAR, (a sea term) to steer right forward; to turn the prow strait to another ship, or place.
EMPROVISO. See IMPROVISO.
EMPRUMA'DO. See EMPLUMADO.
EMPULGUEIRA. See EMPOLGADEIRA.
EMPULHA'DO, a, adj. See
EMPULHAR, v. a. to rally, jeer, or banter.
EMPUNHA'DO, a, adj. See EMPUNHAR.
EMPUNHADURA, f. f. a hilt, a haft, or handle.
EMPUNHAR, v. a. to grasp in a fist. From punho, the fist.
Empunhar a espada, to lay hold of the sword, as ready to draw it.
EMPURRAÇÃO, f. f. trouble, importunity.
EMPURRA'DO, a, adj. See EMPURRAR.
EMPURRAM, f. m. a thrusting, pushing, or driving out.
EMPURRAR, v. a. to thrust, to push; also to thrust upon one, whether he will or no.
Empurrar para diante, to thrust forward.
Empurrar para fora, to put away; thrust, or drive out.
EMPUXA'DO, a, adj. See EMPURRAR.
EMPUXAM. See EMPURRAM.
EMPUXAR. See EMPURRAR.
EMPIEMA, f. m. empyema, or a collection of purulent matter in the cavity of the thorax.
EMPIEMÁTICO, f. m. one that is afflicted with an empyema.
EMPIREO, f. m. the empyrean, the highest heaven in which is the throne of God, the residence of angels, and glorified spirits.
Cousa do empyreo, empyreal, or empyrean.
EMSOÇO. See ENSOSSO.
EMULAÇÃO, f. f. emulation, envy, vying with another.
EMULA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
EMULAR, v. a. to emulate, or to rival.
EMULGENTE, adj. (in anatomy) emulgent.
EMULO, a, adj. emulous, rivalling, vying with.
Emulo, f. m. a competitor, a rival, an emulator, one that vies with another; also an imitator.
EMULSAM, f. f. (among physicians) an emulsion, a physical drink made of the kernels of some seeds infused in a convenient liquor.
EMUNCTORIOS, or EMUNTORIOS, (among surgeons) emunctories.
ENAGENAÇÃO, f. f. See ALIENAÇÃO and DELÍRIO. From the Spanish Enagenacion; alienation.
ENALLAGE, f. f. (in grammar) enallage.
ENAMORA'DO. See NAMORADO.
ENAMORAR-SE; &c. See NAMORAR-SE, &c.
ENAM. See ANAM.
ENARMO'NICO, a, adj. (in music) enharmonical, or enharmonic, the last of the three sorts of music.

ENASTADO. See ENHASTADO.
ENCABEÇA'DO, a, adj. See ENCABEÇAR.
ENCABEÇAMENTO, f. m. a registering, or recording.
ENCABEÇAR, v. a. See REGISTRAR and MATRICULAR.
Encabeçar hum morgado, is for a man that has several properties to constitute one by entail. See MORGADO.
Encabeçar hum morgado em alguém, to give the title and privilege of morgado to one. See MORGADO.
Encabeçar botas, to make the feet for a pair of boots.
ENCABELLA'DO, a, adj. (a vulgar word) ex. Mal encabellado, that has an ill temper.
ENCABRESTA'DO, a, adj. See ENCABRESTAR.
ENCABRESTADURA, f. f. (among farriers) a cut, or cutting.
ENCABRESTAR, v. a. to halter a beast. From cabresto, a halter.
ENCADEA'DO, a, adj. linked, chained; also coherent, connected, joined in a just series of thought or regular construction of language. See ENCADEAR.
Encadeado, f. m. ex. Encadeado de hum discurso, the coherence, or texture of a discourse.
ENCADEAMENTO, f. m. See ENCADEADO.
ENCADEAR, v. a. to chain, to link. From cadea, a chain.
Encadear, to connect, to join in a just series of thought, to connect the several parts of an ingenious composition, to make them hang together, so that one part follows another regularly and naturally; or in such a manner that one part does not contradict or destroy the other.
Balas encadeadas, chain-shot.
Encadear hum discurso, to connect the parts of a discourse, to make them coherent.
ENCADEIRADO. See ENTRONIZADO.
ENCADEIRAR. See ENTRONIZAR.
ENCADERNAÇÃO, f. f. a binding of books.
ENCADERNA'DO, a, adj. See ENCADERNAR.
ENCADERNADO'R, f. m. a book-binder.
ENCADERNAR, v. a. to bind up books.
ENCAFURNA'DO, a, adj. shut up in a case or den.
ENCAIXADO. See ENCAIXADO.
ENCAIXAR, &c. See ENCAIXAR, &c.
ENCALAMOUÇA'DO. See ENGANO, and INTRODUIZIDO.
ENCALAMOUÇAR. See ENGANAR, and INTRODUIZIR.
ENCALDEIRA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCALDEIRAR, v. a. (in agriculture) to dig the ground round the trees that the water that falls in, may go to the roots of them.
ENCALHA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCALHAR, v. n. to stick, to cleave to, to be at a stand.
Encalhar, to run a-ground.
Encalhar, v. a. to run a ship a-ground, to strand a ship.
ENCA'LHO, f. m. the place where a ship runs a-ground.
ENCALMADICO, a, adj. See
ENCALMA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCALMAR, v. n. to be in a great heat, to grow very hot.
ENCAMERADO.

ENCAMARA'DO. See PEDREIRO.
ENCAMBULHA'DO, a, adj. (a vulgar word) entangled.
ENCAME, f. m. the lair, or couch of a boar.
ENCAMERADO, a, adj. (speaking of guns) that has a small breech.
ENCAMICADO. See ENCAMISADO.
ENCAMICAR. See ENCAMISAR.
ENCAMINHA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCAMINHAR, v. a. to direct, to put in to the way.
Encaminhar hum negocio, to set a business forward.
Encaminhar-se, v. r. See DIRIGIR-SE.
ENCAMISADA, f. f. (a military word) camifade, a setting upon, or surprizing an enemy by night, or an attack made by soldiers with their shirts over their apparel and arms. From camisa, a shirt.
ENCAMISADO, a, adj. covered with a shirt, or some other thing like it; also hooded. (Speaking of a hawk.)
ENCAMPAÇA'M, f. f. the act of making void an agreement, or lease.
ENCAMPADO, a, adj. See ENCAMPAR.
ENCAMPANA'DO, a, adj. (in gunnery) made like a bell.
ENCAMPAR, v. a. to rescind, to make void an agreement, or lease. See also ENCANAR.
ENCANA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCANAR, v. n. ex. Encanar o trigo, is for the stalk of corn to grow up. From cana do trigo, a stalk of corn.
Encanar huma columna, to channel, to flute a column.
Encanar aguas, to make a conduit, or pipe for conveyance of waters that overflow a country, to convey or conduct water by a canal.
ENCANASTRA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCANASTRAR, v. a. to put into a large basket. From canastra, which see.
ENCANCERA'DO, a, adj. See CANCEROSO.
ENCANDEA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCANDEAR, v. a. to dazzle the eyes.
Encanear-se, v. r. to be dazzled, to wax blind.
ENCANDILA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCANDILAR-SE, v. r. to candy, to crust, as sugar-candy.
ENCANECE'R, v. n. to grow grey-headed. From cãs, grey hairs.
ENCANECT'DO, p. of the preterperfect tense of ENCANECE'R, which see.
Encanecido, worn out, decayed. (Metaph.)
ENCANGALHA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCANGALHAR-SE, v. r. to be tied. (Speaking of a dog after having lined a bitch.)
ENCANGADO. See CANGADO.
ENCANGAR. See CANGAR.
ENCANHAS, (in cant) the stockings.
ENCANHO. See EMBARAÇO.
ENCANIÇA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCANIÇAR, v. a. to hem in with canes or reeds.
ENCANTA'DO, a, adj. enchanted.
Casa encantada, a house where all the people keep close, and things are kept private, as if they were enchanted.
Palacio encantado, a palace haunted with spirits.
Humm encantado, a man that lives retired from the world, who converses with no body.

ENCANTADO'R, f. m. an enchanter.
ENCANTADO'RA, f. f. an enchantress, witch, or forcerefs.
ENCANTAME'NTO, f. m. enchantment.
Desfazer, ou quebrar hum encantamento. See DESENCANTAR.
ENCANTAR, v. a. to enchant, to charm, or bewitch; also to delight, to ravish, or transport with pleasure; also to soothe up.
ENCANTEIRA'R, v. a. to put barrels or pipes of wine, &c. upon the horses or stands.
ENCANTINA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCANTINAR, v. a. to cast an ivory ball in at a window without throwing it into the hazard. (At billiards.)
ENCANTO, f. m. See ENCANTAMEN-TO.
Encanto, wonder, admiration, surprize; also a perfect beauty.
ENCANTOA'DO, a, adj. thrust into a corner, forsaken, solitary, obscure. See ENCANTOA'R-SE, to keep one's self up close, to live private. See ACANTOA'R-SE.
ENCANUTA'DO, a, adj. (among farriers) like a reed or pipe, in the form of a canudo. See CANUDO.
ENCAPELLA'DO, a, adj. swollen (Speaking of the sea.)
Encapellado, (amontado) See AMONTOA-DO. See also ENCAPELLAR, v. n. or ENCAPELLAR-SE, v. r. to swell. (Speaking of the sea.)
Encapear, v. a. as encapear o mar, to swell the sea.
Encapear, (a sea term) to rig a ship.
ENCAPOTADO, p. of the preterperfect tense of ENCAPOTA'R-SE, v. r. (in horsemanship) is for a horse to bore.
ENCAPRICHA'R, ou fazer capricho de alguma coisa. See CAPRICHIO.
ENCARA'DO, a, adj. ex. Homem bem encarrado, a man that has a good countenance.
Homem mal encarado, a man that has an ill face. From cara, a face. See also ENCARAR.
ENCARAMELA'DO. See REGELADO.
ENCARAMONA'DO, (a jocose word) See MELANCOLICO, and TRISTONHO.
ENCARAPINHA'DO forvete, a sort of forvete. See SORVETE.
ENCARAPITA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCARAPITA'R-SE, v. r. to perch on the top of a tree, rock, &c.
ENCARA'R, v. n. to look to one's face.
Encarar, v. a. ex. Encarar a espingarda, to present a gun, to take aim. From cara, the face.
ENCARSIA. See ENXARCIA.
ENCARCERA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCARCERAR, v. a. to imprison, to incarcerate, to confine. From carcere, a prison.
ENCARECEDO'R, f. m. one that exaggerates, and magnifies above measure.
ENCARECE'R, v. a. to exaggerate, to amplify, to enlarge in words.
Encarecer, v. n. to rise, to grow dearer.
ENCARECIDAMENTE, adv. earnestly, pressingly.
ENCARECIDO, a, adj. See the v. ENCARECER.
Encarecido, f. m. See ENCARECEDOR.
ENCARECIMENTO, f. m. exaggeration,

Com encarecimento. See ENCARECIDAMENTE.
ENCARETA'DO. See MASCARADO.
ENCARGO, f. m. charge, care, duty, office.
ENCARNAÇA'M, f. m. the incarnation of our Saviour.
Encarnaçam, (in painting) flesh-colour.
ENCARNA'DO, a, adj. that has the colour of a rose, rosy. See also ENCARNA'R, v. n. to take flesh, or assume the human nature. (Speaking of our Saviour.)
Encarnar, (in surgery) is for a wound to grow up, and fill with new flesh as it heals.
Encarnar, (among hunters) to give carnage, fees, or reward to the hounds.
Encarnar, (speaking of a brood-hen) to turn the eggs into blood.
ENCARNAS. See ENGASTE.
ENCARNE, f. m. carnage, the fees, or reward given to the dogs.
ENCARNATIVO, a, adj. (in surgery) that causes the flesh to grow.
ENCARNIÇA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCARNIÇAR-SE, v. r. to grow cruel, relentless, or unmerciful, to be blooded like a dog.
Encarniçar-se no combate, to fight desperately.
Encarniçar, v. a. ex. Encarniçar os olhos, to look sternly, or crabbedly.
ENCARQUILHA'DO, a, adj. (a vulgar word) wrinkled, crumpled.
ENCARREGA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCARREGAR, v. a. to charge one with a thing, to trust him with it.
Encarregar-se, v. r. to take the care of a thing upon one's self.
ENCARREGO. See ENCARGO.
ENCARSEA. See ENXARCIA.
ENCARTA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCARTAR, v. a. to proclaim an outlaw, to post. From carta, or cartaz, the proclamation or paper put up.
A açam de encartar, a proscription, or outlawry.
Encartar-se, v. r. ex. Encartar-se em hum officio, to take a royal charter, or a prince's letters, in order to exercise an office.
ENCARVOA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCARVOAR, v. a. to blacken with coal.
ENCASA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCASAR, v. a. (among farriers) to set a bone that has been dislocated.
ENCASQUETA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCASQUETAR-SE, v. r. (a vulgar word) to fancy, to think, or imagine. to put, or beat a thing into one's own mind.
ENCASQUILHADO, ENCASQUILHAR. See ENCASTOADO, ENCASTOAR.
ENCASTELLADO, a, adj. hoof-bound, incastelled, or narrow-heeled. See also ENCASTELLAR-SE.
ENCASTELLAME'NTO, f. m. (among farriers) the being hoof-bound, incastelled, or narrow-heeled.
ENCASTELLA'R-SE, to make one's self strong, to get into a castle. From castello, a castle.
Encastellar-se, v. r. (among farriers) to become hoof-bound, or narrow-heeled.
ENCASTOA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCASTOAR, v. a. to inchace, to set in, or put in the bezel.
ENCATARROA'DO, a, adj. heavy-headed, full of rheum in the head.
ENCAVALGA'DO. See CAVALGADO.
ENCAVALGAR.

ENCAVALGAR. See CAVALGAR.
ENCAVA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCAVAR, v. a. to haft, or set a haft on, to helve.
Encavar hum machado, to helve an ax.
ENCAXA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCAXAR, or ENCAIXAR, v. a. to chest, to put in a box, or in a chest; also to set a bone that has been dislocated.
Encaxar, to thrust in, to foil in.
Encaxar alguma coisa na cabeça a alguém, to beat a thing into a man's mind.
Encaxar a barba, to lay hold of the beard.
Encaxar huma madeira na outra, to mortise or mortoise, to fasten one piece of timber into another, or fix the tenon of one piece of wood into a hole or mortise of another.
ENCA'XE. See ENCAXO.
ENCAXILHA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCAXILHA'R, v. a. to put a frame about a picture, looking-glass, &c.
ENCA'XO, f. m. a knuckle, a joint of any thing closed and opened, as of the bones, a table, &c. Lat. commissura.
Encaxo, mortise, a hole made in one piece of wood to receive the tenon of another piece, and thereby form a joint.
Encáxo, (among the wild people of the Brasil) a leaf, or branch they cover their privy parts with.
ENCEIRA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCEIRA'R, v. a. to put a thing into a basket. From ceira, a basket.
ENCELEIRA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCELEIRA'R, v. a. to lay up. From cel-liro, a granary, a barn.
Enceleirar o trigo, to lay up the corn.
ENCELLA'DO, a, adj. shut up in a cell. From CELLA, which see.
ENCENDE'R. See ACENDER.
ENCENDI'DO. See ACENDIDO, and VERMELHO.
ENCENDIMENTO. See INCENDIO.
ENCE'NIAS, f. f. p. a feast among the Jews, called the feast of the Dedication of the Temple; also yearly festivals anciently kept on the days whereon cities were built. Among Christians it signifies the consecration, or wake day of churches.
Encania, Greek.
ENCENÇA'DO. See INCENSADO.
ENCENSA'R, &c. See INCENSAR, &c.
ENCENSA'RIO, or ENCENSORIO. See INCENSORIO.
ENCERADO, a, adj. waxed, covered with wax.
Encerado, f. m. a sear-cloth, or an oil-cloth.
Encerado das janellas, a piece of sear-cloth which they use to put in fish-windows instead of the panes or squares of glass.
ENCERADO, a, adj. See
ENCERA'R, v. a. to wax any thing. From cera, wax.
Encerar as extremidades de hum pano ou estofa com hum pavio ou vela, to sear with a wax-candle, (among taylor's)
ENCERRA'DO, a, adj. See ENCERRAR.
ENCERRAME'NTO. See CLAUSURA.
ENCERRA'R, v. a. to shut, or lock up. See also COMPREHENDER.
Encerrar-se, v. r. See FECHAR-SE.
ENCERTA'DO, or ENSERTADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ENCERTA'R, or ENSERTA'R, v. n. is for a hen to begin to lay eggs.
Encertar-se, v. r. to begin, to enter upon.
ENCETADO, a, adj. See ENCETAR.
ENCETADU'RA, f. f. the first cut, tasting, broaching, &c. according to the v.

ENCETA'R, v. a. to cut, or make the first cut, to taste, to broach, to begin to eat or drink of a thing, to tap a vessel, &c.
Encetar, to try, essay, to experiment. (Metaph.)
Encetar-se, v. r. See ENCERTAR-SE.
ENCHACOTADO, a, adj. See
ENCHACOTA'R, v. a. (among potters) to kiln-dry those earthen vessels which are to be glazed.
ENCHAPINA'DO. See ENCASTELLADO.
ENCHARCA'DO, a, adj. See the v. ENCHARGAR-SE.
Agua encharcada, standing water.
ENCHARCA'R-SE, v. r. to throw one's self into a puddle of standing water. From CHARCO, which see.
ENCHEMA'M, ex. Homem de encemam, a man of great repute and credit, (a vulgar expression.)
ENCHENTE, f. f. overflowing.
Enchente da graça divina de nosso Salvador, the overflowing grace of our crucified Saviour.
Enchente, p. a. ex. Maré enchente. See MARÉ.
ENCHE'R, v. a. to fill; also to fulfill.
Encher a alguém as medidas, to satisfy, or content one to the full.
Enche a maré, the tide goes up.
ENCHEMENTO, f. m. shear-wool, hair, flocks, &c. used in stuffing of bed-ticks, cushions, &c.
Enchimento, (empachamento.) See EMPA-CHAMENTO.
ENCHIRIDION, f. m. an enchiridion, a small portable book. Greek.
ENCHORIÇA'R-SE, v. r. (a ludicrous word) to grow proud, to be blown or puffed up.
ENCENTA'DO. See CINGIDO.
ENCLAUSTRA'DO, a, adj. cloistered, shut up in a monastery.
ENCLAUSTRA'R-SE, v. r. to retire, or go to a cloister, or religious house.
ENCLITICAS, (in grammar) enclitics, certain particles joined to the end of a word; as, que, ne, ve.
ENCOBERTADO. See ACOBERTADO.
ENCOBERTAR. See ACOBERTAR.
ENCOBERTO. See ENCUBERTO.
ENCOBRIDOR, &c. See ENCUBRIDOR, &c.
ENCODEA'DO, a, adj. See ENCODEAR.
ENCODEAME'NTO, f. m. a crusting, or making crusty.
ENCODEA'R, v. a. to crust.
O pão começa a encodear, the bread begins to crust.
Encodear, v. a. to set a crust upon.
ENCOIMA'DO. See ACOIMADO.
ENCOIMAR. See ACOIMAR.
ENCOLA'DO, a, adj. See
ENCOLA'R, v. a. (among painters) to cover, or draw over with glue.
ENCOLERIZADO. See AGASTADO.
ENCOLERIZAR-SE. See AGASTAR-SE.
ENCOLHE'R, v. a. to shrink, to draw together.
Encolher os hombros, to shrug up one's shoulders.
Encolher-se, v. r. to shrink up, to curl, to roll up, to rivel, shrivel; also to be bashful, or modest. (metaph.)
Encolher-se, to gather one's self.

ENCOLHI'DO, a, adj. See ENCOLHER.
Encolhido, (timido.) See TIMIDO.
Encolhido, (modesto.) See MODESTO.
ENCOLHIME'NTO, f. m. shrinking, drawing together; also bashfulness. (Metaph.)
ENCO'MIO, f. m. an encomium, a commendation. Greek.
ENCOMEN'DA, f. f. a thing recommended to one's care, in order to carry it to some place.
Fazenda de encomenda, goods bespoken.
ENCOMMENDA'DO, a, adj. recommended, &c. See
ENCOMMENDA'R, v. a. to recommend; also to bespeak, or to give order for something beforehand.
Encomendar, to trust, to put one in trust with, to commit to one's care, or favour.
Encomendar na fê de alguém hum segredo, to trust one with a secret.
Encomendar à memoria, to commit to one's memory.
Encomendar alguém a Deos, to pray for one at church.
Encomendar. See LOUVAR, and CELEBRAR.
O que encomenda alguma fazenda, ou outra coisa que se ha de fazer, a bespeaker.
Encomendar-se, v. r. to trust, to rely or depend upon.
Encomendou-se a Deos e immediatamente morreu, he recommended himself to God, and died presently after.
ENCONTRADIÇÃO, a, adj. ex. Fazer-se encontradiço com alguém, to go to meet one on purpose, and designedly.
ENCONTRA'DO, a, adj. (opposto.) See OPPOSTO. See also the v. ENCONTRAR.
ENCONTRA'M, f. m. a shove or push; the act of rushing against one with the whole body, in order to throw him down.
ENCONTRA'R, v. a. to meet, to meet with, to encounter, to meet by accident.
Nos encontramos duas naos de guerra, we met, or fell in with two men of war.
Encontrar, to oppose, to be against.
Encontrar, (offender.) See OFFENDER.
Encontrar a esperança de alguém, to answer one's expectation.
Encontrar a vontade de alguém, to will, or to bend our souls to the doing of that which another is pleased with.
Encontrar-se, v. r. to meet, or meet with.
Encontrar-se nos pensamentos, to jump, to agree, to join.
Sabir a encontrar-se com alguém, to go to meet one.
Encontrar-se com as lanças, it is for two horsemen to run at one another, and tilt with their lances.
Encontrar-se, to rencounter, to meet an enemy unexpectedly.
Encontrar-se, (contrariar-se.) See CONTRARIAR-SE.
Encontrar-se nas opiniões, to differ in opinions.
ENCO'NTRO, f. m. a meeting, or running to. See also ENCONTRAM.
Sabir a o encontro a alguém, to go to meet one.
Encontro. See ACASO.
Encontro, (contrariedade.) See CONTRARIEDADE.
Encontro, an encounter, meeting with the lances.

- Encontro*, a rencounter, a loose or casual engagement.
- ENCOR'DIO, f. m. a swelling in the groin, a bubo; so called, quasi in chordis, because of the many sinews there.
- ENCORDO'ADO, a, adj. stretched. See also
- ENCORDO'AR, v. a. to string a musical instrument. From corda, a string.
- Encordear a lança*, is for one that runs at the ring to strike with the lance the rope instead of the ring.
- Ter o pescoço encordado*, to have a creak in the neck.
- ENCORNELH'ADO. See INJURIADO, and INFAMADO.
- ENCOROÇ'ADO, a, adj. ex. Beneficio encoroçado, cu em coroa, a benefice annexed to a bishopric. (Obsol.) From coroçia, which in old records signifies the pastoral staff.
- ENCORP'ADO, a, adj. that has body or thickness.
- Este papel não é bem encorpado*, this paper has not body enough. See also
- ENCORP'AR, v. n. to fatten, to grow fat.
- ENCORPORAÇ'AM, f. f. an adoption, union, association, incorporation.
- ENCORPOR'ADO, a, adj. See ENCORPORAR.
- ENCORPORAME'NTO, f. m. incorporation, or union of divers ingredients in one mass.
- ENCORPOR'AR, or INCORPORAR, v. a. to incorporate, to mingle different ingredients so as they shall make one mass; also to incorporate, to unite, to associate.
- Encorpar na coroa*, to unite to the king's demesnes.
- Encorpar huma terra ou provincia a outra*, to annex, to unite a land or province to another.
- Encorpar-se*, v. r. to incorporate, to unite into one mass.
- ENCORRE'ADO, a, adj. See ENCORREAR.
- ENCORREADU'RA, f. f. ex. Encorreadura da espora. See ESPORA.
- ENCORRE'AR, v. n. to wrinkle, to grow wrinkled.
- ENCORRE'AR, v. n. to incur, to fall under, to draw upon one's self.
- ENCORRI'ADO, a, adj. See ENCORRER.
- ENCORRILH'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCORRILH'AR, v. a. to involve, to involve, or cover with a rind or bark. According to Bluteau it signifies to involve, or draw one into a conventicle. From correio, a knot of people, a company standing in a row, to talk.
- ENCORTIÇ'ADO, a, adj. that is rough and hard like a bark, or cork.
- ENCOSP'AS, f. f. p. a boot-tree, or boot-last.
- Mettar alguem nos encostas*, to silence, or to put one to a nonplus.
- ENCOST'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCOST'AR, v. a. to lay any thing against another, in order to support it.
- Encostar o mestre de campo a gineta*. See RENUNCIAR, and DAR baixa.
- Encostar-se*, v. r. to lean, to rest.
- Encostar-se no cotovelo*, to lean upon the elbow.
- Encostar-se a huma arvore*, to lean against a tree.
- A escada está encostada à muralha*, the ladder rests against the wall.
- ENCOSTAR-se a alguem, to rely, to depend upon a man's protection.
- Encostar-se a huma opiniam*, to embrace, or favour an opinion.
- Encostar-se*, to go to bed.
- ENCOSTO, f. m. a prop, a stay, any thing that holds up another, or that serves to lean upon.
- Encosto de cadeira ou banco*, the back of a chair, or form.
- ENCOV'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCOV'AR, v. a. to shut up in a cave or den. From cova, a cave.
- Olhos encovados*, eyes that are sunk in the head.
- ENCOUR'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCOUR'AR, v. a. to cover with leather.
- Encourar*, v. n. to crust, to gather or contract a crust.
- ENCO'UTO, f. m. a pecuniary mulct.
- ENCOTMA'AR. See ACOIMAR.
- ENCRAV'ÇA'M, f. f. a romance, a feigned story, or false report. See also ENCRAVADURA.
- ENCRAV'ADO, a, adj. accloyed, (speaking of a horse.)
- Encravado*, cheated, or imposed upon.
- Encravado (culpado)*. See CULPADO.
- Encravado (fixo)*. See FIXO, and the v. ENCRAVAR.
- ENCRAVADU'RA, f. f. a retract, or retract; a prick in a horse's foot, or the like.
- ENCRAV'AR, v. a. ex. Encravar hum cavallo quando se ferra, to prick or nail a horse in the shoeing.
- Encravar huma peça de artilharia*, to nail up a piece of ordnance.
- Encravar*, to cheat, or impose upon, (metaph.)
- Encravar-se*, v. r. to be accloyed. (speaking of a horse.)
- Encravar-se*, to condemn one's self out of his own mouth.
- Encravar-se no lodo*, to stick in the mud.
- ENCRE'NQUE, f. m. (a jocose word) unbeliever.
- ENCRES'PADO, a, adj. See
- ENCRES'PAR, v. a. to curl, to crisp, to frizzle; also to plait, or make plaits.
- Encrespar o cabelo*, to frizzle the hair.
- O que encrespa*, a frizzler.
- A acção de encrespar*, frizzling.
- Encrespar-se*, v. r. ex. Encrespar-se com alguem, to rise up against one, to make head against him.
- Encrespar-se com soberba*. See ENSOBERBECER-SE.
- Encrespar-se (irar-se)*. See IRAR-SE.
- Encrespar-se o mar*. See EMPOLAR-SE.
- Encrespar-se a gallinha*, is for a hen to raise up her feathers.
- ENCRUA'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCRUA'AR, or INCRUAR, v. a. to exacerbate, to exasperate, to heighten any malignant quality, (in physic.)
- Encruar (irritar)*, to exacerbate, to exasperate, to provoke, to anger, to incense, to vex.
- Encruar-se*, v. r. See
- ENCRUECE'AR-SE, v. r. not to be able to digest the food, to want digestion; also to be indigestible, or not conquerable in the stomach.
- ENCRUECIDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ENCRUECER-SE.
- ENCRUELECE'AR-SE, v. r. to grow cruel, to rage.
- ENCRUELEC'ADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ENCRUELECER-SE.
- ENCRUZ'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCRUZ'AR, v. a. ex. Encruzar as pernas, to fit cross-legged.
- Que tem as pernas encruzadas*, cross-legged.
- ENCRUZILHA'DA, f. f. a cross-way.
- ENCUB'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCUB'AR, v. a. to put into a butt, vat, tun, or pipe.
- ENCUBERTA'ADO, f. m. a beast in the Brasils and West Indies, covered all over with shells or scales like armour. The natives of the Brasils call him tatu, the Indians tate, and the Spaniards armadillo.
- ENCUBERTA'ADO. See ACUBERTA'ADO.
- ENCUBERTA'AR. See ACUBERTA'AR.
- ENCUBERTAME'NTE, adv. secretly.
- ENCUBERTO, a, adj. concealed, &c. See the v. ENCUBRIR.
- Encuberto*, f. m. a beast in the Brasils, &c. See ENCUBERTA'ADO.
- ENCUBRIDO'AR, f. m. ENCUBRIDO'RA, f. f. a receiver, or concealer of stolen things, one that harbours, lodges, and conceals thieves.
- ENCUBRIR, or ENCOBRIR, v. a. to conceal, to hide, to keep secret.
- Encubrir furtos*, to conceal, or receive stolen things.
- Encubrir hum ladrao*, to conceal or harbour a thief.
- A acção de encubrir ladraens, ou furtos*, concealment, or concealing.
- Encubrir (dissimular)*. See DISSIMULAR.
- Encubrir hum segredo*, to conceal a secret.
- Perque me quereis vos encubrir isso?* why will you conceal it from me?
- ENCUL'CA. See INCULCA.
- ENCULC'ADO, &c. See INCULCADO, &c.
- ENCUMAGRA'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENCUMAGRA'AR, v. a. to curry, or dress leather with the leaves of sumach. From sumagre, sumach.
- ENCURRALADO, a, adj. See
- ENCURRALA'AR, v. a. to stable, to house cattle in a stable. From curral. See CURRAL and CORTE.
- Encurrallar*, to confine, to restrain within certain limits. (Metaph.)
- ENCURTA'ADO, a, adj. See ENCURTAR.
- ENCURTAME'NTO, f. m. a retrenching, lessening, diminishing, or abridging, retrenchment.
- ENCURTA'AR, v. a. to retrench, lessen, or diminish, to shorten, to make shorter. See also ABREVIAR.
- ENCURVA'ADO, a, adj. See ENCURVAR.
- ENCURVADU'RA, f. f. bowing, bending, incurvation.
- ENCURVA'AR, v. a. to crook, bow, or bend.
- Encurvar-se*, v. r. to grow crooked, to bow, to bend, to sink.
- Encurvar-se de laxo da carga, ou peso*, to bend, sink, or shrink under a burden.
- ENCYCLOPEDIA, f. f. encyclopedy, the whole circle or compass of learning, which comprehends all the liberal arts and sciences.
- ENDECAGONO, f. m. (in geometry) endecagon, a plain figure of eleven sides and angles. Greek.
- ENDECHA'ADO, a, adj. See
- ENDECHA'AR, v. a. to sing a song called endechas. See

ENDECHAS, f. f. p. dirges, mournful ditties sung over dead bodies; also a merry song.
ENDEMONINHA'DO. See ENERGUMENO.
ENDENTA'DO, (in heraldry.) See ADENTADO.
ENDEOSADAME'NTE, adv. See DIVINAMENTE.
ENDEOSA'DO, a, adj. made a god, or gods; also inspired with a god.
Endosado, (sberbo.) See SOBERBO, and ENDEOSA'R, v. a. to make a god of one. See DEIFICAR.
Endosar-se, v. r. to take upon one's self, or to arrogate to one's self the attributes of God, to grow vain and haughty.
ENDEREÇADO. See DIRIGIDO.
ENDEREÇAR. See DIRIGIR.
ENDEREITA-vilhacos, (a vulgar expression) a chastiser, a person that chastises villains.
ENDEREITADO. See ENDIREITADO.
ENDEREITAR. See ENDIREITAR.
ENDEXAS. See ENDECHAS.
ENDEZ, f. m. a nest-egg, an egg, or the form of one in chalk, left in the nest to keep the hen from forsaking it, and induce her to lay her eggs in the same place.
ENDIABRADO, a, adj. furious, raging, mad, frantic. From diabo, the devil; as if one was possessed with the devil.
ENDIAÇO. See ENDRO bravo.
ENDINHEIRA'DO. See ADINHEIRA'DO.
ENDIREITADO, a, adj. See ENDIREITAR, v. a. to make strait; also to make better, to reform. See also IGUALAR.
Endireitár-se, v. r. to raise, to get up, to stand up.
ENDIVIA, f. f. endive, or succory.
ENDIVIDA'DO, a, adj. See ENDIVIDA'R-SE, v. r. to contract debts, to run into debt.
ENDIVILHA, f. f. a particular way of staking vines.
ENDOENÇAS, f. f. p. ex. Quinta feyra de endoenças, Maundy-Thursdlay, the last Thursdlay in Lent.
ENDOUDECER, v. a. to make mad, or distracted. From leuco, mad.
Endudecér, v. n. to grow mad, or distracted, to madden.
ENDOUDECIDO, a, adj. See the v. ENDOUDECER.
ENDRO, f. m. the herb dill.
Endro bravo, wild dill.
ENDROS. See ICHNEUMON.
ENDURAÇAM, f. f. See INDURAÇAM.
ENDURECER, v. a. to harden, to make hard.
Endurecer o ventre, to make costive, or bound in body.
Endurecer, to harden, or inure to hardships.
Endurecér-se, v. r. to grow hard. See also ACOSTUMAR-SE.
Endurecer-se, (obstinar-se.) See OBSTINAR-SE.
ENDURECIDO, a, adj. hardened, &c. See the v. ENDURECER-SE.
ENDURECIMENTO, f. m. hardness.
ENE'ADÁ, or ENEIDA, f. f. Virgil's Æneis.
ENERGIA, f. f. energy, strength of expression.
ENERGUMENO, f. m. one possessed by the devil.

ENERVADO, a, adj. enervated, &c. See the v. ENERVAR.
Contro enervado, a sort of leather made of the sinews and nerves of oxen.
ENERUAR, v. a. to enervate, to weaken.
ENFADADO, a, adj. put out of humour, disgusted; also tired with a thing. See the v. ENFADAR.
ENFADAME'NTO, f. m. uneasiness, disquiet, &c. See ENFADO.
ENFADAR, v. a. to put out of humour, to tire, to disgust, to offend.
Enfadár-se, v. r. to grow angry; also to loath, to abhor, to hate.
Vos logo vos enfadair, you soon take pepper in your nose, you soon grow angry.
ENFA'DO, f. m. weariness, molestation, tediousness, distaste.
ENFADO'NHO, a, adj. troublesome, uneasy, offensive, tiresome.
ENFADO'SO, a, adj. See ENFADONHO.
ENFANA'R-SE. See ENFADAR-SE.
ENFARA'DO, a, adj. See ENFASTIADO.
ENFARDA'DO, a, adj. See ENFARDA'R, v. a. to pack up.
ENFARDELA'DO, a, adj. See ENFARDELA'R, v. a. to make up into a bundle. See also ENFARDAR.
ENFARELA'DO, a, adj. full of bran.
ENFARELA'R, v. a. to cover with bran.
ENFARINHADAME'NTE, adv. dissemblingly, feignedly, falsely.
ENFARINHA'DO, a, adj. sprinkled with flour, or meal.
Enfarinhado, that has a tincture, smattering or superficial knowledge of any thing.
Elle he enfarinhado de muitas linguas, he knows a little, or has a little knowledge of several languages.
ENFARINHA'R, v. a. to powder, or make white with meal.
ENFARRUSCADO, a, adj. See ENFARRUSCAR, v. a. to blacken, to make black.
ENFASTIADO, a, adj. that loaths meat, that has a bad stomach.
Enfastiado, out of conceit with, weary of, or surfeited with. See also ENFASTIAR, v. a. to take away one's stomach, to make to loath; also to put out of conceit, to weary, to tire.
Enfastiár-se, v. r. to begin to loath; also to grow weary.
ENFATICO. See EMPHATICO.
ENFATILHA'DO. See ENFARDELADO.
ENFATILHA'R. See ENFARDELAR.
ENFATIO'TA. See EMPHYTEUTA.
ENFATUA'DO. See INFATUADO.
ENFATUA'R. See INFATUAR.
ENFAXADO, a, adj. See ENFAXAR, v. a. ex. Enfaxar hum menino, to swaddle, or swathe a child, to wrap him up in swaddling cloaths.
ENFEITADO, a, adj. See ENFEITAR, v. a. to trim, to attire, to make gay, or trick up.
Enfeitar hum discurso, to flourish one's discourse, to use flourishes.
Enfeitar as mercancias para que pareçam mais novas, e melhores do que são, to trim up commodities, to put a gloss upon them, to shew them to the best advantage.
O que enfeita as mercancias, he who setteth off any kind of ware, to make it seem fairer.

Enfeitár, to colour, to palliate, or excuse.
Enfeitár-se, v. r. to trim, or tuck up one's self, to make one's self fine.
ENFEITE, f. m. dress, garb, attire, apparel.
Enfeites de huma molher, a woman's ornaments.
Enfeite do discurso, idle flourish of words, tustian. See also AFFECTAÇAM.
ENFEITIÇADO, a, adj. See ENFEITIÇAR, v. a. to bewitch, or charm.
ENFEIXADO, a, adj. See ENFEIXAR, v. a. to bundle up, to make up into a little bundle.
ENFERMA'DO. See ADOECIDO.
ENFERMAR. See ADOECER.
ENFERMARIA, f. f. an infirmary, an apartment for the sick.
ENFERMEIRO, f. m. he that has charge of the sick.
ENFERMIDA'DE, f. f. sickness. See also DOENÇA.
ENFERMO. See DOENTE, and ACHACOSO.
ENFERNA'DO. See DESATINADO.
ENFERNAR, (a vulgar word.) See DESATINAR.
ENFERRUJADO, a, adj. rusty.
ENFERRUJAR, v. a. to rust, to make rusty.
Enferrujár-se, v. r. to rust, to contract rust.
ENFEZADO, a, adj. dreggy, full of dregs.
Enfezado, (corrupto.) See CORRUPTO, and ENFEZAR, v. a. to fill with dregs.
Enfezar, (a vulgar word) to make one very angry.
ENFIADO, a, adj. threaded, as a needle.
Enfiado, that has changed the colours for fear, anger, &c. See PALLIDO, and the v.
ENFIAR, v. a. to thread, as a needle.
Enfiar perolas, to string pearls.
Enfiar hum discurso, to enter upon, or begin a discourse.
Enfiar patraugas, to tell fictions, fables, or stories.
Enfiar as cortinas, to run the curtains into a curtain-rod.
Enfiar huma rua, to go through a street.
Enfiar, to range into files.
Enfiar, to run through.
Enfiar, v. n. or Enfiar-se, v. r. to change the colour, to look pale for fear of.
Enfiar-se por huma espada, to fall on a sword.
ENFIM, adv. in fine, in short, after all, at last, finally, at length, in a word.
ENFITEOSIS. See EMPHYTEOSIS.
ENFIVELA'DO, a, adj. See ENFIVELA'R, v. a. to buckle.
ENFORCADO, a, adj. hanged.
Vides de enforcado, vines tied to trees, and growing up by them.
Plantar arvores em hum campo para virão de enforcado, to plant with trees, to set a place with trees for vines to grow amongst.
ENFORCAR, v. a. to hang. From forca, the gallows.
Enforcar-se, v. r. to hang one's self.
Vayte enforcar, go hang yourself. Terence says, abi in malam crucem.
ENFORMAÇAM, f. f. information, intelligence given, instruction; also a strict examination.
Enformação errada, misinformation.
ENFORMAÇOENS, evidences, or deeds.
ENFORMADO,

ENFORMADO, a, adj. See ENFORMAR, v. a. to inform, to give information.
Enformar os sapatos, to put the shoes upon the last.
Enforma contra alguém, v. n. to inform against one.
O que enforma, an informer.
Enformar mal, ou erradamente, to misinform.
Enformar-se, v. r. to inquire, or examine, to make an inquest, to inform one's self about a thing.
ENFORNADO, a, adj. See ENFORNAR, v. a. to set into the oven.
ENFRAQUECER, v. n. to grow weak, or feeble.
Enfraquecer, v. a. to weaken, to infirm.
Enfraquecer-se, v. r. See ENFRAQUECER, v. n.
ENFRAQUECIDO, a, adj. See the v. ENFRAQUECER.
ENFRASCADO, a, adj. See ENFRASCAR, v. r. to be taken up entirely with a thing; to stand on any thing. See also ENTREMETTER-SE. From the Spanish frasca, brambles.
Ele enfrasca-se todo no estudo, he buckles himself wholly to his study.
ENFREAR, a, adj. See ENFREAR, v. a. to bridle. From freyo, a bridle; also to contain, to restrain, to repress, to keep in awe, to curb.
Enfrear, (parar.) See PARAR.
ENFRECHADURA, f. f. (a sea term) a ship-ladder.
ENFRESTADO, a, adj. thin, not thick.
Dentes enfrestados, teeth that do not join close.
ENFRONHADO, a, adj. wrapt up. See also.
ENFRONHA'R, v. a. to put the pillow into the pillow-bear. From fronha, a pillow-bear.
Enfronhar as mãos, to look on the sky, to be idle.
ENFRENADO, a, adj. (a sea term) ex. Velas enfrenadas, sails full stretched out, or swollen with wind. See also SOBERBO, and ENFUNADO, (metido.) See METIDO.
ENFUNAR-SE, v. r. ex. Enfuna-se o vento per aquella rua, the wind comes directly into that street. See also ENSOBERBECER-SE.
ENFUNDICA. See INFUNDICA.
ENFUNDIDO, &c. See INFUNDIDO, &c.
ENFUNILADO, a, adj. like a funnel. See also.
ENFUNILAR, v. a. to pour liquor through a funnel into a vessel. From funil, a funnel.
ENFURECER, v. a. to enrage, to make mad, to make furious. From furia, fury.
Enfurecer-se, v. r. to grow furious, to be enraged.
ENFURECIDO, a, adj. See ENFURECER.
ENFUSA, f. f. a pitcher, a water-pot.
ENFUSADO. See OFFUSCADO.
ENFUSCAR. See OFFUSCAR.
ENGALÇO, f. m. the stalk of the clusters of grapes when dried and freed from the fruit, a rape.
ENGALDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ENGAR.
ENGAFECER, v. n. or Engafecer-se, v. r. to grow leprosy.
ENGAFECIDO, a, adj. infected with leprosy.

ENGALA. See ENGALLA.
ENGALADO, p. of the preterperfect tense of ENGALAR, v. a. (in horsemanship) is for a horse to erect, or set up his neck.
ENGALFILHADO, or ENGALFINHADO, a, adj. See ENGALFILHAR, or ENGALFINHAR, v. n. (a jocose word) to hold fast one another. (speaking of wrestlers.)
Engalfilhar-se, v. r. idem.
ENGALGADO. } See { GALGADO.
ENGALGAR. } See { GALGAR.
ENGALLA, a sort of wild boar in the Lower Ethiopia.
ENGANADO, a, adj. See ENGANAR.
ENGANADO'R, f. m. a deceiver, a cheat.
ENGANAR, v. a. to deceive, to cheat, to cozen, to gull, to bubble, to delude, to beguile.
Enganar o tempo, to pass away the time.
Enganar-se, v. r. to be cheated, deceived, cozened, to mistake.
ENGANYDO, a, adj. (in the province of Beyra) grown stiff with cold.
ENGANTR, v. n. ex. Enganar com frio, to grow stiff with cold.
ENGANO, f. m. deceit, fraud.
ENGANOSAMENTE, adv. deceitfully, fraudulently.
ENGANO'SO, a, adj. deceitful, fraudulent.
ENGAR, v. a. (a vulgar word) ex. Engar com alguém, to favour, or bear good will and affection to one; also to prosecute, to vex, or trouble one. From ENGOS, which see.
ENGARANHADO, (a vulgar and very low word.) See EMBARAÇADO.
ENGARACHADO, (in the province of Beyra.) See ENFEITIÇADO.
ENGARGANTA'DO, a, adj. ex. Pê engargantado, the foot put up to the instep into the stirrup. (In horsemanship.)
ENGARGANTAR, v. a. (in horsemanship) ex. Engargantar o pê, to run the foot up to the instep into the stirrup.
ENGASGADO, a, adj. that has something stuck in the throat, as the wolf in Phædrus's Fables.
ENGASGAR, v. n. or Engasgar-se, v. r. to have something sticking in the throat, to be ready to be choaked, or suffocated.
Engasgar-se no fallar, to stammer, to falter in one's speech.
ENGASTADO, a, adj. See ENGASTAR, v. a. to set, as a stone in a ring, or the like.
ENGASTE, f. m. the bezel, or collet of a ring; also the setting of stones in rings, or the like.
ENGATADO, a, adj. See ENGATAR, v. a. to cramp, or bind with cramp-irons.
ENGATINHA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ENGATINHA'R, v. n. to creep on all four like a cat. From gato, a cat, as children do when they learn to go.
Engatinhar, to be a beginner. (Metaph.)
ENGAYOLADO, a, adj. shut up in a cage.
ENGEITADA, f. f. ENGEITADO, f. m. a foundling.
ENGEITADO, a, adj. rejected, slighted, despised, &c. See the v. ENGEITAR.
ENGEITAMENTO, f. m. rejection, or casting off.
ENGEITAR, v. a. to reject, to cast off, to refuse, to slight, to despise.

Enguitar o comprado, to return a thing one hath bought for some fault, and turn it on his hands that sold it.
A acção de enguitar neste sentido, the restoring of a thing to him that sold it.
Enguitar huma criança, to expose a child.
A acção de enguitar neste sentido, the exposing of a child.
ENGELHADO, a, adj. See ENGELHAR-SE, v. r. to thrive, to grow wrinkled, or clung, to wither. (Speaking of fruit.)
A sua cara está toda engelhada, his face is all full of wrinkles.
ENGENDRADO. See GERADO.
ENGENDRAR. See GERAR.
ENGENHE'DO, a, adj. See ENGENHE'R, v. a. to contrive, to invent.
Engenhar-se, v. r. to strain, to endeavour, to strive, to study, to apply one's mind, to do one's best.
Cada qual se engenha como pode, every body does what he can.
ENGENHEIRO, f. m. an engineer, a person well skilled in the art of contriving all forts, and other works; also one that makes any sort of strange engines.
ENGENHO, f. m. wit, art, skill, knowledge, discretion, understanding, sense, genius, talent; also a machine, an engine, or any invention to perform that with ease, which before was difficult.
Homem de engenho, a man of wit.
Não tenho engenhos, or Não posso fazer ganho. See GADANHO.
Engenho de açúcar, a sugar work, that is, the mill and other necessities to get it from the cane.
Engenho de fazer papel, a paper-mill.
ENGENHOSAMENTE, adv. ingeniously, wittily.
ENGENHOSÍSSIMO, sup. of
ENGENHO'SO, a, adj. ingenious, witty; also any thing that is said, or performed ingeniously.
ENGESSADO, a, adj. See ENGESSAR, v. a. to parget, to do over with GESSO, which see.
ENGILHAR-SE. See ENGELHAR-SE.
ENGO. See ENGOS.
ENGODA'DO, a, adj. allured, enticed, &c. See the v. ENGODAR.
ENGODADOR, f. m. a wheedler, a wheedling man.
ENGODADORA, f. f. a wheedler, a wheedling woman.
ENGODAR, v. a. to wheedle, decoy, or cajole, to allure.
A acção de engodar, wheedling.
ENGO'DO, f. m. wheedle, a subtle drawing of one in, an allurement, an inticement.
Engodo para pescar, a bait to catch fish.
ENGOLFA'DO, a, adj. got into narrow sea room; also plunged into any business. (Metaph.)
ENGOLFA'R, (a sea term) v. n. to get into narrow sea room.
Engolfar-se, v. r. to plunge into any business. (Metaph.)
ENGOLIDO. } See { ENGULIDO.
ENGOLIR. } See { ENGULIR.
ENGOLOZINADO, a, adj. See ENGOLOZINAR-SE, v. r. to eat greedily, to be very much pleased with a meat.
ENGOMADEIRA, f. f. a starcher, a woman that starches.

ENGOMADO, a, adj. gummed, starched.
ENGOMADURA, f. f. the act of starching, or gumming.
ENGOMAR, v. a. to gum, to starch.
Ferro de engomar, a smoothing-iron.
ENGOINÇO, f. m. an iron hook, or crook.
Engonço do espinhaço, a joint in the backbone.
Fallar por engonços, we say, to go about the bush, (a vulgar expression.)
Não me falles por engonços, speak plainly.
ENGORDADO, a, adj. See
ENGORDAR, v. a. to fatten, to make fat.
Engordar as terras, to manure, to muck or dung grounds.
Engordar animais. See CEVAR.
ENGORDAR, v. n. to grow fat, to fat.
ENGORLADO, a, adj. parboiled.
ENGORLADO, v. a. to parboil, to half-boil.
Engorlar a lição, is for a scholar to repeat his lesson in a hurry, without pronouncing it cleverly. (Metaph.)
ENGOROVINHADO, a, adj. See
ENGOROVINHAR, v. a. to wrinkle, or to make wrinkled.
ENGOS, a sort of plant called wall-wort, or danewort, dwarf-elder.
ENGRA, a corrupted word for ANGULO, which see.
ENGRACADAMENTE, adv. prettily, with a grace, handsomely, wittily, smartly.
ENGRACADO, a, adj. pretty, witty, jocund, pleasant.
ENGRACHADO. See ENGRAXADO.
ENGRACHAR. See ENGRAXAR.
ENGRADecer, v. n. is for the grain or corn to be formed, or grow to perfect maturity, so as to fill up the ear.
ENGRADecido. See GRADO.
ENGRANDECE'R, v. a. to magnify, to extol, to aggrandize, to make great. From grande, great.
Engrandecer-se, v. r. to increase, to augment, to grow greater.
ENGRANDECIDO, a, adj. magnified, &c. See the v. ENGRANDECER.
ENGRANDECIMENTO, f. m. an amplifying, or enlarging.
ENGRAVITADO, a, adj. See
ENGRAVITAR-SE, v. r. (a vulgar word) ex. Engravitar-se hum ramo, is for a branch to turn itself upward.
Engravitar-se com alguém, to oppose or withstand one.
ENGRAXADO, a, adj. See
ENGRAXAR, v. a. ex. Engraxar botas, ou sapatos, to liquor boots or shoes.
ENGRAZADO, a, adj. See ENGRAZAR.
ENGRAZADO, f. m. the person who strings beads on a wire.
ENGRAZAR, v. a. to string beads on wire, linking every wire each bead is on to the next, so that each is on a particular link, and not each running loose upon a long wire.
ENGRECE'R, v. n. (in agriculture) to grow ripe, to come to maturity.
ENGRIMANÇO; or ENGUIRIMANÇO, f. m. a long circumstance of words, tedious stories, impertinences; also dark mysterious sayings; also affectation, or affectedness, either in speaking, or doing any thing.
ENGROLADO. See ENGORLADO.
ENGROLAR. See ENGORLAR.
ENGROSSADO, a, adj. See
ENGROSSAR, v. a. to enlarge, or swell, to make greater, thicker, or bigger, to increase, to augment; also to incrassate.

Engrossar, v. n. or Engrossar-se, v. r. to grow big, or thick; also to swell. (speaking of a river.)
Engrossar, or Engrossar-se, to increase, to grow, either in quality or quantity.
ENGROTADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ENGROTAR, v. n. is for an hour-glass to stop on account of the sand being wet.
ENGROVINHADO. See ARRUGADO.
Engrovinhado com o frio, shivering, or quaking for cold.
ENGROVINHAR. See EMBICAR.
ENGUFA, an eel.
ENGUICADO, a, adj. See
ENGUICAR, v. a. to ominate sadly, to be a presagement of ill luck to one. See also ACANHAR.
ENGUICO, an omination, a presagement of ill luck. See also ACANHAMENTO.
Tirar o enguico, to avert the threats of ill tokens.
Enguico, impertinence, extravagance, folly.
ENGUIRIMANÇO. See ENGRIMANÇO.
ENGULHADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ENGULHAR, v. n. to heave, to heave, to feel a tendency to vomit.
ENGULHOS, f. m. heave, or effort to vomit.
Ter engulhas. See ENGULHAR.
ENGULIDO, a, adj. See
ENGULIR, v. a. to swallow, to devour, to absorb, to lap up, to gulp down.
Engulir hum ensado injuria, &c. to swallow a gudgeon, to swallow, or pocket an injury, &c.
Engulir, to sup up, or gulp down (Speaking of liquid bodies.)
Isto não se pode engulir, it is a hard thing to bear.
ENGURRIA. See ANGURRIA.
ENGURUNHADO, a, adj. (a vulgar word) ex. Engurunhado com o frio, shrunk with cold.
ENHASTADO, a, adj. that is set, or tied to the point of an asteca. See ASTECA.
ENHO, f. m. a fawn, or young deer.
ENJAEZADO, a, adj. trapped, &c. See
ENJAEZAR, to trap, to furnish a horse. From jaezes, horse furniture.
ENIGMA, f. m. an enigma, a riddle, an obscure question.
ENIGMATICO, a, adj. enigmatical, darkly, or ambiguously expressed.
ENJOADO, a, adj. that is afflicted with nausea, or vomiting, ready to vomit, oppressed with qualms.
ENJOAMENTO, f. m. See ENJOO.
ENJOAR, v. n. or ENJOAR-SE, v. r. to be ready to vomit, to have a motion to spew.
Enjoar no mar, to be sea-sick.
Causa que faz enjoar, nauseous, that provoketh vomiting.
A carne muito gorda faz enjoar, meat too fat turns one's stomach.
ENJOJO, or ENJOJADOURO. See GACHO.
ENJO'O, f. m. a being sea-sick; also crudities, a qualm, or list to vomit.
ENLABUTADO, a, adj. See
ENLABUTAR, or ENLABUZAR, v. a. to foul, soil, dirty, spot, or stain.
ENLAÇADO, a, adj. snared, &c. See ENLAÇAR, to intangle, to snare, to take in a snare; also to wind, to plait with other things.

Enlaçar, (cativar) See CATIVAR.
Enlaçar, (embaraçar) See EMBARAÇAR.
ENLAMEADO. See ENLODADO.
ENLAMEAR. See ENLODAR.
ENLAPADO, a, adj. shut up into a lapa. See LAPA.
ENLEADO, a, adj. perplexed, intricate, difficult to be found, or understood.
Enleado na dor, pierced with grief, or sorrow. See the v.
ENLEAR, v. a. to involve, to entangle. See also EMBARAÇAR.
Enlear, to allure, to ensnare.
Enlear-se, v. r. ex. Enlear-se em hum negocio, to entangle one's self in a business.
ENLEIO, f. m. hesitation, doubting.
Enleio (embaraço) See EMBARAÇO.
Enleios do amor, intrigues, amours, affairs with ladies.
ENLEVARADO, a, adj. affected, or touched, with delight, or admiration, elevated with great conceptions, wrapt up in admiration. See also ENLEVAR, v. a. to charm, to ravish, to wrap up in admiration, to delight.
Enlevar-se, v. r. to be in a rapture, to be exceedingly pleased or charmed with a thing.
ENLODADO, a, adj. bedaggled. See
ENLODAR, v. a. to bedaggle with mud.
ENLOUQUECER. See ENDOUDECER.
ENLOUQUECIDO. See ENDOUDECIDO.
ENLUTADO, a, adj. clad in mourning. From luto, mourning.
ENLUTAR, v. a. to sadden, to make gloomy.
Enlutar-se, v. r. to mourn for one, to wear the habit of sorrow for him.
ENMENDA. See EMENDA.
ENNASTRADO, a, adj. See
ENNASTRAR, v. a. to weave the hair and a ribbon, or hair-lace, together. From nastro, a ribbon.
ENNEAGÓNO, (in geometry) enneagon, a regular figure of nine equal sides, and nine angles.
ENNEGRECER. See DENEGRIR, and ESCURECER.
ENNEGRECIDO. See DENEGRIDO, and ESCURECIDO.
ENNEVOADO, a, adj. See
ENNEVOAR, v. a. to cover with mist, or fog. From nevoa, a mist, or fog.
Ennevoar, (in a moral sense) See INFAMAR, and DESLUZIR.
ENNOBRECE'R, v. a. to make noble, to ennoble.
ENNOBRECIDO, a, adj. made noble.
ENNODADO, a, adj. See
ENNODAR, v. a. to make, or tie a knot. From nó, a knot.
ENNOVELADO, a, adj. See
ENNOVELAR, v. a. to wind silk, thread, &c. into bottoms, or clews. From novella, a bottom, or clew.
Ennovelar, (enroscar) See ENROSCAR.
ENOJADO, a, adj. angry.
Enjoado. See ANOJADO, and the v.
ENOJAR, v. a. to anger. From the Spanish ojos, the eyes, because anger appears in them.
Enjoar o estomago, to make sick, or ready to vomit.
Enjoar-se, v. r. to be angry, vexed, displeased, to fret, to be in a fret.

ENORME, adj. enormous, deformed, excessive big, out of measure; also enormous, heinous, grievous.
Crime muito enorme, a very shocking, or a glaring crime.
ENORMEMENTE, adv. enormously, excessively, out of measure.
ENORMIDADE, f. f. enormity, heinousness, grievousness.
Enormidade, an enormous crime, or high misdemeanour.
ENQUEREDO, f. m. an inquisitor, or examiner.
ENQUERIDO, a, adj. See
ENQUERIR, or INQUIRIR, v. n. to make inquisition, to sit upon examination and trial of offenders.
Enquerir, (perguntar) See PERGUNTAR.
ENQUIRIDA, f. f. inquest, inquiry, search; also evidence, or deposition. (Speaking of witnesses.)
ENQUIRIDA, See INQUIRIDA.
ENQUIRIDOR, See INQUIRIDOR.
ENRAMADA, f. f. a cottage, or hut covered with boughs.
ENRAMADO, a, adj. See
ENRAMAR, v. a. to cover, or adorn with boughs. From rama, a bough.
Enramar balas, to join a cannon bullet to another, by running a little iron rod through them.
ENRAIACE, v. n. to rage, to be mad, to be in a fret.
ENRAIACIDO, a, adj. enraged, mad. See RAIVOSO.
ENRASTAR, See OPPOR-SE.
ENREDADO, a, adj. See
ENREDAR, v. a. to entangle, to catch, or surround with a net; also to set people together by the ears.
Enredar a alguém o juízo, to ensnare one.
Enredar a alguém com lisonjas, to inveigle, to deceive by flattery. See also EMBARAÇAR.
ENREDO, f. m. a mischievous story in order to set people at variance, an intricate lie; also a wrapping, or entangling with another.
Enredo manejado com destreza, an intrigue, a secret design carried on with privacy.
Enredo da comedia, &c. the intrigue, the knot, or intricate part of the plot of a play.
Enredo, a subtle device, or trick.
ENREGELADO, a, adj. frozen, chilled.
ENREGELAR-SE, v. r. to be affected with great cold; also to freeze, or be frozen, to chill.
ENREJARDO, } See { ENRIJADO.
ENREJAR, } See { ENRIJAR.
ENRESINADO, a, adj. rosin.
ENRESINAR, v. imp. to become rosin.
ENRESTADO, See ENRISTADO.
ENRESTAR, See ENRISTAR.
ENRICAR, v. n. to grow rich.
ENRIJADO, See CONVALECIDO.
ENRIJAR, See CONVALECER.
ENRIQUECE, v. a. to enrich, or make rich.
Enriquecer de palavras huma lingua, to enrich a language, to make it more copious.
Enriquecer, v. n. to grow rich, to thrive.
ENRISTADO, a, adj. See
ENRISTAR, v. a. (in chivalry) ex. Enristar a lança, to couch, or to set the lance upon the rest, in the posture of attack. From riste, the rest of a spear.

ENRISTE. See RISTE.
ENROCADDO, ex. Manteo enrocado, or de abanos, a sort of band with hollow plaits in it; people anciently used to wear it about the neck.
ENRODILHADO. See ENROLADO.
ENRODILHAR. See ENROLAR.
ENROLADAMENTE, adv. privately, secretly.
ENROLADO, f. m. a sort of woollen cloth.
Enrolado, a, adj. See
ENROLAR, v. a. to roll, or roll up; also to tie round. From rolo, which see.
Enrolar-se, v. r. to roll, or to move as waves or volumes of water.
ENROSCADO, f. m. ex. O enroscado de huma cobra, the folds, or wriggling of a snake.
Enroscado, a, adj. See
ENROSCAR-SE, v. r. to wind like a snake. From roscar, which see.
Enroscar-se em alguma coisa, to twine, to wrap itself closely about a thing.
Enroscar-se dobrando o corpo bora de huma parte bora da outra, to wriggle, to turn here and there, as a snake does.
ENROUPADO, a, adj. See
ENROUPAR-SE, v. r. to clothe one's self. From roupa, which see.
ENROUQUECE, v. a. to make hoarse.
Enrouquecer, v. n. to grow hoarse, to wheeze. Lat. irraucescere.
ENRULHAR, v. a. to stop, or make co-five.
ENSABOADO, a, adj. See
ENSABOAR, v. a. to soap, to wash in soap.
ENSACADO, a, adj. See
ENSACAR, v. a. to put in a sack, or bag.
ENSAIADO, or ENSAYADO, a, adj. See ENSAIAR.
ENSAIADO, f. m. an assayer, an officer of the mint for the due trial of silver and gold.
ENSAIAR, v. a. ex. Ensaíar prata, to assay silver.
Ensaíar, to rehearse, to recite previously to public exhibition.
Ensaíar, (instruir) See INSTRUIR.
Ensaíar-se, v. r. to try, to endeavour, to try one's strength, or ability, to prove or essay what one can do, before he comes to the thing. See also INSTRUIR-SE.
Ensaíar-se para dar batalha, to prepare one's self for fighting.
ENSAIO, f. m. an essay, or flourish, a proof, or trial; also assay, or the assaying of metals.
Ensaio, rehearsal, private practising.
Ensaio de huma comedia, the rehearsal of a play.
Fazer ensaio, to make a trial. See also ENSAYAR.
Ensaio, (figura or imagem.) See FIGURA and IMAGEM.
ENSAIMO, f. m. the superstitious way of saying strange words over sick people, on pretence to cure them.
Curar por ensaímo, to attempt to cure, by saying certain superstitious prayers over sick people.
ENSALMOURADO. See SALMOURADO.
ENSALMOURAR. See SALMOURAR.
ENSAMBENITADO, a, adj. that has a badge put on, as the Spaniards and Portuguese use to do to the converted Jews, when they are brought out of the inquisition.

Ensambenitados da honra, that do not deserve the marks and tokens of honour (Metaph.)
ENSAMBLADO. See SAMBLADO.
ENSAMBLADOR, &c. See SAMBLADOR, &c.
ENSAANCHAS, f. f. p. (among taylors) a widening-piece.
Dar ensanchas, to prolong, to spin out. (Metaph.)
ENSANDECER. See ENDOUDECER.
ENSANDECIDO. See ENDOUDECIDO.
ENSANGOENTADO, a, adj. blooded, &c. See
ENSANGOENTAR, v. a. to make bloody, to imbrue with blood. From sangue, blood.
ENSARILHADO. See SARILHADO.
ENSARILHAR. See SARILHAR.
ENSARTADO. See ENFIADO.
ENSARTAR, } See { ENFIAR.
ENSAIADO, } See { ENSAIADO.
ENSAIAR, } See { ENSAIAR.
ENSEADA, f. f. a bay in the sea.
ENSEJO. See OCCASIAM.
Marcial ensejo, an engagement, or fight.
ENSENHOREADO. See APODERADO.
ENSENHOREAR-SE. See APODERAR-SE.
ENSERTADO. See ENCERTADO.
ENSERTAR. See ENCERTAR.
ENSEVADO, a, adj. See
ENSEVAR, v. a. to tallow, to do over with tallow.
Ensevar hum navio untando-o com sebo azete de balea, &c. para conservar o calafeto, to grave a ship.
ENSIFERO, a, adj. (in poetry) ensiferous, that beareth a sword, an epithet of Orion.
Ensiferos. See GLADIFEROS.
ENSINADO, a, adj. See
ENSINAR, v. a. to teach, to instruct, to learn, or shew, to point out.
O que ensina, a teacher.
ENSINHO, f. m. a rake. (In agriculture.)
Arrastar com o ensinho, to rake.
ENSINO, f. m. instruction, education. See also CORTEZIA.
Mão ensino, bad education. See also DESCORTEZIA.
ENSOADO, a, adj. growing weak, on account of the heat; also glowing, hot, sultry.
ENSOBERBECER, v. a. to make proud. From soberba, pride.
Ensoberbecer-se, v. r. to grow proud.
ENSOBERBECIDO, a, -adj. made proud.
ENSOÇO. See ENSOSSO.
ENSOLVADO, a, adj. (in gunnery) so they call a cannon that cannot be shot off on account of the powder being wet.
ENSOPADO, a, adj. See
ENSOPAR, v. a. to sop, or soak in. See also EMBEBER.
ENSORDECER. See ENSURDECER.
ENSORDECIDO. See ENSURDECIDO.
ENSOSSO, a, adj. without smack of salt, unfavoury, insipid.
Parede ensoffa, a wall of stones heaped together without mortar.
Não levar ensoffo alguma coisa, to pay dear for a thing.
ENSOVALHADO. See ENXOVALHADO.
ENSOVALHAR. See ENXOVALHAR.
ENSURDECER,

ENSURDECE'R, v. a. to make deaf, to deaf, or deafen.
Ensurdacer, v. n. or Ensurdacer-se, v. r. to grow deaf; also to make as if one were deaf.
ENSURDECI'DO, a, adj. deafened, deaf, &c. See ENSURDECER.
ENTABOA'DO, a, adj. boarded; also made stiff, or hard. See
ENTABOA'R, to board.
Entaboar-se, v. r. to be made stiff and hard.
ENTABOLADO, a, adj. See
ENTABOLA'R, v. a. ex. Entabolar hum negocio, to dispose a business into method, that it may be easily compassed.
ENTAI'PADO, a, adj. See
ENTAI'PA'R, v. a. to wall, or shut up. From taipa, mud.
ENTALAÇAM. See ENTALADURA.
ENTALADO, a, adj. See
ENTALADURA, f. f. the act of squeezing, or forcing between close bodies.
ENTALA'R, v. a. to squeeze, or force between close bodies.
ENTALHADO, a, adj. See the v. ENTALHAR.
ENTALHADO'R, f. m. a carver in wood, or the like.
ENTALHA'R, v. a. to carve in wood, or the like.
ENTALHO, f. m. the work done by the carver; also the act of carving.
ENTALISCA'DO, a, adj. incumbered.
ENTAM, adv. then, in that time.
Ate entam, till then, till that time.
Desde entam, since that time, since that, or since.
De entam, or des entam, thenceforth, thenceforward, from thenceforth.
Eu bem vejo isso, mas entam? I see it, and what then?
ENTAPIZADO, a, adj. See
ENTAPIZA'R, v. a. to hang with tapestry.
ENTE, f. m. a being, ex. Ente real, a real being.
Ente da razão, an irrational being.
ENTEADA, f. f. daughter-in-law, the wife's daughter by another husband, or the husband's by another wife; a step-daughter.
ENTEADO, f. m. a son-in-law, a step-son.
Quasi ante natus, born before they were married.
ENTEJADO, a, adj. See
ENTEJA'R, v. a. to loath, to nauseate. See also ABORRECER.
ENTEJO, f. m. loathing. See also ODIO.
ENTENA. See ANTENA.
ENTENAES, f. m. p. a sort of birds so called because they perch on the yards of a ship, which the Portuguese call entenas, or antenas.
ENTENDEDO'R, f. m. one that conceives, or understands, an understander.
P. a bem entendedor poucas palavras; we say, a word to the wife is enough; and the Lat. Intelligenti parva.
ENTENDE'NTE. See ENTENDIDO.
ENTENDE'R, v. a. to understand, to conceive.
Eu me entendo, I understand my own business.
Dar a entender, to give to understand, to give a hint of something.
Entendo que isso foy erro, I understand that it was a mistake.
Não entendo isso, I don't understand it, or I don't consent to it, I don't approve of it.
Que entendes tu por isso? what do you mean by that?

Entendo que fareis isso, I expect you should do that.
Fazei o que entenderdes, do as you think fit, or best, do as you see cause.
Entender de guisados, to have a good palate for the tasting of meat.
Entender de alguma coisa, to have skill in something, to understand it.
Entender de hum negocio, to understand a trade.
Entender com alguém, to meddle with one, to vex, trouble, or tease him.
O que entende com tudo, a meddler, or busy-body.
Entendo o que quereis dizer, I apprehend you, I know what you mean.
A meu entender, according to my opinion.
Eu assim entendo, I mean so.
Fazer-se entender, to explain, or signify one's thoughts, to speak plain.
Entender mal, to mistake.
Dar a entender, to make believe. See also PERSUADIR.
Dar que entender a alguém, to puzzle, or confound, to perplex one.
Dar em que entender, to incommode, trouble, to be troublesome.
Entender em alguma coisa, to be busy, or employed about something.
Por-se a entender com alguém, to begin to quarrel with one.
Desde que me entendo, since I know myself, since my infancy.
Entende-se, v. imp. people think.
Entender-se, v. r. ex. Entender-se com alguém, to agree with one.
Elles lá se entendem, they understand one another, or they play booty.
ENTENDI'DO, a, adj. understood. See also DOUTO, and the v. ENTENDER.
Não se dar por entendido, ou achado em alguma coisa, not to take notice of a thing, to wink at it.
Prezar-se de entendido, to be proud, to carry it high, to take too much upon one's self.
ENTENDIME'NTO, f. m. understanding; also signification, or meaning.
ENTERE'CE. See INTERESSE.
ENTERNECE'R, v. a. to move to compassion.
Enternecer-se, v. r. to be compassionate, to be moved with pity.
ENTERNECIDO, a, adj. See the v. ENTERNECER.
ENTERRA'DO, a, adj. See ENTERRAR.
ENTERRAME'NTO. See ENTERRO.
ENTERRA'R, v. a. to bury, to inter. From terra, earth.
A açam de enterrar, burying.
Lugar a onde se enterra, a burying-place.
ENTERREIRADO, a, adj. See
ENTERREIRAR, v. a. (in agriculture) to cut the herbs, bushes, &c. round an olive-tree, that the olives may be easily gathered. From terreiro, a void place in a city without building; a walking place.
Enterrar hum negocio. See ENTABOLA'R.
ENTERRO, f. m. a burial. See also SEPULTURA.
ENTERROMPER. See INTERROMPER.
ENTERROMPIDO, &c. See INTERROMPIDO, &c.
ENTERTER. See ENTRETER.
ENTERTIDO. See ENTRETIDO.
ENTESADO, a, adj. See

ENTESA'R, v. a. to stretch, to lay out; also, to stiffen.
Entesar-se, v. r. to become stiff.
Entesar-se, to grow and increase more and more. (Speaking of the wind.)
Entesar-se com alguém, to oppose or withstand one.
ENTESICADO. See ENTISICADO.
ENTESICAR-SE. See ENTISICAR-SE.
ENTESTADO, a, adj. See
ENTESTA'R, v. n. to stand, or to be set right over against, to border, or confine upon.
ENTEZADO. See ENTESADO.
ENTEZAR. See ENTESAR.
ENTHESOURADO, a, adj. See
ENTHESOURA'R, v. a. to heap up riches; also to hoard, to treasure, to lay up money.
ENTHUSIASMO, f. m. an enthusiasm.
ENTHYME'MA, f. f. an enthymeme, an imperfect syllogism. Greek.
ENTHYME'MIA, idem.
ENTIBIADO, a, adj. See
ENTIBIA'R, v. a. to cool. (In a proper and figurative sense.)
Entibiar-se, v. r. to grow cool. (In a proper and figurative sense.)
ENTIDADE, f. f. (in philosophy) entity; also value, estimation.
ENTISICADO, a, adj. See
ENTISICA'R, v. n. to grow consumptive.
Entisicar, v. a. to throw into a consumption.
ENTOAÇAM, f. f. a tuning, setting a tune, raising the voice; also the entrance, or beginning of a song.
ENTOADO, a, adj. See
ENTOA'R, v. a. to tune, to raise the voice; also to sing before.
ENTONADO, a, adj. See
ENTONA'R-SE, v. r. to be proud.
ENTONCES. See ENTAM.
ENTORNADO, a, adj. See
ENTOR'NAR, v. a. to pour on, or in; also to spill, or shed.
Entornar, (tombar.) See TOMBAR.
Entornar, to mislead, to make an ill use of.
Entornar-se, v. r. to be spilt, or shed.
ENTORPECE'R, v. a. to numb, to make torpid, to make dull of motion or sensation; also to make lazy.
Entorpecer-se, v. r. to grow torpid, and numbed; also to grow dull, or inactive.
Entorpecer-se, to stagnate, to lie motionless, to have little or no course or stream. (Speaking of waters, or any other liquid.)
ENTORPECIDO, a, torpid, numbed.
ENTORPECIME'NTO, f. m. numbness, torpor, interruption of sensation.
ENTORTADO, a, adj. See
ENTORTA'R, v. a. to crook, bend, or bow; also to set awry, to twist aside.
Entortar a boca, to make wry faces.
Que entorta a boca, wry-mouthed.
Entortar o pescoço, to wry the neck.
Que tem o pescoço entortado, wry-necked.
Entortar os olhos, to squint, or look askint.
A açam de entortar os olhos, squinting.
Com os olhos entortados, squintingly.
ENTRADA, f. f. entrance, entry, avenue.
Dar entrada publica como hum embaixador, &c. to make public entrance, like an ambassador, &c.
Entrada da porta, threshold, the ground or step under the door.
Entrada da casa, a porch, or entry to a house.

Na entrada do porto, at the entrance into the port.
Entrada violenta, a bursting in, a violent breaking, or entering in, an irruption.
Dar entrada ao ar, to let in the air.
Entrada, (princípio.) See PRINCIPIO.
Entrada, custom for imported commodities.
Entrada, access, favour, admittance.
Ter entrada em casa de hum embaixador, to be admitted to an ambassador, to be in his favour, to have his ear.
ENTRADO, a, adj. come in, entered.
Entrado em annos, stricken in years, elderly.
Era entrada a noite, it was late in the night.
Entrado. See PENETRADO and APODERADO.
Entrado do demónio. See ENERGUMENO. See also the v. ENTRAR.
ENTRALHAR, v. a. to make knots in the threads of a net between the meshes. From tralla, which see.
ENTRAMBOS, bus, pron. both; also amongst them.
De entrambos, from both.
ENTREME'NTES. See ENTRETANTO.
ENTRANÇADO, a, adj. See
ENTRANÇAR, v. a. ex. Entrançar o cabelo, to braid the hair.
ENTRANÇAR, f. f. advancement, or promotion. See also PRINCIPIO.
ENTRANHADO, a, adj. that penetrates, pierces, or enters into.
Entranhado com a carne, that sticks into the flesh.
ENTRANHAS, f. f. p. the entrails, the inward parts, the bowels.
Tirar as entranhas. See DESESTRANHAR.
Entranhas, the recess, or inmost part of any place.
Entranhas da terra, the bowels of the earth.
Homem de boas entranhas, a good-natured, or compassionate man.
ENTRANHAVEL, adj. hearty, sincere; also deadly, spiteful, long borne in mind.
Ter desejo entranhavel, to desire earnestly.
Amigo entranhavel, a hearty, sincere, intimate friend.
ENTRANHAVELMENTE, adv. heartily, sincerely.
ENTRANHINHA, (a vulgar word) ex. He entranhinha, he broods, hatches, or brews ill designs.
ENTRAPADO, a, adj. See
ENTRAPAR, v. a. to wrap in clouts, or rags. From trapa, a rag. See also EMPRASTAR.
ENTRAR, v. n. to enter, to go into.
Entrar com força, ou violencia, to break in violently, to enter, or rush in by force or main strength.
Entrar com pressa e furia, to run hastily, or furiously in, or upon a thing.
Entre, viz. come in, sir.
Entrar, to go about something, to go about to do it, to fall to work, to begin it; as Entrar a chorar, to fall a crying, to begin to cry.
Entrar em si, to be wise, to come to one's wits.
Entrar na graça de alguém, to get into one's favour.
Entrar em huma conjuração, to enter into a plot, or conspiracy, to be one of the plotters.
Aquillo entroube muito dentro, that went to his heart. (Metaph.)
Entrar a suspeitar de alguém, to begin to entertain a suspicion of one.

Entrar a parte, to have a share in.
Entrar em consideração, to begin to think.
Entrar as contas com alguém. See CONTAS.
Entrar de guarda, to mount, or go upon the guard.
Entrar, (desembocar.) See DESEMBOLAR.
Isto não me entra na cabeça, I do not comprehend this thing, or this thing convinces me not.
Entrar por hum ouvido e sair pelo outro, in at one ear, and out at the other.
Entrar-se, v. imp. they go in.
ENTRE, prep. among, between, betwixt.
Entre nós, amongst ourselves, or betwixt you and I.
Entre luzo e fusco, at twilight, betwixt hawk and buzzard.
Entre vivo e morto, half dead.
Entre Douro e Minho, the outermost province of Portugal, towards the N. It has its name from its situation between the rivers Douro and Minho, as its Latin appellation Interamensis, plainly denotes. It contains two cities, Braga and Porto, twenty-six towns, and other lesser districts; so that, in proportion to its largeness, it is the best inhabited among all the Portuguese provinces.
ENTRECAMBA'DO, a, adj. entangled.
ENTRECA'SCA, f. f. the thin skin that is between the bark and wood of any tree.
ENTRECA'SCO, f. m. See ENTRECA'SCA.
ENTRECOLUMNIO, f. m. the space between pillars.
ENTRECO'STO, f. m. a bald rib, or rib-spine of an hog.
ENTREDE'NTES, ex. Fallar por entredentes, to speak low, or mutter to one's self.
ENTREDIA, by day, in the day-time.
ENTREDITO. See INTERDITO.
ENTRETO'RRIO, f. m. a false roof.
ENTRE'GA, f. f. a delivery, or delivering any thing up.
Tomar entrega de alguma coisa, to receive a thing, to take care of it.
Fazer entrega. See ENTREGAR.
Entrega de huma praça, surrender, or surrendering of a town, or fortress.
ENTREGA'DO, a, adj. See
ENTREGAR, v. a. to deliver, or deliver up. See also REVELAR.
Os mundanos entregão os seus corações aos deyletes, the worldlings deliver or give up their hearts to voluptuousness.
Entregar, (fiar.) See FIAR.
Entregar com tração, to betray, to be false to.
Entregar, to prostitute, to sell to wickedness, to expose to crimes for a reward. It is commonly used of women sold to whoredom by others.
Entregar, to charge one with a thing, to trust him with it.
Entregar-se, v. r. to give one's self up, or over, to surrender, to abandon one's self.
Entregar-se, (speaking of a woman.) See DEVISSAR-SE.
Entregar-se mais do que he razão. See DEMASIAR-SE.
Entregar-se todo a alguma coisa, to mind a thing, and apply himself earnestly and vigorously to it.
Entregar-se a merce dos inimigos, to deliver one's self up to the mercy of his enemies.

ENTREGUE, adj. delivered up.
Fi'o entregue da carta, I received the letter.
Entregue, surrendered, &c. according to the v. ENTREGAR.
ENTRELINHA, f. f. interlineation, correction made by writing between the lines.
Fazer entrelinhas, to interline, to correct by something written between the lines.
ENTRELOCUÇÃO. See INTERLOCUÇÃO.
ENTRELOCUTOR, &c. See INTERLOCUTOR.
ENTRELUNIO. See INTERLUNIO.
ENTREME'ADO, a, adj. See
ENTREME'AR, v. n. to be interposed, or put between two other things.
ENTREME'DIO, a, adj. that is put between.
ENTREME'NTES. See ENTRETANTO.
ENTREME'S, or ENTREME'Z, f. m. a droll, a farce, a dramatic representation written without regularity, and stuffed with wild and ludicrous conceits.
ENTREMETE'R-SE, v. r. to intrude one's self, to intermeddle, to be meddling, to meddle.
ENTREMETIDO, a, adj. interposed, put between.
Homem entremetido, a meddler, a busy-body, a ferret, one that hunts another in his privacies, a forward man that has a fine way of winning upon company.
ENTREMETIME'NTO. See INTERPOSIÇÃO, and INTERVENÇÃO.
ENTREMEIO, f. m. a sort of lace that is sewed, or stitched in; also the space between two things.
Neste entremeyo, mean time, mean while, in the mean time, in the mean while, while these things are doing, while that passed on.
Entremeyo, a, adj. compound, or made up of two. (Speaking of colours.)
ENTREPANNO, f. m. (speaking of a shelf for books) the board that separates the shelves that are on the right from those that are on the left hand.
ENTREPOLAÇÃO. See INTERPOLAÇÃO.
ENTREPOLADO, &c. See INTERPOLADO, &c.
ENTREPOR, v. a. to put between, to set between, to interpose. From the Lat. interpono.
Entrepor a sua autoridade, to interpose one's authority.
Entrepor-se, v. r. to interpose, or intermeddle in a business.
O que se entrepoem, an interposer, one that comes between others.
ENTREPOR'TAS, ex. Tomar-se no entreportas, he could not escape, or get away.
ENTREPOSIÇÃO. See INTERPOSIÇÃO.
ENTREPOSTO. See INTERPOSTO.
ENTREPRENDER. See INTERPRENDER.
ENTREPRENDIDO. See INTERPRENDIDO.
ENTREPRE'ZA, or INTERPREZA, f. f. (a military word) ex. Tomar por entrepreza, to take by surprize.
ENTRESACHADO, a, adj. See
ENTRESACHAR, v. a. to put, to set, or plant between, to thrust in among; also to interweave, to intertwine, or intertwist.
ENTRESOLHO, f. m. a room taken out between two floors.
ENTRETALHADO,

ENT

ENTRETALHADO, a, adj. See ENTRETALHAR, v. a. to cut a paper, skin, &c. into elegant forms, or figures; also to cut, or chop in.
ENTRETALHO, f. m. the act of cutting paper, &c. or the work itself. See ENTALHAR.
ENTRETANTO, adv. in the mean while, in the mean time.
Nesse entretanto, or Nesse entremeyo. See ENTREMEYO.
No entretanto que, whilst, while.
No entretanto que vos fareis aquillo eu farey isso, while you do that, I shall do this.
ENTRETECE'R, v. a. to interweave, to interwist, to intertwine.
ENTRETECIDO, a, adj. interwoven, interwove, or interweaved. See ENTRETECE'R.
ENTRETE'LA, f. f. a cloth put between the lining and the cloth.
ENTRETALADO, a, adj. See ENTRETALA'R, v. a. to put any thing between the lining and the cloth. (Among tailors.)
ENTRETENTDA, f. f. tergiversation, shift, subterfuge, evasion.
ENTRETEN'IDO, a, adj. diverting, pleasant. See also OCCUPADO.
Capitão entretendo, a captain in half-pay.
ENTRETENIMENTO, f. m. diversion, pastime.
ENTRETE'R, v. a. to divert, to amuse, to keep, to stay, to make stay, to stop, to hold in play, to keep at bay.
Entreter a alguem com boas palavras, to drive one off with fair words and promises.
Entreter a alguem conversando com elle, to entertain one by way of discourse.
Entreter, to ease, assuage, or mitigate; also to detain, or make stay, to hinder.
Entreter-se, v. r. to pass the time pleasantly, to divert one's self.
Entreter-se em cousas frivolas, to stand trifling, to loiter, to dally one's time.
Entreter-se, to bestow one's pains and time about something, to mind, to be taken up with a thing.
Entreter-se, to stay, to tarry, or sojourn.
ENTRETI'DO, a, adj. amused, &c. according to the v. ENTRETER.
ENTRETIMENTO. See ENTRETENIMENTO.
ENTREVADO, a, adj. impotent, that has lost the use of his limbs.
ENTREV'ALLO. See INTERVALLO.
ENTREVAR, v. n. to be impotent, to lose the use of the limbs.
ENTREVIDO. See INTERVIDO.
ENTREVIR. See INTERVIR.
ENTRIDA, f. f. a kind of food made of crumbs of bread soaked in water; also a panada, caudle, or such like.
ENTRINCHEYRADO, a, adj. See ENTRINCHEYRAR.
ENTRINCHEYRAME'NTO, f. m. a pit, or ditch, round an intrenchment.
ENTRINCHEYRA'R, v. a. to intrench, or fortify with intrenchments.
Entrincheyrar-se, v. r. to intrench, to fence, or fortify one's self with intrenchments.
ENTRISTECE'R, v. a. to make sad.
Entristecer-se, v. r. to grow sad, or melancholy.
ENTRODUCCAM. See INTRODUCCAM.
ENTRODUZIDO, &c. See INTRODUZIDO, &c.

ENV

ENTRONCADO, a, adj. See ENTRONCA'R, v. n. (in genealogy) to spring, or proceed from the same stock, or head of a family.
ENTRONIZADO, a, adj. See ENTRONIZA'R, v. a. to throne, to set upon the throne; also to raise, to prefer, or advance.
ENTROSA, f. f. a dented wheel in an oil-press.
ENTROUXADO. See ENFARDELLADO.
ENTROUXAR. See ENFARDELLAR.
ENTRUDADO, &c. See INTRUDADO, &c.
ENTRU'DO. See INTRUDO.
ENTRUGIR, (in cant) to understand.
ENTULHADO, a, adj. See ENTULHA'R, v. a. to fill up a ditch, pit, &c. with rubbish, or ruins of some buildings.
ENTULHO, f. m. rubbish, shards, rough, rugged stones, or something like, to fill up a pit or wall with.
ENTUMECER. See INTUMECER.
ENTUMECIDO. See INTUMECIDO.
ENTUPIDO, a, adj. See ENTUPIR, to stop, to close any aperture, to obstruct.
ENTUSIASMO. See ENTHUSIASMO.
ENVASADO, a, adj. See ENVASAR.
ENVASADURA, f. f. (with ship-wrights) the stocks. Largar a envasadura, is for a ship to be launched.
ENVASAME'NTO, f. m. the broadest and lowest part of a pillar, &c. the foot, or base of it.
ENVASAR, v. a. to put into vessels; also to make an ENVASAMENTO, which see.
ENVASILHAR, v. a. to put into vessels. From VASILHA, which see.
ENVEJA, f. f. envy. Com enveja, or por enveja, enviously.
Cousa que move a enveja, enviable, such as may excite envy.
ENVEJADO, a, adj. See ENVEJA'R, v. a. to envy, to hate another for excellence, happiness, or success.
ENVEJO'SO, adj. envious, infected with envy.
Pessoa envejosa, an envier, one that envies another.
ENVELHECE'R, v. a. to make old.
Envelhecer, v. n. to grow old. From velho, old.
ENVELHECIDO, a, adj. See the v. ENVELHECER.
ENVENCILHADO, ENVENCILHAR. See EMBARACADO, EMBARACAR.
ENVENTANADO, a, adj. See ENVENTANA'R-SE, v. r. (at billiards) ex. Enventamar-se a bola, is for an ivory ball to be cast in at a window without falling into the hazard.
ENVERDECE'R, v. a. to make green, or flourishing.
Enverdecer, v. n. to wax green.
ENVERDECIDO, a, adj. See the v. ENVERDECER.
ENVERGADA vela, a sail tied to the yard.
ENVERGAR velas, (a sea phrase) to tie the sails to the yards. From verga, a yard.
ENVERGONHADO, a, adj. See ENVERGONHA'R, v. a. to shame; or disgrace, to make one ashamed. From vergonha, shame.
Envergonhar-se, v. r. to be ashamed, or bashful, to blush.

ENV

ENVERQUES, f. m. p. (a sea term) the ropes with which the sail is fastened to the sail-yard.
ENVERNIZADO, a, adj. See ENVERNIZA'R, v. a. to varnish.
ENVE'S. See AVESSO.
ENVESTIDA. See INVESTIDA.
ENVESTIDO, &c. See INVESTIDO, &c.
ENVIADO, f. m. an envoy, a public minister sent from one power to another, a minister of a lower degree than an ambassador.
Enviado, a, adj. See ENVIAR, v. a. to send.
ENVIA'DO, a, adj. See ENVIDA'R, v. a. to vie at cards, to sit at hazard.
Envidar o resto, to throw at all, at dice.
Envidar de fulto, throw a levent.
ENVIEZADO, a, adj. See ENVIEZA'R, v. a. to cut overhanging; also to place obliquely, or sideways.
Enviezar as velas, to veer the sails.
Enviezar, v. n. to go slanting, or sloping.
ENVILECE'R, v. n. to grow vile.
ENVILECIDO, a, adj. growing vile, or base.
ENVINAGRADO. See AZEDADO.
ENVINAGRAR. See AZEDAR.
ENVISCADO, a, adj. limed. See also ENVISCA'R, v. a. to lime, to smear with lime. From visco, bird-lime.
Enviscar-se, v. r. to be entangled, or caught with bird-lime.
Vara enviscada, a lime twig.
ENVITE, f. m. vying at any game, setting a hazard.
ENVIUADO, a, adj. widowed, deprived of a husband or wife.
ENVIUAR, v. n. to be made a widow, or a widower, to be deprived of a husband or wife.
Fazer enviuvar huma mulher, to widow, to deprive a woman of a husband.
ENULA camp'na, f. f. the herb called eli-campane.
ENUMERAÇAM, f. f. enumeration.
Fazer a enumeraçam, to enumerate, or reckon up.
ENUNCIACAM, f. f. enunciation.
ENVO'LTÁ, ex. De envolta, or devolta, confusedly, one with another, promiscuously, in common, without any order, or regularity.
ENVO'LTO, a, adj. wrapped up.
Envolto, (turvo.) See TURVO.
Envolto, (metido.) See METIDO.
Envolto em pranto, bathed with tears.
Envolto em sono, that is sound or fast asleep. See also the v. ENVOLVER.
ENFOLTO'RIO, f. m. any thing that is tied in a bundle. See also INVOLUTO'RIO.
Cuberta do envoltorio, a sarplier, any thing to pack up merchandize in paper, or other stuff, wherein tradesmen wrap their several wares.
ENVOLVEDO'R, ENVOLVEDOURO, or Cuberta do envoltorio. See ENVOLTO'RIO.
ENVOLVEDO'URO para hum menino, a swathing-band.
ENVOLVE'R, v. a. to wrap, or fold in, to involve.
Envolver em sombra, em trevas, &c. See ESCURECER.
Envolver, to contain, to hold, or comprehend.
Envolver.

Enxolver-se, v. r. to go among, to intrude one's self.

ENXABIDO. See DESENXABIDO.

ENXACÁ, f. f. one side of a great basket.

ENXACOÇO, f. m. one that speaks a broken or mixt language.

Fallar enxacoço, to speak a broken language.

ENXADA, f. f. (in agriculture) a mattock, a hoe, an instrument to cut up the earth, of which the blade is at right angles with the handle.

ENXADADA, f. f. a stroke with a hoe.

ENXADAM, f. m. See ALVIAM.

ENXADREZ. See XADREZ.

ENXADREZADO, a, adj. See EMPEQUETADO.

ENXAGOADO, a, adj. full of waterish matter; also rinsed, &c. See

ENXAGUAR, v. a. to rinse, or wash.

Enxaguar hum copo, to rinse a glass.

Enxaguar a boca, to wash one's mouth.

ENXALMOS da besta, the pannels of a pack-saddle, or any thing else to keep the burdens in equilibrium.

ENXAMBRADO, a, adj. half wet.

ENXAME, f. m. ex. Enxame de abelhas, a swarm of bees.

Enxame de homens, a company or body of men. It is seldom used in this sense.

Enxame de peixes, a shoal of fishes.

ENXAMEADO, a, adj. See

ENXAMEAR, v. n. to swarm, as bees do.

ENXAQUEÇA, f. f. megrim, a head-ach coming by fits. From the Arab. Acaque, a disrupcion or crack.

ENXARAFIA. See POLAINA.

ENXARCAS, or ENCARSEAS, f. f. p. the shrouds of a ship. See OVENCADURA.

ENXARCADO, a, adj. See

ENXARCAR, v. a. to rig a ship.

ENXAREO, f. m. a sort of sea-fish.

ENXAROPADO, a, adj. See

ENXAROPAR, v. a. to give a syrup.

ENXARROÇO, f. m. a fish of the sea called a frog-fish.

ENXAYAM. See SAYAM.

ENXEÇO, f. m. (an antiquated word.) See DANO.

ENXELHARIA. See SILHARIA.

ENXEQUETADO. See ENXADREZADO.

ENXERÇA, f. f. a sort of straw-bed they use to put upon a pack-saddle.

ENXERGADO, a, adj. See ENXERGAR.

ENXERGAM, f. m. a straw-bed.

ENXERGAR, v. a. to discover, to perceive by the eye, to descry.

ENXERIDO. } See { ENXIRIDO.

ENXERIR. } See { ENXIRIR.

ENXERTADEIRA, f. f. a grafting-knife.

ENXERTADO, a, adj. See ENXERTAR.

ENXERTADO'R, f. m. a grafter.

ENXERTAR, v. a. to graft, or graft.

A açam de enxertar, grafting.

Enxertar de borbulha, or de brulha, to inoculate trees.

A açam de enxertar de borbulha, the inoculation of trees.

O que enxerta de borbulha, an inoculator, one that practises the inoculation of trees.

Enxertar, ou meter o garfo de sacada. See SACADA.

Enxertar de estado, to graft by a scutcheon.

When this sort of grafting is made in the top of trees, they call it enxertar de coroa.

PART L

Enxertar, (in a figurative sense) to insert; to place in or amongst other things; also to graft, or insert into a place or body to which it did not originally belong.

ENXERTARIO, f. m. (in a ship) parrel.

Tirar o enxertario, to unparrel.

ENXERTIA, f. f. the act of grafting, or ingrafting; so they also call any numbers of trees that are ingrafted.

Enxertia de sacada, whip-grafting. See SACADA.

ENXERTO, f. m. a grafted-tree.

ENXI DO, f. m. a little farm, or manor.

ENXIRIDO, f. m. See

ENXIRIR, v. a. to insert, or to place in or amongst other things.

ENXO', f. f. an addice, or as we corruptly speak and write adze.

ENXOFRA'DO, a, adj. See SULFURADO.

ENXOFRA'R, v. a. to dress or smoke with brimstone.

ENXOFRE, f. m. brimstone.

Causa que cheira a enxofre, ou tem enxofre, sulphureous.

ENXOTADO, a, adj. See

ENXOTAR, v. a. to scare, to fright away, to drive away. (Chiefly hurtful things, as flies from the face, birds from the corn, &c.)

Enxotar huma bea occasiam, to slip, or let slip a fair opportunity.

Enxotar, to expel, cast off, (as grief, melancholy, &c.)

ENXOVA, f. f. a sort of small tunny; also an anchovy, a little sea-fish.

ENXOVA'L, f. m. the new linen cloaths belonging to the bride.

ENXOVALHADO, or ENSOVALHADO, a, adj. filthy, nasty.

Enxovalhado, (desalinhado.) See DESALINHADO, and ENXOVALHAR, or ENSOVALHAR, v. a. to defile, to besoul.

Enxovalhar a reputaçam de alguem, to stain, to blur, or blemish one's reputation.

Enxovalhar, (deslustrar.) See DESLUSTRAR.

Enxovalhar com palavras, to abuse, to rail, or affront.

Enxovalhar com pancadas, to beat, or trounce one, to belabour him.

Enxovalhar-se, v. r. to grow dirty, filthy, or nasty.

ENXOYA, f. f. a dungeon, a close prison; generally spoke of a prison, when it is dark or subterraneous.

ENXUGADO, a, adj. See

ENXUGAR, v. a. to dry.

Enxugar ao ar, to air.

Enxugar ao sol, to sun, to set, or dry in the sun.

Enxugar as mãos, to wipe the hands.

Enxugar as proprias lagrimas, to wipe off one's tears.

O vento enxuga os caminhos, the wind dries up the way.

Rodilha, ou pano que serve para enxugar, a wiping-clout.

Rodilha para enxugar os pratos, a dishclout.

O que enxuga, a wiper.

A açam de enxugar, wiping, &c. according to the v.

ENXUGO, f. m. ex. Tomar enxugo, to grow dry.

ENXULHA, f. f. so they call the fat in the bird's belly, after having been well fed in the moulting or mewing.

ENXUNDIA, or ENXUNDA, f. f. axunge, or axungia, fat, fuel, grease; but most properly the lump of fat in a hen's or any other fowl's belly.

ENXURDADO, a, adj. See

ENXURDAR-SE, v. r. to tumble, to wallow, to welter, or grovel in dirt, as swine and other beasts do.

ENXURDEIRO, f. m. mire, slough, mud.

ENXURRADA, f. f. a torrent, a sudden stream raised by showers.

ENXURRO, f. m. See ENXURRADA.

Enxurro de gente, crowd, or throng of people. (Metaph.)

ENXUTO, a, adj. dry, without moisture; also dried up, dried.

Elle passou a pé enxuto, he went over dry.

Que tem olhos enxutos, that has dry eyes.

Enxuto, (magro.) See MAGRO.

Homem enxuto, a man that speaks but few words, and at the same time is crabbed, morose, and surly.

ENZINHEIRA, f. f. a kind of oak tree, called by some holm, the scarlet oak.

Causa de pau de enzinheira, of holm, or made of holm.

ENZO'L, f. m. See ANZOL.

EOLIPILA, f. f. æolipyle, or æolopyle, an ancient device to help smoking chimneys; also in hydraulics, a round hollow ball made of metal, with a neck and small hole, which being about two third parts filled with water, and set on the fire, the vaporous air will break forth with a great noise and violence. An instrument called hermetic bellows.

EO'O, (in poetry) eastern.

EPACTA, f. f. epact, the eleven days which the common solar year hath above the common lunar year. Greek.

EPANAPHORA, f. f. a figure, when divers clauses begin with one and the same word. Greek. See also RELAÇAM.

EPATICA, f. f. liver-wort, a sort of plant.

EPENTHESIS, the putting in a letter, or syllable, in the middle of a word.

EPHEBO, f. m. EFEBÔ.

EPHEMERIAO. See EPHEMERO.

EPHEMERIDES, f. f. p. ephemerides, astronomical tables.

EPHEMERO, or EPHEMERON, f. m. the herb hemiodactyl, or as others, May-lilies, lily of the valleys. Greek.

EPHIALTA. } See { PESADELO.

EPHIMERA. } See { EPHEMERO.

EPHIMERO, a, adj. ephemeran, of one day, or that lasts but one day.

Febre ephimera, an ephemeran-ague, a day-ague, an ague of one day.

EPHO'D, f. m. ephod, a garment used by the Jewish priests.

EPHORO, f. m. ephorus, a judge of great power among the Lacedæmonians.

EPIALA, (in medicine) febre epiala, epiala, a continual fever, wherein the patient feels both heat and cold at once. Greek.

EPICEDIO, f. m. epicedium, a funeral song, or copy of verses in praise of the dead. Greek.

EPICHE'A, or EPIQUE'A, f. f. a mitigation of the rigour of the law according to equity. Greek.

Usar de epichea, to mitigate the rigour of the law, according to equity.

E'PICO, a, adj. epic. Greek.

Poesia epica, epics, epic poetry.

B b

- Poema epico*, an epic poem.
Poeta epico, an epic poet.
EPICYCLO, (in astronomy) an epicycle, a lesser orb, whose centre is the circumference of a greater.
EPIDEMI'A, or DOENÇA epidemica, epidemic, an epidemical disease, a popular disease. Greek.
EPIDEMICO, a, adj. epidemical, epidemic, popular, catching.
EPIDERMIA, f. f. epidermis, the outward thin skin of the body. Greek.
EPIDICTICO. See DEMONSTRATIVO.
EPIPHANIA. See EPIPHANIA.
EPIPHONEMA. See EPIPHONEMA.
EPIGLOTTIS, f. m. (in anatomy) epiglottis, the fifth cartilage of the larynx, the cover of the opening of the windpipe. Greek.
EPIGRAMMA, f. m. an epigram, it is usually taken for a short witty poem, playing upon the fancies and conceits which arise from any kind of subject; also an inscription upon a statue, &c. Greek.
Agudeza do epigramma, the point or sting of an epigram.
O que faz epigrammas, an epigrammatist.
EPIGRAPHE, f. f. epigraph, an inscription on a statue. Greek.
EPILEPSIA, f. f. epilepsy, a falling-sickness; so called because the persons afflicted with it fall down on a sudden. Greek.
Remedios contra a epilepsia, epileptics.
EPILEPTICO, a, adj. epileptical, or epileptic, troubled with an epilepsy.
EPILOGADO. See RECAPITULADO.
EPILOGAR. See RECAPITULAR.
EPILOGO, f. m. an epilogue, a conclusion of a speech. See also RECAPITULACAM. Greek.
EPIMONA, f. f. epimone, a rhetorical figure, when, to move affection, the same word is repeated. Greek.
EPINICIO, f. m. epinicion, a triumphal song after a victory. Greek.
EPIPHANIA, f. f. Epiphany, a church festival, celebrated on the twelfth day after Christmas. It is also called Twelfth-day, or Twelfth-tide. Greek.
EPIPHONEMA, f. f. epiphonema, an exclamation, a figure in rhetoric; a smart close at the end of a narration, or a lively reflection on the subject treated of; as, so inconstant is the favour of princes. Greek.
EPIPHORA, f. f. (in physic) epiphora, a defluxion of humours into any part, but more especially a defluxion of humours in the eyes. Greek.
EPIPLOON. } See { REDENHO.
EPIQUEA. } See { EPICHEA.
EPISCOPALES, f. m. p. Episcopals, or Episcoparians, those of the episcopal party, (in England.)
EPISCOPAL, adj. episcopal, of, or belonging to a bishop.
Palacio episcopal, the bishop's palace.
Dignidade episcopal, episcopacy.
EPISODIO, f. m. episode, a separate story, or action, which a poet connects in the main plot of his poem, in order to give it a plain diversity; as the story of Dido in Virgil.
EPISTOLA, f. f. epistle. Greek.
Clerigo de epistola. See SUBDIACONO.
- EPITAPHIO, f. m. an epitaph, an inscription on a tomb. Greek.
EPITHALAMICO, a, adj. belonging to an epithalamium.
EPITHALAMIO, f. m. an epithalamium, a wedding-song, or poem.
EPITHEMA, or EPITIMA, f. m. an epithem, a liquid medicine. Greek.
Epithema. See REMEDIO.
EPITHE'TO, or EPITE'TO, f. m. an epithet, a word expressing the nature and quality of another word, to which it is joined. Greek.
EPITHIMO, or EPITIMO, f. m. epithyme, a medicinal plant, growing indifferently on all kinds of herbs.
EPITOME. See COMPENDIO.
EPOCA, f. f. epoch, æra, period of time. Greek.
EPO'DICO, a, adj. belonging to an epode.
EPO'DO, f. m. an epode, a pindaric ode; also a title of one of Horace's books.
EPOPEA, or EPOPEIA, f. f. epopea, epic poem, epic poetry.
EPULIDA, f. f. (in physic) epulis, an excrescence in the gums.
EQUABILIDADE, f. f. evenness of temper, steadfastness, modesty, equality; also temperateness in cold or heat.
Discurso que tem equabilidade, an even discourse.
EQUACAM, f. f. (in astronomy) equation, the proportioning or regulating of time, or the difference between the time marked out by the apparent motion of the sun, and the time measured by the real or middle motion of it, according to which clocks and watches are to be adjusted.
Equacam, (in algebra) equation, a mutual comparing of things of different denomination; as 3 s. = 36 d.
EQUADOR, f. m. equator, the equinoctial line, called by sailors emphatically the line.
EQUESTRE, adj. equestrian, belonging to a knight; also that represents a man on horseback.
EQUILANGULO, a, adj. equiangular.
EQUIDADE, f. f. equity, justice, right and reason.
EQUIDISTANTE, adj. equidistant.
ENQUILATERO, a, adj. equilateral.
EQUILIBRIO, f. m. equilibrium, or equal balance.
Por em equilibrio, to poise; also to keep the balance even betwixt parties. (Metaph.)
EQUINOCCIAL, adj. equinoctial.
Linha equinoccial. See EQUADOR.
EQUINOCCIO, f. m. equinox.
Equinoccio vernal, the vernal equinox. It is about the twenty-first day of March.
Equinoccio autumnal, the autumnal equinox. It is about the twenty-third of September.
EQUIPAGE, f. f. equipage, accoutrements, furniture, attire.
Equipagem para o mar. See ESQUIPACAM.
EQUIPARADO, a, adj. See
EQUIPARAR, v. a. to compare, to match, to set together, to make equal.
EQUIPENDENCIA, f. f. equiponderance, or equiponderancy. See EQUILIBRIO.
EQUIPOLLENCIA, f. f. equipollence.
EQUIPOLLENTE, adj. equipollent, that is of equal force or signification.
EQUISETO, f. m. See CAVALLINHA.
- EQUISSIMO, a, adj. most just, or upright.
EQUIVALENCIA, f. f. equivalent, or equivalency.
EQUIVALENTE, adj. equivalent, of equal value, force, power, or weight.
EQUIVALER, v. n. to be equal, or correspond with, to have an equal value with another.
EQUIVOCACAM, f. f. equivocation, a double meaning, equivocalness. See also ERRO.
Jurar sem equivocacão, to swear point-blank, to swear with a safe conscience.
EQUIVOCADO, a, adj. See
EQUIVOCAR-SE, v. r. to mistake, to make a mistake, to take one thing or person for another.
EQUIVOCO, a, adj. equivocal, of doubtful signification, meaning different things.
Geraçamequivoca, (in philosophy) equivocal generation.
Equivoco, f. m. equivocal, ambiguity, a word of doubtful meaning.
Por equivoccos, equivocally, ambiguously.
Usar de equivoccos, to equivocate, to use words of double meaning.
O que usa de equivoccos, an equivocator, one who uses ambiguous language, one who uses mental reservation.
EQUOREO, a, adj. (in poetry) equorean, belonging to the sea.
EQUULEO, f. m. an instrument of torture made like a horse.
ERA, f. f. See EPOCA.
Era. See ANNO, TEMPO, and IDADE.
Cousa que não tem era, or que se lhe passou a era, a very old thing, a thing out of date.
Era, ou anno que se poem no dinheiro, the date of a coin.
Era. See HERA.
ERANÇA. See HERANÇA.
ERARIO, f. m. the exchequer.
ERATO, f. f. Erato, one of the nine Muses.
EREBOS, f. m. Erebus, an infernal poetical deity, said to be the father of Night and Hell. It is taken for hell.
ERECÇAM. See INSTITUIÇAM, and FUNDAÇAM.
ERECTO. See ERICIDO.
ERECTOR. See FUNDADOR, and INSTITUIDOR.
ERGER. } See { ERIGIR.
ERIGIDO. } See { ERIGIDO.
EREMITA, f. m. an anchorite, a hermit, an anchoret, an eremite.
Cousa pertencente a hum eremita, eremitical.
EREMITERIO. See ERMIDA.
EREMITICO, a, adj. eremitical.
EREMITORIO, f. m. See ERMIDA.
ERGASTULO, f. m. a prison, a house of correction.
ERGO, (a scholastical word) therefore. Lat.
ERGUE'R, v. a. to raise up, to erect, or make upright. See also LEVANTAR.
Erguer-se, v. r. to rise, to get or stand up.
ERGUIDO, a, adj. raised, &c. according to the v. ERGUER, and ERGUER-SE.
ERICTHONIO, f. m. Erichonius, a constellation; the same as Auriga.
ERIDANO, f. m. the river Po, in Italy; also Eridanus, a southern constellation of twenty-eight stars.
ERIGIDO, a, adj. See
ERIGIR, v. a. to erect, to raise, to set up;

- also to erect, or build, to establish anew, to settle.
- Erigir huma estatua a alguém*, to erect a statue to, or for one.
- O que erige*, an erecter, or erecter.
- A acção de erigir*, erecting, or erection.
- ERISIPÉLA*, or ERYSIPELA, f. f. a swelling full of heat and redness, a sore commonly called St. Antony's fire.
- Erisipela não verdadeira*, erysipelatodes, a bastard erysipelas.
- ERISIPELATOSO*, a, adj. (in physic) erysipelalous, belonging to, or of the nature of an erysipelas.
- ERITREO*. See ERYTREO.
- ERMANADO*. See IRMANADO.
- ERMANAR*. See IRMANAR.
- ERMIDA*, f. f. a hermitage, the cell, or habitation of a hermit with a chapel by it.
- ERMITA*. See EREMITA.
- ERMITO'A*, f. f. a hermitess, a woman retired to devotion.
- ERMITO'RIO*, f. m. See ERMIDA.
- ERMO*, f. m. a wilderness, a desert, a solitary place.
- Ermo*, a, adj. See SOLITARIO, and FALTO.
- Estar ermo*, to want, to be wanting.
- ERMODATILAS*. See HERMODATILO.
- ERNIA*. See HERNIA.
- ERODENTE*. (In physic.) See CORROSIVO.
- ERO'E*. See HEROE.
- EROGADO*. See D'ADO, and DISTRIBUIDO.
- EROGAR*. See DAR, and DISTRIBUIR.
- EROICO*. See HEROICO.
- EROTICO*, a, adj. belonging to the passion of love.
- ERPES*. See HERPES.
- ERRADAMENTE*, adv. erroneously.
- ERRADICADO*. See DESARRAIGADO.
- ERRADICAR*. See DESARRAIGAR.
- ERRADICATIVAMENTE*, adv. (in physic) radically.
- ERRADICATIVO*, a, adj. (in physic) eradivative, that which cures radically.
- ERRADO*, a, adj. mistaken.
- Mulher errada*. See PECCADORA.
- Hir errado*, to be out of the way.
- Vacca errada*, a cow that does not bring forth young every year. See also the v. ERRAR.
- ERRANTE*, p. aét. erring, errant, wandering, erratic, going astray.
- O que anda errante*, ou vagabundo, a wanderer.
- Estado, ou condição de hum que anda errante*, errantry.
- Esírel's errantes*, the seven planets, or errant stars.
- ERRAR*, v. a. to miss, not to hit; also to mistake, to take one thing for another.
- Errar o tiro, atirando ao alvo*, to miss the mark, (in shooting.)
- Errar o tiro*, (metaph.) to miss one's aim, (in an undertaking.)
- Errar fogo*, to miss fire, (as a gun.)
- Arma que errá fogo*, a gun that misfires.
- Errar o caminho*, to lose one's way.
- Errar a cura ao enfermo*, to apply wrong medicines, to mistake the method of cure.
- Errar o nome a alguém*, to miscall one, to give him a wrong name.
- Errar totalmente o norte*, to be in a great error; or, as we commonly say, to be in the wrong box.
- Errar e intate*, to deviate from the purpose.
- Sujeito a errar*, errable.
- Qualidade, ou condição do que está sujeito a errar*, errableness, liability to error.
- Errar*, v. n. to wander, to ramble. See also ENGANAR-SE.
- ERRATAS*, f. f. p. the errata, the faults of the printer, inserted in the beginning or end of a book.
- ERRÁTICO*, a, adj. erratic, keeping no certain order.
- Febre errática*, erratic fever.
- Estrellas erráticas*, or errantes. See ERRANTE.
- ERRHINO*, a, adj. (in physic) ex. Medicamento errhino, errhine, a medicine snuffed up the nose, occasioning sneezing.
- ERRICADO*, a, adj. See ERRICAR.
- ERRICAR*, v. a. to make the hair stand up, or rise on-end.
- Erricar-se*, v. r. to stand on-end, to stare.
- ERRO*, f. m. error or mistake; also error, folly. See also CULPA.
- Erro*, a fault, a mistake, or scape in writing, &c. an oversight, or blunder.
- Erro no nome*, miscalling.
- Erro na conta*, a mistake in reckoning.
- Por erro*, by chance, not designedly, without a design.
- Causa feita por erro*, an undesigned thing.
- ERRONEO*, a, adj. erroneous, false, mistaken.
- Opinião erronea*, an erroneous opinion.
- Consciência erronea*, an erroneous conscience.
- ERRO'NIA*, f. f. an error, an erroneous opinion.
- ERRO'R*, f. m. a sin, a fault; also wildness, want of plain path. See also ERRO.
- ERVA*, f. f. herb, herbage in general. Herbs are those plants whose stalks are soft, and have nothing woody in them, as grass, hemlock, &c.
- Produzir erva*, to grass, to breed grass.
- Verde como erva*, green like grass.
- Que produz erva*, bringing forth herb or grass.
- Cuberto de ervas*, herbed, covered with herbs.
- Que brota em ervas*, herbescient, growing into herbs.
- Começam a brotar as ervas*, the herbs come, shoot, or peep out of the ground.
- Cbeo de ervas*, herbous, abounding with herbs.
- Que contem ervas*, herbulent.
- Que tem natureza de ervas*, herby, having the nature of herbs.
- O que entende de ervas*, herbalist, herbarist, a man skilled in herbs.
- O que he curioso de ervas*, herbalist, one curious in herbs.
- Mulher que vende ervas*, herb-woman, a woman that sells herbs.
- Livro que contem o nome e descripção das ervas*, an herbal.
- Erva pequena*, herbelet, a small herb.
- Que se nutre de ervas*, herbaceous, feeding on vegetables.
- Pertencente a ervas*, herbaceous, belonging to herbs.
- Ervas para a cozinha*, pot-herbs.
- Ervas cheirosas*, sweet-herbs.
- Ervas medicinaes*, physical-herbs.
- Sopa feita com ervas*, herb-pottage.
- Torção de terra com erva e raiz*, a turf, a clod covered with grass.
- Erva andorinha*. See ANDORINHA.
- Erva babosa*. See BABOSA.
- Erva benta*, or valeriana, valerian, or great set-wall.
- Erva campana*. See ENULA campana.
- Erva cidreira*. See CIDREIRA.
- Erva crina*, the herb called the little gemander. Trifago minor.
- Erva das almoreimas*, or escrefularia, the herb called scrophularia, blind-nettle, pile-wort, fig-wort.
- Erva de besteiros*. See ELLEBORO.
- Erva de S. João*. St. John's wort.
- Erva dos telhados*, or uvas de caô. See UVA.
- Erva dos passarinhos*. See POLYGONO.
- Erva dos pegamentos*, or erva do affito, the great clot-bur, or burdock.
- Erva dos pegamentos menor*, the lesser clot-bur, ditch-bur, house-bur.
- Erva gigante*. See BRANCA-URSINHA.
- Erva leiteira*, or Erva maleiteira, or Maleita, an herb called spurge, of which there are divers sorts.
- Sumo da erva leiteira*, the devil's milk.
- Erva maleirinha*, or fumo da terra, fumitory, or earth-smoke.
- Erva moura*, an herb called nightshade, or banewort.
- Erva turca*, rupture-wort.
- Erva noiva*, winter-cherry; a sort of nightshade. It is also called alkakengi.
- Erva piolheira*, louse-wort, lice-bane, or staves-acre.
- Erva santa*. See TABACO.
- Erva de santa Maria*, spear-mint.
- Erva sempre noiva*, knot-grass.
- Erva sempre viva*, the herb called sea-house-leek.
- Erva ulla*. See SERPOL.
- Filho das ervas*, an obscure person. The Latins say, Terra filius.
- Erva*, (among jewellers) any spot in the precious stone called emerald.
- Erva má que nasce por si mesma, e que he inutil*, weed, any useless herb that grows by itself.
- ERVACAL*, f. m. an herbous place.
- ERVADO*, f. m. See ERVAÇAL.
- ERVADO*, a, adj. envenomed, poisoned. See ERVAR.
- ERVAGEM*, f. f. plenty of herbs.
- ERVANÇO*. See GRAM.
- ERVAR*, v. a. to envenom, to poison, by rubbing with poisonous herbs.
- ERVATO*. See ERVADO.
- ERUDICAM*, f. f. erudition, learning.
- ERUDITAMENTE*, adv. learnedly, skillfully.
- ERUDITO*, a, adj. learned, skilful.
- ERUGINOSO*, a, adj. rusty, cankered, eaten with rust.
- ERVILHA*, f. f. a pea.
- ERVILHAÇA*, f. f. the pulse called a vetch, or tare.
- ERVILHAL*, f. m. a place sowed with peas.
- ERVINHA*, f. f. See ERVA pequena.
- Ervinha*, fenugreek, a plant.
- ERVODO*. See MEDRONHEIRO.
- ERVOIARIO*, f. m. an herbarist, or herbarist; a man skilled in herbs.
- ERYTHREO*, a, adj. ex. Mar Erythro, or Mar Vermelho, the Red Sea.
- Sibylla erythra*. See SIBYLLA.
- Hum es não es*. See NONNADA.
- ESBAFORDO*, a, adj. busy, haily, that cometh or goeth in post-haste.
- ESBAGOADO*. See DESBAGOADO.
- ESBAGOAR*. See DESBAGOAR.
- ESBAGULHADO*, a, adj. See ESBAGULHAR.
- ESBAGULHAR*, v. a. to take out the grape stones, or kernels.

ESBAMBALHAR, (A ludicrous word.) See DESCOMPOR, and DESCONCERTAR.
ESBANDALHADO. See ESFARRAPADO.
ESBANDALHAR. See ESFARRAPAR.
ESBANJAR, (A ludicrous word.) See GASTAR, and DISSIPAR.
ESBARRADO, a, adj. See
ESBARRAR, v. n. to slip, to slide, not to tread firm.
Esfarrar, v. a. to dash, to throw any thing against another.
ESBARRONDADEIRO, f. m. a slippery place, not affording firm footing. See also DESPENHADEIRO.
ESBOFA'DO, a, adj. short-winded, breathing thick and short, puffing and blowing, out of breath.
ESBOFETE'DO, a, adj. See
ESBOFETER, v. a. to give many blows, or slaps on the cheek with the open hand, to buffet.
ESBOMBARDE'DO, a, adj. See
ESBOMBARDEAR, v. a. to batter, to beat, to beat down. It is used speaking of walls thrown down by artillery, or bombarding. From bombarda, a bombard.
ESBORO'DO, a, adj. See
ESBOROAR, v. a. to powder, or bring a thing to powder.
Esborear-se, v. r. to be made into powder, or into dust.
Esborear a terra. See GRADAR.
ESBORRACHA'DO, a, adj. See
ESBORRACHAR, v. a. to burst, to break suddenly, to make a quick and violent disruption, to make fly open.
Esborrachar-se, v. r. to burst, to break or fly open.
ESBORROLHADO'URO. See VARREDOURO.
ESBRAGUILHA'DO, adj. that has the cod-piece unbuttoned.
ESBRANQUIÇA'DO, a, adj. whitish, somewhat white, inclining to white, pale, wan.
ESBRAVEJA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESBRAVEJAR, v. n. to rage, or roar, to make a loud noise, to be in a great passion or commotion of mind.
Isto me faz esbravejar, I am mad at it.
ESBRUGADO. See ESBURGADO.
ESBRUGAR. See ESBURGAR.
ESBUGALHA'DO, a, adj. prominent, protuberant, standing out beyond the near parts.
Olhos esbugalhados, prominent eyes. See also ESBUGALHAR.
Que tem os olhos esbugalhados, full-eyed.
ESBUGALHAR, v. a. to powder any thing with the fingers.
ESBULHA'DO, a, adj. See
ESBULHAR, v. a. to dispossess of, to put out of possession.
Esbulhar, (despojar.) See DESPOJAR.
Esbulhar a alguém, ou buscar nos vestidos, o que alguém traz sobre si, to search one.
ESEULHO, f. m. an usurpation, a forcible, unjust, illegal seizure, or possession; also a booty or prey gained from the enemy.
Fazer esbulhos, to usurp, to possess by force, or intrusion, to seize, or possess without right.
ESBURACA'DO, a, adj. See ESBURACAR, v. a. to bote, to make many holes.

ESBURGADO, a, adj. See
ESBURGAR, v. a. to shell; also to skin, to take off the skin.
Esburgar ervilhas, ou favas, to shell peas or beans, to slip beans, &c. out of their skins. See also APARAR.
ESBUXADO. See DESLOCADO.
ESLUXAR. See DESLOCAR.
ESCABE'CHE. See ESCAVECHE.
ESCAPELLA'DO, a, adj. dishevelled, whose hair hangs loose.
ESCABE'LLO, f. m. a joint-stool.
ESCABIO'SA, f. f. scabius, a plant.
ESCABRO'SO, a, adj. disagreeable to the touch, hard, sharp; also rough, rugged, uneven, craggy, or craggy.
Escabroso, difficult, hard, intricate, perplexed, dangerous, perilous, ticklish.
Negocio escabroso, an intricate business.
Escabroso, boorish, untractable, ill-natured, churlish, cross.
Escabroso, disagreeable to the ears, harsh, grating.
Escabroso, f. m. roughness, harshness, unpleasantness, &c. according to the adj.
ESCABRASO.
ESCABUJA'R, v. n. to struggle, to endeavour to get rid of, or from.
ESCAÇAME'NTE. See ESCASSAMEN-TE.
ESCAÇEA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESCAÇEAR, v. n. (a sea term) ex. Escalea o vento, the wind lies or slackens. See also ESCASSEAR.
ESCAÇE'ZA. See ESCASSEZA.
ESCAÇA'DO, a, adj. See ESCACHAR.
ESCACHAPECEGUEIRO, (a ludicrous word) ex. Mentira de escachapecegueiro, a great lye.
ESCACHAPE'RNAS, adv. ex. Andar a cavallo as escachapernas, to ride straddling, as men do.
ESCACHAR, v. a. to cleave, to part asunder; also to make spangles of gold or silver.
ESCAÇO. See ESCASSO.
ESCA'DA, f. f. a ladder, stair-case, or stairs.
Subir as escadas, to go up stairs.
Tabuleiro da escada, ou espaço, que se deixa depois de alguns degraus da escada, e que serve para descansar, foot-pace; some call it half-pace, pallier, or paillier.
Escada secreta e de caracol, a private and winding stair-case.
Escada ruim de subir, an ugly pair of stairs.
Escada para escalar cidades, ou fortalezas, scaling-ladders.
Degraus de huma escada de mão, the round of a ladder, or a ladder-step.
Escada que se põem no lado do navio para subir a elle, entering ladder.
Escada de corda, rope-ladder.
Escada de caracol. See CARACOL.
Cordas atravessadas na enxarcia que servem de escada, rattlings, the steps of the ship-shrouds.
Escada de mão, a hand-ladder.
Causa concernente a escada, of a ladder.
A modo de escada, ladderwise.
ESCA'DEA, f. f. See ESGALHOS de uvas.
ESCADELECE'R, v. n. (An antiquated word.) See DORMITAR.
ESCADELEC'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESCADELECER.
ESCAFEDER, v. n. (a jocose word) to slip out, to slip, or steal away, to slink secretly.

Escaleder-se, v. r. idem.
ESCAGALHAR-SE. See ESCANALHAR-SE.
ESCAIMBO, or ESCAMBO. See TROCA.
ESCALA, f. f. (a military word) ex. Lever a escala vista, to scale, to storm, to carry by scalado.
Escala, (in cosmography) the scale of a map.
Escala, a sea-port town, a place of trade to which ships resort.
ESCALADA, f. f. (a military word) a scaling, or scalado, a storming with ladders.
ESCALADO, a, adj. See ESCALAR.
ESCALAMORCADO. See ESCALAVRADO.
ESCALAMORCAR. See ESCALAVRAR.
ESCALAR, v. a. to cleave, to part asunder, to cut; also to embowel.
Escarar, (a military word) to scale, to storm, or carry by scalado.
Escarar com açoutes, to slash cruelly.
Escarar, to defame, to taunt, (in a moral sense.)
ESCALAFAN'ES. (A vulgar expression.) See MAROTO.
ESCALAVRA'DO, a, adj. See ESCALAVRAR.
ESCALAVRADURA, f. f. a slight wound.
ESCALAVRAR, v. a. to make a slight wound. See also FERIR, and DAR em alguém.
ESCALDA'DO, a, adj. scalded with hot liquor. See also ESCARMENTADO.
Escaldado, (queimado.) See QUEIMADO, and the v. ESCALDAR.
P. gato escaldado da goa fria há medo; we say, a burnt child dreads the fire.
ESCALDADURA, f. f. a scalding or burning.
ESCALDAR, v. a. to scald, to burn, to parch, to scorch, to dry up.
ESCALE'R, f. m. a barge, a sort of large fine boat used for state or pleasure.
ESCALFADO, a, adj. (speaking of eggs) poached.
ESCALFADO'R, f. m. a vessel of brass, or tin, used to warm water in.
ESCALFAR, v. a. (speaking of eggs) to poach, to boil slightly.
ESCALFURNIO, (a jocose word) ill-natured, cruel.
ESCALHO. } See { BORDALO.
ESCALO. } See { BORDALO.
ESCALRACHIO, f. m. a sort of weed, or noxious herb.
ESCALVA'DO, a, adj. (speaking of fields, mountains, &c.) bare, without corn, grass, or trees.
ESCAMA, f. f. the scale of a fish, a serpent, or other beast.
A modo de escamas, scaly, or in the fashion of scales.
Que tem escamas, rough and full of scales, scaly.
Escala do ouro, prata, &c. a thin leaf, or plate of gold, silver, &c.
ESCAMA'DO, a, adj. See ESCAMAR.
Escamado velhaco, a crafty knave, an old fox.
ESCAMAR o peixe, v. a. to scale fish.
ESCAMBA'DO. See TROCADO.
ESCAMBAR. See TROCAR.
ESCAMBO, ESCAIMBO, or ESCAMBIO. See TROCA.
ESCAMEL, f. m. the frame, or foot-stool of a harness-scowerer.
ESCAMINGERO, a, adj. scaly, having scales.
ESCAMINHA

ESCAMINHA, f. f. a little scale.
ESCAMONE'A, f. f. scammony.
ESCAMOSO, a, adj. scaly, having scales.
ESCAMPADO, a, adj. See
ESCAMPAR, v. n. to cease from rain, to rain no more.
ESCANÇADO, a, adj. lucky. See also EXPERIMENTADO, and VERSADO.
Bem escançado, easily expiated.
ESCANÇAM, f. m. a cup-bearer, one who fills out liquor to drink. From the French echanson.
ESCANÇARAS, ex. As escancarar, openly, publicly.
ESCANÇARADO, a, adj. wide open.
ESCANÇARAR A PORTA, v. a. to set a door wide open.
Escancarar a consciencia, (metaph.) to make no scruple of committing any sin, to break loose into wickedness.
ESCANÇARIA, f. f. the king's wine cellar. From the French echanfonnerie.
ESCANÇADO, a, adj. See
ESCANÇAR-SE, v. r. to set a straddle, to spread, or open one's legs, or stride, to stand with the legs far asunder.
ESCANALIZADO, a, adj. See
ESCANALIZAR, v. a. to scandalize, to give offence. See also OFFENDER.
Escandalizar os ouvidos, to offend chaste ears.
Escandalizar-se, v. r. to take offence, or take pet; to be scandalized, or offended at a thing.
ESCANALO, f. m. scandal, offence, bad example.
Dar escandalo, to raise a scandal.
Pedra de escandalo, a stumbling-block.
ESCANALOSAMENTE, adv. scandalously, in a scandalous manner.
ESCANALOSO, a, adj. scandalous, giving offence.
ESCANDELA. See ESCANDIA.
ESCANDECENCIA, or EXCANDECENCIA, f. f. anger, passion.
ESCANDECER, or EXCANDECER, v. n. to wax very hot.
Escandecer de ira, or Escandecer-se, v. r. to be very angry, to be in a fume.
ESCANDECIDO, a, adj. See the v. ESCANDECER.
ESCANDIA, a sort of large wheat, which makes very white bread.
ESCANHALADO, a, adj. See
ESCANHALAR-SE, v. r. (a jocose word) ex. Escangalhar-se com riso, to split with laughing.
ESCANHOADO, a, adj. See
ESCANHOAR, v. a. (among barbers) to shave very close.
ESCANIFADO, a, adj. (a ludicrous word) very thin or lean.
ESCANINHO, f. m. a small partition or division within a drawer, chest, &c.
ESCANO, f. m. a small bench or form.
ESCANADO. See ESCANÇADO.
ESCANILHAM, f. m. a sort of measure used by those that plant a vineyard, in order to keep the necessary distance among the vines.
ESCAPADO, a, adj. See
ESCAPAR, v. n. to escape, to get away. From caça, a cloak; as it were to run away and leave one's cloak behind; also to shun, to avoid.
Escapar do perigo, to escape a danger.
Dexar escapar huma occasião, to slip an occasion.

Escapou-me da memoria, it has slipped from my memory, I have forgot it.
Nada lhe escapa, nothing escapes his knowledge, he knows every thing.
Escapar a unhas de cavallo, to escape narrowly.
Escapoulhe huma palavra, he let fall, or he dropped a word.
Deume hum avizo que eu não deixei escapar, he gave me an information which I did presently lay hold of.
Escapar de boa, to scape a great danger, to shun it.
ESCAPARATE, f. m. a shew-glass, a glass-box.
ESCAPOLA, f. f. a tenter-hook.
Ecapola, a sea-port, &c. See ESCALA.
ESCAPULA. See SUBTERFUGIO.
ESCAPULARIO, f. m. scapulary, or scapulars, a sanctified piece of stuff, about a foot broad, which monks and nuns wear uppermost over their habits. There are also some scapulars worn by lay-people, but these are out of sight. At Oxford they have this sort of scapulars, and call them a habit.
ESCAPULIDO, a, adj. See
ESCAPULIR, v. n. or Escapulir-se, v. r. to sneak, to creep sily, to go as if afraid to be seen.
ESCAQUES, f. m. p. the little squares of a chess-board.
ESCARA, f. f. the scab of an ulcer, or sore.
ESCARABEO. See ESCARAVELHO.
ESCARAFUNCHADO, a, adj. See
ESCARAFUNCHAR, v. a. (a vulgar word) to scratch, to pick, to scrape, to rake.
Escarafunchar os dentes, to pick one's teeth.
Escarafunchar, to rake into.
ESCARAMUÇA, f. f. a skirmish, a slight fight.
ESCARAMUÇADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESCARAMUÇAR, v. n. to skirmish, to fight loosely.
ESCARAPELA, f. f. a fray among women, or bawdy people, where there are no weapons but their hands, cuffing and scratching. From cara, the face, and pelar, to strip.
ESCARAPELADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESCARAPELAR, v. n. (a vulgar word) to quarrel, to make a fray. See ESCARAPELA.
ESCARAVALHO, f. m. (in gunnery) is what gunners call honey-comb, that is, holes in the metal, and in the interior part of a gun, which is a fault in casting, and dangerous in firing them.
ESCARAVELHA. See ESCARAVALHO.
ESCARAVELHO, f. m. the insect called a beetle.
ESCARÇA, f. f. a sort of disease in a horse's hoof.
ESCARÇADO, a, adj. See
ESCARÇAR, v. a. to take the honey from the hives.
Escarçar-se, v. r. to be ripped, or unfewed.
ESCARCELLA, f. f. a sort of large purse of leather formerly used with a spring in it; also a sort of welt or guard in the armour, or the armour from the waist to the thighs.
ESCARCE'O, f. m. a huge wave, or billow; also a heap.
Escarceo. See ENCARECIMENTO.

Fazer escarceos. See ENCARECER.
ESCARCHA, f. f. ex. Canham de escarcha, a sort of cannon bit, a scatch, a kind of horse bit for bridles. From the French Escarache.
ESCARDILHO, f. m. a tool for husbandry, a rake; or a weed hook.
ESCARDUÇADO, a, adj. See
ESCARDUÇAR, v. a. to card wool.
ESCARFAS. See IGUARIAS. (Obsol.)
ESCARLA'TA, f. f. scarlet dye, cochineal; - also scarlet cloth.
ESCARMENTADO, a, adj. that has taken warning by what he has seen, or suffered. P. dos escarmentados se fazem os arteiros, crafty men are made of those that have taken warning; that is, those who have warning by their own, or others punishment, grow crafty and cautious.
ESCARMENTAR, v. n. to take warning by what one sees, or experiences.
ESCARMENTO, f. m. warning taken by punishment, or experience. Gothic.
ESCARNADO. See DESCARNADO.
ESCARNADO'R, f. m. an iron instrument wherewith the flesh of the gums is parted round about from the teeth in order to draw them.
ESCARNAR. See DESCARNAR hum dente.
ESCARNECEDO'R, or ESCARNICADOR, f. m. a scoffer, a jester, a fleerer, a mocker.
ESCARNECER, v. n. to scoff, to mock, to laugh at, to ridicule, to deride, to jeer or banter.
ESCARNECIDO, a, adj. scoffed, derided, &c. See ESCARNECER.
ESCARNECIMENTO. See
ESCARNEO, f. m. mockery, raillery, banter, contumely, affront, reproach, rebuke, contempt.
ESCARNICADO. See ESCARNECIDO.
ESCARNICAR. See ESCARNECER.
ESCAROLA, f. f. the herb endive.
ESCARPA, f. f. the scarp, or slope of any work in fortification.
Escarpa da chemine. See CHEMINE.
ESCARPADADO, a, adj. sloped, made with a slope. (In fortification.)
Escarpada, craggy, steep, hard, or dangerous to climb, or get up.
ESCARPAR, v. a. ex. Escarpar hum fossô, to make a ditch with a slope.
ESCARPEADA, f. f. a sort of brown bread.
ESCARPI'M, f. m. a linen, or woollen sock.
ESCARRADO, a, adj. See ESCARRAR.
He seu pay escruto e escarrado, he is a lively image of his father, he is as like his father, as if he had been spit out of his mouth.
ESCARRADO'R, f. m. a hawker or hemmer; also, a spitting-box.
ESCARRAMAM, f. m. a sort of little pie, made of mutton, onions, &c.
ESCARRANCHADO. See
ESCARRAPACHADO. See ESCANÇADO.
ESCARRAPACHAR-SE, (a vulgar word.) See ESCANÇAR-SE.
ESCARRAR, v. n. to reach in spitting, to hawk.
Escarrar com violencia, to hem, to spit with a hem.
Escarrar, v. a. ex. Escarrar sangue, to spit blood.

Fazer escarrar alguma cousa a alguém, to pump one; or to pump a thing out of one.

Tanta lidei com ella, que por fim escarroutado, I have so pumped her, that she told me all at last.

A açã de escarrar, hawking.

ESCARRO, f. m. the phlegm which is forced up by hawking, and is thicker than the common spittle or saliva.

ESCARVADO, a, adj. See

ESCARVAR, v. a. to sap, to undermine. See also ESCAVAR.

ESCASEADO, a, adj. See

ESCASEAR, v. a. to peel, to take off the rind or bark, to shell.

ESCASEM'NTE, adv. straitly, sparingly, pinchingly. See also DIFFICILMENTE.

ESCASEADO. See ESCASEADO.

ESCASEAR. See ESCASEAR.

ESCASE'ZA, or ESCASEZA, f. f. niggardliness, covetousness, savingness, sparingness.

ESCA'SSO, a, adj. stingy, too sparing, or too saving, niggardly, pernicious, clofisted.

Esfaffo, light, that is not full weight.

Vento, ou tempo esfaffo, small wind. See also POUCO.

Esfaffo, almost, not quite.

ESCAVA, f. f. the laying open of the roots of vines, or other trees.

ESCAVAC'ADO, a, adj. See

ESCAVACAR, v. a. to chip wood, to cut it into small pieces. From CAVACO, which see.

ESCAVA'DO, a, adj. that has the root laid open.

ESCAVAR, v. a. to lay open the roots of trees, also to scrape about.

ESCAVE'CHE, or ESCABE'CHE, f. m. soufe or pickle for fish, made with wine, lemons, bay-leaves, vinegar, &c.

ESCAVEIRA'DO, a, adj. that has a wan, ghastly look.

ESCHIN'NCIA. See ESQUINANCIA.

ESCIRROSO. See SCIRROSO.

ESCLARECE'R, v. n. to grow bright.

Vem o dia esclarecendo, it dawns, day breaks, it waxes light.

ESCLAREC'IDO, a, adj. grown bright. See also ILLUSTRE.

Eslarecido, f. m. the quality of being light-coloured.

ESCLAV'AGEM, f. f. a sort of ornament formerly worn by the ladies about their neck.

ESCLAV'NA, f. f. a short mantle like a rochet, which pilgrims wear about their shoulders.

ESCO'ADO, a, adj. strained, &c. See the v. ESCOAR.

Esfado de sangue, bloodless.

ESCOADRINHADO. See ESQUADRINHADO.

ESCOADRINHAR. See ESQUADRINHAR.

ESCOAR, v. a. to pour, or pour out, to separate a liquor from any matter or sediment. See also COAR.

Escarar, v. n. to drop out, to steal out, or slip away.

Escar-se, v. r. to drop, to fall by drops; also to slide, or fall down by degrees. See also ESCOAR, v. n.

Efcoa-se o tempo, the time runs away.

Efcoar-se, (metaph.) See DERRETER-SE.

Efcoar-se de sangue, to become bloodless.

ESCOCE'Z, a, adj. Scotch.

ESCO'CIA, f. f. Scotland, the northern part of Great Britain, very mountainous, and consequently not very fruitful, part of which is the ancient Caledonia.

ESCO'DA, f. f. a mason's chissel to cut stones.

ESCODA'DO, a, adj. See

ESCODAR, v. a. to hew stones.

Efcdar, (among curriers) to turn a skin or leather, and smooth the outside in order to dye it.

ESCODEA'DO, a, adj. See

ESCODEAR, v. a. to chip bread; also to peel a plant, or tree.

ESGODRINHA'DO. See ESQUADRINHADO.

ESGODRINHA'R. See ESQUADRINHAR.

ESCOIMA'DO, a, adj. free from coima.

See COIMA. See also LIMPO, and ACEADO.

ESCO'LA, f. f. a school for reading, writing, and casting accounts. See also CRACAM, DISCIPLINA, and DIRECCAM.

Ter huma escola, to keep a school.

Escola de esgrima, a fencing-school.

Escola de dança. See DANÇA.

Mestre da escola, a school-master.

Mestra da escola, a school-dame, or a school-mistress.

Menino da escola, a school-boy.

Companheiro da escola, school-fellow.

ESCOLA'R, f. m. a sort of sea fish.

ESCO'LAS, the plural of escola, colleges, universities.

ESCOLASTICAMENTE, adv. scholastically.

ESCOLA'STICO, f. m. See ESTUDANTE.

Efclastico, a, adj. scholastic, of the school.

Theologia efclastica, scholastic divinity, school divinity.

ESCO'LHA, f. f. a choice, or election.

Com escolha, choicely.

Cousas de que se tem feito a escolha, pickings, that which is picked out.

ESCOLHE'R, v. a. to choose or chuse, to make choice of, to pick out, to pitch upon, to elect.

Efcolher trigo, arroz, &c. to cleanse, or take away the small stones from corn, rice, &c.

P. a quem daõ não escolhe; we say, beggars must not be choosers. We say likewise in the same sense, we must not look a gift horse in the mouth.

ESCOLHIDO, a, adj. chosen, &c. See the v. ESCOLHER.

Os efcolhidos, the faithful, those that are predestinated, and selected for eternal life. (In theology.)

ESCO'LHO, f. m. a cliff, a rock under the water.

ESCO'LIO, f. m. annotation, note, explanatory observation, scholion or scholium.

Fazer efcolios, to scholy, to write expositions.

ESCOLOPE'NDRA, f. f. a sort of venomous worm; also a fish that is somewhat like the said worm; also the herb spleenwort, or milt-wort, common in the West of England.

ESCO'LTA, f. f. (a military word) a guard, a convoy, an escort.

Fazer efcolta. See ESCOLTAR.

ESCOLTA'DO, a, adj. guarded, convoyed.

ESCOLTAR, v. a. to guard, or convoy, to escort.

ESCOMMUNGADO. See EXCOMMUNGADO.

ESCOMMUNGAR. See EXCOMMUNGAR.

ESCONDEDO'URO, f. m. a lurking hole, a closet or secret place, a hidden corner.

ESCONDE'R, v. a. to hide, to conceal; also to balk.

Nam lhe esconderei nada, I will not balk him a whit, I will tell him all.

Efconder-se, v. r. to conceal, to hide one's self, to lurk or skulk, to abscond, or abscond one's self.

Deos a quem nada se esconde, the all-seeing God.

Efconder-se por medo, ou por malicia, to skulk.

ESCONDIDAMENTE, adv. in secret, secretly, under-hand, in lugger-mugger.

A's efcondidas. See ESCONDIDAMENTE.

Jogo das efcondidas, a sort of play called hide and seek.

ESCONDIDO, a, adj. absconded, concealed, &c. See ESCONDER.

Estar efcondido, to lie, to lurk, or skulk.

ESCONDRI'JO, f. m. See ESCONDEDOURO.

ESCONJURA'DO, a, adj. See EXORCIZADO.

ESCONJURADO'R. See EXORCISTA.

ESCONJURAR. See EXORCIZAR.

ESCONJU'RO. See EXORCISMO.

ESCO'NSO, a, adj. that bends, or hangs downwards.

ESCO'NTRA, or DE-FRONTE. See FRONTE.

ESCOPE'TA, f. f. a sort of petronel, or carbine.

ESCOPE'TA'DA, a shot of a petronel, or carbine.

ESCOPE'TARIA, f. f. soldiers armed with petronels, or carbines.

ESCOPE'TEADO, a, adj. See

ESCOPE'TEAR, v. a. to shoot with a petronel, or carbine.

ESCOPE'TE'IRO, f. m. a soldier armed with a petronel, or carbine.

ESCO'PRO, f. m. a sort of chissel, a joiner's strait chissel; also a chissel used by sheen-cutters, &c. also scope, aim, design.

ESCO'RA, f. f. a prop, a stay. See also ARRIMO, AMPARO.

ESCORA'DO, a, adj. propped, &c. See

ESCORAR, v. a. to bear up, to support, to prop, to stay, to keep up.

Efcorar, v. n. to rely, to depend upon a man's credit, or protection.

ESCORCADO, a, adj. See

ESCORC'AR, v. a. (in painting) to shorten, to draw figures with some limbs contracted.

ESCORCHA'DO, a, adj. See

ESCORCHAR, v. a. (speaking of the goods taken out of an enemy's ship.) See DESPEJAR.

Efcorchar a alguém de dinheiro, to cheat one of his money.

Efcorchar, to discover, or take out what was concealed. (Metaph.)

ESCORCIONE'IRA, f. f. the herb viper-grass. From the Catalan word efcorrou, a venomous creature; or as Cobarrubias says, from the common Spanish word efcuerso, a toad.

ESCO'RÇO, f. m. (in painting) the contraction traction of the body, ex. Fazer hum escorço. See ESCORÇAR.

Escorços, so they call the figures that are smaller than the natural ones.
ESCO'RDIO, f. m. See CAMEDRYOS.
ESCO'RIA, i. f. dross of any metal, any trash.
Escoria, the baser sort, the mob, the scum.
(Metaph.)
ESCORIAÇA'M, f. f. (in surgery.) See
ESFOLADURA.
ESCORIA'L. See ESCURIA'L.
ESCORIADO, a, adj. See
ESCORIAR-SE, v. r. (in surgery.) See
ESFOLAR-SE.
ESCORNA'DO, a, adj. punched, or gored
with a horn.
Escornado, (a vulgar word.) See *AFFRON-
TADO*.
ESCORNA'R, v. a. to punch, or gore with the horns.
ESCORFLM, f. m. a scorpion, a venomous insect; also the celestial sign, or constellation of the zodiac, called the Scorpion.
Escorpion, a scourge made of caltrops, or the like, so called from its cruelty; also a sea-fish called scorpion; also a whip having plummets of lead at the end of the cords.
Erva de buje semelhante a cauda do escorpion, scorpion's tail.
Escorpion, an ancient warlike engine, a kind of cross-bow to shoot small envenomed arrows, or darts.
ESCORRA'LHAS. See FUNDAGEM.
ESCORREGAD'CO, a, adj. slippery.
ESCORREGA'DO, a, adj. See ESCOR-REGAR.
ESCORREGADO'URO, f. m. a slippery place, a sliding place.
Escrregadura, ou agua gelada em que a gente vey escorregar, a slide, a frozen place to slide upon.
ESCORREGA'R, v. n. to slide, to slip.
A acqua de escorregar, sliding.
O que escorrega, a slider, one that slips or slides.
Escrregar sobre o caramelo, to slide upon the ice, to skate.
Especie de chapins, ou calçado de ferro para escrregar sobre o caramelo, skates to slide upon ice.
O que escorrega sobre o caramelo com os mesmos chapins, a skater, or skater.
Escrregar a lingua, to let fall, or drop a word by inadvertency.
ESCORREITO, a, adj. (a vulgar word)
sound, healthy.
São e escorreito, sound and well.
ESCORRER, v. n. to drop, to fall in short flow drops, to run.
Escrer em suor, to be all in a sweat.
Escrer, v. a. to drop, to pour in drops;
also to drain a vessel of the liquor left in
it.
Escrer, (a sea term) to go beyond.
ESCORRIDO, a, adj. dropped, &c. See the v. ESCORRER.
ESCORRIPICHADO. See
ESCORRIPICHAR, v. a. (a drinking term) to bottom off, to drink the last draught of a pot of drink, or the last draught of a bottle of wine.
ESCORTINA'DO, a, adj. (in fortification)
that has a curtain. See CORTINA.
ESCORVA, f. f. the fire-pan of a gun; also the prune, or the powder that is put in the touch-hole, or pan of a gun, &c.

ESCORVA'DO, a, adj. See ESCORVA'R, v. a. to prime, to put in the first powder, to put powder in the pan of a gun.
ESCOSIDO, a, adj. (an antiquated word)
routed, defeated.
ESCO'TA, f. f. a rope in the ship called the tack.
ESCO'TE, f. m. club, every one's share of a reckoning, shot. Gothic.
Que nam paga escote, shot-free, or scot-free.
ESCOTEIRO, a, adj. free, without embarrassment.
ESCOTILHA, f. f. the hatches of a ship,
scutles.
Pedago de lena breada com que se cobre a escotilha, tarpaulin.
ESCOTILHA'M, f. m. a room by the hatches to keep the provisions.
ESCOTISTA, f. m. a Scotist, or follower of the doctrine of Scotus.
ESCOTOMIA, f. f. (in medicine) scotomy, a dizziness, or swimming of the head causing a dimness of sight.
ESCO'VA, f. f. a brush.
ESCOVA'DO, a, adj. See
ESCOVA'R, v. a. to brush.
ESCOVE'NS, or ESCOUVES, f. m. p. the hawes, or the great round holes before, under the head of the ship, through which the cables pass, when the ship is anchored.
ESCOVILHA, f. f. the little ditch where the goldsmiths sweepings are gathered.
ESCOVILHO, i. m. ex. Ouro de escovulho, goldsmiths sweepings.
ESCOVINHA, f. f. a flower called the blue-bottle.
ESCOXA'DO, a, adj. See ESCOXA'R, v. a. (in the province of Alentejo.) See ALIMPAR.
ESCOZE'R. See MAGOAR.
ESCRABA, f. f. a woman slave.
ESCRABARIA, f. f. bondmen, servants, slaves.
ESCRAVIDA'M, f. f. slavery, servitude, bondage; also slavery, or great dependance.
ESCRAVO, f. m. a slave.
Trabalhar como hum escravo, to slave, to toil and moil like a slave.
Causa de escravo, slavish.
Vida de escravo, a slavish life.
Como escravo, slavishly.
Ser escravo das suas paixoes, to be a slave to one's passions, to be conquered by them.
Tratar a alguem como escravo, to make a slave of one.
ESCREME'NTO. See EXCREMENTO.
ESCREVE'NTE, f. m. a clerk, one that writes under another.
ESCREVE'R, v. a. to write. See also COMPOR.
Mestre de escrever, a writing-master.
ESCRIBA, f. m. scribe, an expounder of the law among the Jews.
ESCRITA, f. f. writing.
ESCRITO, f. m. a writing; also a bill for lodgings to be lett.
Escrito. See BILHETE and CARTAZ.
Escrito de desaso. See CARTEL.
Escrito, a note under one's hand.
Escrito, a, adj. written, &c. See the v. *ES-
CREVER*.
Escrito, scriptory, written, not orally delivered.

Livro escrito de mam. See MANUSCRITO.
Por escrito, in writing.
ESCRITO'R, f. m. a writer, an author.
ESCRITORIO, f. m. a writing desk, seritory. See also CARTORIO.
Escritorio, a counting-house.
ESCRITOS, the p. of escrito, writings. See
ESCRITO.
ESCRITURA, f. f. writing, scripture.
Pertencente a escritura, scriptural, contained in the Bible.
Escrutur publica, a record, or an instrument made before a notary.
Escrutur sagrada, the holy Bible, holy writ,
the holy scripture.
ESCRIVANINHA, f. f. a standish, a case for pen and ink; also the office of escrivam. See
ESCRIVAM, f. m. a scrivener, one who draws contracts; also an officer in Portugal, who when any criminal is apprehended, presently draws up his offence, with all the circumstances in form.
Escrivaõ de noias, a public notary.
Escrivaõ do civil, a scrivener of civil causes.
Escrivaõ do crime, a scrivener of criminal causes.
Escrivaõ do judicial, a notary or clerk of assize; also actuary.
Escrivaõ do paco, a clerk of the court.
ESCROFULA. See ALPORCA.
ESCROFULARIA, f. f. scrophularia, blindnettle, pile-wort, fig-wort.
ESCROTO, f. m. the scrotum, or bag which contains the testicles.
ESCRUPULEA'DO, p. of the preterperf.
tense of
ESCRUPULAR, v. n. to make a scruple, or conscience of a thing, to stick at it.
ESCRUPULO, f. m. scruple, niceness in point of conscience, scrupulosity; also a scruple, a weight, the third part of a dram.
Fazer, or Ter escrupulo de alguma coisa, to make a scruple or conscience of a
thing.
Escrupulo, (in astronomy) a very small part of a minute.
O que faz ou tem escrupulos, a scrupler, a doubter, one who has scruples.
ESCRUPULOSAMENTE, adv. scrupulous-ly.
ESCRUPULO'SO, a, adj. scrupulous, nicely
doubtful; also that causes scruples.
O estado, condicam, ou qualidade de huma pessoa escrupulosa, scrupulousness, the state or being scrupulous.
ESCRUTA'DO, a, adj. See ESCRUTAR.
ESCRUTA'DO'R, f. m. he who gathers the votes; also an enquirer, searcher, examiner, scrutator.
ESCRUTAR, v. a. to scrutinize, to examine, to search, to scrutiny, to scrutinize into.
ESCRUTINIO, f. m. scrutiny, enquiry, search, examination with nicety; also a scrutiny, a perusal of suffrages, or votes.
Fazer eleicam per escrutinio, to chuse by ballot, to ballot for an election.
ESCUADO, a, adj. See
ESCUADA'R, v. a. to shield, to cover with a shield. From escudo, a shield. See also AMPARAR, and CUBRIR.
Escudar-se, v. r. ex. Escudar-se com alguma coisa, to arm, to defend, or protect one's self with a thing. (Metaph.)
ESCUDEIRA'DO, a, adj. See
ESCUDEIRA'R.

- ESCUDEIRA, v. a. to serve as an escudeiro. See ESCUDEIRO.
- ESCUDEIRO, f. m. the title given in ancient times to the noblemen, now call FIDALGOS, which see.
- Escudeiro*, so they formerly called him, who, after a battle, had the honour of knight-hood conferred upon him. See Monarch. Lusit. tom. v. p. 76, 77, &c.
- Escudeiro*, an usher, an equire, a servant that waits on a lady, or gentleman. They were formerly poor gentlemen that waited on the nobility, like our ancient equires, and were so called from escudo, a shield, because they carried their master's buckler or shield.
- Escudeiro de linhagem*, an equire or servant that descends from other equires or servants.
- Porcos escudeiros*. (among hunters) the young wild boars, which are the first that come out of the woods.
- ESCUDELA, f. f. a porringer.
- ESCUDELLADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
- ESCUDELLAR, v. n. to take out pottage in porringers, to distribute by porringers. it is used in the following proverb: P-u escudeiller verás quem te quer bem, ou mal; that is, people's affections are discovered by their liberality.
- ESCUDETE, f. m. a small escutcheon of arms.
- Escute*, scutcheon of a lock.
- ESCUDO, f. m. a shield, a buckler; also a sort of ancient golden coin, formerly current in Portugal.
- Escudo de enxerto*, an escutcheon of graft.
- Escudo de que usavaõ as Amazonas*, a very short buckler or target, in form of a half moon, used by the Amazons. Lat. pelta.
- Escudo de que usavaõ os antigos Hespanhoes e os Africanos*, a sort of short square target or buckler, used by the Spaniards and Moors.
- Copa do escudo*, the boss of a buckler or shield.
- Escudo*, a scutcheon, or escutcheon, a coat of arms.
- Escudo comum*, the escutcheon of a lay-prince, or any lay-nobleman.
- Escudo ovado*, an oval escutcheon, used by the ecclesiastical people.
- Escudo en lisonga*, an escutcheon with a lisonga, that is, with a quadrangle, which is divided by a diagonal perpendicular to the escutcheon's base, without any thing in the triangle that is in the right side. It belongs to the infantas of Portugal before marriage.
- Escudo enxequetado, jaquelado, or empequetado*. See ENXADREZADO.
- Escudo partido em palla*, escutcheon with a pale, which is one of the eight honourable ordinaries, representing a stake placed upright; we call it party per pale.
- Escudo partido em faja*, a scutcheon divided by a fesse, which is a band, or girdle, possessing the third part of the escutcheon over the middle; we call it party per fesse.
- Escudo partido em aspa*, an escutcheon with a saltier which is made in the form of a St. Andrew's cross; we call it party per saltier.
- Escudo partido em franchado*, an escutcheon divided into two, from the upper corner on the right, to the opposite below; we call it party per bend.
- Escudo esquartelado*, an escutcheon divided into four quarters.
- Centro do escudo*, fesse-point, the middle point of an escutcheon.
- Escudo*. (In a moral sense.) See AMPARO, and PROTECCAM.
- ESCULPIDO, a, adj. See ESCULPIR. See GRAVAR.
- ESCULTOR, f. m. a carver.
- ESCULTURA, f. f. carved work, or the art of carving, sculpture.
- ESCUUMA, f. f. scum, froth, foam.
- De escuma*, frothy, foamy.
- Cor de escuma, ou que tem semelhança com ella*, having the colour of, or resembling foam.
- Fazer escuma*, to foam, to gather into foam.
- Converter-se em escuma*, to begin to foam.
- Escuma*, dross, the recieiment, or despumation of metals.
- Escuma de ouro ou de prata*, litharge of gold or silver.
- Escuma do mar*, sea-long, the froth of the sea.
- Escuma*, (metaph.) the baser sort, the mob, the scum.
- Lançar escuma pela boca com ira*, to foam and fret, to be in a great passion.
- Lançar escuma pela boca com dores*, to foam at the mouth with pain.
- ESCUMADEIRA, f. f. a skimmer.
- ESCUMADO, a, adj. See ESCUMAR.
- ESCUMALHO. See ESCORIA.
- ESCUMAR, v. a. to skim, to scum, to take off the scum.
- Escumar*, or Fazer escuma. See ESCUMA.
- Escumar de ira*, or Lançar escuma, &c. which see.
- ESCUMILHA, f. f. small shot, used to shoot with a birding-piece; also a sort of superfine linen like the finest mullin, of which women make head-cloaths.
- ESCURAMENTE, adv. darkly, obscurely.
- ESCURAS, ex. A's escuras, in the dark.
- Deixar alguém as escuras*, to leave one in the dark; also to keep one in the dark. (As in a business.) (Metaph.)
- Apalpar as escuras*, to grubble, to feel in the dark.
- ESCURECER, v. a. to darken, to benight, to involve in darkness, to obscure; also to cast a mist. (Speaking of a looking-glass.)
- A acção de escurecer*, darkening, obscuration, a making obscure.
- Escurecer*. See DESLUSTRAR, and DESLUZIR.
- Escurecer-se*, v. r. to darken, to grow dark.
- ESCURECIDO, a, adj. darkened, &c. See ESCURECER.
- ESCURIAL, f. m. a famous monastery in Spain, built by king Philip II. in the shape of a griliron, in honour of St. Laurence, and takes its name from a village near Madrid. It contains a king's palace, St. Laurence's church, and the monastery of the Jeronimites, and the free-schools.
- ESCURIDADE, f. f. darkness, obscurity.
- Escuridade da vista*, dimness, dulness of sight.
- ESCURO, a, adj. dark, obscure; also dark, obscure, or hard to be understood.
- Estrellas escuras*, (in astronomy) the less shining stars.
- Que tem a vista escura*, dark-sighted.
- Camara escura*, (in opticks) obscura camera, a room darkened all but one little hole, in which is placed a glass to transmit the rays of objects to a piece of paper, or white cloth.
- Camara escura portátil*, dark-tent, a portable camera-obscura.
- Escuros*, (in painting) shadow, or dark colours.
- Escuro nascimento*, an obscure, or mean birth.
- Faz escuro*, it is dark.
- ESCUSA, f. f. an excuse.
- ESCUSADO, a, a j. See SUPERFLUO.
- Escusado*, that meets with, or suffers a repulse, repulsed. See also
- ESCUSAR alguma coisa, v. a. to forbear, to make shift without a thing, not to want it very much.
- Escusar*, to spare, to save.
- Eu vos escusarei aquillo trabalho*, I'll spare, or save you that trouble.
- Não escusar huma coisa*, to want a thing.
- Escusar-se*, v. r. See DESCULPAR-SE.
- Escusar-se*, to decline, to shun, to avoid, to do any thing.
- Escusar-se alguma coisa*, is for a thing not to be very much wanted.
- ESCUISO. See APOSENTADO. See also LIVRE, and ISENTO.
- Escuso*, solitary, remote, unfrequented; also over and above, unnecessary, serving to little or no use.
- ESCUITA, f. m. a hearer, one that hearkens, a listener.
- Estar á escuta*, to listen, to hearken with attention.
- Estar á escuta de baixo da janella de alguém*, to listen under windows; we say in common phrase, to eaves-drop.
- O que assim esta á escuta*, a listener under windows, an eaves-dropper.
- Escuta*, f. f. a nun that stands by when another has leave to talk with any body, to hear all that is said.
- Escuta*, a subterraneous passage in the mines, or counter-mines, to listen to the enemies' motions.
- ESCUITADO, a, adj. See
- ESCUITAR, v. a. to hearken, to listen, to give ear to.
- Escutar*, or Estar á escuta. See ESCUITA.
- Escutar-se*, v. r. to hear one's self speak, to have a formal slow way of speaking.
- ESDRUXOLO, a sort of short verse which always ends with dactyles, or words that have the accent on the antepenultima, the two last syllables short. From the Italian esdrucicolo.
- ESDRUXOLO, a, adj. belonging to that sort of verse.
- ESPACELO. See ESPHACELO.
- ESFAIMADO, a, adj. hunger-starved, or starved with hunger. See also COBIÇO, and DESEJOSO, (metaph.)
- ESFAIMAR, v. a. to famish, to starve, to hunger-starve.
- ESFALFADO, a, adj. quite wearied, or tired, out of breath, over-toiled. See
- ESFALFAMENTO, f. m. a fever that proceeds from being over-toiled.
- ESFALFAR, v. a. to over-tire, to put out of breath.
- Esfalfar-se*, v. r. to over-toil, to be out of breath; also to dwindle away, to waste. (Speaking of wanton and lascivious people.)
- Esfalfar-se de correr*, to run one's self out of breath.
- ESFARRAPADINHO, diminut. of ESFARRAPADO,

- ESFARRAPADO, a, adj. torn, rent, pulled in pieces, tattered, ragged. From farraço, a rag.
- Esfarrapado, ragged, dressed in tatters.
- ESFARRAPAR, v. a. to rend, tear, or pull in pieces.
- Esfarrapar hum vocabulo, to divide a word into syllables, in order to make the analysis of the compound ones into primitives, which is wretchedly ridiculous, when words are restrained by common usage, to a particular sense, as Collier observes.
- ESFATIA'DO, a, adj. See ESFATIA'R, v. a. to slice.
- ESFERA, f. f. a sphere, a round body, as a bowl, (in geometry.) Greek.
- Esgera, (in geography and astronomy) any globe of the mundane system; also a globe representing the earth or sky.
- Esgera pequena, spherule, a little globe.
- Esgera armillar, or artificial, an armillary sphere.
- Esgera do planeta, (in astrology) sphere of a planet, the orb, or compass in which it is conceived to move.
- Esgera, (among astronomers) sphere, the whole frame of the world.
- Esgera direita, sphere direct, or sphere-right.
- Esgera obliqua, oblique sphere.
- Esgera paralela, parallel sphere.
- Aprender a sciencia da esfera, to learn the globes.
- Esgera da actividade, (among philosophers) sphere of activity of any natural body.
- Esgera, sphere, reach of power.
- Por sobre hum esfera, to sphere, to place in a sphere.
- A modo de esfera, spherically.
- Esgera, a sort of golden coin, formerly used in Portugal.
- Esgera, a cannon, or a piece of ordnance formerly used.
- ESFERICO, a, adj. spherical.
- Redondeza esferica, sphericalness, sphericity.
- ESFINGE, or ESPHINGE, f. f. sphinx, a monster poets feign was near Thebes, which had the head, neck, and breasts like a maid, the body like a dog, the voice of a man, the claws of a lion, and the tail of a dragon.
- ESFINGITES, a sort of precious stone, very like the jasper.
- ESFOLA'DO, a, adj. See ESFOLAR.
- ESFOLADO'R, f. m. a flayer.
- ESFOLADU'RA, f. f. a flaying, a scratch, a place where the skin is off, excoriation.
- ESFOLAGATO, f. m. (A jocose word.) See REPREHENSAM, and SUTER-FUGIO.
- ESFOLAR, v. a. to flay, to strip off the skin, to skin.
- Esfolar hum coelho, to uncase a rabbit.
- Esfolar, (metaph.) to exact upon, as they do in cut-throat places.
- Esfolar-se, v. r. ex. Esfolar-se por andar a cavallo, to chafe, to be galled by riding, to lose leather.
- ESFOLINHA'DO, a, adj. See ESFOLINHA'R, v. a. to sweep the dust from the walls, closets, drawers, &c. to pull down the cobwebs.
- ESFORÇADAMENTE, adv. valiantly, stoutly.
- ESFORÇADO, a, adj. See VALEROSO, and ROBUSTO.
- Esforgado, a law book that treats of the last PART L
- wills, (a vulgar word among lawyers.)
- Caldos esforgado, a strong broth made of hens and partridges boiled together. See also
- ESFORÇAR, v. a. to strengthen, or make strong; also to encourage, incite, or stir up. See also LEVANTAR.
- Esforgar-se, v. r. to endeavour, to strain hard.
- ESFORÇO, f. m. endeavour, attempt; also the action of endeavouring, or forcing himself to do something. See also ANIMO, and VALOR.
- Esforgo. (Among farmers.) See AMENDAMENTO.
- ESFREGAÇAM, f. f. a rubbing, or friction.
- ESFREGADO, a, adj. See ESFREGAR.
- ESFREGADURA. See ESFREGAÇAM.
- ESFREGALHO, or ESFREGAM, a rubber, or rubbing-cloth.
- ESFREGAR, v. a. to rub.
- Turnar a esfregar, to rub again.
- Esfregar hum cavallo com hum mancha de palha, to wipe, or rub down a horse with straw.
- Esfregar, to wipe, to make clean; to scour.
- Lugar, no qual se esfrega os pratos, &c. scullery.
- Esfregar-se por alguma coisa, v. r. to rub one's self against, or upon a thing.
- ESFRIADO, a, adj. See ESFRIAR.
- ESFRIAMENTO, f. m. a refreshing, a cooling.
- ESFRIAR, v. a. to cool, to make cold, to chill; also to cool, to allay. (Metaph.)
- Esfriar, v. n. to grow cold; ex. Não deixeis esfriar o jantar, don't let the dinner grow cold.
- Esfriar-se, v. r. to grow cold, to begin to be cool; also to be less vehement and earnest, to begin to cease, (metaph.)
- ESFUSIA'DA de artelharis, a volley of cannon-shot.
- ESFUSIA'R, v. n. (A ludicrous word.) See FUGIR.
- ESFUSILA'DO. See FUZILADO.
- ESFUSILA'R. See FUZILAR.
- ESFUSIO'TE, f. m. ex. Dar hum esfusio a alguém, to make one run away.
- ESGALGA'DO, a, adj. lank as a greyhound. From galgo, a greyhound.
- Esgalgado com fome, hunger-starved, clung with hunger.
- ESGALHADO, a, adj. full of shoots, slips, or sprigs.
- Esgalhado, branched, as a deer's head. See also
- ESGALHAR, v. a. to cut off the shoots or sprigs.
- ESGALHO, f. m. a shoot, set, or slip; also the knotty part that remains of a shoot or sprig that has been cut off. See also PONTA do vendo.
- Esgalho de uvas, a part of a bunch of grapes broke off.
- ESGALRACHO. See ESCALRACHO.
- ESGANADO, a, adj. See ESGANAR, v. a. (a vulgar word) to stifle to death, to strangle.
- ESGANADO a fome, hunger-starved.
- Estar esganado a sede, to be almost choaked, to be very dry or thirsty.
- ESGANIÇADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
- ESGANIÇAR-SE, v. r. to grow hoarse with crying out, or speaking aloud. See also GANIR.
- ESGARABULHA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
- ESGARABULHA'R, v. n. (among boys) is for a top to hop or skip, and not to spin steady.
- ESGARAVATADO'R, f. m. a picker, ex. Esgaravata para os dentes, tooth-picker.
- Esgaravata para os ouvidos, ear-picker.
- ESGARAVATADO, a, adj. See ESGARAVATAR, v. a. to rake to scrape, ex. Esgaravata a terra, to scrape the ground.
- Esgaravatar os dentes, ou os ouvidos, to pick the teeth or ears.
- Esgaravatar no papel escrevendo depressa e mal, to scrawl, to write fast and ill.
- Esgaravatar, to search thoroughly, or over, to scan narrowly, (metaph.)
- ESGARAVULHAR. See ESGARABULHAR.
- ESGARAVUNHAR, v. n. to scrawl, to scribble, to form scrawling letters or characters.
- ESGARES, f. m. p. See VISAGEM.
- ESGARRADO, a, adj. See ESGARRAR.
- ESGARRAM, f. m. (a sea term) ex. Tempo esgarram, contrary winds.
- ESGARRAR, v. n. (A sea term.) See APARTAR-SE.
- ESGORJAR, v. n. (a ludicrous word) to long, to desire very earnestly. It is used with por after it.
- ESGOTADO, a, adj. drained to the last drop. From gota, a drop.
- Esgotado, drained, sucked dry, emptied, exhausted. (Metaph.) See also
- ESGOTAR, v. a. to drain to the last drop. See also CONSUMIR, ACABAR, and EXHAURIR.
- ESGRAVATADOR. See ESGARAVATADOR.
- ESGRAVATADO, &c. See ESGARAVATADO.
- ESGRAVULHAR. See ESGARABULHAR.
- ESGRIMA, f. f. fencing.
- Mestre de esgrima, a fencing-master.
- ESGRIMIDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of esgrimir.
- ESGRIMIDO'R, f. m. a fencer.
- ESGRIMIR, v. n. to fence, to tilt. From the old gothic grinrich, to fence.
- Esgrimir, v. a. to shake, to brandish, to wave. (Metaph.)
- ESGROUVA'DO, (a ludicrous word) tall and thin.
- ESGUARDAR. (Obsol.) See CONSIDERAR.
- ESGUEIRAR, v. a. to steal artfully.
- Esgueirar-se, v. r. to steal, or withdraw privately, to steal away, to go away by stealth, or unseen.
- ESGUELHA, f. f. ex. Andar de esquelha, to go with the body the narrowest way, to siddle.
- Por de esquelha alguma coisa, to place a thing obliquely, or sideways.
- Dar de esquelha, to strike in an oblique manner, sidelong.
- ESGUELHADO, a, adj. oblique, sideways.
- ESGULAM, f. m. Irish linen.
- ESGUICAR, or ESGUIZERO. See SUICO.
- ESGUICHADO, a, adj. See ESGUICHAR.
- C e
- ESGUICHAR,

ESGUICHAR, v. n. to spirt, to fly out with a quick stream, to squirt, to spring out in a sudden stream.

ESGUICHO, f. m. a squirt, an instrument by which a quick stream is ejected.

Esguicho de água, a water-spout, jet.

ESGUIO: See ALTO, and COMPRIDO.

ESGUNCHO, f. m. a hollow wooden shovel, to water the sides of a ship.

ESLABAM, (among farriers) a tumour in the inside of a horse's knee.

ESLADROAR, v. a. (in agriculture) to cut off the useless suckers of a tree. From ladrao, a useless sucker, or water-shoot.

ESLAGARTADO, a, adj. See

ESLAGARTAR, v. a. ex. Eslagartar a vinha, to pull out the leaves of a vine that are infected with a little hairy worm called a Vine-fretter. From lagarta, an insect that eateth vine-leaves.

ESMADO, a, adj. See ESMAR.

ESMAGADO, a, adj. See

ESMAGAR, v. a. to squash, to crush in pieces, to bruise, to press a thing so hard as to burst it.

ESMALMADO. See DESLEIXADO.

ESMALTADO, a, adj. enamelled.

Esmaltado a fogo, enamelled, or wrought with fire.

Esmaltado com variedade de cores, enamelled, or variegated with colours.

Esmaltado com variedade de flores, enamelled, or chequered with flowers. See also ORNADO.

ESMALTADO'R, f. m. an enameller.

Esmaltador, que faz obras de esmalte a fogo, he that enamelleth, or maketh pictures with fire.

ESMALTAR, v. a. to enamel, to inlay, to variegate with colours; also to spangle. (Metaph.)

Esmaltar a fogo, to enamel, or to make pictures with fire.

A acção de esmaltar, an enamelling. See also ORNAR.

ESMALTE, f. m. enamel, amel. It is also said of flowers or any other thing variegated with colour. (Metaph.)

Esmaltes do discurso, the figures, or flourishes in rhetoric, (metaph.) See also ORNATO.

Esmalte, a sort of blue dye, or tincture, used by painters. See the v. ESMALTAR.

ESMANYAR. (A ludicrous word.) See GASTAR and DISSIPAR.

ESMAR, v. a. to guess by sight.

ESMECHADO, a, adj. See

ESMECHAR, v. a. to break, or to wound dangerously the head with a stick, or stone.

Esmear, v. n. to scorch, to parch, to burn. (It is a ludicrous word in this sense.)

ESMERADAMENTE, adv. very nicely, perfectly well.

ESMERADO, a, adj. performed with care; also very accurate, and exact; also neat, spruce.

ESMERALDA, f. f. the green precious stone called an emerald. Greek.

Que tem cor de esmeralda, like an emerald, very green, smaragdine.

ESMERAR-SE, v. r. to endeavour to do a thing very accurately; also to be earnest, eager, or vehement. From ESMERIL, which see.

ESMERIL, f. m. emery, the lapidaries cut the ordinary gems on their wheels by sprinkling the wetted powder of it over them. It is useful in cleaning and polishing steel, and has been recommended by the ancients as an abstergent.

Esmiril, a sort of small cannon:

ESMERILHADO, a, adj. neat, fine, trim, spruce, snug. See also ESMERILHAR.

ESMERILHAM, f. m. merlin, a sort of small hawk, the smallest of all the birds of prey.

Esmirilham, a sort of musquet to kill the birds of Arribaçam. See ARRIBAÇAM; also a sort of cannon.

ESMERILHAR, v. a. (a vulgar word) to seek, to search diligently.

ESMERO, f. m. care, diligence, accuracy, or attention in doing any thing.

Com esmero. See ESMERADAMENTE.

Fazer com esmero alguma coisa. See ESMERAR-SE.

ESMIGALHADO, a, adj. See

ESMIGALHAR, v. a. to crumble, or break into small pieces, to comminute.

Esmigalhar dentro, to crumble in.

Cousa que se pode esmigalhar, a thing that may be crumbled, or broken small.

A acção de esmigalhar, a breaking into small pieces, or crumbs.

ESMIOLADO, a, adj. See

ESMIOLAR, v. a. ex. Esmiolar o pão, to take out the crumb, or the soft part of the bread.

ESMIUÇADO, a, adj. See

ESMIUÇAR, v. a. to pound to dust; also to scrutinize, to make a strict enquiry into, to examine thoroughly and nicely. (Metaph.)

ESMO, f. m. a guess of any thing, a conjecture, a judgment without any certain grounds, and only depending upon what appears to the eye.

A esmo, by the sight; also rashly, or at random.

ESMOER, v. a. to digest, to concoct in the stomach, to cause digestion.

Esmoer o comer, to digest, or concoct the food.

ESMOIDO, a, adj. concocted, &c. See ESMOER.

ESMOLA, f. f. alms, charity, alms-deed. Greek.

Fazer ou dar esmola, to give alms, to bestow a charity.

Pedir esmola, to beg, to beg a charity.

Cesto ou cova semelhante em que se põem o que se deve dar por esmola, alms-basket.

O que vive de esmolas, an alms-man.

Esmola que os príncipes fazem às igrejas, ou seja fundação, frankalmoine, a tenure in frank aumone, or a tenure by a divine service.

P. por dar esmola nunca falta a bolsa, giving alms never empties the purse, because God gives a blessing to charitable people.

ESMOLADO, p. of the preterperit. tense of ESMOLAR, v. n. to give alms.

P. esmolou S. Matheus, esmolou para os seus; we say, charity begins at home.

ESMOLARIA, or ESMOLERIA, f. f. the almoner's office or dignity; also an alms-house, or a house devoted to give alms, and to support the poor.

ESMOLEIRO, f. m. a friar that begs to support his convent.

ESMOLEIR, adj. that gives much alms.

Molher muito esmolera, a very charitable woman.

Esmoler, f. m. an alms-giver.

Grande esmolera, a great alms-giver.

Esmoler do príncipe, an almoner, or alms-giver.

ESMORECER, v. n. See DESCORÇOAR.

Fazer esmorecer, to dismay, to discourage, to depress, to deject.

ESMORECIDO, a, adj. without heart, as if dead.

ESMORECIMENTO, f. m. dismay, failure of courage, desertion of mind, dismayedness, dispiritedness.

ESMOUTADO, a, adj. See

ESMOUTAR, v. a. to cut brambles, or any other rough prickly shrub.

ESMURRADO. See ESPIVADO.

ESMURRAR. See ESPIITAR.

ESNOCADO. See DESNOCADO.

ESNOCAR. } See { DESNOCAR.

ESNOGA. } See { SYNAGOGA.

ESPACAR, v. n. to pass away one's time, to divert one's self; also to walk. (Obsol.) See also DILATAR.

ESPACO, f. m. space, any quantity of place, or time, while.

Largo espaço, grande espaço, or muito tempo, a long while.

De espaço, slowly, leisurely, at leisure.

A espaço, between whiles, from time to time, now and then.

A espaço, or de lugar em lugar, from place to place.

ESPAÇOSAMENTE, adv. spaciouly, largely, widely.

ESPAÇO'SO, a, adj. wide, large, spacious, broad, ample.

ESPA'DA, f. f. a sword.

Espada nua, a sword that is unsheathed, or drawn from the scabbard.

A força da espada, the space between the middle and the hilt of a sword.

O fraco da espada, the space between the middle and the point of a sword, the feeble of a sword.

Guarnição da espada, hilt.

Espada de marca, a sword of due size, because the swords are measured and marked by authority.

Puxar pela espada, or meter mão á espada, to unsheath the sword, to draw it from the scabbard.

Tirar pela espada, idem.

Passar tudo a espada, to put all to the sword.

Passar alguém com espada, to run one through with a sword.

Homem de espada, a sword-man.

Homem de capa e espada. See CAPA.

Dança de espadas. See DANÇA.

Assentar a espada. See ASSENTAR.

Medir a espada com alguém, is for two people to fight with their swords.

Trazer espada, to wear a sword.

A força da espada, by dint of sword.

O que combate com a espada. See GLADIATOR.

Que tem espada, or cingido com espada, sworded, girded with a sword.

Espada preta, a foil, such as is used in fencing.

Espada branca, a common sword.

Mestre da espada preta, a fencing master.

Dar com huma espada na outra, to swash, to dash swords one against another.

Espada, or folha damasquina. See DAMASQUINO.

Folha da espada, the blade of a sword.

Maçã da espada, the pommel, or pommel of a sword.

Fita, ou cousta semelhante, que se põem no punho da espada, a sword-knot.
Espada wingem, a sword that never hurt any body; or a maiden sword that was never drawn.
O que leva a espada diante del-rey, the king's sword-bearer.
Espada sem ponta que se leva diante del-rey de Inglaterra na sua coroaçam, curtana, a pointless sword carried before the king of England at his coronation.
Peixe espada, the sword-fish.
Espadas romanas, the feathers in a horse.
Espadas, the suit at cards called spades.
Loja na qual se vendem espadas, a sword-cutler's shop.
Por guarniçam em huma espada, to mount a sword.
Santiago da espada, a military order, instituted by Ramirus, king of Castile, A. C. 846.
ESPADACADO. See ESPEDAÇADO.
ESPADACAR. See ESPEDAÇAR.
ESPADACHIM, f. m. a bully, or hector that loves to be always in broils, a swash-buckler, a braggadochio, a swaggerer.
Fazer o espadachim, to hector, to play the bully, to bluster.
ESPADADO, a, adj. beaten, &c. See ESPADAR.
ESPADADOR, f. m. a sort of leaning-stock formed as an half moon to support the left hand of people that are peeling hemp.
ESPADANA, f. f. the common flags that grow in watery places, so called, because the leaf is like a sword.
Espadana de fogo, so they call a flame that bursts out and appears like a sword. (Metaph.)
Espadana de agoa, a water-spout that flies out and appears like the blade of a sword. (Metaph.)
Espadana de prixe. See BARBATANA.
ESPADANA'DO, a, adj. See
ESPADANAR, v. a. to strew with flags, or some other herbs.
Espadanar as ruas, to strew, or cover the streets with flags, or some other herbs, as they do in a public rejoicing.
ESPADANO. See PEDANEIO.
ESPADAR o linho, v. a. to beat, or to peel hemp or flax.
ESPADARTE, f. m. a kind of whale-fish. Lat. pristi.
ESPADAU'DO, a, adj. that has broad shoulders, broad-shouldered.
ESPADEIRO, f. m. a sword-cutler.
ESPADELLA, f. f. the brake for flax or hemp.
Espadella, a sort of large and very heavy oar they make use of, instead of the helm, in the barges on the river Douro.
ESPADELLADO. See ESPADADO.
ESPADELLAR. See ESPADAR.
ESPADELLHA, f. f. the ace of spades at cards, spadille.
ESPADEIM, f. m. a little sword; also a sort of small fish.
Espadim, so they called several coins formerly current in Portugal.
ESPADEINHA, f. f. a little sword, made of gold or silver, formerly worn by women in their heads.
ESPA'DOA, f. f. the shoulder blade, or blade-bone. The anatomists call it scapula, or scapular bone. See also HOMBRO.

ESPALDA. See HOMBRO.
Espalda, (in fortification) a shouldering-piece, or covert, a square orillion in the bastions near the shoulder.
Espaldas de cadeira, the back of a chair.
ESPALDA'R, f. m. a shoulder-piece, armour for the back.
Espaldar de cadeira, the back of a chair.
ESPALDEADO. See DEBILITADO.
ESPALDEAR. See DEBILITAR.
ESPALDEIRA'DA, f. f. a blow, or stroke with the flat part of the sword.
Dar espaldeiradas, to strike flat long, or with the flat downwards.
ESPALDE'TA, f. f. (in horsemanship) ex. Fazer espaldeta, to distort the shoulders in riding.
ESPALHADO, a, adj. scattered, dispersed, &c. See the v. ESPALHAR.
ESPALHAFATO, f. m. a sort of cannon.
Fazer espalhafato, to disperse, to scatter, to drive people to different parts, to force back.
ESPALHAGA'DO, a, adj. See
ESPALHAGAR, v. a. (in husbandry) to separate the straw from the corn upon the threshing-floor.
ESPALHAR, v. a. to scatter about, to spread, to disperse; also to divulge, to publish, to spread abroad.
Espalhar, or abrir as asas, to mantle, to spread the wings as a hawk in pleasure.
Espalhar o bofe. See BOFE.
Espalhar flores, to strew flowers.
Espalhar a vista, to lead one's sight to many different objects.
Espalhar-se, v. r. to spread, to diffuse, or spread itself.
ESPALMADO, a, adj. flat. See also
ESPALMAR, v. a. to flat, to lay flat.
Espalmar, ou dar pendor a hum navio. See PENDOR. (A sea term.)
Espalmar, (among farriers) to pare all that part of a horse's hoof that is insensible, or void of feeling.
ESPANA'DO, a, adj. See
ESPANAR, v. a. to clean from dust, to dust off, to wipe off the dust.
ESPANCA'DO, a, adj. See
ESPANCAR, v. a. to cudgel.
Espancar o mar remando, to row.
ESPANHA, &c. See HESPANHA, &c.
ESPANTA lobos, the hatter, or trefoil tree. Lat. colutea.
ESPANTADIÇO, a, adj. subject to be frightened.
Cavallo espantadiço, a starting horse.
Cavallo que he alguma coisa espantadiço, a startlish horse.
ESPANTA'DO, a, adj. frightened, scared, amazed, astonished.
Espantado com admiraçam, taken up with admiration.
ESPANTALHO, f. m. a scare-crow, a bug-bear.
ESPANTAR, v. a. to fright, to scare, to cause admiration, to astonish.
Espantar-se, v. r. to be frightened, to be amazed, to be astonished, to be surprised.
ESPANTO, f. m. a fright; also admiration, surprise.
ESPANTOSO, a, adj. dread, horrid, frightful; also marvellous, or wonderful, strange, astonishing.
ESPARAVAM, f. m. (among farriers) spavin, a disease in horses.
ESPARAVE'L, a sort of barrack like those made by some fishermen on the sea shore.

See also CHAPEO do sol.
ESPARCELA'DO, a, adj. that has many parcels. See PARCEL.
Terra esparcelado, a very flat, level, and even ground.
ESPARCE'R, v. n. to walk, or fetch a walk.
ESPARECIDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of esparcer.
ESPARGIDO. See ESPALHADO.
ESPARGIR. See ESPALHAR.
ESPAR'GO, f. m. asparagus. Greek.
So como espargo no monte, as solitary as asparagus, because every one of them springs up by itself.
ESPARREGA'DO, adj. (speaking of pot-herbs) boiled and seasoned with vinegar, oil, &c.
ESPARRE'LLA. See ABOIZ.
Cabir na esparrella, to run one's self into a noose.
ESPARRINHAR, (in the province of Beira) to sprinkle water about.
ESPARSA, f. f. the less roundelay; a sort of Spanish poetry, whereof the verses are of six syllables.
ESPARSO. See ESPALHADO, and ESTENDIDO.
ESPARTA'L, f. m. the place where the esparto grows. See ESPARTO.
ESPARTE'IRO, f. m. one that makes mats, ropes, or baskets of esparto.
ESPARTE'NHAS, f. f. p. a sort of sandals made of esparto; also any other sandals like espartenhas, though made of some other thing.
ESPARTILHO, f. m. stays, a pair of stays for women.
ESPARTO, f. m. Ray, p. 1257, calls it spartum, and gramen spartum in Latin, and matweed in English. They make coarse mats of it; as also ropes and baskets of several sorts.
ESPARZIDO. See ESPALHADO.
ESPARZIR. See ESPALHAR.
Esparzir lagrimas, to shed tears.
ESPA'SMO, f. m. a convulsion, or convulsion fit, spasms, or spasm.
Espasmo chamado tetanos, another kind of spasmus called tetanus.
Espasmo na boca, dog-cramp.
ESPASMADIÇO, or ESPASMODICO, a, adj. (in physic) belonging to spasm, spasmodic.
ESPATHARIO, f. m. a kind of dignity among the Goths.
ESPA'TO, f. m. the colour of myrrh that serves to paint dead bodies.
ESPA'TULA, f. f. a spatula, a spatle, or slice, an instrument used by apothecaries and surgeons in spreading plasters, or stirring medicines together.
ESPAVORI'DO, a, adj. astonished, affrighted.
ESPECIAL, adj. especial. See also PARTICULAR.
ESPECIALIDADE, singularity, a particular qualification.
Com especialidade, especially, in an uncommon degree above any other.
ESPECIALIZA'DO. See ESPECIFICADO.
ESPECIALIZAR. See ESPECIFICAR.
ESPECIALME'NTE, adv. especially, particularly, principally, in an uncommon degree above any other.
ESPECIARIA, f. f. spicery, the commodity of spices.

Adubar com especias, or especiaria, to spice, to season with spice.

O que negocia em especiaria, a spicer, one who deals in spice.

ESPECIAS. See ESPECIARIA.

ESPECIE, f. f. (in logic) species, one of the five predicables.

Especie, species, appearance to the senses.

Especie da visam, da sem, &c. the visible, audible, &c. species.

Especie, species, or representation to the mind.

Especie, species, or circulating money.

Especies, (in algebra) species, or those letters, marks, or symbols, which represent the quantities.

Especies sacramentaes, sacramental species.

Especies, (in music) voices, sounds.

Especie, species, kind, sort.

ESPECIEIRO, f. m. a grocer, one that sells spices.

ESPECIFICAÇÃO, f. f. specification, distinct notation, determination by a peculiar mark.

ESPECIFICADAMENTE, adv. particularly.

ESPECIFICADO, a, adj. See

ESPECIFICAR, v. a. to specificate, to mark by notation of distinguishing particularities.

ESPECÍFICO, a, adj. specific, or specific, that which makes a thing of the species of which it is.

Gravidade específica, (among philosophers) specific gravity, or the appropriate and peculiar gravity or weight, which any species of natural bodies have, and by which they are plainly distinguishable from all other bodies of different kinds.

Diferença específica, specific difference.

Específico, (in medicine) specific, appropriated to the cure of some particular distemper.

ESPECIOSIDADE, f. f. See FERMOSURA.

ESPECIOSO, a, adj. specious, showy, plausible, superficially, and not solidly right, striking at first view.

Algebra especiosa, specious algebra, first introduced by Vieta, about the year 1590.

ESPECTÁCULO, f. m. spectacle, a public shew, or sight.

ESPECTADOR, f. m. a spectator, a looker on, a beholder.

ESPECTADORA, f. f. she that beholdeth.

ESPECTATIVA. See EXPECTATIVA.

ESPECTATORIO. See EXPECTATORIO.

ESPECTRO, f. m. a ghost, spectre, appearance of persons dead.

ESPECULAÇÃO, f. f. speculation, mental view, intellectual examination, contemplation.

ESPECULADOR, f. m. speculator.

ESPECULADO, a, adj. See

ESPECULAR, v. a. to speculate, to consider attentively, to look through with the mind.

ESPECULATIVO, a, adj. speculative, given to speculation.

Especulativo, speculative, theoretical; notional, ideal, not practical.

ESPECULO, f. m. (among surgeons) speculum, an instrument that serves for several uses, as especulo da matriz da boca, &c. speculum matricis; speculum oris, &c.

ESPEDAÇÃO, a, adj. See

ESPEDACAR, v. a. to tear, or dash in pieces.

ESPEDIDO, &c. See EXPEDIDO, &c.

ESPELHADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESPELHAR-SE, v. r. to look in a glass, to behold one's self. See REVER-SE.

Espehar-se em alguém, to follow one's example, to imitate one's good actions. (Metaph.)

ESPELHO, f. m. a looking-glass, a mirror.

Espeho que queima, an ustreous, or burning-glass.

Espeho para apanhar cotovias, daring-glass, a device for catching larks.

Apanhar cotovias com espeho, to dare larks, to catch them by means of a looking-glass.

Espeho, mirror, pattern, model. (Metaph.)

Ella he espeho da modestia, she is a mirror of modesty.

P. não ha melhor espeho que o amigo velho, there is no better looking-glass than an old friend; that is, such a one will not flatter a man, but tell him the truth.

Ver-se ao espeho. See ESPELHAR-SE.

Espeho, (speaking of a horse.) See REDO-MOINHO.

Espeho, a sort of ornament about the middle hole of the belly of a guitar, which is a musical instrument not much used except in Portugal and Spain.

Espeho, a circular glass-window in the front-piece of ancient buildings.

ESPELTA, ou avea de que se faz pão, spelt.

ESPELUNCA. See CAVERNA.

ESPEOLHADO, &c. See ESPIOLHADO, &c.

ESPEQUE, f. m. a prop, a support, a stay, that on which any thing rests; See also ARRIMO. (Metaph.)

Espeque, a hand-spike, or wooden lever, to heave up the anchor at sea, and for several other uses.

ESPERA, f. f. stay, waiting.

Espera, (a law term) a demurrer, a pause upon a point of difficulty, or of law.

Estar a espera, to wait, to expect, to stay for; also to watch in order to attack.

Espera, (an antiquated word.) See ES-PHERA.

ESPERADO, a, adj. expected, &c. See the v. ESPERAR.

ESPERANÇA, f. f. hope, expectation of some good; also the object of hope.

Cousa que da de si, ou de que se tem grandes esperanças, hopeful, promising, full of qualities which produce hope.

Boas esperanças que de si da hum menino, the hopefulness of a child.

Ter esperança de alguma cousa, to hope for a thing.

Não ha esperanças, there are no hopes.

Lograr alguém dando lhe vãos esperanças, to dodge with one, to play fast and loose.

Perder todas as esperanças, to be out of hopes, or without all hopes.

Ancora da esperança, sheet-anchor.

ESPERAR, v. m. to hope.

Eu espero que, &c. I hope, I flatter myself, I am apt to believe that, &c.

Esperar por alguma cousa, to hope for a thing.

P. quem espera desespera, he that expects despairs; that is, expectation makes a man uneasy.

ESPERADO, hoped for.

Cousa que não deve ser esperada, a thing not to be hoped for.

Esperar, to expect, to wait, to attend the coming.

Tenho esperada por vos ha duas horas, I have expected you these two hours.

Eu não vos esperava tam cedo, I did not expect you so soon.

Que se pode esperar, sperable, such as may be hoped.

Esperar, v. a. to wait, to expect; also to watch as an enemy; to lie in wait, to be upon the catch, to snook, to lie lurking for a thing or person, to watch in order to attack.

ESPERDIÇADO. See DESPERDIÇADO.

ESPERDIÇADOR. See DESPERDIÇADOR.

ESPERDIÇAR. See DESPERDIÇAR.

Esperdiçar sua fama, to bring one's self into disrepute.

ESPERJURADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESPERJURAR, v. n. to forswear, to swear falsely, to commit perjury.

O que perjura falso, a forswearer, a perjurer, one that swears falsely.

ESPERMA, f. f. sperm, seed, that by which the species is continued.

Produzir ou criar esperma, to spermatize, to yield seed.

O que trata, ou escreve da esperma, spermalogist.

Esperma da balea, or esperma ceti, spermaceti, corruptly pronounced parmacety. It is a particular sort of whale that affords the oil whence this is made, and that is very improperly called esperma, because it is only the oil which comes from the head of which it can be made.

ESPERMATICO, a, adj. spermatical, or spermatic.

ESPERNEGADO, a, adj. See

ESPERNEGAR, v. a. to part the legs asunder by violence. From perna, a leg.

ESPERTADO. See DESPERTADO.

ESPERTADOR. See DESPERTADOR.

ESPERTADURA, f. f. ex. Esperadur do cabelo, the parting of the hair.

ESPERTAMENTE, adv. briskly, readily, courageously.

ESPERTAR. See DESPERTAR.

ESPERTEZA, f. f. alacrity, briskness, courage.

Espertez do engenho, intellectual acuteness, sharpness, and subtilty of wit.

ESPERTO, a, adj. See ACORDADO.

Esperto da engenho, subtle, acute of mind, witty, ingenious, inventive.

Lume esperto, a brisk fire.

ESPEÇOADO. See DESCABEÇADO.

ESPEÇOAR. See DESCABEÇAR. (In agriculture.)

ESPESSADO, a, adj. See ESPESSAR.

ESPESSAMENTE, adv. thickly, closely.

ESPESSAR. See CONDENSAR.

Espeçar-se, v. r. See CONDENSAR-SE.

ESPESSO, a, adj. thick, close, set close.

ESPESSURA, f. f. thickness; also a thick, or thick wood.

ESPETADA, f. f. See

ESPETADO, f. m. ex. Espetado, or espetado de carne, great quantity of meat put upon a spit.

Espetado, a, adj. See

ESPETAR, v. a. to spit, to put upon a spit; also to thrust through, to pierce as with a spit.

Andar espetado, (a vulgar phrase) to be affected, to be proud, to carry one's self stiff, or straight like a spit, to walk bolt upright, to bracken, to hold in one's chin proudly.

Espetar, (empalar.) See EMPALAR.

ESPEITO, f. m. spit, a long prong, on which meat is driven to be turned before the fire; a broach, or broacher.

Velar o espeto, to turn the broach, or spit.

Eugenia para voltar o espeto, a jack, an engine which turns the spit.

ESPHACELO, f. m. sphacelus, a gangrene, a mortification.

Cansar esphacelo, to sphacelate, to affect with a gangrene.

Palivar de esphacelo, to sphacelate, to suffer the gangrene.

ESFERA. } See { ESFERA.

ESFINGE. } See { ESFINGE.

ESPHINTER. } See { SPHINTER.

ESPHIRE'NA, ou ESPHYRE'NA, f. f. a kind of long fish, called a guard-fish. Lat. julis.

ESP'IA, f. f. a spy.

Espia sobre, a spy on both sides, one that takes money of both parties, and betrays both.

Espia perdida, a perdué, an advanced sentinel.

Embarcação pequena de espia, a brigantine, a foist, a bark for espial.

Espias dos cabrestantes, the lines or ropes that run in the pulley.

ESPIA'DO, a, adj. See

ESPIAR, v. a. to spy, watch, dog, or observe.

Espiar a roca, (among spinsters) so the women that spin say when they have spun the wool or flax that was on the distaff.

ESPICACADO, a, adj. See

ESPICACAR, v. a. to peck, to strike with the beak as a bird; also to strike with any pointed instrument.

ESPICHA. See CAMBADA.

Serdinha de espicha, a red pilchard.

ESPICHA'DO, a, adj. See

ESPICHA'R, v. a. to run through; also to pierce, tap, or broach, speaking of a vessel that is pierced, in order to draw the liquor.

ESPICHO, f. m. a spigot, a pin or peg put into the faucet to keep in the liquor.

Fillano he hum espicho, such a one is slender as a spigot, that is, he is very lean, or slim. We say, he looks like a shotten herring.

ESPICA, f. f. ear of corn, spike.

Ordem militar da Espiga, an order called De l'Epi, i. e. of the Ear of Corn, instituted by Francis V. in Bretagne, A. C. 1450.

Cabeça da espiga, the little grain at the top of the ear of corn.

Bainha dende sabe a espiga depois de formada, the cod, or husk in which the ear of corn is lodged.

Apanhar as espigas depois da sega, to glean, to pick up ears of corn after harvest.

Espiga, or raigata das unhas, flaw, a little skin that grows sometimes at the root of one's nails.

Espiga, (among joiners) a tenon, the end of a timber cut to be fitted into another timber, or mortise.

Espiga, (in astronomy) a sign in heaven called the Virgin's Spike.

ESPIGA'DO, a, adj. eared, grown to an ear.

Espigado, run to seed. (Speaking of plants.)

Espigado, grown up, (speaking of persons.) See also the v. ESPIGAR.

ESPIGA'M, f. m. ex. Espigam do aro, an iron spike to fix an iron circle on the ground in order to play with it. See ARO.

Espigam do muro, the top of a wall.

Espigam das unhas, a flaw. See ESPIGA.

ESPIGAR, v. n. to ear, or grow to an ear.

Espigar, to run to seed. (Speaking of plants.)

Espigar, to grow up, to grow tall. (Speaking of persons.)

ESPIGAS, (in cant) the whiskers, or mustachio.

ESPIGUE'TO, f. m. ex. Frautado de espigueto, the high or shrill sound of a flute.

ESPIGUILHA, f. f. a sort of bobbin-work.

ESP'IM. See UVA.

ESPINA cervina. See CAMBROENS.

ESPINA'FRE, f. m. spinage, a sort of pot-herb.

ESPINÇADO, a, adj. See

ESPINÇAR, v. a. to root up the herbs from the salt pits, or places where salt is made.

ESPINE'LLA, f. f. a kind of ruby. See also DECIMA.

ESPINE'TA, f. f. a spinet, virginal.

ESPINGARDA, f. f. a fusil, or light gun, a firelock, a musquet.

A tiro de espingarda, within a musquet-shot.

Espingarda para matar passaros, a fowling-piece.

ESPINGARDA'DA, f. f. a musquet-shot.

ESPINGARDA'M, f. m. a sort of musquet formerly used, with a wide mouth.

ESPINGARDARIA, f. f. musqueteers; also a volley of musquet-shot.

ESPINGARDEADO, p. of the preterperfectense of ESPINGARDEAR, v. a. to shoot at one with a musquet.

ESPINGARDEIRO, f. m. a gun-smith; also a musqueteer.

ESP'INHA, f. f. ex. Espinha de peixe, a fish-bone.

Espinha da sarça. See ESPINHO.

Espinha carnal, a kind of pimple, or swelling with many reddish pimples, that eat, and spread.

Cousa chea de espinhas, thorny.

Espinha, obstacle, difficulty, trouble, any thing troublesome. (Metaph.)

Ter espinha com alguem, to be at variance with one.

Espinha. See ESPINULA.

P. a espinha quando nasce leva o bico diante, it early pricks that will be a thorn.

ESPINHA'CO, f. m. the ridge-bone of the back of any creature, so called from espinha, because the ribs stick out like thorns.

Espinhaço de ferranias. See GORDILHEIRA, or CORDA de ferranias.

ESPINHA'DO, a, adj. See ESPINHAR and ESPINHAR-SE.

ESPINHAL, f. m. a place full of thorns, a thorn-bush.

Espinhal, adj. (in anatomy) spinal, belonging to the back-bone.

Medulla espinhal, spinal marrow.

ESP'INHAR, v. a. to prick like a thorn; also to nettle, to sting, to irritate, to provoke. (Metaph.)

Espinhar as orelhas com sem aspero, to grate, or offend the ear.

Espinhar-se, v. r. to be displeased, to disdain, to think scorn of. See OFFENDER-SE.

ESPINHEIRO, f. m. a thorn-tree.

Espinheiro que tem flores amarelas com seis folhas que formam huma rosa, barberry-tree, or barberry-bush.

Espinheiro, ou especie de roseira, a briar.

Espinheiro alvar, white thorn, a species of thorn. Lat. alba spina.

ESPINHE'LA, f. f. (a vulgar word) the tip or extremity of the sternum. The anatomists call it cartilago ensiformis. See also ESPINELLA, and APARADOR.

Cabir a espinhela, is for the tip of the sternum to be distorted, and out of the true direction, or posture.

Levantar a espinhela, to restore the tip of the sternum to its natural direction or posture.

ESP'INHO, f. m. thorn, a prickle, a small sharp point, like that of a briar.

Cheo de espinhos, thorny, briery, full of thorns or briars.

Arvores de espinho, so they call an orange-tree, lemon-tree, and some others that have thorns.

P. não ha rosa sem espinhos, no rose without its prickle.

Espinho, obstacle, difficulty, any troublesome thing. (Metaph.)

Porco espinho, a porcupine.

Ordem militar do Porco Espinho, a French order called of the Porcupine, or of Orleans, whose device was cominus et eminus; but king Lewis XII. crowned the porcupine with another motto, ultus avos Troje.

ESPINHO'SO, a, adj. thorny.

ESPINICA'DO, a, adj. (a ludicrous word) that ponders often and long upon, or that examines much into.

ESP'INULA, or ESPINHA, (in some ceremonial books.) See ALFINETE.

ESPIOLHA'DO, a, adj. See

ESPIOLHA'R, v. a. to louse, to clean from lice.

ESPIQUE, f. m. the ear of the plant called spikenard.

ESPIRA, f. f. a spire, a curve-line.

ESPIRADO. See ASPIRADO, and the v. ESPIRAR.

ESPIRAL, adj. spiral.

Em forma espiral, spirally, in a spiral form.

ESPIRA'R, or EXPIRAR, v. n. See MORRER.

Espirar, (acabar.) See ACABAR.

Espirar, (assoprar.) See ASSOPRAR.

Espirar, (exhalar.) See EXHALAR.

Espirar, (apagar-se.) See APAGAR-SE.

ESPIRITA'DO, a, adj. possessed with, or by the devil.

ESP'IRITO, f. m. spirit, ghost.

Espirito, ou alma do homem, soul, ghost.

Dar, ou exhalar o espirito, to give up the ghost, to die.

Espirito, (entendimento.) See ENTENDIMENTO.

Espirito maligno. See DEMONIO.

Espiritos vitais, e animaes, vital and animal spirits.

Espirite,

Espirito, ou parte mais sutil que se tira dos corpos por destillação, &c. spirit. (in chemistry.)

Espirito. See ANIMO, VIGOR, RESOLUCAM.

Espirito levantado, a high or great spirit.

Espirito abatido, low spirit.

Espirito, (devoção) See DEVOÇAM and PIEIDADE.

Espirito universal, (among chemists,) universal spirit.

Espirito forte, ou o que se aparta das opiniões comuns, a free-thinker.

Espirito santo, the Holy Ghost.

Ordem do Espirito Santo, a military order in France, called Du Saint Esprit, i. e. of the Holy Ghost. It was created by Henry III. at his return from Poland, who was both born, and crowned king of France on Whit-sunday.

Domingo, ou festa do Espirito Santo, Whit-sunday, Whitsuntide.

Espirito santo, the capital of the captainship of the same name in the Braills, between Porto Seguro and Rio de Janeiro; also a town of Guaxaca in New Spain, North America.

ESPIRITUAL, adj. spiritual, immaterial, incorporeal; also not temporal, relating to the things of heaven, spiritual.

Espiritual, (pio) See PIO and DEVOTO.

ESPIRITUALIDADE, f. f. spirituality, incorporeity, immateriality, essence, distinct from matter.

ESPIRITUALIZA'DO, a, adj. See ESPIRITUALIZA'R, v. a. to spiritualize, to purify from the feculencies of the matter, to change a compact body into spirits; also to refine the intellect, to purify from the feculencies of the world.

ESPIRITUALME'NTE, adv. See DEVOTAMENTE.

ESPIRITUOSO, or SPIRITUOSO, a, adj. spirituous.

ESPIRRACANIVETES, f. m. (a ludicrous word) an ill-tempered man.

ESPIRRADE'IRA brava. See LINGOA de cavallo.

ESPIRRAR, v. n. to sneeze, to emit wind audibly by the nose.

Espirrar, to crackle, to make slight cracks and sparkle at the same time.

Espirrar a candea quando se apaga, is for a lamp to crackle when it is almost burnt. See CANDEA.

Fazer espirrar alguém de hum lugar, to make one run away in a hurry.

ESPIRRO, f. m. a sneeze.

Dar hum espirro. See ESPIRRAR.

ESPIVITA'DO, a, adj. ex. Ter a lingua bem espivitada, to have one's tongue well hung, to have a great facility of expression.

Lingagem espivitada, a fluent speech.

Espivitado, snuffed, &c. See

ESPIVITA'R a vela, v. a. to snuff the candle.

Tesouras de espiuitar, snuffers.

Pequena salva, prato, ou cousa semelhante na qual se põem as tesouras de espiuitar, snuffers-pan.

O que acende e espiuita as velas nas casas de comedias, snuffers.

Apagar a vela espiuitandoa mais abaixo do que devia ser, to snuff out the candle.

A acção de espiuitar, snuffing.

ESPLANADA. See EXPLANADA.

ESPLANADO. See EXPLANADO.

ESPLANAR. See EXPLANAR.

ESPLENDE'NTE. See RESPLANDESCENTE.

ESPLENDIDAMENTE, adv. splendidly.

ESPLE'NDIDO, a, adj. splendid, great, or magnificent.

ESPLENDO'R, f. m. splendor, pomp, magnificence.

ESPLE'NICO, a, adj. splenetic, belonging to the spleen.

ESPOJA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESPOJA'R-SE a besta, v. r. is for a beast to roll or tumble in the dust. From po, dust.

Esposar-se com riso, to fall, or tumble down with laughing, to laugh without restraint.

ESPOLIOS, f. m. p. goods, moveables, spoils.

Espolios dos clérigos, goods left by clergymen.

ESPONDA'ICO, a, adj. ex. Verbo espondáico, a spondaic verse.

ESPONDE'O, f. m. spondee, a foot of two long syllables.

ESPONDYL, or ESPONDILA, f. f. spondyle, a vertebra.

ESPONGIO'SO, a, adj. spongy, or spongy.

ESPO'NJA, a sponge, a soft porous substance; also the flower of the tree called acacia. See ACACIA.

Pedra esponja, a stone growing in sponges.

Espnja, a spongy symptom of the venereal disease.

ESPONJE'IRA. See ACACIA.

ESPONJO'SO. See ESPONGIOSO.

ESPONSA'ES, f. m. p. spouls, the contract of betrothing a man and woman to each other.

Espensas publicas. See DESPOSORIOS.

ESPONTA'NEO. See SPONTANEO.

ESPONTA'M, f. m. a pike which the officers of infantry carry.

ESPO'RA, f. f. a spur.

Dar ou picar com a espóra. See ESPOREAR.

Bico da espóra, a rowel.

Espóra, spur, or excitement.

Correa or encreadura da espóra, spur-leathers.

Ferir com as espóras a hum cavallo, to spur-gall a horse, to rowel.

Apertar com a espóra. See ESPOREAR.

O que faz, ou vende espóras, a spurrier, a spur-maker.

Espóra, or espóras de cavalleiro. See CONSOLDA.

Ordem da Espóra, the military order of the Spur, instituted by pope Pius IV. A. C. 1560.

ESPORA'DA, f. f. a stroke with a spur.

Esporada. (Metaph.) See ESTIMULO, and INCENTIVO.

ESPORA'M, the sharp points on the legs of a cock with which he fights; a spur.

Esporam de navio, the beak, or beak-head of a ship.

ESPOROENS de aço, prata, &c. que se põem nos gallos para pelejarem, gublocks, false spurs for fighting-cocks, of steel, silver, &c.

ESPOREA'DO, a, adj. See

ESPOREA'R, v. a. to spur, to prick with the spur; also to spur, to instigate, to incite, to urge forward. (Metaph.)

ESPORTULADO. See SPORTULADO.

ESPORTULA'R, &c. See SPORTULAR.

ESPO'SA, f. f. she that is betrothed to a man; the bride.

ESPOSA'DO, a, adj. See DESPOSADO, and

ESPOSA'R, v. a. to marry, to join a man and woman.

ESPO'SO, f. m. he that is betrothed to a woman; the bridegroom. See also MARIDO.

ESPOSOIRO, or ESPOSO'RIO. See DESPOSORIOS.

ESPRAYA'DO, a, ad. See

ESPRAYA'R, v. n. to overflow, or break out of its banks.

Esprayar-se, v. r. to expatiate, to enlarge on a subject.

Esprayar-se com a penna, to write copiously, diffusely, or at large.

Esprayar-se nos louvores, to praise highly, to mention with approbation.

ESPREGUIÇA'DO. See ESPRIGUIÇADO.

ESPREGUIÇA'DOR, &c. See ESPRIGUIÇADOR, &c.

ESPRE'ITA, f. f. peep, a sly close look.

Estar á espreita. See ESPREITAR.

ESPREITA'DO, a, adj. See ESPREITAR.

ESPREITADOR, f. m. a watcher, a diligent overlooker, or observer; one who listens, or looks slyly, closely, or curiously. See ESPREITAR.

ESPREITA'NÇA, f. f. the act of listening, &c. See ESPREITAR.

ESPREITANTE, p. a. (in heraldry) it is said of beasts that are represented as if they were peeping. See ESPREITA'R, v. a. to listen; to spy, to look slyly, closely or curiously, to look through any crevice, to look through a hole or chink.

Espreitar alguém, to watch one, to observe him in ambush, to watch in order to attack him; also to watch one curiously without being discovered.

Espreitar huma occasião, to watch an opportunity, or for an opportunity.

Buraco, ou couça semelhante por onde alguém espreita, a peep-hole, or a peeping-hole.

Espreitar, (escutar.) See ESCUJAR.

O espreitar, Espreita, or Acção de espreitar, watching, &c. according to the v. ESPREITAR.

ESPREME'R, v. a. to squeeze, to press hard, or to squeeze out in order to extract the juice.

A acção de espremer, squeezing.

Espremer-se, v. r. to strain, to make violent efforts in order to evacuate.

A acção de espremer-se, straining.

ESPRIMI'DO, a, adj. squeezed, &c. See

ESPREMER, and Espremer-se.

Fallar, ou cantar com voz esprimida, to strain one's voice, to raise, or force it high, to speak or sing with a shrill or squeaking voice.

ESPRIGUIÇA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of Espriguiçar-se.

ESPRIGUIÇADO'R. See RIPANCO.

ESPRIGUIÇA'R-SE, v. r. to stretch one's self after sleep, or in a lazy humour.

Espriguiçar-se, e abrir a boca, to stretch and gape.

ESPULGA'DO, a, adj. See

ESPULGA'R, v. a. to rummage, to search into.

Esfulgar-se, v. r. to flea, or to clean one's self from fleas.

ESPUMADO.

ESPUMADO. See ESCUMADO.
ESPUMANTE, adj. frothy.
ESPUMEIO. See
ESPUIMOSO, a, adj. full of foam, foamy.
ESPURIO, a, adj. born of a common woman, one who knoweth not who is his father, bastardly, base born. See also PRI-VADO, and DESPOJADO.
Esprito, (among physicians) spurious, that degenerate from its kind.
ESPUITO. See CUSPO.
ESQUADRA, f. f. ex. Esquadra de navios, a squadron of ships.
Cabo de esquadra. See CABO.
Esquadra de soldados, so they call several bands of soldiers, the least is composed of twenty-five soldiers.
ESQUADRA'DO, a, adj. set in array. See ESQUADRAR.
ESQUADRAM, f. m. a squadron which is composed of one hundred and twenty horse. See also BATALHAM.
Formar hum esquadram, to draw up soldiers in squadrons.
ESQUADRAR, v. a. to set an army in array.
ESQUADRIA, f. f. square, a rule or instrument by which workmen measure, or form their angles.
Posso em esquadria, made by rule and square.
ESQUADRINHADO, a, adj. See ESQUADRINHAR.
ESQUADRINHADO'R, f. m. a diligent seeker, a rummager, a searcher.
ESQUADRINHAR, v. a. to speculate, to consider attentively, to look through with the mind, to search diligently. From esquadria.
Esquadrinhar os orbes celestes, e seus phenomenos, to speculate, to contemplate, view, or observe the celestial orbs, and their phenomena.
ESQUADRO, a right angle drawn upon a board.
ESQUALIDO, a, adj. See SUJO, and DESALINHADO.
ESQUAQUELLADO, a, adj. (in heraldry) chequered, variegated in the manner of a chess-board.
ESQUAQUES, f. m. p. (in heraldry) little squares in the manner of a chess-board.
ESQUARTEJADO, a, adj. See
ESQUARTEJAR, v. a. to quarter, to cut into quarters.
ESQUARTEJADO, a, adj. See
ESQUARTEJAR, v. a. (in heraldry) to quarter, to divide into four.
ESQUECER, v. n. to be forgot, or forgotten.
Esquecer, v. a. to cause a thing to die in oblivion.
Esquecer-se, v. r. to forget, to lose memory of.
Esquecer-se de si mesmo, to forget one's self; also to grow proud; also to be exceedingly mad and enraged.
Esquecer-se de qualquer coisa em algum lugar, to forget, to leave a thing in some place.
Esquecer-se da sua obrigação, to forget one's duty.
Não vos esqueçais dos pobres, pray remember the poor.
Esquecer-se dos amigos, to forget, or neglect one's friends.
ESQUECIDO, a, adj. forgot, &c. See ESQUECER, and Esquecer-se.
Esquecido, forgetful, unmindful, apt to forget. See also ENTORPECIDO.

Homem esquecido, ou que se esquece das coisas, forgetter, one that forgets.
ESQUECIMENTO, f. m. forgetfulness, oblivion, loss of memory.
Causa que causa esquecimento, oblivious, forgetful, causing oblivion, or forgetfulness.
Entregar ao esquecimento, to cause to be forgotten, to bury in oblivion.
Ficar alguma coisa a alguém em esquecimento. See ESQUECER-SE.
ESQUELETO, f. m. a skeleton, the bones of the body preserved together, as much as can be, in their natural situation. Greek.
Esqueleto, ou pessoa muito magra, a skeleton.
ESQUENTA'DA, f. f. ex. Pella esquentada, in the great heat and burning of the sun; also scarcely, with difficulty.
ESQUENTA'DO, f. m. a sort of disease in a horse's hoof.
ESQUENTA'DO, a, adj. See ESQUENTAR-SE.
ESQUENTADO'R, f. m. a warming-pan.
ESQUENTAMENTO, f. m. See GONORRHEA.
Esquentamento, over-heating.
ESQUENTAR-SE, v. r. to overheat one's self.
Esquentar-se na batalha, to grow hot in the engagement.
ESQUERDEADO, p. of the preterperfect tense of ESQUERDEAR, v. n. to swerve from reason.
ESQUERDO, a, adj. left, the contrary to right.
Voltai à mão esquerda, turn upon the left hand.
À esquerda, ou para a parte esquerda, toward, or on the left hand, or side.
Esquardo ou canhoto, f. m. a left-handed man.
Esquardo de ambas as mãos, one that is both right and left handed, which useth both hands alike.
ESQUIFE, f. m. a cock-boat, a skiff, a small boat belonging to a ship.
Esquife de enterrar, a bier, a coffin to bear dead bodies.
ESQUILLA, or ESQUIROLA. See ESQUIROLA.
ESQUINA, f. f. the corner of any thing, the outward angle.
ESQUINANCIA, ESCHINANCIA, or ESQUINENCIA, f. f. a disease called the squinancy, or quinsy, an inflammation in the throat.
ESQUINANTO, f. m. See PALHA de camelo.
ESQUINIAM, f. m. a bird called a reed-sparrow. Lat. junco.
ESQUIPAÇAM, f. f. the crew of a ship.
Sem esquipaçam, ou desesquipado, without crew or men.
Esquipaçam de vestidos, variety of habits or garments.
Esquipaçam, fashion, form, make, state of any thing with regard to its outward appearance.
Nova esquipaçam, a new fashion.
Feito com esquipaçam, elegant, neat, curious.
Com esquipaçam, comically, in such a manner as raises mirth.
Esquipaçam. See DISPARATE.
ESQUIPA'DO, a, adj. See
ESQUIPAR, v. a. to equip, or set out a ship.
ESQUIROLA, f. f. the fragment of a bone.

ESQUISITO. See EXQUISITO.
ESQUIVA'DO, a, adj. See ESQUIVAR.
ESQUIVAMENTE, adv. scornfully, coyly, with reserve.
ESQUIVANCIA, f. f. disdain, contempt, scorn, contemptuous anger; also coyness, disinclination, slight dislike.
Tratar com esquivança, to disdain, to scorn, to consider as unworthy of one's character, to coy, to bear with reserve, to reject familiarity.
ESQUIVAR, v. a. to disincline, to produce dislike, to make disaffected, to alienate affection from.
Esquivar, to reprehend. It is obfol. in this sense.
Esquivar-se, v. r. to shun, to avoid. See also RETIRAR-SE, and AFASTAR-SE.
ESQUIVO, a, adj. coy, disdainful, scornful; also inconsolable, sorrowful beyond susceptibility of comfort.
ESSA. See EÇA.
ESSE, ESSA, pron. demonstr. that. See PRONONCE. It shews the thing or person that is a little farther from the person we speak to.
Esse outro, the other.
ESSENCIA, f. f. the essence, or being of a thing.
Quinta essência de alguma coisa, quintessence.
Que consta de quinta essência, quintessential, consisting of quintessence.
ESSENCIAL, adj. essential, necessary to the constitution or existence of any thing; also important in the highest degree, principal, essential.
ESSENCIALMENTE, adv. essentially, by the constitution of nature.
ESSE'NOS, f. m. p. Essens, a sect of monastic philosophers among the Jews, who referred all to destiny, held the mortality of the soul, &c.
ESSOUTRO, a, adj. that other. See PRO-NOME.
ESTA, pron. demonstr. in the femin. gender. this.
Esta mulher, esta coisa, this woman, this thing.
ESTABELECE'R, v. a. to establish, to settle firmly, to fix unalterably.
Estabelecer, to establish, set, appoint, ordain, or make.
Estabelecer novas opinioes, to broach new opinions.
Estabelecer huma expressam, to bring an expression into use, to make it go current.
Estabelecer, (ordenar.) See ORDENAR.
Estabelecer-se, v. r. to settle, to fix one's self, to establish a residence.
ESTABELECIDO, a, adj. established, &c. See ESTABELECE'R, and Estabelecer-se.
ESTABELECIMENTO, f. m. establishment, settlement, fixed estate; also settled regulation, form, model of a government, on family.
Estabelecimento, foundation, fundamental principle, settled law. See the v. ESTABELECE'R, and Estabelecer-se.
ESTABILIDADE, f. f. stability, stableness, steadiness.
ESTABIL. See ESTAVEL.
ESTACA, f. f. a stake, a palisade, a pin n wall, a rack.
Estaca de prender bestas, a post, or tether, whereunto horses are tied in a stable.
Estaca para plantar, a stalk to graft on.
Plantar

Plantar de estaca, to set such a stock in the ground.

Estaca com que se arma a rede para caçar aves, a small stake or fork, to stay up nets, or to stretch or pitch them upon in fowling.

Estar a estaca, (metaph.) to be confined to a narrow compass, as a beast that is tied to a stake.

ESTACADA, f. f. a place palisaded, or hemmed in with stakes; also piles driven into the ground to make firm a foundation. See also PALISSADA.

Engenho, ou machina para fincar os paos das estacadas, an instrument to drive piles of wood into the ground, called a commander.

Estacada que se poem nas bordas dos rios para que não alaguem os campos. See DIQUE.

ESTACADO, f. m. an inclosure made with stakes, or a list to fight, or wrestle in. From the Italian staccato.

ESTAÇÃO, f. f. station.

Correr as estações, (among Roman Catholics) is to go to so many stations; that is, churches, or places appointed in remembrance of the several passages of our Saviour's passion, there to pray in honour of those mysteries.

Estaçam, (in astronomy) station, or point in which a planet appears to an eye placed on the earth, to stand still, and have no progressive motion forward in its orbit.

Estaçam, catechism, or instruction of what is to be believed in the Christian religion.

Fazer a estaçam, to catechize, to instruct in the fundamental articles of the Christian religion.

Estaçam do tempo, season, one of the four quarters of the year, which are spring, summer, autumn, and winter.

Estaçam, a sort of itinerary measure in Arabia and Tartary of twenty thousand geometrical paces.

ESTACIONARIO, (in astronomy) stationary.

ESTADA, f. f. abode, residence, stay.

ESTADIO, f. m. stadium, a Roman measure, now taken for a furlong; also an itinerary measure.

ESTADISTA, f. m. a statesman.

ESTADO, estate, the general interest, the business of the government, the public. In this sense it is now commonly written state.

Estado, estate, condition of life, with regard to prosperity, or adversity.

Dar estado, to settle, to fix in any way of life.

Tomar estado, to settle, to chuse a method of life, as to marry, to enter into a religious order, or the like.

Estar em estado de graça, to be in a state of grace.

Estado da innocencia, the state of innocence.

O estado das cousas ou dos negocios, the state, posture, or condition of things, or affairs.

Elle não está em estado de se casar, he is not in a condition to marry.

Eu o vi em hum estado miseravel, I saw him in a pitiful case, or condition.

Elle está em estado de servir os seus amigos, he is in a fair way to serve his friends.

Estar em estado, to be ready.

Estado, state, way of going in clothes.

Elle anda com tam grande estado como humo senhora de qualidade, she carries as much state, (or she goes as fine) as a lady of quality.

Em que estado está a vossa saúde? how is your health?

Estado, state, parade, shew, ostentation.

Cama de estado, a bed of state.

Estado de huma doença, the acme, or height of a distemper.

Estado, state, dominion.

Ministro de estado, a minister of state.

Razam de estado, a reason of state.

Materias de estado, affairs of state.

Os tres estados do reyno, the estates, or the three estates of the kingdom, viz. the clergy, nobility, and commonalty.

A junta dos tres estados, the estates, or the assembly of the three estates.

Estados geraes, states-general.

Estados de Hollanda, the States, or the States of Holland.

Conselho de estado, a council of state.

Estado secular, the laity.

Estado ecclesiastico, the clergy; also the pope's dominions.

Estado, p. of the preterperf. tense of the v. ESTAR, which see.

ESTADU'LHO, f. m. a sort of club, or heavy stick.

ESTARES, the plural of estay, (in a ship) the stays. See OSTAIS.

ESTAFÁ, f. f. ex. Dar huma estafa, to beat, or cudgel. See also ESTAFETA, and ESTAFADOR.

ESTAFADO, a, adj. See ESTAFAR.

ESTAFADO'R, f. m. a shifter, a cozenor, a cheater.

ESTAFAR, v. a. to cozen, to cheat, to trick, to defraud, to chouse.

O que facilmente se deixa estafar, a chouse, a bubble, a tool, a man fit to be cheated.

ESTAFERMO, f. m. a wooden statue to run a-tilt.

ESTAFETA, f. f. a courier, an express.

ESTAGNADO, a, adj. (among physicians) ex. Sangue estagnado, stagnant blood, or blood that stagnates.

ESTALADO, a, adj. broken, &c. See ESTALAR.

ESTALAGEM, f. f. an inn.

ESTALAJADEIRA, f. f. a hostess.

ESTALAJADEIRO, f. m. an inn-keeper.

ESTALAR, v. n. to crack, to split, to shiver, to break in pieces, to burst.

O vidro estala no fogo, glass flies in the fire.

Estalar de riso, to split one's sides with laughing, to laugh out.

Estalar a paciencia, to be out of patience, to lose patience.

Estalar por alguma coisa, to long, to wish with eagerness for a thing.

Estalar de fome, frio, &c. to starve for hunger, for cold, &c.

ESTALEIRO, f. m. stocks, posts framed to build a ship, or boat upon.

Navio que esta no estaleiro, a ship upon the stocks.

Lançar huma nao do estaleiro, to launch a ship.

ESTALIDO. See ESTALO.

ESTALLA. See ESTREBARIA. From the Italian stalla, stables.

ESTALO, or ESTRALO, a noise, a crackling, or crack.

Estalo de azorrague, the jirk, or snapping of a whip.

Estalo com os dedos, a snap with the fingers.

Dar estalos com os dedos, to snap the fingers.

Estalo que se da com a boca, em beijos, depois de provar alguma coisa, a smack, or the act of parting the lips audibly.

Dar estalos neste ultimo sentido, to smack.

Estalo que se da beijando, a smack, or a loud kiss.

Fallar por estalos, so they say of a people bordering upon Æthiopia, near the Arabian gulph, who cannot articulate nor form words, but only make a noise with their tongues, by means of which they understand one another.

A minha barriga dá estalos, my belly creaks cupboard.

ESTAMAGADO, ESTAMAGAR-SE. See ESTOMAGADO, ESTOMAGAR-SE.

ESTAMAGO. See ESTOMAGO.

ESTAME'NHA, f. f. itamine, a light sort of French stuff.

ESTAMPA, f. f. impression, print; also a cut or print.

Estampa fina, a brass-cut, a copper-plate.

Dar hum livro á estampa, to print a book.

Estampa dos pés. See PISADA.

ESTAMPADO, a, adj. See

ESTAMPAR, v. a. to print, impress, or stamp.

Estampar. See GRAVAR.

ESTAMPIDO, f. m. a noise, a crash, a crack. See also ESTRONDO.

ESTANÇA. See ESTADA.

Estanca-cavallos, the herb called hedge-hyssop.

ESTANCADEIRA, f. f. the herb called sea-thirst.

ESTANCA'DO, a, adj. See

ESTANCA'R, v. a. to stanch, or stop, to hinder from running.

Estancar, v. n. to be over-tired; also to stanch, to stop, to cease from running.

Fonte, ou agoa que não estanca, a perpetual water-spring.

ESTANÇIA, f. f. a dwelling-place, a place to stay in; also a station, a place where any one is placed.

Estancia de naus, a bay, a creek, or road for ships to ride in.

Estancia, a stanza in poetry.

Estancia, a place in Lisbon where they cleave and fell wood.

ESTANÇO. See ESTANQUE.

ESTANDARTE, f. m. a standard, an ensign in war, particularly the ensign of the horse.

O que leva o estandarte, a standard-bearer.

ESTANHA'DO, a, adj. tinned; also calm, smooth. (Metaph.)

ESTANHAR, v. a. to tin, or tin over.

ESTANHO, f. m. pewter.

O que faz louça de estanho, a pewterer, a smith who works in pewter.

Estanho fino, tin, fine pewter.

Estanho liquido, (metaph.) the sea.

ESTANQUE, or ESTANÇO, f. m. the shop or place where the estaqueiros sell certain commodities. See ESTANQUEIRO.

Estanque de tabaco, a snuff-shop.

Estanque, adj. sound, not leaky.

Agoa estanque, standing water.

ESTANQUEIRO, f. m. a monopolist, or patentee, that hath licence to engross certain commodities for his own profit, with power to exclude others from trading in the same.

ESTANTE, f. f. ex. Estante do coro, a reading desk, or chorister's desk in a church choir.

Estante

Estante da livraria, a case, or shelf for books.
Estante, f. m. See MORADOR.
Estante, adj. See ESTAVEL, and FIRME.
ESTADOS, the name of the ancient king's palace in Lisbon.
ESTAPHISAGRIA. See PIOLHEIRA.
ESTAR, v. a. to be, to stand. See the v. SER.
Estar em pé, to stand on one's feet.
Estar direito com o corpo, to stand, to stand up.
Estar quieto, to stand still, or to be quiet.
Estar neutral, to stand neuter.
Esfarei por tudo o que vos parecer mais conveniente, I shall stand to whatsoever you shall think fitting.
Estar, (consistir.) See CONSISTIR.
Estar, to leave, to abide, or dwell, to be in a place.
Estar por alguém, to stand for one, to be of his side.
Estar por, or em lugar de, &c. to stand for, or signify.
Ele estava na altura do Cabo da Boa Esperança, he stood off the Cape of Good-Hope.
Eu não quero estar às razões com vosco, I won't stand or dispute with you.
Está quanto quizeres, stay as long as you please.
Estar a janella, to be at the window.
Donde estays de casa? where do you live?
Esfarei pelo que differ a pessoa que for de vosso mayor agrado, I'll refer it to whom you please.
Não podemos estar por isso, we can't stand to that.
Não quero estar pella vossa sentença, I won't take your judgment.
Estar sem fazer nada, to stand still, to do nothing.
Como está v. m.? how do you do, sir?
Estar, accompanied by an adj. has the same signification as to be.
Estar doente, to be sick.
Estou lendo, I am reading, I read.
Estou dormindo, to be asleep.
Estar, joined with the infinitive of a verb, and the particle para, signifies to be ready, or about doing a thing which has always reference to the signification of the v. Ex.
Estou para ir, I am going, I am ready to go.
Estou para comprar hum cavallo, I am about buying a horse.
Estou para casarme, I am going to be married.
Esta casa está para cabir, this house is ready to fall.
Está para chover, it is going to rain.
Estou para dizer, I dare say.
Estar, (convir.) See CONVIR.
Não está no meu poder, it is not in my power.
Esta cabelleira vos está bem, this wig becomes you very well.
Estar com a boca aberta, to stare, to look, to hearken attentively.
Estai comigo, stay with me.
Estai comigo, listen to me, or hear me favourably.
Estar em casa, to be at home.
Estar de regimento, to keep to a diet.
Estar fiado em alguém, to trust to, to rely, or depend upon one.
Estar no fundo, to lie at the bottom.
Estar de frente, to lie over-against.

Estar em competencia, to stand in competition.
Estar ao lume, to stand by the fire, to warm one's self at the fire.
Estar de longe, to stand at a distance.
Estar ao ar, to stand in the air.
Estar alerta. See ALERTA.
Estar com saúde, to be in health.
Estar ao sol, to stand in the sun.
Estar alto, to stand high, or in a high place.
Estar á mão direita de alguém, to be at one's right-hand, to have the first place.
Que está por vir, future, that is to come hereafter.
Que está por nacer, unborn, future, not yet brought into life.
Estar em perigo, to be in danger.
Esfteve em perigo de afogar-se, he was like to be drowned.
Estar de sentinella, to stand centry.
Estar a ordem de alguém, to be ready at one's commands, to be at one's disposal.
Estar escondido para esperar alguém, to lie in ambuscade, to watch one.
Estar assentado, to sit.
Isto não está nos termos, that is not right, it will not do.
Estar às razões, to contend, to strive, or quarrel.
Estar a ver, to look at, to behold.
Esfaremos a ver, we shall see.
Estar bem com alguém, to be in favour with one, to be in friendship with him.
Estar bem, to be well, to be at one's ease.
Bem aviado estaria eu se, &c. it would be very bad for me, indeed, if, &c.
Estar bom de saúde, to be in good health.
Esta bom, it is well done.
Bem está, or isto vai bem, this goeth well.
Está em conceito de homem honrado, he is looked upon as an honest man.
Estar na fe, to believe, to think, suppose or imagine.
Estar em duvida, to doubt, to be irresolute, or undetermined what to do, to be at shall I, shall I.
Estar de posse, to possess, to have the possession of something.
Deixai estar isso, let that alone.
Estar em si, to be in one's right wits.
Não estar em si, to be out of one's wits.
Deixai-vos estar, stay, or tarry a while.
Deixai-vos estar, (a sort of threatening) we say, I shall pay you off for it, I'll be revenged on you, you shall pay for it.
Estar. (In ancient writings.) See HOSPEDARIA.
ESTARDATO. (In cant.) See ESTOQUE.
ESTARDIOTA, f. f. a saddle with long stirrups, contrary to gineta. It was so called from the stradiots of Epirus.
ESTARNA, or STARNA, f. f. a sort of small partridge. Ital.
ESTATELA'DO, a, adj. unmoveable like a statue.
ESTATOUDER. See STATOUDER.
ESTATUA, f. f. a statue.
ESTATUARIA, f. f. statuary, the art of making statues.
ESTATUARIO, f. m. a statuary, one that practises the art of making statues.
ESTATU'DO, ESTATUIR. See DETERMINADO, DETERMINAR.
ESTATU'RA, f. f. stature, size.
ESTATU'TA. See INSTITUTA.
ESTATU'TO, f. m. a statute, a decree.
ESTAVEL, adj. stable, firm.

ESTAR, the singular of ESTAER, which see.
ESTAZADO, or ESTAÇADO, a, adj. overtired.
ESTAZAMENTO, or ESTAÇAMENTO, f. m. weariness, lassitude, accompanied with shortness of breath.
ESTE, pron. demonstr. in the masculine gender, this. It shews the thing or person that is just near, or by us.
Este homem, este livro, this man, this book.
ESTEAD'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESTEAR, v. a. to stay, to shore, to prop, to support; also to cease from ruin, to rain no more.
ESTEIO, f. m. a shore, a prop, a stay or support.
Pôr esteios, to prop, &c. See ESTEAR.
Esteio, support, help, prop, or protection. (Metaph.)
ESTEIRA, f. f. a mat.
Esteira que se põem nas janellas por causa do sol, an umbrella for a window.
Esteira, ou rasto que em a agoa faz o navio, the rake, or wake of a ship.
Esteira, (a sea-term) the lower part of a sail.
ESTEIRAM, f. m. a coarse mat made of mat-weed.
ESTEIREIRO, f. m. a mat-maker.
ESTEIRINHA, f. f. a little mat; diminut. of esteira.
ESTÉIRO, f. m. a salt-marsh, a place where the tide ebbs and flows, a creek, or an inlet of the sea; also an arm of a river.
ESTELANTE, adj. (in poetry) shining, or studded with stars.
ESTELLIAM. See STELLIO.
ESTELLIFERO, a, adj. (in poetry) stelliferous, having stars.
ESTELLIONATO, f. m. stellionate, a kind of crime which is committed (in law) by a deceitful selling of a thing otherwise than it really is, as if a man should sell that for his own estate, which is actually another man's.
ESTENDEDO'URO, f. m. (among washerwomen) the place where they dry the linen.
ESTENDER, v. a. to spread, stretch, or stretch out, to open, to extend.
Estendei aquella tapete, spread that carpet.
Estender os braços, to spread, or stretch one's arms.
Estender a vida, to prolong, or lengthen one's life.
Estender o seu exercito, to spread, to extend one's army.
Estender hum homem no chão, ou matallo, to kill a man upon the spot.
Estender, to spread by making thin.
O ouro estendese com o martello, gold is spread with a hammer.
Estender, to extend, stretch out, or enlarge.
Estender suas conquistas, to extend, or enlarge one's conquest.
Instrumento, ou pessoa que serve para estender alguma coisa, an extender.
Extender as mãos, to stretch one's hands.
Estender a toalha, to spread, or lay the cloth.
Estender o pensamento a alguma coisa, to turn or bend one's thoughts upon a thing.
Estender-se, v. r. to spread, or stretch one's self.
Estender-se ao comprido, to sprawl, or lie sprawling along.
A açcam de estender-se ao comprido, sprawling.

Eftender-se na cama, to stretch one's self a-bed.
As veas estendem-se por todo o corpo, the veins spread themselves through the whole body.
Eftender-se sobre algum assumpto, ou materia, to enlarge or dwell upon a subject.
Athé lá se estendem os seus dominios, his dominions stretch, or reach to that place, or so far.
Naõ se estende a tanto o seu poder, his power does not reach, or go so far.
Cousa que pode estender-se, extensible.
Musculo que serve para que hum membro se estenda, an extensor, the muscle by which any limb is extended.
Eftender-se. See DIVULGAR-SE, and DILATAR-SE.
Eftender-se o significado de huma palavra, is for a word to have a further meaning or signification.
ESTENDERETE, f. m. a sort of play at cards.
ESTENDIDO, a, adj. spread, stretched, &c. See ESTENDER, and Eftender-se.
Eftendiço, (morto.) See MORTO.
ESTENSAO. See EXTENCAO.
ESTERCAO, a, adj. See
ESTERCAO, v. a. to dung the ground.
ESTERCO, f. m. dung.
Esterco de raposa, ou de texugo, fiants, the dung of a fox, or badger. Our hunters call also scumber the dung of a fox.
ESTERIL, adj. barren, steril, unfruitful, wanting fecundity.
Terra esteril, a barren ground.
Molher esteril, a barren woman.
Anno esteril, a year of scarcity.
Materia ou argumento esteril, a barren subject. (Metaph.)
Engenho esteril, a barren poor wit. (Metaph.)
ESTERILIDADE, f. f. sterility, barrenness, unfruitfulness.
Esterilidade de trigo, scarcity of corn.
Esterilidade da materia, do engenho, &c. sterility, barrenness, poorness, dryness, emptiness.
ESTERILINA. See ESTERLINA.
ESTERILIZAO, a, adj. See
ESTERILIZAR, v. a. to make, or render any thing barren.
ESTERLINA, ex. Libra esterlina, a pound sterling, or twenty shillings.
ESTERNON. See STERNON.
ESTERQUEIRA, f. f. a dunghill, a lay-stall, a heap of dung.
ESTERQUINIO, f. m. idem.
ESTERTOR, f. m. (among physicians) a sort of snore, caused by the shortness of breath.
ESTEVA, f. f. the plough-tail, or handle. Lat. stiva.
Esteva, a plant of two kinds, one called long-rose, the other hath on its leaves about midsummer a fatty dew, whereof laudanum is made. It is called cistus ledon.
ESTEVAL, f. m. the place where the estivas grow. See ESTEVA.
ESTIOMENO. See ESTIOMENO.
ESTIAO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
ESTIAR, v. n. to cease from rain, to rain no more.
Estiár-se, v. r. See AFROXAR-SE.
ESTIBA, f. f. (in India) ex. Fazer estiba, to compute, to reckon, to examine the quantity of any thing.

ESTIBO'RDO, f. m. starboard, the right side of a ship.
ESTIGE. } See ESTYGE.
ESTIGIO. } See ESTIGIO.
ESTILADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
ESTILAR-SE, v. r. (a forensic term) ex. Isto se estila, this is the practice of the court, or the way of proceeding in law-suits.
ESTILLACAO, f. f. distilling, or distillation.
ESTILLADO, a, adj. See ESTILLAR.
O estillado, (metaph.) the finest.
ESTILLADO, f. m. a distiller.
ESTILLAR, v. a. to distil, to extract the moisture of things by heat through the alembic.
ESTILLICIDIO, f. m. a distillation, a falling down, or flowing of humours from the brain.
ESTILO, f. m. a style in writing; also use, custom, practice.
Estilo dos tribunaes, the practice of the court, the style of court.
Estilo do relógio de sol, the stile-pin, or cock of a dial.
Estilo, ou ferrinho agudo com que os antigos escreviaõ, stile, a pointed iron used anciently in writing on tables of wax; also a tool with a sharp point, used by goldsmiths.
ESTIMA, f. f. esteem, value.
ESTIMACAO, f. f. esteem, value; also estimation, rating, prizing.
Fazer estimacão. See ESTIMAR.
ESTIMADO, a, adj. See ESTIMAR.
ESTIMADOR, f. m. one that esteems, or values; also a prizer, an appraiser, an esteemer, an estimator.
ESTIMAR, v. a. to esteem, to value, to have an esteem or value for, to make account of.
Estimo a honra mais que a vida, I esteem honour above life.
Estimar, to estimate, prize, value, rate.
ESTIMATIVA, f. f. the power or faculty of judging and distinguishing the worth or value of any thing, or person.
Estimativa, (a sea-term) estimation.
ESTIMAVEL, adj. estimable, valuable.
ESTIMULACAO, f. f. stimulation, a pricking or putting forward, excitement. See ESTIMULO.
ESTIMULADO, a, adj. See ESTIMULAR.
ESTIMULADOR, f. m. an instigator, encourager, enticer, or setter on.
ESTIMULAR, v. a. to stimulate, to excite by some pungent motive. See also IRITAR.
ESTIMULO, f. m. a prick, a goad, an incentive.
ESTINHADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
ESTINHAR, v. a. to take the honey away the second time from the hives.
ESTIO, f. m. the summer.
ESTIOMENADO, a, adj. See
ESTIOMENAR, v. a. (among physicians) to gnaw and consume. See ESTIOMENO, (among physicians) esthiomenos, an inflammation which gnaws and consumes the parts, a gangrene, a mortification. Greek.
ESTIPENDIADO, a, adj. See
ESTIPENDIAR, v. a. to keep soldiers in pay, to pay them their wages.
ESTIPENDIARIO, f. m. a stipendiary, that takes wages. See also TRIBUTARIO.

ESTIPE'NDIO, f. m. a stipend, wages, pay, or allowance.
ESTIPULACAO, f. f. stipulation, agreement.
ESTIPULADO, a, adj. See ESTIPULAR.
ESTIPULANTE, p. act. peculiar and suitable to a stipulation.
ESTIPULAR, v. a. to stipulate, to contract, to settle terms, to agree.
ESTIRADO, a, adj. extended, stretched out.
Estrado no chão, that lies sprawling along.
Estrado, (nobre.) See NOBRE.
Andar muito estrado, or andar estelado. See ESPETADO, and the v. Estrar.
ESTIRAO, f. m. journey, way.
Hum bom estrao, a long or great way.
ESTIRAR, v. a. to extend, or stretch out.
Estrar a alguém morto no chão, to kill one upon the spot.
Estrar, to stretch, to carry by violence farther than is right; as to stretch a text, estirar hum texto. See TORCER o sentido, &c.
ESTERENA. See ESPHIRENA.
ESTIRPACAO. See EXTIRPACAO.
ESTIRPADO, &c. See EXTIRPADO, &c.
ESTIRPE, f. f. a stock, a race.
ESTITICO, a, adj. (among physicians) stiptic, astringent.
ESTIVA, f. f. (a sea term) the trimming of a ship.
ESTIVADO, a, adj. See ESTIVAR.
ESTIVAL, adj. estival, pertaining to the summer.
ESTIVAR, v. a. (a sea term) to trim a ship.
ESTIVO, a, adj. See ESTIVAL.
ESTO. See ENCHENTE.
ESTOCADA, f. f. thrust, pass, a stoccado, a thrust with the rapier, or sword.
Jogar as estocadas, to tilt, or thrust, or make passes at one another; to fight.
Dar huma estocada, to make a thrust, or pass upon one, with a long rapier, or sword.
ESTOCOLMO. See STOCOLME.
ESTOFA, f. f. stuff, a sort of thin cloth made of wool or other matter. See also CALIDADE, and CONDICAO.
ESTOFADO, a, adj. See
ESTOFAR, v. a. (in cookery) to stew meat.
Esfotar, to quilt; also to stuff, to quilt.
Esfotar, (in painting) to draw with a thin colour over gold; so that the gold appear through it.
ESTOFO, f. m. any cloth stuffed with wool, cotton, &c. See also ESTOFA.
Esfoso, or figura esfocada, (in painting.) See ESTOFAR. (In painting.)
Esfoso, a, adj. calm, smooth.
ESTOICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to the stoics. See also SEVERO.
ESTOICOS, f. m. p. the philosophers called stoics.
ESTOJO, f. m. a case, a tweezer, a tweezer-case, a case of instruments.
ESTOLA, f. f. a stole, a robe; a garment down to the heels, but particularly the stole, an ornament worn about the neck of a priest.
ESTOLIDAMENTE, adv. foolishly, extravagantly, simply, unwisely.
ESTOLIDO, a, adj. foolish.
ESTOMACAL,

ESTOMACAL, adj. stomachic, good for the stomach.
ESTOMAGADO, a, adj. angry, stomached.
ESTOMAGA'R-SE, v. r. to stomach, to be angry at.
ESTOMAGO, f. m. the stomach.
Fullano tem estomago para tudo, such a one is a bold and outrageous man. (Metaph.)
Isto não me fez bom estomago, I do not like this. (Metaph.)
ESTOMATICO, a, adj. See ESTOMACAL.
ESTOPA, f. f. tow, hards of hemp and flax.
Estopa que se tira dos cabos, or cordas velhas para calafetar os navios, oakum.
P. nem estopa com tições nem molher com varões; that is, conversation of women is dangerous; it is not good jesting with edged tools.
ESTOPADA, f. f. ex. Estopada de ovos, tow dipped in beaten eggs.
ESTOPAR prego, a sort of nail with a broad head, like those called scupper-nails.
ESTOQUE, f. m. a long rapier, a tuck; also the herb glader, or sword-grass. Lat. genitalis.
Esfoque real, the royal sword.
ESTORAQUE, f. m. the sweet gum called storax; also the tree itself.
ESTORNINHO, f. m. a bird called a starling, or stare; so they also call the students in the colleges.
Cor de estorninho, (speaking of a horse) flea-bitten.
ESTORROADO, a, adj. See
ESTORROAR, v. a. to break the clods; also to quote, to cite many passages of authors in disputing. (Metaph.)
ESTORTEGADO, a, adj. See
ESTORTEGAR, v. a. to writhe, or wreath with the fingers.
ESTORVADO, a, adj. See ESTORVAR.
ESTORVADOR, f. m. hinderer, he or that which hinders, or obstructs.
ESTORVAR, v. a. to hinder, to obstruct, to stop, to let, to keep from, to disturb. See also IMPEDIR and EMBARAÇAR.
Saber estorvar o anzol para que o peixe não corte, to know how to keep the fishing-hook from being cut from the fishing-line by the fish.
ESTORVILHO, f. m. a little hinderance, diminut. of ESTORVO, f. m. hinderance, impediment, let, stop, obstruction.
ESTOURADO, part. of the preterperf. tense of ESTOURAR, v. n. to burst with great noise, or sound.
ESTOURO, f. m. burst or bursting. See also ESTALO.
Esouro repentino como o da pólvora, &c. a bounce.
Esouro de huma bomba, the bursting of a bomb.
Dar hum esouro. See ESTOURAR.
Esouro, (pancada.) See PANCADA.
ESTOUTRO, a, adj. this other. See PRO-NOME.
ESTOUVADO, f. m. ESTOUVADA, f. f. a heedless, rash, hot-headed man, or woman, a blunderbuff.
ESTRABUXAR, v. n. to stamp, or beat often the ground with the foot. See also ESTRIBUXAR.

ESTRADA, f. f. a highway, main road, public road.
Ladram de estradas, a highwayman, or robber.
Estrada encuberta, (in fortification.) See CORREDOR. Some call it estrada cuberta.
Estrada de santiago, (a vulgar phrase) the bright circle in the sky, caused by the reflection of many little stars, called the Milky Way.
Estrada Salaria, the Salters Way, the name of a street in Rome. See also VIA.
Tomar a estrada a alguém, to go before one.
Tomar a alguém a estrada, (in a moral sense) to prevent, to anticipate.
Deitar-se na estrada com alguém, (metaph.) to pump one, to get out of one, to examine artfully by sly interrogatories.
Tirar alguém a estrada, (metaph.) to induce one, to persuade him.
Estrada, (metaph.) a rule, method, or course.
ESTRADINHO, f. m. See ESTRADO, whose diminut. it is.
ESTRADO, f. m. a place raised a step higher than the rest of the rooms, and covered with carpets or mats, as is used where thrones are set; but in Portugal and Spain they have an estrado in every house, where the women sit upon cushions.
ESTRAGADAMENTE, adv. licentiously, over freely, with too much liberty.
ESTRAGADO, or DESTRAGADOR, f. m. a spendthrift, a squanderer, a prodigal, a waster, a lavisher.
Estragado, a, adj. licentious, unrestrained by law or morality, profligate.
Homem estragado, a profligate, an abandoned shameless wretch.
Estragado, impaired, worn out, in point of health.
Gosto estragado, a whim, a freak, a caprice, an irregular motion of desire, a frolic. See also the v. ESTRAGAR.
ESTRAGADOR, f. m. See ESTRAGADO.
ESTRAGAR, v. a. to waste, to squander, to scatter lavishly, to spend profusely, to throw away in idle prodigality.
Estragar a sua saúde, ou forças, to wear away, to decay, to fade away, to lose one's strength, to break one's health.
Estragar o segredo, to divulge, to reveal a secret.
Estragar a amizade, to dissolve, to break off friendship, to separate united persons.
Estragar o vestido, to rend, or pull in pieces the cloaths, or a suit of cloaths.
Estragar o beneficio, to slight, or to take no notice of a benefit, or favour.
Estragar, (violar.) See VIOLAR and QUEBRANTAR.
Estragar-se, v. r. to grow lewd, to follow ill courses, to begin to lead a licentious life, to grow corrupt and vitious.
ESTRAGO, f. m. devastation, waste, havoc, desolation, destruction.
O que faz estragos, a destroyer, waster, ravager, pillager, or plunderer, a spoiler of people and countries. See also DESTRUICAM and RUINA.
ESTRALO. See ESTALO.
ESTRANGEIRA, f. f. a stranger, an outlandish woman.
ESTRANGEIRO, f. m. a stranger, a foreigner.

Accento de estrangeiro, a tone in the pronunciation, shewing him that speaketh to be a foreigner.
Estrangeiro, a, adj. strange, foreign, outlandish. See also ESTRANHO.
Elle he estrangeiro na sua patria, he is a stranger in his country, he is a stranger to its customs.
ESTRANHADO, a, adj. See ESTRANHAR.
ESTRANHAMENTE, adv. See ADMIRAVELMENTE.
Estranhamente, (com estranheza.) See ESTRANHEZA.
ESTRANHAR, v. a. and n. to wonder, marvel, admire, to think strange, to admire at, to be surprized; also to reprehend, to blame.
Estranhar a alguém, not to know one.
ESTRANHAVEL, adj. reprehensible, blameable, &c. according to the v. ESTRANHAR.
ESTRANHEZA, f. f. See ESQUIVANÇA.
Com estranheza, or estranhamente. See ESQUIVAMENTE.
Estranhezas, wonders, wonderful things.
ESTRANHO, f. m. a stranger, a foreigner, an outlandish man.
Estranho, a, adj. See ESTRANGEIRO.
Estranho, another man's.
Estranho, no kin, or relation, alien.
Estranho, contrary, opposite, inconsistent with.
Estranho, strange, wonderful, unheard of, unexpected.
Estranho, dreadful, frightful, that maketh afraid.
ESTRATAGEMA. See STRATAGEMA.
ESTRAVADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESTRAVAR.
ESTRAVAGANCIA. See EXTRAVAGANCIA.
ESTRAVAGANTE, &c. See EXTRAVAGANTE, &c.
ESTRAVAR. See CAGAR.
ESTRAVO. See MERDA, and ESTERCO.
ESTREA, f. f. handfel, the first act of using any thing, the first act of sale. See also PRINCIPIO, and AGOURO.
Homem de estrea, a lucky man.
ESTREADO, a, adj. ex. Bem estreado, handsome, well-favoured.
Mal estreado, ugly, deformed. See also ESTREAR, v. n. ex. Estrear na compra, to handfel, or hanfel, to give handfel.
Estreai commigo, handfel me.
Estrear na venda, to take handfel.
Estrear, v. a. See PRINCIPIAR.
Estrear-se, v. r. See ESTREAR, v. n.
ESTREBARIA, or ESTREVARIA, f. f. stables.
ESTREITADO, a, adj. See ESTREITAR.
ESTREITAMENTE, adv. closely, narrowly; also rigidly, strictly.
ESTREITAR, v. a. to straiten, or make straiter, to make narrower. See also DIMINUIR.
Estreitar, to prosecute, to continue endeavours after any thing, to carry on vigorously.
Estreitar, (forçar.) See FORÇAR.
Estreitar-se, v. r. to grow shorter.
ESTREITEZA, f. f. narrowness, straitness; also poverty.

Esfreiteza, (rigor.) See RIGOR.

Esfreiteza, perplexity, difficulty, trouble.

Estar em grandes esfreitezas, to be in great straits.

Nesta esfreiteza dos tempos, in these calamitous, or hard times.

ESTREITO, a, adj. narrow, strait. See also INTIMO.

Esfreito, that is, or falls short, that is inferior, and does not come near.

Esfreito, (onciso, laconico.) See CONCISO, &c.

Esfreito, strict, exact.

Por algum em termo esfrito, to reduce to extremities, to straiten, or reduce to straits.

Ser esfrito no gasto, to live sparingly.

Esfrito, f. m. streight, a narrow arm of the sea.

ESTREITURA. See ESTREITEZA.

ESTRELLA, f. f. a star.

Ver as estrelas ao meyo dia, to be hunger-starved.

Esfrella, a sort of shell-fish, called star-fish.

Esfrella, (destino, sorte.) See DESTINO, &c.

Nacido debaixo de boa ou ma estrella, luckily, or unluckily starred.

Esfrella, (in fortification) star-redoubt, a small fort of four, five, six, or more points.

Sciencia das estrelas, astronomy, star-read, the doctrine of the stars.

Esfrellas que apenas se podem ver com o telescópio, unformed stars.

Causa que não pode ser penetrada pela luz das estrelas, star-proof.

Esfrellas, (metaph.) eyes.

Per'algum nas estrelas, (metaph.) to praise one mightily.

Esfrella de athenas, the flower or herb called starwort, or sharwort.

ESTRELLADA, f. f. the herb called stone liverwort.

ESTRELLADO, a, adj. starry.

Noite com o ceo esfrellado, a star-light night.

ESTRELLAMIM. See ARISTOLOCHIA.

ESTRELLAR, v. a. to make a thing that is frying look brown.

ESTRELEIRO, a, adj. (in horsemanship) that holds up the head, as if star-gazing.

ESTRELLINHA, f. f. a little star. See also ASTERISCO.

ESTREMADAMENTE. See EXTREMADAMENTE.

ESTREMA'DO. See EXTREMADO, and ESTREMAR.

ESTREMADURA, a province in Portugal, a long strip of land along the sea coast, from the mouth of the river Mondego, in a northerly direction, quite southwardly, below the town of Setuval, or St. Ubes. Here are two cities, Lisbon and Leiria.

ESTREMAR. See LIMITAR, and DIVIDIR.

ESTREME, adj. (among the country people) pure, mere, unmixed, without mixture.

ESTREMECE'R, v. n. to tremble, to quake, to shake; to tremble for fear.

Estremer o corpo com calyrios, to shake in an ague-fit.

Estremer e febre alguma coisa que se ama, to love a thing excessively.

Estremer, v. a. to cause a trembling, to shake.

ESTREMECIDO, a, adj. See ESTREMECER.

Estremeido, amorous, that is in a transport of love.

ESTREMECIMENTO, f. m. ardency of love.

Estrehecimento do corpo causado da febre, cold fit.

ESTREMIDADE. See EXTREMIDADE.

ESTREMO, &c. See EXTREMO, &c.

ESTREMON. See ESTERNON.

ESTREMO'Z, a town of Alentejo, in Portugal, standing high; it is the best modern fortress in the kingdom, having double walls, defended with several high towers. The number of its inhabitants is upwards of six thousand five hundred.

Here is a curious manufacture of red earthen ware, made into a variety of utensils. In the neighbourhood are quarries of fine marble, which when polished resemble alabaster. In 1663, the Portuguese, under count Schomberg, obtained a signal victory over the Spaniards near this place.

ESTREPA'R. See

ESTRE'PE, f. m. a pointed stake.

Estrepe de ferro. See ABROLHO.

Estrepes de pao, pointed stakes fixed in the ground to hurt the enemies feet.

ESTRE'PITO, f. m. a noise.

Estrepite, (applauso, louvor.) See APPLAUSO, &c.

ESTRI'A, f. f. (in ancient architecture) striae, the lists, fillets, or rays, which separate the striges, or flutings of columns.

Estria, (in natural history) striae, the small hollows or channels in the shells of cockles, scollops, &c.

ESTRIA'DO, a, adj. striated, formed in striae. See ESTRIA.

ESTRIA'M. See BOBO and COMEDIANTE.

ESTRIBA'DO, a, adj. underfet, propped. See also ARRIMADO, FIADO, and the v. ESTRIBAR.

ESTRIBA'M, f. m. any space of ground.

ESTRIBA'R, v. a. to prop, to support; also to ground, to found as upon cause or principle. (Metaph.)

Estribar-se, v. r. or Estribar, v. n. to lean, or rest upon, to be supported, also to depend, to rely on, to trust to, or confide in. (Metaph.)

ESTRIBAR'A. See ESTREBARIA.

ESTRIBE'IRA, a stirrup to a saddle. See also ESTRIBO.

ESTRIBE'IRO, f. m. a master of the horse.

Estribeiro mor, the chief equerry to the king.

ESTRIBILHO, f. m. the foot of the ditty, a verse often repeated, the burthen of the song.

ESTRIBO, f. m. a stirrup to a saddle.

Estribos de mulher, a foot-stall, a woman's stirrup.

Perder os estribos, to lose one's stirrups; also to fall in a passion. (Metaph.)

Estribo do coche, the boot of a coach.

Estribo da liteira, the foot-board of a litter.

Ter o pe, ou estar com o pe em dous estribos; we say, to have two strings to a bow.

Fazer perder a algum os estribos, to make a man lose his stirrups; also to put a man out of patience. (Metaph.)

Correa do estribo, stirrup-leather.

Abaixar os estribos, to lengthen the stirrups.

Levantar os estribos, to shorten the stirrups.

Estribos, (a sea-term) the first rattlings or steps of the ship-shrouds.

ESTRIBUXA'DO, or ESTREBUXADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESTRIBUXA'R-SE, or ESTREBUXA'R-SE, v. r. to flutter, to take a short flight with great agitation of the wings.

ESTRIDE'NTE, adj. making a noise, roaring.

ESTRIDO'R, f. m. noise, crashing, gnashing, the creaking of a door, the whistling of wind, the hissing of a serpent, the grunting of a boar, the rattling of wheels, the gnashing of teeth, the shrieking of a saw, the hissing of a pot, or hot pan, the roaring or raging of the sea, the noise, buzz, or din of people.

ESTRIGA, f. f. ex. Estriga de linho, a strike of flax, a handful of combed and hatchelled flax fit for spinning.

Estriga de burel, an half vara of burel. See VARA and BUREL.

ESTRIGE. See STRIGE.

ESTRIPA'DO, a, adj. See

ESTRIPA'R, v. a. to unbowel, to unrip.

E'STRO, f. m. poetic rage, inspired fury.

ESTROGIDO. } See { ESTRUGIDO.

ESTROGIR. } See { ESTRUGIR.

ESTRONCADO. See DESTRONCADO.

ESTRONCAR. See DESTRONCAR.

ESTRO'NDO, f. m. a noise, a buzz, a din, a creaking, cracking, rattling, rattling, bustle, hurly-burly.

Fazer grande estrondo, to make a great noise, to make a great stir.

Este successo fez grande estrondo na cidade, this accident made a great bustle in the town.

Fazer estrondo fallando muito sobre alguma coisa, to make a great noise or bustle about a thing, to talk much of it.

Estrondo de armas, que dam humas nas outras, rattling or rattling of arms.

Estrondo de espadas que dam humas nas outras, clashing of swords.

Estrondo feito com os dentes, chattering, or crashing of the teeth.

Estrondo de azorrague, the jerk or snapping of a whip.

Estrondo da ferra ou lima, the shrieking of a saw or file.

Estrondo de cousas que cabem, a bouncing, or bounce.

Estrondo de cousas que se raxam, a creaking, or crack.

Estrondo que se faz com os pes quando se anda, the rattling, or stamping of the feet.

Estrondo de huma porta, the creaking, or shrieking of the door.

Estrondo que fazem os sapatos, the creaking, or shrieking of shoes.

Estrondo do mar, the roaring or raging of the sea.

Estrondo de cousa sonora, sound. See also ESTRIDOR.

Estrondo que fazem os cavallos andando. See TROPEL.

Estrondo de trovam, clap of thunder, or thunder clap.

Estrondo feito por collijam de corpos duros e sonoros, clank, clash.

Estrondo agudo, clang, a sharp shrill noise.

Fazer grande estrondo ou bulha, to jangle, to wrangle.

Estrondo, jar, dispute, a thundering noise. See also TUMULTO, and BULHA.

O que faz estrondo neste sentido, a jangler, a wrangler.
Fazer estrondo no mundo, to be renowned, famous, celebrated, eminent, famed, to act renownedly.
Fazer estrondo, to be noised abroad, or talked of publicly.
Com grande estrondo, with great preparations, stately, sumptuously.
Elle fez a sua entrada com grande estrondo, he made his entry with a magnificent retinue.
Estrondo que offende os ouvidos, a harsh grating sound.
Estrondo que se faz com as mãos por applauso, ou alegria, a clapping for joy.
Estrondo das aves com as asas, the clapping of the wings.
ESTRONDO'SO, a, adj. noisy, tumultuous; also renowned, eminent, famed; also cost-ly, stately, magnificent.
Festa estrondosa, a splendid, or great enter-tainment.
ESTROPA'LHO, f. m. a dirty rag, or clout for foul uses.
ESTROPIA'DA, f. f. (a vulgar word) the ruffling, or stamping of the feet.
ESTROPIA'DO, a, adj. maimed. See also ESTROPIAR, or ESTROPEAR, v. a. to maim, to deprive of any necessary part, to cripple, to lame.
Periclo, ou sentido estropiado, a lame expres-sion, period, or sense.
ESTROVINHA'DO, (a low and very little used word.) See TEMERARIO.
Estrovinhado do sono, half asleep, and half awake.
ESTRO'VO, f. m. the piece of rope that fastens the oars to the thowls when they row.
ESTRUCTU'RA, f. f. structure.
ESTRUGI'DO, a, adj. See
ESTRUGIR, v. a. to stun, to confound, or dizzy with a noise.
ESTRUMA'DO, a, adj. See
ESTRUMAR, v. a. to litter, to cover with straw, or to spread shrubs, briers, bram-bles, or any shrub about an ox-stall, or a hog-sty, &c. in order to rot, and make dung of it.
ESTRUME, f. m. litter, straw, briers or brambles, any shrub they use to spread about an ox-stall, &c. in order to make dung of it.
ESTRUME'IRA, f. f. the place where the estrume grows. See ESTRUME.
ESTRUMO'SO, a, adj. See ANTISTRU-MATICO.
ESTRUPA'DA, f. f. (an antiquated word.) ex. Estrupada de vento, puff of wind.
ESTUAÇA'M, f. f. (among physicians) ex. Estuaçam da febre, the burning of a fever.
Estuaçam do estomago, weakness, queamish-ness of the stomach.
ESTUDA'DO, a, adj. elaborate, finished with great diligence, performed with great labour, studied. See also ESTU-DAR.
ESTUDA'NTE, f. m. a student, a scholar.
ESTUDAR, v. a. to study, to apply the mind to, to learn by application, to study.
Que estuda as posturas ao espelho, a glass-gazing, finical.
Estudar as posturas, to study, or compose one's gesture.
Estuda-se, v. imp. people learn, mind, or are given to, they study, or endeavour at.

ESTUDIOSIDADE, f. f. studiousness, ad-diction to study.
ESTUDIO'SO, a, adj. studious, given to learning, bookish.
ESTUDO, f. m. study.
Com estudo, studiously.
Gabinete do estudo, ou em qual se estuda, study, or closet set off for literary employ-ment.
Estudo, grammar-school.
ESTU'IA, f. f. a stove, hot-house, dry-bagnio.
Estufa, a sort of coach, for four or six people with several glass windows.
ESTUGADO. See APPRESSADO.
ESTUGAR. See APPRESSAR.
ESTULTY'CIA, f. f. folly, foolishness, fil-liness.
ESTUPEFACI'NTE. (Among physi-ci-ans.) See NARCOTICO.
ESTUPEFACTIVO. See NARCOTICO.
ESTUPE'NDO, a, adj. stupendous, amaz-ing, astonishing, wonderful.
ESTU'PIDO, a, adj. stupid, foolish.
Estupido, (among physicians) numb, dull.
ESTUPO'R, f. m. stupor, suspension, or di-minution of sensibility, numbness.
Estupor, an apoplexy, an apoplectic fit.
Ter hum estupor, to be seized with an apo-plexy.
Que tem estupor, apoplexed, seized with an apoplexy.
Estupor, (pasma.) See PASMO.
Estupor dos dentes, the state of the teeth set on edge.
ESTUPRA'R, v. a. to stuprate, to deflower a virgin.
ESTU'PRO, f. m. the act of deflowering a virgin, stupration.
ESTUQUE, f. m. stucco, or plaster of Paris.
ESTU'R'DIA, f. f. (a jocose word) ex. Ful-lano he hum esturdia, such a one is an ex-travagant and frolicsome fellow.
Fazer huma coisa por esturdia, to do a thing out of a frolic.
ESTURRA'DO, a, adj. See
ESTURRAR, v. a. to dry or burn meat, &c. so as to make it sinell of burning.
Esturrar, v. n. or Esturrar-se, v. r. to burn up, or to be burnt so as to sinell of burning.
ESTU'RRO, f. m. the burning of meat, &c.
Esta carne cheira a esturro, this meat sinells of burning.
ESTYGE. } See { STYGE.
ESTYGIO. } See { STYGIO.
ESVAECER. See DESVANECER.
Esvaecer-se, v. r. See EVAPORAR.
Esvaecer-se, (in a moral sense) to decay, to wear away.
Esvaecer-se. See DESMALAR, v. n.
ESVAECI'DO, a, adj. See ESVAECER and Esvaecer-se.
Esvaecido, (esvaído) See ESVAIDO.
Esvaecido, proud, vainglorious.
ESVAECIME'NTO, f. m. See EVAPO-RACAM, and DESMALIO.
ESVAI'DO, a, adj. faintly, weak, languid, giddy.
Esvaído, vain, fading, apt to decay, that will soon perish, evanid. See also the v. ES-VAIR.
ESVAIME'NTO, f. m. See EVAPORA-ÇAM.
Esvaimento da cabeça. See DESMALIO.

ESVAIR, v. n. See EVAPORAR.
Esvair, to be giddy.
Fazer esvair, to cause giddiness.
ESVEDIGADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of ESVEDIGAR, or ESPIDIGAR, to gather the vine branches after dressing.
ESVELTO, a, adj. (in painting) tall and thin in proportion.
ESFERRUMADO, a, adj. See
ESFERRUMAR, v. a. to squeeze pus or corruption out of a puch or blister.
ESUIA, f. f. the herb (spurge).
ESURINO, a, adj. (among physicians) esurine, that wets the stomach.
ETCE'TER, f. m. and so forth. It is mark-ed thus, (&c.)
ETEGO. See ETHICO.
ETERNAMENTE, adv. eternally, everlast-ingly, for ever, evermore, always, to eternity.
ETERNIDADE, f. f. eternity, duration, without beginning or end, everlasting-ness.
ETERNIZA'DO, a, adj. See
ETERNIZAR, v. a. to eternize, to make for ever famous, to immortalize.
ETERNO, a, adj. eternal, without begin-ning or end; also perpetual, constant, un-changeable.
ETERODO'XO. See HETERODOXO.
ETEROGE'NEO. See HETEROGENEO.
ETERO'SCIO. See HETEROSCIO.
ETE'SIO vento. See
ETE'SIA, f. f. a north-east wind that blows constantly every year for forty days to-gether in the dog-days.
ETHE'REO, a, adj. ethereal, or etherial, heavenly, celestial.
Oleo ethereo, (among chemists) etherial oil.
Assento ethereo, (in poetry) the heaven, or sky.
ETHESIA. See ETESIA.
ETHICA, f. f. ethics, moral philosophy. Greek.
ETHICO, a, adj. hectic, consumptive.
Febre ethica, hectic fever.
Ethico, ethical, moral.
Ethico, (among painters) ex. Imagem ethica, a picture drawn to the life.
ETHIGUIDA'DE, f. f. consumptiveness.
ETHIO'PIA, f. f. Ethiopia, one of the divi-sions of Africa.
ETHIO'PE, f. m. an Ethiopian, or black-moor.
ETHIOPICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Ethiopia.
ETHNICAME'NTE, adv. heathenishly, after the manner of heathens.
ETHNICO, f. m. heathen.
Ethnico, a, adj. heathen, heathenish. Greek.
ETHOLOG'A, f. f. ethology, a discourse, or treatise of manners. Greek.
ETHOLOGIA, or ETHOPE'IA (in rhe-thoric) the art of shewing the manners of others.
ETIGUIDA'DE. See ETHIGUIDADE.
ETIQUETA, f. f. (a French word) a tick-et, or note upon a bag, a title. See also BOLETA, and BOLETIM.
ETITES, f. m. ætites, eagle-stone. It is about the bigness of a chestnut, and hol-low, with somewhat in it that rattles upon shaking.
ETNA, f. f. Ætna, a volcano, or burning mountain in Sicily, which continually vom-its out fire and smoak.

ETNEO, a. adj. of, or belonging to Ætna.
ETRURIA. } See { TOSCANA.
ETRUSCO. } See { TOSCANO.
ETYMOLOGIA, f. f. etymology.
ETYMOLOGICO, a. adj. etymological, relating to etymology.
ETIMOLOGISTA, f. m. and f. etymologist, one who searches out the original words.
EU, pron. I.
Eu fallo, I speak.
Eu mesmo, myself.
Eu! interj. wo! alas! O!
EVACUAÇÃO, f. f. evacuation, discharge of the body by any vent, natural or artificial. (In physic.)
Evacuação, the act of evacuating a place, or withdrawing out of it (in military affairs.)
EVACUADO, a. adj. See
EVACUAR, v. a. (among physicians) to evacuate, to avoid by any of the excretory passages.
EVACUATIVO, or EVACUATORIO, a. adj. that procures evacuation by any passage.
Remedio evacuatorio, an evacuant.
EVADIDO, a. adj. See
EVADIR, v. a. to evade, to elude by artifice, stratagem, subterfuge, or sophistry.
EVANGELHO, f. m. evangely, the Holy Gospel, the Gospel of Jesus.
Promulgação do evangelho, evangelism.
EVANGELICO, a. adj. evangelical, agreeable to Gospel.
EVANGELIZADO, a. adj. See
EVANGELIZAR, v. a. to evangelize. See also ANNUNCIAR, and PREGAR.
EVANGELISTA, f. m. an evangelist; a writer of the history of our Lord Jesus.
EVANO. See EBANO.
EVAPORAÇÃO, f. f. evaporation.
EVAPORADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of EVAPORAR, v. n. to evaporate, to fly away in vapours or fumes, to waste insensibly as a volatile spirit.
EVAPORATORIO, f. m. any hole or passage through which the vapours or steam pass.
EVAPORAVEL, adj. that easily may evaporate.
EVASÃO, f. f. evasion, excuse, subterfuge, artful means of eluding, or escaping.
Lugar por onde a água faz sua evasão, the channel, or place through which the water flows.
EUCARISTIA, f. f. the holy eucharist, the sacrament of the Lord's supper.
EUCARISTICO, a. adj. eucharistical; relating to the sacrament of the supper of the Lord.
EUCARISTICON, f. m. an eucharistical discourse, containing acts of thanksgiving, or a discourse made in praise of the eucharist.
EUCHOLOGIO, f. m. euchology, a formulary of prayers and ceremonies, a ceremonial, or book of church ceremonies.
EVENIO, f. m. event, or issue. See also SUCCESSO.
EVERSAM, f. f. destruction, eversion, overthrow.
EVERSOR, f. m. a destroyer.
EUFORBIO, f. m. a tree first found by king Juba, and called by the name of his physician Euphorbus, euphorbium.

EUFRAZIA, or EUFRAZIA, f. f. the herb eyebright, euphrasy.
EUFRADES, or EUPHRATES, f. m. Euphrates, the finest river of Turkey in Asia.
EVICÇÃO, f. f. (a law term) the recovery of a thing by law, which the adverse party had got bona fide, an eviction.
Tirar alguma coisa a alguém por evicção, to evict, to recover by law what the adverse party had got bona fide.
EVIDÊNCIA, f. f. evidence, demonstration, perspicuity.
EVIDENTE, adj. evident, clear, plain, manifest.
EVIDENTEMENTE, adv. evidently, clearly, manifestly, plainly.
EVIDENTÍSSIMO, a. adj. most evident.
EVITAR, a. adj. See
EVITAR, v. a. to avoid, to shun. See also POUPAR.
EVITAVEL, adj. avoidable, that may be avoided.
EVITERNIDADE, f. f. eternity.
EULOGIA, f. f. eucharist; but more particularly the holy bread formerly distributed in the parishes.
EUNUCHO, f. m. eunuch.
Fazer hum eunuchos, to eunuchate, to make an eunuch.
EVO. See EVITERNIDADE, and SECULO.
EVOCACÃO. (In grammar.) See AVOCACÃO.
EVOLUÇÃO. } See { EVAPORADO.
EVOLUÇÃO-SE. } See { EVAPORAR.
EVORA, f. f. Evora, in very ancient times called Ebora, and on account of the considerable privileges bestowed upon it by Julius Cæsar, had the name of Libéralitas Julia, and afterwards Elbora. Here is an university instituted by Cardinal Henry, in 1559. Latin Ebora.
EUPATORIO, f. m. the herb agrimony; also the herb called sweet-maudlin.
EUPHONIA, f. f. euphony, a graceful sound, a smooth running of words. Greek.
EUPHORBIO. } See { EUFORBIO.
EUPHRASIA. } See { EUFRASIA.
EUPHRATES. } See { EUPHRATES.
EURIPO, f. m. Euripus, a narrow sea in Greece, which ebbs and flows seven times in twenty-four hours.
EURO, f. m. the east wind. Latin Eurus.
EUROPA, f. f. Europe, the least of the four parts of this lower globe.
EUROPEO, f. m. an European.
Europeo, a. adj. European.
EUTERPE, f. f. Euterpe, one of the nine Muses, the inventress of the mathematics and playing on the pipe.
EUTRAPELIA, f. f. pleasant jesting with innocence. Greek.
EUXINO, or Ponto Euxino, the Euxine Sea; now commonly called the Black Sea.
EXACÇÃO, f. f. exactness, accuracy. See also COBRANÇA.
EXACERBAÇÃO, f. f. exacerbation, provocation; also exacerbation, or the height of a disease.
EXACERBADO, a. adj. See
EXACERBAR, v. a. to exacerbate, to embitter, to exasperate, to heighten any malignant quality.
EXACORDO. See HEXACORDO.

EXACTAMENTE, adv. exactly, accurately, nicely, thoroughly.
EXACTIDAM. See EXACÇÃO.
EXACTO, a. adj. exact, accurate, not negligent; also exact, methodical, not negligently performed.
EXACTOR, f. m. an exactor, he that demands by authority.
EXAGGERAÇÃO, exaggeration, hyperbolic amplification. See also ENCARECIMENTO.
Fazer exaggerações. See EXAGGERAR.
EXAGGERADO, a. adj. See EXAGGERAR.
EXAGGERADO, f. m. See ENCARECEDOR.
EXAGGERAR, v. a. to exaggerate, to extol, to represent above measure.
EXALAÇÃO, f. f. See EXHALAÇÃO.
EXALADO. } See { EXHALADO.
EXALAR. } See { EXHALAR.
EXALÇÃO. See EXALTADO.
EXALCAMENTO. See EXALTAÇÃO.
EXALÇÃO. See EXALTAR.
EXALTAÇÃO, f. f. exaltation, state of greatness, or dignity; also elevation to power, or dignity.
Exaltação, (in astronomy) exaltation, dignity of a planet, in which its powers are increased.
Exaltação, (in pharmacy) exaltation, raising a medicine to a higher degree of virtue, or an increase of the most remarkable property of any body.
Exaltação da santa cruz, Holy-wood day, the Exaltation of the Cross.
EXALTADO, a. adj. See
EXALTAR, v. a. to exalt, to elevate to power or dignity.
Exaltar, to exalt, to praise, to extol, to magnify.
Exaltar, to heighten, to exalt, to improve, to refine by fire, as in chemistry.
Exaltar-se, v. r. to extol one's self, to boast, to glory, to brag.
EXAME, f. m. examen, examination; also a trial, essay, experiment, or proof of a thing.
Fazer exame, to examine; also to be examined.
EXAMINAÇÃO, f. f. ex. Carta de examinação, a patent, or letters patent.
Obra de examinação, an essay or trial, a work made by one in order to give a proof of his skill.
EXAMINADO, a. adj. See EXAMINAR.
EXAMINADO, f. m. an examiner, an examiner.
EXAMINAR, v. a. to examine, search, or inquire into, to weigh, to canvas, consider, discuss, or sift.
A pessoa examinada, an examinee, the person examined.
Examinar hum corpo morto, to sit upon a dead body.
Examinar o reo, to examine, to try a person accused or suspected, by interrogatories.
Examinar hum testemunha, to examine, or interrogate a witness.
Examinar, to try, to prove, to make experiment or trial of.
Examinar a prata, is for an assayer to make the due trial of silver.
EXANGUE, or EXSANGUE, adj. bloodless, dead; also exanguious, formed with animal juices, not sanguineous.
EXARADO. See GRAVADO.
EXARCA, adj.

EXARCHADO, f. m. exarchy, or exarchate, the dignity of an exarch; also an exarchate, the country subject to an exarch.

EXARCO, f. m. an exarch, a lieutenant, or vice-emperor.

EXASPERAÇÃO, f. f. exasperation, provocation, irritation, incitement to rage.

EXASPERADO, a, adj. hardened, made hard. See also

EXASPERAR, v. a. to exasperate, to provoke, to enrage, to irritate, to anger, to make furious.

O que exaspera, an exasperater, a provoker.

EXAUTORADO, a, adj. exauktorated, put out of office or service.

EXCANDESCENCIA, or ESCANDECENCIA. See ESCANDECENCIA.

EXCANDECER. See ESCANDECER.

EXCANDECIDO. See ESCANDECIDO.

EXCARCERADO, a, adj. See

EXCARCERAR, v. a. to get one out of prison, to set at liberty.

EXCEDE'NTE, adj. that goes too far, that passes the bounds of fitness.

EXCEDER, v. a. to exceed, to go beyond, to out-go, to go too far; also to excel, to surpass.

Exceder, to exceed, to bear the greater proportion.

Exceder as ordens, to over-act, to act beyond one's commission.

EXCEIÇÃO. See EXCEPCÃO.

EXCEITUADO. See EXCEPTUADO.

EXCEITUAR. See EXCEPTUAR.

EXCELLENÇA, f. f. excellence, or excellency. See also ANTONOMASIA.

Excellencia, excellence, a title of honour in Portugal. It is usually applied to a marquis.

EXCELLENTE, adj. excellent, of great virtue, eminent in any good quality.

EXCELLENTEMENTE, adv. excellently, well in a high degree.

EXELSAMENTE, adv. haughtily, lofty, highly.

EXCELSO, a, adj. See ALTO and SUBLIME.

EXCENTRICIDADE. See ECCENTRICIDADE.

EXCENTRICO. See ECCENTRICO.

EXCEPCÃO, f. f. exception; exclusion from the things comprehended in a precept or position; exclusion of any person from a general law; also an exception against, or to.

Que não tem excepção, exceptless.

O que faz excepção, exceptor.

EXCEPIO, or EXCEITUADO, except.

This word, long taken as a preposition or conjunction, is originally the participle passive of the v. Exceptuar, or Exceituat.

EXCEPTUADO, a, adj. See

EXCEPTUAR, v. a. to except; also to balk, to omit.

A morte nam exceptua ninguem, death balks no creature.

EXCESSIVAMENTE, adv. excessively, exceedingly.

EXCESSIVO, a, adj. excessive.

EXCESSO, f. m. excess, more than enough. See also CRIME and DELICTO.

EXCIDIO, f. m. See RUINA, and DESTRUICÃO.

EXCITAÇÃO, f. f. excitation.

EXCITADO, a, adj. See EXCITAR.

EXCITADOR, f. m. EXCITADORA, f. f.

an exciter, one that stirs up others.

EXCITAMENTO, f. m. excitement.

EXCITAR, v. a. to excite, to rouse, to animate, to stir up, to encourage; also to excite, to put into motion, to raise.

Excitar huma questão, to put a question.

Excitar huma sedição, to raise a sedition.

Excitar, (edificar.) See EDIFICAR, PROVOCAR, and ESTIMULAR.

EXCLAMAÇÃO, f. f. exclamation, an emphatical utterance, a pathetical sentence; also an exclamation or vehement outcry.

Que contem exclamações, exclamatory.

EXCLAMADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of

EXCLAMAR, v. n. to exclaim, to cry out with vehemence.

O que exclama, an exclaimer.

EXCLUIDO, a, adj. See

EXCLUIR, v. a. to exclude, to debar.

EXCLUSAM, f. f. exclusion.

EXCLUSIVAMENTE, adv. exclusively.

EXCLUSIVA, f. f. See EXCLUSAM.

EXCLUSIVO, a, adj. exclusive.

EXCLUSO, or EXCLUIDO. See the v. EXCLUIR.

EXCOGITAÇÃO, a, adj. See

EXCOGITAR, v. a. to excogitate, to invent, to strike out by thinking.

EXCOMMUNGAÇÃO, f. f. or EXCOMMUNGAÇÃO, f. m. a woman or man that is excommunicated.

EXCOMMUNGAÇÃO, a, adj. See

EXCOMMUNGAR, v. a. to excommunicate, to eject from the communion of the visible church, by an ecclesiastical censure.

EXCOMMUNHAÇÃO, f. f. excommunication.

EXCORIAÇÃO, f. f. (among physicians) excoriation, loss of skin.

Fazer huma excoriação, to excoriate, to flay, to strip off the skin.

EXCRESCENCIA, f. f. excrescence, or excrescency.

EXCREMENTICIO, a, adj. excrementitious, or excremental, (in physic.)

EXCREMENTO, f. m. excrement.

Excremento de vacados, e outras animas de cor alconada, fewmets, or fewmilshing, the dung of deer.

EXCREMENTOSO. See EXCREMENTICIO.

EXCRETO, f. m. (in physic) the matter that is separated from the animal substance.

EXCURSAO, f. f. an invasion, or inroad, a sally.

EXECRAÇÃO, f. f. execration, curse, imprecation of evil.

EXECRAÇÃO, a, adj. See EXECRAR.

EXECRANDO, a, adj. execrable, hateful, detestable, accursed, abominable.

EXECRAR, v. a. to execrate, to curse, to imprecate ill upon, to abominate.

EXECRATORIO juramento, execration, curse.

EXECRAVEL, adj. See EXECRANDO.

EXECUÇÃO, f. f. execution, performance.

Homem de execução. See EXECUTIVO.

Execução, distress, or distraining of goods.

Dar a execução, to put in execution.

Fazer execução. See EXECUTAR.

Ter execução, to take effect.

EXECUTADO, a, adj. See

EXECUTAR, v. a. to execute, or put in execution, to perform, to effect; also to execute, to punish capitally by authority.

Executar, or Fazer execução nos bens do devedor, to distrain one's goods by an execution, to serve an execution upon goods.

Executar em alguém a sua ira, to vent, or wreak one's anger upon one.

Executar em alguém o golpe, to cut or slash one.

Executar hum golpe de setta, to shoot an arrow.

EXECUTIVO, a, adj. resolute, stout, bold, courageous, brisk, capable of performing any thing, executive.

Homem executivo, or de execução, a man that is capable of performing any thing, a man fit for action.

Executivo, (violento.) See VIOLENTO.

EXECUTORIA, f. f. EXECUTOR, f. m. an executor, or executor, one that performs or executes any thing.

Executora testamentaria, an executrix, a woman intrusted to perform the will of the testator.

Executor testamentario, an executor, or executor, he that is intrusted to perform the will of a testator.

Cargo de executor testamentario, or testamentaria, executorship.

EXECUTORIO, a, adj. (in law) ex. Carta executoria, a writ of execution.

EXEDRA, f. f. a by-place, or jutting building with seats, either for study or discourse. Greek.

EXEMPÇÃO, f. f. exemption, freedom from any thing. Lat.

EXEMPLAR, f. m. an exemplar, a pattern, an example to be imitated.

Exemplar, adj. exemplary, or examlary, such as may deserve to be proposed to imitation; also such as may give warning to others, exemplary.

EXEMPLARMENTE, adv. exemplarily, in such a manner as deserves imitation.

Exemplarmente, exemplarily, in such a manner as may warn others.

EXEMPLIFICADO, a, adj. See

EXEMPLIFICAR, v. a. to exemplify, to illustrate by example.

EXEMPLO, f. m. example, pattern, model.

Exemplo, example, instance, precedent.

Sem exemplo, ou de que não ouve exemplo, unprecedented.

Por exemplo, for example.

Pôr, or trazer hum exemplo, to instance, to give, or offer an example.

Fazer exemplo em alguém, or castigallo para dar exemplo, to make one a public example.

Tomar exemplo delle, take example by him.

EXEMPTO, a, adj. exempt, or free from.

EXEQUIAS, f. f. p. funeral obsequies, funeral pomp, the last duty to the dead, and the prayers for his soul, at or before his burial; exequies.

Pertencente ás exequias, funeral, exequial.

EXERCE'R, v. a. ex. Exercer hum cargo, to exercise, or bear an office.

Exercer huma arte, ou ciencia, to exercise, or practise an art or science.

EXERCICIO, f. m. exercise, labour of the body, labour considered as conducive to the cure or prevention of diseases.

Exercício militar, the military exercise.

Fazer exercício, to use exercise.

Fazer exercício, (a military word) to practise all motions, actions, and management ment of arms, by which a soldier is instructed in the different postures he is to be in under arms, and the different motions he is to make to oppose an enemy.

Exercício em compor obras de engenho, como fazem os estudantes nos collegios, ou escolas, exercíes.
EXERCITADO, a, adj. See EXERCITAR.
EXERCITADO'R, f. m. an exerciser.
EXERCITADO'RA, f. f. exerciser, she that exercises.
EXERCITAR, v. a. to exercise.
Exercitar a sua crueldade, to exert one's cruelty.
Exercitar hum cargo, ou huma arte, &c. See EXERCER.
Exercitar a sua memoria, to exercise or practice one's memory.
Exercitar, to instruct, to train up.
Exercitar-se, v. r. to exercise, to use exercise, to labour for health, or for amusement.
Exercitar-se na caça, to exercise one's self with hunting.
EXERCITO, f. m. an army.
Exercitador, ou o que leva e vende viveres ao exercito, a sutler, or sutteler, one that follows an army to sell victuals.
EXHALAÇÃO, f. f. exhalation.
EXHALADO, a, adj. See
EXHALAR, v. n. to evaporate, to be exhaled,
Materia, ou vapor que exhala, exhalament, matters exhaled.
Exhalar, v. a. ex. Exhalar a alma. See MORRER.
Exhalar-se, v. r. See EVAPORAR.
EXHAURIR, v. a. to exhaust, to drain, to deprive by draining, to empty; also to draw till nothing is left.
Exaurir o theouro del-rey, to exhaust the king's treasure.
Causa que não se pode exhaurir, exhausted.
A acção de exhaurir, exhaustion.
EXHAUSTO, a, adj. drawn out, emptied, exhausted; also beggared, reduced to want.
Exhausto de sangue, bloodless, without blood.
Exhausto de gente, dispeopled.
EXHEDRA. See EXEDRA.
EXHIBIÇÃO, f. f. exhibition.
Fazer exhibição. See EXHIBIR.
EXHIBIDO, a, adj. See
EXHIBIR, v. a. to exhibit, to offer, or propose in a formal or public manner.
O que exhibe, an exhibitor.
EXHORTAÇÃO, f. f. exhortation.
EXHORTADO, a, adj. See EXHORTAR.
EXHORTADO'R, f. m. EXORTADORA, f. f. an exhorter.
EXHORTAR, v. a. to exhort, to incite by words to any good action.
EXHORTATIVO, or EXHORTATORIO, a, adj. exhortatory, tending to exhort.
EXHUMAÇÃO, f. f. the act of unburying a dead body.
EXÍCIO, f. m. ruin, destruction, a great misfortune.
EXIGÊNCIA, f. f. exigence, or exigency.
EXÍGUO, a, adj. little, small. From the Latin exiguus.
EXIMIDO. See EXEMPTO, and EXIMIR.

EXÍMIO, a, adj. eximious, famous, eminent, conspicuous, excellent.
EXIMIR, v. a. to free, to deliver.
EXINANICAÇÃO, f. f. (among physicians) inanition, emptiness of body, want of fullness in the vessels of the animal.
EXINANIDO, a, adj. See
EXINANIR, v. a. See ANNIQUILAR.
Exinanir-se, v. r. to humble, to abase one's self.
EXISTÊNCIA, f. f. existence, or existence.
EXISTENTE, p. act. existent.
EXISTIDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of EXISTIR, v. n. to exist, to be, to have a being EXISTU'RO. See ABCESSO.
EXITO, f. m. a going forth, or going out.
EXITU'RO. See EXISTU'RO.
EXÓ, f. m. axle-tree, or axel-tree of a wheel.
Cavilha do exo, que sustenta a roda, axle-pin.
Chapa de ferro a roda do exo para que se não gaste, a clout, or iron plate to keep an axle-tree from wearing.
Exo da esphera, (in geography) axis, or axle-tree, a right line going through the center of a sphere.
Exo do mundo, the axis of the world,
Exo de tesouras, the rivet that holds the scissors together.
Exo, (in a moral sense) the very point or crisis of a matter.
EXODO, f. m. Exodus, or Exody, the second book of Moses, so called because it describes the journey of the Israelites from Egypt. Greek.
EXONERADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of EXONERAR-SE, v. r. to resign, surrender, abdicate, or give over one's place, to free, rid, or disburthen one's self.
EXOPHTALMIA, f. f. (in physic) exophthalmia, or a protuberance of the eye out of its natural position. Greek.
EXORÁVEL, adj. exorable. Lat.
EXORBITANCIA, f. f. exorbitance, or exorbitancy.
EXORBITANTE, adj. exorbitant.
Ser exorbitante, to exorbitate, to deviate, to go out of the track, or road prescribed.
EXORCIZADO, a, adj. See
EXORCIZAR, v. a. to exorcise, to adjure by some holy name.
EXORCISMO, f. m. an exorcism.
EXORCISTA, f. m. an exorcist.
EXORDIAL, adj. of, or belonging to an exordium. See
EXORDIO, f. m. exordium, a formal preface, the proemial part of a composition. See also PRINCIPIO.
EXORNAÇÃO, f. f. an exornation.
EXORNA'DO, a, adj. See
EXORNAR, v. a. See ORNAR.
EXORTAÇÃO. See EXHORTAÇÃO.
EXORTADO, &c. See EXHORTADO, &c.
EXÓTICO, a, adj. exotic, or exotical, brought out of another country, not domestic.
EXPECTAÇÃO, f. f. expectation.
Desempenhar a expectação, to answer one's expectation.
Contra a expectação de todos, contrary to all men's expectation. See also ESPERANÇA.
EXPECTATIVA, f. f. (in canon. law) a mandate granted for church livings before they become void.

EXPECTATORIO, a, adj. ex. Acto, or questam expectatoria, so they call several acts or solemn disputations in the universities.
EXPECTÁVEL, adj. See VISTOSO, BELLO.
EXPECTORANTE, adj. (in physic) expectorative, having the quality of promoting expectoration.
EXPEDIÇÃO, f. f. expedition, dispatch. Expedição, ou empresa militar, an expedition, a military enterprize.
Expedição, expedition, haste, activity.
Homem de expedição, a man fit for action.
Dur expedição, to dispatch, hasten, or speed.
Com expedição, expeditely, with quickness.
EXPEDIDO, a, adj. See EXPEDIR.
EXPEDIENTIA, f. f. expedition, quickness, readiness, speed.
Com boa expedientia, expeditely, with quickness.
EXPEDIENTE, f. m. the royal and supreme council.
Expediente, an expedient, a shift, means to an end, which are contrived in an exigence.
EXPEDIR, v. a. to dispatch, hasten, or speed; also to dispatch, or send away in haste; also to publish by edict, or proclamation.
Expedit, (expulsar.) See EXPULSAR.
Expedit-se, v. r. to get rid of, to make haste, to disentangle one's self from any impediment.
EXPEDITAMENTE, adv. expeditely, easily.
EXPEDITO, a, adj. disengaged, freed, rid of.
Expedito, convenient, easy, apt, fit, advantageous; also plain, even, (speaking of a road.)
Ter a lingua bem expedita, ou bem espiitada. See ESPIITADO.
EXPELLIDO, a, adj. expelled.
EXPELLIR, v. a. to expel, to drive out, to force away, to reject, to throw out.
EXPENDIDO, a, adj. See
EXPENDER, v. a. to weigh, to examine, judge, or consider.
Expender, (gastar.) See GASTAR.
EXPENSAS, f. f. p. the expences, the costs. See GASTO.
EXPERIÊNCIA, f. f. experience, practice; also an experiment, proof, or trial.
Falta de experiencia, in experience.
Que tem falta de experiencia, inexperienced, inexpert.
Por experiencia, experimentally.
O que faz experiencia, an experier, or experimenter.
EXPERIMENTADO, a, adj. See EXPERIMENTAR.
EXPERIMENTAL, adj. experimental, formed by observation, built upon experiment.
Philosophia experimental, experimental philosophy.
EXPERIMENTAR, v. a. to experiment, to try, to search out by trial, to experience, to try; also to know by practice, or experience.
EXPERTO, a, adj. experienced, made skilful by experience, wise by long practice.
EXPIAÇÃO, f. f. an expiation, an atonement.
EXPIADO,

EXPIA'DO, a, adj. See EXPIAR, v. a. to expiate, to annul the guilt of a crime by subsequent acts of piety, to atone for.
Que se não pode expiar, inexpressible.
EXPLA'ÇÃO, a, adj. expiatory.
EXPLA'ÇÃO, f. f. (in phyc) a breathing out. See also EXHALAÇÃO.
EXPIA'DO, a, adj. See EXPIAR, v. n. to die, to expire, or to come one's life. See also ACABAR.
EXPLANAÇ'AM. See EXPLICAÇ'AM.
EXPLANA'DO, or ESPLANA'DO, f. m. explanade (In fortifications.) It is the same with the glacis of the counterescarp originally; but now it is taken for the empty space between the glacis of a citadel and the first houses of the town.
EXPLANA'DO, a, adj. See EXPLANAR, v. a. to explain, to expound, to illustrate.
Que se pode explicar, explainable, explicable.
O que explica, an explainer, or expositor, an expounder.
EXPLICAÇ'AM, f. f. explication, explanation.
Que contém a explicação, ou explicação, em de alguma coisa, explanatory, containing explanation.
EXPLICA'DO, a, adj. explicated, &c. See EXPLICAR.
EXPLICADO'R, f. m. an explicator, an expounder, an explainer, or expositor.
EXPLICADO'RA, f. f. she that explaineth.
EXPLICAR, v. a. to explicate, to explain, to expound, to clear.
Que se não pode explicar, inexplicable.
EXPLICITAMENTE, adv. explicitly, plainly, not merely by inference, or implication.
EXPLICITO, a, adj. explicit, plain, not merely implied.
EXPLORA'DO, a, adj. See EXPLORAR.
EXPLORADO'R, f. m. an explorer, a scout, a spy, one that goes to reconnoitre, or take a view of. (A military word.)
Partendente ao explorador, ou á acção de explorar, exploratory.
EXPLORADORA, f. f. she that goes to reconnoitre or take a view of.
EXPLORAR, v. a. to explore, to explore, to search out; also to reconnoitre, observe, view, or take a view of.
A acção de explorar, exploration, exploration.
EXPONE'NTE, f. m. (in mathematics) an exponent.
EXPO'R, v. a. to expose, shew, or lay out. See also EXPLICAR.
Expor ao ar alguma coisa, to expose or set any thing in the air.
Expor-se, v. r. to expose one's self, to venture.
Expor-se a algum perigo, to expose one's self to any danger.
Homem que se expõe a zombaria, e escarneio de todos, a man that makes himself a laughing stock, or that makes himself ridiculous to every body.
EXPOSIC'AM, f. f. See EXPLICAÇ'AM.
EXPOSITO'R, f. m. an expositor, explainer, expounder, interpreter.
EXPOSTO, a, adj. exposed, &c. See EXPOR.
EXPRESSA'DO, a, adj. expressed.
EXPRESSAMENTE, adv. expressly.

PART I.

EXPRESSA'M, f. f. expression.
EXPRESSAR, v. a. to express.
Que se pode expressar, expressible, that may be uttered or declared.
Que pode expressar, or expressivo. See EXPRIMÍVEL.
EXPRESSIVA, f. f. expression, the form, or cast of language, in which any thoughts are uttered. See also PRONUNCIAC'AM.
EXPRESSIVO, a, adj. expressive.
Per hum modo expressivo, expressively, in a clear and representative way.
Capacidade para representar alguma coisa por hum modo expressivo, expressiveness, the power of expression.
EXPRESSO, a, adj. express, plain, expressed.
Expresso, f. m. an express, a messenger sent on purpose.
EXPRIMIDO, a, adj. See EXPRIMIR, v. a. to express, to represent in words, to exhibit by language, to utter, to declare.
Exprimir, to press, to squeeze. See ESPREMER.
EXPROBRA'DO, a, adj. See EXPROBRAR, v. a. to exprobrate, to upbraid, to impute openly with blame.
A acção de exprobrar, exprobration.
EXPROVINCIAL, f. m. exprovincial, a monk, or friar that has been provincial.
EXPUGNAÇ'AM, f. f. expugnation.
EXPUGNA'DO, a, adj. See EXPUGNAR.
EXPUGNADO'R, f. m. a conqueror.
EXPUGNADO'RA, f. f. she that vanquisheth.
EXPUGNAR, v. a. to expugn, to conquer.
EXPUGNÁVEL, adj. conquerable.
EXPULSA'DO, a, adj. See EXPULSAR.
EXPULSA'M, f. f. expulsion.
EXPULSAR, v. a. to expulse, to drive out, to expel, to force away.
O que expulsa, an expeller, one that driveth out.
EXPULSIVO, a, adj. (in phyc) expulsive.
EXPULSO, a, adj. expelled, &c. See EXPULSAR.
EXPULSORIA, f. f. ex. Dar a expulsoria. See EXPULSAR.
EXPULTRIZ, adj. (in phyc) excretive, excretory, expulsive, having the power of separating and ejecting superfluous parts or excrements.
Faculdade expultriz, expulsive faculty.
EXPURGAÇ'AM, or EMERSA'M, f. f. (in astronomy) emersion, or the coming of the sun or moon out of an eclipse.
Expurgação dos humores, (in phyc) the expulsion, or driving out of the humours.
EXPURGA'DO, a, adj. See EXPURGAR, v. a. (among surgeons) to purge or cleanse.
Expurgar hum livro, to correct a book by purging away what is noxious and pernicious to religion, morals, &c.
EXPURGATÓRIO, f. m. the index expurgatory, a book set forth by the pope, containing a catalogue of those authors and writings which he has thought fit to censure, and forbid to be read.
Expurgatorio, (in phyc) expurgatory, or purging medicine.
EXQUISITAMENTE, adv. exquisitely, rarely well, daintily; also carefully, diligently.

EXQUISITO, a, adj. exquisite, for sought, excellent, dainty, delicious. See also ES-TUDADO, and EXATO.
EXSA'GUA. See EXHAUSTO.
EXSTA'DO, p. of the preterit. tense of EXSTAR, v. n. to remain, or be left. Lat. que exta, extant.
EXTASIS, EXTASIS, or EXTASI, f. m. an extasy, a rapture, a trance. Greek.
EXTÁTICO, a, adj. extatical, or extatic.
EXTEMPORANEA'MENTE, adv. suddenly, without premeditation, extempore, extemporally.
Falar extemporaneamente, to extemporize, to speak extempore.
Dom de falar extemporaneamente, extemporiness.
EXTEMPORANEO, a, adj. extemporaneous, extemporary, uttered or performed without premeditation; also extemporal, speaking without premeditation.
EXTENDER. See ESTENDER.
EXTENDIDO. See ESTENDIDO.
EXTENSAMENTE, adv. largely, fully, amply, at large.
EXTENSA'M, f. f. extension, dilatation. See also ESPAÇO.
Extensam, an extent of meaning.
Extensam sem limites, endlessness.
EXTENSO. See ESTENDIDO.
Por extenso, all at length, at large; as, escrever o seu nome por extenso, to write one's name at large.
EXTENUAÇ'AM, f. f. (in phyc) extenuation, a leanness of the whole body.
Extenuação, (in rhetoric) extenuation, or a figure, whereby things are diminished and made less than they really are.
EXTENUA'DO, a, adj. See EXTENUAR, v. a. to extenuate, to lessen; also to make lean.
EXTERIOR, f. m. the outside, outward appearance, or shew of a thing or person.
Exterior, adj. exterior, outward. Lat.
Obras exteriores, (in fortification) the outworks of a place.
EXTERIORMENTE, adv. exteriorly, outwardly.
EXTERMINA'DO, a, adj. See EXTERMINAR.
EXTERMINADO'R, f. m. an exterminator.
EXTERMINAR, v. a. to exterminate, to root out, to destroy, to drive away, to abolish, to banish.
EXTERMINIO, f. m. destruction, desolation, ruin; extermination. See also DESTERRO.
EXTERRECE'R, v. a. to put in fear, to frighten.
EXTERRECIDO, a, adj. See the v. EXTERRECE'R.
EXTINÇ'AM, f. f. extinction. See EXTERMÍNIO, and RUINA.
EXTINCTO, a, adj. extinct, extinguished, put out.
Extincto, (esquecido.) See ESQUECIDO.
Extincto, (morto.) See MORTO.
Extincto, (murchado.) See MURCHO.
Extincto, (acabado.) See ACABADO.
EXTINGUIDO, a, adj. See EXTINGUIR, v. a. to extinguish, to put out, to quench; also to suppress, to destroy.
Extinguir, (dissipar.) See DISSIPAR.
Extinguir, to abolish, to annul.
Extinguir huma ley, to abolish, to repeal a law.

E e

Extinguir,

Extinguir hum juro , to pay the principal and interest of a sum.	Gastos extraordinarios , extraordinaries, or extraordinary expences.	Extremo , (in a moral sense) extreme, excess, extravagantness.
Extinguir-se , v. r. to vanish, to pass away, to be lost.	EXTRA TEMPORA , adv. extra tempora , a licence from the pope to take holy orders at any time.	Fugir dos extremos , to avoid extremes.
EXTINTO . See EXTINCTO .	EXTRAVAGANCIA , f. f. extravagancy, extravagance, extravagantness.	Passar de hum a outro extremo , to pass from one extreme to another.
EXTIRPAÇÃO , f. f. extirpation, eradication, destruction.	Dizer extravagancias . See DESPROPOSITAR .	Dar em extremos , to extravagante, to wander out of limits, to run upon extremes.
EXTIRPAÇÃO , a, adj. See EXTIRPAR .	EXTRAVAGANTE , adj. extravagant, roving beyond just limits or prescribed methods; also singular, particular, very rare.	Ella he hum extremo de fermosura , she is an extraordinary beauty.
EXTIRPADOR , f. m. an extirpator, one who roots out, a destroyer.	Desembargador extravagante , a supernumerary desembargador. See DESEMBARGADOR .	Neste extremo de miseria , in this sad and extreme misery.
EPTIRPAR , v. a. to extirpate, to root out, to eradicate. (Both in the proper and figurative sense.)	Extravagante , f. m. and f. an extravagant, one who is confined in no general rule, or definition.	Fazer extremos por alguma coisa , to have a strong passion, or desire for a thing, to endeavour what one can to get it.
EXTORSÃO , f. f. extortion.	Extravagante nos gastos , a wasteful, prodigal, or extravagant man.	Fazer extremos de sentimento , to be thoroughly sensible of grief.
Fazer extorção , to extort.	Extravagante , f. f. the singular of EXTRAVAGANTES ; which see.	Extremos de amor , dotage, excessive fondness.
O que faz extorção , an extorter.	EXTRAVAGANTEMENTE , adv. extravagantly, in an extravagant manner.	Com extremos de amor , doatingly, fondly.
EXTRAÇÃO , f. f. an extraction, or drawing out.	EXTRAVAGANTES , Decretal Epistles published after the Clementines, by pope John XXII. and other popes, added to the canon-law; so called, because they were not ranged in any order in the body of the common-law; also certain constitutions and ordinances of princes not contained in the body of the civil-law.	O que faz extremos de amor , a doater, a man fondly, weakly, and excessively in love.
Fazer extração da prata, do ouro, &c. to dig out of the ground silver, gold, &c.	EXTRAVASADO , a, adj. (among physicians) extravagated, forced out of its proper vessels.	Extremo , a great bead, a pater.
Extração , exportation.	EXTRA VENADO , a, adj. in (physic) extravenate, let out of the veins.	Em extremo , or em todo o extremo . See SUMAMENTE .
Fazer extração , (in the way of traffic) to export, to carry out of a country.	EXTREMADAMENTE , or ESTREMADAMENTE , adv. extremely, in the utmost degree. See also EXCELLENTEMENTE .	Por extremo , intemperately, immoderately, without measure or moderation.
Extração de mercancias , exportation of commodities.	Amar alguém extremadamente , to be desperately in love with one, to dote upon one, to be extremely fond of him.	Extremo , (in the province of Alentejo) a limitaneous furrow, that serves to divide one piece of ground from another.
Fazenda que teve extração , export, commodity carried out in traffick.	EXTREMAÇÃO , f. f. extreme unction, a solemn anointing of a sick person at the point of death; and is one of the seven sacraments in the Romish church.	Extremo , a, adj. See ULTIMO .
O que faz extração de mercancias , an exporter.	EXTREMIDADE , f. f. extremity, the utmost parts, the parts most remote from the middle.	EXTREMA necessidade , extreme necessity, or distress.
Extração , extraction, derivation from an original, lineage, descent.	EXTREMADO , a, adj. extreme, greatest, of the highest degree, most perfect, consummate, complete.	EXTREMOSAMENTE , adv. studiously, earnestly, vehemently.
EXTRAÇÃO , f. m. extract, the substance extracted, the chief parts drawn from any thing. (In chemistry.)	EXTREMADO , a, adj. extreme, greatest, of the highest degree, most perfect, consummate, complete.	EXTREMO SO , a, adj. See EXCESSIVO , and EXTREMADO .
Extração dos vegetaveis , the extract of vegetables.	EXTREMADURA , f. f. See ESTREMADURA .	Amor extremo , consummate love.
Extração , extract, the chief heads drawn from a book, an abstract, an epitome.	EXTREMAUNÇÃO , f. f. extreme unction, a solemn anointing of a sick person at the point of death; and is one of the seven sacraments in the Romish church.	EXTRINSECO , a, adj. extrinsecal, or extrinsic, external, not intrinsic. See also EXTERIOR .
EXTRAÇÃO , a, adj. See	EXTREMIDADE , f. f. extremity, the utmost parts, the parts most remote from the middle.	EXUBERADO , p. of the preterperf. tense of EXUBERAR .
EXTRAÇÃO , v. a. to extract, to draw out of something.	EXTREMIDADE , extremity, extreme necessity or distress.	EXUBERANCIA , f. f. exuberance, or superabundance.
Extrahir , to extract, to draw by chemical operation.	EXTREMO , or ESTREMO , f. m. the first or last indivisible part of any quantity. See also EXTREMIDADE .	Com exuberancia , exuberantly.
Extrahir , to extract, to select, and abstract from a larger treatise.	Extremos , extremities, the points in the utmost degree of opposition, or at the utmost distance from each other.	EXUBERANTE , p. a. exuberant, more than sufficient.
EXTRAJUDICIAL , adj. extrajudicial, out of the regular course of legal procedure.		EXUBERAR , v. n. to exuberate, to superabound.
EXTRAJUDICIALMENTE , adv. extrajudicially, in a manner different from the ordinary course of legal procedure.		EXULADO , v. n. to be banished, to live in exile. Lat. exulare .
EXTRAMURAL , adj. that is without the walls.		EXULCERAÇÃO , f. f. (in physick) exulceration.
EXTRAMUROS , adv. without the walls.		EXULCERADO , a, adj. See
EXTRANEO , a, adj. extraneous.		EXULCERAR , v. a. to exulcerate, to make sore with an ulcer.
EXTRANUMERAL , adj. supernumerary.		EXULCERATIVO , a, adj. exulceratory.
EXTRAORDINARIAMENTE , adv. extraordinarily.		EXULTAÇÃO , f. f. exultation, joy, rapturous delight.
EXTRAORDINÁRIO , a, adj. extraordinary, different from common order, not ordinary; also extraordinary, different from the common course of law.		EXULTAR , v. n. to exult, to leap and skip for joy. Lat. exultare .
Extraordinario , extraordinary, eminent, remarkable, more than common.		EYCHA , or EICHAM . See DESPENSEIRO .
Embaixador extraordinario , an ambassador extraordinary.

F.

F, f, is the sixth letter of the Portuguese alphabet, and by some reckoned a mute, by others a semi-vowel. Suetonius says, that the emperor Claudius invented this letter, with other two; and that this had the force of V consonant.

F, amongst the Latins, was a numeral letter worth forty, according to this verse:

Sexta quaterdecus gerit quæ distat ab alpha.

But when it was marked with a tittle on the top, then it stood for forty thousand.

F Fa, one of the notes in music, called fa.

FABORDA'M, f. m. a kind of grave music. From the French fauxbourdon.

FABRICA, f. f. fabric, or building, an edifice, frame, structure, fabrication.

Fabrica da igreja, ou renda para os reparos della, fabric-hands, the revenue of a church for the repairs and maintenance of it.

Fabrica, manufacture, a work-house.

Fabrica de sedas, a manufacture of silks.

Fabrica, (artificia.) See ARTIFICIO, and LAFOR.

Fabricas, (in a moral sense.) See IDEAS, and DESENHOS.

FABRICADO, a, adj. made, &c. See the v. FABRICAR.

FABRICADOR, f. m. a builder, a fashioner, a maker.

Fabricador do mundo, God, the universal maker.

FABRICANTE, f. m. a manufacturer, a workman, an artificer; but more particularly the director in a manufacture, or work-house.

FABRICAR, v. a. to build, to frame, to manufacture, to form by workmanship.

Fabricar um navio, to build a ship.

Fabricar moeda, to coin, or mint money.

Fabricar pano, to make cloth.

Fabricar-se, v. r. ex. Nos nos fabricamos a nos mesmos as nossas desgraças, we are the cause of our own misfortunes.

FABRIL, adj. mechanic, or mechanical, servile, of mean occupation.

FABRILHÃO, f. m. he who receives the fabric lands. See FABRICA da igreja.

FABULA, f. f. fable, apologue; also a fiction in general.

O que inventa, ou escreve fabulas, a fabler, or fabulist.

Fabula de Esopo, Æsop's fables.

Fabala, ou conto para divertir, a tale, or story.

O que conta fabulas, a fabulator, a teller of fables or stories.

Historia das fabulas, mythology.

Ser a fabula do mundo, to be the common talk.

FABULADO, a, adj. See

FABULAR, v. a. to fable, to feign, to write not truth but fiction. See also FINGIR.

FABULOSAMENTE, adv. fabulously.

FABULOSO, a, adj. fabulous, feigned, full of fables, or invented tales.

FACA, f. f. a knife; also a young mare; also a nag, a little horse.

Faca de seu e. See AGOMIA.

Faca de mesa, a table-knife.

Faca de carnicero, a butcher's chopping-knife.

Faca de sapateiro, ou trinchete para arrumar os sapatos, a shoemaker's paring-knife.

Faca de mato, a hauger, a wood-knife.

Faca de fogo, (among farriers) cauting-iron, a farmer's iron to cauterize, or sear the parts of a horse which require burning.

Homem de faca e cailho, (a vulgar expression) a man fit for any business.

FACA'DA, f. f. a thrust with a knife.

FACALHÃO, f. m. a great knife.

FACANHA, f. f. an exploit, a great action, a feat; from fazer.

Façanha, (ironically) silly doings.

Façanha, a debated question.

FACANHEIRO. See FAIDOSO, and PATATÁ.

FACANHO'SO, a, adj. famous, that performs great exploits.

Empresa façanhosa, a great enterprize.

Façanhoso, exceeding great, vast, huge, enormous.

FACCÃO, f. f. faction, cabal, party.

Façam, a military enterprize.

FACE, f. f. face; also the cheek, the ball of the cheek.

P. na face e nos olhos se lê a letra do coração; we say, in the forehead and in the eye, the lecture of the mind does lie.

Dizer em face, to tell to one's face, or before his face.

Face, face, surface, or superficies; also light, or view.

A primeira face, at first sight, or view.

Face, the front, or fore-part of any thing.

Face do edifício, front, fore-front, or facing.

Face dos negócios, face, state, or condition of affairs.

Aquella negocio tem duas faces, that business has two faces.

Face, (in fortification) front, the face of a work.

Receber-se em face da igreja, to marry in public.

FACECIA, f. f. merry conceit, or humour, facetiousness.

Facecia picante, jeer, jest, banter.

FACEIRA, f. f. ex. Faccira de boys, the flesh that covers the cheek-bones of an ox.

Faccira, f. m. See PATATÁ, and VAIDADE.

FACESTINHA, f. f. a small face.

FACETA, f. f. a facet, a small surface, a superficies cut into several angles.

Diamante com jaetas, ou facetado, a diamond cut facet-wise, a facet diamond.

FACETADO, a, adj. cut with facets, or facet-wise.

FACETAMENTE, adv. facetiously, gaily, cheerfully, wittily, merrily.

FACEITO, a, adj. facetious, gay, cheerful, merry, witty.

FACHA, f. f. a torch, a taper, light, a flambeau.

Facha de armas, battle axe.

FACHADA, f. f. front, fore-front, a portal, or frontpiece; also a blow, or cut with a battle-axe.

Fachada, f. m. a follower of the mode, a fop, a coxcomb.

FACHO, f. m. a faggot, or bundle of brush-wood, that they use to kindle upon a high place by the sea, as a token for the people to take arms; also two stakes set in fashion of a cross, and pitched upon a watch-tower, on which they use to hang lights as a token of the enemy's approach, or coming nigh to.

FACIL, adj. easy, facil, or facile, not difficult, performable, or attainable with little labour; also facile, easy of access, or converse, not haughty.

Estilo facil, an easy, or clear style.

Facil, (among physicians) relaxed, loosened.

FACILIDADE, f. f. facility, easiness to be performed, freedom from difficulty.

Facilidade da luz, diffusiveness of light.

Facilidades, too much familiarity.

FACILITADO, a, adj. See

FACILITAR, v. a. to facilitate, to make easy, to free from difficulty.

Facilitar os mares, to facilitate navigation.

Facilitar-se, v. r. to grow easy of access, or converse.

Facilitar-se com alguém, to grow familiar with one.

FACILMENTE, adv. easily, without difficulty.

FACINOROSO, a, adj. criminal, enormous, wicked, vicious, villainous, facinorous.

FACITVEL, adj. that can be made, or done.

FACOULA. See FACUDO.

FACTO, f. m. a fact, a thing done.

De facto, adv. in effect, really.

Ipso facto, immediately, at once, ipso facto.

Facto, (successo.) See SUCCESSO.

FACUDO, a, adj. broad-faced.

FACULDADE, f. f. faculty, leave, the power of doing any thing.

Faculdades da alma, the faculties, or powers of the soul.

Faculdade, (in physic) faculty, power, or ability to perform any action natural, vital, and animal.

Faculdades, wealth, fortune, goods, estate.

Fauidade, a science.

Faculdade, the whole body of professors, or public readers in an university; the faculty.

FACULTOSO, a, adj. See RICO.

FACUNDIA, f. f. eloquence.

FACUNDO, a, adj. eloquent, facund.

FADA, f. f. so the writers of romances call enchanted nymphs, or women who they feign to be able to tell what is appointed by fate; so they also call the Parcæ, or Fates, which the poets feign have the disposal of human life.

Mas fadas, (a vulgar expression.) See TRABALHOS.

FADA'DO, a, adj. fated, doomed, decreed by fate. See also FATAL.

Pedra fadada, fairy-stone. It is found in gravel-pits, being of an hemispherical figure, hath five double lines arising from the centre of its basis, which meet in the pole.

Fadado, endued with any quality by fate.

Fadado, invested with the power of fatal determination. See also FADA'R, v. a. to tell fortunes, to tell what is appointed by destiny or fate.

FADA'RIO, f. m. fatality, or tendency to some actions, which the fatalists foolishly maintain to happen by invincible necessity, fate, or destiny.

Falario, a bad habit, an irregular sort of life.

FADIGA, f. f. carking care, trouble, anguish of mind. See also TRABALHO.

FADIGADO. See FATIGADO.

FADIGAR. See FATIGAR.

FA'DO, f. m. fate, destiny.

FAETA'M, f. m. Phaëton, the son of Phœbus and Clymene.

FAGO'TE, f. m. faggoto, a musical wind-instrument.

FAGUEIRO, a, adj. fawning upon, flattering. See also MEIGO.

FALA. See FALA.

FA'IM, f. m. (an ancient word.) See ESPADIM.

FA'INA, f. f. the shout, or noise which mariners make when they encourage each other. Our sailors cry, Ho-up!

FALSA'M, f. m. pheasant, a sort of bird well known to sportsmen.

Cortar hum faisão, (in carving) to allay a pheasant, to cut it up.

FALSCA, f. f. a spark of fire, a sparkle, a mill.

Faisca, a remnant, or relique. (Metaph.)

FALXA. See FAXA.

FALLA. See FALLA.

FALACA, f. f. bastinado, or bastinado, a sort of punishment inflicted by the Algerines upon the Christians, which consists in beating the soles of their feet.

Dar falaca, to bastinado, or bastinado, to beat the soles of the feet.

FALA'CHA, or FALAXA, f. f. (in the province of Minho) a sort of cake made of chestnuts.

FALADO. } See { FALLADO.
FALANGE. } { PIHALANGE.
FALAR. } { FALLAR.

FALBALA'S, f. m. a furbelow, a flounce, a fringe, or lace; about a woman's gown. From the French falbala.

Ornada com falbalas, furbelowed, flounced.

Ornar com falbalas, to furbelow, to flounce.

FALCA, f. f. a square piece of timber cut with the axe, from the main trunk of a tree, fit to be sawed.

FALCADO. See FALCATO.

FALCA'M, f. m. a hawk, a falcon.

Falcão manso, a reclaimed hawk.

Falcão bravo, que caça antes de ser apanhado, a haggard, a wild hawk.

Falcão de dois annos, a hawk of the first coat.

Falcão macho, a tassel, or tassel-hawk.

Falcão que está com a vista tapada, an ensheeled hawk.

Bando de falcoens, a cast, or set of hawks.

Lugar, ou sorte de geyola donde se tem o falcoens quando mudam as pennas, a hawk-mew, a coop for hawks.

Novelinho de linho, ou algedam para purgar o falcão, casting, a pellet of canvas, or cotton, to purge a hawk.

Purgar o falcão, to ensnare a hawk.

Falcão, faucon, a piece of ordnance; also the inferior part of the talbamar, cut-water. See TALHAMA.

FALCATO, a, adj. falcated, ex. Carro falcato, the ancient chariots, with scythes sticking out on both sides, which they used to drive among the enemies, to break their ranks, and cut down men.

FALCATRU'A, f. f. (a vulgar word) a cheat, sham, knavery, a trick, a wile.

FALCOA'DA, f. f. the shooting off a piece of ordnance called a faucon.

FALCOEIRO, f. m. a falconer, or falconer.

Falcoeiro, or caçador de volateria, he that catches birds by means of a hawk, one that hawks, a falconer.

FALCONE'TE, f. m. fauconet, a great gun, about six feet and a half long.

FALDA. See FRALDA.

FALDISTO'RIO, f. m. a faldistory, a great chair, or the bishop's seat within the chancel.

FALDREIRO, or cachorrinho falbreiro, a lap-dog, a little dog fondled by ladies in the lap.

FALDRILHA, f. f. a sort of hoop-petticoat.

FALCER. See FALLECER.

FALCADO, &c. See FALLECADO, &c.

FALCENO, f. m. muscadine, a rich sort of wine; also a mountain of Campania, near the Tuscan sea.

FALHA, f. f. a crack, a fissure, a flaw.

Falha, a spot, a fault, a blot, a blemish, both in the natural and moral sense.

Falha, (in the Bravils) a stop, stay, or delay in a journey.

FALHA'DO, a, adj. See

FALHA'R, v. n. (at the game of draughts) to miss the point, as when one throws a doublet when he wants a tray-point, quater-point, &c.

Falbar, to mistake, to be disappointed.

Falbar, (among gold or silverminers) to decrease in weight.

FALIDO, f. m. a bankrupt.

Falido, a, adj. ex. Mercador falido, a broken merchant.

Falido, (pobre.) See POBRE.

FALLA, f. f. speech, talk.

Fazer huma falla, to make a speech. See also ARENGA, and PRATICA.

FALLA'CIA, f. f. deceit, fraud, falsehood.

Que usa de fallacias, deceitful, fraudulent.

Fallacia, (in logic) fallacy, sophism.

Com fallacias, fallaciously.

FALLA'DO, a, adj. spoken; also talked of.

Cousa muito fallada, a thing much talked of.

Ser bem fallado, to have a good name. See also FALLANTE.

FALLADO'R, f. m. a talkative person, a prating fellow, a great talker.

FALLADO'RA, f. f. a talker, a tattle-basket, a tattling woman.

FALLANTE, p. a. that can speak, or talk.

Homem bem fallante, or bem fallado, a well-spoken man, a good spokesman, or speaker.

FALLA'R, v. a. to speak, ex. Fallar Portu- guez, to speak Portuguese; also to speak plain, as we say, downright English.

Fallar, v. n. to speak, to talk.

Fallar alto, to speak loud; also to talk big.

Fallar a alguém, to speak to one.

Fallar com alguém, to speak or talk to one; also to have to do carnally with one.

Fallar consigo mesmo, to speak to one's self.

Fallar a favor de alguém, to speak for one.

Passaro que falla, a bird that speaks.

Fallar por entre os dentes. See DENTES.

Eu lhe ensinarei a fallar, (a sort of threatening) I'll teach him to rule his tongue.

Fallar no ar, to talk vainly, or out of the subject.

Fallar bem ou mal de alguém, to speak well, or ill of one.

Fallar depressa, lançando cuspo pela boca, to sputter.

A cousa falla por si mesma, the thing speaks of itself.

Porse a fallar de alguém, or em alguém, to fall into discourse of one.

Fallar de papo, to talk after a lofty, stately manner.

Os olhos fallam, or fazem conhecer os pensamentos, the eyes speak.

O que falla em publico, como hum orador, &c. a speaker.

Fallar, f. m. speech, ex. Conheço-o no fallar, I know him by his speech.

Falla-se, v. imp. they speak.

Falla-se muito nisso, it is a thing much talked of.

Não se falla mais nisso, there is no more talk or it.

Falla-se Francez por toda a Europa, the French tongue is spoken all over Europe.

P. quem nam falla, Deus nam o ouz, we say, spare to speak, and spare to speak.

P. fallar sem cuidar de ativar sem apertar, to talk without thinking, is to shoot without taking aim; to let one's tongue run without reflecting on what one says, is like shooting at random.

P. tam duro he ao doudo calar, como ao fraco fallar, it is as hard for the fool to hold his tongue, as for the wise to talk.

P. falla pouco e bem tertebam por alguém, talk little and well, and you will be counted somebody; that is, you will be esteemed.

FALLA'Z, adj. fallacious.

FALLE'CER, v. n. to die.

Fallecer, (fallar.) See FALTAR.

Fallecer em alguma cousa, to fail in one's duty, to be wanting in it, to neglect it.

FALLECADO, p. of the preterp. tense of fallecer, dead, &c. See FALLICER.

FALLECIMENTO, f. m. See MORTE.

FALLE'NCIA, f. f. a fault, a mistake, an error.

Sem fallen'ia, without fail.

FALLIV'EL, adj. fallible, that may err.

FAL-LO-HEI. See the v. FAZER.

FALPE'RRÁ, f. f. (a vulgar word) a tick, malice, or abuse.

FALQUEA'DO, a, adj. See

FALQUEA'R, v. a. to rough-hew, to chip, to make slender, speaking of the body of a tree, trunk, &c.

FALRYPAS, or FARRIPAS, f. f. p. (a vulgar word) thin hair.

FALSA, (in music) ex. Especie falsa. See FALSO.

FALSA'DO, a, adj. See FALSAR.

FALSABRAGA

FALSBREIA , (in fortification) false bay.	Sinto a falta deste rapaz, or este rapaz me faz falta , I cannot miss this boy.	Deitar ma fama de alguém , to report ill of one.
FALSAMENTE , adv. falsely, not truly.	Isto não me faz falta , I can make shift without it.	Homem que tem ma fama , a man ill reported of.
FALSAR , v. a. to falsify, to forge, to counterfeit, to adulterate, to embezzle.	Falta , fault, neglect, carelessness.	Alcançar boa, ou má fama , to get a good or an ill name. See REPUTAÇÃO .
Falzar a péla . See FALSO .	Acusar alguém de alguma falta , to fault one, to charge him with a fault.	Molher de fama , a whore.
Falzar o pé . See FALSO .	O que faz, ou comete huma falta , a fault, one who commits a fault.	Fama , (in India) a sort of procession.
Falzar . See AMOLGAR , TORCER , and PASSAR .	O que examina as faltas , a fault-finder.	P. cobra boa fama, &c. See COBRAR .
Falzar huma espada , to bend a sword.	Sem falta , without fail.	P. quem a fama tem perdida morto anda nesta vida , he who has lost his reputation, is as good as dead whilst living; we say, one had as good be hanged, as have an ill name.
Falzar , (in a moral sense.) See BALDAR , and FRUSTRAR .	Causa sem falta, ou que não tem falta , faultless, without fault, perfect.	P. a quem ma fama tem, nem acompanhar nem digas bem , do not keep company with, nor be fond of one that has an ill name.
FALSARIO , f. m. a falsifier, a forger, a counterfeiter.	Causa que tem falta , faulty, defective, bad in any respect, not fit for the use intended.	FAMACO . See ESCAÇO , and MISERÁVEL .
Falsario , a false witness.	FALTADO , p. of the preterperf. tense of FALTAR , v. a. to want, to need, to stand in need of; also to miss, to omit.	FAMÉLICO . See FAMINTO .
Falsario , one that is forsworn, or forswears himself, a perjured man, a perjurer.	Eu nunca falto hum dia , I never miss one day.	FAMIGERADO , a, adj. renowned, famous; that is of great note or reputation.
FALSFADO , p. of the preterperf. tense of FALSFAR , v. n. to be discordant, jarring, or untunable.	Não vos faltara nada , you shall have no want of any thing, you shall want for nothing.	FAMÍLIA , f. f. family.
FALSFETE , f. m. a false, or feigned treble in music.	Que vos falta? what do you want?	Pay de familias , the housekeeper, the master of the family.
FALSIDADE , f. f. falsity, falsehood, untruth, lye, tale, imposture.	Falta me tudo , I want every thing.	Mãe de familias , the lady, mistress, or good wife of the house.
FALSIFICAÇÃO , f. f. falsification, falsifying, counterfeiting.	Faltam-me as forças , I want strength, or my strength fails me.	Filho familias , a son that is not emancipated.
FALSIFICADO , a, adj. See FALSIFICAR .	Não me falta nada , I want nothing.	Negócios de huma familia , family, or domestic concerns.
FALSIFICADOR , f. m. a falsifier, a forger, a counterfeiter, a false coiner.	Falta me dinheiro , money is short with me.	Familia , family, household, domestics.
FALSIFICAR , v. a. to falsify, to forge, to counterfeit, to adulterate, to embezzle.	Faltar á palavra , to break one's word, to be unfaithful, to fail, to balk one, to disappoint him.	Família , f. f. family, house, stock.
Falsificar a moeda , to counterfeit or embezzle the coin.	Faltar a sua obrigação , to neglect one's duty; or to fail in one's duty.	O ultimo descendente de huma familia , a lagman, one that is the last of a family.
FALSO , f. m. (in cant) a handkerchief.	Faltam-me as palavras , I want words.	FAMILIAR , adj. domestic. See also CASEIRO .
Falso , a, adj. false, untrue.	Faltar ao juramento , to be forsworn, to forswear one's self, to violate or go from one's oath.	Familiar , familiar, intimate, free.
Falso , false, treacherous, perfidious, deceitful, hollow.	Faltar a alguém , to forsake one; also to disappoint one, to balk one.	Discurso, or pratica familiar , familiar discourse.
Falso , counterfeit, not real.	Falta hum quarto para as seis horas , it wants a quarter of an hour of six o'clock.	Estilo familiar , a familiar, free, or easy style.
Amigo falso , a false friend.	Pouco, ou nada faltava , there wanted little, or nothing.	Esprito, ou demonio familiar , a familiar, a familiar spirit, or hob-goblin.
Moeda falsa , false money.	Pouco faltou que o não matassem , he was very near being killed, or he was within a hair's breadth of being killed.	Trato familiar . See FAMILIARIDADE .
Escrever falsa , a counterfeit writing.	Faltar muito , to want a great deal, to come far short. (Speaking both of persons and things.)	Familiar , f. m. a domestic, a servant.
Ajuntar sobre, ou fabricar sobre falso, ou em falso , to build upon an ill bottom.	Aqui falta hum quarto de ouro , here wants a piece of six shillings and nine-pence.	Familiar do santo offiço , persons of the greatest quality take it as an honour to be admitted to this title; and it is much sued for, none being admitted, but such as make it out they are not descended from Moors, or Jews. They are, for the most part, only titular officers of the inquisition, having no allowance, nor any thing to do, unless to appear in the public solemn acts of inquisition, or other extraordinary occasions. But there are other familiares in pay, who assist at apprehending of criminals, and other occasions.
Ajuntado em falso , that has not a sound foundation.	Não falta quem diga, &c. there want not, or there are some that say, &c.	FAMILIARIDADE , f. f. familiarity, familiar way of converse, intimacy.
Envidar de falso , an expression among gamblers, when one puts, though he holds nothing, only to brave his adversary. See also ENVIDAR .	Nunca faltaram guerras civis , there will never want civil wars.	P. a muita familiaridade causa desprezo , too much familiarity breeds contempt.
Imper hum nome sobre falso , to give a wrong and undeserved name.	Faltar , to die.	FAMILIARIZADO , p. of the preterperf. tense of
Por o pé em falso, or falsar o pé , to make a false step, or to miss one's footing.	Se por desgraça o pay lhe faltasse , if their father was unfortunately taken from them, if they had the misfortune to lose their father.	FAMILIARIZAR-SE , v. r. to familiarize one's self, to make one's self familiar, to grow familiar, to contract a familiarity with.
Dar a péla hum pulo em falsa, or falsa a péla , fifteen at tennis.	Eu não faltarei , I will not fail.	Familiarizar-je , to match, to ally to many families.
Porta falsa , a postern-gate, or back-door.	Faltar ao respeito , to break in upon the respect due to one, to be saucy, or impertinent before one.	FAMILIARMENTE , adv. familiarly.
Especies falsas , (in music) discords, sounds not of themselves pleasing, but necessary to be mixed with others.	FALTO , a, adj. deficient, wanting.	FAMINTO , a, adj. hungry, hunger-starved; also covetous, greedy, eager.
Chave falsa, ou feitiça . See CHAVE .	Falto de juizo , foolish, unwise, silly, sottish, unadvised.	FAMOSAMENTE , adv. extremely, extraordinarily, famously.
FALTA , f. f. want, need, deficiency; also a fault at tennis, as when he that serves out the ball, strikes it out of play, or the like.	Falto, (defectuoso.) See DEFECTUOSO .	FAMOSO ,
Falta de bens da fortuna , poverty, penury, indigence.	FALUA , f. f. a barge, such as are used on rivers for pleasure, or to carry people of note.
Ter falta de alguma coisa , to want, or to be without something fit, or necessary.	FAMA , f. f. fame, report, renown.
Fazer falta , to be missed, or wanted.	Sem fama, or que não tem fama , fameless, unheard of.
Ele fez falta a todos , he is missed by every body.	Deitar fama , to spread, or spread abroad a report.
Sentir a falta , to miss, to perceive want of.
O que tem hum verdadeiro amigo pode carecer de todos os mais homens sem que sinta a falta delles , he who has a true friend, may want all the rest without missing them.

FAMO'SO, a, adj. famous, renowned, celebrated, much talked of.

FAMULADO, i. m. serviceable attendance.

FAMULENTO, a, adj. See FAMINTO.

FAMULO, i. m. in colleges is a poor student, who, for his learning and maintenance, serves the college in general, but not any person in particular.

FANADO, a, adj. See ESCAÇO, POBRE, and the v. FANAR.

Putinha fanada. See MARAFONA.

Fanada judeo. See FANECO.

FANAM, i. m. (in Æthiopia) a small sort of coin.

Fanam, (in India.) See QUILATE.

FANAR, v. a. to circumcise; also to cheat one of his money.

FANATICO, a, adj. fanatic.

FANCARIA. See FANQUERIA.

FANCHAM, i. m. a poltroon, a wretch, whose predominant passion is fear.

FANCHONICE, i. f. cowardice, pusillanimity, timidity.

FANECA, i. f. a sort of sea-fish.

FANECO, or Judeo faneco, a circumcised Jew.

FANE'GA, i. f. a corn measure containing four alqueires. See ALQUEIRE.

FANFARRAM, i. m. a fanfaron, a hector, a braggadochio, a swaggerer, a swaggering fellow, bully, or hectoring blade; also a fop, a coxcomb.

FANFARRICE, i. f. swaggering, ostentation, rhodomontado, bragging, boasting; also foppery.

FANFARRIA. See FANFARRAM, and FANFARRICE.

FAN'GA, i. f. See FANE'GA.

FANGAPENA, i. f. (among the wild people of Maranhão) a sort of PARTASADA, which see.

FANHOSO, i. m. fanhoja, i. f. a snuffler, one that speaks through the nose.

FAN'COS, i. m. p. (a ludicrous word) small pieces or bits.

FANNO, i. m. a temple.

FANQUERIA, or FANCARIA, i. f. a place in Lisbon where they sell Indian and foreign commodities.

FANQUEIRO, i. m. he who sells Indian or foreign commodities.

FANTASIA, or FANTAZIA, i. f. fantasy, fancy, imagination.

Fantasia, fancy, maggot, frolic, caprice, crochet, whim, whimsy, vagary.

Elle leva-jê de fantasias, he follows his own fancy, he does the things inconsiderately.

Se lhe dê, ou vem fantasia, if he takes a fancy.

Fantasia, or Fantasma, image, or representation of a thing formed by the mind.

Fantasia. See FANTASTIQUE.

Fantasia, (in music) an assaying, a voluntary, a musician's play extempore, such as comes next to his fancy.

Tocar de fantasia, it is when a master plays on an instrument, not any set lesson, but but by his own invention, or extempore composition.

Fantasia, (ficção.) See FICCAM.

FANTASIOSO. See FANTAZIOSO.

FANTASMA, i. f. a phantom, a ghost, an imagination of a weak brain.

Fantasma, an image, or representation of a thing formed by the mind to itself.

FANTASTICA. See FANTASTIQUE.

FANTASTICO, a, adj. fantastical, or fantastic, bred only in the imagination, unreal.

Fantástico, i. m. a self-conceited fellow.

FANTASTIQUE, i. f. self-conceit, or self-conceitedness.

FANTAZIADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FANTAZIAR, v. n. to fancy, to imagine.

FANTAZIOSO, a, adj. full of vain fancies, or conceits.

FANSTO. See FASTO.

FANQUEIRO, i. m. a case of knives.

FANQUINHA, i. f. a little knife; also a young mare, &c. See FACIA.

FANUPRES, a sort of people in India that do public penance.

FARACO'LA, i. f. (in India) the weight of about eighteen Portuguese pounds.

FARANDULA, or FARANDULA'GEM, i. f. a trifle, a thing of small value.

Spanish.

FARAUTE. See ARAUTO.

FARÇA, i. f. a farce, a comical representation, written without regularity; also a mock, a mockery; a mock-comedy stuffed with extravagant passages of wit.

FARÇANGA, i. f. parasang, or farsango, a Persian measure of about four English miles, or, as others say, of three miles.

FARÇANTE, or FARÇISTA, i. m. a player, one that acts a farça. See FARÇA.

FARDA, i. f. a soldier's dress, or clothes.

FARDA'DO, a, adj. See FARDAR.

FARDA'GEM, i. f. See FARDA.

FARDA'R, v. a. to clothe the soldiers.

FARDE'L, i. m. a truss, pack, or fardel.

FARDO, i. m. a bale, a pack of merchandise.

Fazer hum fardo, to make up into a bale.

Fardo, (in India) the weight of forty-two Portuguese pounds.

FARELE'NTO, a, adj. full of bran.

FARELINHO. See ATOMO.

FARE'LO, i. m. bran.

Farelo que tem alguma farinha, bran that has some meal among it.

Farelo que nam tem farinha, coarse bran.

Farelo de que se faz pão para cães, dog-bolt, or flour for dogs.

P. aproveitador de farelos, espedidor de farinha, that is, one that saves at the spigot, and lets it run out at the bung.

FARELO'RIO, i. m. so they call several sorts of sweet-meats; also any thing of small value, a trifle.

FARFALHA, or FARFALHADOR, i. m. a stammerer, or stutterer, one who stutters, or stammers.

FARFALHADA, i. f. (a vulgar word) the whispering or rustling of trees shaken by the wind.

FARFALHAR, v. n. to stutter, or stammer.

FARFANTE. See FANFARRAM.

FARINHA, i. f. meal, flour.

Flor, ou olho da farinha, flour, or the finest meal.

Farinha de cevada, defecada ao lume, barley flour dried at the fire.

P. não fazem boa farinha, they cannot agree; we say, they cannot set their horses together.

FARMACIA. See PHARMACIA.

FARNENTO, i. m. a sort of black grapes so called.

FARNESIS, ou Farnefim. See FRENESIS.

FARNETICO. See FRENETICO.

FARRO, i. m. the smelling, or noise of dogs.

Que tem bom farro, quick-scented.

Ir pelo farro, (speaking of hunting dogs) to hunt upon scent.

Dar o firo a algum de alguma coisa, or to-mar o firo de alguma coisa, to distrust something, we say to smell a rat.

Faro, a town of the kingdom of Algarve in Portugal. Lat. Pharus; also a place in Alentejo, but inconsiderable.

Faro. See PHARAS.

FARO'L, the lanthorn, or watch-light on the poop of a ship.

FARPA, i. f. a rag, or rent; or a loose piece hanging from a garment, any thing flowing loosely from a stock.

Farpa do estandarte, a streamer of the standard; cut like streamers.

Farpa da setta, anzol, &c. barb, the crooked or hooked part of an arrow, fishing-hook, &c.

FARPA'DO, a, adj. that is made or cut like streamers, cut in sundry fashions, forked; also barbed.

Farpa como a lingua da serpente contres pontas, three-pointed, or three-forked.

FARPA'M, i. m. See ARPEO.

FARPA'R, v. a. to cut like streamers, or loose hanging pieces.

Farpar o anzol contra os peyxes, to barb, or crook a fishing-hook; or to make a fishing-hook in order to fish.

FARRA'GEM, i. f. mixture of sundry grains together; also a mixture of good and bad together, hodge-podge. (Metaph.)

FARRAGO'ULO, i. m. a sort of cloak. From the Italian ferrajuolo.

FARRAPAM, i. m. a tatterdemalion, a ragged fellow.

FARRAPARIA, i. f. quantity of rags or tatters.

FARRAPO, i. m. a rag, tatter, tattered clothes.

Lembre-me delle quando era coberto de ferrapos, I remember him when he was all in tatters.

FARREGO'ULO. See FARRAGOULO.

FARREJEAL. See FERRIJEAL.

FARRICO'CO, i. m. (a vulgar word) one who carries the body to the grave, a bearer.

FARRIPAS. See FALRIPAS.

FARRO, i. m. barley that has the husk just taken off, which serves to make a pishan for sick people.

FARRO'MA, i. f. (A vulgar word.) See FANFARRICE.

FARROUP'LLA. (A ludicrous word.) See FARRAPAM.

FARRUPE'O. (A vulgar word.) See FARRUSCA. (A vulgar word) an old and rusty sword.

FARSO'LA. (A vulgar word.) See FANFARRAM.

FARTEDE'LLA, i. f. See BARRIGADA.

FARTADO, a, adj. See

FARTAR, v. a. to fill, to give one his belly full, to satiate; to satisfy, both in the proper and figurative sense.

Fartar a sua ira, ou paixam, to satisfy one's anger, or passion.

Ceder a fartar, to fill one's belly, to eat one's belly full.

Cousa que não pode fartar, cloynefs, that of which too much cannot be had.

Fartar-se, v. r. to eat one's belly full;

also to be cloyed, surfeited, satiated, or tired.
FARTAVELHA'CO, f. m. a sort of plum so called.
FARTEM, f. m. a little thing made in the manner of cheesecake, but the middle part is like a pudding of eggs, almonds, sugar, cinnamon, cloves, &c. all this put in a thin paste and so baked; so called from the Lat. fercire, to stuff.
FARTO, a, adj. full fed, that hath his belly full, fated, glutted. See also ABUNDANTE, and FERTIL.
Farto de comer ou de beber, fated with meat or drink.
Farto, surfeited, satiated, wearied, tired.
Ejlo farto de promessas, I am surfeited with promises.
Depois de farto de chorar, after she had cried enough.
Ejlo farto do mundo, I am wearied of the world.
FARTURA, f. f. cloyment, satiety. See also ABUNDANCIA.
FASCAL, f. m. (In agriculture) a pile or heap of sheaves of corn.
FASCES, f. m. p. bundles of birchin rods, carried before the Roman magistrates, with an ax bound up in the middle of them, so as to appear at the top.
FASCINACAO, f. f. fascination, a bewitching, charming, or enchanting by the eyes.
Causa causada per fascinacão, fascinous.
FASCINADO, f. m. he that has been fascinated.
Fascinado, a, adj. See FASCINAR.
FASCINADOR, f. m. one that bewitcheth.
FASCINANTE, p. a. of
FASCINAR, v. a. to bewitch by the eyes, to influence in some wicked and secret manner.
FASQUA, f. f. a lath, a thin piece of cleft wood.
FASTIDIOSO, a, adj. fastidious, disdainful.
Fastidioso, tedi us. See also ENFADONHO, and MOLESTO.
FASTIENTO, a, adj. loathsome, causing satiety, or fastidiousness.
Fastiento, fastidious, disdainful, insolently nice, delicate to a vice, squeamish.
Fastiento, that sees food with dislike.
FASTIO, f. m. a loathing, a wanting of appetite.
Ter fastio, to loath, to see food with dislike.
Causar fastio. See ENFASTIAR.
Fastio do mar. See ENJOJO.
Fastio, (enfado.) See ENFADO.
Ter fastio, to loath, to hate, to look on with abhorrence.
Ter fastio, to be tedious, to weary, to tire, to be wearisome.
O que tem fastio, a loather.
FATO, f. m. pride, haughtiness. See also POMPA, and MAGNIFICENCIA.
FATOS, f. m. p. calendars, wherein were set down the festivals by the Romans, as also the names of their officers, &c. also a book of Ovid's so called for that reason.
FATEÇA, a sort of fresh-water fish.
FATEÇA'Z, f. m. (a vulgar word) a large piece of bread, cheese, &c.
FATAL, adj. fatal, fatiferous.
Fatal, (funesto.) See FUNESTO. See also FATAL, and FAMOSO.
FATALIDADE, f. f. fatality, misfortune, unhappiness; also fatality.

Por fatalidade, or com fatalidade, fatally.
FATALME'NTE, adv. idem.
FATASA. See FATAÇA.
FATA'XA, f. f. (A ludicrous word.) See FACANHA.
FATEOSIM. See EMPHYTEOSIS.
FATE'XA, f. f. a grapnel, a small anchor belonging to a little vessel; a hook to drag things out of a well.
FATIA, f. f. a slice, ex. Fatia de pão, a slice of bread.
Fatia, (pedaço.) See PEDAÇO.
FATLADO. } See { ESFATLADO.
FATLAR. } { ESFATLAR.
FATLAZINHA, f. f. a thin slice.
Fatiazinha de pão, a sippet, a thin slice of bread.
FATIDICAME'NTE, adv. with knowledge of futurity, in manner of a prediction.
FATIDICO, a, adj. fatidical, having the power to foretell future events.
FATIGADO, a, adj. See
FATIGAR, v. a. to weary, to tire, to fatigue, to fatigue.
Fatigar, v. n. to fatigue one's self.
Que facilmente fatiga, ou he fatigado, fatigable, easily wearied, susceptible of weariness.
FATIOSIM. See EMPHYTEOSIS.
FATIO'TA, f. f. (A ludicrous word.) See FATO.
Levar, ou levantar fatiota, to go away.
FATIVEL. See FACTIVEL.
FATO, f. m. clothes, goods, things.
Fato da casa, household stuff, or implements, furniture, all things moveable within the house.
Fato. See CABRADA.
FATUAME'NTE, adv. foolishly.
FATUIDADE, f. f. fatuity, foolishness.
FATUO, a, adj. fatuous, stupid, fat-witted.
FAVA, f. f. a bean.
Cana da fava, a bean-straw, or stalk, on which the pods hang.
Casca da fava, the husk, coat, or shell of a bean.
Fava com cascã, a bean unshelled.
Fava de malaca. See ANACARDO.
Mandar alguém a fava, to get rid of one, to send him away with scorn.
FAV'AL, f. m. a field of beans.
FAVUCES, f. f. p. the gorge, or gullet-pipe.
FAVISSA, (with antiquaries) favissa, a hole, pit, or vault under ground, wherein some rarity of great value was kept.
FAULA, f. f. See FAISCA.
FAUNOS, f. m. Fauns, the gods of the woods and fields.
FAVO, f. m. a honey-comb.
Favo, (in medicine) achor, a sort of crusted scab on the surface of the head.
FAVONIO, f. m. Favonius, one of the winds, supposed to be the most advantageous for the good of the earth.
FAVOR, f. m. favour, kindness, benefit, good office, courtesy.
Carta de favor, a commendatory letter, or letter of recommendation.
Favor, (benefício.) See BENEFICIO.
A meu favor, in my behalf.
Com o favor, by the favour, means, or help.
Elle testou em favor de seu filho mais moço, he has left his estate to his younger son.
Deram sentença em meu favor, the cause went on my side.
FAVORAVEL, adj. favourable, kind, propitious,

Ter o vento favoravel, favourable, to have a good wind.
Favoravel. See BENIGNO, and SADIO.
Favoravel, prosperous, favourable, lucky.
FAVORAVELME'NTE, adv. favourably, kindly, with favour.
FAVORECEDO'R, f. m. a favourer, one that assists, or relieves.
FAVORECE'R, v. a. to favour, to aid, to help, to assist, to relieve.
Favorecer algum no retrato, is for a painter to draw a picture finer than the person is.
FAVORECIDO, a, adj. See FAVORECER.
FAVORITAS, f. f. p. a sort of ancient ornament for a woman's head.
FA'USTO, a, adj. See FELICE.
Dias fastos, (among the ancient Romans) court, or law-days.
Fauslo, or Fagsto. See FASTO.
FAUTO'R, f. m. a favourer, or fautor, a cherisher, maintainer, or abettor.
FAUTO'RA, f. f. a she-favourer, &c.
FAUTORIZADO, a, adj. See
FAUTORIZA'R, v. a. to favour, to countenance, help, back, assist. See APADRINHAR.
FAUTRIZ. See FAUTORA.
FA'XA, or FAIXA, f. f. a swathing-band, a roller, such as they use about children, &c.
Faxa, (in architecture) fascia, one of the three bands of which the architrave is composed.
Faxa, a royal wreath or diadem.
Faxa, (in heraldry) fesse.
Faxas, (in heraldry) bars.
Faxa de ferro, a plate, or thin piece of iron.
Faxas de ferro para cubrir as caimbas das rodas, bands of iron to cover the felloes of a wheel; strakes.
Faxa, (espaço.) See ESPAÇO.
Faxas do cambam, the rings of a gun, or circles of metal, whose names are, the base-ring, the reinforced-rings, trunnion-ring, cornice-ring, and muzzle-ring.
Taxas que o papa costumava mandar a os primogenitos dos reys, swathes, or swaddling clothes, which the pope uses to send to the first-born of the kings.
FAXADO, or FAIXADO, a, adj. See FAXAR.
Faxado, (in heraldry) with a fesse, or with bars.
Faxado com huma faxa, with a fesse. (In heraldry.)
Faxado com sete, nove, ou qualquer outro numero impar de faxas, that has seven, nine, &c. bars, (in heraldry.)
Faxado com seis, oito, ou qualquer outro numero par de faxas, barwise, or barry of six, eight, &c. (in heraldry.)
FAXAR, or FAIXAR, v. a. to swathe.
FAXE'QUE, f. m. so they call in Japan some ministers of their king.
FAXINA, f. f. faicine, such as armies use to fill up ditches, raise trenches, or the like.
FA'XO, f. m. (in cant) wood.
FAYA, f. f. a beech-tree.
Cousa de faya, ou perten. ente a faya, beechen.
FAYAL, f. m. the place where beech-trees grow.
Fayal, the most western island of the Azores, in the Atlantic ocean; it is so called from the number of beech-trees growing in it.

It lies about mid-way between Europe and America. The English making a descent upon it, destroyed most of its fortifications. It belongs to Portugal.

FAZENDA, f. f. an estate, wealth, riches, goods, fortune; also a farm, land, a plot of ground with a house belonging to it, a country farm, a country house, &c.

Homem que tem muita fazenda, a man of good fortune.

Fazenda real, the king's revenue, or treasure, the exchequer.

Conselho da fazenda, the council that has the direction of the king's revenue, the exchequer-count.

Leira fazenda, court-hand, the hand or manner of writing used in judicial proceedings.

Fazenda de ley, so they call such commodities that are not liable to new fashions, or modes, as linen for shirts, iron to make arms, &c. because there is an established custom of wearing shirts made of linen, &c.

Diamante fazenda, so they call any little or large diamond that has any sort of work, provided it be crystalline.

FAZENDEIRO, f. m. he who endeavours, or works to get a fortune, a good husband, a man that knows and practises the methods of frugality and profit.

FAZENDA'S, morals. (Obsol.)

FAZENDEINHA, f. f. a little farm, or manor; diminutive of fazenda.

FAZER, v. a. to do, to make, to create; also to form of materials.

Fazer huma saude, to drink a health.

Fazer, to cause, to bid, command or order.

Fez-lhe cortar a cabeça, he caused his head to be cut off.

Fazer, to concern, to import, to matter, to signify.

Que vos faz, ou que vos importa que elle venha ou não? what is it to you if he comes or not?

Fazer fim ao desejo, to satisfy one's desire or longing.

Fazer, (fingir.) See FINGIR.

Fazer por alguma cousa, to take pains, to endeavour, to labour to a certain purpose, to work for a certain end.

Faço por isso, I endeavour after it.

Fazer, (igualar.) See IGUALAR.

Fazer ao negocio, ou ao caso, to come to the purpose.

Fazer esmolas, to give alms.

Fazer gasto, to spend.

Fazer fumo, to smoke.

Fazer de comer, to dress the meat.

Fazer ausente a algum, to believe one absent.

Fazer frio, it is cold.

Fazer gente, to raise men, soldiers.

Fazer em pedaços, to pull into pieces.

Fazer zombaria de algum, to mock, or to laugh at a person.

Fazer caso. See ESTIMAR.

Nam façais caso disso, do not mind that.

Fazer agenda. See AGODAR.

Isto me faz vir a agua á boca, this makes my teeth, or mouth water.

Fazer, (alto.) See ALTO.

Fazer, (caras.) See CARAS.

Fazer das tripas coração. See CORAÇAM.

Fazer festa, to endear, to fondle.

Fazer huma festa, to give an entertainment, to feast.

Fazer as vezes de algum, to make any business for another.

Fazer trapacas, to chicone, to cavil, to quibble, to use tricks, fetches at law, to use quirks.

Fazer lugar, to make room.

Fazer merce, to grant a favour.

Fazer ouvidos de mercados, to make as if one were deaf.

Fazer suas necessidades, to ease one's self, to go to stool.

Ter muito que fazer, to be very busy.

Fazer exercicio, to use exercise.

Fazer exercicio. (A military phrase.) See EXERCICIO.

Que fazeis aqui? what makes you here?

Fazer hum vestido, to make a suit of clothes.

Fazer huma ley, to make a law.

Fazer hum discurso, to make a speech.

Fazer guerra, to make war.

Fazer, to make, or force.

Fazer saber alguma cousa a algum, to make one acquainted with a thing.

Fazer enraivecer algum, to make one mad.

Fazer conta, to make account, to intend; also to reckon. See CONTAR.

Fazer, or ajustar as contas. See AJUSTAR.

Isto não me faz nada, it makes nothing to me, that does not concern me.

Fazer pausa, to make a stop for a time, to pause.

Fazer de algum tolo, to make a fool of one.

Fazer dinheiro de alguma cousa, to make money of a thing, to sell it.

Tornar a fazer, to make again.

Ter que fazer com algum, to deal with one, to have to do with one.

Fa-lo-hei, I will do it; also I shall make him; as, fa-lo-hei fallar, calar, &c. I shall make him speak, hold his tongue, &c.

Fazer, joined to an adjective, or to a substantive, it takes their signification.

Fazer honra, to honour.

Fazer se, to make known, to testify, to witness.

Fazer forte, to fortify, or strengthen.

Fazer menção, to mention.

Fazer mal, to hurt.

Fazer paralelo, to parallel, to compare.

Fazer de algum o que huma pessoa quer, to dispose of one.

Faz vento, the wind blows.

Fazer vida com algum, to cohabit, or dwell together.

Fazer a vontade a algum, to comply with one's desire.

Fazer a sua vontade, to do as one pleases.

Fazer o possível, to do one's best, or endeavour.

Fazer a outrem o que quizeramos que outrem nos fizesse a nós, to do by others as we would be done by.

A vossa carta fara grande effeito para com elle, your letter will do much with him.

Não fareis nada com isso, you will do no good in it.

Não façais mais assim, do so no more.

Se tornardes a fazer assim, if ever you do so again.

Dezejo que faça a sua fortuna, I wish he may do well.

Custoume muito a fazello vir, I had much to do to get him to come.

Que tendes vos que fazer com isso? what have you to do with it? or what is that to you?

Não tenho que fazer com isso, I have nothing to do with it.

Que faremos? what had we best do? what course had I best to take?

Fazer o que algum manda, to do as one's bid.

Dar que fazer a algum, to employ one, to set him at work, to let him upon some business.

Ter que fazer com huma mulher carnalmente, to have carnally to do with a woman.

Fazei de mim o que vos parecer, do with me as you shall think fit.

Fazer hum grande estrondo, to keep a heavy do.

O que faz tudo, do all.

Elle foy o que fez tudo naquella negação, he was the do-all in that business.

Fazer huma boa casa, to raise, to set up one's family.

Que fazeis hoje? what will you do to-day? how do you employ yourself to-day?

Fazer hum filho a huma mulher, to get a woman with child.

Fazer o seu curso, to finish its course, as a star does.

Fazer a cama, to make the bed.

Não sei que lhe fazer, I can't help it.

Fazer grande negocio, to drive a great trade.

Fazer o seu officio, to exercise, or discharge one's office.

Fazer profissam, to profess.

Todos o faziam, eu tinham por morto, they gave out that he was dead.

Fazer vir, to call, or send for.

Fazer entrar, ou sair, to call in, or out, to bid one come in, or out.

Fazer sair por força, to force or drive out, to drive forth.

Isto não faz nada, it is no matter.

Fazer boa cara no ruim jogo, to set a good face on a bad game.

Não sei que fazer disso, I have no need of that.

Ja nam tenho que fazer com elle, I have done with him.

Eu vou para onde tu nam tens nada que fazer, I go where thou hast no business.

Fazer exemplo em algum. See EXEMPLO.

Fazer hum livro, to write a book.

Fazer amizade com algum, to make friendship, to get into friendship with one.

Fazer das suas, to play the fool, to dodge, to play tricks.

Assim Deus me faça bem, como eu nam o fiz com mau fim, God help me, I meant no harm by it.

Elle sempre esta fazendo das suas, he is always playing his foolish tricks.

Fazer de pessoa, to behave courageously.

Fazer jurar algum, to tender the oaths to one, to put one to his oaths.

Fazer saltar, ou voar pellos ares, to blow up.

Fazer lenha, to fell wood.

Fazer lenha, (a sea term) to take in a provision of wood.

Fazer a ronda, to walk the rounds.

Fazer dividas, to run into debt, to contract debts.

Faz luar, the moon shines.

Fazer violencia, to offer violence.

Fazer fazer, ou encomendar, to bespeak, to get made.

Fazer fazer. See OBRIGAR.

F E B

P. quem má a faz, nella jáz, we say, self do, self harm.
P. fazer bem, nunca se perde; we say, do well and have well.
P. fazer mal, e espera outro tal, harm watch, harm catch.
Fazer-se, v. r. to turn, to become, to grow.
Fazer-se religioso, to turn monk, to go into a monastery.
Cusa que pode fazer-se, feasible, such as may be done.
Faz-se tarde, faz-se noite, it grows late, it grows towards night.
Fazer-se, to use, or inure one's self to a thing.
Fazer-se ver, to shew one's self.
Fazer-se, (ingir-se.) See FINGIR-SE.
FE, f. f. faith, belief of the revealed truths of religion; also faith, trust in the honesty or veracity of another.
Dar fé, to perceive, to take notice.
Dar fé a quem diz, to believe, trust, or credit what one says.
Homem digno de fé, a credible man.
Fé, (lealdade.) See LEALDADE, and FIDELIDADE.
Guardar fé, to be faithful, to be just, to keep promise.
Quebrar a fé, to break faith, to violate a contract or promise.
Fé, a certificate, a testimony.
Fé, (prova.) See PROVA.
Fé, (opinião.) See OPINIÃO, and IMAGINAÇÃO.
Essa minha fé, this is my opinion.
Essar na fé, to believe, think, make account, suppose or imagine.
Na fé de que, &c. supposing, considering, imagining, or taking for granted that, &c.
Fazer huma coisa na fé de que agrada, to do a thing, believing it will please.
Fé, (tenção.) See TENÇÃO, and CONCIÊNCIA.
Essa fé, good faith, honesty, sincerity, fidelity, plain dealing.
Má fé, dishonesty, knavery, treachery, perfidiousness.
Homem de má fé, a knave, a cheat, a double dealer.
A falsa fé, or com má fé, perfidiously, treacherously.
Ter fé em alguém, ou em alguma coisa, to trust to, or in, to put trust, or confidence in a person, or in a thing.
Amar a alguém por fé, to love one without having seen him.
Possuir de boa, ou má fé, one that enjoys a thing, bona, or mala fide.
FEALDADE, f. f. deformity, ugliness; also enormity, or heinousness. (Metaph.)
FEAMENTE, adv. uglily, deformedly. See also VERGONHOSAMENTE.
FEANCHAM, f. m. a very ugly man.
FEBE, f. f. the sister of Phœbus, the moon.
FEBO, a, adj. (a poetical word) of or belonging to Phœbus, or the sun.
FEBO, or PHEBO, f. m. (in poetry) the sun, or Apollo.
FEBRA. See FIBRA.
FEBRIL, f. m. a great fever, augment. of FEVERE.
FEBRE, f. f. a fever, or an ague.
Febre quotidiana, a quotidian, or daily ague.
Febre continua, a continual fever.
Febre terçã, a tertian ague.
Febre terçã de bre, a semitertian ague, a sort of ague partaking of a tertian and quotidian.

PART I.

F E C

Febre quartã, a quartan ague.
Febre quartã, a que os medicos chamão esquisita, ou triples que repete todos os dias, an exquisite quotidian, or every day's ague. Lat. amphimerina febris.
Febre intermitente, an intermitting fever.
Febre malina, a malignant fever.
Febre ardente, a burning fever.
Ter febre, to be sick of a fever, to febricitate.
Que precede da febre, febrile, proceeding from a fever.
Que causa febre, feverous, having a tendency to produce fevers.
Que afugenta a febre, febrifuge, having the power to cure fevers.
Quem tem febre, feverish, feverous, or fevery, febriculous.
Febre pequena, a feveret, a slight fever, febricula.
Febre, (metaph.) See PAYAM.
FEBRIFUGO, or FEBRIFUGO, f. m. a febrifuge.
FEBRICITANTE, f. m. and f. one that febricitates, or is in a fever.
Febricitante, adj. greedy, ambitious, desirous, that passionately covets any thing.
FEBRIL, adj. febrile, belonging to a fever.
FEBRINHÃO, f. f. diminut. of febre. See FEBRE pequena.
FE'BRUO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Pluto, infernal. (In poetry.)
FECHAL, adj. (among physicians) dreggy, feculent.
FECENTINO. See FESCENINO.
FE'CHA da carta. See DATA.
FECHADÃO, a, adj. close, inclosed, shut up, locked in, cooped up. See also the v. FECHAR.
Noite fechada, so they say when it is quite dark.
Homem muito fechado, a very close, or reserved man.
Ter alguma coisa fechada na mão, to dispose of a thing, to have the disposal of it. (Metaph.)
FECHADURA, f. f. a lock.
Abrir fechaduras com gazuas, to pick a lock.
O que abre as fechaduras com gazuas, a pick-lock.
FECHAR, v. a. to shut, or shut up; also to stop the way to.
Fechar a porta a alguém, to shut one out.
Fechar a porta depois que alguém tem entrado, ou subido, to shut the door upon one.
Fechar a chave, to lock, to lock up.
Fechar com o ferrolho, to bolt.
Fechar com a tranca, to bar, to make fast with a bar.
Fechar huma carta, to make, or close up a letter.
Fechar huma ferida, to close a wound.
Fechar a mão, to clutch, or clinch one's fist.
Fechar a mão escondendo nella alguma coisa, to palm, to conceal in the palm of the hand, as jugglers.
Fechar os olhos, to close, or shut the eyes; also not to take notice of a thing, to wink at it. (Metaph.)
Fechar os olhos a tudo; we say, to run through thick and thin. (Metaph.)
Fechar, ou tapar hum caminho, to stop a way.
Fechar o olho. See MORRER.
Fechar a alguém de fora, to shut one out.
Fechar, to barricade, to shut up.
Fechar huma carta dentro de outra, to inclose a letter within another.

F E D

Fechar a cortina, to draw the curtain, to close it so as to shut out the light, or conceal the object.
Fechar, ou cerrar com hum inimigo. See CERRAR.
Fechar, ou cerrar a conta. See CERRAR.
Fechar hum discurso, to conclude a discourse. See also ACABAR.
Fechar a abobada, to finish a vault.
Fechar-se, v. r. ex.
Fechar-se a chave, to lock one's self in; also to close, or close up. (Speaking of a wound, or sore.)
Fechar-se, ou cerrar-se à banda. See CERRAR-SE.
FECHO, f. m. ex. Fecho ou chave da abobada. See CHAVE.
Fecho de assucar, a small case filled up with sugar.
Fecho, conclusion, end, close, issue.
Fechos de huma espingarda, ou pistola, the lock of a musquet, or pistol.
Fechos de carvina, spanner, the lock of a carbine.
Homem duro dos fechos, a constant, self-willed, and inflexible man. (Metaph.)
FECIAL, f. m. a herald at arms, who denounces war or peace.
FECUNDAÇÃO, a, adj. See .
FECUNDAR, v. a. to make fruitful, to fecundify.
Fecundar, (metaph.) See AUGMENTAR, and MULTPLICAR.
FECUNDIDADE, f. f. fruitfulness, abundance, fertility, fecundity. (Speaking of the earth, plants, animals, &c.)
Fecundidade do engenho, eloquence, fluency. (Metaph.)
FECUNDO, a, adj. fecund, fruitful, prolific, copious, abundant. (Both in the proper and figurative sense.)
FEDEGO'SA, f. f. the herb mercury.
FEDE'LHO, f. m. a stinking or pious fellow, a brat.
FEDE'R, v. n. to stink, to smell rank.
Começar a feder, to begin to stink.
Fede-lhe o bafô, his breath stinks.
Feder a alho, to stink of garlick.
Feder a catunga, to stink of jack-daws; this they say of the negroes.
Causa que fede. See FEDORENTO.
Ja fede, so they say of a thing, or person, that is troublesome or offensive.
O voffo bafô fede muito a vinho, your breath smells very strong of wine.
Fede como cão morto, he stinks like a dead dog.
Esta carne fede, this meat stinks, or has a hogoo.
FEDIDO, part. of the preterperf. of FEDER.
FEDIFRAGO, a, adj. that breaketh a league, contract, &c.
FEDOR, f. m. stink, stench, strong smell, hogoo, funk, fustiness.
Fedor do sobaco dos braços, the rank smell of the arm-hole, or arm-pit.
FEDORENTE, f. f. a stinking woman; also a nice, squeamish, affected, and finical woman.
FEDORENTO, a, adj. stinking, strong, fusty.
Bafô fedorento, a stinking strong breath.
Molher muito gorda e fedorenta, a woman noisomely fat.
Fedorento, f. m. a stinking man; also an affected, finical, over-nice man, a man of squeamish taste, that is easily disgusted.

F f

FEIÇÃO

- FEIÇAM, f. f. garb, comeliness, behaviour, carriage.
Homem de boa, ou linda feiçam, a man of good address, a polite man.
Nam ter feiçam de gente, to be very ugly, deformed, or disfigured.
Per em feiçam, (a military expression) to rank, to place a-bread, to range, to put in ranks.
FEIÇOENS, the plural of feiçam, features, the lineaments of the face.
FEIJAM, f. m. French-beans.
Feijam sapata, or bojes, kidney-beans.
Feijam frainho, a sort of small French-beans with a black spot.
Feijam, a sort of bird so called.
FEIRA, f. f. a fair, or great market.
Presente que se faz no tempo da feira principalmente aos merinos, tanning.
Fazer a sua feira. See FEIRAR.
Dia de feira, fair day.
Segunda feira, Monday.
Terça feira, Tuesday.
Terça feira do entrudo, Shrove-tuesday.
Quarta feira, Wednesday.
Quinta feira, Thursday.
Sexta feira, Friday.
Sexta feira da paxam, Good-friday.
Cidade onde se faz grande feira, a mart town.
FEIRADO, a, adj. See
FEIRAR, v. a. to buy in a fair, or great market.
FEISSIMO, a, adj. sup. very ugly.
FEITA, ex. Desfa feita, now, now at length, at this time.
FEITICEIRA, f. f. a witch, a hag, or sorceress.
Festas que as feiticeiras fazem de noite, the night revellings of witches.
Feiticeira, a sort of feast so called.
FEITICEIRO, f. m. a wizard, witch, sorcerer.
Feiticeiro, a, adj. charming, bewitching, pleasant, delightful.
FEITICERIA, f. f. sorcery, witch-craft.
FEITICO, f. m. sorcery, charm.
Dar feitiços. See ENFEITIÇAR.
Feitiços para inclinar a vontade de huma pessoa a amar outra, love-charms, or medicines causing love, a philter.
Dar feitiços neste sentido, to philter, to charm to love.
Feitiço, a, adj. artificial, done or made by art.
Feitiço, (fingido.) See FINGIDO.
Feitiço, (metaph.) attractive, charm, allurement.
FEITTO, f. m. workmanship, or make of a thing, also cost, charge, expence for the making of any thing.
Perder o tempo, e o feitiço, to lose both cost and pains.
Feitie. See FEIÇOENS.
Feitio, sort, quality, temper. See also FRAÇO.
FEITO, f. m. fact, act, deed, action.
Feito d'armas, feat of arms, exploit, achievements.
Feitos heroicos, heroic exploits.
Feito, papers, writings, belonging to a lawsuit.
Fallar a alguem a feito, to challenge one, to send him a challenge.
Causa de feito, matter of fact.
Feito, a, adj. done, made, &c.
Ho que he bem feito! well done! Latin, O jactant bene!
- Homem feito, a full-grown man.
Homem bem feito, a genteel, or accomplished man.
Dito e feito, no sooner said but done.
Sou feito assi, I am of that temper, that is my humour.
Que he feito delle? what is become of him?
Feito, used, inured, accustomed, or brought up to a thing.
Esbar com a espada feita, to lie upon one's guard. (In fencing.)
FEITOR, f. m. a bailiff of husbandry, an under steward of a manor.
Feitor de hum convento de religiosas, one that does business for a nunnery.
Feitor de huma feitoria de mercadores, a factor, a merchant's factor.
Feitores da alfandega, the commissioners of the custom-house.
FEITORIA, f. f. the employ of a feitor. See FEITOR.
Feitoria, the wages allowed to a feitor. See FEITOR.
Feitoria, factory, a house, or district inhabited by traders in a distant country; also the traders embodied in a distant country.
FEITORIZADO, a, adj. See
FEITORIZAR, v. a. to be a factor.
Feitorizar a fazenda de alguém, to take care of another's goods, to sell them for him.
FEITURA, f. f. creature, one that has been made or preferred by another.
FEIXE, f. m. a faggot, a bundle of wood, twigs, straw, reeds, &c.
Feixe de lagar, a press for oil, wine, &c.
FEIXINHO, f. m. a little bundle, diminut. of feixe.
FEL, f. m. the gall.
Amargoso como fel, as bitter as gall.
Fel da terra, the lesser centaury, an herb so called because of its bitterness.
Não ter fel, to have no gall, to be all meekness.
P. agora da pam e mel, e depois dar a pam e fel; we say, after sweet meat comes sour sauce; the Lat. say, post gaudia luctus.
Dar a beber fel, (metaph.) to afflict, to trouble.
Fazer alguém de fel e vinagre, idem.
P. Lingua doce como mel, e coração amargoso como fel, a honey tongue, a heart of gall.
FELEPECTM. See FILIPXIM.
FELICE. See FELIZ.
FELICEMENTE, adv. happily, prosperously, luckily.
FELICIDADE, f. f. happiness, felicity.
FELICITADO, a, adj. See
FELICITAR, v. a. to succeed, to prosper, to make successful. See also BEATIFICAR.
FELIPE'NDULA, f. f. the herb drop-wort.
FELIZ, adj. happy, fortunate, lucky, blessed.
Feliz memoria, an excellent and happy memory.
FELIZEMENTE, ou FELIZMENTE, adv. happily.
FELLIPO'DIO. See POLYPODIO; also a sort of drug.
FELPA, f. f. shag, such as breeches are made of, or the like.
FELPADO. See FELPUDO.
FELPECHIM. See FILIPXIM.
FELPU'DO, a, adj. hairy, shaggy.
- FE'LTRO, f. m. felt, cloth made of wool united without weaving; so called from Feltri, in the Venetian territories.
Feltras, ou sapatos de feltro, felt-shoes.
Fazer feltro, to felt, to unite without weaving.
FELUGEM. See FULIGEM.
FE'MEA, f. f. a female, a she, one of the sex which brings young. See also MACHO.
Femea, (speaking of birds) a hen.
Femea do pardal, ou pardoca, a hen-sparrow.
FEMEA'L. See FEMINIL.
FEMENTIDO. See FEDIFRAGO.
FEMINIDADE, f. f. womanish weakness, and imbecility.
FEMINIL, adj. womanish, of a woman, effeminate.
FEMININO, a, adj. womanish, of a woman, woman-like.
Genero feminino, (in grammar) feminine gender.
Planeta feminino, (in astrology) feminine plants, or such as surpass in passive qualities, i. e. moisture, and dryness.
FENDA, f. f. chap, chink, cleft, gap, crack.
FENDE'NTE, f. m. a cutting blow given downright.
FENDE'R, v. a. to cleave, slit, or split, from the Lat. fundo.
Fender, to cross, to run cross, to flow, or run between. (Speaking of a river.)
Fender as ondas, to cleave the waves.
FENDIDO, a, adj. cleft, &c. See FENDER.
Que tem a unha fendida, cloven-footed, cloven-hoofed, having the foot divided into two parts.
As duas partes da unha fendida, clees, the two parts of the foot of beasts which are cloven-footed.
FENECER, v. n. to end, or make an end, to have an end, to reach, to be extended. See also ACABAR.
Fenecer, v. a. to finish, to bring to a conclusion.
FENECIDO, a, adj. finished, ended, concluded.
FE'NIZ. See PHENIZ.
FE'NO, f. m. hay.
a casa do feno, a hay-loft, or other place where hay is laid up.
Feno da ultima sega, lateward hay.
Colheita do feno, the harvest of hay, swepage, or swepage.
Tempo da colheita do feno, hay-making time.
Segador do feno, a mow-er, or cutter of grass.
FENOMENO. See PHENOMENO.
FE'O, a, adj. deformed, ugly, ill-favoured, homely.
Fazer feo, to disfigure, to deface.
Fazer-se feo, to grow ugly.
Feo, (vergendo.) See VERGONHOSO, and INDECENTE.
Feo, (desonesto.) See DESHONESTO, and ESCANDALOSO.
Feo, (horrifico.) See HORRIFICO.
FE'RA, f. f. a wild beast. Lat.
FERACISSIMO, a, adj. superl. very fruitful.
FERAES festas, (among the Romans) fratilia, festivals dedicated to the manes.
FERDIZE'LLO, f. m. a sort of bird with a black cap in the head.
FERETRO. See TUMBA, and ATAUDE.
FEREZA, f. f. fierceness, cruelty, ferocity.

FERRA, f. f. (in the language of the church, or in the breviary,) the psalms or office appointed to be said by clergymen on a feria, or a day of the week between Sunday and Saturday, that is not a holy-day, nor appointed to venerate any saint.
Segunda feria, ou feira. See FEIRA.
FERRA, a workman's wages.
FERRADO, ex. Dias feriados, or feiros, holy-days on which all the courts of justice are shut up, days vacant, vacation, gaudy days.
FERRAS, f. f. p. See FERRADO.
Feris que se concedem aos estudantes nos universidadeis, gaudy days, or holy-days, the time when school is broke up.
Dar ferias aos cuidados, (metaph.) to cast away cares.
FERRADA, f. f. wound.
Que não tem ferida, woundless.
Ferrada, (among hunters) the place wherein partridges sometimes lurk.
Tocar a bulir na ferida a algum; we say, to touch a galled horse upon the back.
FERRADE, (a poetical word.) See FERRAZ, and CRUELDADE.
FERRADO, a, adj. wounded, struck.
Ferido de raios, blasted with lightning.
Batalha bem ferida, a bloody battle.
FERRADOR, f. m. one that wounds. See also FURIL.
FERRAMENTO, f. m. a wounding, or striking.
Ferramento do compasso, (in music.) See COMPASSO.
FERRINO, a, adj. of, or pertaining to wild beasts. See CRUEL.
FERRIR, v. a. to wound, to strike; also to reach, or to arrive at.
Ferrir a algum, to wound one.
Ferrir, (in music.) See TOCAR and TANGER.
Ferrir fogo, to make to shine, or glister.
Ferrir lume com pedreira, to strike fire.
Ferrir a vista, to strike the sight; also to dazzle.
Ferrir o ponto; we say, to hit the nail on the head, or the bird on the eye.
Ferrir a sela o cavalle, is for the saddle to hurt, or gall the horse.
Ferrir o remo as agas, (a poetical expression.) See REMAR.
FERRIMENTAÇÃO, f. f. fermentation.
FERRIMENTADO, a, adj. See FERRIMENTAR, v. a. to leaven.
Ferrimentar a massa, to leaven the dough.
Ferrimentar-se, v. r. to puff, or rise up by leavening.
FERRIMENTO, f. m. ferment, that which causes an irregular motion.
FERRMOZA, or illa fermosa. See FERMOSO.
FERMOSAMENTE, adv. beautifully.
FERMOSADO, a, adj. See FERMOSAR, v. a. to beautify.
FERMOSO, or fermoso, beautiful, handsome.
Fermoso, (sereno.) See SERENO.
Fermoso tempo, sunshiny weather.
Fermoso basbaque, a great fool. (Ironically.)
Fermosa loucura, a notable folly.
Ilha Fermosa, the most considerable island belonging to Tokin in China, in Asia. The principal town of it called Tyowan was taken by the Dutch from the Portuguese in 1635. But the same Dutch were routed from it by Coxinga, for treacherously seizing on a vessel loaded with treasure to pay his army with.

FERMOSURA, or FORMOSURA, f. f. beauty.
FERO, a, adj. See CRUEL.
Fero, enormous, exceeding in bulk the common measures.
Fera batalha, a bloody battle.
FEROCIDADE, f. f. fierceness, cruelty, ferocity. See also EFFERVESCENCIA.
FERONIA, f. f. the fictitious god lufs of the groves.
FERROS, f. m. p. great threatenings, menaces, or sharp words.
FEROZ, fierce, wild, furious.
FEROZMENTE, adv. fiercely, cruelly.
FERRA, f. f. a shovel, an iron instrument consisting of a long handle, and broad blade with raised edges, a fire-shovel.
FERRAÇA, or FERRAM, f. f. barley that is not yet eared. It serves for oxen and other beasts.
FERRADA, or ferrado da criança. See FERRADO.
Ferrada de tirar cgoa. See BALDE.
FERRADO, a, adj. shod, bound, tipped, or pointed with iron; also marked with a marking-iron.
Água ferrada, chalybeate water.
Ferrado como ferrete, (speaking of a slave and some others) branded. See also the v. FERRAR.
Ferrado, f. m. ex. Ferrado de ciba, the blood of the cuttle-fish.
Ferrado, (tarro.) See TARRO.
Ferrado, ou ferrada da criança, the thick and black humour, or excrement that first comes out from a newly born child.
FERRADOR, f. m. a farrier, a shoer of horses.
Taliga, ou couro onde o ferrador tem os seus ferras, a farrier's pouch.
FERRAFLURA, f. f. a horse-shoe.
FERRAGEM, f. f. iron-work. See also FERRADURA.
Ferragem de huma roda, iron clouts about a wheel.
FERRAGOULO, f. m. a sort of cloak used in former times with a cape.
FERRALL, ex. Uva ferral, a black grape with a hard thick skin.
FERRAMENTA, f. f. an iron-tool.
FERRAM, f. f. sting, prick; also a sharp iron point in a child's top, or in a pilgrim's staff, &c.
Ferram da mosca, &c. the sting of a fly, &c.
FERRAMSFNHO, f. m. diminut. of ferram, a little sting, sharp point, &c.
FERRAR, v. a. to bind about with iron work.
Ferrar hum cavallo, to shoe a horse.
Lugar aonde se ferram os cavallos brabos, to save, travel, or traverse.
Ferrar, ou por hum ferram, to tip or furnish with a ferram. See FERRAM.
Ferrar com ferrete, to brand, to mark with a marking-iron.
Ferrar, (a sea term) to cast anchor.
Ferrar as velas, (a sea expression) to furl the sails.
Ferrar o paño, idem.
Ferrar, to fix, to thrust in the ground, to set, or set up.
Ferrar o bordam, (a vulgar phrase) to fix, or settle one's dwelling in a place.

Ferrar a agda, to dip a burning or hot iron in water, to make chalybeate water.
Ferrar as unhas em alguma coisa, to gripe fast, to hold with the nails.
Ferrar-se com algum, ou com alguma coisa, v. r. to take hold, to cling, to keep close to, to cleave, to stick, or stick fast.
Ferrar-se com o inimigo. See CERRAR com o inimigo.
FERRARIA, f. f. a smith's shop, or the place where smiths live.
FERRERIA. See FERREREA.
FERRERADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FERRERAR, v. n. to forage, to cut ferram for the horses. See FERRAM.
FERREREA, f. m. a piece of ground sowed with barley, which is to be cut before being eared; from ferriã.
FERRERINHO, f. m. a sort of little bird so called.
FERRERO, f. m. a blacksmith.
Ferrero. See FERRERINHO.
FERRERINHO, a, adj. hard as iron. See also INFLEXIVEL, and PERTINAZ.
FERRERO, a, adj. of iron.
FERRETE, f. m. brand, or mark. See also LABEO, and INFAMIA.
Azul ferrete. See AZUL.
FERRETOADA, f. f. a puncture, a small prick, a pricking, or stinging.
Dar huma ferretoada, to sting.
FERRICOÇO. See FARRICOÇO.
FERRINHO, f. m. a small piece of iron.
Ferrinho da fivela. See FIVELA.
FERRO, f. m. iron.
Cousa de ferro, iron, made of iron, irony.
Ferro da lança, ou da seta, the head of a spear, or arrow.
Cor de ferro, dark iron grey colour.
Ferro, (ancora.) See ANCORA.
Ferro, a sword, a dagger, a spear, &c.
Pao ferro, or barbuzano, iron-wood, a kind of wood extremely hard. It grows in America.
Ferro de alçayate, a goose, a tailor's smoothing iron.
Ferro de engomar. See ENGOMAR.
Ferro do arado, the coulter, the sharp iron of the plough which cuts the earth.
Ferro velho, old horse-shoes, or the like, that is almost past using.
Ferro que se poem na ponta da cana, ou do caba de huma faca, &c. a ferrel, or ferrule, a piece of iron to be put on the end of a cane, haft of a knife, &c.
Ferro e fogo, fire and sword.
Ferro de luvã, (in a crane or engine to draw up burdens) tlings, or iron pincers.
Ferro morto, so they call the iron that is not steeled, such as that of a foil.
Ferros, ou sorte de algemas que se poem nos cavallos para ensuallos a andar a passo, a trammel.
Corpo de ferro, (metaph.) a body of iron, a strong robust body.
Idade, ou seculo de ferro, the iron-age.
Barra de ferro, an iron bar.
Ferro caldo, ou ferro quente, ordeal by fire; it was when the party accused undertook to prove his or her innocence by walking blindfold and barefoot between nine red-hot plough-shares, laid at unequal distances one from another; or by holding a red-hot iron in his or her hand.
Ferrugem do ferro. See FERRUGEM.
Que tem coraçam de ferro, hard-hearted.

Malhar em ferro frio, (metaph.) to lose time, to labour in vain.

Bater o ferro quando esta quente, to beat the iron whilst it is hot, to make hay whilst the sun shines.

Ferro, (monçam.) See MONÇAM, OCA-SLIM, and FLAGEM.

Ferro para ferrar, ou marcar, a marking-iron.

Ferro de enroscapar cabelllos, a crimping-pin, or an iron to curl the hair with.

Mina de ferro, an iron mine.

O que contrata em ferro, an ironmonger, a dealer in iron.

P. quem com ferro mata a ferro morte, he who kills by the sword, dies by the sword, taken from our Saviour's words to St. Peter.

P. carregado de ferro carregado de medo, he who is loaded with iron is loaded with fear; that is, he who loads himself with armour and weapons against danger, discovers he is much afraid.

P. quando o ferro esta accendido então ha de ser batido, you must strike whilst it is hot.

FERROPILHA, f. m. (a vulgar word) a sorry fellow, a rascal, a scrub.

FERROLHA'DO, a, adj. bolted.

O que esta ferrolhado, ou escondido em casa, one who hides himself in his own house, a bolter.

FERROLHA'R, v. a. to bolt.

FERRO'LHO, f. m. a bolt.

FERROPEA, f. f. See GRILHAM.

FERROS, the plural of ferro, irons, chains, fetters, iron-chains.

Por ou meter em ferros, to chain, to clap up in irons.

Ferros del-rey. See CADEA.

FERROTOADA. See FERRETOADA.

FERRUGEM, f. f. rust.

Cor de ferrugem, ou ferrugenta. See FER-RUGENTO.

Ferrugem de ferro, the rust, or rustiness of iron.

Ferrugem de cobre, de latam. See AZIN-HAVRE.

Ferrugem de cheminé, the reek; or soot of a chimney.

Cuberto com ferrugem de chemine, sooted.

Ferrugem das sementeiras. See ALFORRA.

Ferrugem dos olhos, dimness, dulness of sight.

Criar ferrugem em si, to rust, or grow rusty; also to be impaired by time or inactivity. (Metaph.)

Criar, ou fazer criar ferrugem, to rust, to make rusty.

Tirar a ferrugem. See DESENFERRU-JAR.

FERRUGENTO, a, adj. rusty; also im-paired by time or inactivity.

Navia que tem os pregos e a de mais ferragem ferrugenta, a ship that is iron seek.

Cor ferrugenta, dark blue, or murrey, mingled of black and red.

FERRUMPE'O, f. m. See FARRUSCA.

FERTIL, adj. fruitful, fertile, abundant.

FERTILIDA'DE, f. f. fertility, fertility, abundance, plenteousness.

FERTILIZA'DO, a, adj. See

FERTILIZA'R, v. a. to fertilize, to ferti-lize, to fecundate, to make fruitful, or productive.

FERVEDO'URO, f. m. a philter.

Fervedouro de formigas. See FORMIGUE-IO.

FERVENÇA. See FERVURA.

FERVENTE, adv. fervent, hot, boiling; also ardent, earnest, eager, fervid.

FERVE'R, v. n. to boil.

Fazer ferver huma coisa ate a metade, e não inteiramente, to parboil.

Ferver demasiadamente de sorte que o liquor corra para fora do vaso, to boil over, to run over the vessel with heat.

Fazer ferver pés de boy até que se reduzam em geleia, to boil neat's feet to a jelly.

Ferver, to work, to be in a fermentation, as wine and other liquors do.

Ferver o sangue, to be hot, eager, restless.

Ferver em pilhas, to swarm with lice.

Ferver, to be crowded, to swarm, to be filled up with confused multitudes.

Ferver, to crowd, to incumber by multi-tudes.

Ferve a guerra em todo o Portugal, all Por-tugal is in arms.

Ferver a peste em alguém reyno, is for a kingdom to be miserably vexed with the plague.

Ferver o desejo, ou estar fervendo o desejo, to desire earnestly.

Este capam ferveo demasiadamente, this ca-pon is boiled to rags.

Ferver, v. a. to boil, to seeth, to decoct in hot liquor.

Caldeira, ou vaso em que se ferve alguma coisa, a seether, a boiler, a pot.

Lugar, no qual se ferve o sal nas salinas, boilary, a place at the salt-works where the salt is boiled.

FERVESCE'NTE, adj. (among physicians) that has an effervescency, or grows very hot.

FERVIDO, a, adj. boiled, &c. See FER-VER.

Fervido, a, adj. fervid, vehement, eager, violent, precipitate, hot; also scorched, burned, parched.

Fervido, accelerated, that has a quickness of motion. See also FOGOSO.

Fervido, (among physicians) very hot, fiery.

FERVO'R, f. m. fervour, vivacity, warmth, fervour of mind, earnestness, fervency, great zeal; also heat of blood.

FERVOROSAME'NTE, adv. earnestly, ea-gerly, zealously.

FERVORO'SO, a, adj. fervorous, earnest, eager, zealous.

FERVURA, f. f. seething, or bubbling up.

Fervura pequena, walm, a little boil over the fire.

Depois de tres, ou quatro fervuras as ervas estam cozidas, three or four walm is enough to boil herbs.

Levantar fervura, to boil, or bubble up, to raise in bubbles, to wamble.

Dar huma fervura, to make boil, bubble up, or rising in bubbles once.

Dar duas fervuras, to make bubble up, or raise in bubbles twice.

Quebrar a fervura, or deitar agoa na fer-vura, (metaph.) to curb, to restrain, to repress.

FESCENINO, a, adj. wanton, smutty. From Fescenna, a town in Italy near the Tiber, now called Galese. Hard.

FE'STA, f. f. a feast, a festival, an enter-tainment, merry-making.

Festa, ou dia de festa, a holy-day, a festival day.

Festas mudaveis, moveable holy-days.

Festas immudaveis, set holy-days.

Guardar o dia de festa, to keep the holy-day.

A festa do natal, Christmas-day.

Festa, caresses, demonstration of kindness.

Fazer festa a alguém, to make one welcome, to use one kindly; also to cringe, to fawn, to court by frikking before one, as a dog.

Fazer festa a hum menino, &c. to cocker, to cade, to fondle, to caress, or to fondle a child, &c.

Menino ou coisa a que se faz muita festa, a fondling.

Fazer festa correndo a mam per suma, to stroke.

Festa de bodas, a wedding-feast.

Vestido de festa, Sunday's cloaths.

Cuida que sem elle não se pode fazer esta festa, he makes himself necessary.

Festas publicas, public rejoicing and enter-tainment, as fire-works, horse-races, &c.

Festa dos touros. See TOURO.

De festa, ou concernente a festa, festival, so-lemn.

Fazer huma festa. See FESTEJAR.

Dar as boas festas a alguém, to wish a happy Christmas, or Easter to one, to wish one the compliments of the season.

Nem sempre há festa, every day is not Sun-day.

P. quem te faz festa, não soendo fazer, ou te quer enganar, ou te há mistar, he that makes more of you than he is wont to do, either designs to cheat you, or stands in need of you.

P. sem mim não se faz esta festa, they can-not make shift without me.

FESTABOLE, so they anciently called the city of Porto in Portugal.

FESTA'M, f. m. flowers, or fruit-work graven in chapiters of pillars, &c. a sta-ton.

FESTEIRO, f. m. he who prepares and takes care of a festival.

FESTEJA'DO, a, adj. See

FESTEJAR, v. a. ex. Festejar alguém, to welcome one, to rejoice, or give any en-tertainment for his coming, or for some other reason.

Festejar, (applaudir.) See APPLAUDIR.

Festejar alguma coisa, to rejoice at a thing, to give an entertainment on account of it, to receive it with joy.

Festejar com sigs, to laugh in one's sleeve.

Festejar, ou fazer huma festa. See CELE-BRAR.

Festejar, to wag the tail, to fawn upon, to cringe, as a dog does.

Festejar por lisonja e servilmente, to fawn upon, to court by frikking before one, as a dog.

O que festeja desta sorte, a fawner.

FESTEJO, f. m. an entertainment, a kind reception.

Festejo lisonjeiro, e servil, cringe, a fawning cringe.

FESTIM. See BANQUETE.

FESTIVAL, adj. festival. See also ALE-GRE.

FESTIVALME'NTE, adv. handsomely, with a good grace, or kind reception.

FESTIVO, a, adj. festival, solemn, belong-ing to an entertainment.

FE'STO, f. m. ex. manteo de festo, a sort of collar formerly used.

FETA'L, f. m. a fern-field.

FETAM. See FETO.

FETIDO, a, adj. stinking, rank.

FETO, or FETAM, f. m. fern, a plant.

Coverts de feto, ferny.

Cousa em que se tem gravado folhas de feto,
a thing that is indented about like fern,
notched, scalloped.

Feto, the foetus, or young in the womb,
any animal in embryo.

FEVERA. See FEVERA.

FEUDATARIO, f. m. a feudatory, one who holds not in chief.

FEUDALARIO, a, adj. feudal.

Terra, villa, &c. feudataria á coroa, a fief held directly and without mesne of the crown.

FEUDO, f. m. fee, or fief, feudal tenure, lands and tenements which the vassal holds of his lord by fealty and homage, or pays rent.

Fiefo dominante, a fief, or manor belonging to the lord paramount; a fief held in chief, and of which many others hold.

Fiefo fervente, a mesne, or inferior fief, that holds of another.

Fiefo nobre, a noble fief or manor.

Fiefo rural, a fief held in socage, a fief abridged, restrained, and not noble.

FEVERA, f. f. a small sprout, or string like hair hanging at the roots of herbs; or at inwards, or entrails. See also FI-
BRÁ.

Homem de fervera, or valente, a stout and brave man.

Fezera, ou carne de fervera, the pulp, the fleshy part or brawn of any meat; a piece of flesh without bone and fat.

FEVEREIRO, f. m. February, the name of the second month in the year.

FEZ, the sediment of liquors, dregs, lee;
also the dross of metal.

Fez, the baser sort, the mob, the scum.
(Metaph.)

As fezes do povo, the dregs of the people, the riff-raff of the people, the mob.

Que tem fezes, dreggish, or dreggy.

Abundancia de fezes, dreggishness, fulness of dregs or lees.

Fezes de ouro, litharge of gold.

FEYO. See FEO.

FEYTO, a, adj. See FEITO, a.

FIADO, f. m. thread.

Fiado posto no tear, woof, weft.

Fiado, a, adj. trusting in, or relying upon.

Fiado no voffo favor, trusting in, or relying upon your favour.

Dar, ou vender fiado, to trust, to sell upon trust, to give credit.

Comprar fiado, to buy, to take upon trust, to tick, to go upon tick.

Fiado, spun. See the v. FIAR.

FIADOR, f. m. surety, one that is bound for another, a bail.

Dar fiador, to give, or put in bail.

Ficar por fiador, ou ser fiador de alguém, to be bail for one, to bail one.

Sahir da cadeia dando fiador, to be out of prison upon bail, to be bailed.

Soltar alguém com condiçã que dê fiador, to bail, to admit to bail.

Que se de sahir da prisão dando fiador, bailable, that may be set at liberty by bail or sureties.

Fiador com outro na mesma materia, he that is bound with another, a joint security.

Fiador, (in falconry) cleance, a fine small line fastened to a hawk's leath when she is first lured.

FIAMBRE, f. m. cold meat.

FIANÇA, f. f. caution, security for a bail-
ing, or giving security.

Dar fiança, to give caution.

Fiança. (Among farriers.) See ESTERCO.

It is derived in this sense from the French fiente, dung.

FIANDEIRA, f. f. a spinster.

FIAR, v. a. to spin.

A arte ou offiço de fiar, spinstry.

Fiar ouro, ou prata, to wire-draw gold or silver.

O que fia ouro, ou prata, a wire-drawer.

Instrumento com o qual se fia o ouro, a wire-drawing iron.

Fiar delgado. See DELGADO.

Fiar alguma coisa de alguém, to trust one with a thing.

Fiar, ou vender fiado. See FIADO.

P. não fies, nem profies, nem arrendes, vivirás entre as gentes, do not trust, nor contend, nor hue, and you will live among men; that is, you will live peaceably.

Fiar, ou ficar por fiador. See FIADOR.

FIAR, v. n. ex. Fiar muito de si, to be a presumptuous and self-conceted man, to carry it high.

FIAR-se, v. r. to trust to, to rely or depend upon.

FIBRA, f. f. (in anatomy) a fibre, an animal thread.

Fibras de coração, heart-strings.

Fibra pequena, a fibril, a small fibre.

Composto de fibras, ou que tem fibras, fibrous.

FIEULA. (In poetry.) See FIELLA.

FICADA, f. f. an abiding, or tarrying behind, a remaining.

FICADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FICAR, v. n. to remain, or be left.

Não me fica mais que dizer, I have nothing else to say.

Se ainda fica alguma esperança, if there be yet any hope left.

Não ficou nada, there is nothing left.

Isto fica á minha disposição, ou arbitrio, that is left to me, it is left to my discretion.

Ficou algum dinheiro, there remains some money, there is some money left.

As obras que nos ficaram de Cícero, the works of Cicero now extant.

Elle ficou com aquelle nome, he was afterwards called by that name.

Ficar, to stay, remain, or continue, to abide,
to live.

Fico por isto, I'll answer for it.

Fico nisso, I agree to it, I agree with you.

Nós ficamos de partir o dia seguinte, we agreed to set out the next day.

Ficou conmigo de, &c. he agreed with me to,
&c.

Ficar bem, to become.

Ficavos muito bem este vestido, that suit becomes you well.

Isto nam fica bem a huma pessoa de vossa pro-fissão, this does not become a man of your profession.

Não vos fica bem o fallar assim, it does not become you to speak so.

Ficar por baixo. See BAXO.

Ficar por cima. See CIMA.

Nam ficará por mim o, &c. I will do the best I can for, &c.

Nam ficou por mim o, &c. for my own part I did the best I could for, &c.

Ficou por nós o campo, we got the day, or carried the day; we kept the field after the fight.

Elle ficou com o melhor, he had the best of
it.

Fica em pé a ley, the law is still in force.

Ficar com alguma coisa, to have, or keep a thing.

Ficar, to resolve, or purpose, to come to a resolution.

Ficar por herdeiro, to heir. See HER-
DAR.

Ficar senbor de si, or ficar com desembaraço, to be master of one's self, to be one's own man.

Ficar sem poder andar, nem para traz nem para diante, to be at a stand, not to know what to say.

Ficar de fora, to be left out.

Ficar, to attend, to await, to be in store for,
to remain.

Fique para os nossos vindouros esse cuidado, let our posterity have that care hereafter.

Eu nam sei se he verdade, ou nam, isso si se per conta de quem mo disse, I know not whether it be true or no, it remains upon those that I have it from.

Ficar de saúde, to be in health.

Fiar, to rest upon, to agree to, to acquiesce, stand to.

Ficar devendo, to remain in one's debt, to owe still.

Ficarei por tudo o que melhor vos parecer, I shall stand to whatsoever you shall think fitting.

Ficar neutral, to stand neuter.

Ficar atrás, to remain, to stay behind.

Ficar por alguém, or ficar fiador por alguém, to bail one, to be bail for him.

Quereis vós ficar nella dividido? will you answer the debt?

E assim, em que ficamos? well, what do you say? what resolution shall we take?

Ficamos, em que havíamos de, &c. we agreed,
or we took the resolution of, &c.

Ficar alguma coisa no tinteiro, is for a thing, to be omitted, or left out.

Fique isto como cousa certa, let no question be made of it.

P. quem adiante não olha, atrás fica, who looks not before, finds himself behind.

Ficar-se, v. r. to keep to himself, to purloin.

Ficar-se com a fazenda de alguém, to keep,
or hold one's estate from him.

A deos fique-se embora, adieu, farewell, good by to you.

FICCAM, f. f. a fiction, a tale, invention.

FICHU, f. m. (a French word) a neck-handkerchief, we call it neckatee.

FICTICIO, a, adj. fictitious, fictitious, feigned, imaginary.

FIDALGA, f. f. a gentlewoman, a lady that is a fidalgo's wife. See FIDALGO.

FIDALGAMENTE, adv. genteelly, gentleman-like.

FIDALGO, f. m. a gentleman, one nobly descended. From the Portuguese word filho, a son, and the Spanish algo, something; that is the son of something, or a son to whom his father had something to leave, viz. an honour and estate; thence for shortness called fidalgo.

Fidalgo de solar, a gentleman of an ancient house; that is, who has an ancient mansion-house and estate in his country, which the family has long enjoyed.

Foro de fidalgo, a privilege, or especial grant given by the king to one for his good services, or to him that has bought his gentility.

Fidalgo de vingar quinhentos solidos. See
FINGAR.

Fidalgote, a gentleman of the lower degree.

FIDALGUTÁ, f. f. gentry, gentility; also the noblesse, the nobility and gentry.

Fidalguia,

Fidalgua, towardliness, a gentle disposition.

FIDELIGNO, a, adj. credible, that deserves to be credited.

FIDEICOMMISSO, s. m. a scoffment of trust, when a thing by will is put into one's hand upon his honesty, to dispose of to some certain use, a trust upon the only credit of honesty.

Fiar o fideicommissu de algum, to scoff in trust.

Aquella de quem se tem fiado o fideicommissu, a scoffer in trust.

O que fia o fideicommissu de algum, a scoffer in trust.

FIDELIDADE, s. f. fidelity, honesty, faithful adherence.

Ordem da Fidelidade, a military order instituted by Frederic III. king of Denmark, A. C. 1570.

Davido da sua fidelidade, I question his honesty.

Com fidelidade, faithfully, honestly, loyally.

FIDEIOS, s. m. p. long things made of fine flour, like fiddle-strings, and rolled up like them, used in soups; we call them by the Italian name, vermicelli; because in broth they look like worms.

Fideos is from the Lat. fides, a fiddle-string, because they are like them.

FIDO, a, adj. See FIEL.

FIDUCIAL. See LINHIA.

FIEIRA, s. f. a wire-drawing iron. See also FILEIRA.

FIEL, adv. faithful. See also CERTO.

Fiel, s. m. ex. Fiel da balança. See BALANÇA.

Fiel, a Christian.

Fiel da camara de Barcellos, so they call in the town of Barcellos an officer that sets the price upon the bread and wine.

Fiel, (in agriculture) a new vine-sprig.

FIEIS judeos, a heap of stones in a desert place wherein some body has been killed.

FIELME'NTE, adv. faithfully.

Hum livro fielmente traduzido, a book faithfully translated.

FIGA, s. f. a figo, the hand with the fingers clinched, and the thumb sticking out between the fore and middle finger; also a little hand made of jet, which in Portugal and Spain they hang about children to keep them from evil eyes; a superstitious custom; the hand is made with the fingers clinched, &c. See also REDO-MOINHO.

Dar huma figa, to fig, to give the figa, to put one's hand into that form which is done in contempt of another, to flirt.

P. mijar claro, dar huma figa ao medico; we say, tell the truth and shame the devil.

Todas as grandezas da corte nam valem huma figa em comparacão da vida privada, all court grandeurs are nothing when compared to a private life.

FIGADAL, adj. See INTIMO.

Figadal, (Among countrymen.) See UFANO, and AFIDALGADO.

FIGADALME'NTE, adv. See ENTRANHAMELME'NTE.

FIGADEIRA, s. f. a sort of disease in the liver of hens.

FIGADINHO, s. m. a little liver.

FIGADO, s. m. the liver.

Que tem algum mal no figado, diseased in the liver.

Ter figadas, (metaph.) to have courage or resolution.

FIGO, s. m. a fig.

Os graosinhos, que si acham no figo, the grain or stones in figs.

Figo verde, a green fig not yet ripe.

Figos lampos, a sort of figs that ripen before others, the first figs that come in May green figs.

Figo passado, a kind of dry fig, a lenten fig.

Figo vendimo, a sort of figs that grow ripe in the vintage.

Figo regado, a fig that gapes or is opened in fissures.

Figo borjete. See BORJACOTES.

Certa casta de figo grande, desmanchada, a great unfavoury fig. Lat. marisca.

Figo da India, &c. See FIGUEIRA da India, &c.

Passa de figo. See FIGO passada.

Figo, (among farriers) the fig, a sort of disease in horses.

FIGUEIRA, s. f. the fig-tree, a tree that bears figs.

Figueira d'agua, brava, beforeira, ou de tocar, a wild fig-tree; also the tycamore-tree.

Figueira do inferno, the plant palmira Christi, growing in Egypt.

Figueira da India, a fig-tree that grows in India.

FIGUEIRA'L, s. m. a place where fig-trees grow, an orchard of fig-trees.

FIGUINHO, a little fig.

FIGURA, s. f. figure, the form of any thing as terminated by the outline.

Mudar a figura a alguma coisa, to transshape, to transform a thing, to bring it into another shape.

Figura, a figure, a person, appearance graceful or inelegant.

Galante figura, (ironically) an odd figure.

Figura, a figure, a distinguished appearance, eminence, remarkable character.

Fazer alguma figura no mundo, to make some figure in the world.

Figura, countenance, looks, face.

Figura, (in theology) type, representative, figure.

Figura, (in rhetoric) figure, any mode of speaking, in which words are detorted from their literal and primitive sense.

Figura, (at cards) court-card.

Figura, (in grammar) a figure, any deviation from the rules of analogy or syntax.

Figura, (in astrology) a figure, the diagram of the aspects of the astrological houses.

Levantar a figura, to set or cast a figure.

Os que levantam figuras, figure slingers, calters of naivities.

Figura do syllogismo, the figure of a syllogism.

Figura, a picture.

Armaçam inteira de pannes om figuras, a suit of hangings with figures.

Figura, an actor, a stage-player; also a person, a man or woman represented in a fictitious dialogue, or in a play; a character.

Fazer figura em papel, to personate, to represent by fictitious or assumed character.

Figura, (in music) a note.

FIGURACAO, s. f. (in astronomy) an observation made in order to know the rising of any star, or planet, as well as the time of their coming to the meridian.

FIGURADAME'NTE, adv. figuratively, in a figurative sense.

FIGURADO, s. m. the thing represented by a typical, or figurative resemblance.

Figurado, a, adj. figurative, full of figures, full of rhetorical exornations, full of changes from the original sense, or primitive meaning, not literal. See also the v. FIGURAR.

FIGURAL, adv. ex. Canto figural, music set in all its parts.

FIGURAR, v. a. to figure, to represent by a typical or figurative resemblance; also to figure, to image in the mind.

figurar-se, v. r. - See ALIGURAR-SE.

FIGURATIVAMENTE, adv. typically, in a typical manner, figuratively.

FIGURATIVO, s. m. type, that by which something future is prefigured.

FIGURILHA, s. f. a ridiculous ugly person, an odd figure.

FILE, (a military word) file, a line of soldiers ranged one behind another.

Cabo de fila, ou seja o primeiro dos soldados postos nella ordem, a file-leader, the head man of a file.

Cerro fila, the last man of a file, the bringer up.

Caõ de fila. See CIM.

FILACAO, s. f. any thick thread that is not even.

FILACTERIA, s. f. phylactery, a bandage on which was inscribed some memorable sentence.

FILAGRANA. See FILIGRANA.

FILANDRAS, s. f. p. filanders, a sort of small worms which birds, especially those of prey, breed in their bowels, so called from filum, thread, because they are as small as threads.

FILAR, v. a. ex. Filar o cão a algum, to let a dog at one.

Filar, v. n. to catch, to lay hold. (Speaking of a dog.)

FILARETE. See FILERETE.

FILAUCA, s. f. philauty, self-love.

FILERA, s. f. a row, a rank, a number of things ranged in a line.

Fileira de soldados, a rank or line of soldiers placed a-breadth.

Per-se em fileiras paraque el rey, ou entra fizesse de qualade seje por entre elles, to make a lane.

O espaço entre esta sorte de fileiras, a lane, a passage between men standing on each side.

Per em fileiras, to rank, to piece a-breadth. (Speaking of soldiers.)

Per em fileiras, to set in a row.

FILELE, s. m. a sort of thin linen made in Barbary.

FILERETE, a sort of plume which decorates a tuffe, or ornament round the cloth.

FILETE, s. m. (among painters) the inner part of the frame of a picture, that part which is the nearest to it.

Filete, (in architecture) a fillet, a little member which appears in the columns and mouldings, and is carved and filed.

FILEZA, s. f. a daughter.

FILHACAO, s. f. a religious bond depending on another, from which it first came.

FILHADA'LGO. See FIDALGO.

FILHADO, p. of the preterit. tense of filhar. See FILHAR.

FILHAME'NTO, s. m. so they call the honour of being made a filho, and having their own names set down in a book.

Book for that purpose, which they call livro dos filamentos.
FILHAR alguem, v. a. to make one a fidalg, to sit down his name in a book kept for that purpose.
FILHAR, (in ancient writings.) See TOMAR.
Cam de filhar. See CAIM de filu.
FILHINHA, f. l. a little daughter.
FILHINHO, a little, or young son.
FILHO, f. m. a son.
Filho primogenito, the first-begotten son.
Filho natural, a bastard son.
Filho espiritual, a spiritual son.
Filho legítimo, a son lawfully begotten, a legitimate son.
Filho de puta, a son of a whore.
Tratei como se fosse filho da casa, I used him as my own son.
São filhos, eu que nam tem filhos, childless, without children.
FILHO, a native.
Filho de Lisboa, a native of Lisbon.
Os filhos de Portugal, the Portuguese natives, the natives of Portugal.
Que tem hum filho, childless, furnished with a child.
Filho da ravena da arvore, a young sprout, or shoot of a tree.
Filhos da natureza, the young of all beasts, the young of any thing, a chick, or any other young thing, a son, &c.
Filho da India, so they call in India those that have a share in their fortune there.
FILHA, f. a thin cake made of fine flour, &c. a fatten, pancake. See also CAI, TALHADO, and EMPLASTO.
FILHO, f. m. a native.
Filho de Londres, a native of London.
Almoça que se dá a os filhos de Londres, cockney, a nick-name for Londoners.
FILHAMENTO, f. f. the descent from fathers or sons. See also FILHAMENTO.
Relação de filiação, relation, the relation of a son to a father.
FILIAL, adj. filial.
Filial, child-like.
Amar filial, filial love, or the love of a son towards his parents.
FILIGRANA, f. f. filigree, filigree, or silver-work, which is curious fine work in silver, or gold. It is as fine as threads, and therefore has its name from filum, thread.
Filigranas, quills, subtilties, useful distinctions. See AGUDEZAS.
FILIPENDULA. See FILIPENDULA.
FILIPIN, wool woven with fine flowers.
FILISTINO, f. f. (a vulgar word) a trick or prank.
Fazer filistias, to play tricks.
FILMELA. See PHILMELA.
FILONERAS. See FILONERAS.
FILOSOFO. See PHILOSOPHO.
FILOSOFO, &c. See PHILOSOPHO, &c.
FILSOMIA. See PHYSIONOMIA.
FILTRAR, f. l. a filtering, or straining of liquor among the chemists.
FILTRAR, a, adj. See
FILTRAR, v. a. to strain liquor, as chemists do.
Passo que serve para filtrar, a filter.
FIM, f. m. end, the extremity of any thing materially extended; also end, aim, or design.
O fim do mundo, the end of the world.
Ir até o fim do mundo, to go to the furthest end of the world.

O fim de huma rua, the further end of a street.
Por fim a alguma coisa, to put an end to a thing, to make an end of it.
Ter fim, to end.
Ter mais fim, to come to a shameful end.
Quando teram fim os vossos trabalhos? when will our troubles end?
Sem fim, eu que nam tem fim, endless, everlasting.
Para sempre sem fim, everlastingly, world without end, for ever. This expression is only used in common-prayers.
Quem sabe que fim terá tudo isto? who knows what will be the end of all this?
O verão está quasi no fim, the summer is almost at an end.
A que fim? to what end? to what purpose?
FIM, (intention.) See INTENÇÃO, and INTENTO.
Eu fiz isto a bom fim, ou com bom fim, I did it with a good intention.
Para o fim da semana, towards the end of the week.
Em fim, eu per fim, at last, in fine. See FILIALMENTE.
Elle não considera o fim das cousas, he cares not when end goes forward.
FIM, (morte.) See MORTE.
FIM, (limite.) See LIMITE.
P. o fim corre a obra, all is well that ends well.
FIMBRADO, a, adj. (in heraldry) fimbriated, that is, bordered round with a different colour.
FIMBRIA, f. f. fringe, ornamental appendages added to draps or furniture.
Lar.
Fimbria, a corrupted word used instead of ephimera. See EPHIMERA.
FINADO, a dead body.
Dia dos Finados, All Soul's day.
FINADO, p. of the preterit. tense of FINAR-SE.
FINAL, adj. final.
Causa final, final cause.
Sentenciar a final, to determine a law-suit, to make an end of it.
O dia final, the day of judgment, doom-day.
FINALIZADO. See ACABADO.
FINALIZAR. See ACABAR.
FINALMENTE, adv. finally, in fine, ultimately, lastly.
FINAMENTE, adv. affectionately, fondly, tenderly.
FINAMENTO, f. m. See MORTE.
FINANÇAS. See FAZENDA real, it is only used speaking of the king of France.
FINAR-SE, v. r. to consume or pine away, to wear or waste away, to decay.
Finar-se de riso, to die with laughing.
FINCADO, a, adj. fixed, or stuck in, driven in, thrust in as a stake in the ground, or the like. See also the v. FINCAR.
FINCAPE, f. m. a thing to rest or stand fast against; also the action of sitting the foot fast against any thing.
Fazer fincape, to set the foot fast against any thing; also to depend, to rely on, to trust to, or confide in. (Metaph.)
FINCAR, v. a. to thrust in, to stick fast in, to drive in.
Fincar os dados, to cog the dice, to secure it so as to direct its fall.
FINCADO, a, adj. See
FINCAR. See ACABAR.

FINDO, a, adj. See ACABADO.
FINEZA, f. f. curiousness, fineness, thinness, neatness, (the contrary of coarseness and thickness.)
Fineza, favour, kindness, courtesy; also a gallantry done for the sake of a lady, a refined address to women; also any mark or expression of love and friendship; an act of friendly kindness.
Render finezas, to play the gallant, to court, to flatter, to endeavour to please, to pick thanks.
Fazer huma fineza a algum, to oblige one, to do him a kindness.
Com fineza, friendly, obligingly, respectfully, courteously.
Com muita fineza, most lovingly, most kindly, very civilly.
Fineza, an obligation, or favour by which one is bound to gratitude.
Dever huma fineza, to be under an obligation.
Devo-vos grandes finezas, you have laid great obligations upon me, I am very much obliged, beholden, or bound to you.
Que fineza devo eu a quem me faz presente do que elle mesmo nam faz caso? where is the obligation of my man's making me a present of what he does not care for himself?
Fineza de affecto, excess of love, fondness.
Finezas, fair or kind words, compliments.
Fineza, (sutileza.) See SUTILEZA, and DESTREZA.
Fineza das cores, the liveliness or brightness of colours.
Feito com fineza, curiously wrought.
FINGIDAMENTE, adv. counterfeitedly, feignedly, with a pretence only, dissimblingly.
FINGIDO, a, adj. feigned, counterfeited; also newly invented. See the v. FINGIR.
Sono fingido, dogs-sleep, pretended sleep. Juvenal speaking of a drowsy husband who visited an estate by snoring, says;
Positus est ad calicem vigilanti stertere naso.
Assalto fingido, a feint, a mock assault.
FINGIMENTO, f. m. a counterfeiting, a dissimbling, a colour, pretence or disguise.
FINGIR, v. a. to feign, to invent.
Fingir, v. r. to feign, to image from the invention; also to make a shew of, to do upon some false pretence, to make as if, to pretend.
O que finge, a feigner.
Fingirei que sou seu irman, I'll pretend to be his brother.
Fingir-se, v. r. See FINGIR, v. n.
Fingir-se ignorante, to pretend ignorance.
FINGTIMO. See CONFINANTE.
FINITO, a, adj. finite, limited, bounded, terminated. (In mathematics.)
FINO, a, adj. fine, thin, not coarse.
Penna fino, fine cloth.
Ouro fino, fine, or right gold.
Diamante fino, a right diamond.
A' fina força, upon pure force, as when a man is forced to do what he can no way avoid.
Mostrarse fino com algum, to oblige one, to do him a kindness.
Fino velhaco, a crafty knave.
Fino, fine, acute, sharp, quick.
Fino, sly, cunning, sharp, subtle.

Firo, curious, nice.

Fino, f. m. See CORNO.

FINTA, f. f. a tax, an impost, a tribute imposed, an excise, a tallage.

Finta, ou direito de cabeça. See CABEÇA.

Finta, club, the shot or dividend of a reckoning, a contribution to a common expence in settled proportions.

Finta que se lança sobre as terras, land-tax.

Lançar finta. See FINTAR.

FINTA'DO, a, adj. See

FINTA'R, v. a. to impose, to lay or set a tax, to tax, to load with imposts.

A açcam de fintar, taxation, the act of imposing taxes.

O que finta, ou lança finta, a taxer, he who taxes.

Que se pode fintar, taxable, that may be taxed.

Fintar, v. n. is for the mass of bread to be fully leavened or fermented.

Fintar-se, v. r. to club, to contribute to a common expence in settled proportions.

F'FO, f. m. thread.

Fio orrido, que faz o comprimento do panno, the warp, or thread in a thing woven that crosses the woof.

Fio tecido, que faz a largura do panno, the thread in weaving called the woof.

Fio de carreto, pack-thread; also caburn, or rope-yarn.

Fio a fio, thread by thread.

Usado, cu que mostra a fio, thread-bare.

Fio da espada, the edge of a sword.

Fio de huma navalha de barbear canivete, &c. the thread, rough edge, or wire-edge of a razor, pen-knife, &c.

Fio de perolas, a rope or string of pearls, a row of pearls.

Fio de prata, silver-wire.

Fio de ouro, gold-wire.

Fio de arame, wire, or copper-wire.

Tornar ao fio, ou pegar no fio do discurso, to resume the thread or file of one's discourse.

Correr em fio, to trickle, to rill in a slender stream.

Fins das raizes das ervas, small sprouts or strings like hairs hanging at the roots of herbs.

Fios que se levantam no meyo das flores, chives, or chievers, the threads or filaments rising in flowers, with seeds at the end.

Remates destes fios. See REMATE.

Fios de ponno usado, para se poreem nas feridas, linen scraped into threads, or soft woolly substance, to lay on sores, lint.

Fio da gente, a number of people walking one after another.

Hir pelo fio da gente, (metaph.) to go after the multitude, to follow the people, to do as others do.

Caminhar a fio, to go one after another.

Fio do lombo, the fleshy part of the end of the back-bone or spine; also the ridge, or the rough top of any thing resembling the vertebrae of the back.

Fio do espinhaço, the fleshy part that covers the back-bone.

Passar a fio de espada, to kill with the sword.

Estar por hum fio, to be in a dying condition; also to be almost finished.

Escapar por hum fio, to escape narrowly, to be very near, to be within a hair's breadth.

Fio de sapateiros que serve para cizer sapatos, shoe-maker's thread.

A fio. See SEGUIDAMENTE.

Cortar o fio a alguem, (metaph.) to clip one's wings, to diminish his power or credit, to stop his proceedings.

Hum fio de azcote, ou vinagre, a stream, or some few drops of oil, or vinegar.

Dar os fios, (metaph.) to be exhausted.

FIRMA, f. f. a man's hand to a writing.

Fazer firma, to rest, to lean, to be supported.

FIRMA'DO, a, adj. See FIRMAR.

Cruz firmada, (in heraldry) so they call a cross in an escutcheon, whereof the four extremities reaches or comes to the circumference of it.

FIRMAMENTO, f. m. firmament, the sky, the heavens; also support, prop, stay, (in a figurative sense.)

FIRMA'R, v. a. to make steady, firm, or stable; also to settle, to establish invariably.

Firmar, to sign, to put one's hand to a writing.

Firmar com selo, to seal.

Firmar huma escapela na parede com chumbo, ou outra coisa para que não abale, to cramp an iron, or tenter-hook into a wall, to fasten it with lead, &c.

FIRME, a, adj. firm, steady, unmoveable, unshaken, not to be shaken; also unmoveable, unmoved, unshaken, steady, firm, constant, resolute.

Memoria firme, ou feliz. See FELIZ.

Terra firme, a continent, land not disjoined by the sea from other lands.

Canto firme. See CANTO chad.

FIRMAMENTE, adv. firmly, steadily, stoutly, steadfastly.

FIRMEZA, f. f. firmness, certainty, soundness.

Firmeza, firmness, durability.

Firmeza, firmness, stability, hardness, compactness, solidity.

Firmeza do animo, firmness, steadiness, constancy, resolution.

Para mayor firmeza da vossa memoria, that you may call it more easily to remembrance.

Firmeza, firmness, strength.

Firmeza, so they call the triangle set over the head of the image of God the Father, the first person of the adorable Trinity.

Com firmeza. See FIRMAMENTE.

FISCA'L, adj. of, or belonging to the FISCO, which see.

Procurador fiscal, the king's solicitor-general, the solicitor of the exchequer.

Fiscal, f. m. the king's solicitor, or one that acts like the attorney-general.

Fiscal, (metaph.) a censurer, one who blames.

FISCALIZADO, a, adj. See

FISCALIZAR, v. n. to debate matters belonging to the fisco.

Fiscalizar, v. a. See ACCUSAR.

FISCO, f. m. the exchequer, the fiscal; but more properly the money that proceeds from pecuniary penalties, or mulcts paid to the king by mulcted persons.

Fisco, the king's solicitor, an officer of the exchequer.

FISGA, f. f. a trout-spear, or eel-spear, a sort of lance generally with prongs to kill fish, a fizing, a kind of dart or harpoon, with which seamen strike fish.

FISGA'DO, a, adj. See FISGAR.

FISGADO'R, f. m. a jesting scoffing fellow.

FISGA'R, v. a. to strike with a FISGA, which see; also to play upon a man, to jeer, to scoff.

FISICA. See PHYSICA.

FISIONOMIA. See PHYSIONOMIA.

FISTICO, f. m. pistachio, a sort of fruit known to the ancients; the Arabs call them pestuch and sestuch, and we sometimes fistich-nuts.

FISTULA, f. f. a pipe, or flute made of reed or other stuff, a flageolet.

Fistula, a fistula, a sinuous ulcer called within.

Fistula Lagrimal, fistula lachrymalis, a disorder of the canals leading from the eye to the nose.

FISTULA'DO, a, adj. that has one or several fistulas.

FITA, a ribbon.

O que faz fitas, a ribbon-weaver.

Fita para atar os cabelos, hair-lace, or hair-fillet, to tie up hair with.

Fita gradual, a silk ribbon of thirty-two or forty spans in length, which is graduated, and serves for several uses in mathematics.

Fita, a bandage, a ligature.

FITA'R, v. a. to fix, to direct without variation.

Fitar, or dar no fito. See FITO.

FITINHA, f. m. a little fillet, band or ribbon.

Fitinha que se põem por fical nas livros, a tassel for a book.

FITO, a, adj. fixed, or fixt, directed without variation, unmoveable.

Porque estais, com os olhos fixos nas muralhas? why are your eyes fixed on the walls?

Fito, f. m. a sort of play, also the mark used in the same play.

Dar no fito, to hit the mark.

Tirar a dous fitos; we say, to have two strings to a bow.

Per a sua no fito, to compass one's ends.

FIVE'LA, f. f. a buckle.

Ferrinho, ou fusilam da fivela, the tongue of a buckle.

Arco da fivela, the ring of a buckle.

Charneira da fivela, chape, the point by which a buckle is held to the back-leap.

Prender com huma fivela, to buckle.

FIVELA'DO, a, adj. buckled.

FIVELE'TA, ou FIVILE'TA, ex. a fivela, properly, in a proper order, as it ought to be.

FIVE'HAM, or FIVELLAM, f. m. a large buckle.

FIVILE'TA. See FIVELE'TA.

FIU'SA, f. f. (an antiquated word.) See CONFIANÇA, and FE.

FIXA de machafemea, tenon, the square end of a piece of timber diminished by one-third part of its thickness, fixed into the mortise.

FIXAÇAM, f. f. the act of setting, or putting up a bill or paper, in order to notify any thing to the public; also fixator, want of volatility, destruction of volatility. (In chemistry.)

FIXADO, a, adj. See FIXAR.

FIXA'NTE, (in fortification) ex. Liã de defenza fixante, fixed line of defence, a line drawn along the face of the bastion, and terminated in the courtine.

FIXAME'NTE, adv. attentively, carefully, fixedly, earnestly, diligently, heedfully.

FIXA'S

FIXAR, v. a. to fix, to direct without variation.
Fixar os olhos, to fix one's eye upon, to look attentively upon, to gaze, to stare at, or upon, to look steadfastly.
Fixar hum edital, ou papel, to set up, or post up a bill, or paper, in order to notify any thing to the public.
Fixar, to fix, to deprive of volatility. (In chemistry.)
Fixar o pensamento em alguma coisa, ou fixar alguma coisa no pensamento, to take a thing into consideration, to consider it attentively.
Aqui elle fixou os seus passos, here he stepped, or here the prints of his steps appear.
FIXO, a, adj. fixed, steady, settled, unmoveable.
Fixo, (in chemistry) fixed.
Estrellas fixas, (in astronomy) fixed stars, or such as do not, like the planets, change their positions, or distances in respect of one another.
Signos fixos, (in astronomy) the four fixed signs, or stars, which are Taurus, Leo, Scorpio, and Aquarius.
Fixo, (determinado.) See DETERMINADO.
FLAGELLA'DO, a, adj. See FLAGELLAR.
FLAGELLANTES, f. m. p. Flagellants, heretics in the XIIIth century, who preferred whipping to martyrdom, and held that scourging one another was the chief virtue in christianity.
FLAGELLAR, v. a. to flagellate, to whip, or scourge. Lat.
A acção de flagellar, flagellation.
FLAGELLO, f. m. scourge or whip; also a punishment, a vindictive affliction.
Flagello, (in a figurative sense) scourge, one that afflicts, harasses, or destroys. Thus Attila was called Flagellum Dei.
FLAGICIO, f. m. a naughty, or base action, a scandalous crime. Lat. Flagitium.
FLAGICIOSO, a, adj. flagitious, very wicked, villainous.
FLAGRANTE. See FRAGRANTE.
FLAMA. See FLAMMA.
FLAMANTE. See FLAMMANTE.
FLAME, f. m. (among farriers) a steam, an instrument used to bleed horses. From the French, flamme.
FLAMENGA, or FRAMENGA, a Flemish woman; also a sort of plate for soup.
FLAMENGO, or FRAMENGO, a, adj. of or belonging to Flanders, Flemish.
Flamengo, or Framengo, f. m. a Fleming, a native of Flanders.
Flamengo, flamenço, or framengo, f. m. a bird, that has a red breast and pinions, Lat. phœnicopterus; also a sort of plate for soup.
FLAMINES, or FLAMENS, f. m. p. the flamens, certain heathen priests.
FLAMPNIA, f. f. a servant maid who waited on the arch-priest's wife.
FLAMMA, f. f. flame. Lat.
Que faz ou lezanta flammaz, flammiferous.
Flamma amorosa, amorous flame, love, passion.
Cor de flama, ou chama, flame-coloured, of a bright yellow colour.
FLAMMANCIA, f. f. ex. Tomar flammancia, to flame, to burn with emission of light.
FLAMMANTE, adj. flaming, that burns with emission of light, or that shines like flame.

Flammante, spick and span new.

FLAMMULA, f. f. a streamer, or a pendant in a ship; so called, because it moves like a flame.

FLANCO, f. m. (in fortification) flank; that part of the bastion which reaches from the curtain to the face, and defends the opposite face.

Fazer flancos, ou fortificar com flancos. See FLANQUEAR.

Flanco, flank, the side of any army, or fleet.

Envésir o inimigo pelos flancos, to flank, to attack the side of a battalion, or fleet.

FLANDES, or FLANDERS, f. m. Flanders proper, a province of the Low Countries, and its first county, or earldom, in Flemish called Vladeren. Sometimes the whole ten provinces of the Netherlands are called Flanders.

De flandes. See FLAMENGO.

FLANDRISCO aco, Flemish steel.

FLANQUEA'DO, a, adj. (in fortification) ex. Angulo flanqueado, an angle flanking that which is made by the meeting of the two faces of the bastion. See also the v. FLANQUEAR.

FLANQUEANTE, (in fortification) ex. Angulo flanqueante, angle flanked, or angle flanking.

Angulo flanqueante interior, angle flanked inward.

Angulo flanqueante exterior, angle flanking outward.

Linha flanqueante, flanking-line.

FLANQUEAR, v. a. to flank, to defend by lateral fortifications.

FLATO, f. m. wind, flatulence, windiness, flatus, wind gathered in any cavities of the body, caused by indigestion, and a gross internal perspiration.

Flato, (metaph.) vanity, pride.

FLATO'SO, a, adj. that causes a flato, windy, flatuous.

FLATULENCIA, f. f. flatulency, flatulosity, wind, &c. See FLATO.

FLAVO, a, adj. a bright yellow like gold, or such as ears of corn have, when they are full ripe. Lat.

Colera flava, yellow bile, or choler.

FLEBOTO'MANO, a, adj. that lets blood, or opens a vein.

Barbeiro flebotomano, phlebotomist, a blood-letter.

FLECHA. } See FRECHA.

FLECHADO. } FRECHADO.

FLEGMA, FLEIMA, or FLEMA, f. f. phlegm, one of the humours of the body.

Flegma, (among chemists) phlegm.

FLEGMA'TICO, a, adj. phlegmatic, full of phlegm. See also VAGAROSO.

FLEIMA. See FLEGMA. See also PACIENCIA.

Elle tem muita fleima, he is dull, or heavy.

Fleima, spittle, such as that which is spit out by one that hems, or spits with a hem.

FLEIMA'M, f. m. phlegmon, a swelling with inflammation.

FLEIMA'TICO, a, adj. See FLEGMA'TICO.

FLEXIBILIDADE, f. f. flexibility, or flexibility, pliancy, aptness to bend.

Flexibilidade de condição, flexanimousness, flexibility of mind or disposition.

FLEXIVEL, adj. flexible, easy to be bent; also ductile, manageable.

FLEXUOSO, a, adj. full of turnings, or windings.

FLEXURÁ, f. f. a winding, or bending.

FLOCO. See FROCO.

FLOR, f. f. flower, blossom.

De flores, ou composto de flores, flowery, or made with flowers, florid, composed of flowers.

Guarnecido, cuberto, ou esmaltado de flores, flowry, adorned or drest with flowers, florulent.

A flor das nogueiras, &c. gossin, gossling, cat's tail, catkins, in walnut-trees, nut-trees, &c.

Flor do vinho. See LIA.

Coroa de flores, ou capella, a garland of flowers, a wreath, a chaplet.

Ramalhete de flores, a posy, or nosegay.

Estar em flor, to flourish, to have, or to bear flowers, to blossom, (speaking of trees) also to be in one's prime, to be in repute, or esteem. (Metaph.)

Perder a sua flor, (speaking of trees) to shed its blossoms, to shed, or cast its flowers; also to decay and fade. (Metaph.)

Jardim de flores, flower-garden.

Cousa que produz flores, that beareth flowers, florid, floriferous.

Que colhe flores, that gathereth flowers, as bees do.

Pascoa de flores, Palm-Sunday.

Campo de muyta flor, a meadow enamelled with flowers.

Flor de paixão, passion-flower; a flower which represents all the instruments of our Saviour's passion, as the pillar, nail, &c.

Na flor da sua idade, in the flower of his age, or in his prime.

Morreo na flor da sua idade, he died in the prime of his age.

Flor da virgindade, maidenhead, virginity.

Flor, the choice, the prime, the best of any thing.

A flor da nobreza, the prime of the nobility.

Flores da rhetorica, flowers of rhetoric.

Flor da farinha. See FARINHA.

Flor do vinho, the mother of wine.

Flores, (in chemistry) flowers, or flores, the more subtle parts of a substance separated from the grosser by sublimation.

Flor feita com agulha, an embroidered flower.

Flor de luz, the flower-de-luce.

Seda com flores, flowered silk, flowry.

A flor da terra, close to, or even with the ground.

A flor da agoa, even with the water.

Bateria a flor da agoa, a battery, placed near the edge of the water.

A flor do rosto, that lie level with the face, that are neither protuberant, nor sunk in one's head. (Speaking of the eyes.)

O que entende de flores, ou cultiva flores, a florist.

Cama de flores, (metaph.) a very delicate bed.

Flor de laranja, orange-flower.

Vaso de terra, &c. no qual se plantam flores, a flower-pot.

FLORA, f. f. a common strumpet, who growing very rich made the Roman people her heir, but they being ashamed of her profession, made her the goddess of flowers. This account however is not free from suspicion, since Ovid styleth her modest, and maketh her the wife of Zephyrus.

- FLORA'L, adj. Floral, relating to Flora.
Festas Floraes, Floralia, sports in honour of Flora.
- FLORA'DA, f. f. a sort of comfiture made of orange-flowers.
- FLORA'M, f. f. flower-work, flourish; also a sort of small Spanish coach.
- FLORE'A'DO, a, adj. ex. Esgrima floreada, the exercise, or the act of fencing.
- Discurso floreado*, a florid style, a style full of flourishes. See also
- FLORE'A'R, v. n. to flourish, to move any thing in quick circles, or vibrations by way of show, or ostentation.
- Florear com a espada*, to make a flourish as fencers make with the foils before and after fencing.
- Florear*, v. a. to flourish, to adorn with embellishments of language, to grace with eloquence, ostentatiously diffusive.
- Florear alguma coisa de louvores*, to praise a thing, and make use at the same time of ostentatious embellishments, or rhetorical flourishes.
- FLORECE'NTE, p. act. flourishing. See also
- FLORECE'R, v. n. to flourish, to have or to bear flowers, to blossom, also to flourish, to be in vigour, not to fade.
- Florece*, to be in one's prime. (Metaph.)
- Florece*, to flourish, to be in a prosperous state, both in the proper and figurative sense.
- FLORECIDO, p. of the preterperf. tense of florece.
- FLORENCIA'DO, a, adj. ex. Cruz florenciada, or florida, a cross, whereof the extremities were made like a flower-deluce.
- FLORE'NTE, adj. flourishing, that is in vigour, prosperous. (It is only used metaphorically,) speaking both of persons and things.
- FLORE'O, f. m. a flourish fencers make with the foils before fencing; also a sort of riding at a bull, in the bull-fights.
- Flores*, a flourish, an ostentatious embellishment, or ambitious copiousness.
- Flores do tambor*, (among drummers) so they call a certain number of beats of a drum, which serve to distinguish the chiefs and generals according to their different ranks.
- FLORE'STA, f. f. a forest.
- FLORE'TE, f. m. (among fencers) a foil, a sword without edges, with a button at the point.
- FLORETE'A'DO, a, adj. (in heraldry) adorned with flowers.
- FLO'RIDO, a, adj. florid, embellished.
- Florido*, flourishing, blossoming; also florid and gay, that has floridity. (Metaph.)
- Florido*, (in heraldry.) See FLORETEA'DO.
- Cruz florida*, or florenciada. See FLORENCIADO.
- FLOREM, f. m. a florin, a sort of coin first made by the Florentines. That of Germany is in value two shillings and four-pence; that of Spain, four shillings and four-pence halfpenny; that of Palermo and Sicily, two shillings and six-pence; that of Holland, two shillings; that of France, one shilling and six-pence; that of Savoy, three-pence halfpenny sterling; of gold, five shillings.
- FLORSTINHA, f. f. a small flower, a floweret.
- FLORIPO'NDIO, f. m. a tree in the West Indies, which bears no fruit, but only flowers; bigger than lilies, shaped like bells, all white, with fibres within, like the lily.
- Florinha imperfeita*, a floret, a small imperfect flower.
- FLOXIDAM. } See { FROXIDAM.
FLOXO. } { FROXO.
- FLUCTISONANTE, adj. (in poetry) roaring or founding with waves and billows.
- FLUCTUA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FLUCTUAR.
- FLUCTUANTE, p. act. floating, also wavering, doubtful, uncertain. (Metaph.)
- Fazendas fluctuantes no mar e sem dono*, flotation, goods that swim without an owner on the sea.
- FLUCTUAR, v. n. to float, to lull, to drive to and fro upon the water; also to be floating, or wavering, to be at an uncertainty, to fluctuate in one's mind, to be irresolute.
- Que anda fluctuando*, wandering on, or tossed by the waves; also to be irresolute.
- O movimento, ou agitação de coisa que anda fluctuando*, fluctuation.
- FLUCTUOSO, a, adj. fluctuous, unquiet, boisterous. (Both in the proper and figurative sense.)
- FLUE'NTE, f. m. a river, a stream.
- Fluente*, adj. flowing, fluent. See
- FLUIDO, a, adj. fluid, having parts easily separable, not solid.
- Fluido*, weak, or languid, washy.
- Fluido*, moist, insipid, waterish.
- Mantimento fluido*, food that is easily digested.
- Estilo fluido*, a fluent, easy, or natural style.
- FLUX, or FROXO, (in some plays at cards) flush, cards all of a sort.
- FLUXA'M, f. f. fluxion, or defluxion, a flowing down of humours.
- FLUXO, f. m. flux, a looseness of the belly; also any flow or issue of matter.
- Fluxo de sangue*, flux of blood, or bloody flux.
- Estancar fluxos de sangue*, to stop fluxes of blood.
- Fluxo de palavras*, babbling, talking vainly.
- Estar em continuo fluxo de palavras*, to be always talking, to have a tongue running upon wheels.
- Fluxo e refluxo do mar*, tide, the alternate ebb and flow of the sea.
- Fluxo mensal*, flowers, monthly courses, or months.
- FOA'M. See FULANO.
- FOCA, or PHOCA, f. f. a sea-calf.
- FOCA'DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FOCAR.
- FOCA'R, v. a. to roost, or rout, as swine do.
- FOCILE, f. m. (in anatomy) focile, the greater or less bone between the knee and ankle, or elbow and wrist. Arabic.
- FOCINHA'DA, f. f. a striking or dashing with the face; also a blow with the snout. From FOCINHO, which see.
- FOCINHE'IRA, or FUCINHEIRA, f. f. See BOÇAL.
- FOCINHO, or FUCINHO, the muzzle, or snout of any beast.
- Focinho de porco*, the snout of a hog.
- Focinho*, phiz, or the face, in a sense of contempt.
- Elle deu-lhe nos focinhos*, he gave him a slap on the chops. (A vulgar phrase.)
- Cabir de focinhos*, to fall upon one's face.
- Que tem mão focinho*, ou que esta de má focinho. See CARRANCUDO.
- Dar nos focinhos de alguém*, (metaph.) to reproach, to upbraid one, to hit him in the teeth.
- FOCINHU'DO, a, adj. See CARRANCUDO.
- FO'CO, f. m. (among physicians) focus, a place in the mesentery, from whence the ancients deduced the original of fevers.
- Foco*, (in geometry) focus, ex. O foco da ellipse, ou da parabola, the focus of an ellipsis, or of a parabola.
- Foco*, (in optics) focus, ex. O foco de hum espelho, the focus of a glass.
- FOFCE, f. f. the quality of a thing that is soft and puffy.
- Fofce*, vain talking, prattle-prattle, (metaph.) See also OSTENTAÇAM.
- FOFINHO, a, adj. diminut. of
- FO'FO, a, adj. soft and puffy, spongy, hollow and light.
- Mamas fofas*, flabby dugs.
- Fofe*, (metaph.) vain, proud, that talketh vainly. See also VANGLORIOSO.
- FOGA'ÇA, f. f. a cake; also a cake, melon, or any thing offered in worship.
- FOGAGEM, f. f. inflamed pimples, or wheals, wild-fire.
- Fogagem que sabe pela bocca aos miúdos*, an exulceration in the mouth of children.
- FOGAL, f. m. hearth-money, or chimney-money.
- FOGAM, f. m. a hearth; also the touch-hole of a gun.
- Fogam de hum navio*, &c. the cook-room of a ship, &c.
- FOGAMSI'NHO, f. m. diminut. of fogam, a little hearth, &c.
- FOGARE'IRO, f. m. a chafing-dish, a portable grate for coals.
- Fogareiro de barro*, a little stove made of clay, or a sort of chafing-dish, such as they use in Spain and Portugal, instead of a chimney.
- FOGARE'O, f. m. a piece of iron fashioned like a shell in the top of a stake that is fixed in the ground. They used to light pine-apples in it in the night-time.
- FOGIDO. } See { FUGIDO.
FOGIR. } { FUGIR.
- FOGO, f. m. fire, one of the four elements.
- Fogo de reverberação*, (among chemists) reverberatory fire, or ignis reverberii.
- Fogo potencial*, potential fire.
- Fogos que se fazem em occasiam de alguma festa*, bonfires.
- Fogo grego*, an inextinguishable sort of fire, made with pitch, and other burning ingredients.
- Fogos artificiaes*, fire-works.
- De fogo*, ou que tem a natureza de fogo, fiery.
- Fazer-se em fogo*, to be on fire. See ABRAZAR-SE.
- Lançar fogo*, to sparkle, to emit sparks of fire; also to shine, to glitter.
- Fogo brando*, gentle, slow fire.
- Da cor do fogo*, of the colour of fire.
- Fogo de S. Antão*, or de S. Marçal, St. Anthony's fire, or the shingles.
- Fogos errantes*, ignis fatuus, a fiery meteor commonly called Will with a whisp, or Jack with a lantern, appearing chiefly in summer nights, and haunting commonly church-yards, meadows, and bogs; it consists of a sort of viscous substance, or or fat exhalations, which being kindled in the air, reflects a kind of thin flame, yet without any sensible heat. See also CAS-TOR and POLLUX.

Ferir fogo com fusil e pedrreira, to strike fire out of a flint.

Dar fogo a huma peça, to fire a great gun.

Fogo, ou muylos tiros de peças juntas, a volley of cannon-shot.

Fazer grande fogo sobre o inimigo, to fire briskly upon the enemy.

Armas de fogo, fire-arms.

Errar fogo, to flash in the pan, or miss fire.

Peça, &c. que erra fogo, a gun, &c. that mis-fires.

Por fogo a huma casa, to set a house on fire.

Fogo, (a military expression) fire, or give fire.

Aldea de cem fogos, a village containing one hundred houses, reckoning every fire a house.

A fogo e sangue, with fire and sword.

Fogo, fire, passion, anger. (Metaph.)

Tomar fogo, (metaph.) to take fire, to grow angry, to fall into a passion.

Fogo, sparkling, or brightness.

Olbos de fogo, fiery, red, inflamed eyes.

Porci as mãos no fogo por isso, I would lay my life upon it. An asseveration urging they will venture to put their hands into the fire, to prove the truth of what they say; taken from the ancient way of trial by ordeal.

Tocar os sinos a fogo, to ring the bells backwards for fire.

Lenha para fazer fogo, fire wood, wood to burn.

Navio que serve para por fogo a outros, a fire-ship.

O que da fogo as casas, &c. ou incendiario, a firer, an incendiary.

Homem que tem o cargo de apagar os fogos nas casas, &c. a fire-man.

Tijam de fogo, a fire brand, a fire stick.

Fogo, (in a figurative sense) fire, mettle, briskness, liveliness, life. See also ARDOR, and VEHEMENCIA.

Fogo da mocidade, the mettle of youth.

P. do fogo te guardaras, e do mau homem não podras, you will preserve yourself from fire, and will not be able to do it from a wicked man. Fire is a less dangerous enemy than wicked men.

FOGO'SO, a, adj. fiery, vehement, ardent; also passionate, easily provoked. See also ARDENTE, and ABRAZAR.

Cavalo fegoso, a fiery, or mettlesome horse.

FOGUE'O, f. m. a sort of impost, or tax formerly paid in the city of Goa.

FOGUE'IRA, f. f. a fire made of wood which makes great flames; also a bonfire, a fire made for some public cause of triumph, or exultation.

FOGUE'TE, f. m. a rocket.

FOGUETEIRO, f. m. he who makes rockets.

FOPNHA, ou FUINHA, f. f. a kind of weasel, a small animal that eats pigeons. &c.

FO'JO, f. m. a deep hole made in the ground to catch wild beasts in a pitfall. Lat. Fovea.

Fôjo, (in fortification) a pitfall, a pit dug and covered, into which the enemy falls unexpectedly.

Fôjo das minas, essay hatch, a little trench, or hole, which they dig to search for ore.

FOLE. See FOLLE.

FOLAR, f. m. Easter's gift, or present. It consists properly of eggs, &c.

FO'LEGO, f. m. breath; also rest, repose, leisure.

De hum folego, of a stretch, at one bout, without intermission.

Tomar folego, ou descansar no folego. See RESPIRAR, and DESCANÇAR.

Tomar o folego, to suppress, to keep in, not to let out one's breath.

Dar folego, to give time.

Daime hum pouco de folego para vos pagar, give me a little time to pay you.

FOLGA, f. f. See RECREAÇAM, and DESCANÇO.

Estar de folga, to be at leisure, to have nothing to do. See also OCIO.

Dia de folga, a play day, day exempt from tasks, or work.

FOLGA'DAMENTE, adv. easily, without any ado.

Viver ou passar folgadamente, to live in plenty and ease.

FOLGA'DO, a, adj. free from business, toil, trouble, or cares. See also the v. FOLGAR.

Andar folgado levar vida folgada, or passar folgadamente. See FOLGADAMENTE.

Trazer vestidos, ou sapatos folgados, to wear one's cloaths, or shoes big enough, not to be pinched by them.

Estar folgado na fazenda, to have plenty.

Trazer a mão folgada, to be puffed up, to become arrogant, fierce, or haughty for having achieved an undertaking.

FOLGA'NÇA, f. f. See FOLGA, and BE-MAVENTURANÇA.

FOLGA'R, v. n. to spend one's time at one's own pleasure, free from business; also to rejoice, to be glad, to delight, or take delight in, to be pleased with.

P. se não bebe na taverna folga nella; we say, he does not smoke, but he smocks.

FOLGAZAM, f. m. an idle fellow.

FO'LGIO. See FO'LEGO.

FOLGUE'DO. See PASSATEMPO, and DIVERTIMENTO.

FO'LHA, f. f. a leaf of a tree, or herb; also a thin plate of metal, or lamina.

Folha de espada, the blade of a sword.

Folha de papel, a sheet of paper.

Folha de hum livro, the leaf of a book.

Lançar folhas, to bear, or bring forth leaves, to wax green, to spring.

Feito de folhas, made of leaves.

Folhas seccas ou murchas no outono, withered leaves in autumn.

Cor de folha murcha semelhante a das folhas no outono, ou cor acabellada, feuille-morte, colour, or the colour of withered leaves in autumn; we corruptly pronounce and write philemot, or fillemot.

Que tem muita folha, leafy, or full of leaves.

Rosa de cem folhas, a kind of rose with many leaves.

Folha de flanders, tin, such as we make lanterns, pots, and other things of.

Bater o metal para estendello em folhas, to foliate, to beat into laminas, or leaves.

A açam de bater o metal desta sorte, foliation.

Ao cabir da folha, at the fall of the leaf in autumn.

Folhas sem fruto, leaf, and no fruit, all shew, and no substance; all talk and no doing. (Metaph.)

Falba, (among carpenters and joiners) a thin board, or plank.

Folha do anno. See ALMANAQUE.

Folha de reza, a church calendar for the order of divine service of the church of Rome.

Folha, (in agriculture) a piece of ground that is sowed, or fit to be sowed.

Folha que os lavradores deixam em relva, a fallow-ground, a lain land, land laid up.

Folha de partilhas, a sentence, instrument, or writing expressing what each inheritor is to receive by succession. (In law.)

Folha, (among architects, painters, &c.) See FOLHAGEM.

Roupa em folha, linen, or linen-clothes, that are spick and span new, linen that was never washed.

FOLHA'DO, or FOLHUDO, a, adj. full of leaves, leafy.

Bolo folhado, a cake made of puff-paste.

FOLHA'GEM, f. f. leaves, or leave-branches.

Folhagem, (among architects, painters, &c.) foliage, or branched work.

FOLHEA'DO, a, adj. See

FOLHEAR, v. a. ex. Folhear hum livro, to turn over the leaves of a book; but commonly it means to read a book cursorily, and with slight attention.

FOLHE'CA, f. f. ex. Folbeta de neve, a flake of snow.

FOLHE'LHO, f. m. the husk, cod, or shell of a bean, pea, &c. also a hiding place, a lurking hole, a close corner.

FOLHE'TA, f. f. a small thin plate, or lamina.

FOLHINHA, ou folha de reza. See FOLHA.

Folhinha, (almanaque.) See ALMANAQUE.

FO'LHO, f. m. the horny excrescence under the hoof of a horse, mule, &c.

FOLHU'DO, a, adj. See FOLHADO.

FOLIA, f. f. a sort of mad dance used in Portugal, by a great number of people with a confused noise, whence it took its name, as being so like folly; also a play, or show.

FOLIADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FOLIA'R.

FOLIA'M, f. m. he who dances in the folia. See FOLIA.

FOLIA'R, v. n. to dance as they do in the folia. See FOLIA.

FO'LLE, f. m. bellows to blow the fire, or for an organ, &c. a pair of bellows.

Cano do folle, the nose, nozzle, or nozel of a pair of bellows.

Dar aos folles, is for a horse to be broken winded.

Folle, a little bag of leather.

Folle, so the Portuguese call a sort of fruit in Africa, very much resembling an orange.

FOLLICULO, f. m. See FOLHELHO.

FOLO'SA, f. f. a sort of little bird.

FOME, f. f. hunger, appetite, stomach.

Ter fome, to be hungry.

Morrer de fome, to die with hunger, to be starved to death, to be hunger-starved.

Deixar-se morrer de fome, to starve one's self.

Deixar-se morrer de fome como fazem as avarentas, to pinch one's belly.

Matar a fome, to starve, to famish.

À ce point de malar à fome, famishing.
Morto de fome, famished, starved to death with hunger, hunger-starved.
Que tem fome, hungry.
Fome causada por carestia de mantimentos em huma cidade, ou em hum reyno, famine, a general want of provisions.
Tomar huma cidade matando a fome os moradores, e guarnição della, to take a town by famine.
Fome canina. See CANINO.
Matar, ou faltar a fome, to satisfy one's hunger.
P. á boa fome não ha más pão, there is no bread bad to hunger; we say, hungry dogs will eat dirty pudding, or hunger makes hard bones sweet beans.
FOMENTAÇÃO, f. f. fomentation.
Fazer huma fomentação, to apply a fomentation.
FOMENTADO, a, adj. See FOMENTAR, v. a. to foment, to cherish with heat, to bathe with warm lotions.
Fomentar, to foment, to encourage, to support, to cherish. (Metaph.)
FOMENTO, f. m. See FOMENTAÇÃO.
FOMMO, f. m. so the Portuguese of the Brasils call an earthen vessel wherein they boil flour and mandioca. See MANDIOCA.
FONDURAS, or KONDURAS, f. f. Konduras, or Camaigua, a province of the audience of Guatimala, and Old Mexico, or New Spain in North America. This country was once extremely populous, till thinned by the Spaniards, who tortured and put many to death, it is said, in order to make them discover their gold and silver.
FONTANA'L, adj. (in theology) ex. Principio fontanal, original, the first spring.
FONTANELLA, f. f. a cautery, an issue, a fontanel, a discharge opened in the body.
FO'NTE, f. f. a fountain, a spring; also an origin, first principle, first cause, (in a figurative sense.)
Fonte da cabeça, temple, the upper part of the sides of the head where the pulse is felt.
Fonte, or fontanella. See FONTANELLA.
Fonte baptismal, the font; a stone vessel in which the water for holy baptism is contained, in the church.
FONTINA'ES festas, (among the Romans) Fontanalia, the feast of Fountains.
FONTINHA, f. f. a small fountain, a little spring.
FO'RA, adv. and prepos. without, not in, abroad, out, out of doors.
Elle está fora, he is without.
Buscai-o fora de casa, look for him without doors.
Estar fora, to be abroad, or out of one's house.
Fora, (alem.) See ALEM.
Fora de razão, unreasonable.
Fora do tempo, ou sezam, out of season.
Fora da cidade, out of town.
Fora de horas, beyond the hour, late, unseasonably.
Estar fora de si, to be out of one's wits.
Fora de perigo, out of danger.
Largai ji' fora, throw it out.
Esta fora de esperança, to be out, or without hope.
Cousa de fora, ou de outra terra, outlandish.

Que deita, ou sahe para fora, out-letting, (speaking of stones in some walls, or buildings.)
Fora de hum emprego ou cargo, out of a place.
Fera da graça, out of favour.
Fora d'aqui com isto, away with this.
Fora d'aqui com elle, away with him.
Fora d'aqui, away, get you gone.
Fôra! interj. hey-day! an expression of wonder.
Juiz de fora, a judge that has the usual jurisdiction and the trying of common causes in a place.
Tam fora estou de amalla, que quasi a aborreço, I am so far from being in love with her, that I almost hate her.
Subir pella porta fora, to go out, or go abroad, to go out of doors.
Lançar alguem pella porta fora, to turn one out of doors.
Lançar alguem a couces pella porta fora, to kick one out of doors.
Fora, except, exclusive of, without inclusion of.
Isto he fora de proposito, this is nothing to the purpose.
Deixar de fora, to shut out, to exclude, to reject and refuse, to keep and debar from, not to admit; also to make no mention of, to leave out, or omit.
Para fora, outwardly, to the outer, not the inner parts.
Per fora, or de fora, without, not on the inside, outwardly.
O de fora, the outward or external appearance, the outside.
Huma bella casa por fora, a fine house without.
Fera de zombaria, without jesting.
Sahir para fora da cadeia, to get out of prison.
Doente que sahe fora, a sick person that goes out, or goes abroad.
FORAGIDO. See VAGABUNDO.
FORA'L, f. m. a register, a book to enter the duties paid to the king.
FORA'M, f. m. a ferret, a kind of rat, with red eyes and a long snout, used to catch rabbits.
Forar, (metaph.) a ferreter, one that hunts another in his privacies.
P. andar com o jorão morto á casa, to go a coney-catching with a dead ferret; that is, to undertake business with improper methods; also to follow women in old age.
FORASTEIRO, f. m. a stranger, a guest. Ital.
FO'RGÁ, f. f. gallows, gibbet.
Elle hade hir parar em alguma forca, he will go to the gallows, or he will be hanged.
A forca esta espiando por elle, the gallows groans for him.
Velhaco que merece a forca, a N-wgate-bird, or wicked rascal.
P. vaele á forca, go and be hanged, go and be hanged to you, go hang yourself.
Abi in malam crucem.
FORÇADO, a, adj. forced.
Forçado, f. m. a pitch-fork, a prong, a hay-fork, a prong to cast up sheaves or flukes of corn with.
Tijolo de forçado, a sort of narrow and thick brick.
FO'RÇA, f. f. force, strength of body, mind, or of any thing generally.

Que tem força. See ROBUSTO.
Que não tem força, forceless, without force, weak.
Cobrar forças depois de hum grande doença, to gather strength after a great fit of sickness.
Força, the height, the highest pitch, the utmost degree of any thing.
Na força do verão, in the midst of summer.
Força, (violencia.) See VIOLENCIA.
Por força, by force, in a forcible manner, forcibly, forcefully.
Tomar por força, ou assalto, to storm a town, to take a town by storm.
Eu vos farei fazer isso por força, I'll make you do it in spite of your teeth.
A força de braços, by strength of arms.
A força de chorar, with much crying.
Trabalhar com força, to work hard.
Com toda a força, with all one's might, with might and main.
Força, (vigor.) See VIGOR.
Fazer força a alguem. See FORÇAR.
Feito por força, forcible, done by force.
Força, sujeito, alvo, ou ponto principal de hum discurso, the dint of a discourse.
Força de huma palavra, the strength or energy of a word.
O seu estilo não conserva sempre a mesmeforça, his style flags here and there.
A força, unwillingly. See also VIOLENTAMENTE.
Bebida, ou liquor que tem perdido a força, flat, or dead drink, that drinks flat, that has lost its spirits.
A força da verdade, the force or forcibleness of truth.
Razam que tem muita força, a forcible or strong reason.
Por força de armas, by dint of sword.
Fazer força de vela, (a sea expression) to crowd all sails, to make the best of one's way at sea.
Eu não tenho a sua força, I am not so strong as he, I am not his match.
Forças, (in the plural) forces, troops.
Força, the act, violence, or crime of forcing a woman.
Fazer força a, ou forçar huma mulher. See FORÇAR.
Não se pode passar em Londres senão a força de muito dinheiro, people cannot live in London without having a great deal of money; that is, every thing is extremely dear in London.
Corregger hum menino a força de pancadas, to beat a child into better manners.
Elle alcançou isso a força de empentes, he has got it by favour.
Dar força de alguem, (in law) to inform against one, to exhibit an accusation against one for a violence or injury offered by him to the plaintiff.
Força, a fortrels, a strong hold, a fortified place.
Força bruta; so they call in India the elephants when they are armed.
Senhor da força bruta dos elefantes, a sort of title among the Indians.
Forças brutas, ou maquinas para levantar grandes pesos, moving powers.
FORÇADAMENTE, adv. against one's will. See also NECESSARIAMENTE.
FORÇADO, a, adj. forced.
Eu fui forçado a fazelo, I was forced to do it.

Ser forçado a fazer alguma coisa, to be forced upon a thing.

Caso forçado, ou de necessidade, a forced put.

Forçado, forced, not free nor natural.

Estilo forçado, a stiff, rough, rugged, and not fluent style.

Dar sentido forçado a hum texto, to wrest or force the sense of a text.

Forçado, (forçoso.) See FORÇOSO, and the v. FORÇAR.

Herdeiro forçado, an heir who succeedeth to an estate, though it hath not been bequeathed to him.

Conjunctes forçados, so they call some words given to a rhymist, who engages to make use of them as cadences, or rhymes, in the verses he is to make upon some particular subject.

FORÇADO, f. m. a galley-slave.

FORÇADOR, f. m. a ravisher, one that compels by force.

FORÇIDURA, f. f. the space between the two points, or prongs of a pitch-fork, or something like it.

FORÇAR, v. a. to force, to compel, to constrain; also to ravish, to violate by force.

Ferjar a natureza, fazendo mais de que se pode fazer, to force nature.

Ferjar, to storm, to take, or enter by violence.

Ferjar o remo, to ply one's oars.

Ferjar o tempo, (a sea term) to sail or go against both the wind and the tide.

Ferjar huma batalha, to break through a battalion.

Ferjar hum trincheira, to break into a trench.

FORCEJADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of

FORCEJAR, v. n. to struggle, to strive, to use all one's force.

Ferjar com as ondas, to struggle with the waves.

FORÇOSAMENTE, adv. forcibly, violently, forcefully. See also NECESSARIAMENTE.

FORÇOSO, a, adj. necessary, inevitable, unavoidable.

Argumento forçoso, a strong and necessary argument.

Ferçoso, urgent, cogent, pressing.

Ferçoso, very strong, robust.

Herdeiro forçoso, or forçado. See FORÇADO.

FORCULO. See FORICULO.

FORÇURA. See FRESSURA.

FOREÇA, f. f. (Obsol.) See CADERNO.

FOREIRO, a, adj. tributary, paying a quit-rent.

FORENSE, adj. forensic, belonging to courts of judicature.

Termo forense, a forensic term.

FORESTEIRO, f. m. a sort of ancient tile in Flanders, which was changed into that of count.

FORICULO, f. m. (among the Romans) Foriculus, a deity, who, as they fancied, had the guardianship or tuition of their doors.

FORJÁ, f. f. a smith's forge.

Anda o negocio na forja, (a metaphorical expression); we say, the business is upon the carpet, or in agitation.

FORJADO, a, adj. See FORJAR.

FORJADOR, f. m. smith, black-smith, a forger.

FORJAR, v. a. to forge or frame, to hammer; also to forge, to invent, to devise, to contrive, to imagine. Gothic.

FORMA, f. f. form, the external appearance of any thing, fashion, shape, figure, or manner.

Forma de fallar, ou de fazer alguma coisa, the form, manner, or way of speaking or doing any thing.

Forma dos sapatos, the last, or the mould on which shoes are formed.

P. achou forma para o seu sapato, he has found a last to his shoe; that is, he has met with his match.

Forma de hum chapéo, a block for a hat.

Forma, (among printers) a printer's form.

Argumentar em forma, to argue in due form, to make or form a syllogism.

Na forma que se segue, as follows.

Pro forma, for form sake.

Que não tem forma, formless, shapeless.

Forma, (in philosophy) form, or the second principle, which joined to matter, makes up all natural bodies, or the essential, specific, or distinguishing modification of the matter of any natural body.

Forma, (idea.) See IDEA, and IMAGEM.

Forma, (formalidade.) See FORMALIDADE, and FORMULA.

Dar forma a alguma coisa, to give a thing its form.

Forma do governo, the form of government.

Fazer as cousas em forma, to do things in due form.

Letra de forma, a type, a printing letter, a letter to print with.

Forma, a sort of vessel pierced in the bottom, which they make use of in the sugar-works to purify the sugar.

FORMAÇÃO, f. f. formation, the act of forming.

FORMADO, a, adj. formed, fashioned, &c. See FORMAR.

FORMADOR, f. m. one that forms, fashions, or moulds, a former.

Forma flanco, (in fortification) ex. Ângulo forma flanco, the angle of the flank.

FORMAL, adj. plain, express, explicit.

Com palavras formais, in express terms.

Causa formal, (in philosophy) formal cause.

FORMALIDADE, f. f. formality, ceremony, established mode of behaviour.

Argumentar com formalidade, or em forma. See FORMA.

Responder com formalidade, to give a categorical answer.

FORMALMENTE, adv. (in philosophy) formally.

Formalmente, categorically, positively, expressly.

FORMÃO, f. m. a chisel, or chizze, a carpenter's and joiner's tool. See also SALVOCONDUITO.

Formam. (An antiquated word.) See INFORMAÇÃO.

FORMAR, v. a. to form, to fashion, to mould.

Formar hum designio, to form a design.

Formar queixas, to find cause to complain.

Formar os tempos de hum verbo, to form the tenses of a verb.

Formar, (a military word) to form, to arrange, to combine in any particular manner.

Formar hum exercito, to set an army in array.

Exercito formado para dar batalha, an army in battle-array.

Formar-se, v. r. (in the universities) to take one's degree.

Formar-se, ou por-se recto. (In fencing) RECTO.

FORMATURA, f. f. (in the universities) the act of taking one's degree.

Tempo da formatura, ou em que os estudantes se formam, act. (at the university of Oxford) the time when degrees are taken. The same is called commencement at Cambridge.

Formatura, (a military word) array, or order.

Formatura, ou ordem em que está hum exercito para dar batalha, battle-array.

FORMEIRO, f. m. a last-maker, one that makes lasts for shoe-makers.

FORMICA miliaris. See COBRELO.

FORMIDANDO, a, adj. See

FORMIDAVEL, a, adj. formidable, dreadful, to be feared.

FORMIDAVELMENTE, adv. formidably.

FORMIDOSO, a, adj. formidable, to be feared; also formidolous, fearful, dreading very greatly.

FORMIGA, f. f. an ant, pismire, or emmet.

A' formiga, by little and little.

FORMIGADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FORMIGAR.

FORMIGAM, f. m. ex. Muro de formigam, a wall made of very small stones, with mortar, which they throw between two boards.

Formigam, or carrreira de polvora, a train or line of powder reaching to a mine, fortrefs, &c.

FORMIGAR, v. n. to prick as the blood does in one's body, like the stinging of ants.

A mim me formiga, I feel a pricking in my hand like the stinging of ants.

FORMIGUEIRO, f. m. an ant-hillock, an ant-hole, an ant's nest.

Formigueiro de gente, (metaph.) a swarm, a great throng, or crowd.

Ladrão formigueiro, a pilferer, a sheep-biter, one who steals petty things.

Formigueiro, ou formiguilho, a distemper in horses, which destroys and wastes their hoofs entirely.

FORMOSO. See FERMOSO.

FORMOSURA. See FERMOSURA.

Ilha formosa. See FERMOSA.

FORMULA, f. f. a form, manner, or method, a formulary.

FORMULARIO, f. m. a formulary, a book containing stated and prescribed models, or set forms.

FORNACESES festas, (among the Romans) Fornacalia, the feasts of Ovens.

FORNACEIRO, f. m. an officer of the mint.

FORNADA, f. f. one baking, an oven-full, a batch.

Huma fornada de pão, a batch of bread.

Cozer a fornada, (a jocose expression) to sleep the fumes of wine away, or to sleep one's self sober.

FORNALHA, f. f. a furnace.

FORNEAR, v. n. to set bread in the oven.

Fornear, v. a. (metaph.) to strike into.

FORNECER, v. a. to furnish, to provide. See also PROVER.

FORNECIDO, a, adj. furnished, &c. See FORNECER.

FORNECIMENTO, f. m. a furnishing, providing, storing.

FORNEIRA,

FORNEIRA, f. f. a woman that keeps a public oven.

P. não sejas forneira, se tendes a cabeça de manteiga, do not undertake to be a baker if your head is made of butter; that is, do not take upon you any business you are unfit for.

FORNEIRO, f. m. one that keeps a public oven, or an oven-tender.

FORNEZINHO, f. m. (an antiquated word) a bastard, a child of fornication.

FORNICAÇÃO, f. f. fornication, or commerce with an unmarried woman.

FORNICADO, a, adj. See FORNICAR.

FORNICADORA, f. f. a fornicatress.

FORNICADOR, f. m. a fornicator, one that has a commerce with unmarried women.

FORNICAR, v. a. to fornicate, to commit lewdness.

Fornicar, (in scripture) to idolatrise, to worship idols.

FORNICE, f. f. an arch; also a vault. From the Lat. fornix.

FORNIDO, a, adj. See BASTECIDO, and the v. FORNIR.

Fornido de carnes. See CORPULENTO.

Fornido de membros, strong, or well limbed, sinewed, or linevy.

Fornido de penas, full of feathers, feathered.

FORNILHO, f. m. a little oven.

Fornilho, (in fortification) the hollow or cavity wherein the powder is lodged in a mine; the fourneau, or the chamber of a mine.

FORNIMENTO. See FURNIMENTO.

FORNIR, v. a. See FORNECER.

FORNIZ. See FORNICE.

FORNO, f. m. an oven.

Forno de cal, a lime-kiln.

Forno para vidros, a glass-house, where glass is made.

Boca do forno, the mouth of an oven.

Forno de tijolo, a brick-kiln.

Forno portátil, a portable oven, or furnace.

Casa ou lugar onde esfu o forno, a bake-house.

Tirar o pão do forno, to draw or take bread out of the oven.

Bolo do forno, a cake, or tart.

Pá do forno, a peel, a broad thin board with a long handle, used by bakers to put their bread in and out of the oven.

Garavatos, ou lenha miuda para aquecer o forno, bavins to heat the oven.

Forno. (A military word.) See FORNILHO.

FORO, f. m. court, or hall of justice.

Fôro ecclesiastico, arches-court.

Fôro secular, the chancery-court, the high court of parliament, or any other court that is not a court of arches.

Fôro interior, ou da consciencia, that knowledge which a man hath of his own thoughts or actions, the estimate of conscience.

Fôro, quit rent, an acknowledgment, or small rent payable by tenants to the lord of the manor.

Fôro de fidalgo. See FIDALGO.

Fôro de cidadam, denization.

O que tem foro de cidadam, a denizen, or denison, a freeman, one enfranchised.

Dar foro de cidadam, to denizen, to enfranchise, to make free.

Estar posto em foro de fazer alguma cousa, to have a right to do any thing.

Fôro da natureza, (metaph.) the law of nature.

FORQUILHA, f. f. a pitch-fork with three points or prongs, a three-pronged fork.

Forquilha de armar redes, para apanhar passaros, a small stake or fork to stay up nets, or to stretch or pitch them upon, in fowling. See also FORCADO.

FORRADO, a, adj. See FORRAR.

FORRAGITAS. (A jocose word.) See POUPADO.

FORRAGEADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FORRAGEAR.

FORRAGEADOR, f. m. one that goes a foraging, or that gets forage.

FORRAGEAR, v. n. to go a foraging, to forage.

FORRAGEM, f. f. (a military word) forage, provision of hay, oats, straw, &c.

Hir a forragem. See FORRAGEAR.

FORRAR, v. a. to line; also to lay over, to overlay, to cover superficially.

Forrar de marmore huma parede, to line, or to cover a wall with marble.

Forrar o tecto de huma casa, to ceil, to overlay, or cover the inner roof of a house.

Forrar hum navio, (a sea-phrase) to furr a ship.

Forrar. See POUPAR, and APROVEITAR.

Quero forrar-vos deste trabalho, I'll spare or save you this trouble.

Forrar hum escravo, to make a slave free.

Forrar-se. See DESFORRAR-SE.

Forrar-se, (livrar-se). See LIVRAR-SE.

Forrar-se bem, to clothe one's self well.

Forrar-se de nuvens, to be cloudy, or covered with clouds.

Elle não se forra com ninguém, he abates nothing of his own right; that is, he is a stingy, covetous, or niggardly fellow; also he spares no one.

FORREJADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FORREJAR, v. a. to waste, ruin, or ravage.

FORRETA, f. m. (a low and vulgar word) a stingy, niggardly fellow, a miser, a wretch covetous to extremity.

FORRIE'L, f. m. (A military word.) See QUARTEL mestre.

FORRO, f. m. a lining. From the Gothic word fodra, signifying the same.

Forro que se poem nos lados dos sapatos, the side-lining of a shoe.

Forro da casaca, the lining of a coat.

Forro do chapéo, the lining of a hat.

Forro do tecto, the ceiling, or the inner roof of the house.

Forro, a, adj. ex. Escravo forro, one that has been a slave and is made free. It is Arabic in this sense.

Forro, free from ground-rent.

Forro, (livre). See LIVRE.

Comer a tripa forra, ou á custa da barba longa. See BARBA.

Vaca forra, a cow with calf.

FORSURA. See FRESSURA.

FORTALECER, v. a. to strengthen, to fortify. See also FORTIFICAR, and CORROBORAR.

FORTALECIDO, a, adj. strengthened, &c. See FORTALECER.

FORTALEZA, f. f. fortitude, one of the cardinal virtues.

FORTALEZA, a fortress.

Fortaleza do espirito, courage, intrepidity, fortitude, constancy.

FORTE, f. m. a fort.

Forte, (in the mint) this term is used to express that the coin is rather above weight.

Moeda com forte, a piece of money that bears down the weight.

Forte pequeno, a fortlet, a little fort.

Forte, a sort of ancient small coin.

Forte de campanha, a fortillage, a block-house.

Fôrte, adj. strong, able, powerful.

Fazer-se forte. See FORTIFICAR-SE.

Vinho forte galbarido, strong-bodied wine.

Huma caixa forte, a strong box.

Praça forte, a strong place.

Huma forte armada, a strong fleet.

Ágoa forte. See AGOÁ.

FORTEMENTE, adv. strongly, valiantly, bravely.

FORTIDAM, f. f. thickness, grossness, power or endurance, firmness, durability, toughness.

Fortidam, sourness, acidity, austereness of taste.

FORTIFICAÇÃO, f. f. a fortification, a place built for strength; also fortification, or the science of military architecture.

Fortificação regular, regular fortification.

Fortificação irregular, irregular fortification.

FORTIFICADO, a, adj. See

FORTIFICAR, v. a. to fortify, to strengthen against attacks by walls, or works; also to fortify, to encourage, to confirm.

FORTIM, f. m. a fortlet, a little fort.

FORTUITAMENTE, adv. by chance, casually, fortuitously.

FORTUITO, a, adj. that happeneth by chance, casual, fortuitous.

Caso, ou acontecimento fortuito, fortuitousness.

FORTUM, f. m. a strong sinell.

FORTUNA, f. f. (among the Heathens) the goddess of Fortune; also fortune, fate, destiny.

Bca, ou má fortuna, good or bad luck.

Filha da fortuna, a whore.

Boa, ou má fortuna no jogo, good or ill luck at play.

Soldado de fortuna, a volunteer, a soldier of fortune.

Ter fortuna, to prosper, to thrive.

Por fortuna, by chance, by good luck, fortunately, happily.

Roda da fortuna, the wheel of fortune.

Que tem fortuna, fortunate, lucky, happy.

Boa fortuna, fortunateness, happiness, good luck, success.

Elle veio a Londres a procurar a sua fortuna, he came to London to seek his fortune.

Fazer sua fortuna, to make one's fortune.

Fazer huma grande fortuna, to make a great fortune.

Livro que alguns consultão para saber a fortuna de alguém, a fortune-book.

O que engana o vulgo pertendendo de saber a fortuna de alguém, a fortune-teller.

O que procura de fazer fortuna, casando com mulheres ricas, fortune-hunter.

Fortuna, tempest, storm. See also PERIGO.

Fortunas, (in astrology) fortunes, the two benevolent planets, Jupiter and Venus.

Fortuna Mayor, ou Primeira, Jupiter.

Fortuna Menor, ou Segunda, Venus.

P. quando a fortuna he contraria, os amigos voltam as costas, when once fortune begins to frown, friends will be packing.

P. a fortuna ajuda aos doudos, fortune favours fools.
Fortunas, (riquezas.) See RIQUEZAS.
P. as homem cusado a fortuna lhe dá a mam, fortune favours the bold.
P. a fortuna he para os doudos, e o acaso para os fejos, luck for the fools, and chance for the ugly.
FORTUNA'DO, a, adj. fortunate, fortun'd, lucky, happy.
Ilhas fortunadas, the Fortunate Islands, now called the Canaries.
FO'SCA, f. f. a menace, threat, bullying, provocation, insult, contemptuousness, (a vulgar word.)
Fazer foscas, to menace, to threaten, to bully, to provoke, to anger, to excite by words or actions of contempt.
Festa, illusion, false show, counterfeit appearance.
Que faz festa, (nesse ultimo sentido) illusive, deceiving by false show.
Fazer foscas, (no mesmo sentido) to illude, to deceive by false show.
FOSSA'DO. See FOSSO.
FOSETE, f. m. a little ditch, moat, or trench.
FOSSIL, adj. fossil, that which is dug out of the earth.
Sal fossil, fossil, or rock-salt.
FOSSO, f. m. a ditch, a trench; also a trench, or earth thrown up to defend soldiers in their approaches to a town, or to guard a camp.
Abrir fossos, to trench, to cut or dig into pits or ditches.
FO'TA, f. f. a sort of fine veil or covering for the head like the turban worn by Mahometans.
FOTE'DO, a, adj. made like a fota. See FOTA.
FOUCA'DA, f. f. a blow with a scythe.
FO'UCE, f. f. a sithe, or scythe to mow with.
Fouce podadeira, a pruning-knife.
Fouce roçadora, hedging-bill.
Meter a fouce na seara alheia, (metaph.) to meddle with other people's business.
FOUCINHA, a little scythe or bill.
FOUCINHO, f. m. idem.
FOUVEIRO, a, adj. fallow. Lat. rufus.
FOYO. See FOYO.
FOZ, f. f. ex. Foz de hum rio, the mouth of a river.
De foz em fora, at sea, far from the coast.
Foz, (Metaph.) See ENTRADA.
Hir de foz em fora, (a metaphorical expression) to exceed the limits, or bounds of moderation or reason.
FRACAMENTE, adv. weakly, faintly, poorly.
Fracamente, cowardly.
FRACAÇO, f. m. a great noise, rattling of arms, clashing of swords, &c.
Fracaço, a sudden and unexpected misfortune.
FRACÇAM, f. f. (in arithmetic) a fraction, a broken number.
FRACO, a, adj. weak, feeble, faint, languishing. See also COVARDE.
Memoria fraca, weak or treacherous memory.
Voz fraca, weak voice.
Fraco razam, a weak reason.
Fraca desculpa, a lame excuse.
Fraco remedio, ou expediente, a poor shift.

Fraca consolacão, a cold comfort.
Ter a vista fraca, to be short-sighted.
Fraco, (ignorante.) See IGNORANTE.
Fraco conhecimento, a little knowledge.
Elles estavam fracos de infantaria, they wanted foot.
Fraco, poor, without spirit, flaccid.
Vinho fraco, wine that is half flat, nothing brisk.
Discurso fraco, a flat or plain discourse.
De pouca, ou fraca saúde, sickly.
Eugenbo fraco, a heavy or dull wit.
Na minha fraca opinião, in my poor opinion.
Fraco, insignificant, unimportant, ineffectual, of little or no significance.
Que tem animo, ou espirito fraco, feeble-minded, cowardly, faint-hearted.
Testemunhas fracas, insignificant testimonies.
Fraco, f. m. weak part, or side, weakness.
O fraco de huma pessoa, the feeble, weak side, or blind side.
Eu conheço o fraco delle, I have the blind side of him.
O fraco, ou parte mais fraca da espada, the feeble or small of a sword.
FRACURA, f. f. a fracture, or breaking of a bone, a breaking in pieces.
FRADARIA, f. f. a quantity of friars assembled together; also any religious order of friars; also a friary trick.
FRADÉ, f. m. a friar.
Convento de frades, a friary, a monastery, or convent of friars.
Frade leigo, a lay-brother, (in a monastery.)
Frade, (with printers) a friar, a sheet, page, or part of it so ill wrought off at the press, that it can scarce be read.
FRADESCO, a, adj. of, or belonging to a friar, friar-like, or friary.
FRADESLHO, f. m. a sort of small bird called an ope.
FRADINHO, f. m. a little friar, a child in a friar's habit.
Fradinhos, a sort of flower of a violet colour, so called for being like a friar's hood.
Fradinho da mam furada. See DUENDE.
Feijam fradinho. See FEIJAM.
FRAGA. See FRAGOSIDADE.
FRAGA'LHO, f. m. See TRAPO.
FRAGRANTE, adj. ex. Apanhar algum em fragrante delito, to take a man in flagrant, that is, actually committing the crime.
Ladram tomado em fragrante, ou apanhado com o furto numa tapada, a backberend, or backherond.
FRAGA'RLA, f. f. a strawberry-bush.
FRAGA'TA, f. f. a frigate; also a small boat.
FRAGIL, adj. fragile, brittle, weak, soon broken; also frail, weak of resolution. (Metaph.)
FRAGILIDADE, f. f. fragility, brittleness, weakness; also instability of mind, frailty. (Metaph.)
Peccados de fragilidade, sins of infirmity.
FRAGMENTO, f. m. a fragment, a part broken from the whole, an imperfect piece.
FRAGO, (in hunting) the lesses, or the dung of a rabbit, wolf, &c.
FRAGO'A. See FORNALHA.
FRAGOR, f. m. fragor, a noise, a crash, a crack. Lat.
FRAGOSIDADE, f. f. cragginess, crag, or cragginess.
FRAGO'SO, a, adj. craggy, rugged, full of prominences, rough to walk on, or climb.

FRAGRANCIA, f. f. fragrance, a sweet odour or scent.
FRAGRANTE, adj. fragrant, odoriferous, sweet of smell. See also FRAGANTE.
FRAGUEIRICE, f. f. it is not easy to understand the meaning of this word, nor of the next; but I think it signifies humour, caprice, maggot, or whim.
FRAGUEIRO, a, adj. some say it signifies not to be wearied, indefatigable; some others say it means impatient, uneasy, or the like.
Fragueiro, that lives upon cragged and steep places, or mountains.
Fragueira companhia, the Muses.
FRAGURA, f. f. See FRAGOSIDADE.
FRALDA, or FALDA, f. f. the skirt, or that part of any garment that hangs down, as of a gown, robe, &c. a train.
Fralda da camisa, the lower part both of the fore-slip and hind-slip of a shirt, or of a smock.
Mulher em fraldas de camisa, a woman in her smock, when she has no petticoat on.
Fralda, ou falda do monte, the skirt, or lower part of a mountain.
FRALDA'DO, a, adj. that has a great many folds, or plaits. See also FRALDA'R, v. a. to sew, or clap on a flap or skirt. From FRALDA, which see.
FRADELIM. See GUARDAPE.
FRAMED, f. f. a sort of halbert.
FRAME'NGO. See FLAMENGO.
FRANÇA, f. f. France, a large kingdom of Europe, very advantageously situated in the middle of the temperate zone.
FRANCAMENTE, adv. frankly, freely, liberally.
FRANÇAS, f. f. p. so they call the tops of trees, or the extremities of the branches of them.
FRANCE'LHO, f. m. a kind of hawk called a sparrow-hawk, an hobby.
FRANCE'Z, f. m. a Frenchman.
P. roupa de francezes, things left at random, or exposed to be pillaged.
Francez, a, adj. French.
A' Franceza, after the French fashion.
FRANCE'ZA, f. f. a Frenchwoman.
FRANCHADO, (in heraldry) ex. Escudo partido em franchado. See ESCUDO.
FRANCIDO. See FRANZIDO.
FRANCISCA, f. f. Frances, a proper name for women.
FRANCISCO, f. m. Francis, a proper name for men.
FRANCISCANOS, f. m. p. Franciscans, an order of friars.
FRANCO, a, adj. free from duties, taxes, or any expences, or impediments.
Franco, (Francez.) See FRANCEZ.
Franco, (aberto.) See ABERTO.
Lingoa Franca, a mixture of the French, Italian, Spanish, &c. languages, lingua Franca.
Franco, (sincero.) See SINCERO.
Franco, f. m. a sort of French coin, a livre, worth twenty pence.
FRANCOLIM, f. m. a bird called heathcock or rail.
FRANDES. See FLANDES.
FRANDULA'GEM, f. f. (a vulgar word) trifles, things of small value.
FRANCA, f. f. a young hen, or pullet.
FRANGAM, f. m. a cockrel, a young cock, a chicken.
FRANGIPANA,

ANGIPANA, f. f. a sweet-scented confection so called.
Luzas fringipauis, sweet or perfumed gloves.
FRANGO. See FRANGAM.
FRANGUE, f. m. so the Moors call the Frenchmen, and almost all the European Christians.
FRANJAL, f. f. a fringe.
O que faz franjas, a fringe-maker.
Ornar com franjas, to fringe, to adorn with fringes.
FRANJADO, a, adj. fringed, or adorned with fringes.
FRANQUEADO, a, adj. See FRANQUEAR, v. a. to clear, to facilitate, to make easy, to ease, to set free from any impediment.
Franquear o passo, ou passagem, to clear a passage.
Elle franqueou os Alpes, e entrou em Italia he crossed the Alps and entered into Italy.
Franquear difficuldades, to overcome, or surmount difficulties.
Franquear, to free from duties, imposts, or customs.
FRANQUEZA, f. f. freedom, liberty, or permission granted by any prince to foreigners, that they may come into his kingdom, or go out of it, without any hindrance.
Franqueza, (sinceridade.) See SINCERIDADE.
FRANQUA. See FRANQUEZA. See also OUTO, and ASYLO.
Franquia, (among the Atabians.) See CHRISTANDADE.
FRANSELHO. See FRANCELHO.
FRANZIDO, f. m. plaits, folds.
Franzido, a, adj. gathered into plaits; also shrunk, that expresses fear, pain, &c. by contracting the body. See the v. FRANZIR.
Olhos franzidos, twinkling eyes.
FRANZINO. See DELGADO.
FRANZIR, v. a. to gather into plaits, to contract into folds, to pucker. From the French francer.
Franzir as sobrancelhas, to frown, to look stern, to knit, or contract one's brow.
FRASQUEADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FRASQUEAR, v. n. to fail, faint, yield, or succumb.
Fraquear, to give ground, to fall back, to flag, to grow spiritless.
FRASQUEIRA, or terra fraqueira, a barren, or unfruitful land.
FRASQUEZA, f. f. weakness, feebleness; also fragility, frailty, liability to fault; also frailty, or fault proceeding from weakness, a sin of infirmity. See also the adj. FRACO.
P. tirar forças de fraqueza, to make one's utmost efforts, to make a virtue of necessity.
FRASQUINHO, a, adj. somewhat faint, weak, or feeble. (Diminut. of FRACO.)
FRASCA, (a word not generally used in Portugal.) See LOUÇA.
FRASCA'L. See FASCAL.
FRASCA'RIO, f. m. a man that is given too much to the love of women.
FRASCO, f. m. a square glass-bottle, a flaggon; also a flask, a powder-horn.
O que faz frascos, a flaggon-maker.
Frasto, (among goldsmiths) a box to keep the sand, that serves to cast.

FRASE, or FRASI. See PHRASE.
FRASINELLA, f. f. the herb called Solomon's seal.
FRASQUEIRA, f. f. a box, or case for bottles or flaggons.
FRASQUINHO, f. f. a little bottle, or flaggon; also a powder-horn.
FRATERCIDA. See FRATRICIDA.
FRATERNA, f. f. ex. Fazer huma fraterna, to reprove, to chide, to give one a lecture.
FRATERNAL. See FRATERNÓ.
FRATERNIDADE, f. f. brotherhood, fraternity.
FRATERNÓ, a, adj. brotherly, fraternal. Com caridade fraterna, fraternally, in a brotherly manner.
FRATRICIDA, f. m. and f. the murderer, or murderers of a brother, a fratricide.
FRATRICIDIO, f. m. a fratricide, the murderer of a brother.
FRATRICIDAS, f. f. p. a sort of religious women that lived in their own houses, but were subject to the order of knights of Malta.
FRAUDE, f. f. fraud, cheat.
FRAUDULENCIA, f. f. deceit, fraudulence.
FRAUDULENTAMENTE, adv. deceitfully, fraudulently, or fraudulently.
FRAUDULENTO, adj. fraudulent, fraudulent, deceitful. (Speaking both of persons and things.)
FRAUTA, f. f. a flute.
Frauta doce. See DOÇAINHA, or DOÇAINO.
Tanger a frauta, to play upon the flute.
Frauta transversa, a German flute.
Frauta pequena que tem o som claro, e agudo, a flageolet.
O que tange mal a frauta, a piper.
O que faz frautas, a flute-maker.
FRAUTADO, a, adj. shrill, high in music. See also the v. FRAUTAR.
Voz frautada, a shrill or high voice, also a soft sweet voice.
FRAUTAR, v. a. ex. Frautar o organ, to pull out the flute-stop of an organ, and to pull in the other stops.
FRAUTEIRO, one that plays upon the flute.
FRECHA, f. f. an arrow, a shaft.
O que faz frechas, a fletcher.
De frecha, directly.
Frecha de ponte levadiça, so they call that large piece of timber in a draw-bridge that serves to lift up the bridge.
FRECHADA, f. f. the stroke, or wound of an arrow.
FRECHADO, a, adj. See FRECHAR.
FRECHAL, f. m. (among carpenters) a beam upon the walls of a building, or that piece of wood into which the feet of the principal rafters are framed.
FRECHAR, v. a. to shoot an arrow.
FRECHEIRO, f. m. an archer, he that shoots with a bow; he that carries a bow in battle.
FREGAÇAM. See ESFREGAÇAM.
FREGIR. See FRIGIR.
FREGUEZ, f. m. a parishioner, one that belongs to the parish; also a customer, one who frequents any place of sale for the sake of purchasing.
Tirar os freguezes a huma loja, to balk a shop, to hinder its custom.
Acquirir freguezes, to get, or draw customers, or customers.

FREGUEZIA, f. f. a parish, or parochial church; also a certain compass of ground belonging to it.
FREIMA. See FLEIMA.
FREIMAM, &c. See FLEIMAM, &c.
FREIRA, f. f. a nun; also a sort of fish so called.
FREIRATICO, f. m. one that is given too much to the love of nuns.
FREIRE, f. m. a brother, or religious man of some orders of knighthood; also a fish so called.
FREIRICE, f. f. an habitual intercourse with nuns; also a fancy, maggot, or whimsy of nuns.
FREIXO, f. m. an ash-tree.
O fruto que o freixo da, kit-keys, the fruit of the ash-tree.
De freixo, ash-tree, of ash.
Freixo, (metaph.) a ship.
FREMI DO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FREMI R, v. n. See BRAMIR.
FRENESIS, or PHRENESI, f. f. frenzy, madness.
FRENETICO, a, adj. frantic, mad.
FRENTE, f. f. (a military word) ex. Frete do exercito, the front of an army.
FRE'O, f. m. a bit, a horse-bit.
Tomar o freo nos dentes, is for a horse to champ the bit.
Freio, (metaph.) a check, or curb.
Por freio, to bridle, to curb, to rein; also to keep in, to check, to restrain, to stop, or stay. (Metaph.)
Largar o freio, to let loose the reins. (Both in the proper and figurative sense.)
Tomar o freio na bocca, (metaph.) to resist, to oppose, not to submit.
Freio da lingua, the string that holds the tongue, and hinders tongue-tied people from speaking.
Freio do membro viril, frenulum, a membrane which ties the fore-skin to the rest of the yard.
FREQUENCIA, f. f. frequency, often doing a thing; also a great company or meeting of people.
FREQUENTACAM, f. f. frequenting, going often to a place, or doing a thing often, haunting, conversing.
FREQUENTADAMENTE, adv. oftentimes, frequently.
FREQUENTADO, a, adj. frequented, resorted to, (speaking of a place.) See also FREQUENTAR, v. a. to frequent, or haunt, to go, or resort often to.
Frequentar alguém, ou a casa de alguém, to frequent or haunt one, to converse, keep company, or society with him, to frequent his house.
Frequentar, to make often use of.
Que se pode frequentar, frequentable.
O que frequenta hum lugar, a frequenter, one who often resorts to a place.
FREQUENTATIVO, (in grammar) frequentative, a verb signifying the frequent repetition of an action.
FREQUENTE, adj. frequent, that often cometh, or is often done; also frequent, or used often to practise any thing.
FREQUENTEMENTE, adv. frequently, often.
FRESCA, f. f. cool, ex. Pella fresca, in the cool.
FRESCAL, adj. fresh, new, late made.
Queijo fresco, green, or soft cheese.
FRESCAMENTE, adv. lately, newly.
FRESCO,

FRESCO, a, adj. fresh, cool; also fresh, sweet, opposed to stale or stinking.
Vento fresco, a favourable gale of wind, or a wind not tempestuous, yet stronger than a breeze.
Tempo fresco, cool weather.
Pão fresco, new bread.
Peixe fresco, fresh fish.
Air fresco, fresh or cool air.
Lugar fresco, a pleasant cool place.
Carne fresca, a fresh-coloured wholesome looking woman.
Notícia fresca, such news, that hath not been told before.
Ovos frescos, new-laid eggs.
Peixe fresco, fresh fish.
Peixe fresco, white herrings.
Fresco (f. f.) See SAL, and ROBUSTO.
Carne fresca, fresh, ex. Soladas, fresh troops, or soldiers.
Carne fresca, newly come.
Carne fresca de fresco, herbs fresh gathered.
Carne fresca de cara, a fresh and clear complexion.
Carne fresca, green, or raw wound.
De fresco, or a late date.
Carne fresca de fresco na minha memoria, it is but quite fresh in my memory.
Fresco, that is not dried up.
Fresco, to talk wantonly.
Falocoso, ou de frescos frescos, wanton words, or discourses.
Fresco, f. m. cool.
Faz fresco, it is cool.
Tomar o fresco, to enjoy the cool air.
Faz fresco pelo fresco, ou fresca do dia, to travel in the cool of the day.
P. alguma coisa em fresco. See REFRESCAR.
Fresco, in the cool.
Fresco, (in painting) fresco, a painting on walls newly plastered.
Paintar a fresco, to paint in fresco.
FRESCURA, f. f. coolness, freshness, pleasant air.
FRESQUETA, f. f. (among printers) the mark of a printer's press.
FRESQUIDAM. See FRESCURA.
FRESSURA, f. f. pluck.
Fressura de peço, the hasslet, or hasslet of a hog.
FRESSUREIRA, f. f. a woman that sells plucks.
FRESTA, f. f. a little window, a hole to let in light, a small aperture lengthwise.
Fresta, (fenestra). See JANELLA.
Fresta dos dentes, the space between the teeth that do not join close.
FRETIADO, (in heraldry) ex. Cunho fretado, a net, a field with several lines running across one another like a lattice.
Freto, a. a. f. freighted. See FRETAR.
FRETEAMENTO. See FRETE.
FRETE, v. a. to freight, or hire a ship.
Fretear um navio, to hire, to take a ship, or to freight a ship.
Fretear um navio fundo d'ouro delle, to hire, or to take a ship.
FRETE, f. m. freight, the money for transportation of goods, to hire, or to take to hire a ship.
FRETO, f. m. a narrow sea between two lands, a strait.
FREY, (a title given to friars) brother, ex. Frey Pedro, brother Peter.
FRIACHO. See TIBIO.
FRIAGEM, f. f. the quality of being cold-

ish, & moderate cold.
FRIALDADE, f. f. frigidity, coldness; also want of corporeal warmth.
FRIAMENTE, adv. coldly, without heat; also coldly, or without concern, indifferently, negligently, without warmth of temper or expression, frigidly, or without affection.
Friamente, quietly, calmly, without trouble.
FRIAVEL, adj. (in medicine, surgery, &c.) that may be crumbled, or broken small; friable, or easily reduced to powder. Lat. Qualidade ou disposição de humo conspiciavel, friability, aptness to crumble.
FRIASSE, f. m. fricassée, a dish made by cutting chickens, or other small things in pieces, and dressing them with strong sauce. French.
FRIEIRA, f. f. chilblain, kibe, often occasioned by cold.
Que tem frieiras, kibel, troubled with kibes.
Frieira ulcerada, a kibe, an ulcerated chilblain, a chap in the heel caused by the cold.
Que paluce de frieiras, kibel, troubled with kibes.
FRIEIRA DE. See FRIALDADE.
FRIEZA. See FRIALDADE.
Frieza, (metaph.) coldness, unconcern, frigidity of temper, want of zeal, negligence, disregard; also covetous, want of passion, frigidity, dulness, want of intellectual fire.
FRIGIDEIRA, f. f. a frying-pan.
Frigideira de apanhar o fogo, a dripping-pan, the pan in which the fat of roast meat is caught.
P. cabir da frigideira nas brasas, to fall out of the frying-pan into the fire.
FRIGIDO. See FRIO.
Zonas frigiditas, the frigid, or frozen zones.
Frigido, e maleficiado, impotent, or without power of propagation, and at the same time bewitched and fascinated.
Frigido, a, adj. See
FRIGIR, v. a. to fry, to dress victuals, &c. in a frying-pan.
Cortar carne em pedaços para frigilla, to fritter, to cut meat into small pieces to be fried.
P. ao frigar dos ovos o vereis, you will find it when you come to fry the eggs; that is, you will be sensible of what you do, when you find the ill consequences. They say it was taken from a thief, who having stole a frying-pan, the owner asked him as he was going out, what he carried? he answered, you will know when you go to fry the eggs.
FRINCHA, f. f. (a provincial word.) See GRETA.
FRIO, f. m. cold.
Tenho frio, I am cold.
Faz frio, it is cold.
Tremor com frio, to quake, or shiver with cold.
Tremor com frio, (in falconry) to frill, ex. O falcão está tremendo com frio, the hawk frills.
Que causa frio, causing cold, frigorific.
Fazer-se frio, to grow cold.
Fazer-se muito frio, to grow very cold.
Frio da febre, a cold fit of an ague, chilness.
Frio, adj. cold.
Tempo frio, cold weather.
Frio, (metaph.) serious, unaffected, unconcerned, cold, slack, indifferent, dull, frigid.

Frio, frigid, dull, without fancy or fire. (Metaph.)
Argumentos frios, weak arguments of small force.
Frio, (metaph.) flat, dull, insipid, that has no salt, or wit.
Sangue frio, cold blood.
Alatar o pé com sangue frio, ou a ferro frio, to put one in cold blood.
Alatar com ferro frio. See FERRO.
Leber frio, to use cold drinkings, to drink with ice.
Os bebês frios matam mais gente, drinking with ice kills a world of people.
Amor frio, a cold lover.
Leber de amor muito frio, this author does not affect me in the least.
Frio, ou que faz alguma coisa fria, that makes any thing cold.
Cabo Frio, Cape Frio, a head-land of Rio Janeiro, in Brasil, South America.
Estar sepultado em cinzas frias, (metaph.) to be buried in oblivion.
FRIOLEIRA, or FRIONEIRA, f. f. a foolish, non-sensical expression, a jest without any wit.
Frieira, a trifling, or frivolous thing, a thing of no moment; also frivolousness, want of importance, or ground.
FRIORE'ATO, a, adj. chilly, very sensible of cold.
FRISIA, f. f. See FRISIA.
Cavale de frisa, chevaux-de-frise, a warlike instrument to keep off the horse.
Friza, ou panço de frisa, frize, a course napped cloth, perhaps so called because first made or worn by the people of Friesland.
Friza do panço, the nap, the tufted, or hairy superficies of cloth.
FRISADO, a, adj. See FRISAR.
FRISAM, f. m. one of Friesland.
Cavaleto frizam, or frizam, a great Flanders horse or mare; so called, because they breed in the province of Friesland.
FRISAR, v. a. ex. Frizar o panço, to nap cloth.
Frizar, v. n. to agree, to consent, to hang together. (Metaph.)
FRISIA, f. f. Friesland, one of the seven united provinces of Holland. Lat. Frisia.
Frisia oriental, East Friesland, otherwise called the earldom of Embden. It properly belongs to Westphalia.
FRISO, f. m. (in architecture) frize, or frieze.
FRIADA, f. f. a fricassée; chickens, &c. fried in a pan.
FRIITO, a, adj. fried.
Peixe frito, fried fish.
Ovos fritos, an omelet.
FRIVOLO, a, adj. frivolous, slight, trifling, of no moment.
FRUCADURA, f. f. See
FROCO, f. m. a sort of ribband, or label, hanging down on garlands and garments.
Fraco de neve, a flake of snow.
FRONDENTE. See FOLHUDO.
FRONDIFERO, a, adj. (in poetry) frondiferous.
FRONDO'SO, a, adj. See FOLHUDO.
FRONHA, f. f. a pillowbeer, a pillowcase.
FRONTAL, f. m. an altar-piece, or the ornament that sets off the front of the altar, or is set before it.
Frontal, the head-stall of a bridle.
FRONTALEIRA, f. f. broad slips of silk, &c.

&c. laid along the top of a curtain. See SANFIA.
FRONTARIA, f. f. See FRONTISPICIO, and FACHADA.
FRONTE, f. f. See CARA, and TESTA.
Fronte, (in military affairs) front.
Fronte da terra. See PRAYA.
De frente, adv. over-against.
FRONTEIRA, f. f. a frontier, borders.
Capitam da fronteira. See FRONTEIRO.
FRONTEIRO, a, adj. over-against, frontier.
Cidade fronteira, a frontier town.
Fronteiro, f. m. a governor of a fort on the frontiers.
Fronteiro mór, captain-general of the frontiers. See FRONTEIRO. It was an appellation of honour, or title, formerly given even to the infants of Portugal.
FRONTISPICIO. See FACHADA.
Frontispicio de hum livro, the title, or first page of a book, telling its name, and generally its subject.
FROTA, f. f. merchant-men, or ships that keep company together.
FROVVA, f. f. a sort of bird very much like the magpye.
FROUXE'L, f. m. the down or soft feathers of a goose, &c.
Cama feita de frouxel, a feather-bed.
FROXAME'NTE, adv. slackly, remissly, faintly; also negligently, with delay, coldly.
Froxamente, ou por cerimonia. See CEREMONIA.
FROXIDA'M, f. f. slackness, looseness, not tightness.
Froxidam, (in a moral sense) slackness, negligence, inattention, remissness.
Froxidam, ou falta de devoçam, aridity, or barrenness of devotion.
FRO'XO, or FLOXO, a, adj. slack, not tense, not hard drawn, loose.
Froxo, slack, remiss, not diligent, not eager, not fervent. (In a moral sense.)
Terra froxa, or fraqueira. See FRAQUEIRA.
Froxo. See FLUX.
Estaram nelle a froxo, the voters voted him, or he carried all the votes.
FRUCTIFERO, a, adj. fructiferous, bearing fruit, fruitful.
FRUCTIFICA'DO, a, adj. See FRUCTIFICAR, v. a. to fructify, to make fruitful, (both in the proper and moral sense.)
Fructificar, v. n. to fructify, to bear fruit.
FRUCTUOSAME'NTE, adv. commodiously, profitably.
FRUCTUO'SO, a, adj. profitable, beneficial.
FRUGA'L, adj. frugal, thrifty, sparing, parsimonious, not lavish.
Homem frugal, a frugal man.
Meza frugal, a frugal meal, or table.
FRUGALIDA'DE, f. f. frugality, thrift, parsimony, good husbandry.
Com frugalidade, frugally, parsimoniously, sparingly, thriftily.
FRUITA. See FRUTA.
FRUIÇA'M, f. f. fruition, enjoyment, possession.
FRUNCHO, or FURUNCULO, f. m. a sore called a felon, a boil.
FRUSTRADAME'NTE, adv. in vain, to no purpose.
FRUSTRA'DO, a, adj. frustrated, disappointed. See the v. FRUSTRAR.
Ficou a sua esperança frustrada, he was disappointed of his hope.

FRUSTRANEAMENTE, adv. in vain, to no purpose.
FRUSTRA'NEO, a, adj. vain, useless.
FRUSTRAR, v. a. to frustrate, to disappoint, to balk.
Frustrar as esperanças de alguém, to frustrate one of his hopes.
Frustrar os designios de alguém, to frustrate one's designs, to make them miscarry.
Frustrar-se, v. r. to be disappointed, to miscarry, not to succeed.
FRUSTRATO'RIO, a, adj. See FRUSTRANEO.
FRUTA, f. f. fruitage, fruit collectively, various fruits, fruitery.
Casa de fruta, an apple-loft, or storehouse for fruit, a fruit-loft, a repository for fruit.
Tempo da fruta, fruit-time.
Fruta que tem casca dura, como as nozes, &c. all fruits that have a hard shell.
Fruta nova. See ALBRICOQUE.
FRUTA'R, v. n. to fructify, to bear fruit.
FRUTE'IRA, f. f. an apple-woman, a woman that sells fruit.
FRUTEIRO, f. m. a fruiterer, one who trades in fruit.
Frutero, a fruit-dish.
FRUTICE, f. m. See ARBUSTO.
FRUTIFICADO. See FRUCTIFICADO.
FRUTIFICAR. See FRUCTIFICAR.
FRUTO, f. m. fruit, the product of a tree or plant, in which the seeds are contained.
Frutos da terra, como trigo, legumes, &c. all kinds of products, that the earth bringeth forth, as corn, pulse, &c.
Abundante em frutos, fruitful, abundantly productive.
Dar fruto, to fructify, to bear fruit.
Frutos, rent, or revenue of land, (in law.)
Fruto, fruit, advantage gained by any enterprise or conduct.
Fruto de bençam, ou fruto do matrimonio, fruit, offspring of the womb, a lawful issue.
Que não dá fruto, fruitless, barren of fruit, not bearing fruit.
FRUXO. See FLUX.
Fruxo de riso, a sudden laugh.
FUCINHE'IRA. See FOCINHEIRA.
FUCINHO. See FOCINHO.
FUCINHU'DO. See FOCINHU'DO.
FUEIRO, f. m. a stick fastened in the sides of a cart, to sustain the cart-load.
FUGA, f. f. flight, running away, and escape.
Fuga, (in music) fugue, a chase, as when two or more parts chase one another in the same point.
Fazer fuga, (in a moral sense) to forsake, to quit, to leave.
Fuga, the room or extent of place that is necessary for a cannon or engine when it plays.
Fuga de casas, several rooms placed in a line or row, with the doors facing one another.
FUGA'CE, adj. swift in flight, fleet, that is easily put to flight.
FUGACIDA'DE, f. f. fugacity, quality of flying away; also fugacity, uncertainty, instability.
FUGA'ES festas, Fugalia, festivals observed by the ancient Romans, on account of the expulsion of their kings.
FUGALA'ÇA, f. f. (a ludicrous word) time, leisure. See also REGABOFE.

Dar fugalaça, to let a rope go by hand, or to let it run out of itself.
FUGA'Z, adj. See FUGACE.
FUGE'NTE, adj. (in heraldry) represented in a flying posture.
FUGIDA, f. f. See FUGA.
Pôr em fuga. See AFUGENTAR.
FUGIDISSO, ou fugidiço. See DESEXTOR.
FUGIDO, a, adj. runaway, &c. See FUGIR.
FUGIR, v. n. to fly, to run away; also to decline, to shun, or avoid to do any thing.
Fugir de alguma coisa, ou a alguma coisa, to shun or avoid a thing.
Foge da minha presença, avoid my presence.
Fugir do trabalho, to eschew labour.
Fugir da vista de alguém, to escape one's sight.
Fugir o corpo, ou com o corpo a alguma coisa, (metaph.) to decline, to shun, to avoid to do any thing.
Fugir o corpo, ou com o corpo ao golpe de alguém, to shun, or avoid one's blow or thrust.
Fugir da justiça, ou à justiça, to fly from justice.
Isto foge à nossa vista, that is removed from our sight, we cannot see it.
Fugir, to slip away, (as time.)
Fugir o pé a alguém. See ESCORREGAR.
Deixar fugir a occasião, to slip the occasion.
Fugir da memoria, to slip, to escape, to fall away out of the memory.
Fugir o tempo a alguém, (in a figurative sense) is for one to lose by negligence, or to slip the occasion.
Fugir a voz, is for one single part to begin to sing, and then be seconded by a third, fourth, &c. part. See FUGA, (in music.)
Fugir, ou escapar a unhas de cavallo. See ESCAPAR.
Fugir do inimigo no mar, to bear away, to run away at sea.
FUGITIVO, a, adj. fugitive, not tenable, not to be held, or detained, (both in the proper and figurative sense.)
Prazeres fugitivos, momentaneous, or transitory pleasures.
Fugitivo, that slips away. (Speaking of time.)
Fugitivo, rapid. (Speaking of a river.)
Fugitivo, f. m. a runner away, he that flies away, a fugitive.
FUINHA, ou foinha, f. f. See FOINHA.
FUINHO, f. m. a bird that is always creeping on the bodies of trees, a wood-pecker.
FULA. See EMPOLLA.
Fula fula, (a vulgar expression and ludicrous reduplication) hurry, or great haste; also great dealing or trade, a crowd or multitude of affairs. From the French fole.
Fula, ou fura. See SURA.
FULGURA'R. See RELAMPAGUEAR.
FULHEIRO, f. m. a sharper at play, a fallendo.
FULHERIA, f. f. sharpening, or cheating at play.
FULLA'NA, f. f. FULLA'NO, f. m. such a one. From the Hebrew feloni, or the Arabic phulen, such a one.
O senbar fullano, master such a one.
FULIE'NSES, f. m. p. an order of begging friars of the order of St. Bernard. They had their beginning under pope Gregory XIII.

FULGEM, f. f. See FERRUGEM da chimia.
Fulgem, (among physicians) a fuliginous vapour.
FULIGINOSO, a, adj. fuliginous, sooty.
Fulgores fuliginosos, (among physicians) fuliginous vapours.
FULMINADO, a, adj. thunderstruck, blasted. See also the v. FULMINAR.
FULMINADOR, f. m. he who fulminates.
FULMINANTE, p. aet. fulminant, casting thunderbolts; also that makes thunderbolts.
Fulminante, (in chemistry) ex. Curo fulminante, aurum fulminans.
Fulminante, (metaph.) fierce, terrible, fulminant, making a noise like thunder, fulminatory.
FULMINAR, v. a. to strike with a thunderbolt, to blight.
Fulmar, (metaph.) to strike terror, to fulminate, to throw out as an object of terror.
Fulmar mortes, to kill a great many men.
Fulmar golpes, to cut or wound many a man.
Fulmar uma excomunhão, to fulminate, or thunder out an excommunication.
Fulminar, to punish severely.
Fulminar a lei, to punish severely the poor sort of people.
Fulmar, (desfruir.) See DESTRUIR.
Fulmar ameaças, to threaten highly.
Fulmar sentença. See SENTENCIAR.
Fulmar, to go about, or endeavour to do a thing, to design, meditate, plot, or contrive. See MAQUINAR.
Processo fulminante, a suit or trial that is concluded.
Fulmar um processo, to conclude or put an end to a process, suit, or trial; from fulmen, a thunderbolt, because the sentence is like a thunderbolt to a criminal, and to him that is cast.
FULO, f. m. a sort of black-a-moor.
FULFO, a, adj. of a deep yellow, fallow colour.
FUMAÇA, f. f. a smoky paper held under the nose of one that sleeps.
Fumaça, (in military affairs) the smoke that rises from powder, and gives signal in the day-time in a watch-tower.
Fumaça. (In a moral sense.) See ORGULHO, and VALIDADE.
FUMAÇO, f. m. (In military affairs.) See FUMAÇA.
FUMADO. } See { FUMEGADO.
FUMAR. } { FUMEGAR.
FUMARADA, f. f. See ORGULHO.
FUMARIA, f. f. the herb fumitory, fumitory, or earth-smoke.
FUMEGADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
FUMEGAR, v. n. to fume, to smoke.
FUMEIRO, f. m. the tunnel of a chimney, or the place where they smoke bacon, or the like.
P. dizem os filhos ao soalheiro, o que ouvem dizer a seus pais ao fumeiro, the child said nothing but what he heard at the fire; or what children hear at home soon flies abroad; to which pretty nearly answers the other proverb, that little pitchers have great ears. These proverbs are a good caution to parents and others, not to use too much freedom in discourse before children; therefore, maxima debetur puero reverentia, says Juvenal.

Carne de fumeiro, meat dried by smoke.
Fumifero, a, adj. fumiferous, bringing smoke, (in poetry.)
FUMO, f. m. smoke, vapour, steam.
Fazer ou lançar fumo, to smoke.
Que lança, ou faz muito fumo, smoky.
Ir-se, ou resolver-se em fumo, to come to nothing. (Metaph.)
Fumo, (metaph.) smoke, air, wind, vain hope.
Já nam há disso fumo, (a metaphorical expression) it vanished away, or it is come to nothing.
Seccar ao fumo, to smoke-dry, to dry by smoke.
Que parece, ou tem a natureza de fumo, smoky, that has the appearance or nature of smoke.
Fumo que sahe do vinho, e dos comeres, e ha agradavel ao olfato, flavour.
Faz fumo nesta casa, this room smokes.
Fazer negro com o fumo, to besmoke.
Negro com o fumo, besmoked.
Lugar por onde sahe o fumo em huma cabana, a loover, an opening for the smoke in a cottage.
Arco de fumo, ou defumado. See ARENQUE.
Fumos que sobem a cabeça, fumes or vapours.
Ter fumos, (metaph.) to be proud, haughty.
Fumo do chapeo, a mourning hat-band.
Fumo. (Metaph.) See ORGULHO, and PRESUMÇÃO.
Fumo da terra, or erva molarinha. See ERVA.
P. onde fogo não ha, fumo não se levanta; we say, when there is smoke there is fire.
P. perto vey o fumo da chama; we say, there is no smoke without some fire.
FUMO'SO, a, adj. smoky, that smoketh, fumid, vaporous; also that has a flavour, or pleasant smell or taste. (Speaking of wine, meats, &c.)
Fumoso. (Metaph.) See ORGULHOSO.
Fumus terræ. See FUMO da terra.
FUNAMBULO, f. m. a dancer on the ropes, a tumbler. From the Lat. funambulus.
FUNÇÃO, f. m. a function, or employment; also a feast, an entertainment, or any public act.
FUNCE, f. m. a sort of Indian vessel, or ship.
FUNCHAL, f. m. Funchal, the capital of a territory of its own name, and likewise of the whole Madeira Islands. It lies on a fine bay of the Atlantic Ocean, is subject to Portugal, and three hundred and twenty miles west of Morocco, in Africa. Here is the see of a bishop. It takes its name from FUNCHAL, a place set with fennel.
FUNCHO, f. m. fennel.
Funcho de porco, maiden-weed, hog's-fennel, or sulphur-wort.
Funcho marinho, rock-samphire, sea-fennel.
Funcho bravo, ou silvestre, wild, or great fennel.
FUNDA, f. f. a sling.
Braços da funda, the strings of the sling.
O meyo, ou centro da funda em que assenta a pedra, the strap of the sling.
O que atira com funda, a slinger, or one that hurlth stones out of a sling.
Atirar com a funda, to sling, to throw by a sling.
Funda, a truss, a bandage by which ruptures are restrained from lapsing.

FUNDAÇÃO, f. f. a foundation; also the original, rise; a revenue settled for any purpose, particularly charity.
FUNDA'DO, a, adj. See the v. FUNDAR.
FUNDADOR, f. m. a founder, one from whom any thing has its original or beginning; also a founder, one who establishes a revenue for any purpose.
FUNDADORA, f. f. founders, a woman that begins or establishes any thing, and particularly any charitable revenue.
FUNDAGEM, f. f. See BORRA.
FUNDAMENTO, a, adj. See the v. FUNDAMENTAR.
FUNDAMENTAL, adj. fundamental, both in the proper and figurative sense.
Pedra fundamental, a foundation stone.
FUNDAMENTAR, v. a. to establish. See ASSEGURAR.
FUNDAMENTO, f. m. a foundation, the principles or ground on which any notion is raised; also the foundation, or lower parts of an edifice. See also ALICERSE.
Sem fundamento, groundlessly.
Com fundamento, groundedly.
Que não tem fundamento, groundless.
FUNDA'R, v. a. to lay the foundation or ground-work.
Fundar, ou fazer os alicerces de huma casa, to groundsel a house.
Fundar, to ground, or to found as upon cause, or principle.
Fundar a sua opinião, to ground one's opinion.
Fundar, to found, or institute.
Fundar huma igreja, to endow a church. (Metaph.)
Fundar hum imperio, to lay the foundation of an empire. (Metaph.)
Fundar, (in a moral sense) to dive into a subject, to examine it thoroughly.
Fundar muito, (speaking of plants) to root deeply, or to a great depth.
Fundar ou por o fundo a hum barril, &c. to clap on a bottom to a cask, &c.
Fundar-se, v. r. to be grounded.
Fundar-se no credito e protecção de hum homem, to rely, to build, to depend upon a man's credit, or protection.
Fundar-se em algum texto da escriptura sagrada, to ground what one lays upon some passage of the holy writ.
FUNDEADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of
FUNDEAR, v. n. to dive, to sink voluntarily and go to the bottom, as those do who dive for the pearl.
FUNDEIRO, f. m. a slinger.
FUNDIADO. See FUNDEADO.
FUNDIAR. See FUNDEAR.
FUNDIBULARIO, f. m. (among the ancient Romans) a slinger.
FUNDIÇÃO, f. f. a melting, founding, or casting; also a foundry, a casting-house.
Defundicam, melted, or cast.
FUNDIDO, a, adj. melted, cast.
Olhos fundidos, or encovados. See ENCOVADO. See also the v. FUNDIR.
FUNDIDO'R, f. m. a founder, a calter.
Fundidor de sinos, a bell-founder.
FUNDILHO, f. m. (among taylor's) a gore to widen the breeches.
FUNDIR, v. a. to melt, to dissolve, to liquify.

- Fundir hum sino, ou huma estatua*, to cast a bell, or a statue.
- Fundir a casa com estrondos*, to throw a family into confusion, to set a family in an uproar, to make such a noise as if they would shake the house down.
- Fundir*, v. n. (render.) See RENDER.
- Fundir*, (aproveitar.) See APROVEITAR, and SERVIR.
- Fundir-se*, v. r. to melt, to become liquid, to be made fluid.
- Fundir-se*, to sink, to fall in.
- Fundio-se o chão de repente*, the floor fell in, or sunk all of a sudden.
- Fundio-se a terra debaixo dos seus pés*, the earth sunk under his feet.
- FUNDO*, f. m. bottom of any thing.
- Fundo do mar*, the bottom of the sea.
- Dar fundo*, (a sea expression) to cast anchor.
- Lançar ou meter hum navio no fundo*, to sink a ship.
- Fundo*, (profundidade.) See PROFUNDIDADE.
- Fundo da agulha*, the eye of a needle.
- Hir, ou hir-se ao fundo*, to settle, sink, or go to the bottom.
- Que não tem fundo, ou sem fundo*, bottomless.
- Fundo do coração*, the bottom, or inward recesses of the heart.
- Fundo*, the further end, the most remote part, the utmost part.
- Fundo de hum negocio*, (metaph.) the main, or main point of an affair.
- Penetrar, ou hir ao fundo de huma questão, ciência, &c.* to dive, to go deep into any question, science, &c. (Metaph.)
- Ter fundo*, to be deep.
- Fundo de hum barril*, the head of a cask.
- Fundo de hum liquor*. See BORRA.
- Fundo*, (among painters) the ground.
- O fundo da pintura he muito claro*, the ground of the picture is too light.
- Fundo do exercito*, the distance between the front and the rear of an army.
- Fundo*, a, adj. deep, profound.
- Diamante fundo*, so they call a diamond that is worked both in the upper and inner part.
- FUNDURA*, f. f. deepness, profundity, depth.
- FUNEBRE*, adj. funeral, funereal.
- Oração fúnebre*, a funeral oration.
- Pompá fúnebre*, the funeral, the pomp or procession with which the dead are carried.
- Fúnebre*, (triste.) See TRISTE.
- FUNERAL*, adj. See FUNEBRE.
- Funeral*, f. m. a funeral, the solemnization of a burial, obsequies.
- FUNEREO*, a, adj. (in poetry.) See FUNEBRE.
- FUNESTADO*, a, adj. See
- FUNESTAR*, v. a. to pollute, or defile, to inqumate, (in a religious sense). See also PROPHANAR.
- Funestar*, to sadden, to make melancholy, or gloomy.
- FUNESTO*, a, adj. fatal, unlucky.
- FUNGAM*, f. m. a sort of mushroom called a puff-ball, or puff-bill.
- FUNGO*, f. m. a mushroom; also a sort of tumour, or excrescence in wounds.
- FUNGOZO*, a, adj. spongy.
- O abstrato de fungoso*, sponginess.
- FUNIL*, f. m. a funnel, or tunnel.
- FUNILEIRO*, f. m. he who makes funnels.
- FURACA'M*, f. m. a whirlwind, an hurricane, starting up on a sudden, which overturns houses, and sinks ships, unless they be provided to receive it.
- FURADO*, a, adj. bored, &c. See the v. FURAR.
- Diabinho da mão furada*, Robin Good-fellow, a good-natured sort of spirit, some people imagine haunts houses.
- Mal furada*. See HYPERICAM.
- FURADO'R*, f. m. a borer, a piercer, an instrument to bore.
- FURAR*, v. a. to bore, or pierce.
- Furar de parte a parte*, to bore through.
- Furar*, (metaph.) to sail, or pass through, or over, by a ship.
- Furar*, (metaph.) to dive, to go deep into any question, or subject, to be acute, sagacious, and penetrative, to penetrate into the inside and reality of things.
- Furar a noite*, is for the students in the universities not to study, nor mind their books in the three hours of the night, as it is usual amongst them.
- FURCULA*, f. f. (in anatomy) furcale os, furcula superior furcella, or the upper part of the sternum, or breast-bone.
- FURFURACEO*, a, adj. scurfy, furfuraceous. (Among physicians.)
- FURFURACIO*, f. m. furfures, dandruff, the scales that fall from the head, or skin, or the other parts of the body.
- FURIA*, f. f. fury, rage, madness, precipitation, rashness.
- Levanto da furia*. See ENFURECIDO.
- Furia*, boisterousness, storminess, vehemence. (Speaking of wind, sea, &c.)
- Furia*, frolic, whim.
- Fazer huma furia*, to do a thing out of frolic.
- Furia*, a sort of sport, or diversion by water, with fiddles, victuals, &c. particularly by night, a match for pleasure.
- Fazer huma furia neste festivo*, is for some friends to divert themselves by water, &c. See FURIA.
- Furia*, hunt, fire, eagerness, sally.
- Velasco não quiz dar batalha a os Franceses e desta sorte esfriou a primeira furia delles*, by avoiding an engagement, Velasco cooled the first eagerness of the French.
- Furie*, one of the Furies of hell mentioned by the poets.
- FURIBUNDO*, a, adj. See FURIOSO.
- FURIOSAMENTE*, adv. furiously, madly, violently.
- FURIOSO*, a, adj. furious, transported by passion beyond reason; also furious, mad, phrenetic.
- Furioso*, exceeding, amazingly great.
- FURNA*, f. f. a hollow place, a cavern, or den.
- FURNIMENTO*, f. m. so they call the timber of a sort of northern oak, like a fir-tree.
- FURO*, f. m. a bore, the hole made by boring.
- Fazer, ou dar hum furo*, to bore a hole.
- Vir a furo*, (speaking of an impostume) to draw to a head.
- FURO'R*, f. m. fury, rage, madness, frenzy.
- Furor poetico*, poetical rapture.
- Furor prophetico*, (among the heathens) an enthusiastic rapture, such as that of heathen priests, who pretended to be inspired by God.
- Furor divino*, the holy zeal.
- Ter furezes de amor prophano*, to doat, to be in love to extremity, to be disordered with love.
- Furor uterino*, a distemper which provokes women to transgress the rules of common modesty.
- FURRIE'L*. See FORRIEL.
- FURTA'CO'RES*, f. m. ex. Tafeta furtacores, changeable taffeta.
- FURTADE'LA*, f. f. it is only used adverbially, ex. As furtadellas, by stealth.
- FURTA'DO*, a, adj. stolen. See also the v. FURTAR.
- Luzes furtadas*, so they call candles, or any thing that gives light, and is not seen.
- Passo furtado*. See FURTAPASSO.
- FURTAFO'GO*, ex. Lanterna de jofafage, a dark-lantern.
- FURTAPASSO*, f. m. (speaking of a horse) ex. Carvalho que anda de furtapasso, a horse that goes very easy, a pad.
- FURTA'R*, v. a. to thief, to steal, to rob; also to subtract, or take away.
- Furtar occultamente*, to purloin.
- O que furta occultamente*, a pickpocket.
- Furtar o corpo ao golpe*. See FUGIR o corpo, ou com o corpo.
- Furtar o corpo*, (metaph.) See FUGIR o corpo, ou com o corpo. (Metaph.)
- Furtar coisas de pouco preço*, to pilfer.
- O que furta coisas de pouco preço*, a pilferer.
- Furtar*, (falsificar.) See FALSIFICAR.
- Furtar do thesouro publico estando delle carregado*, to embezzle.
- Furtar*, to ravish, to take away by violence.
- Dado, ou inclinado a furtar*, thievish.
- Disposi'am, ou habito de furtar*, thievishness.
- Furtar o tempo*, to spare time.
- Se posso furtar algum tempo*, if I can spare any time, if I have any time to spare.
- Furtar meninos*, to kidnap, to steal children.
- O que furta meninos*, a kidnapper.
- Tempo ou horas furtadas*, a spare time.
- Furtar as voltas*, to dodge, to run from side to side, or place to place, to avoid one, to double and turn like a hunted hare.
- Furtar as voltas, ou caminhar a cego*, is to go through several windings and turnings, in order to overtake one at unawares.
- Furtar-se*, v. r. See ABRIGAR-SE.
- Furtar-se da vista de alguém*, to escape one's sight.
- P. quem huma vez furta, fiel nunca*, he who once steals, is never trusty. Once a thief, always a thief.
- FURTIVAMENTE*, adv. privily, by stealth.
- FURTIVO*, a, adj. private, secret.
- FURTO*, f. m. theft, the act of stealing; also the thing stolen, thievery.
- A furto, ou furtivamente*. See FURTIVAMENTE.
- FURUNCULO*. See FRUNCHO.
- FUSÁ*, f. f. (in music.) See COLCHEA.
- FUSCO*, a, adj. brown, tawny, dusky. See also LUSCO.
- Fusco*, (triste.) See TRISTE.
- FUSIL*. See FUZIL.
- FUSILADO*, &c. See FUZILADO, &c.
- FUSO*, f. m. a spindle.
- Fuso do lagar*, the screw or spindle of a wine-press.
- Direito como hum fuso*, as straight as a spindle; we say, as an arrow.
- P. mal way ao fuso quando a barba não anda em cima*, alas for the spindle when the beard is not over it: by the spindle is meant the woman, and by the beard the man.

F U T

F U Z

F U Z

P. cada terra com seu uso cada roca com seu uso, so many countries, so many customs.
FUSTÁ, f. f. a foist, a pinnacle, or small ship, with sails, or oars.
FUSTAM, f. m. fustian.
Festo de fustão, fustian.
FUSTETE, f. m. a sort of wood that serves to make yellow dye.
FUSTICADO, a, adj. See
FUSTIGAR, v. a. to switch, or to beat with switches; also to cudgel, to beat with a cudgel, to fustigate. See also CAS-TIGAR.
FUTIL, adj. futile, trifling, worthless, of no weight.

FUTILIDADE, f. f. futility, triflingness, want of weight, want of solidity.
FUTURO, a, adj. future, that which will be hereafter.
O estado de huma causa futura, futurity.
Tempo, ou causa futura, futurity, time to come, events to come.
Futuro, f. m. (in grammar) the future, or future tense.
Futuro, the future, or time to come.
Para o futuro, for the future, henceforth, futurely.
FUZA'M, f. f. See FUNDIÇA'M.
Fogo de fuzem, (in chemistry) a reverberated flame, a reverberatory flame or fire.

FUZE'LA, f. f. (in heraldry) a fusil.
FUZIL, f. m. a steel to strike fire withal. See also RELAMPAGO.
Elle vive ao lume do seu fuzil, he lives upon his own estate.
Fazer fuzis, (a sea expression) to give a signal with the smoke of powder.
FUZILADO, p. of the preterperf. tense of FUZILAR.
FUZILAM, f. m. See FIVELA.
FUZILAR, v. n. to lighten.
Fuzilar, or fazer fuzis, (a sea expression.) See FUZIL.
FUZIS pennas, beam feathers, the long feathers of the wing of a hawk.

G.

G, f. m. the seventh letter of the Portuguese alphabet. It has a double sound, viz. hard and soft. It retains the hard sound before a, c, u, l, r, as in ga-l, gelpa, &c. the soft sound resembles that of j, and is round before e, i, as in ge-l, gira, &c.
 Sometimes they intermix the letter u between the g and e, or i, as in guerra, guel, &c. and then the gue is pronounced as g in the word guê, and gai like gi in the word gi.
Ge is almost like gwa, ex. Guarda, guarda, &c.
G, in Latin numbers signified four thousand, according to this verse:
G quadragesima demonstrativa tenebit.
G, with a dash at top, signified forty thousand.
GADADINHO, a, adj. (a familiar word) it is fed both of persons and things that are most commended and praised: diminutive from GABADO, a, adj. See GABAR.
GABADO'A, f. m. a praiser, a commender.
GABADORIA, f. f. the that commends both.
GABAM, f. m. a gabardine, a coarse frock worn by country people. See ALBER-NIZ.
GABAR, v. a. to praise, to commend.
Gabarse, v. r. to boast, to brag, to display one's own worth or actions in great words, to vaunt.
Discurso para que alguém se gabe, ou a causa de que alguém se gaba, a boast.
O que se gabava, a boaster, a vaunter, a bragger.
Cada que se gaba, ou se inclinada a gabar-se, boastful, or inclined to brag.
GABELLA, f. f. so they call a certain sum of money deposited by the appellants in the court of chancery.
GABINARDO, f. m. See GABAM.
GABINETE, f. m. a cabinet; also the king's cabinet-council.

GABIO, f. m. (In cant) See CHAPEO.
GABO. See LOUVOR.
GABRILO, f. m. a sort of net for fishing.
GACHO, f. m. (speaking of a bull) the nape or joint of the neck behind.
GADAMECIS, or GADAMENINS. See GUADAMECINS.
GADANHO. See GUADANHO.
GADANHO, f. m. (among country people) it is only used in this phrase, Não posso fazer gadanho, that is, my hand is benumbed with cold; or I am so cold that I cannot contract or double my fingers.
Lançar a alguém os gadanhos. See AGADANHAR.
Meter os gadanhos n' alguma coisa, to lay or clap one's hand upon a thing, (a vulgar phrase.)
Gadanho, (speaking of birds of prey) a crooked claw.
GADELHA, f. f. a lock of hair; it is also taken for the hair that grows on the lips and chin. From the Hebrew gedelim.
Gadelhas de lã, so they call the flocks of wool wound up in a round bottom, or brought into a round heap.
Vir as gadelhas com alguém, to fly in one's face, and pull him by the head. Terence says, involare in capillum.
GADELHA'DO, a, adj. (in heraldry) ex. Gadelhas de cabelos vermelhos, adorned with red hair.
GADELHADO, a, adj. one that wears much hair; but it is more properly said of one that wears long and lank hair, that hangs flat down.
GADIZ. See CADIZ.
GADITANO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Cadiz, or Cadiz.
GADO, f. m. cattle of any sort.
O que negoceia em gado, ou o que cria gado, para o vender, a grazier.
Eles tomaraõ com cabeças de gado, they took a hundred head of cattle.

Gado grosso, big cattle.
Gado miúdo, all smaller cattle, as sheep, goats, &c.
Mantida de gado grosso, a drove, or herd of big cattle.
Rebanho de gado miúdo, a flock of sheep, goats, &c.
GAFÁ, f. f. the bender of a cross-bow.
GAFADO, a, adj. See the v. GAFAR.
GAFANHO'TO, f. m. a locust.
GAFAR, v. a. to snatch away suddenly, or violently, particularly with the nails, or with any thing that is hooked.
Gafar a péla, not to stretch the hand cleverly in playing at tennis.
Gafar, v. n. is for olives to rot and fall down; which is occasioned by fogs.
Gafarse, v. r. to be infected.
Gafarse de farna, to be infected with the itch.
GAFARIA, f. m. an hospital for lepers, or people infected with leprosy.
GAFERIA, f. f. a sort of leprosy that makes the joints stand bent; also a sort of disorder in goats, by which their hair comes off.
Gafeira, or farna de caõ, mange.
GAFEO, a, adj. infected; as, Gaso de farna, infected with the itch.
Gafê, benumbed, crooked jointed, sick with a sort of leprosy which makes the joints stand bent.
Azeitona gafa, so they call the olives that are rotten and ready to fall down. See GAFAR, v. n.
GAGAO, f. m. a sort of game with dice.
GAGATA, f. f. gagates, a sort of stone.
GAGEIRO, f. m. a man that stands in the round-top of a ship's mast to descry land, or enemies.
Vinho gageiro, heady wine, that flies up quickly into one's head.
GAGES, f. f. p. See GAFAS.
GAGO, a, adj. stuttering, or hammering.
GAGUEJADO,

GAGUEJ'ADO, a, adj. See GAGUEJ'AR, v. n. to flutter, to flammer. Homem ou mulher que gagueja, a flutterer, a flammer, one that speaks with hesitation.

GAGUE'IRA, f. f. flammering, fluttering.

GAICHE'TE. See GAXETAS.

GAIFO'NAS, f. f. p. grimaces, wry faces. See also GALHOFA.

GAIO. See GALO.

GAIO'LA, f. f. a cage, or bird-cage.

Gaiola grande, ou viveiro de passaros, an aviary.

GAIPÉ'IRO, f. m. (in the province of Minho) one that likes grapes.

GAIPO, f. m. See LSGALHOS de uvas.

GAITA, f. f. See FRAUTA.

Gaita de folle, a bagpipe.

Tocar a gaita, to play upon the flute.

Tocar a gaita. (A low and vulgar expression.) See EMBORRACHAR-SE.

Gaitas, so they call those holes that are seen in a lamprey's neck; and because that part of it is very dainty, hence came the proverb, Sabe como gaitas, it tastes like gaitas; that is, it is a very exquisite and dainty meat.

GAITE'IRO, f. m. See FRAUTEIRO.

Gaitero que toca gaita de folle, a bagpiper.

Gaitero, a gallant.

Gaitêiro, a, adj. of gaudy and very gay colours.

GAIV'AM, f. m. martinet, or martlet, a kind of swallow.

GAIVO'TA, f. f. a sea-mew, cob, or gull.

GAIVOT'AM, f. m. a sort of large bird about the Cape of Good-Hope.

GAJADERO'PA, f. f. a kind of shell-fish.

GA'JAS, f. f. p. an honorary gift over and above the wages; by-gains, by-profits, perquisites.

GAJE'IRO. See GAGEIRO.

GA'LA, f. f. ornament, finery, a rich and splendid dress; also gracefulness, elegance of manners. Greek.

GALA'DO. See GALLADO, and the v. GALAR.

GALADU'RA. See GALLADURA.

GALAGALA, f. f. a composition or mixture of hair and tar, wherewith they cover all that part of the ship which is under water, before they sheath it, that when the worm goes through the sheathing, it may not fasten upon the side of the ship.

Lançar galagala a hum navio, to sheath, or to case that part of the hull of a ship that is to be under water, with something to hinder the worms from entering into her planks; then nailing on milled lead, or planks of wood.

GALA'N. See GALANTE.

GALA'NGA, f. f. galangal, a medicinal root.

GALANYCF, f. f. fineness, elegance.

GALANTE, adj. gallant, comely, handsome, graceful, civil; also merry, pleasant, jocular, witty.

Dito galante, a neat, witty, or pleasant saying.

Galante, f. m. a gallant, one who courts a lady.

GALANTEA'DO, a, adj. See

GALANTEA'R, v. n. to play, to joke.

Galanteár, v. a. to court, to gallant.

Galanteár huma dama, to court a lady.

GALANTEME'NTE, adv. pleasantly, handsomely, with a good grace.

GALANTE'O, f. m. gallantry, courtship.

GALANTERIA, f. f. gallantry, courteous behaviour, genteelness.

Galanteria nas palavras, wit, pleasant wittiness in words.

Acho-lhe muyta galanteria, elle quer que eu viva a seu modo, (an ironical expression) a pretty man indeed, he would confine me to live as he doth.

Com galanteria. See GALANTEMENTE.

Galanterias, neat and curious works, pretty toys, or knacks.

GALA'M, f. m. a galloon of any sort, silk, silver, or gold.

Gala's, bound, start, (speaking of a horse that starts for a race, and flies out on a sudden.)

GALA'R, v. n. to be dressed fine and gay.

Galár, v. a. See GALLAR.

GALARDA'M, f. m. reward. From the French guerdon.

Deos vos de o galardão, God reward you.

GALARDO'ADO, a, adj. rewarded.

GALARDOA'R, v. a. to reward.

O que galardoa, a rewarder.

Digno de ser galardoado, rewardable.

GALARIM, f. m. a multiplication of numbers. See Clavius's Arithmetic, chap. xxv. De progressionibus.

GALATRISTE. See GALLITRICO.

GALA'XIA, f. f. the galaxy, or milky way.

GAL'BANO, f. m. galbanum, a fat juice, which will not dissolve in oil, but in water, betwixt a gum and a resin, for it burns like resin, and dissolves in water like a gum.

GALDRO'PE, f. m. See GUALDROPE.

GALE', f. f. a galley; also a printer's tool called a galley.

GA'LEA, f. f. See CAPACETE.

Que tras gálea, galeated.

GALEA'ÇA, f. f. a galeas.

GALEA'M, f. f. we call it a galloon; they were formerly great ships of an odd form, trading to the West-Indies; now all the men of war sent to those parts, though nothing different from other ships, are called galloons.

GALEA'TO, a, adj. galeated, wearing an helmet.

GALEIRA'M, f. m. a sort of bird that dives.

GALEO'TA, f. f. a galliot, a light vessel.

GALEO'TE, f. m. a galley-slave.

GALEO'TO, f. m. See GALEOTA.

GALE'RA, f. f. a long waggon, as it were a land galley.

GALERIA, f. f. a gallery.

GALERNO, f. m. the north-east wind.

Galérno, a, adj. of, or belonging to the north-east wind.

GALE'RO, f. m. a sort of helmet made of the skin of beasts.

GALEZA. See GAZELA.

GALFA'RO, f. m. a proud and stout fellow.

GALGA, f. f. a greyhound-bitch; also the upper mill-stone in a mill wherein oil is made; also hunger.

Galga de pedra, a stone cast from the top of a hill upon the enemy.

Galga, (in masonry) the top of a wall.

GALGA'DO, a, adj. See

GALGA'R, v. a. (in masonry) ex. Galgar huma parede, to build or raise a wall to a certain height.

GALGO, f. m. a grey-hound, a harrier, a dog for hunting hares.

Correa com que se ata o galgo para ir a caça, a leash.

P. a galgo velho deitalhe a lebre, e não costta, slip an old greyhound after a hare, not after a rabbit; that is, put men of experience to the most difficult task.

P. o galgo á larga a lebre mata, at the long run the greyhound kills the hare; that is, perseverance overcomes all difficulties.

P. galgo, que muytas lebres levanta, nenhuma mata, the greyhound that puts up many hares, kills none; he who undertakes too much business does none.

GALHO, f. f. a gall, or gallout.

GALLA'RDA, f. f. a lighter and more active sort of dance than the patana. See PÁVANA.

GALHARDAME'NTE, adv. bravely, boldly, courageously. See also BLAZZAMENTE.

GALHARDE'TE, f. m. See FLAMMULA.

GALHARD'PA, f. f. See BIZARRIA.

GALHAR'DO, a, adj. strong, brave, &c. &c. BIZARRO.

GALHETA, f. f. a cruet, or little bottle for wine, vinegar, or oil.

GALHO, f. m. See ESGALHO.

GALHO'FA, f. f. mirth, good cheer, plentiful entertainment, frolicksome merriment.

De galhofa, pleasantly, daintily, with great cheer and mirth, frolickly, frolicksome.

Fazer galhofa de alguém, to mock one.

GALHOFEA'R, v. n. to frolick, to rejoice, to cheer up, to be merry.

Galhofear de alguém. See ZOMBAR.

GALHOFE'IRO, a, adj. frolicksome.

GALHU'DO, f. m. a fish, of whose skin water-glue is made. See also LARROCOCO.

GALILE, f. f. (An ancient word.) See ALPENDRE.

GALLACRI'STA, or GALLOCRISTA, f. f. See CRISTA de gallo.

GALLA'DO, a, adj. See GALLAR.

Ovo gallado, an egg that has a chicken in it.

Ovo não gallado. See GORO.

GALLADU'RA, f. f. the cock's tread, or cock's treadle, the sperm of an egg.

Dar huma galladura. See

GALLA'R, v. a. to tread, or feather as a cock doth.

O gallo galla, ou toma a gallinha, the cock treads the hen.

GALLICA'DO, a, adj. infected with the French pox.

GALLICA'R, v. a. to infect with the French pox.

GALLICO, f. m. the French or venereal disease.

Gallico, a, adj. venereal, belonging to the venereal disease.

GALLINHA, f. f. a hen.

Gallinha Mourisca, a Guinea hen.

Gallinha de crista revolta, ou criadeira, a hen that is a good breeder.

Cu de gallinha, ou navio redondo. See REDONDO.

P. grão a grão enche a gallinha o papo, light gains make a heavy purse; or many a little makes a mickle.

P. viva a gallinha, viva com sua pevide, let the hen live, though she still have the pip. Better a creature should live, though infirm, than die.

P. gallinha não nasce, que não esgaravate, such a father, such a son. The Italians say, ky, Chi di gallina nasce, convien che razzoli.

GALLINHEIRO, f. m. he that keeps and feeds poultry; also a poulterer; also a hen-roost, or coop to keep hens in.

GALLINHO'LA, f. f. a wood-cock.

GALLITRICO, f. m. the herb called clary. Spanish gallitrefia.

G'ALLO, f. m. a cock. Lat. gallus; also a fish called by some gold-fish. Lat. zeus.

Cantar o gallo, to crow as a cock does.

O canto do gallo, cock-crowing.

G'ALB, a sore bump, a bile; also the candle set on the top point of a scone made of three pieces of wood, &c. See CANDILIRO & trevas.

P. o mazo e o gallo ham só anno, a servant and a cock must be kept but a year; because servants are best at first, and afterwards grow worse; and the cock after the first year declines of his vigour.

P. magis pater o gallo no seu poleiro; we say, every cock is proud on his own dunghill. The Lat. say. Gallus in suo sterquilinio pharetra pascit.

P. que não tem seu gallo, so sella seu cavallo, who lets his cock alone must saddle his horse alone.

GALLONADO, a, adj. laced.

GALLONHAS, f. f. p. wooden shoes; also a sort of nails used by ship-carpenters.

GALOPPE, f. m. the gallop of a horse.

GALOPEADO, participle of

GALOPEAR, v. n. to gallop as a horse does. Greek.

GALRADEIRA, f. f. (in cant) the tongue.

GALRAR, v. n. (in cant) to speak, to talk.

GALVETA, f. f. a sort of vessel or ship used in India.

GAMAI, f. f. a doe, a fallow deer; also the surname of a noble family in Portugal, the chief of which is the count Vidigueira, literally descended from Vasco da Gama, the great discoverer of India, and first count of that name. See also GAMMA.

GAMAM, f. m. the plant asphodel.

GAMARRA, f. f. a martingal, a thong of leather for a horse.

GAMPLAS, (in cant) the legs.

GAMOLA, f. f. a sort of sweet quince.

GAMELLA, f. f. a trough for hogs to feed in; also a great wooden bowl, that serves for many uses.

GAMENHO. (A ludicrous word.) See GULFO.

GAMMA, f. m. a Greek letter so called; also the gamut, in music.

GAMO, f. m. the fallow deer; and according to some the chamois or wild goat.

GAMOENS, the plural of GAMAM, which see.

GAMOTE, f. m. a wooden bowl, that serves for many uses in a ship.

GANANCIA, f. f. profit, gain.

Filho de ganancia. See BASTARDO.

GANANCIOSO, a, adj. profitable.

GANAPERDE, f. m. a sort of game at cards called load-him.

GANCHO, f. m. any sort of hook.

Pao em gancho no fim para apertar nozes, &c. abaixando os ramos, a nut-hook.

Presentes de gancho, gifts given for advantage.

Gancho, ou coisa semelhante do qual esta dependurado hum calceirão sobre o lume, a pot-hanger.

GANCHORRA, (in cant) the hand; also a sort of pole with a hook at the end.

GANDD. See RHINOCEROS.

GANDAYA, it is only used in the following expression, Andar a gandaya, to go about the streets to gather rags, pieces of iron, &c. hence to play the knave.

O que anda á gandaya, one who goes about the streets to gather rags, &c. a bunter.

G'ANGA, f. f. a water fowl somewhat less than a hen, which is very hard to shoot, because it always rises just as they are taking aim at it.

G'ANGES, f. m. a sort of fish so called.

GANGOSO, a, adj. See FANHOSO.

GANGRENA, f. f. a gangrene, a mortification.

GANGRENADO, a, adj. See

GANGRENAR-SE, v. r. to gangrene, to become mortified.

GANHADIA. See GANANCIA.

GANHADO, a, adj. See the v. GANHAR.

GANHAM, f. m. properly a hired plowman, or herdsman. See also GUAPO.

GANHAR, v. a. to get, to gain, to win; also to conquer. See also APODERAR-SE.

Ganhar, (dilate.) See DILATAR.

Ganhar tempo, or APPRESSAR-SE, which see.

Ganhar o balrevento, (a sea phrase) to get the wind.

Ganhar a demanda, to carry one's cause.

Ganhar a vontade de alguem, to gain one's friendship or good-will.

G'ANHO, f. m. profit, gain.

G'ANÇOS, (in cant) the dice.

GAIADO, f. m. a yelping howl, the cry of a dog or wolf.

GAININHA, f. f. a Moorish cloak.

GANTIR, v. n. to howl, to cry, as a dog or wolf does when hurt.

GANTZ, f. m. a small bone used by boys, when they play at cockal.

GANSADO, or GANCADO. (An antiquated word.) See ALCANÇADO.

GANSER, or GANCAR. (An antiquated word.) See ALCANÇAR.

G'ANÇO, or GANZO, f. m. a drake.

G'ANTA, f. f. a sort of measure in Malaca. Seven gantas make an ALQUEIRE, which see.

G'ANTAS, f. m. (In India.) See VISITADOR.

G'ANZO, f. m. See GANSO.

GA'O, f. m. (in cant) a louse.

GARABULHA, f. f. scrawling, scrawl, pot-hooks, ill formed letters. See also EMBRULHADOR, and CONLUIO.

GARABULHE'NTO, a, adj. rough, rugged, uneven.

GARAJA'O, f. m. a sort of bird about the coast of Guinea.

GARAJAM, f. m. a very tall fellow.

GARALHADA, f. f. See GRALHADA.

GARAMUFO. See PRINCIPIANTE.

GARANHAM, f. m. a stallion horse, (metaph.) a lascivious man.

GARA'NTE, f. m. guarantee, surety.

GARANTIA, f. f. guaranty, or warrant.

GARATA, f. f. (in the Brasils) a sort of wine extracted from the dregs of sugar.

GARATUJA, f. f. scrawling, scrawl, any irregular dash with a pen, &c.

Fazer garatujas, to scrawl, to scribble or write in a careless manner; also to scrawl, to draw or paint irregularly, to scribble, to dash with a pen.

GARATUZA, f. f. a sort of game at cards.

See also GARATUJA.

Dar garatuza, is to take in all the cards, and leave the rest without any.

GARAI'ANÇO, f. m. a sort of ENSINHO, which see.

GARAVANSUELO, f. m. a sort of ESPARAFAM, which see.

GARAVATO, f. m. a hook.

Garavatos secos, small sticks, or dry brush-wood to kindle the fire.

GARATO, f. m. a sort of bird so called.

GAREO, f. m. See GRACA and BIZARRIA.

GARÇA, f. f. the bird called a heron; also the plume or bunch made of the feathers of a heron.

Lugar no qual crião as garças, heronry, heronshaw.

Garça real, the blue heron.

Garça ribeirinha, the red or ruddy heron.

Que tem olhos de garça, blue-eyed.

Falcao que caça garças, or falcao garceiro, a sort of hawk that preys upon herons.

Garça de Italia, a sort of flowered silk.

GARÇA'M, f. m. a boy, lad, or youth. From the French garçon.

GARCEIRO, f. m. a hawk that preys upon herons.

GARÇO, a, adj. blue.

Que tem olhos garços, blue-eyed.

GARÇOTA, f. f. a small kind of heron; also a plume or bunch of feathers of the same bird.

Garçotas, f. f. p. so they call the plumes of heron's feathers that are white and very fine.

GARDINGO, f. m. this word among the Goths answered to the Portuguese word DESEMBARGADOR, which see.

GARELLA, f. f. a sort of partridge so called.

GARFADA, f. f. a fork-full.

GARFILA, f. f. See ORLA.

GARFO, f. m. a fork; also a graft, or young cyon.

Garfo de gente, a small number of men.

GARGALHADA, f. f. ex. Gargalhada de riso, a loud laughing, or horse-laugh.

GARGALHO, f. m. tough phlegm, spit out with a hawking or coughing.

GARGALO, f. m. the neck of a pot, bottle, &c. See also PORTA.

Gargalo, the superior part of the throat.

GARGANTA, f. f. the throat. So they also call a woman's breast.

Garganta dos montes, a strait, or narrow passage betwixt two hills, a defile.

Passo de garganta, (among musicians) a quavering or shaking of the voice.

GARGANTA'M, f. m. a voracious beast.

GARGANTEADO, participle of GARGANTEAR, v. n. to quaver with the voice.

GARGANTEO, f. m. a quavering or shaking of the voice.

GARGANTILHA, a necklace.

GARGANTOPCE, f. f. (It is not used.) See PAPEIRA.

GARGAREJA'DO. See GARGARIZADO.

GARGAREJA'R. See GARGARIZAR.

GARGAREJO, f. m. a gargarism, a washing of the throat.

GARGARIZADO, part. of.

GARGARIZAR, v. n. to gargle, to wash the mouth and throat. Greek.

GARJOFYLLATA, f. f. the herb called avens, or bennet.

GARITEIRO, f. m. one that keeps a gaming-house.

GARITO,

GARITO, f. m. (an antiquated word) a gaming-house.
GARLO'PA, f. f. a joiner's tool called a long plane, serving to plane the flat of boards.
GARNACILÂ, f. f. an ancient sort of upper garment or gown, worn only by dignified persons; but now it is peculiar to the ministers called desembargadores. See DESEMBARGADOR.
GARNEAR o couro, v. a. to smooth leather.
GAROTIL, f. m. (among sailors) to they call the upper part of the sail with holes in it, to make fast the EN'ERGUES, which see.
GARO'UPA, f. f. a sort of fish so called.
Garupa do cavallo. See GARUPA.
GAROUPEZ. See GURUPEZ.
GARRA, f. f. a claw, a talon; they also call so certain long bristles round the joints of the feet of some horses.
GARRA'CHA, f. f. (in cant) the hand; also the nail of a finger.
GARRACICA'BI, f. m. a sort of bird in the Braûls, that feeds upon honey and dew only.
GARRA'DO, a, adj. See the v. GARRAR.
GARRA'FA, f. f. a bottle. From the Italian coraffa.
GARRAFA'L, adj. ex. Ginja garrafal, so they call a sort of large cherries they have in Portugal.
GARRA'NCHO, f. m. a sort of disease in the horse's hoof.
GARRA'R, v. n. (a sea term) to drive; that is, when an anchor does not hold fast, and the ship drags it away.
Garrâr, v. a. to drag the anchor, when it gives way, (a sea term.)
GARRA'YO, a, adj. ex. Boy garrayo, a little and brisk ox.
Pregader garrayo, a novice, or new beginner in the art of preaching.
GARRIDA, f. f. a little bell.
Fazer garrida, to go round or about something.
GARRIDICE, f. f. See GALANICE, ALINHO, and GALANTARIA.
GARRIDO, a, adj. See GUAPO, and GALAN.
GARRO'CHA, f. f. a sort of dart, or rather like a goad, having but a short point, and the stick short, which they prick the bulls with to vex them at the bull-feasts.
GARROCHA'M, f. m. the spear with which they that ride at the bulls in the bull-feasts strike them.
GARRO'TE, f. m. strangling.
Dar garrote, to strangle.
GARROTE'A, f. f. See JARRETEIRA.
GARROTILHO, f. m. a quinty in the throat, so called, because it chokes a man, as if he was strangled.
GARRUCHA, f. f. a sort of pulley to torture criminals.
Garrucha, a pannel, or pack-saddle, it is obfol. in this sense.
GARRULO, a, adj. chattering, or chirping as birds. Lat.
GARUPA, f. f. the buttock. (Speaking of a horse.) See also ANCA.
GASALHA'DO, a, adj. See GAZALHA'DO.
GASALHOS, f. m. p. a sort of mushroom.
GASNA'DA, f. f. the cry of an eagle, the clacking of a goose, or the crunking of a crane; any loud and shrill noise of birds.

GASNADO, participle of
GASNAR, or GRASNAR, v. n. to cackle like a goose, to crunk like a crane, &c.
GASNA'TE, f. m. the larynx, the top of the windpipe.
GASTA'DO, a, adj. spent, or worn. See the v. GASTAR.
GASTADO'R, f. m. a spendthrift, waster; also a pioneer.
GASTA'M, f. m. the head of a crane; also a whirl to put on a spindle.
GASTA'R, v. a. to expend, to spend, to wear, to waste, to use, to consume.
Gastar o tempo de bello, to labour in vain.
Gastar o comer. See DIGERIR.
Gastar-se, v. r. to be spent, to wear away. See also ACABAR-SE.
Gastar-se, is for a commodity to sell well, to be in vogue.
Gastar-se muito a vela por causa do vento, to flare, as a candle does with the wind.
P. o muito se gasta, e o pouco abajsta, much is spent, and little suffices.
GASTO, f. m. expence, charge, cost, consumption.
Gastos superfluos, idle expences.
Conta que traz consigo muitos gastos, expentive, chargeable.
Jogar para ver quem ha de pagar os gastos, to play for the reckoning.
GATTA, f. f. a she-cat; also the mizen-top-sail; also a precious stone having the colour of myrrh; also a sort of fish.
Parir a gata, to kitten.
Tomar a gata, to make one's self drunk.
Largar a gata, (speaking to a man in liquor) stand upright, walk steadily.
Gata, a sort of warlike engine formerly used.
GATA'ZIO, f. m. a scratching as cats do; also a cheat, a fraud, a knavish trick.
Pregar hum gatazio, to cheat, to play a knavish trick.
GATTE, f. m. Gate, a range of mountains running from N. to S. through the middle of the hither Peninsula of India in Asia.
GATEIDO, GATEAR. See ENGATINHADO, ENGATINHAR.
GATE'IRA, f. f. a hole for a cat to creep in and out.
GATILHO, f. m. the trigger, or trigger, the catch which being pulled disengages the cock of the gun, that it may give fire.
GATINHA, f. f. a little she-cat, diminut. from Gata.
De gatinhos, creeping on all four like a cat.
GATTINHO, f. m. a kitten, a young cat, diminut. from
GATTO, f. m. a cat.
Gato montez, a cat-a-mountain.
Gato de algalia, a civet-cat.
Gato carujo, a disease in the horse's neck.
Gato sapato, (in India.) See CA'BRÂ cega.
Fazer de alguém gato sapato, to mock one, to laugh at him.
Quantidade de gatos juntos, kinder, a company of cats.
Gato, (in masonry) cramp-iron, or cramper; an iron which fastens stones in buildings.
Gato que ja esta muito velho e cansado, a gib-cat.
Gato teixugo, a sort of cat something like teixugo. See TEIXUGO.
Semelhante a gato, cat-like.
Gato-pingado. See GALHU'DO.

Olho de gato. See OLHO.
P. de noite os gatos todos são pardos, when candles are out, all cats are grey; we say also, Joan is as good as my lady in the dark.
P. lançar o gato nas barbas, to shake off any danger upon another.
P. vender gato por lebre, to sell a cat instead of a hare, to put a cheating commodity upon a man.
P. tirar a sardinha, ou castanha do bico de a mão do gato, to shake off any danger upon another.
Estar, ou viver com alguém como o gato e o rato, to live like cats and dogs, and be at variance.
GATUNO, (a ludicrous word) a great knave.
GAVARRO, f. m. a swelling in the hollow of a horse's pastern.
GAVEA, f. f. the round-top of a ship's mast. From the Hebrew, sch. lamy.
GAVE'LA, f. f. a shaft of a cannon.
GAVE'LA, f. f. a drawer.
GAVIAL, f. m. a sparrow-hawk.
Gavião de vide. See VELO.
GAVIOENS, so they call the two teeth in the upper jaw, which grow thus pointed in a horse, so as to prick the tongue and gums.
GAVO. See GABO.
GAXETAS, f. f. p. (a sea term) the lines that fasten the sails to the yards.
GATTO'NAS. See GAFFO'NAS.
GAYO, f. m. a sort of bird so called.
GAZALHADO. See AGAZALHO.
GAZEADO, part. of
GAZEAR, v. n. to play the truant, (speaking of a boy or student that plays the rogue, instead of going to school.)
GAZELLA, f. f. a creature much like a wild goat. Arab.
GAZEIO, f. m. truantship. (Speaking of a boy that stays from school without leave.)
Gazeio, a loud and shrill noise of birds.
Cavallho que tem os olhos gazios, a wall-eyed horse.
GAZETA, or GAZETTA, f. f. a gazette, a news-paper, a paper of public intelligence. From gazetta, a Venetian halfpenny, the price of a news-paper, of which the first was published at Venice.
GAZETEIRO, f. m. he who makes, or composes, or sells the gazette.
GAZI, (among the Turks) a title applied to such princes as made war upon the Christians.
GAZIA. See GAZUA.
GAZOPHYLACIO, f. m. a treasury, or place to keep treasures, or wealth.
GAZUA, f. f. a pick-lock.
Abrir huma fechadura com a gazua, to pick a lock.
Gazua, one of the pieces belonging to a spear, and serves to take hold of it.
Gazua, or gazia, (among the Moors) a sort of crusado, or military expedition against the princes of Christendom.
GEADA, f. f. a frost, a hoar frost.
Queimado da geada, frost-bitten.
GEADO, part. of
GEAR, v. n. to freeze, to be congelated with cold.
Capaz de gear, gelable, capable of being frozen.
GE'BA, f. f. (in cant) an old mother. See also CORCOVA.
GE'BO. See CORCOVADO.
GEHENNA,

GEHENNA, f. m. Gehenna, a valley near Jerusalem; also hell. (Metaph.)
GEIRA, f. f. an acre of ground, so much as one yoke of oxen will ear in a day, it containeth in length two hundred and forty feet, in breadth, one hundred and twenty.
Per geiras, ou as geiras, by, or of, every acre, acre by acre.
GEITO, f. m. a turn, rule, method, course, or way; also likeness, form, appearance.
Ter geito de alguém, to favour, to be like, to resemble one in feature.
Ter geito de outra coisa, to be like another thing.
Geito de pena, a stroke or dash of a pen.
Geito com o corpo, gesture or motion, and carriage of the body.
O que tem geito nos olhos, goggle-eyed, one who looks a-quint.
Fazer uma coisa com geito, to go the right way to work, to take the right course or method.
Fell' geitos que eu lhe vejo, as he goes to work, as he manages matters.
Não faz as coisas com geito, he goes the wrong way to work, he takes a wrong course or method.
Com geito, or por geito, by fair means.
Ele pôde alcançar de mim o que quizer se me levar com geito, he may have any thing of me by fair means.
De geito que, so that, inasmuch that.
GEITOSO, a, adj. fit, apt, that takes the right course or method; also goggle-eyed.
GELADO. See CONGELADO.
GELAR. See CONGELAR.
GELEA, f. f. jelly, the juice of meat, or fruit congealed.
GELHAS, f. f. p. withered corn. From ENGELHAR-SE, which see.
GELO, f. m. a frost.
GLOSTIA, f. f. a lattice for windows, doors, or the like, being small laths in chequers, which hang before the windows, that those within may see all that is done in the street, without being seen; also a sort of multiplication in arithmetic.
GELVA, f. f. a sort of small boat.
GEMA. See GEMMA.
GEMEA, f. f. a female-twin, a she-twin.
Per-se o cavallo em gemeas, to prance, to throw up the fore-legs, as horses do.
GEMEO, f. m. a twin.
Gemio, ea, adj. twin.
Dois irmãos gemeos, two twins.
Sua irmã gêmea, his twin-sister.
Tres irmãos gemeos, three children at a birth.
Gemeos, (with astronomers) the Twins, or the sign of Gemini.
GEMER, v. n. to groan, to wail, to lament. (Both in the proper and metaphorical sense.)
Gemer a relva, to coo.
GEMIDO, f. m. a groan.
Gemido, part. See GEMER.
GEMINI, or GEMINIS, f. m. (in astronomy) Gemini, a celestial sign; also a sort of plaster made of wax, &c.
GEMINO, a, adj. double.
GEMMA, f. f. the yolk of an egg; also any precious stone, a gem.
Na gemma do inverno, (metaph.) in the midst of the winter.
Ornar com gemmas, to gem, to adorn with gems or jewels.

PART I.

GEMMA'DO. See JULEPE.
GEMMA'NTE, adj. gemmed, or adorned with gems, or the like.
GENCIA'NA, f. f. the plant gentian.
GENEALOGIA, f. f. genealogy. Greek.
GENEALOGICO, a, adj. genealogical.
Genealogico, f. m. See
GENEALOGISTA, f. m. genealogist, one skilled in the method of describing pedigrees.
GENER'A'L, f. m. a general, the chief commander of an army.
General das galés, the general of the galleys.
General, the general, a particular beat of drum early in the morning, to give notice for the foot to be in readiness to march.
GENERALADO, or GENERALATO, f. m. the charge, office, or dignity of a general, either of an army, or of a religious order.
GENERALIDADE, f. f. generality.
GENERALISSIMO, f. f. a commander-in-chief, a woman vested with supreme authority.
GENERALISSIMO, f. m. a generalissimo, or supreme general of an army.
GENERATIVO, a, adj. generative.
GENERICAMENTE, adv. generically.
GENÉRICO, a, adj. generic, or generic.
GENERO, f. m. (in logic) a genus; also gender (in grammar.) Lat. genus.
Genero, kind sort.
O genero humano, human kind. See also CONDICAM, CALIDADE.
GENEROSAMENTE, adv. generously, nobly.
GENEROSIDADE, f. f. generosity, greatness of soul; also excellency of any thing in its kind.
GENERO'SO, o, a, adj. generous, noble; also generous in its kind.
Vinho generoso, a strong generous wine.
GENESIS, f. m. Genesis, the first book of Moses. Greek.
GENETA. See GINETA.
GENETARIO. See GINETARIO.
GENETE. See GINETE.
GENETHLIACO, f. m. a genethliacal discourse or poem pronounced upon a prince's birth-day.
GENGVRE, f. m. ginger, an Indian root of a hot quality.
GENGIVA, f. f. the gums wherein the teeth are set.
GENIO, f. m. genius, a good or evil angel or spirit, supposed to attend upon every person; also a man's natural disposition, inclination, or temper.
Ter bom genio, to be of a good temper.
GENITA'L, adj. genital, generative, serving to generation.
Genital, f. m. genitals, the privy parts of a male.
GENITIVO, f. m. (in grammar) genitive, the genitive case.
GENITO. See GERADO.
GENITOR, f. m. a father. Lat.
GENITORIA, f. f. See
GENITURA, f. f. procreation. See NASCIMENTO, and ORIGEM.
GENIZARO, GENIZERO, JANICARO, or JANIZARO, f. m. a janizary; also an officer belonging to the chancery of Rome.
GENRO, f. m. a son-in-law, a daughter's husband.
Genro casado com a neta de alguém, a niece's husband, the husband of a grand-daughter.

GENTA'LHA, f. f. mob, rabble.
GENTE, f. f. people, folks; also men, servants, attendants, domestics.
Gente dada as letras, the learned, or scholars.
O direito das gentes, the law of nations.
Gente baixa, the mob, or rabble.
Gente que não he gente, good-for-nothing people.
Da nossa gente, of our family or dependents.
Gente, or soldados. See SOLDADO.
Fazer gente, to raise soldiers.
Gente de cavalle, the cavalry of an army.
Gente de pé. See INFANTARIA.
Gente, or nação. See NACAM.
Gente do mar, marines, soldiers belonging to a navy.
Muita gente, a great company, or meeting of people.
Gente, the vulgar, the common people.
Gente principal, the nobility or gentry.
Ser gente, to be a man above the vulgar.
P. onde eu quente ria-se a gente, so I be warm, let the people laugh; it is no matter what the world says, so a man keeps himself warm.
GENTIL, adj. genteel, handsome, comely, graceful.
Gentil, (in grammar) ex. Nomes gentis, gentiles, nouns betokening a man's being of such a country.
Gentil, f. m. an ancient coin so called. There were different sorts of it. See also GEN-TIO, f. m.
GENTILEZA, f. f. See FERMOSURA.
Gentilezas, great actions, exploits.
Gentilezas de corte. See CORTEZANIA.
Gentilezas, neat and curious works.
GENTIL-HOMEM, or GENTILHOMEM, f. m. a nobleman; also a gentleman-usher, a genteel man, a comely, graceful person.
Gentil-homem da camara, a gentleman of the bed-chamber.
Andar gentilhomem em alguma coisa, to behave like an honest man.
GENTILICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to the gentiles, or pagans.
GENTILIDADE, f. f. paganism, gentilism, heathenism; also the heathenish age.
GENTILISMO, f. m. See GENTILIDADE.
GENTILMENTE, adv. genteelly, handsomely, gracefully.
GENTIO, f. m. a gentile, one of an uncovenanted nation, one who knows not the true God.
Gentio, a, adj. heathen. See also VIL.
GENUFLESSO'RIO, f. m. a stool to kneel upon.
GENUFLEXA'M, f. f. genuflexion, a bending the knee.
GENUINAMENTE, adv. plainly, fairly, properly.
GENUINO, a, adj. natural, proper, genuine.
GEODESIA, f. f. geodesia, that part of geometry which contains the doctrine or art of measuring surfaces, and finding the contents of all plane figures. Greek.
Causa pertencente á geodesia, geodetical.
GEOGRAPHIA, f. f. geography, a description of the whole globe of the earth, or known habitable world, together with all parts, limits, situations, and other remarkable

- markable things thereunto belonging. Greek.
- GEOGRA'PHICO, a, adj. geographical, geographic, or belonging to geography.
- GEO'GRAPHO, f. m. a geographer.
- GEOMANC'IA, f. f. geomancy, a kind of divination by points and circles made on the earth, or by opening the earth. Greek.
- O que sabe geomancia*, a geomancer, one skilled in geomancy.
- GEO'METRA, f. m. a geometrician, one skilled in the science of geometry.
- GEOMETRIA, f. f. geometry, it originally signifies the art of measuring the earth, or any distances or dimensions on or within it; but now it is used for the science of extension, abstractedly considered, without any regard to matter. Greek.
- GEOMETRICAMENTE, adv. geometrically.
- Fazer alguma coisa geometricamente*, to geometrize, to act according to the laws of geometry.
- GEOME'TRICO, a, adj. geometrical, or geometric.
- GEO'RGICAS, f. f. p. Virgil's book of Georgics, or country affairs.
- GE'RA, f. f. a composition made chiefly of aloes.
- GERAÇ'AM, f. f. a generation, a family, or lineage.
- Geração*, (in the holy writ) an age, or a century.
- GERA'DO, a, adj. begotten, or produced. See the v. GERAR.
- GERAES. See
- GERA'L, adj. general, universal.
- Em geral*. See GERALMENTE.
- Geral*, f. m. the general of a religious order.
- Geraes*, (in the universities) they call the public schools by this name, because they are for all that will come in general.
- Geraes*, or Ventos de monção, trade-winds.
- Dar geral*, or dar camarço. See CAMARÇO.
- GERALMENTE, adv. generally, universally.
- GERAPICRA. See GERA.
- GERA'R, v. a. to ingender, to produce.
- GERARQUIA. See GERARQUIA.
- GERA'RQUICO. See GERARQUICO.
- GEREBIT'IA, f. f. (in the Brasils) a sort of liquor extracted from the dregs of sugar-canes.
- GERGEL'IM, f. m. sesame, a sort of Indian corn. Lat. sesamum.
- GERIBITA. See GEREBITA.
- GERIFA'LTE, f. m. the hawk called a ger-falcon; a bird of prey, in size between a vulture and a hawk, and of the greatest strength next to the eagle.
- GERIGO'NÇA, f. f. gibberish, and generally all that is obscure, or difficult to apprehend.
- GERIP'GA. See GERA.
- GERIV'ITA, f. f. a sort of liquor in the Brasils.
- GERMANADO. See UNIDO.
- GERMANAR-SE. See UNIR-SE.
- GERMA'NIA. See ALEMANHA.
- GERMA'NICO, a, adj. of, or belonging to Germany.
- GERMA'NO, a, adj. proper, true, not counterfeit.
- GERMINA'NTE, adj. germinant, budding.
- GEROME'NHA, f. f. an ancient and fortified town of Alentejo, in Portugal. It stands upon a hill, and on the west shore of the Guadiana. Here is a strong castle with seventeen towers. In 1662, it stood out a whole month's close siege by the Spaniards before it was taken.
- GEROGLYPHICO. See GEROGLIFICO.
- GEOPICRA. See GERA.
- GERU'NDIO, f. m. a gerund; so called from a double signification. (In grammar.)
- GESMIM. See JASMIM.
- GE'SSO, f. m. parget, white lime, plaster.
- Gesso mate*, so they call the common white lime, after being powdered, and softened by watering. It is used by painters and gilders.
- GE'STO, f. m. gesture, the motion of the body.
- Fazer muitos gestos no falar*, to use too much gesture in speaking, to gesticulate.
- O que faz muitos gestos*, one that gesticulates, a meretricious-dancer, a mimic.
- Gesto*, composition, combination.
- Compostura dos gestos*, composition of gesture.
- Gesto*, countenance, look, air of the face.
- Gesto*, or apparencia. See APPARENCIA.
- GIBA'M, f. m. a doublet.
- Gibam de açoutes*, a whipping with a cat-o'-nine-tails, or any other sort of whip.
- GIBBO'SO, ofa, adj. gibbous, gibbous.
- GIBELINA. See ZEBELINA, convex, bunching out. Lat. gibbosus.
- GIBO'YA, f. f. a sort of snake of monstrous size in the Brasils.
- GIE'STA, f. f. the plant called broom. Lat. genista.
- GIGA, f. f. a sort of wide basket made of twigs.
- GIGAJO'GA, f. f. a sort of game at cards.
- GIGANTE, f. m. a giant. Lat. gigas.
- Gigante*, adj. giant-like. See also GRANDE.
- Erva gigante*, the herb called brank-ursine.
- Especie de erva gigante chamada branca urfina*. See BRANCA urfina.
- GIGANTE'O, a, adj. giant-like, gigantic.
- GIGANTOMACQUIA, f. f. the battle of the giants against the Gods. Greek.
- GIGO'TE, f. m. a dish of minced meat.
- GILAVENTO. See SOTAVENTO.
- GILBARBEIRA, f. f. butcher's-broom, knee-holm, knee-holly, petty-whin. See also MURTA brava.
- GILLA, f. f. (with chemists) gilla vitrioli, emetic vitriol, or white vitriol purified.
- GILVA'Z, f. m. a great cut or slash over the face.
- Fazer a alguém hum gilvaz*, to cut, to slash, to gash one over the face. (Balafre, French.)
- GIMBO. See ZIMBO.
- GINDI, or DGINDI, f. m. a sort of dexterous riders, among the Turks.
- GINE'TA, f. f. a cane used by the Portuguese captains, instead of our leading-staff, as a token of their employ.
- Encostar a gineeta*, or dar baxa, (a military expression.) See BAXA.
- Andar á gineeta*, (in horsemanship) to ride short.
- Gineta*, gennet, a little creature so called; there are two different sorts of gennets.
- Ordem da Gineta*, the most ancient order of knighthood in France, called the order of the Genette. It was erected by Charles Martel, after overthrowing the Saracens in a great battle at Tours, A. C. 782, where many of those gennets, like Span- nish or civet-cats, were found in the camp.
- GINE'TARIO, f. m. one skilled in riding short. See also CAVALLEIRO.
- GINE'TE, f. m. genet, a kind of Spanish horse.
- Ginete*, a light-horseman; also any horseman.
- GING'BRE. See GENG'IRE.
- GIN'JA, f. f. agriot, four or five cherry.
- Ginja garrafal*, a very large sort of cherry.
- GINGE'IRA, f. f. the agriot-tree.
- GING'VA, f. f. See GENG'VA.
- GINS'AM, f. m. ginseng, a root brought lately into Europe from China. The Chinese value this root so highly, that it sells with them for three times its weight in silver. The Asiatics in general think the ginseng almost an universal medicine.
- GIO'LHO. See JUELHO, or JOLHO.
- GIRA, or GIRIA, f. f. cant, a particular form of speaking peculiar to some certain class or body of men, but more particularly to varlets and foundrels.
- GIRAÇ'A'L, f. m. the best sort of Indian rice.
- GIRA'DO, a, adj. See the v. GIRAR.
- GIRA'FA, f. f. giraffa, a beast called in Latin, camelopardalus.
- Girafa*, (a constellation.) See CAMELO-PARDAL.
- GIRA'NDULA, f. f. a wheel stuck full of fire-works, which turning swiftly round, sends forth a great light and fire; from gitar, to turn.
- GIRA'NTE, p. a. that turns round. See GIRAR.
- GIRAM. } See { GYRAM.
- GIRAPRIGA. } See { GERA.
- GIRA'R, v. a. to turn, to put into a circular, or vertiginous motion, to move round.
- Girar*, v. n. to turn, to have a circular or vertiginous motion.
- GIRASO'L, f. m. the plant and flower heliotrope, or turnsol, as Ray calls it. The Portuguese name is given from the quality they assign to it, which is to turn after the sun. From gitar, to turn, and sol, the sun.
- Girasol oriental*. See HELIOTROPIA.
- GIRATACACHEM. See GIRAFIA.
- GIRAVAGOS. See GIROVAGOS.
- GIRIA, f. f. turn, or action of malice. See also GIRA.
- GIRIBA'NDA, f. f. (in India.) See GAMARRA.
- GIRIGO'TE, f. m. a great knave.
- GI'RO, f. m. a circular rapid motion; also turn, or time, at which any thing is to be had or done.
- Cada hum por seu giro*, every one in his turn.
- GIRO'PA, f. f. (in cant) broth.
- GIROVAGOS, f. m. p. a sort of ancient wandering monks.
- GIS. See GIZ.
- GIT, or GITH, f. f. the herb nigella, gith. Arab.
- GI'TO, f. m. (among braziers) a sort of conduit or pipe through which the melted metal runs.
- GIZ, f. m. a sort of chalk used by tailors.
- GIZADO, a, adj. See
- GIZA'R, v. a. to chalk cloth, &c. as tailors do; also to dispose, to prepare, to fit, or make ready for any purpose.
- GLACIA'L, adj. See CONGELADO.
- GLADIADOR.

GLADIADOR, or GLADIATOR, f. m. a sword-player, a gladiator.
Profissão e exercício de gladiator, sword-play.
GLADIAR, v. n. to fight with the sword.
GLADIATÓRIO, a, adj. of, or belonging to sword-players.
GLADIATÓRIOS, f. m. an order of knighthood of Livonia, erected A. C. 1164.
GLADIO, f. m. gladio temporal, or secular, the laity, or temporal power.
Gladio espiritual, the clergy, the ecclesiastical government, or power.
Gladio, a sort of geometrical instrument invented by Latinus Urbinus.
GLANDILERO, a, adj. bearing mast, or acorns. Lat.
GLANDOSO. See GLANDULOSO.
GLANDULA, f. f. a kernel in the flesh, glandula. (In anatomy.)
Glandula genital. See BALANO.
GLANDULOSO, a, adj. glandulous. (In anatomy.)
GLASTO, f. m. the herb woad, with which they dye cloth.
GIEBA, f. f. a clod, or lump of earth, clay, &c. Lat.
GLOBILLO, a, adj. that bears a globe, or something like it.
GLOBO, f. m. a globe, a round ball, the globe of the earth, or any thing very round.
Globo celeste, celestial globe.
Globo terrestre, terrestrial globe.
Globo, (among the ancient Romans) a body of soldiers drawn into a circle.
Globo pequeno, globule, a little globe.
Que tem figura de globo, globose, globous, spherical, round.
Fazer-se em hum globo, to be glomerated, or gathered into a sphere or ball.
GLOBOZO, a, adj. globose, globous, spherical, round.
GLOMERADO, a, adj. glomerated.
GLOMERAR, v. n. to glomerate, to gather any thing into a ball.
GLORIA, f. f. glory, praise, fame, honour, renown; also glory, or the felicity of heaven prepared for those that please God.
Gloria, (in painting) glory, a circle of rays, which surrounds the heads of saints.
Manto de gloria, a sort of manto made of silk. See MANITO.
Gloria, ou magestade de Deus, the majesty of God, considered with infinite power, and all other infinite perfections.
Gloria patri, (glory to the Father) a formula in the liturgy, called also doxology.
GLORIAR, v. n. or GLORIAR-SE, v. r. to boast, to glory, to brag.
Glóris-se de huma coisa, to glory of a thing.
GLORIFICAÇÃO, f. f. glorification, admitting to the state of eternal glory.
GLORIFICADO, a, adj. See
GLORIFICAR, v. a. to glorify, to give glory to, to praise, to place among the blessed.
GLORIOSAMENTE, adv. gloriously, with great honour.
GLORIOSO, a, adj. glorious, illustrious, excellent.
GLOSA, &c. See GLOSSA, &c.
GLOSSA, GLOSA, or GROZA, f. f. a gloss, an exposition, a comment. Greek.
Glosa, a sort of poetical composition. See

GLOZAR.
GLOSSADO, a, adj. See the v. GLOSSAR.
GLOSSADOR, or GLOSSADOR, f. m. a commentator, a glossographer.
GLOSSAR, or GLOSAR, v. a. to gloss, to comment, or make notes upon.
GLOSSÁRIO, f. m. a glossary, a dictionary to explain words, especially such as are obscure and barbarous, in any language.
Arte, ou profissão de escrever glossarias, glossography, the art of writing a glossary.
GLOTAM, f. m. a glutton.
GLOTONARIA, f. f. gluttony, excess in eating.
GLOTÔNIA. See GLOTONARIA.
GLOTÔNICO, a, adj. gluttonous.
GLOZA. } See { GLOSSA.
GLOZAR. } See { NOTE.
GLUTINOSO, a, adj. glutinous, that sticks like glue, clammy.
GNOMON, f. m. the gnomon of a sun-dial, whose shadow shews the hour; the style, pin, or cock of a dial.
GNOMONICA, f. f. gnomonics, the art of dialling.
GNOMONICO, a, adj. gnomonological, belonging to the art of dialling.
GNOSTICOS, f. m. p. Gnostics, a set of heretics, sprung up A. C. 125.
GOA, f. f. Goa, a large city of the hither India, in Asia, with an harbour. Here is the residence of the viceroy, who presides over the Portuguese settlements from the Cape of Good Hope as far as China.
GOANHAMBIG, f. m. a sort of bird in the Brasils.
GOARDA. See GUARDA.
GOARDADO. See GUARDADO.
GOARDAR. } See { GUARDAR.
GOARECER. } See { GUARECER.
GOARECIDO. See GUARECIDO.
GOARIDA. See GUARIDA.
GOARINA, f. f. a sort of ancient frock.
GO'DA, f. f. a sort of coin among the Goths.
GODILHAM. See GUDILHAM.
GO'DOS, f. m. p. the Goths, a people whose country bordered upon Denmark and Norway.
GODRIN, f. m. a sort of blanket, or quilt made of fine silk.
GO'GA, f. f. Goga, a large trading town of Guzurrate, in the Mogul's dominions, in the East Indies, in Asia. Here is the rendezvous of the Portuguese ships in their passage to Goa.
GO'GO, f. m. the pip, a defluxion with which fowls are troubled.
Tirar o gogo, to pip, to take away the pip.
GOIABEIRA, f. f. a sort of tree in the Brasils.
GO'IVA, f. f. the sort of chissel carpenters call a gouge. From the Spanish guvia, or gurbia.
GO'IVO, f. m. a clove-gilliflower.
Casta de goivos que chirão melhor ao anoitecer que de dia, the sea-gilliflower.
Goivos de nossa senhora, the white gilliflower.
GO'LA, f. f. the gorget, armour to cover the throat. See also GARGANTA.
Gola, (in fortification) the gorge, entrance, or neck of a bastion, &c.
GO'LE, f. m. a go-down, a draught.
Em dous goles, at two go-downs.
GOLE'LHA, f. f. (a vulgar word.) See

IZOFAGO.
Goliba, much babbling, prate.
GOLELIAR, v. n. to prate, to talk over-much.
GOLES, (in heraldry) gules, the red, or vermillion colour.
GOLFADA, f. f. a spout, water, or any liquor falling in a body.
Correr a golfadas, to spout, to issue as from a spout.
GOLFAM, f. m. water-lily, nymphæa.
Golão. See GOLFO.
GOLFIN e balea, a sort of play among children.
GOLINHO, f. m. a dolphin.
GOLFO, f. m. a gulph, or part of the sea that runs between two lands called straits. It is sometimes taken for the main ocean.
GOLGOTHA, f. m. Golgotha. See CALVÁRIO.
GOLLHA, f. f. a little band worn in Spain, starched, stiff, and sticking out under the chin like a ruff; also an iron collar wherewith a malefactor or criminal soldier is tied to a post; a punishment much like the pillory.
GOLLA, (in fortification.) See GOLA.
GOLODICE, f. f. dainty bits, as sweetmeats, or the like. See also GLOTONARIA.
GOLOMBRYNA. See COLUBRINA.
GOLOSADO, part. of
GOLOSAR, v. n. (a vulgar word, and very little used) to eat deliciously, to pick and choose tid-bits.
GOLOSINA, f. f. gluttony, liquorishness.
GOLOSINO, a, adj. dainty, delicious.
Vianda golosina. See GOLODICE.
GOLOSO, a, adj. liquorish, greedy of fine bits.
GO'LPE, f. m. a blow, a stroke. Greek.
Golpe do tambor, the beat or noise of a drum.
Golpe de gente, a great number of people.
Golpe, ou quantidade. See QUANTIDADE.
Golpe de agua, a spout of water.
Golpe de vinho, a small quantity of wine.
Golpe, ou infortunio. See INFORTUNIO.
Golpe, a cut, gash, or wound made by cutting.
De golpe. See JUNTAMENTE, and SUBITAMENTE.
Golpe, (in cant) the pocket.
GOLPEADO, a, adj. See
GOLPEAR, v. a. to strike, or smite. See also BATER.
Vestido golpeado, a sort of snipt garment.
GOMMA. See GOMMA.
GOMADO, part. of
GOMAR, v. n. to bud, to bloom.
GOMELEIRA, f. f. a shoot, twig, or cyon, springing out of the root, or side of the stock, an useless sucker, a water-shoot.
GOMENA. } See { GUMENA
GOMIA. } See { PUNHAL.
GOMIL, or GUMIL, f. m. ewer, a vessel in which water is brought for washing the hands.
GOMMA, f. f. gum, a congealed, tough juice, issuing out of trees, &c. Lat. gummi.
Gomma gallica, gunima gallicum, the eating out of a bone by the French pox.
Gomma arabia, or arabica, gum arabic.
Gomma de engomar velas, &c. starch.
GOMMO'SO, a, adj. gummy, full of gum.

- GO'MO, f. m. bud, the first shoot of a plant, a gem.
Lançar gomos, to bud, to put forth young shoots.
Gomo de laranja, some of the parts into which an orange separates, when the peel is torn off.
Gomos de silva, or fruto de silva mamba, commonly written hips, the fruit of the plant called dog-briar.
GO'NDOLA, f. f. gondola, a Venetian wherry-boat.
GONORRHE'A, f. f. gonorrhœa, a disease called the running of the reins.
GOR'RO, part of
GOR'R, v. n. (speaking of eggs) to grow addle, or rotten under the hen.
Fazer gorar, to addle, to make addle.
Gorar, or gorar-se, v. r. (metaph.) not to have the intended event, not to succeed.
GOR'Z, f. m. a fish called a rochet, a roach.
GORDAL uva, a sort of grapes so called.
GORDA'M, f. f. (speaking of flags) estar na gordam, to be fat.
GORDIANO. See YUGO.
GORDIAM, f. m. the herb euphorbium, and the gum coming from it.
GORDINHO, a, adj. somewhat fat, diminut. from GORDO, a, adj. fat, plump, fleshy, the contrary to lean.
Terra gorda, fruitful, or fat ground.
Fazer-se gordo. See ENGORDAR, v. n.
Domingo gordo, Shrove-sunday, or Quinquagesima-sunday.
Fino gordo, so they call the wine, when it grows thick and condensate.
GORDURA, f. f. fat, fatness.
Gordura com que untão os eixos das rodas dos carros, the grease, or swarf, in the axle-tree of a wheel.
Gordura, ou pingo que cabe da carne que se assa no espeto, the drippings of roast-meat, kitchen-stuff.
Gordura derretida, grease.
Sujo, ou besuntado com gordura, greasy.
GORGE'ADO, part. of
GORGE'AR, v. n. to warble as birds do.
GORGE'TA, f. f. vails, money given to servants by guests for salutations.
GORGE'YO, f. m. a warbling, or melodious sound of birds. See also GARGANTEO.
GORGUEIRA. See GORGUEIRA.
GORGOLEJADO. See GARGAREJADO, and GARGANTEADO.
GORGOLEJAR. See GARGAREJAR, and GARGANTEAR.
GORGOLETA, f. f. an earthen and narrow mouthed vessel, out of which the water runs, and guggles.
Rumor que faz a água quando sabe da gorgoletta, guggling.
GORGOMILO, f. m. the narrowest part of the mouth of a leather bottle.
Gorgomilos, the entrance or upper part of the œsophagus, and arteria trachea.
GORGORAM, f. m. grogeram, grogram, or grogran, stuff woven with large woof and a rough pile.
GORGORY, f. m. a sort of instrument used in India and upon the coast of Africa, to smoke tobacco.
GORGUEIRA, f. f. a sort of stuff formerly worn by women.
GORGU'LHO. See GURGULHO.
GO'RJA. See GARGANTA.
Gorja, the narrowest part of a ship.
- GO'RO, a, adj. addle, as an egg.
P. hum ovo e effegoro, but one egg, and that addled; spoken of those that have but one child, and that sickly or good for nought, or one of any other thing that is faulty.
GOROUPES, or GOROUPEZ. See GURUPES.
GORRA, f. f. a cap, a bonnet formerly used in Spain and Portugal, of the same fashion as we see in pictures of king Henry VIII. and others before his time; also a sort of small hat with a narrow brim, and covered with velvet, this is only worn in Portugal by the desembargadores. See DESEMBARGADOR.
Gorra de estudantes, (in the universities) a sort of cap like a long sleeve, or rather a satchel used by scholars, to carry their books.
Meter-se de gorra com alguém, to intrude, to thrust one's self into company without any more invitation or acquaintance than bare moving the hat.
GORRIAM, f. m. a bird in Spain, that is about the bigness of a sparrow, but for colour inclining to black, and sings sweetly.
GORRIAM, f. m. the plant called euphorbium. From the Spanish, gurbion.
GO'SMA, f. f. (speaking of horses) thick phlegm, or rheum; also a sort of disease in hawks.
GOSMA'DO, part. of
GOSMAR, v. n. (speaking of horses) to throw off, or to expel the thick phlegm or rheum.
GOSMENTO, a, adj. (speaking of horses) full of, or troubled with thick phlegm.
Gosmento, f. m. a hawker, or hemmer.
GOSTA'DO, a, adj. See
GOSTAR, v. n. to be pleased with, to like, to chuse. See also PROVAR.
Gostar de huma cousa, to be pleased with a thing.
GO'STO, f. m. taste, the sense of tasting; also taste, flavour, relish.
Perder o gosto, to be out of taste.
Gosto, taste, discerning faculty, gusto, skill.
Ter hum gosto fino e delicado na escolha dos comeres, to have a dainty palate.
Carne de bom, ou mão gosto, well-tasted, or ill-tasted meat, savoury or unsavoury meat.
Achar huma cousa de seu gosto, to relish a thing, to like or fancy it.
Não creyo que aquillo seja de seu gosto, I don't think that will please you, or fit your palate.
Gosto, or contentamento. See CONTENTAMENTO, and SATISFAÇAM.
Fazer gosto de huma cousa, to relish a thing, to take delight in it, or to be pleased with it, to take pleasure in it.
Dar gosto a alguém, to please one.
Gosto, or vontade. See VONTADE, and CONSENTIMENTO.
Gostos da vida. See PASSATEMPO.
Viver a seu gosto, to live at ease.
Fazei isso ao vosso gosto, ou com vosso commodo, do it leisurely.
Gosto estragado. See ESTRAGADO.
Livro de gosto, a pleasant book.
Gosto que alguns liqueres deixão na boca, e que se não sentia quando se bebido, after-taste.
GOSTO'SAMENTE, adv. pleasingly, to one's palate, to one's liking.
- GOSTO'SO, a, adj. relishing, well tasted, pleasant, savoury; also delightful, welcome, jocund.
GO'TA, f. f. a drop, a globule of moisture.
Gôta e gôta, by drops, drop after drop.
Gôta, gout, a painful disease in the feet, legs, &c.
Gôta das mãos, chiragra, the gout in the hands.
Gôta dos pés, podagra, the gout in the feet.
Gôta arthetica, arthritis, the gout in the joints or limbs.
Gôta sciatica. See SCIATICA.
Gôta corál. See EPILEPSIA.
Gôta serena, drop serene.
Gôta, (in architecture) a drop, an ornament of pillars of the Doric order, representing drops or little bells underneath the triglyphs.
GOTA'DO, a, adj. (in heraldry) spotted with drops.
GOTE'ADO, a, adj. See
GOTEAR, v. a. to drop, to pour in drops or single globules.
Gotear, v. n. to drop, to fall in drops or single globules.
GOTEJADO, a. See GOTE'ADO.
GOTEJAR. See GOTE'AR.
GOTEIRA, f. f. a gutter-tile, or the eaves of a house, from whence the water drops.
GO'THIA, f. f. Gothland, a large and fruitful country, and the most southern of all Sweden.
GOTHICO, a, adj. Gothic, or belonging to the Goths.
Ordem Gothica, (in architecture) Gothic building, a building after the manner of the Goths.
Letra Gothica, black letter.
GO'TO, f. m. wind-pipe; it is only used in the following vulgar phrases:
Dar no goto, (speaking of eating or drinking) to go into the wind-pipe, and rot into the œsophagus, or gullet, through which the meat passes from the mouth to the stomach.
Deu-lhe no goto aquella bebida, he was almost choked with that drink.
GOTO'SO, a, adj. gouty, troubled with the gout.
GOVERNACAM, f. f. See GOVERNO.
GOVERNADORA, f. f. a house-wife, a woman prudent in managing domestic affairs.
GOVERNA'DO, a, adj. frugal, parsimonious, not prodigal. See also the v. GOVERNAR.
GOVERNADO'R, f. m. a governor, a commander.
Governador das armas. See GENERAL.
GOVERNADO'RA, f. f. a governor's lady.
GOVERNA'LHO, f. m. See LEME.
GOVERNANÇA. See GOVERNO.
GOVERNA'R, v. a. to govern, to rule. Lat. gubernare.
Governár. See ACONSELHAR.
Governar hum navio, to steer a ship, to guide her with the helm.
Molher, ou criada que governa huma casa, house-keeper.
Governár hum negocio, to manage or carry on a business.
Governar com poder despotico e insolentemente, to ride, to manage insolently at will.
Governar-se, v. r. to carry, govern, or behave one's self. See also REGULAR-SE, and ACCOMMODAR-SE.

Herem, que se governa pella mulher, a hen-pecked man.
GOVERNATRIZ, adj. proper or apt to govern.
GOVERNO, f. m. government.
Governo da casa, ou governo domestico, household government.
O governo de hum navio, the steerage of a ship.
Governo de hum sê. See MONARQUIA.
Governo aristocratico. See ARISTOCRACIA.
Governo popular. See DEMOCRACIA.
GOULAM. } See { GLOTAM.
GOUROPEZ. } See { GURUPES.
GOZAR. (Obich.) See LOGRAR.
GOZADA, f. f. a poor sort of fruit in the Bravils, full of hard seeds. It stinks like the bugs that breed in beds.
GOZADO, a. See
GOZAR, v. a. to enjoy, to take the profit of, to obtain possession, or fruition of. See also LOGRAR, and POSSUIR.
Gozar huma mulher, to enjoy a woman.
GOZARPA, f. f. curvilinear.
GOZO, joy; also a sort of dog that only barks, and is good for nothing else, a cur.
Goze, (among astrologers) a sort of dignity. See DIGNIDADE.
GOZOSO, a, adj. joyous, giving joy.
GRÃO, f. f. the grain wherewith cloth is died in grain. See also GRAM.
Fajadura de grão, a garment died in grain.
GRACIA, f. f. favour, good-will, genteel air, agreeableness.
Graca, (among divines) grace, favourable influence of God on the human mind.
Com graca, pleasantly, wittily.
De graca, gratis. See also GRATUITAMENTE.
Ter graca, to have a good grace, a good air or carriage, to be pleasant, witty, or diverting.
A graca de hum homem, a man's name.
Como he a sua graca? what is your name?
Cabir em graca, to please, to be acceptable.
Desfazer da graca, to lose the favour one had.
Per graca, in jest, merrily.
Dizer alguma coisa por graca, to speak in jest, to joke.
Fazer gracas. See GRACEJAR.
Graca, fun, high merriment, sport, frolicsome delight, mirth, wit, drollery.
Mã graca, railery, satirical merriment; also ungentle way, awkwardness.
Boa graca, good grace, graceful way, gracefulness, comeliness; also a biting, or nipping jest. (Ironically.)
Graca, or boa graca, (ironically) an insipid, cold, or ridiculous jest.
Discurso, que tem graca, a neat, handsome, or graceful discourse.
O gesto da graca ao discurso, action sets off, action gives life to a discourse.
Graca, (ironically) unpleasantness, want of qualities to give delight.
Ob que graca que tem! (ironically) O charming little rogue! Terence says, O capitulum lepidum!
Acheves myta graca, (ironically) you are very rude, clownish, or unpolished.
Graca, or indulgencia. See INDULGENCIA.
Gracas a Deos, God be thanked.
Dar gracas, to give thanks, either as we commonly do for any kindness, or to say grace after meals.

Dar graca, to grace, or set out.
Graca ridicula, poor jest, little pun.
Graca picante, a jeer, scoff, taunt, biting jest.
Dizer gracas picantes, to jeer, to treat with scoffs.
Gracas de huma lingua, the beauties of a language.
Graca, or favor. See FAVOR, and MERCE.
Que tem graca. See GRACIOSO.
Que não tem graca, clownish, unpleasant, rude, not witty.
Leão de gracas. See ACÇAM.
Homem que não he para gracas, a man that cannot take a jest.
Gracas, the Graces, three goddesses among the Heathens.
GRACEJADO, participle of GRACEJAR, which see.
GRACEJADO'R, f. m. a jester, a merry companion.
GRACEJAR, v. n. to joke or jest, to play the scoffer, jester or buffoon.
GRACEJA. See GRACINHA.
GRACIA dei, a platter made of wax, resin, suet, turpentine, mastic and olibanum. See also ALMISCAREIRA.
GRACIL, adj. gracile. See DELGADO.
GRACINHA, f. f. a small jest, &c. See GRACA, when it signifies fun, &c.
GRACIOSA, f. f. one of the Azore Islands in the Atlantic Ocean. It belongs to Portugal.
GRACIOSAMENTE, adv. gratis, freely, without any cost.
Graciosamente, or com graca. See GRACA.
GRACIOSIDADE. See GRACA.
GRACIOSO, a, adj. facetious, merry, pleasant, witty; also beauteous, comely, handsome, graceful, fine, fair, accomplished.
Gracioso, or aprazivel. See APRAZIVEL, and AMENO.
Gracioso, or gratuito. See GRATUITO.
Gracioso, f. m. a sort of grapes so called. See also BOBO.
GRACIO'LA, f. f. (A ludicrous word.) See GRACINHA.
GRADAÇAM, f. f. (in rhetoric) gradatio, a figure the same that in Greek is called climax.
GRADA'DO, a, adj. harrowed. See GRADAR.
GRADADO'R, f. m. a harrower.
GRADA'R, v. a. to harrow, to break the clods in a ploughed field, that the ground may lie even and the grain be covered.
A acção de gradar, a harrowing, or breaking of clods.
GRÁDE, f. f. a harrow, or drag with teeth, wherewith clods are broken; also a grate, or partition made with bars placed near to one another, or crossing each other; such as are in cloisters, prisons, &c.
Gráde, a painter's frame, called also easel.
Gráde, the grate of a monastery, where the nuns come to speak to their friends.
Dar licença a huma freyra para que falle na grade, to give a nun leave to talk at the grate.
Gráde, a rack to put hay in for horses to feed on.
Dar grádes de fogo. (Among farriers.) See GRADEAR.

Grades tecidas de vimas, hurdles made of twigs.
GRADE'ADO, a, adj. See
GRADEAR, v. a. (among farriers) to cauterize a horse, to sear the parts of a horse which require burning.
GRADE'LHAS, f. f. p. (in ancient heraldry) a piece so called.
GRADELIM, adj. a colour mixed of purple and red.
GRADINHA, f. f. a small grate; diminutive of GRADE, which see.
GRADINHO, a name of Mars the god of war.
GRADO, a, a. f. well kernal, grown to grain; also full of grain, grown to perfect maturity.
Colheita de trigo grado, a well kernal harvest.
Grado. (Metaph.) See NOBRE.
Grado, f. m. See GALARDAM.
Fazer huma coisa de grado, to do a thing with a good will.
Mão grado a, in spite of.
Mal de teu grado, in spite of you.
Mão grado, or mígrado tenhacs, a mischief take you. (A sort of imprecation.)
GRADUAÇAM, f. f. an estimation or measuring of things by degrees; also graduation, or the act of conferring academical degrees; also dignity, honour; also gradation or climax, a rhetorical figure.
GRADUADAMENTE, adv. gradually, by degrees.
GRADUADO, f. m. a graduate, one who has taken a degree in the university.
Graduado, a, adj. See DOUTO, and the v. GRADUAR.
GRADUAL, f. m. the Gradual, a part of the mass, sung between the Epistle and the Gospel.
GRADUALS psalms, gradual psalms, which were wont to be sung by the Levites, as they went up the fifteen steps of Solomon's temple, a psalm on each step.
GRADUA'R, v. a. to mark with degrees, to graduate.
Graduar huma cidade, to find out the longitude or latitude of a town.
Graduar, (metaph.) to call, to name.
Graduar, (a chemical term) to graduate.
Graduar-se, v. r. to be graduated, or dignified with a degree in the university, to take a degree.
GRADULIM. See GRADELIM.
GRÁJA'O, f. m. a sort of Indian bird so called.
GRAINHA, f. f. the kernel, or stone of any fruits, as grapes, quinces, &c.
GRAINA. See GRAXA.
GRÁ'L, f. m. a wooden mortar wherein things are brayed.
Mão do grál, a wooden pestle, with which any thing is broken in a mortar.
GRÁ'LHA, f. f. a crow, or rook.
GRALHA'DA, or GRALHEA'DA, f. f. the confused noise or chattering of crows, or any thing like it.
GRALHA'DO, part. of the v. GRALHAR, which see.
GRALHADO'R, f. m. a babbler, a prating fellow, an idle impertinent talker.
GRALHAR, v. n. to gabble like a goose, to cry as crows, or such like birds, to chatter; also to babble, or talk idly, to clatter and make a noise. (Metaph.)
GRALHEA'DA. See GRALHADA.
GRÁLIO,

GRALHO, f. m. a jackdaw, a Cornish crow, a jay.

GRAM. See GRÃO.

Gram, or grão, (for the mascul.) and grã, (for the femin.) great, big; being the same as grande; but it is only placed before some substantives, as, gram mestre de Malta, the grand master of Malta; grão Turco, or o grão senhor, the grand seignior, the emperor of the Turks, &c.

GRAMMA, f. f. grags for cattle.

GRAMADEIRA, a brake for flax or hemp; also an instrument used by hostlers.

GRAMADO, a, adj. See

GRAMAR, v. a. to beat flax with a brake, so as to separate the fibrous from the brittle part.

GRAMATA, f. f. kali, salt-wort, or glass-wort.

GRAMINEO, a, adj. gramineous, or gramineous, grassy, or full of vervain.

GRAMINHO, f. m. gage, an instrument used by carpenters to mark or draw lines upon wood. From the Spanish gramil, which, according to Del Pino, signifies a gage.

GRAMMATICA, f. f. grammar, the art of speaking and writing any language truly.

GRAMMÁTICA'L, adj. grammatical, belonging to the art of grammar.

GRAMMATICAMENTE, adv. grammatically, or according to the rules of grammar.

GRAMMATICO, f. m. a grammarian, one that is skilled in, or teaches grammar.

Reim grammatico, a grammaticaster, a finaster in grammar.

GRANDADA, f. f. a granado, a little hollow globe of iron, &c. filled with powder, fired by a fuzee at a touch-hole; through which, when the fire comes to the hollow of the ball, the case flies into many pieces, to the great damage of all near it; also a granite, a shining transparent gem.

GRANDILHO, f. m. a fine sort of speckled Indian wood.

GRANDADO, a, adj. of the best sort.

GRAND'L, adj. perfect, learned, honest, wife.

GRANDATES, f. f. a granite, a shining gem.

GRANÇA, f. f. See RUIÇA.

Granças do trigo, the husks that remain after sifting or winnowing corn.

GRANDE, adj. grand, great, big, large. Lat. grandis.

Grande, or grão. See GROSSO.

Grande, or eminente. See EMINENTE.

Que sis grande, grandific, making great.

Viver alagrande, to be sumptuous and magnificent, to live in great state.

Grande, f. m. a grandee.

Grande de Espanha, a grandee of Spain.

GRANDEFERENTE, f. m. a sort of squadron so called.

GRANDEMENTE, adv. greatly.

GRANDEZA, f. f. greatness, largeness, bigness, hugeness, bulk.

Grandezza, grandeur, greatness, magnificence, power, dignity, state. See also LIBERALIDADE, and MAGNIFICENCIA.

Grandezza, a title given to a grandee of Spain.

GRANDILOCO, a, adj. that speaketh in a lofty style.

Eslib grandiloco, grandiloquence, loftiness of speech, a high style, or expression.

GRANDIOSAMENTE, adv. magnificently, or splendidly.

GRANDIOSO, a, adj. magnificent. See also MAGNIFICO.

GRANDÍSSIMO, a, superl. very great, very large, vast.

GRANDULIM, f. m. a sort of bird in Arabia Deserta.

GRANEL, f. m. or rather a granel, adv. by heaps; also plenty; as, trigo a granel, plenty of corn.

GRANGEA, f. f. a sort of small confeitos. See CONFEITOS.

GRANGEADO. See ACQUIRIDO, and the v. GRANGEAR.

GRANGEADOR, f. m. a farmer; also a good husband, one that gathers wealth. (Metaph.)

GRANGEAR, v. a. to cultivate, to husband, or till the ground carefully; also to gather wealth. (metaph.)

Grangear, or ganhar a vontade de alguem. See GANHAR.

Grangear, or acquirir, to procure, to obtain, to acquire, to get.

Grangear-se, v. r. to procure, to obtain, to bring upon one's self.

Grangear-se alguma desgraça, to bring upon one's self some misfortune.

GRANGEARIA, f. f. husbandry, tillage.

Grangearia, (metaph.) See GANANCIA, and LUCRO.

GRANJA, f. f. a grange, a farm. From the French grange.

GRANITO, f. m. a kernel, or stone. See also GRAMSINHO.

Granito de uvas, the stone of grapes.

GRANIZO, f. m. hail. Lat. grandis.

GRANULADO, a, adj. See

GRANULAR, v. a. to granulate, to pour melted metal through an iron cullender into cold water, that it may become grains. (Chem.)

A arte de granular, granulation, the art of reducing metals into grains.

Granular-se, v. n. to granulate, to be formed into small grains.

GRANZAL, f. m. a place sowed with grãos. See GRAM.

GRÃO, f. m. a degree, a dignity, a preferment, a step. Lat. gradus.

Grãos de consanguinidade, degrees of consanguinity.

Grão, the degree taken at the university.

Grão, (in mathematics) degree, the three hundred and sixtieth part of a circle; on the earth sixty miles.

Grão, (in physic) degree, the vehemence, or slackness of the hot or cold quality of any mixed body.

Hum grão de calor, a degree of heat.

Hum grão de gloria, a degree of glory.

Grão, ou gram. See GRAM.

Grão, f. m. grain, a single seed of corn.

Tomar grão, or por-se em grão. See ENGRADER.

Cheo de grão, grainy.

Grão, all sorts of grain, and a grain in weight.

Grão, a sort of pease used much in Spain and Portugal, whereof there are none in England.

Grão, the runner or upper stone of a horse or mill.

Grão, (in cant) a new crusade, a sort of coin.

GRAMSINHO, f. m. a small grain or seed.

GRAPA, f. f. a sort of disease in horses.

GRASNADO, part. of

GRASNAR, v. n. to cry like an eagle, or such like birds.

GRATIDAM, f. f. gratitude, thankfulness.

GRATIFICAÇÃO, f. f. thanksgiving, thanks.

GRATIFICADO, a, adj. See

GRATIFICAR, v. a. See ACGRADIR.

GRATIFICIO, f. m. See GRATIDAM.

GRATIS, adv. gratis, for nothing, without any cost.

GRATO, a, adj. grateful, pleasing, agreeable, agreeable.

GRATUITAMENTE, adv. gratis, freely, only for good-will, gratuitously.

GRATUITO, a, adj. gratuitous, done voluntarily, freely bestowed, without regard to recompence or interest.

GRATULATÓRIO, a, adj. gratulatory, or congratulatory.

Gratulatório, f. m. a congratulatory discourse or speech.

GRAU'DO, a, adj. grainy, full of grain; also grown up.

GRAVADO, a, adj. engraved; also troubled, oppressed.

Ter a consciencia gravada, to feel the stings of conscience.

GRAVAME, f. m. grievance, oppression, load, surcharge.

GRAVAR, v. a. to engrave.

GRAVATA. See CARAVATA.

GRAVATO, or GARAVATO, f. m. a small dry faggot, dry brushwood to kindle a fire quickly.

GRAVE, adj. grave, serious, solemn, not gay; also grave, of weight, credible, not futile; also weighty, serious, important, not trifling.

Os mais graves autores, authors of the best account.

Grave, or enorme. See ENORME.

Grave negocio, an important affair, a business of consequence.

Doença grave, a dangerous sickness.

Accento grave, (in grammar) the grave accent.

Por-se grave, or fazer-se grave, to take state upon one, to carry it high.

Religioso grave, a grave, sober, and religious man.

Grave, grave, not showy, not tawdry; as, hum vestido grave, or molesto, a grave suit of clothes.

Grave, (in music, and speaking of sounds) low or deep.

Grave, f. m. a sort of ancient coin in Portugal.

GRAVEMENTE, adv. gravely, solemnly, seriously. See also MUITO.

Estar gravemente doente, to be dangerously ill.

GRAVEZA, f. f. grievousness, or greatness of a thing; also heaviness, weightiness.

Graveza da culpa, gravity, atrociousness, or weight of guilt.

GRAVIDACAM. See PRENHEZ.

GRAVIDADE, f. f. (in philosophy) gravity.

Gravidade, graveness, gravity, seriousness, solemnity, and sobriety of behaviour, authority, majesty. See also GRAVEZA.

GRAVIDAR, v. a. to get with child.

GRAU'LHO, f. m. See BAGULHO.

GRAXA, f. f. blacking, or black for shoes.

Graxe,

Graxa, the grease, or swarf, in the axle-tree of a wheel; also grease molten, a distemper in a horse, when his fat is melted by over-hard riding or labour.
GRAXO, (among painters) ex. Ólio graxo, the oil that is made thick after being sunned.
GRECIA, f. f. the whole country of Greece.
GRECISMO, f. m. Grecism, the idiom or propriety of the Greek language.
GREDA, f. f. fuller's earth, loam.
GREGAL, adj. ex. Soldado gregal, a common soldier. Lat. gregarius miles.
GREGE. See GREY.
GREGO, a, adj. Greek.
Grego, f. m. a Greek, a Grecian, one born in Greece; also Greek, or the Greek language.
GREI. See GREY.
GREIADO, part. of
GRELAR, v. n. to sprout, to put forth sprouts.
Que greia antes de se meter na terra, ou de se semear como a cevada, &c. acrospired.
GRELHAS, f. f. p. a gridiron.
Ajar nas grelhas, to grill.
GRELO, f. m. a sprout.
Grão que sabe da cevada, &c. antes de se meter na terra, acrospire.
Grêlo de coque, the young sprout of coals.
Grêlo, ou parte da semente corrupta da qual se vai firmando a cana do trigo, plume, some call it acrospire.
GREMAL, f. m. a rich piece of silk held by two priests, betwixt the bishop and the people, when he says mais in penitentialibus.
GREMIO, f. m. the lap; also a body, corporation, or number of men united by some common tie. (Metaph.)
Gremio da igreja, the bosom or pale of the church.
GRENHA, f. f. (an antiquated word, formerly used instead of Cabello.) See CABELLO. But grenha is used now to signify the hair of the head clotted and tangled, for want of combing.
GRETA, f. f. a rift, cleft, chink, fissure, a gaping chap.
Grêtas das mãos, pés, &c. chaps and clefts in the hands, feet, &c.
Grêtas, (among farriers) chaps behind the knees of a horse.
Grêtas nos talões do cavallo, clefts. (Among farriers.)
Grêtas entre o talaõ e a primeira junta, scratches. (Among farriers.)
GRETADO, part. of
GRETAR, v. n. to chap, or break into hiatus, or gapings.
GREVAS, f. f. p. a sort of armour for the legs. French greves.
GREY, f. f. a flock, a herd of cattle; also people committed to one's charge, (metaph.) Lat. grex.
GRIFO. See GRIPHO.
GRILHAM, f. m. fetters for the legs.
Lançar grilhens, to fetter.
GRILHO, f. m. See GRILHAM.
GRILLO, f. m. a cricket.
GRIMPA, f. f. a weather-cock.
Ele he como a grimpa, he is a mere weather-cock, that is, he is fickle and inconstant.
Levantar a grimpa, (a ludicrous expression) to cry out, to talk loud.
GRINHALDA, f. f. a garland, or wreath of flowers.

GRIPHA, ex. Letra gripa, (among printers) Italic letter.
GRIPHO, or GRYPHO, f. m. griffin, or griffon, a fabled animal, said to be generated between the lion and eagle, and to have the head and paws of the lion, and the wings of the eagle; also a sort of riddle; also a sort of bird of prey so called.
GRIS, grey colour.
Gris, (in cant) cold. See FRIO, f. m.
GRISE, f. m. a sort of white woollen.
GRISGENS, f. m. p. the Grisons or inhabitants of Rhaetia. The name Grisons they have from the first of them, who made a league in the fifteenth century against their oppressors, wearing coats grey coats made of a home-spun manufacture.
GRISO L. See CRYSOL.
GRITA, f. f. a crying out, shrieking, howling, a shout.
Grita de navegantes. See FAINA.
GRITADA, f. f. See GRITA.
GRITADO, part. of GRITAR, which see.
GRITADO'R, f. m. a bawling fellow.
GRITADO'RA a clamorous and bawling woman.
GRITAR, v. n. to halloo, to wail, to cry out, to bawl; also to scold, to chide.
Gritar por alguém, to call upon one.
Gritar sobre alguém, to cry, or call for help against one.
Gritar contra alguém, to cry down, to inveigh against one.
Gritar aqui del rey, to cry and demand assistance in the king's name, to cry out murder.
GRITARIA, f. f. See GRITA.
GRITO, f. m. a shriek, a shout, a cry; also wailing, lamenting.
Grito que se dá antes de principiar a guerra, cry of guerre.
Dar gritos. See GRITAR.
GRIZETA, f. f. the copper-wire that supports the wick of a lamp.
GROMENAR, f. m. (in India) a profound reverence.
GRO'NHO, f. m. a very good sort of apples so called.
GRO'SA, or GRO'ZA, f. f. a gross, or twelve dozen; also a sort of file used by carpenters to smooth wood. See also GLOSSA.
GROSA'DO, a, adj. See GROSAR.
GROSADO'R, f. m. See GLOSSADOR.
GROSA'R, v. a. to smooth with the file, as carpenters do. See also GLOSSAR.
GROSSEIRAMENTE, adv. coarsely, clownishly, unmannerly, grossly.
GROSSEIRO, a, adj. coarse, clownish, rude, raw, unpolished; also coarse, rough, homely, unwrought. (Speaking of any work.)
Homem de engenho muito grosseiro, a block-head, a dunce, a dull-pated, or awkward fellow.
GROSSERPA, f. f. rusticity, clownishness, rudeness, churlishness; also a sort of coarse linen.
GROSSIDAM, f. f. thickness, clot, concretion, grume, a thick viscid consistence of a fluid.
GROSSO, a, adj. big, great, huge; also coarse.
Grosso, or gordo. See GORDO.
Grosso, or grande. See GRANDE.

Grosso, or denso. See DENSO.
Grão, clotted, grumous, thick.
Grão, or rice. See RICE.
Grão, or inchado. See INCHADO.
Mor grão, high, rough sea.
Pez grão, full voice, rough voice.
Gado grão. See GADO.
Erro grão, a gross or palpable mistake or error.
Grão, that is not rough-hewn yet.
Nobre grão, so they call any coin that is above a testoon. See TOSTA.
Jogar jogo grão, to play high.
Grão, f. m. ex. O grão de hum exercito, the body of an army.
Hum grão de cavallaria, a body of horse.
Em grão, adv. in general.
Tomar alguma coisa em grão, to take offence at something.
GROSSURA, f. f. grossness, bigness, thickness.
GROTO marinho. See ONOCROTALO.
GROU, f. m. a crane, a fowl.
GRO'ZA, &c. See GLOSSA, &c.
GRU', gru, the gurgling of a narrow-mouth d p t, or short-necked bottle, when it is emptying; also the crowing of a turkey.
GRU'A, f. f. the pulley of a crane to draw up weights with.
GRUDADO, a, adj. See the v. GRUDAR.
GRUDADO'R, f. m. a gluer, one who cements with glue.
GRUDADURA, f. f. a gluing.
GRUDAR, v. a. to glue.
Grudar, (metaph.) See UNIR, and AJUNTAR.
GRUDE, f. m. glue.
O que faz grude, glue-boiler.
Couza que se fega como grude, glutin.
Grude de peixe, water-glue, mouth-glue, isinglass.
Peixe de que se faz o grude, a species of sturgeon, from which isinglass is prepared.
GRUDO, is only used in this phrase: Grudo e miúdo, promiscuously, one with another.
GRUEIRO, a, adj. ex. Falcão grueiro, a sort of hawk, enemy to cranes.
GRU'LHA, f. m. foul play. Fullano he hum grulha, such a one plays foul play; also such a one is a turbulent fellow.
GRUMETE, f. m. the meanest sort of sailor.
GRUMO, f. m. grume, clot, concretion, coagulation.
GRUMO'SO, a, adj. grumous, thick, clotted.
GRUNHIDO, f. m. grunt, the noise of a hog.
Grunhido, part. of
GRUNHIR, v. n. to grunt, as a hog does.
GRUPA, f. f. the crupper that goes under a horse's tail. See also GARUPA.
GRUTA, f. f. a den, a cave, a hollow place under ground.
GRUTE'SCO, f. m. antick work, anticks, grotesques, a sort of painting, representing a cave or den, with such creatures as are generally found in them.
GRYPHO. See GRIPHO.
GUADAMECINS, f. m. p. gilt leather for hanging, or such uses.
GUADANHA, f. f. a scythe.
GUADIANA, f. f. a river of Spain, which rises in the middle of New Castile. It passes